How to Use This Bible

Thank you for purchasing the HarperCollins Christian Publishing eBook version from Thomas Nelson and Zondervan's excellent line of Bible translations that exist to serve Christians who not only recognize the Bible's importance, but who also want a Bible to treasure in their lifelong pursuit of the knowledge of God's revelation of Himself.

There are a multitude of Bibles available to engage children, youth, men, and women with the Word of God, including Text Only, Daily, Devotional, Reference, and Comprehensive Study.

What is the difference between an eBook and a print book?

eBook versions of various Bibles contain all of the content and supplementary materials found in the original print versions and are optimized for navigation in the various apps and devices used for display. eReaders recognize text as one fluid string and are formatted in a single column. eReaders currently do not support the more complex layout seen in print version books. Therefore, some content may not appear in the same place as in the original print version, but it is structured consistently and uses hyperlinks to navigate between related content.

How do I use the eBook Table of Contents?

Important Note: Be sure to consult your device manufacturer's User's Guide for device-specific navigation instructions.

The Table of Contents is the primary navigation anchor to quickly access various parts of the Bible and is generally formatted in the same order as the original print version and hyperlinked as follows:

- Front matter—Introductory articles
- Old Testament
- New Testament
- Bible books
- Bible chapters
- Back matter—Supplementary materials

Old Testament and New Testament hyperlinks quickly access individual Bible books and chapters in each testament.

- Book links go directly to the Introduction.
- Chapter links go directly to the beginning of the chapter associated with a book.
- Every Bible book and chapter hyperlink returns or goes back to the Table of Contents.
- Every entry is hyperlinked directly to the content-specific location in the main text.
- Use the device's "back" button or function to go back to the last selection.

How do I navigate to Bible Books, Chapters, and Verses?

Use the Table of Contents to navigate to specific Bible verses using one of the 2 methods below:

Method 1

- Navigate to and select a specific book of the Bible from the Table of Contents.
- Select a chapter number hyperlink.
- Use the device's "Next Page/Previous Page" buttons or functions to scroll through the verses.
- Use the device's "back" button or function to go back to the last selection.

Method 2

- Select either the Old Testament or New Testament hyperlink in the Table of Contents.
- Use the device's "Next Page/Previous Page" buttons or functions to scroll through the Bible books.
- Select a chapter number hyperlink.
- Use the device's "Next Page/Previous Page" buttons or functions to scroll through the verses.
- Use the device's "back" button or function to go back to the last selection.

How do I navigate Supplementary Materials?

The eBook version of the Orthodox Study Bible includes introductory articles, the complete Old and New Testament text, study notes (commentary), New Testament translator's notes, Study Articles, and supplementary materials. Hyperlinks to the materials appear in the Table of Contents as well as the main Bible text.

Introductory articles (lists) are hyperlinked directly to the content-specific location in the main text.

- Select the hyperlinked entry in the article or list to go to its location in the main text.
- Select the hyperlinked entry in the main text to go back to the article or list in the Table of Contents or use the device's "back" button or function to go back to the last selection.

Study Notes (commentary) are hyperlinked to Bible verse numbers where study notes are available in the main Bible text. Some notes cover a range of verses while others are verse specific. All verses do not have notes associated with them.

- Select a hyperlinked Bible verse number to the corresponding study note (commentary).
- Select a hyperlinked verse number to the left of the study note (commentary) and you are returned to the main Bible text, or use the device's "back" button or function to go back to the last selection.
- Notes with a book icon are liturgical notes that relate specific readings to the yearly cycle of prayer and worship.

Footnotes (Translators' Notes) are marked with small, hyperlinked letters "a" to point out verses that will explain the referenced verse, word or phrase. They appear only in the New Testament.

Introduction to The Orthodox Study Bible

The last decade of the twentieth century saw an historic event. In 1993, The Orthodox Study Bible: New Testament and Psalms was released as the first English Bible with study material reflecting the ancient faith of the Eastern Orthodox Church.

St. Athanasius Academy, which had organized this effort, began receiving requests for the completion of the Old Testament—a monumental task which involved not only preparation of the study notes and outlines, but also the presentation of an acceptable Old Testament text. Though the Orthodox Church has never officially committed itself to a single text and list of Old Testament books, it has traditionally used the Greek Old Testament of the Septuagint (LXX). However, in Orthodoxy's 200-year history in North America, no English translation of the LXX has ever been produced by the Church.

The contributors used the Alfred Rahlfs edition of the Greek text as the basis for the English translation. To this base they brought two additional major sources. The first is the Brenton text, a British translation of the Greek Old Testament, published in 1851. The availability of this work, and the respect accorded it, made it an obvious choice as a source document. Secondly, Thomas Nelson Publishers granted use of the Old Testament text of the New King James Version in the places where the English translation of the LXX would match that of the Masoretic (Hebrew) text. The development team at St. Athanasius Academy carefully studied these sources, along with other documents, to produce an English Old Testament text suitable for the project.

The organization of the Old Testament books, that is, their canonical order, was taken from The Old Testament According to the Seventy, published with the approval of the Holy Synod of the Church of Greece. The first edition was released in June, 1928. The Old Testament text presented in this volume does not claim to be a new or superior translation. The goal was to produce a text to meet the Bible-reading needs of English-speaking Orthodox Christians.

In some Old Testament books, including the Psalms, the numbering of chapters, and sometimes individual verses is different in the LXX version from the English translation of the Hebrew text (such as the New King James Version and New Revised Standard Version). To help the reader, the LXX psalm number appears first, followed by the alternate number in parentheses, such as Psalm 50 (51).

In addition to the difference in the numbering of the Psalms, the books of Jeremiah and Malachi show differences in the chapter and verse numbering when comparing The Orthodox Study Bible alongside English translations based on the Hebrew Old Testament text. The following shows how the Hebrew and LXX texts compare in the books of Jeremiah and Malachi.

The New Testament of The Orthodox Study Bible is taken from the New King James Version of the Bible. It is a translation of the Received Text of the Greek New Testament, with notes showing major variants in the Majority Text and the critical text of Nestle-Aland and the United Bible Societies.

The introductory material, commentary and notes accompanying the Old and New Testament books are presented in a vocabulary understandable to a high school graduate. This is not a book of scholars addressing other scholars, but rather scholars clearly communicating the treasures of the Orthodox biblical tradition with clergy and laypeople desirous of understanding their Christian beliefs and making them accessible to others.

Further, the decision was made that the notes and commentary which clarify the biblical text would emphasize the major themes of the Christian faith. Thus, the notes give primary attention to:

1. The Holy Trinity: Father, Son and Holy Spirit
2. The Incarnation: The Divine Son of God becoming Man
3. The Centrality of the Church, the "dwelling place of God in the Spirit" (Eph 2:22)
4. The Virtues: God's call to His people to live righteous and holy lives in Christ

To attain these goals, specific attention was given to the biblical interpretations of the fathers of the ancient and undivided Church, and to the consensus of the Seven Ecumenical or Church-wide Councils of Christendom, held from the fourth to eighth centuries.

The Holy Scriptures have always been integral to the life of the Church. The liturgical cycle of the year and the days of feasting and fasting are accompanied by Scripture readings from throughout the Bible. The lectionary in the back of The Orthodox Study Bible guides the reader along this biblical path through the Church year. Further, liturgical notes at the foot of the pages of The Orthodox Study Bible relate specific readings to the yearly cycle of prayer and worship. These notes are designated with the symbol 🕮.

The prayer of the editors and contributors of The Orthodox Study Bible is that it presents an understandable Bible text and commentary to (1) English-speaking Orthodox Christians the world over and to (2) non-Orthodox readers interested in learning more about the faith of the historic Orthodox Church.

Overview of the Books of the Bible

By The Right Reverend BASIL, Bishop of the Diocese of Wichita and Mid-America

THE OLD TESTAMENT

This introduction is a brief description of each of the forty-nine books of the Old Testament. It is helpful to keep in mind that, like the earliest Christian community, the Orthodox Church of today continues using the Greek version of the Old Testament known as the Septuagint (LXX). The Septuagint—referencing the seventy finest Jewish scholars, from all twelve Jewish tribes, who made the translation from the Hebrew into Greek—became the universally accepted version of the Old Testament since the time of its appearance some three centuries before the birth of Christ. Our Lord Jesus Christ, together with His apostles and evangelists, Matthew, Mark, Luke and John, and also Peter and Paul, used this Greek version when quoting the Old Testament in their gospels and epistles. These inspired Old Testament books tell the story of God's dealings with ancient Israel, from approximately 2000 BC until the time of Jesus.

A study of the Old Testament in the light of the authentic apostolic tradition will lead the reader to Him Who fulfilled the Law and the Prophets as He promised: Our Lord and God and Savior, Jesus Christ. This collection of forty-nine Old Testament books is traditionally subdivided into four sections: 1) the five books of the Law; 2) the books of history; 3) the books of wisdom and; 4) the books of prophecy.

The Five Books of the Law

First there are the books of the Law: Genesis, meaning "beginning," since it recounts the beginning of God's creation; Exodus, which means "exit" or "departure," referring to the journey of the Hebrews from out of slavery in Egypt; Leviticus, a book detailing worship as led by the priests ordained from the tribe of Levi; Numbers, whose title is derived from the book's opening account of the census or numbering of the people of Israel; Deuteronomy, meaning "second law," since it gives a detailed listing of the additional laws given by God through Moses.

These first five books of the Old Testament, known jointly as the Pentateuch (penta means "five" in Greek) describe God's creation of the world, the rebellion of Adam and Eve and the fall of man, and the history of God's people from the days of Abraham, about 2000 BC, through the days of Moses, dated by many scholars at approximately 1250 BC.

The Books of History

The second section of the LXX Old Testament is known as the historical books. This group begins with the book of Joshua, the leader of the children of Israel following the death of Moses, who brings God's people into the promised land after their forty years of wandering in the wilderness. Judges relates to the traditions of the various Hebrew tribes and the exploits of their own particular heroes, the Judges of whom the title speaks, who ruled the nation. The book of Ruth is the charming and heroic account of a Gentile woman who placed herself under the protection of the one true God, and in the process became an ancestor of King David, and of his descendent, Jesus Christ the Messiah of Israel.

First and Second Kingdoms (First and Second Samuel), whose principle characters are Samuel the faithful prophet, Saul the first king to rule over God's people, and David, Saul's successor and the first king of Judah in the south of Palestine, and Israel to the north. The books of Third and Fourth Kingdoms (First and Second Kings) opens with the enthronement of David's son Solomon and ends with the fall of the kingdom, including the destruction of its capital city of Jerusalem, and the exile of God's people from Palestine to Babylon.

First and Second Chronicles (First and Second Paraleipomenon) expand on the history recorded in Third and Fourth Kingdoms. The word Paraleipomenon is transliterated from the Greek and means "that which is omitted" in the two preceding books. The books of First and Second Ezra and Nehemiah continue this chronicle of divine history, focusing on the Jewish religious community after its return to Jerusalem from exile in Babylon.

The final books in the historical section of the Old Testament reveal the stories of people who lived heroic and God-directed lives under foreign domination and during the exile: Tobit, who was taken into captivity by the Assyrians; Judith, the pious and beautiful widow who saved her people from massacre by the invading Assyrian general; Esther, the Jewish queen of Persia who achieved the revocation of Haman's decree that would have allowed the persecution and mass murder of God's people; and the Maccabees, the family of the Hasmoneans and their followers, the faithful people who began the revolt and fought the wars of independence against foreign armies occupying their land.

The Books of Wisdom

The third section of the Old Testament is known as the books of Wisdom. The magnificent Psalms is the hymnal of both ancient Israel and of the Church. The book of Job, which in the canonical Greek LXX comes between Psalms and Proverbs, probes the depths of a man's unshakable faith in the face of tragedy and innocent suffering. Proverbs is a collection of moral and religious instruction taught to young people after their return from exile in Babylon. Ecclesiastes tells of the preacher who philosophically seeks to understand the meaning of human existence that the good man can find in this life. The moving Song of Songs by Solomon is a collection of lyric poems, written in the language of human love and courtship, which also speaks prophetically of God's love for His beloved Bride, His Church. The Wisdom of Solomon promises reward and immortality to the righteous, praises wisdom and condemns the folly of idolatry. The Wisdom of Sirach consists of lectures to young people on ethical and religious themes.

These seven books of Wisdom literature—The Psalms, Job, Proverbs, Ecclesiastes, the Song of Songs, the Wisdom of Solomon, and the Wisdom of Sirach—proclaim that happiness (or "blessedness," in the language of the Bible) is possible only through faith in and obedience to the one true God.

The Books of Prophecy

The fourth and final section of the LXX Old Testament includes the books of prophecy, which appear in an order different from the Hebrew and Vulgate collections.

Hosea gives a message of God's own redeeming love for His chosen people, even when they spurn Him and prostitute themselves to false gods. Amos is the simple shepherd called by God to denounce a self-satisfied nation for its grave social injustice, abhorrent immorality and its shallow and meaningless piety. Micah foretells the day when nations shall beat their swords into plowshares and their spears into pruning hooks. He speaks of peace reigning over all who do justice, who love kindness, and who walk humbly with God. Joel is the prophet who foretells the outpouring of the Holy Spirit upon all flesh. Obadiah prophesies the return of the exiles from Babylon. Jonah unwillingly accepts God's command to preach His mercy and forgiveness to a foreign nation.

Nahum prophesies the defeat of the powerful Assyrian enemy. Habakkuk deals with the perennial question,"How long, O Lord, shall I cry out to You, and You will not hear me?" (Hab 1:2). Zephaniah prophesies the dark days of Judah's destruction, but promises comfort and conciliation to those who wait patiently for the Lord and serve Him. Haggai, following the return of the exiles, exhorts them to rebuild the destroyed temple in order to unify their disrupted religious life and, more importantly, to prepare for the coming of the long awaited Messiah.

Zechariah prophesies the image of the messianic Prince of Peace, the Good Shepherd who would lay down His life for the flock. Malachi exhorts God's people to faithfulness and asserts the fatherhood of God over all nations. He foretells that God will appoint a forerunner, similar to the ancient prophet Elijah (or Elias) who will appear before the Messiah and prepare the world for the coming Day of the Lord.

Isaiah exhorts the people of God to place their confidence in the Lord, and to lead private and public lives which manifest this reliance. From Isaiah, we hear the prophecies of a Son to be born of a virgin, and of the Suffering Servant—the Messiah—who would be led as an innocent sheep to the slaughter, and by whose stripes we would be healed. Jeremiah severely criticizes God's people for abandoning the one true God and turning instead to the worship of idols. Baruch was appointed to be read on feast days as a confession of sins. In Lamentations, the author Jeremiah mourns the destruction of the holy city of Jerusalem by the Babylonians. The Epistle of Jeremiah is addressed to those about to be carried off into exile in Babylon.

Ezekiel, the prophet of the exiles, assures his hearers of the abiding presence of God amongst them, even in exile and servitude. Finally, Daniel writes an apocalyptic or mystical end-time prophecy which is filled with difficult and often obscure signs and symbols. In the Greek LXX, Daniel begins with the heroic story of Susanna and ends with the fascinating account of Bel and the Serpent.

These forty-nine God-inspired Old Testament books divided into four sections —books of the Law, of History, of Wisdom, and of Prophecy—which serve as an introduction to John the Baptist's preparation of the world for the coming of the Messiah, who is Isaiah's Suffering Servant, Zechariah's Prince of Peace, and the Good Shepherd who lays down His life for the flock.

THE NEW TESTAMENT

The Four Gospels

Matthew, Mark, Luke and John recall the events in the life of Jesus Christ, Son of God and Son of Man. The first three are called the Synoptic Gospels, in that they set forth a "common viewpoint" of the chronology of events and the message of Christ in His life and ministry. Matthew addresses his gospel primarily to fellow Jews. Mark is likely the first gospel to be written, and speaks of Christ as servant of all (Mk 10:45). Luke, himself a physician, reveals the Incarnate Christ and His earthly ancestry. This Son of Man saves and heals the fallen race.

John, the last of the four gospels to be written, emphasizes the divinity of Christ, the eternal Son and Word of God, who became Man. John's gospel further reveals seven miracles of Christ, not all of them in chronological order.

Acts

Written by St. Luke, these are the Acts (or accomplishments) of the Apostles, but mainly of Peter (chapters 1–12) and Paul (chapters 13–28). Acts chronicles the earliest history of the Church from Pentecost through approximately AD 65.

The Letters (or Epistles) of St. Paul

The first nine of Paul's letters are written to churches. Romans, which begins this section, was the only letter Paul wrote to a community he had not previously visited. Thus, the implication is that much of what he wrote to the church at Rome he preached in other places.

Most prominent of the cities of first century Greece was Corinth, a center of commerce, immorality and false religion. Predictably, this fledgling church would have to deal with these same matters. First Corinthians is therefore a corrective epistle calling for unity, virtue, forbearance, Eucharistic order and proper use of the gifts of the Holy Spirit. In contrast Second Corinthians recognizes the repentance within the church on the part of many, and St. Paul defends his apostolic authority.

In Galatians, Paul addresses several churches in Asia Minor, defending his apostleship and calling the faithful to live their lives in the strength of the Holy Spirit instead of in submission to the laws of the old covenant. Ephesians is a marvelous discourse on how the Church should conduct itself. This community is rich in dedication to Christ. Yet just a few decades later the Lord tells them,"you have left your first love" (Rev 2:4).

Philippians is the epistle of joy. Paul writes from a Roman prison,"Rejoice in the Lord always. Again I will say, rejoice!" (Php 4:4). Colossians presents Christ as "the head of the body, the church . . ." (Col 1:18), preeminent in all things.

First Thessalonians, the first letter St. Paul penned, was written to the believers at Thessalonica, a beautiful coastal city of Greece in about AD 51, shortly after Paul planted that Church. This is a letter of encouragement. Second

Thessalonians acknowledges persecution and warns of lawlessness, urging the Christians to "stand fast and hold the traditions which you were taught . . ." (2Th 2:15).

Next, Paul addresses the following letters to individuals. In First Timothy, the aging apostle speaks to his youthful understudy about effective oversight of the church. In Second Timothy, the last letter St. Paul wrote (see 2Ti 4:6–8), he encourages Timothy to "be strong in the grace that is in Christ Jesus" (2Ti 2:1). Paul is already in prison in Rome (1:8) awaiting martyrdom.

Titus is sent by Paul to Crete to set the church "in order," and "appoint elders in every city" (Tts 1:5). If this sounds like the work of a bishop, it is (Tts 1:7, 8), and Titus is consistently named in early Church records as the first bishop of Crete. Philemon is a Christian slave-holder, and Paul writes him to receive back Onesimus (Phm 10–16), his runaway slave, who has become a Christian with Paul in Rome.

Hebrews is the last of the epistles attributed to St. Paul, but with little evidence it was actually written by Paul. It is a general letter to Jewish believers in Christ to continue on in the Faith. It assures them that Christ, the great High Priest in the heavenlies (Heb 8:1), is their once for all sacrifice for sin (Heb 10:10) and victor over death (Heb 12:1, 2).

The General Epistles

James, the brother of the Lord and first bishop of Jerusalem, writes to fellow Jews,"the twelve tribes which are scattered abroad" (Jam 1:1). His message? "Faith without works is dead" (Jam 1:20). Christianity is a belief that behaves.

First Peter, written by the first among the apostles, urges obedience to God and man, willingness to suffer for Christ's sake, and effective pastoring of the flock. In Second Peter, the apostle discusses divine power for the faithful (deification), divine judgment for false teachers and the Day of the Lord.

Next, John the Theologian offers three general epistles. First John is a stirring personal testimonial to God's forgiveness, His love for His children and His gift of eternal life. In Second John, he addresses an "elect lady and her children" (v. 1), urging them to obey the Lord's commands and beware of deceivers. Third John commends Gaius and Demetrius, and warns against Diotrephes.

Finally, Jude, the Lord's brother, writes a short letter exhorting the faithful to contend for the truth and to beware of the devil's servants. He finishes with a stunning benediction.

Revelation

Written by St. John the Theologian, he entitles his book “The Revelation of Jesus Christ” (1:1). What the book of Daniel is to the Old Testament, Revelation is to the New Testament. Another title is the Apocalypse, which is a transliteration of the Greek word for “revelation” or “unveiling.” The book speaks prophetically both to current and future events, to judgment and salvation, and ends with the glorious New Jerusalem coming down out of heaven “as a bride adorned for her husband” (21:2).

Introducing the Orthodox Church

The publication of The Orthodox Study Bible begs a question: exactly what is the Orthodox Church? Many people have heard of the Russian Orthodox Church which celebrated its 1000th birthday in 1988, or the Greek Orthodox Church which was born centuries earlier. But Orthodoxy itself—what is it, and what are its historic roots?

THE CHURCH IN THE NEW TESTAMENT

To answer the question, let us go back to the pages of the New Testament, specifically to the Book of Acts and the birth of the Church at Pentecost. For on that day the Holy Spirit descended on the twelve apostles in the Upper Room, and by afternoon some 3000 souls believed in Christ and were baptized. The Scriptures record that when the first Christian community began,"they were continually devoting themselves to the apostles' teaching and to fellowship, to the breaking of bread and to prayer" (Acts 2:42).

From Jerusalem, the faith in Christ spread throughout Judea, to Samaria (Acts 8:5–39), to Antioch and the Gentiles (Acts 11:19–26). We find new converts and new Churches throughout Asia Minor and the Roman Empire as recorded in Acts and the Epistles.

The Church, of course, was not simply another organization in Roman society. The Lord Jesus Christ had given the promise of the Holy Spirit "to lead you into all truth" (Jn 16:13). With the fulfillment of that promise beginning with Pentecost, the Church was born far beyond mere institutional status. She was not an organization with mystery, but a mystery with organization. St. Paul called the Church "a dwelling place of God in the Spirit" (Eph 2:22). The Church was a dynamic organism, the living Body of Jesus Christ. She made an indelible impact in the world, and those who lived in her life and faith were personally transformed.

But we also discover in the New Testament itself that the Church had her share of problems. All was not perfection. Some individuals even within the Church sought to lead her off the path the apostles established, and they had to be dealt with along with the errors they invented. Even whole local communities lapsed on occasion and were called to repentance. The Church in Laodicea is a vivid example (Rev 3:14–22). Discipline was administered for the sake of purity in the Church. But there was growth and maturation, even as the Church was attacked from within and without. The same Spirit who gave her birth gave her power for purity and correction, and she stood strong and grew, eventually invading the whole of the Roman Empire.

THE EARLY CENTURIES

As the Church moves from the pages of the New Testament and on into the succeeding centuries of her history, it is helpful to trace her growth and development in terms of specific categories. We shall look first at a category important for all Christian people: doctrine. Did she maintain the truth of God as given by Christ and His apostles? Second, what about worship? Is there a discernible way in which the people of God have offered a sacrifice of praise and thanksgiving to Him? Third, we will consider Church government. What sort of polity did the Church practice?

1. *Doctrine: Not only did the Church begin under the teaching of the apostles, but she was also instructed to "stand fast and hold the traditions which you were taught, whether by word or our epistle" (2Th 2:15). The apostle Paul insisted that those matters delivered by him and his fellow apostles, both in person and in the writings that would come to be called the New Testament, be adhered to carefully. Thus, followed such appropriate warnings as "in the name of Jesus Christ . . . withdraw from every brother who walks disorderly and not according to the tradition which he received from us" (2Th 3:6). The doctrines taught by Christ and His disciples are to be safeguarded by "the Church, the pillar and support of the truth" (1Ti 3:15) and are not open for renegotiation.

Midway through the first century, a dispute had arisen in Antioch over adherence to Old Testament laws. The matter could not be settled there; outside help was needed. The leaders of the Antiochian Church, the community which had earlier dispatched Paul and Barnabas as missionaries, brought the matter to Jerusalem for consideration by the apostles and elders there. The matter was discussed, debated, and a written decision was forthcoming.

It was James, the brother of the Lord and the first bishop of Jerusalem, who put forth the solution to the problem. This settlement, agreed to by all concerned at what is known as the Council of Jerusalem (Acts 15:1–35), set the pattern for the use of Church councils in the centuries ahead to settle doctrinal and moral issues that arose. Thus, throughout the history of the Church we find scores of such councils, and on various levels, to settle matters of dispute and to deal with those who do not adhere to the Apostolic faith.

The first three hundred years of Christian history were marked by the appearance of certain heresies or false teachings such as secret philosophic schemes for the elite (Gnosticism), dazzling prophetic aberrations (Montanism), and grave errors regarding the three Persons of the Trinity (Sabellianism).

Then, in the early fourth century, a heresy with potential for Church-wide disruption appeared, propagated by one Arius, a presbyter in Alexandria, Egypt. He denied the eternality of the Son of God, claiming contrary to the apostles' doctrine that the Son was a created being who came into existence at a point in time and thus was not truly God. This deadly error struck the Church like a cancer. Turmoil spread almost everywhere. The first Church-wide, or Ecumenical, Council met in Nicea in AD 325 to address this issue. Some 318 bishops, along with many priests, deacons and laymen rejected the new teaching of Arius and his associates, upholding the apostles' doctrine of Christ, affirming the eternality of the Son and His consubstantiality with the Father. Their proclamation of the Apostolic teaching concerning Christ included a creed, which, with the additions concerning the Holy Spirit made in 381 at the Council of Constantinople, forms the document we today call the Nicene Creed.

Between the years 325 and 787, seven such Church-wide conclaves were held, all dealing first and foremost with some specific challenge to the Apostolic teaching about Jesus Christ. These councils, meeting in the cities of Nicea, Ephesus, Chalcedon, and Constantinople, are known as the Seven Ecumenical Councils.

For the first thousand years of Christian history, the entire Church, save for the heretics, embraced and defended the New Testament Apostolic faith. There was no consequential division. And this one faith, preserved through all trials, attacks and tests, this Apostolic doctrine, was called "the Orthodox faith."

2. *Worship: Doctrinal purity was tenaciously maintained. But true Christianity is far more than adherence to a set of correct beliefs alone. The life of the Church is centrally expressed in her worship, adoration of God the Father, Son, and Holy Spirit. It was Jesus Himself Who told the woman at the well,"the hour is coming, and now is, when the true worshippers will worship the Father in spirit and truth; for the Father is seeking such to worship Him" (Jn 4:23).

At the Last Supper, Jesus instituted the Eucharist, the communion service, when He took bread and wine, gave a blessing, and said to His disciples,"This is My body which is given for you; do this in remembrance of Me" and "This cup is the new covenant in My blood, which is shed for you" (Lk 22:19, 21). From the New Testament we know the Church participated in communion at least each Lord's Day (Acts 20:7, 11). From such first and second century sources as the Didache, the letters of St. Ignatius of Antioch, and St. Justin Martyr, we are assured the Eucharist is the very center of Christian worship from the Apostolic era on.

And just as the Law, the Psalms, and the Prophets were read in the Temple worship and the synagogue in Israel, so the Church also immediately gave high priority to the public reading of Scripture and to preaching in her worship, along with the Eucharistic meal.

Even before the middle of the first century, Christian worship was known by the term liturgy which literally means "the common work" or "the work of the people." The early liturgy of the Church's worship was composed of two essential parts, (1) the liturgy of the word, including hymns, Scripture reading, and preaching and (2) the liturgy of the faithful, composed of intercessory prayers, the kiss of peace, and the Eucharist. From virtually the beginning, Christian worship has had a definable shape or form which continues to this day.

Modern Christians advocating freedom from liturgy in worship are usually shocked to learn that spontaneity was never the practice in the ancient Church! A basic pattern or shape of Christian worship was observed from the start. And as the Church grew and matured, liturgy matured as well. Hymns, Scripture readings, and prayers were intertwined in the basic foundation. A clear, purposeful procession through the year, marking and joining in word, song, and praise the birth, ministry, death, resurrection, and ascension of the Lord Jesus Christ, and sancitfying crucial aspects of Christian life and experience, was forthcoming. The Christian life was lived in reality in the worship of the Church. Far from being routine, the worship of the historic Church participated in the unfolding drama of the richness and mystery of the Gospel itself!

Further, specific landmarks in our salvation and walk with Christ were celebrated and sanctified. Baptism and the anointing with oil, or chrismation, were there from the start. Marriage, healing, confession of sin, and ordination to the ministry of the Gospel are other early rites in the Church. On each of these occasions Christians understood, in a great mystery, grace and power from God were being given according to the individual need of each person. The Church saw these events as holy moments in her life and called them mysteries or sacraments.

3. *Government: No one seriously questions whether the apostles of Christ led the Church at her beginning. They had been given the commission to preach the Gospel (Mt 28:19, 20) and the authority to forgive or retain sins (Jn 20:23). Theirs was by no means a preaching-only mission! They built the Church itself under Christ's headship. To govern it, three definite and permanent offices, as taught in the New Testament, were in evidence.

a. The office of bishop. The apostles themselves were the first bishops in the Church. Even before Pentecost, after Judas had turned traitor, Peter declared in applying Psalm 108:8,"Let his bishopric another take" (Acts 1:20). The word "bishopric" refers, of course, to the office of bishop and its use indicates the apostles themselves are bishops. Some have mistakenly argued the office of bishop was a later invention. Quite to the contrary, the apostles were themselves bishops, and they appointed bishops to succeed them to oversee the Church in each locality.

Occasionally, the objection is still heard that the office of bishop and presbyter were originally identical. The terms are used interchangeably in the New Testament while the apostles were present, the bishop being the presiding elder in a local church. But after the apostles' deaths, the offices of bishop and presbyter soon became distinct throughout the Church. Ignatius of Antioch, consecrated bishop by AD 70 in the Church from which Paul and Barnabas had been sent out, writes just after the turn of the century that bishops appointed by the apostles, surrounded by their presbyters, were everywhere in the Church.

b. The office of presbyter. Elders or presbyters are mentioned very early in the life of the Church in Acts and the Epistles. It is evident that in each place a Christian community developed, elders were appointed by the apostles to pastor the people.

As time passed, presbyters were referred to in the short form of the word as "prests," then as "priests," in full view of the fact that the Old Covenant priesthood had been fulfilled in Christ and that the Church is corporately a priesthood of believers. The priest was not understood as an intermediary between God and the people nor as a dispenser of grace. It was the role of the priest to be the presence of Christ in the Christian community. And in the very capacity of being the presence of the Chief Shepherd, Jesus Christ, the priest was to safeguard the flock of God.

c. The office of deacon. The third order or office in the government of the New Testament Church was the deacon. At first the apostles fulfilled this office themselves. But with the rapid growth of the Church, seven initial deacons were selected (Acts 6:1–7) to help carry the responsibility of service to those in need. It was one of these deacons, Stephen, who became the first martyr of the Church.

Through the centuries, the deacons have not only served the material needs of the Church, but have held a key role in the liturgical life of the Church as well. Often called "the eyes and ears of the bishop," many deacons have become priests and ultimately entered the episcopal office.

The authority of the bishop, presbyter, and deacon was not anciently understood as being apart from the people, but always from among the people. In turn the people of God were called to submit to those who ruled over them (Heb 13:17), and they were also called to give their agreement to the direction of the leaders for the Church. On a number of occasions in history, that "Amen" was not forthcoming, and the bishops of the Church took note and changed course. Later in history, many Church leaders departed from the ancient model and usurped authority for themselves. In the minds of some this brought the ancient model into question. But the problem was not in the model but in the deviation from it.

It should also be mentioned that it was out of the ministry and life of the apostles that the people of God, the laity, were established in the Church. Far from being a herd of observers, the laity are vital in the effectiveness of the Church. They are the recipients and active users of the gifts and grace of the Spirit. Each of the laity has a role in the life and function of the Church. Each is to supply something to the whole (1Co 12:7). And it is the responsibility of the bishops, the priests, and the deacons to be sure that this is a reality for the laity.

The worship of the Church at the close of its first 1000 years had substantially the same shape from place to place. The doctrine was the same. The whole Church confessed one creed, the same in every place, and had weathered many attacks. The government of the Church was recognizably one everywhere. And this One Church was the Orthodox Church.

DISAGREEMENTS BETWEEN WEST AND EAST

Tensions began to mount as the first millennium was drawing to a close. While numerous doctrinal, political, economic, and cultural factors were working to separate the Church in an East-West division, two giant divisive issues ultimately emerged above others: (1) that one man, the Pope of Rome, considered himself the universal bishop of the Church and (2) the addition of a novel clause to the Church's creed.

1. The Papacy: Among the Twelve, Saint Peter was early acknowledged as the leader. He was spokesman for the Twelve before and after Pentecost. He was the first bishop of Antioch and later bishop of Rome. No one challenged his role.

After the death of the apostles, as leadership in the Church developed, the bishop of Rome came to be recognized as first in honor, even though all bishops were equals. But after nearly 300 years, the bishop of Rome slowly began to assume to himself a role of superiority over the others, ultimately claiming to be the only true successor to Peter. The vast majority of the other bishops of the Church never questioned Rome's primacy of honor, but they patently rejected the Roman bishop's claim as the universal head of the Church on earth. This assumption of papal power became one major factor in rending the Roman Church, and all those it could gather with it, from the historic Orthodox Church.

2. The Addition to the Creed: A disagreement concerning the Holy Spirit also began to develop in the Church. Does the Holy Spirit proceed from the Father?

Or, does He proceed from the Father and the Son?

Our Lord Jesus Christ teaches,"But when the Helper comes, Whom I shall send to you from the Father, the Spirit of truth Who proceeds from the Father, he will testify of Me" (Jn 15:26). This is the basic statement in all the New Testament about the Holy Spirit "proceeding," and it is clear: He "proceeds from the Father."

Thus, when the ancient council at Constantinople in AD 381 reaffirmed the Creed of Nicea (AD 325), it expanded that Creed to proclaim these familiar words: "And in the Holy Spirit, the Lord and Life-Giver, Who proceeds from the Father, Who is worshipped and glorified together with the Father and the Son. . . ."

But two hundred years later, at a local council in Toledo, Spain (AD 589), King Reccared declared,"the Holy Spirit also should be confessed by us and taught to proceed from the Father and the Son." The King may have meant well, but he was contradicting Jesus' teaching, confessed by the entire Church, concerning the Holy Spirit. Unfortunately, that local Spanish council agreed with his error.

Because of the teaching of the Holy Scriptures, believed by the Church at Nicea and at Constantinople and for centuries beyond, there is no reason to believe anything other than that the Holy Spirit proceeds from the Father.

But centuries later, in what was at least partially a politically motivated move, the Pope of Rome unilaterally changed the universal creed of the Church without an ecumenical council. Though this change was initially rejected in both East and West, even by some of Rome's closest neighboring bishops, the Pope managed to eventually get the West to capitulate. The consequence, of course, in the Western Church has been the tendency to relegate the Holy Spirit to a lesser place than God the Father and God the Son. The change may appear small, but the consequences have proven disastrously immense. This issue, with the Pope departing from the Orthodox doctrine of the Church, became another instrumental cause separating the Roman Church from the historic Orthodox Church, the New Testament Church.

THE GREAT SCHISM

Conflict between the Roman Pope and the East mounted—especially in the Pope's dealings with the bishop, or patriarch, of Constantinople. The Pope even went so far as to claim the authority to decide who should be the bishop of Constantinople, in marked violation of historical precedent. No longer operating within the government of the New Testament Church, the Pope appeared to be seeking by political means to bring the whole Church under his domination.

Bizarre intrigues followed, one upon the other, as a series of Roman popes pursued this unswerving goal of attempting to control all Christendom. Perhaps the most incredible incident of these political, religious, and even military schemes occurred in the year 1054. A Cardinal, sent by the Pope, slapped a document on the altar of the Church of Holy Wisdom in Constantinople during the Sunday worship, excommunicating the Patriarch of Constantinople from the Church!

The Pope, of course, had no legitimate right to do this. But the repercussions were staggering. Some dismal chapters of Church history were written during the next decades. The ultimate consequence of the Pope's action was that the whole Roman Catholic Church ended up dividing itself from the New Testament faith of Orthodox Christianity. The schism has never been healed.

As the centuries passed conflict continued. Attempts at union failed and the Roman Church drifted farther and farther from its historic roots. There are inevitable consequences in deviating from the Church. The breaking away of Rome from the historic Orthodox Church would prove no exception.

FURTHER DIVISIONS IN THE WEST

During the centuries after AD 1054, the growing distinction between East and West was becoming indelibly marked in history. The East maintained the full stream of New Testament faith, worship, and practice—all the while enduring great persecution. The Western or Roman Church, crippled because of its schism from the Orthodox Church, bogged down in many complex problems. Then, less than five centuries after Rome committed itself to its unilateral alteration of doctrine and practice, another upheaval was festering—this time not next door to the East, but inside the Western gates themselves.

Though many in the West had spoken out against Roman domination and practice in earlier years, now a little-known German monk named Martin Luther inadvertently launched an attack against certain Roman Catholic practices which ended up affecting world history. His famous Ninety-Five Theses were nailed to the Church door at Wittenburg in 1517. In a short time those theses were signalling the start of what came to be called in the West the Protestant Reformation. Luther sought an audience with the Pope but was denied, and in 1521 he was excommunicated from the Roman Church. He had intended no break with Rome. Its papal system of government, heavy with authority, refused conciliation. The door to future unity in the West slammed shut with a resounding crash.

The protests of Luther were not unnoticed. The reforms he sought in Germany were soon accompanied by demands of Ulrich Zwingli in Zurich, John Calvin in Geneva, and hundreds of others all over Western Europe. Fueled by complex political, social, and economic factors, in addition to religious problems, the Reformation spread like a raging fire into virtually every nook and cranny of the Roman Church. The ecclesiastical monopoly to which it had grown accustomed was greatly diminished, and massive division replaced its artificial unity. The ripple effect of that division impacts even our own day as the Protestant movement itself continues to split and shatter.

If trouble on the continent were not trouble enough, the Church of England was in the process of going its own way as well. Henry VIII, amidst his marital problems, replaced the Pope of Rome with himself as head of the Church of England. For only a few short years would the Pope ever again have ascendency in England. And the English Church itself would soon experience great division.

As decade followed decade in the West, the many branches of Protestantism took various forms. There were even divisions that insisted they were neither Protestant nor Roman Catholic. All seemed to share a mutual dislike for the Bishop of Rome and the practice of his Church, and most wanted far less centralized forms of leadership. While some, such as the Lutherans and Anglicans, held on to certain forms of liturgy and sacrament, others, such as the Reformed Churches and the even more radical Anabaptists and their descendants, questioned and rejected many biblical ideas of hierarchy, sacrament, historic tradition, and other elements of Christian practice, no matter when and where they appeared in history, thinking they were freeing themselves of Roman Catholicism. To this day, many sincere, modern, professing Christians will reject even the biblical data which speaks of historic Christian practice, simply because they think such historic practices are “Roman Catholic.” To use the old adage, they threw the baby out with the bathwater without even being aware of it.

Thus, while retaining, in varying degrees, portions of foundational Christianity, neither Protestantism nor Catholicism can lay historic claim to being the true New Testament Church. In dividing from the Orthodox Christianity, Rome forfeited its place in the Church of the New Testament. In the divisions of the Reformation, the Protestants—as well-meaning as they might have been—failed to return to the New Testament Church.

THE ORTHODOX CHURCH TODAY

But that original Church, the Church of Peter and Paul and the apostles—

despite persecution, political oppression, and desertion on certain of its flanks—miraculously carries on today the same faith and life of the Church of the New Testament. Admittedly, the style of Orthodoxy looks complicated to the modern Protestant eye, and understandably so. But given an historical understanding of how the Church has progressed, it may be seen that the simple Christ-centered faith of the apostles is fully preserved in its doctrines, practices, services, and even in its architecture.

In Orthodoxy today, as in years gone by, the basics of Christian doctrine, worship, and government are never up for alteration. One cannot be an Orthodox priest, for example, and reject the divinity of Christ, His virgin birth, resurrection, ascension into heaven, and second coming. The Church simply has not left its course in nearly 2000 years. It is One, Holy, Catholic, and Apostolic. It is the New Testament Church. The gates of hell have not prevailed against it.

But Orthodoxy is also, in the words of one of her bishops,"the best kept secret in America." Though there are more than 225 million Orthodox Christians in the world today, many in the West are not familiar with the Church. In North America, for example, the Orthodox Church has, until recently, been largely restricted to ethnic boundaries, not spreading much beyond the parishes of the committed immigrants that brought the Church to the shores of this continent.

Still, the Holy Spirit has continued His work, causing new people to discover this Church of the New Testament. People have begun to find Orthodox Christianity both through the writings of the early Church Fathers, and through the humble witness of contemporary Orthodox Christians. Significant numbers of evangelicals, Episcopalians and mainline Protestants are becoming Orthodox. And Orthodox student groups are springing up on campuses worldwide. The word is getting out.

What, then, is the Orthodox Church? It is the first Christian Church in history, the Church founded by the Lord Jesus Christ, described in the pages of the New Testament. Her history can be traced in unbroken continuity all the way back to Christ and His Twelve apostles.

And what is it that's missing in the non-Orthodox Churches—even the best of them? Fullness. For the fullness of the New Testament faith is to be found only in the New Testament Church. Being in the Church does not guarantee all those in it will take advantage of the fullness of the faith. But the fullness of the faith is there for those who do.

For persons who seriously desire the fullness of Orthodox Christianity, action must be taken. There must be a return to this Church of the New Testament. Being aware of this ancient Church is not enough. In our time people have had ample opportunity to investigate and decide about the Roman Catholic faith, the Baptist, the Lutheran, and so on. But relatively few have taken a serious look at the Orthodox Church. Three specific suggestions will provide those interested with a tangible means of becoming acquainted with Orthodox Christianity on a personal basis.

1. *Visit: Look up "Orthodox" or "Eastern Orthodox" in the "Church" section of your Yellow Pages. Ask the whereabouts of the nearest Orthodox parish. Pay a visit—several visits. Meet the priest, and ask him to help you study and learn. And be prepared to exercise patience—sometimes a portion of the Liturgy is not in English! But the Service Book in the pew will help.

2. *Read: There are a number of books and periodicals immensely helpful to people seeking to learn about the Orthodox Church. The Orthodox Church by Kallistos Ware (Penguin); For the Life of the World by Alexander Schmemann (St. Vladimir Seminary Press); The Apostolic Fathers edited by Jack N. Sparks (Light and Life Publishers), and Becoming Orthodox by Peter E. Gillquist, Divine Energy by Jon E. Braun, and AGAIN Magazine (all by Conciliar Press).

3. *Write: The people at Conciliar Press (P.O. Box 76, Ben Lomond, CA 95005-0076) have volunteered to answer questions regarding the Orthodox Church from Orthodox Study Bible readers, and to suggest further reading. Send your name and address, with a request for information.

In a day when Christians are realizing anew the centrality and importance of worship, of the Church as the body of Christ, and the need to preserve true Christian faith, the doors of Orthodoxy are open wide. The invitation is extended to "come and see." Examine her faith, her worship, her history, her commitment to Christ, her love for God the Father, her communion with the Holy Spirit.

For two thousand years the Orthodox Church has by God's mercy kept the faith delivered once for all to the saints. Within her walls is the fullness of the salvation which was realized when "God so loved the world that He gave His only-begotten Son, that whoever believes in Him should not perish, but have everlasting life" (Jn 3:16).

The Old Testament

The Book of Genesis

Author

Traditionally, both Jews and Christians believe Moses is the author and compiler of Genesis and of each of the first five books of the Bible, the Pentateuch.

Date

Genesis was written during Israel's forty years of wandering in the wilderness, in the time between the crossing of the Red Sea and the entrance into Canaan.

Major Theme

The early history of man and of Israel. Genesis, which means "origin," is divided into two parts. The first is the account of the creation of the world and the beginning of the human race with Adam and Eve, and the history of their descendants. The second part of Genesis concerns the early history of Israel, starting with the three patriarchs of the Hebrews, Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, and the twelve tribes that were their descendants. God created all things good, and although His creation rebelled and sinned against Him, He still loves and cares for His people.

Background

Genesis covers the longest time span of any book in the Bible, stretching from the creation of the world to the coming of the Hebrews to Egypt. The first three chapters of Genesis are reflected in the last three chapters of Revelation, the Alpha and Omega of writings "given by inspiration of God" (2Ti 3:16).

The Creation

1 In the beginning God made heaven and earth. 2 The earth was invisible and unfinished; and darkness was over the deep. The Spirit of God was hovering over the face of the water. 3 Then God said, “Let there be light”; and there was light. 4 God saw the light; it was good; and God divided the light from the darkness. 5 God called the light Day; the darkness He called Night; and there was evening and morning, one day.

6 Then God said, “Let there be a firmament in the midst of the water, and let it divide the water from the water”; and it was so. 7 Thus God made the firmament, and God divided the water under the firmament from the water above the firmament. 8 So God called the firmament Heaven, and God saw that it was good; and there was evening and morning, the second day.

9 Then God said, “Let the water under heaven be gathered together into one place, and let the dry land appear”; and it was so. The water under heaven was gathered into its places, and the dry land appeared. 10 So God called the dry land Earth, and the gathering together of the waters He called Seas; and God saw that it was good. 11 Then God said, “Let the earth bring forth the herb of grass, bearing seed according to its kind and likeness. Let the fruit tree bear fruit, whose seed is in itself according to its kind on earth.” It was so. 12 Thus the earth brought forth the herb of grass, bearing seed according to its kind and likeness. The fruit tree bore fruit, whose seed is in itself according to its kind on earth. God saw that it was good. 13 So evening and morning were the third day.

14 Then God said, “Let there be lights in the firmament of heaven for illumination to divide day from night. 15 Let them be for signs and seasons, and for days and years. Let them be for illumination in the firmament of heaven to give light on the earth.” It was so. 16 Then God made two great lights: the greater light to rule the day, and the lesser light to rule the night.
He made the stars also. 17 God set them in the firmament of heaven to give light on the earth, 18 and to rule over the day and over the night, and to divide the light from the darkness. God saw that it was good. 19 So evening and morning were the fourth day.

20 Then God said, “Let the waters bring forth creatures having life, and let birds fly above the earth across the face of heaven’s firmament.” It was so. 21Thus God made great sea creatures and every living thing that moves with which the waters abounded, according to their kind, and every winged bird according to its kind. God saw that it was good. 22God blessed them, saying, “Be fruitful and multiply, and fill the waters in the seas, and let birds multiply on earth.” 23So evening and morning were the fifth day.

24Then God said, “Let the earth bring forth the living creature according to its kind: the quadrupeds, the creeping things, and the wild animals of the earth according to their kind.” It was so. 25So God made the wild animals of the earth according to their kind, the cattle according to their kind, and all the creeping things on earth according to their kind. God saw that it was good. 26Then God said, “Let Us make man in Our image, according to Our likeness. Let them have dominion over the fish of the sea, over the birds of heaven, over the cattle, and over all the earth, and over every creeping thing that moves on the earth.” 27So God made man; in the image of God He made him; male and female He made them. 28Then God blessed them; and God said to them, “Be fruitful and multiply; fill the earth and subdue it, and have dominion over the fish of the sea, over the birds of heaven, and over every living thing that moves on the earth.”

29Then God said, “Behold, I have given you every seed-bearing herb that sows seed on the face of all the earth, and every tree whose fruit yields seed; to you it shall be for food. 30I also give every green plant as food for all the wild animals of the earth, for all the birds of heaven, and for everything that creeps on the earth in which is the breath of life.” It was so. 31Then God saw everything He had made, and indeed, it was very good. So evening and morning were the sixth day. Creation

Genesis 2

1Thus heaven and earth and all their adornment were finished. 2And on the seventh day God finished the works He made, and He rested on the seventh day from all the works He made. 3Then God blessed the seventh day and sanctified it, because in it He rested from all His works God began to make.

4This is the book of the genesis of heaven and earth when they were made, in the day the Lord God made heaven and earth, 5before any plant of the field was on earth and before any herb of the field sprang up. For God had not sent rain on the earth, and there was no man to till the ground; [6]but a fountain came up from the ground and watered the whole face of the earth. [7]Then God formed man out of dust from the ground, and breathed in his face the breath of life; and man became a living soul.

The Garden of Eden

[8]Then the Lord God planted a garden eastward in Eden, and there He put the man He formed. [9]Besides this, God caused every tree beautiful to the sight and good for food to grow from the ground. Also, in the middle of the garden were the tree of life and the tree of learning the knowledge of good and evil. [10]Now a river went out of Eden to water the garden, and from there it separated into four heads. [11]The name of the first is Pishon. It circles all the land of Havilah, where there is gold. [12]And the gold of that land is good. The carbuncle and the emerald are there as well. [13]The name of the second river is Gihon. It circles all the land of Ethiopia. [14]The name of the third river is Tigris. It flows over against the Assyrians. And the fourth river is Euphrates.

[15]Then the Lord God took the man He formed and put him in the garden to tend and keep it. [16]And the Lord God commanded Adam, saying, “You may eat food from every tree in the garden; [17]but from the tree of the knowledge of good and evil you may not eat; for in whatever day you eat from it, you shall die by death.”

[18]And the Lord God said, “It is not good for man to be alone. I will make him a helper comparable to him.” [19]Also, God formed out of the ground all the wild animals of the field and all the birds of heaven, and brought them to Adam to see what he would call them. Thus whatever Adam called each living creature, that was its name. [20]So Adam gave names to all the cattle, to all the birds of heaven, and to all the wild animals of the field. But for Adam there was not found a helper comparable to him. [21]Thus God brought a trance upon Adam, and he slept; and He took one of his ribs, and filled up the flesh in its place. [22]Then the Lord God built the rib He took from Adam into a woman, and brought her to him. [23]So Adam said, “This is now bone of my bones, and flesh of my flesh. She shall be called Woman, because she was taken out of Man. [24]For this reason a man shall leave his father and mother and be joined to his wife; and the two shall become one flesh.” [25]Now the two were naked, both Adam and his wife, and were not ashamed. The Holy Trinity

The Fall of Mankind

1 Now the serpent was more cunning than all the wild animals the Lord God made on the earth. And he said to the woman, “Has God indeed said, ‘You shall not eat from every tree of the garden’?” 2 And the woman said to the serpent, “We may eat the fruit from the trees of the garden; 3 but from the fruit of the tree in the middle of the garden, God said, ‘You shall not eat from it, nor shall you touch it, lest you die.’ ” 4 Then the serpent said to the woman, “You shall not die by death. 5 For God knows in the day you eat from it your eyes will be opened, and you will be like gods, knowing good and evil.” 6 So when the woman saw the tree was good for food, was pleasant to the eyes, and a tree beautiful to contemplate, she took its fruit and ate. She also gave it to her husband with her, and he ate. 7 Then the eyes of the two were opened, and they knew they were naked. So they sewed fig leaves together and made themselves coverings.

8 Then they heard the voice of the Lord God walking in the garden that afternoon, and Adam and his wife hid themselves within the tree in the middle of the garden from the presence of the Lord God. 9 So the Lord God called Adam and said to him, “Adam, where are you?” 10 He replied, “I heard Your voice as You were walking in the garden, and I was afraid because I was naked; so I hid myself.” 11 Thus He said, “Who said you were naked?
Have you eaten from the one tree from which I commanded you not to eat?” 12 Then Adam said, “The woman You gave me, gave me of the tree, and I ate.” 13 So the Lord God said to the woman, “What is this you have done?”
The woman said, “The serpent deceived me, and I ate.” 14 Thus the Lord God said to the serpent, “Because you have done this, you are cursed more than all cattle, and more than all the wild animals of the earth. On your breast and belly you shall go, and you shall eat dust all the days of your life. 15 I will put enmity between you and the woman, and between your seed and her seed. He shall bruise your head, and you shall be on guard for His heel.”

16 To the woman He said, “I will greatly multiply your pain and your groaning, and in pain you shall bring forth children. Your recourse will be to your husband, and he shall rule over you.” 17 Then to Adam He said, “Because you heeded the voice of your wife, and ate from the one tree of which I commanded you, saying, ‘You shall not eat from it,’ cursed is the ground in your labors. In toil you shall eat from it all the days of your life.

18 Both thorns and thistles it shall bring forth for you, and you shall eat the herb of the field. 19 In the sweat of your face you shall eat bread till you return to the ground from which you were taken. Earth you are, and to earth you shall return." 20 So Adam called his wife's name Life, because she was the mother of all living.

21 Also for Adam and his wife the Lord God made garments of skin, and clothed them. 22 Then the Lord God said, "Behold, the man has become like one of Us, to know good and evil. Now, lest he put out his hand and take also of the tree of life, and eat, and live forever—" 23 therefore the Lord God sent him out of the garden of pleasure to cultivate the ground from which he was taken. 24 So He cast out Adam, and made him dwell opposite the garden of pleasure. He then stationed the cherubim and the fiery sword which turns every way to guard the way to the tree of life. Ancestral Sin

Genesis 4

Cain Kills Abel

1 Now Adam knew Eve his wife, and she conceived and bore Cain, and said, "I have acquired a man through God." 2 Then she bore again, this time his brother Abel. Now Abel was a shepherd of sheep, but Cain was a tiller of the ground. 3 Now in the process of time Cain brought a sacrifice to the Lord from the fruits of the ground. 4 Abel also brought a sacrifice from the firstborn of his flock and of their fat. The Lord respected Abel and his offering, 5 but He did not respect Cain and his sacrifices. So Cain was extremely sorrowful, and his countenance fell. 6 So the Lord said to Cain, "Why are you extremely sorrowful? And why has your countenance fallen? 7 Did you not sin, even though you brought it rightly, but did not divide it rightly? Be still; his recourse shall be to you; and you shall rule over him."

8 Now Cain talked with Abel his brother; and it came to pass, when they were in the field, that Cain rose up against Abel his brother and killed him.
9 Then God said to Cain, "Where is Abel your brother?" He replied, "I do not know. Am I my brother's keeper?" 10 Thus God said, "What have you done?
The voice of your brother's blood cries out to Me from the ground. 11 So now you are cursed from the earth, which has opened its mouth to receive your brother's blood from your hand. [12]When you till the ground, it shall no longer yield its strength to you. You will be groaning and trembling on the earth." [13]Then Cain said to the Lord, "My guilt is too great to be forgiven! [14]Surely You have driven me out this day from the face of the ground; I shall be hidden from Your face; I shall be groaning and trembling on the earth. Then it will happen if anyone finds me, he will kill me." [15]So the Lord God said to him, "Not so! Whoever kills Cain, vengeance shall be taken on him sevenfold." Thus the Lord set a sign on Cain, lest anyone finding him should kill him. [16]Then Cain went out from the presence of the Lord and dwelt in the land of Nod opposite Eden.

Cain's Family

[17]And Cain knew his wife, and she conceived and bore Enoch. And he built a city, and called the name of the city after the name of his son Enoch. [18]To Enoch was born Irad; and Irad begot Mehujael; and Mehujael begot Methushael; and Methushael begot Lamech. [19]Then Lamech took two wives for himself: the name of one was Adah, and the name of the second was Zillah. [20]So Adah bore Jabal. He was the father of those who dwell in tents and have livestock. [21]His brother's name was Jubal. He is the one who invented the psaltery and harp. [22]As for Zillah, she also bore Tubal-Cain, a smith and a manufacturer of bronze and iron. And the sister of Tubal-Cain was Naamah. [23]Then Lamech said to his wives Adah and Zillah:

"Hear my voice, you wives of Lamech,
And listen carefully to my words,
Because I killed a man for wounding me
And a young man for hurting me.
[24]If Cain shall be avenged sevenfold,
Then Lamech seventy-sevenfold."

[25]Again Adam knew his wife Eve, and she conceived and bore a son, and he named him Seth, saying, "God has appointed another seed for me instead of Abel, whom Cain killed." [26]As for Seth, to him also a son was born. He named him Enosh, and he hoped in the Lord God and called upon His name.

Genesis 5

The Descendants of Adam

[1]This is the book of the genesis of mankind in the day God made Adam, whom He made in God’s image. [2]He made them male and female, and blessed them; and the day He made them He called his name Adam. [3]Now Adam lived two hundred and thirty years, and begot a son according to his form and image, and named him Seth. [4]After he begot Seth, the days of Adam were seven hundred years; and he begot sons and daughters. [5]So all the days Adam lived were nine hundred and thirty years, and he died.

[6]Now Seth lived two hundred and five years, and begot Enosh. [7]After he begot Enosh, Seth lived seven hundred and seven years, and begot sons and daughters. [8]So all the days of Seth were nine hundred and twelve years, and he died.

[9]Now Enosh lived one hundred and ninety years, and begot Cainan. [10]After he begot Cainan, Enosh lived seven hundred and fifteen years, and begot sons and daughters. [11]So all the days of Enosh were nine hundred and five years, and he died.

[12]Now Cainan lived one hundred and seventy years, and begot Mahalalel. [13]After he begot Mahalalel, Cainan lived seven hundred and forty years, and begot sons and daughters. [14]So all the days of Cainan were nine hundred and ten years, and he died.

[15]Now Mahalalel lived one hundred and sixty-five years, and begot Jared. [16]After he begot Jared, Mahalalel lived seven hundred and thirty years, and begot sons and daughters. [17]So all the days of Mahalalel were eight hundred and ninety-five years, and he died.

[18]Now Jared lived one hundred and sixty-two years, and begot Enoch. [19]After he begot Enoch, Jared lived eight hundred years, and begot sons and daughters. [20]So all the days of Jared were nine hundred and sixty-two years, and he died.

[21]Now Enoch lived one hundred and sixty-five years, and begot Methuselah. [22]After he begot Methuselah, Enoch was well-pleasing to God for two hundred years, and begot sons and daughters. [23]So all the days of Enoch were three hundred and sixty-five years. [24]Thus Enoch was well-pleasing to God, and was not found, for God translated him.

[25]Now Methuselah lived one hundred and eighty-seven years, and begot Lamech. [26]After he begot Lamech, Methuselah lived seven hundred and eighty-two years, and begot sons and daughters. [27]So all the days of Methuselah were nine hundred and sixty-nine years, and he died.

28 Now Lamech lived one hundred and eighty-eight years, and begot a son.
29 And he called his name Noah, saying, “He will give us rest from our work and the toil of our hands, because of the ground the Lord God cursed.” 30 After he begot Noah, Lamech lived five hundred and sixty-five years, and had sons and daughters. 31 So all the days of Lamech were seven hundred and fifty-three years, and he died.

32 And Noah was five hundred years old, and he begot Shem, Ham, and Japheth.

Genesis 6

Man’s Wickedness

1 Now it came to pass that men began to exist in great numbers on the earth, and daughters were born to them. 2 So when the sons of God saw the daughters of men were beautiful, they took wives for themselves of all they chose. 3 Then the Lord God said, “My Spirit shall not remain with these people forever, for they are flesh. So their days shall be one hundred and twenty years.” 4 Now there were giants on the earth in those days, and also afterward, when the sons of God came in to the daughters of men and they bore children to them. Those were the mighty men of old, men of renown.

5 Then the Lord God saw man’s wickedness, that it was great in the earth, and every intent of the thoughts within his heart was only evil continually.
6 So God was grieved that He had made man on the earth, and He thought this over. 7 Then God said, “I will blot out man whom I created from the face of the earth, from man to cattle, and from the creeping things to the birds of heaven, for I am grieved I made them.” 8 But Noah found grace in the presence of the Lord God.

Righteous Noah Builds the Ark

9 This is the genealogy of Noah. Noah was a righteous man, who was perfect in his generation and well-pleasing to God. 10 So Noah begot three sons: Shem, Ham, and Japheth.

11 Now the earth was corrupt before God and filled with unrighteousness.
12 Thus the Lord God looked upon the earth, and indeed it was corrupt; for all flesh corrupted their way on the earth. 13Then God said to Noah, “The end of all flesh has come before Me, for the earth is filled with unrighteousness through them; and behold, I will destroy them with the earth. 14Make yourself an ark of square timber. You shall make the ark in compartments, and cover it inside and outside with pitch. 15Thus you shall make the ark: three hundred cubits in length, fifty cubits in breadth, and thirty cubits in height. 16Now when you assemble the ark, you shall gradually finish it up to a cubit at the top, and set the door in its side. You shall make the ark with lower, second, and third stories. 17And behold, I am bringing a flood of water on the earth, to destroy from under heaven all flesh in which is the breath of life. Whatever is on the earth shall die. 18But I will establish My covenant with you; and you shall go into the ark—you, your sons, your wife, and your sons’ wives with you. 19From every living thing of all flesh you shall bring two of every kind into the ark, to keep them alive with you; they shall be male and female. 20Of the birds after their kind, of animals after their kind, and of every creeping thing on the earth after its kind, two of every kind, they will enter into the ark with you, male and female, to keep them alive. 21You shall also take for yourself all kinds of food to eat, and you shall gather it both for yourself and for them.” 22Thus Noah did according to all the Lord God commanded him, so he did.

Genesis 7

The Flood

1Then the Lord God said to Noah, “Enter the ark, you and all your family, because I have seen you righteous before Me in this generation. 2You shall also bring with you into the ark the clean cattle by sevens, male and female; and the unclean cattle by twos, male and female; 3and the clean birds of heaven by twos, male and female, to keep seed alive on the face of all the earth. 4For after seven more days I will cause it to rain on the earth forty days and forty nights, and I will blot out from the face of the earth every living thing I made.” 5So Noah did all the Lord God commanded him.

6Now Noah was six hundred years old when the flood of waters came on the earth. 7Then Noah, with his sons, his wife, and his sons’ wives, entered the ark because of the flood waters. 8Also the clean and unclean birds, the clean and unclean cattle, and everything that creeps on the earth, 9entered with Noah into the ark, two by two, male and female, as God commanded him. [10]Then it came to pass after seven days, the waters of the flood came upon the earth. [11]In the six-hundredth year of Noah's life, in the second month, on the seventeenth day of the month, on that day, all the fountains of the great deep were broken up, and the floodgates of heaven were opened. [12]Then it rained on the earth forty days and forty nights. [13]On the very same day Noah and his wife, his sons, Shem, Ham, and Japheth, and their wives entered the ark. [14]Also, all the wild animals after their kind, all cattle after their kind, every creeping thing moving upon the earth after its kind, and every bird after its kind, [15]entered the ark with Noah, two by two, of all flesh in which is the breath of life. [16]So those that entered, male and female of all flesh, went in as God commanded him. Then the Lord God shut him in the ark.

[17]Now the flood was on the earth forty days and forty nights. The waters increased and lifted up the ark, and it rose high above the earth. [18]So the waters prevailed and greatly increased on the earth, and the ark moved about on the surface of the waters. [19]The waters prevailed exceedingly on the earth, and all the high mountains under the whole heaven were covered. [20]The waters prevailed fifteen cubits upward, and covered all the high mountains. [21]And all flesh died that moves on the earth: birds and cattle, wild animals, and every creeping thing that moves on the earth, and every man. [22]Thus all things in whose nostrils was the breath of life, and everything on dry land, died. [23]So He blotted out all living things on the face of the earth: both man and cattle, creeping things and the birds of heaven. They were blotted out from the earth. Only Noah and those with him in the ark remained alive. [24]Now the waters prevailed on the earth one hundred and fifty days.

The Flood Ceases

[1]Then God remembered Noah, and whatever was with him in the ark: all the wild animals, all the cattle, all the birds, and all the creeping things. And God made a wind to pass over the earth, and the waters subsided. [2]The fountains of the deep and the floodgates of heaven were also stopped, and the rain from heaven was restrained. [3]And the waters receded continually from the earth. At the end of the hundred and fifty days the waters decreased. [4]Then the ark rested in the seventh month, on the seventeenth day of the month, on the mountains of Ararat. 5And the waters decreased continually until the tenth month. In the tenth month, on the first day of the month, the tops of the mountains were seen.

6So it came to pass, at the end of forty days, Noah opened the window of the ark he had made. 7Then he sent out a raven, which kept going to and fro until the waters dried up from the earth. 8He also sent out from himself a dove, to see if the waters had receded from the face of the ground. 9But the dove found no resting place for the sole of her foot, and she returned to him in the ark, for the waters were on the face of the whole earth. So he put out his hand and took her, and brought her to himself in the ark. 10Then he waited yet another seven days, and again he sent out the dove from the ark. 11The dove returned to him in the evening, and behold, a freshly plucked olive leaf was in her mouth; and Noah knew the waters had receded from the earth. 12So he waited yet another seven days and again sent out the dove; however, she did not return to him any more. 13And it came to pass in the six hundred and first year of Noah's life, in the first month, on the first day of the month, the waters were dried up from the earth; and Noah removed the covering of the ark and looked, and indeed, the surface of the ground was dry. 14Now in the second month, on the twenty-seventh day of the month, the earth was dried.

15Then the Lord God spoke to Noah, saying, 16"Go out of the ark, you and your wife, and your sons and their wives with you. 17Also, bring out with you every living thing of all flesh: birds and cattle and every creeping thing that moves upon the earth, so they may abound on the earth, and increase and multiply on the earth." 18So Noah went out, along with his wife and his sons and their wives. 19Every animal, every bird, and every creeping thing that moves upon the earth, according to their kind, went out of the ark. 20Then Noah built an altar to God, and took of every clean animal and of every clean bird, and offered whole burnt offerings on the altar. 21So the Lord God smelled a sweet aroma. Then the Lord God thought it over and said, "I will never again curse the earth because of man's works, although the mind of man is diligently involved with evil things from his youth; nor will I again destroy every living thing as I have done. 22While the earth remains, seedtime and harvest, cold and heat, summer and spring shall not cease by day or by night."

Genesis 9

1 Thus God blessed Noah and his sons, and said to them, “Increase and multiply, and fill the earth, and have dominion over it. 2 For the dread and fear of you shall be upon all the wild animals of the earth, all the birds of heaven, all that move upon the earth, and all the fish of the sea. I have put them under your authority. 3 Every moving thing that lives shall be food for you. I have given you all things, even as I did the green herbs. 4 But you shall not eat flesh with its lifeblood. 5 Surely for your lifeblood I will demand a reckoning; from the hand of all the wild animals I will require it; and I will require the life of man at the hand of his fellow man. 6 Whoever sheds man’s blood, by man his blood shall be shed; because I made man in God’s image. 7 So then, increase and multiply; and fill the earth and have dominion over it.”

God’s Covenant with Noah

8 Then God spoke to Noah and his sons with him, saying, 9 “Behold, I am establishing My covenant with you and with your seed after you, 10 and every living creature with you: the birds, the cattle, and all the wild animals of the earth, of all that came out of the ark with you. 11 Thus I will establish My covenant with you, and never again shall all flesh be cut off by the waters of the flood; nor shall there ever again be a flood to destroy the earth.” 12 Then the Lord God said to Noah, “This is the sign of the covenant I am making between Me and you, and every living creature with you, for perpetual generations: 13 I am setting My rainbow in the cloud, and it shall be a sign of the covenant between Me and the earth. 14 It shall be, when I bring a cloud over the earth, the rainbow shall be seen in the cloud; 15 and I will remember My covenant between Me and you and every living creature of all flesh; the waters shall never again become a flood to destroy all flesh. 16 My rainbow shall be in the cloud, and I will certainly remember the everlasting covenant between God and every living creature of all flesh on the earth.” 17 Again God said to Noah, “This is the sign of the covenant I established between Me and all flesh on the earth.”

18 Now the sons of Noah who went out of the ark were Shem, Ham, and Japheth; and Ham was the father of Canaan. 19 These three were the sons of Noah, and from these the whole earth was populated.

20 Then Noah began to be a husbandman, and he planted a vineyard. 21 So he drank of the wine and was drunk and naked in his house. [22]Now Ham, the father of Canaan, saw the nakedness of his father, and told his two brothers outside. [23]But Shem and Japheth took a garment, laid it on both their shoulders, and walking backwards they covered their father's nakedness. Since their faces were turned away, they did not see his nakedness. [24]Thus when Noah became sober and knew what his younger son had done to him, [25]he said:

> "Cursed be Canaan;
> A servant of servants shall he be to his brothers."

[26]He also said,

> "Blessed be the Lord God of Shem,
> And Canaan shall be his servant.
> [27]May God enlarge Japheth,
> And let him dwell in the habitations of Shem.
> Let Canaan be his servant as well."

[28]Now Noah lived three hundred and fifty years after the flood. [29]So all the days of Noah were nine hundred and fifty years, and he died.

Genesis 10

The Genealogy of Noah

[1]Now this is the genealogy of Noah's sons: Shem, Ham, and Japheth, and sons were born to them after the flood.

[2]The sons of Japheth were Gomer, Magog, Madai, Javan, Elisa, Tubal, Meshech, and Tiras. [3]The sons of Gomer were Ashkenaz, Riphath, and Togarmah. [4]The sons of Javan were Elishah, Tarshish, the Kittim, and Rhodians. [5]From these the coastal nations were separated into their lands, each according to his language, in their tribes and nations.

[6]The sons of Ham were Cush, Mizraim, Put, and Canaan. [7]The sons of Cush were Seba, Havilah, Sabtah, Raamah, and Sabtechah; and the sons of Raamah were Sheba and Dedan. [8]Cush begot Nimrod; he began to be a giant on the earth. [9]He was a giant, a hunter before the Lord God; therefore they would say, “As Nimrod the giant, the hunter before the Lord.” [10]And the beginning of his kingdom was Babylon, Erech, Accad, and Calneh, in the land of Shinar. [11]From that land he went to Assyria and built Nineveh, Rehoboth Ir, Calah, [12]and Resen between Nineveh and Calah (the principal city). [13]Mizraim begot Ludim, Anamim, Lehabim, Naphtuhim, [14]Pathrusim, and Casluhim (from whom came the Philistines and the Caphtorim). [15]Canaan begot Sidon his firstborn, and the Chettite; [16]the Jebusite, the Amorite, and the Girgashite; [17]the Hivite, the Arkite, and the Sinite; [18]the Arvadite, the Zemarite, and the Hamathite. Afterward, the tribes of the Canaanites were dispersed. [19]And the border of the Canaanites was from Sidon as you go toward Gerar, as far as Gaza; then as you go toward Sodom, Gomorrah, Admah, and Zeboiim, as far as Lasha. [20]These were the sons of Ham, according to their tribes, according to their languages, in their countries and in their nations.

[21]Now sons were also born to Shem himself, the father of all the sons of Eber, the brother of Japheth the elder. [22]The sons of Shem were Elam, Asshur, Arphaxad, Lud, Aram and Cainan. [23]The sons of Aram were Uz, Hul, Gether, and Mash. [24]Arphaxad begot Cainan, and Cainan begot Salah, and Salah begot Eber. [25]Two sons were born to Eber: the name of one was Peleg, for in his days the earth was divided; and his brother’s name was Joktan. [26]Joktan begot Almodad, Sheleph, Hazarmaveth, Jerah, [27]Hadoram, Uzal, Diklah, [28]Obal, Abimael, Sheba, [29]Ophir, Havilah, and Jobab. All these were the sons of Joktan. [30]And their dwelling place was from Mesha as you go toward Sephar, the mountain of the east. [31]These were the sons of Shem, according to their tribes, according to their languages, in their countries, according to their nations.

[32]These were the tribes of Noah’s sons, according to their genealogy, in their nations; and from these the coastal nations were divided on the earth after the flood.

The Tower of Babel

[1]Now the whole earth was one language and one speech. [2]And it came to pass, as they journeyed from the east, they found a plain in the land of Shinar, and dwelt there. [3]Then they said to one another, “Come, let us make bricks and bake them with fire." They had brick for stone and asphalt for mortar.

4They also said, "Come, let us build ourselves a city and a tower, whose top will reach to heaven; and let us make a name for ourselves, lest we be scattered abroad over the face of the whole earth." 5But the Lord came down to see the city and the tower the sons of men built. 6Then the Lord said,
"Indeed, the people are one race and one language, and they have begun to do what they said. Now they will not fail to accomplish what they have undertaken. 7Come, let Us go down there and confuse their language, so they may not understand one another's speech." 8So the Lord scattered them abroad from there over the face of all the earth, and they ceased building the city and the tower. 9Therefore its name is called Babel, because there the Lord confused the languages of all the earth; and from there the Lord God scattered them abroad over the face of all the earth.

The Genealogy of Shem

10Now this is the genealogy of Shem: Shem was one hundred years old, and begot Arphaxad two years after the flood. 11After he begot Arphaxad, Shem lived five hundred years, and begot sons and daughters; and he died.

12Now Arphaxad lived one hundred and thirty-five years, and begot Cainan. 13After he begot Cainan, Arphaxad lived four hundred and thirty years, and begot sons and daughters; and he died. Now Cainan lived one hundred and thirty years, and begot Salah. So after he begot Salah, Cainan lived three hundred and thirty years, and begot sons and daughters; and he died.

14Now Salah lived one hundred and thirty years, and begot Eber. 15After he begot Eber, Salah lived three hundred and thirty years, and begot sons and daughters; and he died.

16Now Eber lived one hundred and thirty-four years, and begot Peleg.
17After he begot Peleg, Eber lived three hundred and seventy years, and begot sons and daughters; and he died.

18Now Peleg lived one hundred and thirty years, and begot Reu. 19After he begot Reu, Peleg lived two hundred and nine years, and begot sons and daughters; and he died.

20Now Reu lived one hundred and thirty-two years, and begot Serug.
21After he begot Serug, Reu lived two hundred and seven years, and begot sons and daughters; and he died.

22Now Serug lived one hundred and thirty years, and begot Nahor. 23After

he begot Nahor, Serug lived two hundred years, and begot sons and daughters; and he died.

[24]Nahor lived seventy-nine years, and begot Terah. [25]After he begot Terah, Nahor lived one hundred and twenty-nine years, and begot sons and daughters; and he died.

[26]Now Terah lived seventy years, and begot Abram, Nahor, and Haran.

The Genealogy of Terah

[27]Now this is the genealogy of Terah: Terah begot Abram, Nahor, and Haran, and Haran begot Lot. [28]So Haran died before his father Terah in his native land, in Ur of the Chaldeans. [29]Then Abram and Nahor took wives: the name of Abram's wife was Sarai, and the name of Nahor's wife, Milcah, the daughter of Haran, the father of Milcah and Iscah. [30]But Sarai was barren, and had no child. [31]Now Terah took his son Abram and his grandson Lot, the son of Haran, and his daughter-in-law Sarai, his son Abram's wife, and led them out from Ur of the Chaldeans, to go to the land of Canaan; and they came to Haran and dwelt there. [32]So the days of Terah were two hundred and five years, and Terah died in Haran.

God's Promise to Abram

[1]Now the Lord said to Abram, "Get out of your country, from your kindred and from your father's house, to a land I will show you. [2]I will make you a great nation; I will bless you and make your name great; and you shall be a blessing. [3]I will bless those who bless you, and curse those who curse you; and in you all the tribes of the earth shall be blessed." [4]Then Abram departed as the Lord said to him, and Lot went with him. Now Abram was seventy-five years old when he departed from Haran. [5]So Abram took Sarai his wife and Lot his brother's son and all their possessions and every soul they acquired in Haran, and they departed for the land of Canaan. Thus they came to the land of Canaan. [6]Abram passed through the land to the place of Shechem, as far as the oak of Moreh. And the Canaanites were then in the land. [7]Then the Lord appeared to Abram and said, "To your seed I will give this land." And there Abram built an altar to the Lord, who appeared to him. [8]So he moved from there to the mountain east of Bethel, and he pitched his tent with Bethel on the west and Ai on the east; and there he built an altar to the Lord and called on the name of the Lord. 9Then Abram journeyed, going on still toward the South.

Abram in Egypt

10Now there was a famine in the land, and Abram went down to Egypt to dwell there, for the famine was severe in the land. 11So it came to pass, when he was close to entering Egypt, that he said to Sarai his wife, “Indeed I know you are a beautiful woman. 12Therefore it will happen, when the Egyptians see you, so they will say, ‘This is his wife’; and they will kill me, but they will let you live. 13Therefore say you are my sister, that it may be well with me for your sake, and I may live because of you.” 14So it was, when Abram came into Egypt, the Egyptians saw the woman, that she was very beautiful. 15The princes of Pharaoh also saw her and commended her to Pharaoh. Then the woman was taken to Pharaoh’s house. 16Now he treated Abram well for her sake, and gave him sheep, oxen, donkeys, male and female servants, mules and camels. 17But the Lord plagued Pharaoh and his house with great plagues because of Sarai, Abram’s wife. 18So Pharaoh called Abram and said, “What is this you have done to me? Why did you not tell me she was your wife? 19Why did you say, ‘She is my sister’? I might have taken her as my wife. Now therefore, here is your wife; take her and go your way.” 20So Pharaoh commanded his men concerning Abram; and they sent him away, with his wife and all he had.

Abram and Lot Part Ways

1Now Abram went up from Egypt to the South, he and his wife and all he had, and Lot with him. 2Abram was very rich in cattle, silver, and gold. 3So he went on his journey from the South as far as Bethel, to the place where his tent was at the beginning, between Bethel and Ai, 4to the place of the altar he made there at the beginning. There Abram called on the name of the Lord. 5Lot also, who went with Abram, had flocks and herds and tents. 6But the land was not able to support them, so they might dwell together, for their possessions were so great they could not dwell together. 7So strife arose between the herdsmen of Abram’s livestock and those of Lot. Now the Canaanites and the Perizzites dwelt in the land at that time. [8]So Abram said to Lot, “Let there be no strife between you and me, and between my herdsmen and your herdsmen; for we are brethren. [9]Is not the whole land before you? Separate from me. If you take the left, then I will go to the right; or if you go to the right, then I will go to the left.”

[10]Thus Lot lifted his eyes and saw all the plain of Jordan, that it was well watered everywhere (before the Lord destroyed Sodom and Gomorrah), like the garden of God, like the land of Egypt as you go toward Zoar. [11]Then Lot chose all the plain of Jordan for himself, and journeyed east. So they separated from each other. [12]Abram dwelt in the land of Canaan, but Lot dwelt in the cities of the plain and pitched his tent even as far as Sodom. [13]Now the men of Sodom were exceedingly wicked and sinful before God.

[14]Then God said to Abram, after Lot separated from him, “Lift your eyes now and look from the place where you are—northward, southward, eastward, and westward; [15]for all the land you see I give to you and your seed forever. [16]And I will make your seed as the dust of the earth; that if a man could number the dust of the earth, then your seed also could be numbered. [17]Arise, walk in the land through its length and its breadth, for I will give it to you.” [18]Then Abram moved his tent, and went and dwelt by the oak of Mamre in Hebron, and built an altar there to the Lord.

Lot’s Capture and Rescue

[1]Now it came to pass in the reign of Amraphel king of Shinar, Arioch king of Ellasar, Chedorlaomer king of Elam, and Tidal king of nations, [2]that they made war with Bera king of Sodom, Birsha king of Gomorrah, Shinab king of Admah, Shemeber king of Zeboiim, and the king of Bela (that is, Zoar). [3]All these joined together in the Valley of Siddim (that is, the Salt Sea). [4]Twelve years they served Chedorlaomer, and in the thirteenth they rebelled. [5]Now in the fourteenth year, Chedorlaomer and the kings with him came and cut down the giants in Ashteroth Karnaim and strong nations with them: the Zuzim in Ham, the Emim in Shaveh Kiriathaim, [6]and the Horites in the mountains of Seir, as far as El Paran, which is by the wilderness. [7]Then they turned back and came to En Mishpat (that is, Kadesh), and cut down all the princes of the Amalekites, and also the Amorites who dwelt in Hazezon

[8]Now the king of Sodom, the king of Gomorrah, the king of Admah, the king of Zeboiim, and the king of Bela (that is, Zoar) went out and joined together in battle in the Valley of Siddim [9]against Chedorlaomer king of Elam, Tidal king of nations, Amraphel king of Shinar, and Arioch king of Ellasar—four kings against five. [10]Now the Valley of Siddim was full of asphalt pits; and the kings of Sodom and Gomorrah fled and fell in there; but those left fled to the mountains. [11]Then they took all the cavalry of Sodom and Gomorrah, and all their provisions, and went their way. [12]They also took Lot, Abram's brother's son who dwelt in Sodom, and his goods, and departed.

[13]Then one who escaped came and told Abram the Hebrew, who at that time dwelt by the oak of Mamre the Amorite, brother of Eshcol and brother of Aner; and they were allies with Abram. [14]Now when Abram heard his brother Lot was taken captive, he armed his three hundred and eighteen trained servants, born in his own house, and went in pursuit as far as Dan. [15]So he divided his forces against them by night, and he and his servants attacked and pursued them as far as Hobah, north of Damascus. [16]So he brought back all the cavalry of Sodom, and also brought back his brother Lot and his goods, as well as the women and the people.

The Blessing of Melchizedek

[17]Then the king of Sodom went out to meet him at the Valley of Shaveh (that is, the King's Valley), after his return from the slaughter of Chedorlaomer and the kings with him. [18]Now Melchizedek the king of Salem brought out bread and wine; he was the priest of God Most High. [19]He blessed Abram and said, "Blessed be Abram of God Most High, Creator of heaven and earth; [20]and blessed be God Most High, who delivered your enemies into your hands." Then Abram gave him a tithe of all. [21]Now the king of Sodom said to Abram, "Give me the people, and keep the cavalry for yourself." [22]But Abram said to the king of Sodom, "I have raised my hand to God Most High, Creator of heaven and earth, [23]that I will take nothing of yours, from a thread to a sandal strap, lest you should say, 'I have made Abram rich'— [24]except only what the young men have eaten, and the portion of the men with me: Aner, Eshcol, and Mamre; let them take their portion."

God's Covenant with Abram

[1]After these things the Word of the Lord came to Abram in a vision, saying, "Do not be afraid, Abram. I am your shield and will be your exceedingly great reward." [2]But Abram said, "Lord, what will You give me, seeing I go childless, and the heir of my house is Eliezer of Damascus, the son of Masek, my domestic maidservant?" [3]Then Abram said, "Look, You have given me no offspring; indeed, my household servant is my heir."

[4]And immediately the Voice of the Lord came to him, saying, "This one shall not be your heir, but the One who will come from your own body shall be your heir." [5]Then He brought him outside and said to him, "Look now toward heaven, and count the stars if you are able to number them." And He said to him, "So shall your seed be." [6]And Abram believed God, and He accounted it to him for righteousness. [7]Then He said to him, "I am the God who brought you out of Ur of the Chaldeans, to give you this land to inherit it." [8]And he said, "Master and Lord, how will I know I will inherit it?" [9]So He said to him, "Bring Me a three-year-old heifer, a three-year-old female goat, a three-year-old ram, a turtledove, and a young pigeon." [10]So he brought all these to Him and cut them in half, down the middle, and placed each piece opposite the other; but he did not cut the birds in two. [11]And when the vultures came down on the carcasses, Abram drove them away.

[12]Now around sunset, a trance fell upon Abram; and behold, horror and great darkness fell upon him. [13]Then He said to Abram, "Know for certain that your seed will be strangers in a land not their own, and will serve them; and they will afflict and humble them four hundred years. [14]Also, the nation they serve I will judge; and afterward, they shall come out with great possessions. [15]But as for you, you shall go to your fathers in peace, buried in a good old age. [16]Then in the fourth generation they shall return here, for the sin of the Amorites is not yet filled up."

[17]And it came to pass, when the sun went down, that there was a flame, and behold, there appeared a smoking oven and lamps of fire that passed between those divided pieces. [18]On the same day, the Lord made a covenant with Abram, saying, "I will give this land to your seed, from the river of Egypt to the great river, the River Euphrates— [19]the Kenites, the Kenezzites, the Kadmonites, [20]the Hittites, the Perizzites, the Rephaim, [21]the Amorites, the Canaanites, the Euaites, the Girgashites, and the Jebusites."

Genesis 16

Hagar and Ishmael

[1]Now Sarai, Abram's wife, bore him no children, but she had an Egyptian maidservant, whose name was Hagar. [2]So Sarai said to Abram, "See now, the Lord has restrained me from bearing children. Go in to my maid; perhaps I shall obtain children by her." Thus Abram obeyed the voice of Sarai. [3]Then Sarai, Abram's wife, took Hagar her maid, the Egyptian, and gave her to her husband Abram to be his wife, after Abram dwelt ten years in the land of Canaan. [4]So he went in to Hagar, and she conceived. And when she saw she had conceived, her mistress became despised in her eyes. [5]Then Sarai said to Abram, "My wrong be upon you! I gave my maid into your embrace; and when she saw she had conceived, I became despised in her eyes. May God judge between you and me." [6]Thus Abram said to Sarai, "Indeed, your maid is in your hand; do with her as you please." So when Sarai dealt harshly with her, she fled from her presence.

[7]Now the Angel of the Lord found her by a spring of water in the wilderness, by the spring on the way to Shur. [8]Then He said, "Hagar, Sarai's maid, where have you come from, and where are you going?" She replied, "I am fleeing from the presence of my mistress Sarai." [9]The Angel of the Lord then said to her, "Return to your mistress, and humble yourself under her hand." [10]Again, the Angel of the Lord said to her, "I will surely multiply your seed exceedingly, that it may not be counted because of its multitude." [11]Once again, the Angel of the Lord said to her:

> "Behold, you are with child,
> And you shall bear a son.
> You shall call his name Ishmael,
> For the Lord has taken notice of your humiliation.
> [12]He shall be a rustic man,
> And his hand shall be against every man,
> And every man's hand against him.
> He shall dwell in the presence of all his brethren."

13Then Hagar called the name of the Lord who spoke to her, “You-Are-the-God-Who-Sees-Me”; for she said, “I have seen the One who appeared to me face to face.” 14Therefore, she called the well the-Well-of-Him-I-Saw-Before-Me; observe, it is between Kadesh and Bered.

15So Hagar bore Abram a son; and Abram named his son whom Hagar bore Ishmael. 16Now Abram was eighty-six years old when Hagar bore Ishmael to Abram.

Circumcision: Sign of the Covenant

1When Abram was ninety-nine years old, the Lord appeared to Abram and said to him, “I am your God; be pleasing before Me and blameless. 2I will establish My covenant between Me and you, and will multiply you exceedingly.” 3Then Abram fell on his face, and God talked with him, saying, 4“As for Me, behold, My covenant is with you, and you shall be a father of many nations. 5No longer shall your name be called Abram, but your name shall be Abraham; for I have made you a father of many nations. 6I will make you exceedingly fruitful; and I will make nations of you, and kings shall come from you. 7I will establish My covenant between Me and you and your seed after you in their generations, for an everlasting covenant, to be your God and the God of your seed after you. 8Also I will give you and your seed after you the land you are occupying as a sojourner, all the land of Canaan, as an everlasting possession; and I will be their God.”

9Then God said to Abraham, “As for you, you shall keep My covenant, you and your seed after you throughout their generations. 10This is the covenant you shall keep, between Me and you and your seed after you throughout their generations: Every male child among you shall be circumcised; 11and you shall be circumcised in the flesh of your foreskin. It shall be a sign of the covenant between Me and you. 12A child of eight days old shall be circumcised by you—every male child throughout your genealogy, he who is born in your house or bought with money from any foreigner not of your seed. 13He who is born in your house, and he who is bought with your money must be circumcised; and My covenant shall be in your flesh for an everlasting covenant. 14And the uncircumcised male child, who is not circumcised in the flesh of his foreskin on the eighth day, that soul shall be cut off from his people; for he has broken My covenant."

15Then God said to Abraham, "As for Sarai your wife, you shall not call her name Sarai, but Sarah shall be her name. 16And I will bless her and also give you a son by her; and I will bless him, and he shall become nations; and kings of peoples shall be from him." 17Then Abraham fell on his face and laughed, and said in his mind, "Shall a child be born to a man who is one hundred years old, and shall Sarah, who is ninety years old, bear a child?"
18And Abraham said to God, "Oh, that Ishmael might live before You!" 19Then God said, "No, Sarah your wife shall bear you a son, and you shall call his name Isaac; and I will establish My covenant with him for an everlasting covenant, and with his seed after him. 20As for Ishmael, I have heard you. Behold, I have blessed him and will increase and multiply him exceedingly. He shall beget twelve nations, and I will make him a great nation. 21But My covenant I will establish with Isaac, whom Sarah shall bear to you at this time next year." 22So God finished talking with Abraham and departed from him.

23So Abraham took Ishmael his son, all who were born in his house, and all who were bought with his money, every male among the men of Abraham's house, and he circumcised the flesh of their foreskins that very same day, as God said to him. 24Now Abraham was ninety-nine years old when he was circumcised in the flesh of his foreskin. 25And Ishmael his son was thirteen years old when he was circumcised in the flesh of his foreskin.
26That very same day Abraham was circumcised, and his son Ishmael.
27Also, all the men of his house, born in the house or bought with money from a foreigner, were circumcised with him.

Genesis 18

The Hospitality of Abraham

1Then God appeared to him at the oak of Mamre, as he was sitting in the tent door during the noon hour. 2So he lifted his eyes and looked, and behold, three men stood before him; and when he saw them, he ran from the tent door to meet them, and bowed himself to the ground, 3and said, "O Lord, if I have now found grace in Your sight, do not pass by Your servant. 4Let water be brought, and let them wash Your feet, while You cool Yourselves under the tree. 5And I will bring bread for You to eat. After that You may pass by, inasmuch as You have come to Your servant." They said, "Do as you have said." [6]So Abraham hurried into the tent to Sarah and said, "Quickly, make ready three measures of fine meal; knead it and make cakes." [7]Then Abraham ran to the herd, took a young calf, tender and good, gave it to his servant, and he hastened to prepare it. [8]He also took butter and milk and the calf he prepared, and set it before them; and he stood by them under the tree as they ate.

Promise of a Son

[9]Then He said to him, "Where is Sarah your wife?" He replied, "Here, in the tent." [10]Again He said, "I will certainly return to you according to the time of life, and behold, Sarah your wife shall have a son." (Sarah was listening in the tent door behind him.) [11]Now Abraham and Sarah were old, well advanced in age; and Sarah had passed the age of childbearing. [12]Therefore Sarah laughed within herself, saying, "I have not yet had a child until now, and my lord is old also?" [13]Then the Lord said to Abraham, "Why did Sarah laugh within herself, saying, 'Shall I surely bear a child, since I am old?' [14]Is anything impossible with God? At the appointed time I will return to you, according to the time of life, and Sarah shall have a son." [15]But Sarah denied she had laughed, for she was afraid, saying, "I did not laugh"; but He said, "No, but you did laugh."

Abraham Intercedes for Sodom

[16]Then the men rose from there and looked toward Sodom and Gomorrah, and Abraham went along and escorted them on their journey. [17]Then the Lord said, "Shall I hide from Abraham, My servant, what I am about to do? [18]But Abraham shall surely become a great and populous nation, and in him all the nations of the earth shall be blessed. [19]For I know he will order his sons and his house after him. They will keep the way of the Lord, to do righteousness and judgment, that the Lord may bring upon Abraham what He has spoken to him." [20]Then the Lord said, "The outcry against Sodom and Gomorrah has been completed, and their sins are exceedingly great. [21]Therefore, I will go down now and see whether or not they are carrying out the outcry coming to Me concerning them."

[22]Then the men turned away from there and went toward Sodom, but Abraham remained before the Lord. [23]So Abraham drew near and said,

“Would You also destroy the righteous with the ungodly? 24Suppose there were fifty righteous within the city; would You also destroy the place and not spare it for the fifty righteous in it? 25Far be it from You to do such a thing as this, to slay the righteous with the wicked, that the righteous should be as the wicked; far be it from You! Shall not the Judge of all the earth do right?” 26Then the Lord said, “If I find in Sodom fifty righteous within the city, then I will spare all the place for their sakes.” 27So Abraham answered and said, “Indeed now, I who am but dust and ashes have taken it upon myself to speak to the Lord: 28But suppose there were five less than the fifty righteous; would You destroy all of the city for lack of five?” He replied, “If I find there forty-five, I will not destroy it.” 29Again he spoke to Him and said, “But suppose there should be forty found there?” So He said, “I would not destroy it for the sake of forty.” 30Then he said, “Let not the Lord be offended, and I will speak: Suppose thirty should be found there?” So He said, “I would not destroy it if I should find thirty there.” 31Again he said, “Since I have permission to speak to the Lord, suppose twenty should be found there?” So He said, “I would not destroy it for the sake of twenty.” 32Then he said, “Let not the Lord be offended, and I will speak but once more, suppose ten should be found there?” So He said, “I would not destroy it for the sake of the ten.”

33So the Lord went His way as soon as He finished speaking with Abraham; and Abraham returned to his place.

The Wickedness of Sodom

1Now the two angels came to Sodom in the evening, and Lot was sitting in the gate of Sodom. So when he saw them, he rose to meet them, and bowed with his face toward the ground. 2Then he said, “Behold, my lords, turn in to your servant’s house and rest and wash your feet; then you may rise early and go on your way.” But they said, “No, but we will spend the night in the open square.” 3But he insisted strongly; so they turned in to him and entered his house. Then he made them a feast, and baked unleavened bread, and they ate.

4Now before they went to sleep, the men of the city, the Sodomites, both old and young, all the people from every quarter, surrounded the house. 5Thus they called to Lot and said to him, “Where are the men who came to you tonight? Bring them out to us that we may have relations with them.”

6But Lot went out to them through the doorway, shut the door behind him, 7and said, “By no means, my brethren, do not act wickedly. 8I have two daughters who have not known a man; let me bring them out to you, and you may do to them as you wish; only do nothing to these men, since this is the reason they have come under the protection of my roof.”

9But they said, “Stand back! You came in to sojourn among us. Was it also to be making judgments? Now we will deal worse with you than with them.”
So they pressed hard against the man Lot, and came near to break down the door. 10But the men reached out their hands, pulled Lot into the house with them, and shut the door. 11Then they struck the men at the doorway of the house with blindness, both small and great, and they became weary trying to find the door.

12Now the men said to Lot, “Have you anyone else here in the city: sons-in-law, sons, daughters, or anyone? —then take them out of this place! 13For we will destroy this place, because their outcry has become great before the Lord, and the Lord sent us to destroy it.” 14So Lot went out and spoke to his sons-in-law, who had married his daughters, and said, “Get up, get out of this place; for the Lord is about to wipe out this city!” But to his sons-in-law he seemed to be joking.

15Now when the morning dawned, the angels urged Lot to hurry, saying, “Arise, take your wife and the two daughters you have, and get out, lest you be destroyed with the transgressions of the city.” 16But they were thrown into confusion, and the Lord being merciful to him, the angels seized his hand, and the hands of his wife and two daughters, and brought them outside the city.

17So it came to pass, when they had brought them outside, they said, “Escape for your life! Do not look behind you nor stay anywhere in the plain.
Escape to the mountains, lest you be overtaken.” 18Then Lot said to them, “I pray, O Lord, 19since Your servant found mercy in Your sight, and You magnified Your righteousness which You showed me by saving my life, nevertheless, I cannot escape to the mountains, lest some evil overtake me and I die. 20See now, this city, which is small, is near enough to flee to for refuge, and I shall escape there (is it not a little one?) and my soul shall live.” 21And He said to him, “See, I have acquiesced to you on this matter also, in that I will not overthrow this city, concerning which you have spoken.
22Therefore, hurry to escape there, for I cannot do anything until you arrive there.” For this reason he called the name of that city Zoar.

[23]Now the sun rose upon the earth when Lot entered Zoar. [24]Then the Lord rained brimstone and fire on Sodom and Gomorrah from the Lord out of heaven. [25]Thus He overthrew those cities, all the plain, all the inhabitants of the cities, and whatever grew on the ground. [26]But his wife looked back behind him, and she became a pillar of salt.

[27]Then Abraham rose early in the morning and went to the place where he had stood before the Lord. [28]Then he looked toward Sodom and Gomorrah, and toward all the land of the plain; and he saw, and behold, a flame was ascending from the land, like the smoke of a furnace. [29]So it came to pass, when God wiped out all the cities of the plain, that God remembered Abraham, and sent Lot out of the midst of the destruction, when the Lord overthrew the cities where Lot had dwelt.

The Sons of Lot

[30]Then Lot with his two daughters went up from Zoar and settled in the mountains; for he was afraid to dwell in Zoar; and he dwelt in a cave with his two daughters. [31]Now the firstborn said to the younger, “Our father is old, and there is no man on the earth to come in to us, as is the custom of all the earth. [32]Come, let us make our father drink wine, and we will lie with him, that we may raise up seed from our father.” [33]So they made their father drink wine that night, and the elder went in and lay with her father, and he did not know when she lay down or when she arose. [34]It happened on the next day, the elder said to the younger, “Indeed, I slept with our father last night; let us make him drink wine tonight also, and you go in and lie with him, that we may raise up seed from our father.” [35]So they made their father drink wine that night also, and the younger went in and slept with him; but he did not know when she lay down or when she arose. [36]Thus both the daughters of Lot conceived by their father. [37]Then the elder bore a son and called his name Moab, saying, “He is from my father.” He is the father of the Moabites to this present day. [38]Now the younger also bore a son and called his name Ammon, saying, “The son of my family.” He is the father of the Ammonites to this present day.

Abraham and Abimelech

[1]Now Abraham journeyed from there to the South, and dwelt between Kadesh and Shur, and sojourned among the Gerarites. [2]Then Abraham said of Sarah his wife, “She is my sister,” for he was afraid to say, “She is my wife,” lest at a given time the men of the city should kill him because of her. Now Abimelech king of Gerar sent and took Sarah. [3]But God came to Abimelech in a dream by night, and said to him, “Indeed, you are a dead man because of the woman you have taken, for she is a man’s wife.”

[4]Now Abimelech had not come near her; and he said, “O Lord, will You destroy an ignorant and just nation? [5]Did he not say to me, ‘She is my sister,’ and did she not say to me, ‘He is my brother’? I did this thing with a clean heart and righteous hands.” [6]Then God said to him in a dream, “Yes, I know you did this with a clean heart, and I spared you that you might not sin against Me; therefore, I did not allow you to touch her. [7]Now therefore, restore the man’s wife, for he is a prophet; and he will pray for you, and you shall live. But if you do not return her, rest assured you shall die, you and all who are yours.”

[8]So Abimelech rose early in the morning, called all his servants, and told all these things in their hearing; and the men were very much afraid. [9]Then Abimelech called Abraham and said to him, “What have you done to us?
How have I offended you, that you have brought on me and on my kingdom a great sin? You have done deeds to me that ought not to be done.” [10]Again Abimelech said to Abraham, “What possessed you to do this thing?” [11]Abraham replied, “Because I thought, surely the worship of God is not in this place; and they will kill me on account of my wife. [12]But indeed, she truly is my sister. She is the daughter of my father, but not of my mother; and she became my wife. [13]So it came to pass, when God caused me to wander from my father’s house, I said to her, ‘This righteousness shall you do for me: in every place we enter, say of me, “He is my brother.” ’ ”

[14]Then Abimelech took one thousand pieces of silver, sheep, oxen, and male and female servants, and gave them to Abraham; and he restored Sarah his wife to him. [15]Thus Abimelech said to Abraham, “See, my land is before you; dwell where it pleases you.” [16]Then to Sarah he said, “Behold, I have given your brother a thousand pieces of silver, which will vindicate your honor before all those with you. But tell the truth in all things.” [17]So Abraham prayed to God, and God healed Abimelech, his wife, and his female servants. Then they bore children; [18]for the Lord closed up all the wombs of the house of Abimelech because of Sarah, Abraham’s wife.

Genesis 21

The Birth of Isaac

[1]Now the Lord visited Sarah as He said, and the Lord did for Sarah as He had spoken. [2]For Sarah conceived and bore Abraham a son in old age, at the set time, of which God had spoken to him. [3]So Abraham called the name of his son born to him—whom Sarah bore to him—Isaac. [4]Then Abraham circumcised his son Isaac when he was eight days old, as God commanded him. [5]Now Abraham was one hundred years old when his son Isaac was born to him. [6]And Sarah said, "God has made me laugh; all who hear will laugh with me." [7]She also said, "Who would have said to Abraham that Sarah would nurse children? For I have borne a child in my old age."

Hagar and Ishmael Sent Away

[8]So the child grew and was weaned; and Abraham made a great feast on the same day Isaac was weaned. [9]Now Sarah saw the son of Hagar the Egyptian, who was born to Abraham, playing with Isaac her son. [10]Therefore she said to Abraham, "Cast out this maidservant and her son, for the son of this maidservant shall not be heir with my son Isaac." [11]And the matter was very displeasing in Abraham's sight because of his son. [12]But God said to Abraham, "Do not let it be displeasing in your sight because of your son and your maidservant. Whatever Sarah said to you, listen to her voice; for in Isaac your seed shall be called. [13]Yet I will also make a great nation of the son of your maidservant, because he is your seed."

[14]So Abraham rose early in the morning, and took bread and a skin of water; and putting it on her shoulder, he gave it and the boy to Hagar, and sent her away. Then she departed and wandered in the wilderness, near the Well of Oath. [15]When the water in the skin was used up, she placed the boy under one of the shrubs. [16]Then she went and sat down across from him at a distance of about a bowshot; for she said to herself, "Let me not see the death of the boy." So she sat opposite him, and lifted her voice and wept.

[17]But God heard the voice of the lad from the place where he was. Then the Angel of God called to Hagar out of heaven, and said to her, "What is the matter, Hagar? Do not fear, for God has heard the voice of the lad where he is. [18]Arise, lift up the lad and hold him with your hand, for I will make him a great nation.” [19]Then God opened her eyes, and she saw a well of water. So she went and filled the skin with water, and gave the lad a drink. [20]Thus God was with the lad; and he grew and dwelt in the desert, and became an archer. [21]He dwelt in the Wilderness of Paran; and his mother took a wife for him from the land of Egypt.

Abraham’s Agreement with Abimelech

[22]Now it came to pass at that time that Abimelech, and his friend Ochozath, and Phichol, the commander-in-chief of his army, spoke to Abraham, saying, “God is with you in all you do. [23]Now therefore, swear to me by God that you will not deal falsely with me, or with my offspring, or with my posterity; but that according to the righteousness I did to you, you will do to me and to the land in which you have dwelt.” [24]So Abraham said, “I swear.” [25]Then Abraham rebuked Abimelech because of a well of water Abimelech’s servants had seized. [26]Abimelech replied, “I do not know who did this thing; you did not tell me, nor had I heard of it until today.”

[27]So Abraham took sheep and oxen and gave them to Abimelech, and the two of them made a covenant. [28]Then Abraham set seven ewe lambs of the flock by themselves. [29]Thus Abimelech asked Abraham, “Why have you placed these seven ewe lambs by themselves?” [30]He replied, “You must take these seven ewe lambs from my hand, to witness that I dug this well.” [31]Therefore he called that place, the Well of Oath, because the two of them swore an oath there. [32]Thus they made a covenant at the Well of Oath. So Abimelech rose with Ochozath his friend and Phichol, the commander-in-chief of his army, and they returned to the land of the Philistines.

[33]Then Abraham planted a field at the Well of Oath, and there he called on the name of the Lord, the eternal God. [34]So Abraham stayed in the land of the Philistines many days.

Genesis 22

Abraham Offers Isaac

[1]Now it came to pass after these things that God tested Abraham, and said to him, “Abraham! Abraham!” And he said, “Here I am.” [2]Then He said, “Take now your beloved son, Isaac, whom you love, and go to the land of Moriah, and offer him there as a whole burnt offering on one of the mountains I tell you."

[3]So Abraham rose early in the morning and saddled his donkey; and took two of his young men with him, and Isaac his son; and he split firewood for the whole burnt offering, and arose and went to the place God told him. [4]Then on the third day Abraham lifted his eyes and saw the place afar off. [5]Thus Abraham said to his young men, "Stay here with the donkey; the lad and I will go yonder and worship, and we will come back to you."

[6]So Abraham took the firewood of the whole burnt offering and laid it on Isaac his son. Then he took the fire in his hand, and a knife, and the two of them went together. [7]Then Isaac spoke to Abraham his father and said, "My father." And he said, "Here I am, my son." Then he said, "Look, the fire and the firewood, but where is the sheep for a whole burnt offering?" [8]And Abraham said, "My son, God will provide for Himself the sheep for a whole burnt offering." So the two of them went together. [9]They came to the place where God had told him. And Abraham built an altar there and placed the firewood in order; and he bound Isaac his son hand and foot and laid him on the altar, upon the firewood.

[10]Then Abraham stretched out his hand and took the knife to slay his son. [11]But the Angel of the Lord called to him from heaven and said, "Abraham! Abraham!" So he said, "Here I am." [12]He then replied, "Do not lay your hand on the lad, or do anything to him, for now I know you fear God, since for My sake you have not spared your beloved son." [13]Then Abraham lifted his eyes and looked, and there behind him a ram was caught in a thicket by its horns. So he brought it for a whole burnt offering in the place of his son. [14]Thus Abraham called the name of the place The-Lord-Has-Appeared; as it is said to this day, "In the mountain the Lord was seen."

[15]Then the Angel of the Lord called to Abraham a second time out of heaven, [16]and said, "By Myself I have sworn, says the Lord, because you did this thing, and for My sake did not spare your beloved son, [17]I will certainly bless you, and assuredly multiply your seed as the stars of heaven and as the sand on the seashore; and your seed shall inherit the cities of their enemies. [18]In your seed all the nations of the earth shall be blessed, because you obeyed My voice." [19]So Abraham returned to his servants, and they rose and went together to the Well of Oath; and Abraham dwelt at the Well of Oath.

The Children of Nahor

[20]Now it came to pass after these things that it was told Abraham, saying, “Indeed, Milcah also has borne sons to your brother Nahor: [21]Huz his firstborn, Buz his brother, Kemuel the father of Aram, [22]Chesed, Hazo, Pildash, Jidlaph, and Bethuel.” [23]And Bethuel begot Rebekah. These eight Milcah bore to Nahor, Abraham’s brother. [24]His concubine, whose name was Reumah, also bore Tebah, Gaham, Thahash, and Maachah.

The Death and Burial of Sarah

[1]Now Sarah lived one hundred and twenty-seven years. [2]Then Sarah died in the city of Kirjath Arba (that is, Hebron) in the land of Canaan, and Abraham came to mourn for Sarah and to weep for her. [3]Then Abraham stood up from before his dead, and spoke to the sons of Heth, saying, [4]“I am a sojourner and a stranger among you. Give me therefore a burial place among you, that I may bury my dead out of my sight.” [5]So the sons of Heth answered Abraham, saying, [6]“Hear us, my Lord, you are a king from God among us; bury your dead in the choicest of our burial places. None of us will withhold his burial place from you, to bury your dead there.” [7]Then Abraham stood and bowed himself to the people of the land, the sons of Heth. [8]Thus he spoke with them, saying, “If you have it in mind for me to bury my dead out of my sight, then listen to me, and speak on my behalf to Ephron the son of Zohar, [9]that he may give me the cave of Machpelah, which he has at the end of his field. Let him give it to me at the full price, as a burial place among you.”

[10]Now Ephron was sitting among the sons of Heth; and Ephron the Hittite answered Abraham in the presence of the sons of Heth, and of all who entered at the gate of the city, saying, [11]“No, my Lord, hear me, I give you both the field and the cave within it; I give it to you in the presence of all my fellow citizens. Bury your dead.” [12]Then Abraham bowed himself before the people of the land, [13]and he spoke to Ephron in the hearing of the people of the land, saying, “If you are for me, hear me. I will give you money for the field; take it from me and I will bury my dead there.” [14]Ephron then answered Abraham, saying to him, [15]“My lord, listen to me, the land is worth four hundred silver drachmas; but what is that between you and me? So bury your dead.” [16]So Abraham listened to Ephron, and Abraham weighed out the silver for Ephron, which he had mentioned in the hearing of the sons of Heth,

17Thus the field of Ephron in Machpelah, which was opposite Mamre, the field and the cave in it, and all the trees in the field, which were within all the surrounding borders, were deeded 18to Abraham as his possession in the presence of the sons of Heth, before all who entered the city. 19Then after this, Abraham buried Sarah his wife in the cave of the field of Machpelah, which was opposite Mamre (that is, Hebron) in the land of Canaan. 20So the field and the cave in it were deeded to Abraham by the sons of Heth as property for a burial place.

Genesis 24

Isaac and Rebekah

1Now Abraham was old, well advanced in age; and the Lord had blessed Abraham in all things. 2So Abraham said to the oldest servant of his house, who ruled over all that he had, “Put your hand under my thigh, 3and I will make you swear by the Lord, the God of heaven and the God of the earth, that you will not take a wife for my son Isaac from the daughters of the Canaanites, among whom I dwell; 4but you shall go to my land where I was born, and to my tribe, and take from there a wife for my son Isaac.”

5And the servant said to him, “Perhaps the woman will not be willing to follow me to this land. Must I then take your son back to the land you came from?” 6But Abraham said to him, “Beware that you do not take my son back there. 7The Lord, the God of heaven and the God of the earth, who took me from my father’s house and from the land where I was born, and who spoke to me and swore to me, saying, ‘To you and your seed I give this land,’ He will send His Angel before you, and you shall take a wife for my son from there. 8And if the woman is not willing to follow you, then you will be released from this oath; only do not take my son back there.” 9So the servant put his hand under the thigh of Abraham his lord, and swore to him concerning this matter.

10Then the servant took ten of his lord’s camels and some of all his goods and departed, and he went to Mesopotamia, to the city of Nahor. 11And he made his camels kneel down outside the city by a well of water at evening time, the time when women go out to draw water. 12Then he said, “O Lord, the God of my lord Abraham, give me success this day, and show mercy to my lord Abraham. [13]Behold, here I stand by the well of water, and the daughters of the men of the city are coming out to draw water. [14]Now let it be that the virgin to whom I say, ‘Let down your pitcher that I may drink,’ and she says, ‘Drink, and I will also give your camels a drink’—let her be the one You appointed for Your servant Isaac. And by this I will know You have shown mercy to my lord.”

[21]And the man, wondering at her, remained silent so as to know whether the Lord had made his journey prosperous or not. [22]So it was, when the camels finished drinking, the man took golden earrings, each a drachma in weight, and two bracelets for her wrists, ten pieces of gold in their weight, [23]and said, “Whose daughter are you? Tell me, is there room in your father’s house for us to lodge?” [24]So she said to him, “I am the daughter of Bethuel, Milcah’s son, whom she bore to Nahor.” [25]Moreover she said to him, “We have both straw and feed enough, and room to lodge.” [26]Then the man bowed down his head and worshiped the Lord. [27]And he said, “Blessed is the Lord, the God of my lord Abraham, who has not allowed His righteousness and His truth to forsake my lord. As for me, being on the way, the Lord led me to the house of my lord’s brethren.” [28]So the young woman ran and told her mother’s household these things.

[29]Now Rebekah had a brother whose name was Laban, and he ran out to the man by the well. [30]So it came to pass, when he saw the earrings and the bracelets on his sister’s wrists, and when he heard the words of his sister Rebekah, saying, “Thus the man spoke to me,” that he went to the man, as he stood by the camels at the well. [31]Laban said to him, “Come in, O blessed of the Lord! Why do you stand outside? For I have prepared the house, and a place for the camels.” [32]Then the man came to the house and unloaded the camels, and provided straw and feed for the camels, and water to wash his feet and the feet of the men with him. [33]Bread was then set before them to eat, but he said, “I will not eat until I have told my business.” And he said, “Speak on.”

[34]So he said, “I am Abraham’s servant. [35]The Lord has blessed my lord greatly, and he has become great; and He has given him flocks and herds, silver and gold, male and female servants, and camels and donkeys. [36]And Sarah my lord’s wife bore a son to my lord when he was old; and to him he has given all he has. [37]Now my lord made me swear an oath, saying, ‘You shall not take a wife for my son from the daughters of the Canaanites, in whose land I sojourn; [38]but you shall go to my father’s house and to my tribe, and take a wife for my son.’ [39]And I said to my lord, ‘Perhaps the woman will not return with me.’ [40]But he said to me, ‘The Lord, before whom I walk, will send His Angel with you and prosper your way; and you shall take a wife for my son from my tribe and from my father’s house. [41]You will be clear from this oath when you arrive at my tribe; for if they will not give her to you, then you will be released from my oath.’

[42]“So I came to the well today and said, ‘O Lord, the God of my lord Abraham, if You will now prosper the way I go, [43]behold, I stand by the well of water; and it shall come to pass that when the daughters of the men come to draw water, and the virgin to whom I will say, “Give me a little water from your pitcher to drink,” [44]and she says to me, “Drink, and I will draw for your camels also,”—let her be the woman whom the Lord has appointed for His own servant Isaac; and in this I will know You have dealt mercifully with my lord Abraham.’ [45]But before I finished speaking in my mind, there was Rebekah, coming out with her pitcher on her shoulder; and she went down to the well and drew water And I said to her, ‘Let me drink.’ [46]And she made haste and let her pitcher down from her shoulder and said, ‘Drink, and I will also give your camels a drink.’ So I drank, and she gave the camels a drink also. [47]Then I asked her, and said, ‘Whose daughter are you?’ And she said, ‘The daughter of Bethuel, Nahor’s son, whom Milcah bore to him.’ So I put the earrings on her and the bracelets on her wrists.

[48]“Thus being well pleased I worshiped the Lord, and blessed the Lord, the God of my lord Abraham, who led me in the way of truth, to take the daughter of my lord’s brother for his son. [49]Now if you will deal mercifully and justly with my lord, tell me. But if not, tell me, that I may turn to the right hand or to the left.”

50 Then Laban and Bethuel answered and said, “The command comes from the Lord; we cannot speak to you either good or bad. 51 Here is Rebekah before you; take her and go, and let her be your lord’s son’s wife, as the Lord has spoken.” 52 And it came to pass, when Abraham’s servant heard their words, that he bowed to the earth and worshiped the Lord. 53 Then the servant brought out jewelry of silver and gold and clothing, and gave them to Rebekah. He also gave gifts to her brother and her mother. 54 And he and the men with him ate and drank and stayed all night.

Then they arose early in the morning, and he said, “Send me away to my lord.” 55 But her brother and her mother said, “Let the virgin remain with us about ten days; after that she may go.” 56 And he said to them, “Do not hinder me, since the Lord has prospered my way; send me away that I may go to my lord.” 57 So they said, “We will call the young woman and ask her personally.” 58 Then they called Rebekah and said to her, “Will you go with this man?” She said, “I will go.” 59 Thus they sent away Rebekah their sister and her goods and Abraham’s servant and those with him. 60 They blessed Rebekah their sister and said to her, “Our sister, may you become the mother of thousands of myriads, and may your seed possess the gates of their enemies.” 61 Then Rebekah and her maids arose, and rode on the camels and went with the man. So the servant took Rebekah and departed.

62 Now Isaac came through the desert to the Well of the Vision, for he dwelt in the South. 63 Isaac then went out to meditate in the field in the evening, and he lifted his eyes and saw camels coming. 64 Then Rebekah lifted her eyes, and when she saw Isaac, she dismounted from her camel; 65 for she had said to the servant, “Who is that man walking in the field to meet us?” The servant said, “It is my lord.” So she took a veil and covered herself. 66 Now the servant told Isaac all the things he had done. 67 Thus Isaac brought Rebekah into his mother Sarah’s tent, and he took her and she became his wife. So he loved her, and was comforted concerning Sarah his mother.

Genesis 25

Abraham and Keturah

1 Now Abraham again took a wife, and her name was Keturah. 2 So she bore him Zimran, Jokshan, Medan, Midian, Ishbak, and Shuah. 3 Jokshan begot

Sheba and Dedan. Thus the sons of Dedan were Ragouel, Nabdeed and the Asshurim, the Letushim, and the Leummim. 4And the sons of Midian were Ephah, Epher, Hanoch, Abidah, and Eldaah. All these were the sons of Keturah.

5Now Abraham gave all his possessions to Isaac. 6But Abraham gave gifts to the sons of his concubines; and while he was still living, he sent them eastward, away from Isaac his son, to the country of the east.

The Death and Burial of Abraham

7After these things, the sum of years Abraham lived were one hundred and seventy-five years. 8Then Abraham breathed his last and died in a good old age, old and full of days and was added to his people. 9So his sons Isaac and Ishmael buried him in the cave of Machpelah, opposite Mamre, in the field of Ephron, the son of Zohar the Hittite, 10the field and the cave Abraham purchased from the sons of Heth. There they buried Abraham and Sarah his wife.

11Thus it came to pass, after the death of Abraham, that God blessed his son Isaac; and Isaac dwelt at the Well of the Vision.

The Genealogy of Ishmael and Isaac

12Now this is the genealogy of Ishmael, Abraham's son, whom Hagar, Sarah's maidservant, bore to Abraham. 13These were the names of Ishmael's sons, by their names, according to their families: Ishmael's firstborn, Nebajoth; then Kedar, Adbeel, Mibsam, 14Mishma, Dumah, Massa, 15Hadar, Tema, Jetur, Naphish, and Kedemah. 16These were the sons of Ishmael, and these were their names, by their towns and settlements, twelve princes according to their nations. 17These were the years of Ishmael's life: one hundred and thirty-seven years; and he breathed his last and died, and was added to his people. 18(He dwelt opposite Egypt, from Havilah as far as Shur, as you go toward Assyria, and dwelt separate from all his brothers.)

19Now this is the genealogy of Isaac, Abraham's son. Abraham begot Isaac. 20Isaac was forty years old when he took Rebekah as his wife, the daughter of Bethuel the Syrian of Mesopotamia, and the sister of Laban the Syrian. 21Now Isaac pleaded with the Lord for his wife, because she was barren; and God granted his plea, and Rebekah his wife conceived. 22But the children struggled together within her; and she said, "If all is well, why am I like this?” So she went to inquire of the Lord. [23]And the Lord said to her:

> “Two nations are in your womb,
> And two peoples shall be separated from your body.
> One shall be stronger than the other,
> And the older shall serve the younger.”

[24]Thus, when her days were fulfilled to give birth, indeed, there were twins in her womb. [25]Now the firstborn came out red. He was like a hairy garment all over; so she named him Esau. [26]Afterward his brother came out, and his hand took hold of Esau’s heel; so she called his name Jacob. Isaac was sixty years old when Rebekah bore them.

Esau Sells His Birthright

[27]So the boys grew. Now Esau was a skillful hunter, a man of the field; but Jacob was a simple man, dwelling in tents. [28]Now Isaac loved Esau because he ate his venison, but Rebekah loved Jacob. [29]Then Jacob cooked a stew; and Esau came in from the field, and was weary. [30]So Esau said to Jacob, “Let me taste this red stew, for I am exhausted.” Therefore his name was called Edom. [31]But Jacob said to Esau, “Sell me your birthright today.” [32]Esau replied, “Look, I am about to die. What good then is this birthright to me?” [33]Then Jacob said, “Swear to me today.” So he swore to him, and sold his birthright to Jacob.

Isaac and Abimelech

[1]Now there was a famine in the land, besides the first famine in the days of Abraham; and Isaac went to Abimelech, king of the Philistines, in Gerar. [2]Then the Lord appeared to him and said, “Do not go down to Egypt; live in the land where I will tell you. [3]Sojourn in this land, and I will be with you and bless you; for to you and your seed I give all these lands; and I will perform the oath I swore to Abraham your father. [4]And I will make your seed multiply as the stars of heaven; I will give your seed all these lands; and in your seed all the nations of the earth shall be blessed; [5]because Abraham your father obeyed My voice and kept My charge, My commandments, My ordinances, and My laws.” [6]So Isaac dwelt in Gerar.

[7]Now the men of the place asked about his wife, and he said, “She is my sister,” for he was afraid to say, “She is my wife,” lest the men of the place should kill him for Rebekah, because she was beautiful to behold. [8]Now it came to pass, when he had been there a long time, that Abimelech king of Gerar looked through a window and saw Isaac, showing endearment to Rebekah his wife. [9]Then Abimelech called Isaac and said, “Quite obviously she is your wife; so how could you say, ‘She is my sister’?” Isaac said to him, “Because I said to myself, ‘Lest I should die on account of her.’ ” [10]Thus Abimelech said, “Why have you done this to us? One of the people could easily have lain with your wife, and you would have brought guilt on us.” [11]So Abimelech charged all his people, saying, “He who touches this man or his wife shall surely be put to death.”

[12]Then Isaac sowed in that land, and reaped in the same year a hundredfold; and the Lord blessed him. [13]The man began to prosper, and continued prospering until he became very prosperous; [14]for he had herds of sheep and oxen and many fields. So the Philistines envied him. [15]Now the Philistines had stopped up all the wells his father’s servants had dug in the days of Abraham his father, and they had filled them with earth. [16]Then Abimelech said to Isaac, “Go away from us, for you are much mightier than we.” [17]Then Isaac departed from there and pitched his tent in the Valley of Gerar, and dwelt there.

[18]Again, Isaac dug the wells of water they had dug in the days of Abraham his father, for the Philistines had stopped them up after the death of Abraham. He called them by the names his father had called them. [19]Also, Isaac’s servants dug in the valley of Gerar, and found a well of fresh water there. [20]But the herdsmen of Gerar fought with Isaac’s herdsmen, saying, “The water is ours.” So he called the name of the well Injustice, because they quarreled with him. [21]Then they dug another well, and they quarreled over that one also. So he called its name Enmity. [22]So he moved from there and dug another well, and they did not fight over it. Thus he called its name Room, because he said, “Now the Lord has made room for us, and has increased us in the land.”

[23]Then he went up from there to the Well of Oath. [24]Now the Lord appeared to him the same night and said, “I am the God of your father Abraham; do not fear, for I am with you. I will bless you and multiply your seed for My servant Abraham’s sake.” [25]So he built an altar there and called on the name of the Lord; and he pitched his tent there; and there Isaac's servants dug a well. [26]Then Abimelech came to him from Gerar with Ahuzzath his friend, and Phichol the commander-in-chief of his army. [27]Isaac said to them, "Why have you come to me, since you hate me and have sent me away from you?" [28]But they said, "We have certainly seen the Lord is with you. So we said, 'Let there now be an oath between us, between you and us; and let us make a covenant with you, [29]that you will do us no harm, since we have not touched you, and since we have done nothing to you but good, and have sent you away in peace. You are now the blessed of the Lord.' " [30]So he made them a feast, and they ate and drank.

[31]Then they arose early in the morning and swore an oath with one another; and Isaac sent them away, and they departed from him in peace. [32]It came to pass the same day, Isaac's servants came and told him about the well they dug, and said to him, "We have found water." [33]So he called it, Oath; therefore, the name of the city is the Well of Oath to this day.

[34]Now when Esau was forty years old, he took as wives Judith the daughter of Beeri the Hittite, and Basemath the daughter of Elon the Hittite. [35]But they were contentious with Isaac and Rebekah.

Isaac Blesses Jacob

[1]Now it came to pass, when Isaac was old and his eyes were so dim he could not see, that he called Esau his older son and said to him, "My son." And he answered him, "Here I am." [2]Then he said, "Behold now, I am old. I do not know the day of my death. [3]Now therefore, take your weapons, your quiver and your bow, and go out to the field and hunt game for me. [4]Then make me savory food, such as I love, and bring it to me that I may eat, that my soul may bless you before I die."

[5]Now Rebekah was listening when Isaac spoke to Esau his son; and Esau went to the field to hunt game for his father. [6]So Rebekah spoke to Jacob her younger son, saying, "Indeed, I heard your father speak to Esau your brother, saying, [7]'Bring me game and make savory food for me, that I may eat it and bless you in the presence of the Lord before my death.' [8]Now therefore, my son, obey my voice according to what I command you. [9]Go now to the sheep and bring me from there two kids, choice and good, and I will make savory food from them for your father, such as he loves. [10]Then you shall take it to your father, that he may eat it and bless you before his death."

[11]Jacob said to Rebekah his mother, "Look, Esau my brother is a hairy man, and I am a smooth-skinned man. [12]Perhaps my father will feel me, and I shall seem to be a deceiver to him; and I shall bring a curse on myself and not a blessing." [13]But his mother said to him, "Your curse be on me, my son; only obey my voice, and go, get them for me." [14]So he went and got them and brought them to his mother, and his mother made savory food, such as his father loved. [15]Then Rebekah took the choice clothes of her elder son Esau, which were with her in the house, and put them on Jacob her younger son. [16]She also put the skins of the kids on his hands and on the exposed part of his neck. [17]Then she gave the savory food and the bread she had prepared into the hands of her son Jacob.

[18]Thus he went to his father and said, "My father." And he said, "Here I am. Who are you, my son?" [19]Jacob said to his father, "I am Esau your firstborn; I have done just as you told me; arise, sit and eat of my game, that your soul may bless me." [20]But Isaac said to his son, "How is it you have found it so quickly, my son?" He said, "Because the Lord your God brought it to me." [21]Then Isaac said to Jacob, "Come near, that I may feel you, my son, whether you are my son Esau or not." [22]So Jacob went near to Isaac his father, and he felt him and said, "The voice is Jacob's, but the hands are Esau's." [23]Thus he did not recognize him, because his hands were hairy like his brother Esau's hands; so he blessed him. [24]Then he said, "Are you my son Esau?" He said, "I am."

[25]He said, "Bring your game to me, my son, and I will eat from it, that my soul may bless you." So he brought it near to him, and he ate; and he brought him wine, and he drank. [26]Then his father Isaac said to him, "Come near and kiss me, my son." [27]So he came near and kissed him; and he smelled the smell of his clothing.

Thus he blessed him and said:

"Surely, the smell of my son
Is like the smell of a field the Lord has blessed.
[28]Therefore, may God give you of the dew of heaven
And of the fatness of the earth,
And plenty of grain and wine.
[29]Let peoples serve you,

And nations bow down to you.
Be lord over your brethren,
And let your mother's sons bow down to you.
And cursed be everyone who curses you,
And blessed be those who bless you."

Esau's Lost Blessing

30 Now it happened, as soon as Isaac finished blessing Jacob his son, and Jacob had scarcely gone out from the presence of Isaac his father, that Esau his brother came in from his hunting. 31 He also had made savory food, and brought it to his father, and said to his father, "Let my father arise and eat of his son's game, that your soul may bless me." 32 And his father Isaac said to him, "Who are you?" So he said, "I am your son, your firstborn, Esau." 33 Then Isaac trembled exceedingly, and said, "Who? Where is the one who hunted game and brought it to me? I ate all of it before you came, and I have blessed him—and indeed, he shall be blessed." 34 When Esau heard the words of his father, he cried with an exceedingly great and bitter cry, and said to his father, "Bless me—me also, O my father!" 35 But he said, "Your brother came with deceit and has taken away your blessing." 36 Then Esau said, "Is he not rightly named Jacob? For he supplanted me these two times. He took away my birthright, and now look, he has taken away my blessing." So he said,
"Have you not reserved a blessing for me?" 37 Then Isaac answered and said to Esau, "Indeed, I have made him your lord, and all his brethren I have given to him as servants; with grain and wine
I have sustained him. What shall I do now for you, my son?" 38 Esau said to his father, "Have you only one blessing, my father? Bless me—me also, O my father!" But when Isaac was troubled, Esau lifted up his voice and wept.
39 Then Isaac his father answered and said to him:

"Behold, your dwelling shall be of the fatness of the earth,
And of the dew of heaven from above.
40 By your sword you shall live,
And you shall serve your brother;
And it shall come to pass, when you become restless,
That you shall break his yoke from your neck."

Jacob Sent to Laban

41Thus Esau hated Jacob because of the blessing with which his father blessed him; and Esau said in his mind, “Let the days of mourning for my father draw near, then I will kill my brother Jacob.” 42So the words of Esau her older son were told to Rebekah, and she sent and called Jacob her younger son, and said to him, “Surely, your brother Esau is threatening to kill you. 43Now therefore, my son, obey my voice; arise, flee to Mesopotamia to my brother Laban in Haran. 44And stay with him a few days, until your brother’s anger 45and wrath turn away from you, and he forgets what you did to him; then I will send and bring you from there. Why should I be bereaved also of you both in one day?”

46Then Rebekah said to Isaac, “I am weary of my life because of the daughters of Heth; if Jacob takes a wife from the daughters of this land, what good will my life be to me?”

Genesis 28

Isaac Sends Jacob to Mesopotamia

1Now Isaac called Jacob and blessed him, and charged him, saying, “You shall not take a wife from the daughters of Canaan. 2Arise, go to Mesopotamia, to the house of Bethuel your mother’s father; and take yourself a wife from there of the daughters of Laban your mother’s brother. 3May God bless you, and increase and multiply you, that you may be an assembly of nations; 4and give you the blessing of Abraham, to you and your seed with you, that you may inherit the land of your sojourning, which God gave to Abraham.” 5So Isaac sent Jacob away, and he went to Mesopotamia, to Laban the son of Bethuel the Syrian, the brother of Rebekah, the mother of Jacob and Esau.

6Now Esau saw that Isaac had blessed Jacob and sent him away to Mesopotamia to take himself a wife from there, and as he blessed him he gave him a charge, saying, “You shall not take a wife from the daughters of Canaan,” 7and Jacob had obeyed his father and mother and had gone to Mesopotamia. 8Also, Esau saw that the daughters of Canaan did not please his father Isaac. 9So Esau went to Ishmael and took Mahalath the daughter of Ishmael, Abraham’s son, the sister of Nebajoth, to be his wife in addition to the wives he had.

Jacob's Ladder

10 Now Jacob went out from the Well of Oath and went toward Haran. 11 So he came to a certain place and stayed there all night, because the sun had set.
Then he took one of the stones of that place and put it at his head, and he lay down in that place to sleep. 12 Then he dreamed, and behold, a ladder was set up on the earth, and its top reached to heaven; and there the angels of God were ascending and descending on it. 13 So behold, the Lord stood above it and said, "I am the Lord God of Abraham your father and the God of Isaac.
Do not fear, the land on which you lie I will give to you and your seed.
14 Also, your seed shall be as the dust of the earth; you shall spread abroad to the west and the east, to the north and the south; and in you and in your seed all the tribes of the earth shall be blessed. 15 Behold, I am with you and will keep you wherever you go, and will bring you back to this land; for I will not leave you until I have done what I have spoken to you."

16 Then Jacob awoke from his sleep and said, "The Lord is in this place, and I did not know it." 17 So he was afraid and said, "How awesome is this place! This is none other than the house of God, and this is the gate of heaven." 18 Now Jacob rose early in the morning, and took the stone he put at his head, set it up as a pillar, and poured oil on top of it. 19 Thus Jacob called the name of that place Bethel; but the name of that city was Luz previously.

20 Then Jacob made a vow, saying, "If the Lord God will be with me, and keep me in this way I am going, and give me bread to eat and clothing to put on, 21 and bring me back in safety to my father's house, then the Lord shall be my God. 22 And this stone I set as a pillar shall be God's house to me, and of all You give me I will surely give a tithe to You."

Genesis 29

Jacob and Rachel

1 Now Jacob went on his journey and came to the land of the east, to Laban.
2 So he looked and saw a well in the field; and behold, there were three flocks of sheep lying by it, for out of that well they watered the flocks; and a large stone was on the well's mouth. 3 Now all the flocks would be gathered there; and they would roll the stone from the well's mouth, water the sheep, and put the stone back in its place on the well's mouth.

4So Jacob said to them, “My brethren, where are you from?” And they said, “We are from Haran.” 5Then he said to them, “Do you know Laban the son of Nahor?” And they said, “We know him.” 6So he said to them, “Is he well?” They said, “He is well. Look, his daughter Rachel is coming with the sheep.” 7Then he said, “It is still high day; it is not time for the cattle to be gathered together. Water the sheep, and go and feed them.” 8But they said, “We cannot, until all the shepherds are gathered together, and they have rolled the stone from the well’s mouth; then we will water the sheep.”

9Now while he was still speaking with them, Rachel came with her father’s sheep, for she was a shepherdess. 10And it came to pass, when Jacob saw Rachel the daughter of Laban, his mother’s brother, and the sheep of Laban, his mother’s brother, Jacob went near and rolled the stone from the well’s mouth, and watered the flock of Laban, his mother’s brother. 11Then Jacob kissed Rachel, and lifted up his voice and wept. 12So Jacob told Rachel he was her father’s relative and Rebekah’s son, and she ran and told her father these words. 13Then it came to pass, when Laban heard the report about Jacob, his sister’s son, that he ran to meet him, and embraced him and kissed him, and brought him to his house. So he told Laban all these things. 14Now Laban said to him, “Surely you are my bone and my flesh.” And he stayed with him for a month.

15Then Laban said to Jacob, “Because you are my brother, should you therefore serve me for nothing? Tell me, what should your wages be?” 16Now Laban had two daughters: the name of the elder was Leah, and the name of the younger was Rachel. 17Leah’s eyes were delicate, but Rachel was beautiful in form and appearance. 18Now Jacob loved Rachel; so he said, “I will serve you seven years for Rachel your younger daughter.” 19So Laban said, “It is better that I give her to you than to another man. Stay with me.” 20So Jacob served seven years for Rachel, and they seemed only a few days to him because of the love he had for her. 21Then Jacob said to Laban, “Give me my wife, for my days are fulfilled, that I may go in to her.”

22Now Laban gathered together all the men of the place and made a wedding feast. 23Thus it came to pass in the evening, he took Leah his daughter and brought her to Jacob; and he went in to her. 24So Laban gave his maid Zilpah to his daughter Leah as a handmaiden. 25Then it came to pass in the morning, behold, it was Leah; and he said to Laban, “What is this you have done to me? Was it not for Rachel that I served you? Why then have you deceived me?” 26Laban replied, “It must not be done so in our country, to give the younger before the firstborn. [27]Fulfill her week, and I will give you this one also for the service you will render me still another seven years."

[28]Then Jacob did so and fulfilled her week. So he gave him his daughter Rachel as wife also. [29]Laban also gave his handmaiden Bilhah to his daughter Rachel as a handmaiden. [30]Then Jacob also went in to Rachel, and he loved Rachel more than Leah; and he served with Laban still another seven years.

Jacob's Children

[31]But when the Lord saw Leah was hated, He opened her womb; but Rachel was barren. [32]So Leah conceived and bore Jacob a son, and she called his name Reuben; for she said, "The Lord has surely looked on my humiliation. Now therefore, my husband will love me." [33]Then she conceived again and bore Jacob a second son, and said, "Because the Lord heard I was hated, He has therefore given me this son also." So she called his name Simeon. [34]She conceived again and bore a son, and said, "Now this time my husband will be on my side, because I have borne him three sons." Therefore she called his name Levi. [35]Now she conceived again and bore a son, and said, "Now I will give thanks to the Lord." Therefore she called his name Judah. Then she stopped bearing.

Genesis 30

[1]Now when Rachel saw that she bore Jacob no children, Rachel envied her sister, and said to Jacob, "Give me children, or else I die." [2]So Jacob's anger was aroused against Rachel, and he said, "Am I in the place of God, who has withheld from you the fruit of the womb?" [3]She replied to Jacob, "Here is my maid Bilhah; go in to her, and she will bear on my knees, that I also may have children by her." [4]She then gave him Bilhah her maid as wife, and Jacob went in to her. [5]Thus Bilhah, Rachel's handmaiden, conceived and bore Jacob a son. [6]Then Rachel said, "God has judged me; and He has heard my voice and given me a son." Therefore, she called his name Dan. [7]Now Rachel's handmaiden Bilhah conceived again and bore Jacob a second son. [8]Then Rachel said, "God has helped me, and I have wrestled with my sister; and indeed, I have prevailed." So she called his name Naphtali.

[9]Now when Leah saw she had stopped bearing, she took Zilpah her handmaiden and gave her to Jacob as wife. [10]So Jacob went in to her, and Zilpah, Leah's handmaiden, conceived and bore Jacob a son. [11]Then Leah said, "Good fortune!" Thus she called his name Gad. [12]Now Zilpah, Leah's handmaiden, bore Jacob a second son. [13]Then Leah said, "I am blessed, for the women will call me blessed." So she called his name Asher.

[14]Now Reuben went in the days of wheat harvest and found mandrakes in the field, and brought them to his mother Leah. Thus Rachel said to Leah, "Give me some of your son's mandrakes." [15]But she said to her, "Is it a small matter that you have taken away my husband? Would you take away my son's mandrakes also?" So Rachel said, "Not so! Let him lie with you tonight for your son's mandrakes." [16]Now when Jacob came out of the field in the evening, Leah went out to meet him and said, "You must come in to me, for I have surely hired you with my son's mandrakes." So he lay with her that night. [17]Thus God listened to Leah, and she conceived and bore Jacob a fifth son. [18]Then Leah said, "God has given me my wages, because I have given my handmaiden to my husband." So she called his name Issachar. [19]Now Leah conceived again and bore Jacob a sixth son. [20]Then Leah said, "God has endowed me with a good endowment; now my husband will choose me, because I have borne him six sons." So she called his name Zebulun. [21]Afterward she bore a daughter, and called her name Dinah.

The Agreement of Jacob and Laban

[22]Then God remembered Rachel, and God listened to her and opened her womb. [23]Thus she conceived and bore a son, and said, "God has taken away my reproach." [24]So she called his name Joseph, and said, "The Lord shall add another son to me."

[25]Now it came to pass, when Rachel had borne Joseph, that Jacob said to Laban, "Send me away, that I may go to my own place and to my country. [26]Give me my wives and my children for whom I have served you, and let me go; for you know the service I rendered you." [27]Then Laban said to him, "If I could find grace in your eyes, I would seek for it divinely, for God has blessed me by your coming." [28]So he said, "Name me your wages, and I will give it." [29]Jacob replied, "You know how I have served you and how numerous your cattle became with me. [30]For what you had before I came was little, and it has increased to a great amount; the Lord has blessed you since my coming. Now therefore, when shall I also establish my own house?"

[31]Thus Laban said to him, "What shall I give you?" Jacob replied, "You shall not give me anything. If you will do this thing for me, I will again feed and keep your sheep: [32]Let me pass through all your flocks today, removing from them all the gray sheep, and all the spotted and speckled among the goats; and these shall be my wages. [33]So my righteousness will answer for me in time to come, when the subject of my wages comes before you: every one that is not speckled and spotted among the goats, and gray among the sheep, will be considered stolen, if it is with me." [34]Then Laban said to him, "Let it be according to your word." [35]So he removed that day all the male goats that were speckled and spotted, all the female goats that were speckled and spotted, every one that had some white in it, and all the gray ones among the sheep, and gave them into the hands of his sons. [36]Then he put three days' journey between himself and Jacob, and Jacob fed the rest of Laban's flocks.

[37]Now Jacob took for himself rods of green poplar and of the almond and chestnut trees, peeled white strips in them, tearing off the bark. So the white strips he had peeled appeared on the rods as spotted. [38]Then he placed the rods he had peeled in the gutters of the watering troughs where the flocks came to drink, so they should conceive at the rods as they came to drink. [39]So the flocks conceived before the rods, and the flocks brought forth speckled, spotted, and ash-colored speckled. [40]But Jacob separated the male lambs, and placed a speckled ram before the sheep and all that were spotted among the male lambs. Then he separated for himself flocks by themselves and did not mix them with the sheep of Laban.

[41]Thus it came to pass, whenever the sheep conceived, that Jacob placed the rods before the sheep in the gutters, so they might conceive according to the rods. [42]But whenever the sheep had already given birth, he did not put them in. Thus it came to pass, that the unmarked were Laban's and the marked were Jacob's. [43]So the man became exceedingly rich, and had many cattle and oxen, male and female servants, and camels and donkeys.

Jacob Flees from Laban

[1]Now Jacob heard the words of Laban's sons, saying, "Jacob has taken away all that was our father's, and from our father's property he acquired all this wealth." [2]So Jacob saw Laban's countenance, and indeed, it was not favorable toward him as before. [3]Then the Lord said to Jacob, "Return to your father's land and to your family, and I will be with you."

4So Jacob sent and called Rachel and Leah to the field where the flocks were, 5and said to them, “I see your father’s countenance, that it is not favorable toward me as before; but the God of my father has been with me.
6Now you know that with all my might I served your father. 7Yet your father deceived me and changed my wages ten times with respect to the male lambs, but God did not allow him to harm me. 8If he said thus, ‘The speckled shall be your wages,’ then all the flocks bore speckled. But if he said thus, ‘The white shall be your wages,’ then all the sheep bore white. 9So God has taken away all your father’s cattle and given them to me. 10Now it came to pass, when the flocks conceived, I lifted my eyes and saw in a dream, and behold, the male goats and the rams that were speckled, spotted, and ash-colored speckled were mating with the sheep and the goats. 11Then the Angel of God spoke to me in a dream, saying, ‘Jacob.’ Thus I said, ‘Here I am.’ 12So He said, ‘Lift your eyes now and see, all the male goats and the rams mating with the sheep and the goats are speckled, spotted, and ash-colored speckled; for I have seen everything Laban is doing to you. 13I am the God who appeared to you at Bethel, where you anointed the pillar and made a vow to Me. Now then, arise, get out of this land, and return to the land of your nativity, and I will be with you.’ ”

14Then Rachel and Leah answered and said to him, “Is there still any portion or inheritance for us in our father’s house? 15Are we not considered strangers by him? For he sold us, and also completely consumed our money.
16For all the riches and glory God has taken from our father are really ours and our children’s; now then, whatever God has said to you, do it.”

17Then Jacob rose and set his sons and his wives on camels. 18And he carried away all his livestock and all his possessions acquired in Mesopotamia, everything belonging to him, to go to his father Isaac in Canaan. 19Now Laban had gone to shear his sheep, and Rachel had stolen her father’s idols. 20But Jacob had hidden from Laban the Syrian his intention of running away. 21So he fled with all that he had, and crossed the river, and headed for the mountains of Gilead.

Laban Pursues Jacob

22Then Laban was told on the third day that Jacob had fled. 23So he took all his brethren with him and pursued him for seven days’ journey; and he overtook him in the mountains of Gilead. 24But God had come to Laban the Syrian in a dream by night, and said to him, “Be careful that you do not speak evil things to Jacob at any time.” 25So Laban overtook Jacob. Now Jacob had pitched his tent in the mountains, and Laban with his brethren pitched in the mountains of Gilead. 26Then Laban said to Jacob, “What have you done, that you have stolen away unknown to me, and robbed me, and carried away my daughters like captives taken with the sword? 27Why did you flee away secretly, and steal away from me, and not tell me; for I might have sent you away with joy and songs, with timbrel and harp? 28And you did not allow me to kiss my sons and my daughters. Now you have done foolishly in so doing. 29It is in my power to do you harm, but the God of your father spoke to me last night, saying, ‘Be careful that you do not speak evil things to Jacob at any time.’ 30Now you have surely gone because you greatly long for your father’s house, but why did you steal my gods?”

31Then Jacob answered and said to Laban, “Because I was afraid, for I said, ‘Perhaps you would take your daughters and all my possessions from me by force.’ 32With whomever you find your gods, let him not live in the presence of our brethren. Identify what I have of yours and take it with you.” For Jacob did not know Rachel had stolen them. 33Thus Laban went in and searched Leah’s tent, but found nothing. Then he searched Jacob’s and those of the handmaidens, but found nothing. Then he entered Rachel’s tent. 34Now Rachel had taken the idols, put them in the camel’s saddle, and sat on them. 35Then she said to her father, “Let it not displease my lord that I cannot rise before you, for the manner of women is with me.” So he searched the entire tent but did not find the idols.

36Then Jacob was angry and rebuked Laban, and Jacob answered and said to Laban, “What is my injustice? What is my sin, that you have so hotly pursued me? 37Although you searched all my things, what part of your household goods have you found? Set them here before my brethren and your brethren, so they may judge between us. 38These twenty years I have been with you; your sheep and your female goats have not miscarried their young, and I have not eaten the rams of your flock. 39That which was caught by wild animals I did not bring to you; I bore the loss of any stolen by day or by night. 40There I was. In the day the drought consumed me, and the frost by night, and my sleep departed from my eyes. 41Thus I have been in your house twenty years; I served you fourteen years for your two daughters, and six years for your flock, and you have changed my wages ten times with respect to the female lambs. 42Unless the God of my father Abraham and the fear of Isaac had been with me, surely now you would have sent me away empty-handed. But God saw my affliction and the labor of my hands, and rebuked you last night."

Jacob's Pact with Laban

43 Then Laban answered and said to Jacob, "These daughters are my daughters, and these sons are my sons, and these sheep are my sheep; all you see belongs to me and my daughters. But what can I do for them today or for the children they bore? 44 Now therefore, come, let us make a covenant, you and I, and let it be a witness between you and me." Then he said, "Look, there is no one with us. God Himself is witness between you and me."

45 So Jacob took a stone and set it up as a pillar. 46 Then Jacob said to his brethren, "Gather stones." So they took stones and made a heap, and they ate and drank there on the heap; and Laban said to him, "This heap is a witness between you and me today." 47 Laban called it the Heap of Testimony, but Jacob called it the Witness Heap.

48 Then Laban said, "This heap and this pillar are a witness between you and me this day." Therefore its name was called This-Heap-Witnesses, 49 and also The Vision, because he said, "May God watch between you and me when we are absent one from another. 50 If you humble my daughters, or if you take other wives besides my daughters, although no man is with us—see, God is witness between you and me." 51 Then Laban said to Jacob, "Listen, this heap and pillar are a witness. 52 This heap is a witness, and this pillar is a witness, that I will not pass beyond this heap and this pillar to you, and you will not pass beyond this heap and this pillar to me, for harm. 53 The God of Abraham and the God of Nahor judge between us." Thus Jacob swore by the fear of his father Isaac. 54 Then Jacob offered a sacrifice on the mountain, and called his brethren; and they ate bread and drank and stayed all night on the mountain.

Genesis 32

Jacob Prepares to Meet Esau

1 So early in the morning, Laban arose, and kissed his sons and daughters and blessed them. Then Laban departed and returned to his place.

2 So Jacob went on his way, and saw the hosts of God encamped. 3 When Jacob saw them, he said, "This is God's encampment"; and he called the name of that place Encampments.

4Then Jacob sent messengers before him to Esau his brother in the land of Seir, the country of Edom. 5And he commanded them, saying, “Speak thus to my lord Esau, ‘Thus your servant Jacob says, “I sojourned with Laban and stayed there until now. I have oxen, donkeys, sheep, and male and female servants; and I have sent to tell my lord, that I may find grace in your sight.” ’ ” 6Then the messengers returned to Jacob, saying, “We came to your brother Esau, and he also is coming to meet you, and four hundred men with him.” 7So Jacob was greatly afraid and distressed; and he divided the people with him and the oxen and sheep into two companies. 8Thus Jacob said, “If Esau comes to the one company and destroys it, then the other company will escape.”

9Again Jacob said, “O God of my father Abraham and God of my father Isaac, the Lord who said to me, ‘Return to the land of your nativity, and I will deal well with you,’ 10let me be satisfied with all the righteousness and all the truth You have shown Your servant; for I crossed over this Jordan with my staff, and now I have become two companies. 11Deliver me from the hand of my brother, Esau; for I am afraid of him, lest he come and attack me and the mother with the children. 12For You said, ‘I will surely treat you well, and make your seed as the sand of the sea, which cannot be numbered for multitude.’ ”

13So he lodged there that same night, and took some of the things he had brought as a present for Esau his brother: 14two hundred female goats and twenty male goats, two hundred sheep and twenty rams, 15thirty milk camels with their offspring, forty cows and ten bulls, twenty female donkeys and ten foals. 16Then he delivered them to the hand of his servants, each flock by itself, and said to his servants, “Go on before me, and put some distance between successive droves.” 17And he commanded the first one, saying, “When Esau my brother meets you and asks you, saying, ‘To whom do you belong, and where are you going? Whose are these going before you?’ 18Then you shall say, ‘Your servant Jacob’s. These things are a present sent to my lord Esau; and behold, he also is behind us.’ ” 19So he commanded the first, the second, and the third, and all who followed the droves, saying, “In this manner you shall speak to Esau when you find him; 20and also say, ‘Behold, your servant Jacob is coming behind us.’ ” For he said to himself, “I will appease him with the present that goes before me, and afterward I will see his face; perhaps he will accept me.” 21So the present went on before him, but he himself lodged that night in the encampment.

Jacob Wrestles with God

22 And he arose that night and took his two wives, his two maidservants, and his eleven sons, and crossed over the ford of Jabbok. 23 He took them and crossed over the brook, and sent over what he had. 24 Then Jacob was left alone; and a man wrestled with him until the breaking of day. 25 Now when He saw He did not prevail against him, He touched the socket of his hip; and the socket of Jacob's hip was dislocated as he wrestled with Him. 26 Then He said, "Let Me go, for the day breaks." But he said, "I will not let You go unless You bless me." 27 So He said to him, "What is your name?" He said,
"Jacob." 28 And He said, "Your name shall no longer be called Jacob, but Israel; for you have prevailed with God and with men."
29 Then Jacob asked, saying, "Tell me Your name, I pray." And he said,
"Why do you ask about My name?" And He blessed him there. 30 So Jacob called the name of that place, the Form of God: "For I saw God face to face, and my soul was saved." 31 When the Form of God passed by, the sun rose on him, but he limped on his hip. 32 Therefore to this day, the children of Israel do not eat the muscle that shrank, which is on the hip socket, because He touched the socket of Jacob's hip, in the muscle that shrank.

Genesis 33

Jacob and Esau Meet

1 Now Jacob lifted his eyes and looked, and behold, Esau his brother was coming, and four hundred men with him. So Jacob divided the children among Leah, Rachel, and the two maidservants. 2 Then he put the maidservants and their sons in front, Leah and her children behind, and Rachel and Joseph last. 3 He then crossed over before them and bowed himself to the ground seven times, until he came near to his brother. 4 But Esau ran to meet him, embraced him, and fell on his neck and kissed him; and they wept. 5 Then he lifted his eyes and saw the women and children, and said, "Who are these with you?" He replied, "The children God mercifully gave your servant." 6 Then the maidservants came near, they and their children, and bowed down. 7 Leah also came near with her children, and they bowed down. Afterward Rachel and Joseph came near, and they bowed down.

8Then Esau said, “What are these things to you, all this company I met?” So he said, “That your servant might find grace in the sight of my Lord.” 9But Esau said, “I have enough, my brother; keep what you have for yourself.” 10But Jacob replied, “If I have now found grace in your sight, receive the present from my hands, inasmuch as I have seen your face, as though someone might see the face of God; and you were pleased with me. 11Receive my blessing I brought you, because God has shown me mercy; and I have enough.” Thus he urged him, and he took it.

12Then Esau said, “Let us take our journey; let us go, and I will go before you.” 13But Jacob said to him, “My lord knows the children are weak, and the flocks and herds with me are giving birth. If therefore the men should drive them hard one day, all the cattle would die. 14Let my lord go on ahead before his servant. I will lead on slowly at a pace the children are able to bear, until I come to my lord in Seir.” 15Then Esau said, “Let me leave with you some of the people with me.” But he said, “What need is there? It is enough that I found grace in my lord’s sight.” 16So Esau returned that day on his way to Seir.

17Then Jacob journeyed to Succoth, built houses, and made booths for his cattle. Therefore, he called the name of that place, Succoth. 18Then Jacob came safely to Salem, a city of Shechem, in the land of Canaan, when he came from Mesopotamia of Syria; and he took up a position in front of the city. 19He then bought the parcel of land where he pitched his tent from Hamor, Shechem’s father, for a hundred male lambs. 20There he set up an altar and called on the God of Israel.

The Violation of Dinah

1Now Dinah the daughter of Leah, whom she bore to Jacob, went out to see the daughters of the land. 2But when Shechem the son of Hamor the Hivite, a ruler of the land, saw her, he took her, lay with her, and violated her. 3Now his soul was strongly attracted to Dinah the daughter of Jacob, and he loved the young woman and sought to win her heart. 4Then Shechem spoke to his father Hamor, saying, “Get this young woman as a wife for me.”

5But Jacob heard Hamor's son had defiled Dinah his daughter. Now his sons were with his cattle in the field; so Jacob held his peace until they came.
6Then Hamor the father of Shechem went out to Jacob to speak with him.
7Now the sons of Jacob came in from the field when they heard it; and the men were stunned and extremely grieved, because he had done a disgraceful thing in Israel by lying with Jacob's daughter, something that should never have happened. 8But Hamor spoke with them, saying, "My son Shechem is passionately in love with your daughter. Give her to him as a wife. 9Make marriages with us; give us your daughters, and take our daughters for your sons. 10Dwell among us, and behold, the land before you is spacious. Dwell therein and trade, and acquire possessions in it."

11Then Shechem said to her father and her brothers, "Let me find grace in your eyes, and we will give whatever you ask. 12Make the dowry as great as you wish, and I will give it; only give me this young woman as a wife." 13But the sons of Jacob answered Shechem and Hamor his father, and spoke deceitfully to them, because he had defiled Dinah their sister. 14So Simeon and Levi, the brothers of Dinah and the sons of Leah, said to them, "We cannot do this thing, to give our sister to a man who is uncircumcised, for that would be a reproach to us. 15But on this condition we will consent to you, if you will become as we are, if every male of you is circumcised, 16then we will give our daughters to you, and we will take your daughters to us; and we will dwell with you, and we will become one people. 17But if you will not heed us and be circumcised, then we will take our daughters and be gone."

18Now their words pleased Hamor and Shechem, Hamor's son. 19So the young man did not delay to do the thing, because he delighted in Jacob's daughter. He was the most esteemed of all those in his father's house. 20And Hamor and Shechem his son came to the gate of their city, and spoke with the men of their city, saying, 21"These men are at peace with us. Therefore let them dwell in the land and trade in it. For indeed, the land is large enough for them. Let us take their daughters as wives, and let us give them our daughters. 22Only on this condition will the men consent to dwell with us, to be one people, if every male among us is circumcised, as they are circumcised. 23Will not their livestock, their property, and every animal of theirs be ours? Only let us consent to them, and they will dwell with us." 24Thus all who went out of the gate of their city heeded Hamor and Shechem his son; every male was circumcised in the flesh.

25Now it came to pass on the third day, when they were in pain, two sons of Jacob, Simeon and Levi, Dinah's brothers, each took his sword and came boldly upon the city and killed all the males. 26They also killed Hamor and Shechem his son with the edge of the sword, and took Dinah from Shechem's house, and went out. 27Then the sons of Jacob came upon the slain, and plundered the city in which Dinah their sister had been defiled. 28They took their sheep, their oxen, and their donkeys, what was in the city and what was in the field; 29and took captive all their wives, their children, and their servants and plundered whatever was in the city and in the houses.

30Then Jacob said to Simeon and Levi, "You made me an object of hatred, so as to be evil to all the inhabitants of the land, both among the Canaanites and the Perizzites; and since I am few in number, they will gather themselves together against me and kill me. I shall be destroyed, my household and I." 31But they said, "Should he treat our sister like a prostitute?"

Jacob at Bethel

1Now God said to Jacob, "Arise, go up to Bethel and dwell there; and make an altar there to God, who appeared to you when you fled from the face of Esau your brother." 2Then Jacob said to his household and to all who were with him, "Put away the foreign gods among you, purify yourselves, and change your garments. 3Let us arise and go up to Bethel and make there an altar to God, who answered me in the day of my tribulation, and was with me and saved me on the road I traveled." 4So they gave Jacob all the foreign gods in their hands, and the earrings in their ears; and Jacob hid them under the terebinth tree near Shechem.

5Then Israel departed from Shechem, and the fear of God was upon all the cities around them. Thus they did not pursue the sons of Jacob. 6Now Jacob came to Luz (that is, Bethel), in the land of Canaan, he and all the people with him. 7He built an altar there and called the place Bethel, because there God appeared to him when he fled from the face of his brother Esau. 8Now Deborah, Rebekah's nurse, died, and she was buried below Bethel under the oak. So Jacob called its name the Oak of Mourning.

9Then God appeared to Jacob again, when he came from Mesopotamia, and blessed him. 10God said to him, "Your name is Jacob; your name shall not any more be called Jacob, but Israel shall be your name." 11God also said to him, “I am your God. Increase and multiply; a nation and a company of nations shall proceed from you, and kings shall come from your body. 12The land I gave Abraham and Isaac I give to you; and to your seed after you I give this land.” 13Then God ascended from him in the place where He talked with him. 14So Jacob set up a pillar in the place where He talked with him, a pillar of stone; and he poured a drink offering on it, and he poured oil on it. 15Thus Jacob called the name of the place where God spoke with him Bethel.

The Death of Rachel

16Then Jacob departed from Bethel, and when there was but a little distance to go to Ephrath, Rachel labored with much difficulty in childbirth. 17Now it came to pass, when she was in hard labor, that the midwife said to her, “Take courage; you will have this son also.” 18So it was, as her soul was departing (for she died), she called his name Ben-Oni; but his father called him Benjamin. 19Thus Rachel died and was buried on the way to Ephrath (that is, Bethlehem). 20Then Jacob set a pillar on her grave, which is the pillar of Rachel’s grave to this day.

21Now Israel journeyed and pitched his tent beyond the tower of Eder. 22So it happened, when Israel dwelt in that land, that Reuben went and lay with Bilhah his father’s concubine. Israel heard about it, and it was seen as evil in his sight.

The Twelve Sons of Jacob

23Now the sons of Jacob were twelve: the sons of Leah were Reuben, Jacob’s firstborn, and Simeon, Levi, Judah, Issachar, and Zebulun; 24the sons of Rachel were Joseph and Benjamin; 25the sons of Bilhah, Rachel’s maidservant, were Dan and Naphtali; 26and the sons of Zilpah, Leah’s maidservant, were Gad and Asher. These were the sons of Jacob who were born to him in Mesopotamia of Syria.

The Death of Isaac

27Then Jacob came to his father Isaac at Mamre, or Kirjath Arba (that is, Hebron), where Abraham and Isaac sojourned. 28Now the days of Isaac were one hundred and eighty years. 29So Isaac breathed his last and died, and was gathered to his people, being old and full of days. Thus his sons Esau and Jacob buried him.

Genesis 36

The Genealogy of Esau

[1]Now this is the genealogy of Esau, who is Edom. [2]Esau took his wives from the daughters of the Canaanites: Adah the daughter of Elon the Hittite; Aholibamah the daughter of Anah, the daughter of Zibeon the Hivite; [3]and Basemath, Ishmael's daughter, sister of Nebajoth. [4]Now Adah bore Eliphaz to Esau, and Basemath bore Reuel, [5]and Aholibamah bore Jeush, Jaalam, and Korah. These were the sons of Esau who were born to him in the land of Canaan. [6]Then Esau took his wives, his sons, his daughters, and all the persons of his household, his cattle and all his animals, and all his goods he gained in the land of Canaan, and went to a country away from the presence of his brother Jacob. [7]For their possessions were too great for them to dwell together, and the land of their sojourning could not support them because of their abundance. [8]So Esau dwelt in Mount Seir. Esau is Edom.

[9]Now this is the genealogy of Esau the father of the Edomites in Mount Seir. [10]These were the names of Esau's sons: Eliphaz the son of Adah the wife of Esau, and Reuel the son of Basemath the wife of Esau. [11]The sons of Eliphaz were Teman, Omar, Zepho, Gatam, and Kenaz. [12]Now Timna was the concubine of Eliphaz, Esau's son, and she bore Amalek to Eliphaz. These were the sons of Adah, Esau's wife. [13]These were the sons of Reuel: Nahath, Zerah, Shammah, and Mizzah. These were the sons of Basemath, Esau's wife. [14]These were the sons of Aholibamah, Esau's wife, the daughter of Anah, the daughter of Zibeon. She bore to Esau: Jeush, Jaalam, and Korah.

[15]These were the chiefs of the sons of Esau. The sons of Eliphaz, the firstborn of Esau, were Chief Teman, Chief Omar, Chief Zepho, Chief Kenaz, [16]Chief Korah, Chief Gatam, and Chief Amalek. These were the chiefs of Eliphaz in the land of Edom. They were the sons of Adah. [17]These were the sons of Reuel, Esau's son: Chief Nahath, Chief Zerah, Chief Shammah, and Chief Mizzah. These were the chiefs of Reuel in the land of Edom. These were the sons of Basemath, Esau's wife. [18]These were the sons of Aholibamah, Esau's wife: Chief Jeush, Chief Jaalam, and Chief Korah. These were the chiefs from Aholibamah. [19]These were the sons of Esau, and these were their chiefs, the sons of Edom.

[20]These were the sons of Seir the Horite who inhabited the land: Lotan, Shobal, Zibeon, Anah, [21]Dishon, Ezer, and Dishan. These were the chiefs of the Horites, the sons of Seir, in the land of Edom. [22]And the sons of Lotan were Hori and Hemam. Lotan's sister was Timna. [23]These were the sons of Shobal: Alvan, Manahath, Ebal, Shepho, and Onam. [24]These were the sons of Zibeon: Ajah and Anah. This was the Anah who found the hot springs in the desert, as he pastured the donkeys of his father Zibeon. [25]These were the children of Anah: Dishon and Aholibamah the daughter of Anah. [26]These were the sons of Dishon: Hemdan, Eshban, Ithran, and Cheran. [27]These were the sons of Ezer: Balaam, Zucam, Jucam and Ucam. [28]These were the sons of Dishan: Uz and Aran. [29]These were the chiefs of the Horites: Chief Lotan, Chief Shobal, Chief Zibeon, Chief Anah, [30]Chief Dishon, Chief Ezer, and Chief Dishan. These were the chiefs of the Horites, according to their chiefdoms in the land of Seir.

[31]Now these were the kings who reigned in the land of Edom before any king reigned over the children of Israel: [32]Balak the son of Beor reigned in Edom, and the name of his city was Dinhabah. [33]So when Balak died, Jobab the son of Zerah of Bozrah reigned in his place. [34]When Jobab died, Husham of the land of the Temanites reigned in his place. [35]When Husham died, Hadad the son of Barad, who attacked Midian in the field of Moab, reigned in his place; and the name of his city was Gethaim. [36]When Hadad died, Samlah of Masrekah reigned in his place. [37]When Samlah died, Saul of Rehoboth-by-the-River reigned in his place. [38]When Saul died, Baal-Hanan the son of Achbor reigned in his place. [39]And when Baal-Hanan the son of Achbor died, Harad the son of Barad reigned in his place; and the name of his city was Phogor. His wife's name was Mehetabel, the daughter of Matred, the daughter of Mezahab.

[40]These were the names of the chiefs of Esau, in their tribes and places, and in their countries and nations: Chief Timnah, Chief Alvah, Chief Jetheth, [41]Chief Aholibamah, Chief Elah, Chief Pinon, [42]Chief Kenaz, Chief Teman, Chief Mibzar, [43]Chief Magdiel, and Chief Zaphoim. These were the chiefs of Edom, in their dwelling places in the land of their possession. Esau was the father of the Edomites.

Joseph's Dream

[1]Now Jacob dwelt in the land where his father had sojourned, in the land of Canaan. [2]This is the genealogy of Jacob. Joseph, being seventeen years old, was shepherding the sheep with his brothers. Now the lad was with the sons of Bilhah and the sons of Zilpah, his father's wives; and Joseph brought a bad report of them to his father. [3]Now Israel loved Joseph more than all his sons, because he was the son of his old age. He also made him a tunic of many colors. [4]But when his brothers saw that their father loved him more than all his brothers, they hated him and could not speak civilly to him.

[5]Then Joseph had a dream, and reported it to his brothers. [6]Thus he said to them, "Hear this dream I dreamed: [7]There we were, binding sheaves in the field. Then behold, my sheaf arose and also stood upright; and indeed your sheaves stood all around and bowed down to my sheaf." [8]So his brothers said to him, "Shall you indeed reign over us? Or shall you indeed have dominion over us?" So they hated him even more for his dreams and for his words.

[9]Then he dreamed still another dream and told it to his brothers, and said, "Look, I have dreamed another dream. And this time, the sun, the moon, and the eleven stars bowed down to me." [10]So he told it to his father and his brothers; and his father rebuked him and said to him, "What is this dream you have dreamed? Shall your mother and I and your brothers indeed come and bow down on the ground before you?" [11]And his brothers envied him, but his father kept the matter in mind.

Joseph Is Sold into Egypt

[12]Then his brothers went to feed their father's flock in Shechem. [13]And Israel said to Joseph, "Are not your brothers shepherding the sheep in Shechem? Come, I will send you to them." So he said to him, "Here I am." [14]Then Israel said to him, "Go and see if it is well with your brothers and well with the sheep, and bring back word to me." So he sent him out of the Valley of Hebron, and he went to Shechem.

[15]Now a certain man found him, and there he was, wandering in the field. So the man asked him, saying, "What are you seeking?" [16]He replied, "I am looking for my brothers. Tell me where they are feeding their sheep." [17]The man said to him, "They have departed from here, for I heard them say, 'Let us go to Dothan."' So Joseph went after his brothers and found them in Dothan. [18]Now when they saw him afar off, even before he came near them, they conspired against him to kill him. [19]Then they said to one another, "Look, this dreamer is coming. [20]Come therefore, let us now kill him and cast him into some pit; and we shall say, ‘Some wild beast has devoured him.’ We shall see what will become of his dreams.”

21But Reuben heard it, and he delivered him out of their hands; and said, “Let us not kill him.” 22Again, Reuben said to them, “Shed no blood, but cast him into this pit in the desert; and do not lay a hand on him”—that he might deliver him out of their hands, and bring him back to his father. 23So it came to pass, when Joseph came to his brothers, they stripped the tunic of many colors off him. 24Then they took him and cast him into a pit, which was empty; for there was no water in it.

25They then sat down to eat a meal, and lifted their eyes and looked, and there was a company of Ishmaelite wayfarers coming from Gilead with their camels bearing spices, balm, and myrrh, on their way to carry them down to Egypt. 26So Judah said to his brothers, “What profit is there if we kill our brother and conceal his blood? 27Come and let us sell him to the Ishmaelites, but let not our hand be upon him; for he is our brother and our flesh”; and his brothers listened. 28Thus the Midianite traders passed by, and the brothers pulled Joseph up and lifted him out of the pit; and they sold him to the Ishmaelites for twenty pieces of gold. So they took Joseph to Egypt. 29Then Reuben returned to the pit, and when he saw Joseph was not in there, he tore his clothes. 30So he returned to his brothers and said, “The lad is not there; and I, where shall I go?”

31Thus they took Joseph’s tunic, killed a kid of the goats, and dipped the tunic in the blood. 32Then they sent the tunic of many colors, and had it brought to their father and said, “We found this. Do you know whether it is your son’s tunic or not?” 33So he recognized it and said, “This is my son’s tunic. A wild animal has devoured Joseph and carried him off.” 34Then Jacob tore his clothes, put sackcloth on his waist, and mourned for his son many days. 35Thus all his sons and daughters arose to comfort him; but he refused to be comforted, and he said, “I shall go down into the grave to my son in mourning.” So his father wept for him. 36Now the Midianites had sold him in Egypt to Potiphar, an officer of Pharaoh and captain of the guard.

Judah and Tamar

1It came to pass at that time that Judah departed from his brothers, and visited a certain Adullamite whose name was Hirah. [2]Then Judah saw there a daughter of a certain Canaanite whose name was Shua, and he married her and went in to her. [3]So she conceived and bore a son, and called his name Er. [4]She conceived again and bore a son, and called his name Onan. [5]She conceived yet again and bore a son, and called his name Shelah. She was at Chezib when she bore them.

[6]Then Judah took a wife for Er his firstborn, and her name was Tamar. [7]But Er, Judah's firstborn, was evil in the sight of the Lord, and God killed him. [8]So Judah said to Onan, "Go in to your brother's wife and marry her, and as her brother-in-law raise up seed to your brother." [9]But Onan knew the seed would not be his; and it came to pass that whenever he went in to his brother's wife, he emitted his semen on the ground, lest he should give seed to his brother. [10]But the thing he did appeared evil in the sight of the Lord; therefore, He also put him to death. [11]Then Judah said to Tamar his daughter-in-law, "Remain a widow in your father's house till my son Shelah is grown." For he said, "Lest he also die like his brothers." So Tamar went and dwelt in her father's house.

[12]Now in the process of time, the daughter of Shua, Judah's wife, died; and Judah was comforted and went up to his sheepshearers at Timnah, he and his shepherd, Hirah the Adullamite. [13]So it was told Tamar, saying, "Look, your father-in-law is going up to Timnah to shear his sheep." [14]Thus she took off her widow's garments, covered herself with a veil, made herself beautiful, and sat down near the gates of Ainan on the way past Timnah; for she saw Shelah was grown, and she was not given to him as a wife. [15]When Judah saw her, he thought she was a prostitute, because she had covered her face and he did not recognize her. [16]Then he turned to her by the way, and said, "Let me come in to you"; for he did not know she was his daughter-in-law. So she said, "What will you give me, that you may come in to me?" [17]He replied, "I will send a young goat from the flocks." So she said, "Will you give me a pledge till you send it?" [18]Then he said, "What pledge shall I give you?" So she said, "Your ring and cord, and the staff in your hand." Then he gave them to her, and went in to her, and she conceived by him. [19]So she arose and went away, and laid aside her veil and put on the garments of her widowhood.

[20]Thus Judah sent the young goat by the hand of his shepherd the Adullamite to receive his pledge from the woman, but he did not find her. [21]Then he asked the men of that place, saying, "Where is the prostitute who was in Ainan by the roadside?" They replied, "There was no prostitute here." [22]So he returned to Judah and said, "I cannot find her. Also, the men of the place said no prostitute had been there." [23]Then Judah said, "Let her have them, lest we should become a laughingstock; for I sent this young goat but you did not find her."

[24]Thus it came to pass, about three months after, that Judah was told, saying, "Tamar your daughter-in-law has committed fornication and is pregnant because of her adultery." So Judah said, "Bring her out and let her be burned." [25]When she was brought out, she sent to her father-in-law, saying, "By the man to whom these belong, I am with child." So she said, "Determine whose these are—the ring, the cord, and the staff." [26]So Judah acknowledged them and said, "She has been more righteous than I, because I did not give her to Shelah my son." But he never knew her again.

[27]Then it came to pass, at the time for giving birth, that behold, twins were in her womb. [28]So it was, when she was giving birth, that the one put out his hand; and the midwife took a scarlet thread and bound it on his hand, saying, "This one came out first." [29]Then it happened, as he drew back his hand, that his brother came out unexpectedly; and she said, "How did you break through? This breach be upon you." Therefore she called his name Perez. [30]Afterward his brother came out, with the scarlet thread on his hand; and she called his name Zerah.

Joseph Imprisoned in Egypt

[1]Now Joseph had been taken down to Egypt, and Potiphar, Pharaoh's eunuch and captain of the guard, an Egyptian, had bought him from the Ishmaelites who had taken him down there. [2]The Lord was with Joseph, and he was a successful man; and he was living in the house of his lord the Egyptian. [3]So his lord saw that the Lord was with him and the Lord made all he did to prosper in his hand. [4]Thus Joseph found grace in his sight and was pleasing to him. Then he made him overseer of his house, and put everything he had under Joseph's authority. [5]So it was, from the time he made him overseer of his house and all he had, that the Lord blessed the Egyptian's house for Joseph's sake; and the blessing of the Lord was on all he had in the house and in the field. [6]Thus he left all he had in Joseph's hand, and did not know what he had except for the bread he ate. Now Joseph was handsome in form and appearance.

7Then it came to pass after these things that his lord's wife cast longing eyes on Joseph, and she said, "Lie with me." 8But he refused and said to his lord's wife, "Look, my lord does not know what is with me in the house and has committed all he has to my hand. 9There is no one greater in this house than I, nor has he kept back anything from me but you, because you are his wife. How then can I do this great wickedness, and sin against God?" 10So it was, as she spoke to Joseph day by day, that he did not heed her, to lie with her or to have relations with her. 11But it happened about this time, when Joseph went into the house to do his work, and none of the men of the house was inside, 12she caught him by his garment, saying, "Lie with me." But he left his garment in her hand, and fled and ran outside.

13So it was, when she saw he had left his garment in her hand and fled outside, 14she called to the men of her house and spoke to them, saying, "See, he brought in to us a Hebrew to mock us. He came in to me to lie with me, and I cried out with a loud voice. 15Thus it happened, when he heard that I lifted my voice and cried out, he left his garment with me, and fled and went outside." 16So she kept his garment with her until his lord came home. 17Then she spoke to him with words like these, saying, "The Hebrew servant you brought to us came in to me to mock me; 18so it happened, as I lifted my voice and cried out, he left his garment with me and fled outside." 19So it was, when his lord heard the words his wife spoke to him, saying, "Your servant did to me after this manner," his anger was aroused. 20Then Joseph's lord took him and put him into the prison, a place where the king's prisoners were confined.

21But the Lord was with Joseph and showed him mercy, and He gave him grace in the sight of the chief prison keeper. 22So the chief keeper of the prison put under Joseph's authority both the prison and all the prisoners, and whatever they did there. 23The chief keeper of the prison did not look into anything under Joseph's authority, because the Lord was with him; and whatever he did, the Lord made it prosper.

Joseph Interprets the Dreams of the Prisoners

[1]Now it came to pass after these things, that the king of Egypt’s chief cupbearer and chief baker offended their lord, the king of Egypt. [2]So Pharaoh was angry with his two eunuchs, the chief cupbearer and the chief baker. [3]Thus he put them in custody with the chief bodyguard in the prison, the place where Joseph was confined. [4]Then the chief jailer committed them to Joseph, and he attended them; so they were in custody for a while.

[5]Then the king of Egypt’s chief cupbearer and the chief baker, who were confined in the prison, had a dream, both of them, each man’s dream in one night and each man’s dream with its own interpretation. [6]So Joseph came in to them in the morning and looked at them, and saw they were troubled. [7]Thus he asked Pharaoh’s eunuchs, who were with him in the custody of his lord, saying, “Why do you look so sad today?” [8]So they said to him, “We each had a dream, and there is no one to interpret it.” Then Joseph said to them, “Do not interpretations belong to God? Therefore, relate them to me.” [9]Then the chief cupbearer related his dream to Joseph, and said to him, “Behold, in my dream a vine was before me, [10]and in the vine were three branches; it was as though it budded, its blossoms shot forth, and its clusters brought forth ripe grapes. [11]Then Pharaoh’s cup was in my hand; and I took the grapes and pressed them into Pharaoh’s cup, and placed the cup in Pharaoh’s hand.”

[12]And Joseph said to him, “This is the interpretation of it: The three branches are three days. [13]Now within three days Pharaoh will remember your position and restore your office of chief cupbearer; and you will put Pharaoh’s cup in his hand according to the former manner, when you were his cupbearer. [14]But remember me when it is well with you, and have mercy on me; make mention of me to Pharaoh, and get me out of this prison. [15]For indeed I was stolen away from the land of the Hebrews; and I also have done nothing for them to put me into the dungeon.”

[16]When the chief baker saw the interpretation was good, he said to Joseph, “I also had a dream, and there were three white baskets on my head. [17]In the uppermost basket were all kinds of baked goods for Pharaoh, and the birds ate them out of the basket on my head.” [18]So Joseph answered and said, “This is the interpretation of it: The three baskets are three days. [19]Within three days Pharaoh will lift off your head from you and hang you on a tree; and the birds will eat your flesh from you.”

[20]Now it came to pass on the third day, which was Pharaoh’s birthday, that he made a feast for all his servants; and he remembered the positions of his chief cupbearer and chief baker among his servants. [21]Then he restored the chief cupbearer to his position, and he placed the cup in Pharaoh’s hand. [22]But he hanged the chief baker, as Joseph had interpreted to them. [23]Yet the chief cupbearer did not remember Joseph, but forgot him.

Genesis 41

Joseph Interprets the Dreams of Pharaoh

[1]Then it came to pass, at the end of two full years, that Pharaoh had a dream; and behold, he stood by the river. [2]Suddenly there came up out of the river seven cows, fine-looking and fat; and they fed in the meadow. [3]Then behold, seven other cows came up after them out of the river, ugly and gaunt, and stood by the other cows on the bank of the river. [4]But the ugly and gaunt cows ate up the seven fine-looking and fat cows. So Pharaoh awoke. [5]He slept and dreamed a second time; and suddenly seven ears of corn came up on one stalk, plump and good. [6]Then behold, seven ears of corn, thin and blighted by the east wind, sprang up after them. [7]But the seven thin ears of corn devoured the seven plump and full ears. So Pharaoh awoke, and indeed, it was a dream.

[8]Now it came to pass in the morning that his spirit was troubled, and he sent and called for all the interpreters of Egypt and all its wise men. Thus Pharaoh told them his dreams, but there was no one who could interpret them for Pharaoh. [9]Then the cupbearer spoke to Pharaoh, saying, “I remember my sin this day. [10]When Pharaoh was angry with his servants, and put me in custody in the house of the chief bodyguard, both myself and the chief baker, [11]we each had a dream in one night, both he and I. Each had a dream regarding himself. [12]Now there was with us a young Hebrew servant of the chief bodyguard, and we related our dreams to him; and he interpreted them for us. [13]And it came to pass, just as he interpreted for us, so it happened. He restored me to my office, but he hanged him.”

[14]Then Pharaoh sent and called Joseph, and they brought him quickly out of the dungeon; and he shaved, changed his clothing, and came to Pharaoh.
[15]Thus Pharaoh said to Joseph, “I had a dream, and there is no one who can interpret it. But I heard it said of you that you can understand a dream, to interpret it.” [16]So Joseph answered Pharaoh, saying, “It is not in me; God will give Pharaoh an answer of peace.”

[17]Then Pharaoh said to Joseph, “Behold, in my dream I stood on the bank of the river. [18]Suddenly seven cows came up out of the river, fine-looking and fat; and they fed in the meadow. [19]Then behold, seven other cows came up after them, poor and very ugly and gaunt, such ugliness as I have never seen in all the land of Egypt. [20]And the gaunt and ugly cows ate up the first seven, the fat cows. [21]When they had eaten them, no one would have known they had eaten them, for they were just as ugly as at the beginning. So I awoke and fell asleep again. [22]Again, I saw in my dream, and suddenly seven ears of corn came up on one stalk, full and good. [23]Then behold, seven ears of corn, withered, thin, and blighted by the east wind, sprang up after them. [24]But the thin ears of corn devoured the seven good ears. So I told all this to the interpreters, but there was no one who could explain it to me."

[25]Then Joseph said to Pharaoh, "The dreams of Pharaoh are one; God has shown Pharaoh what He is about to do: [26]The seven good cows are seven years, and the seven good ears of corn are seven years; the dreams are one. [27]But the seven thin and ugly cows that came up after them are seven years, and the seven empty heads blighted by the east wind are seven years of famine. [28]This is the thing I have spoken to Pharaoh. God has shown Pharaoh what He is about to do. [29]Indeed, seven years of great plenty will come throughout all the land of Egypt; [30]but after them seven years of famine will arise, and all the plenty will be forgotten in the land of Egypt; and the famine will deplete the land. [31]So the plenty will not be known in the land because of the famine following, for it will be very severe. [32]Now the dream was repeated to Pharaoh twice because the thing is established by God, and God will shortly bring it to pass. [33]Now therefore, let Pharaoh select a sensible and intelligent man, and set him over the land of Egypt. [34]Let Pharaoh do this, and let him appoint governors over the land, to collect one-fifth of the produce of the land of Egypt in the seven plentiful years. [35]So let them gather all the food of the seven good years that are coming, and store up grain under Pharaoh's authority, and let them keep food in the cities. [36]That food shall then be as a reserve in the land for the seven coming years of famine in the land of Egypt, that the land may not perish during the famine."

Joseph Made Ruler of Egypt

[37]Now this advice was good in the eyes of Pharaoh and in the eyes of all his servants. [38]Thus Pharaoh said to his servants, "Can we find such a man as this, who has the Spirit of God in him?" [39]Then Pharaoh said to Joseph, "Inasmuch as God has shown you all this, there is no one as sensible and intelligent as you. [40]You shall be over my house, and all my people shall be ruled according to your word; only in regard to the throne will I be greater than you.” [41]So Pharaoh said to Joseph, “See, I have set you over all the land of Egypt.”

[42]Then Pharaoh took the signet ring off his hand and put it on Joseph’s hand; and he clothed him in garments of fine linen and put a gold chain around his neck. [43]Then he had him ride in the second of his chariots; and they cried out before him, “Bow the knee!” So he set him over all the land of Egypt. [44]Pharaoh also said to Joseph, “I am Pharaoh, and without your consent no man may lift his hand or foot in all the land of Egypt.” [45]Then Pharaoh called Joseph’s name Zaphnath-Paaneah, and he gave him as a wife Asenath, the daughter of Poti-Pherah, priest of On.

[46]Now Joseph was thirty years old when he stood before Pharaoh king of Egypt. Then Joseph went out from the presence of Pharaoh, and went throughout all the land of Egypt. [47]Now in the seven plentiful years the ground brought forth abundantly. [48]So he gathered up all the food of the seven years of prosperity in the land of Egypt, and stored the food in the cities; he laid up in every city the food of the fields that surrounded them. [49]Joseph gathered very much grain, as the sand of the sea, until he stopped counting, for it was immeasurable.

[50]Now two sons were born to Joseph before the years of famine came, whom Asenath, the daughter of Poti-Pherah, priest of On, bore to him. [51]Joseph called the name of his firstborn Manasseh: “For God has made me forget all my troubles and all my father’s house.” [52]And the name of the second he called Ephraim: “For God has caused me to be fruitful in the land of my humiliation.”

[53]Then the seven years of plenty in the land of Egypt ended, [54]and the seven years of famine began to come, as Joseph said. The famine was in all lands, but in all the land of Egypt there was bread. [55]So when all the land of Egypt was famished, the people cried to Pharaoh for bread. Then Pharaoh said to all the Egyptians, “Go to Joseph; whatever he says to you, do.” [56]The famine was over all the face of the earth, and Joseph opened all the storehouses and sold to the Egyptians. [57]Then all countries also came to Joseph in Egypt to buy grain, because the famine was severe in all the earth.

Genesis 42

Joseph’s Brothers Come to Egypt

1 When Jacob found out there was grain for sale in Egypt, he said to his sons,
"Why are you standing idle?" 2 Then he said, "Indeed, I heard there is grain in Egypt; go down there and buy for us there, that we may live and not die." 3 So Joseph's ten brothers went down to buy grain in Egypt. 4 But Jacob did not send Joseph's brother Benjamin with his brothers, for he said, "Lest some calamity befall him."

5 Thus the sons of Israel went to buy grain with those who were going there, for the famine was in the land of Canaan. 6 Now Joseph was governor over the land; and it was he who sold to all the people of the land. So Joseph's brothers came and bowed down before him with their faces to the ground. 7 Joseph saw his brothers and recognized them, but he acted as a stranger to them and spoke roughly to them. Then he said to them, "Where do you come from?" And they said, "From the land of Canaan to buy food." 8 So Joseph recognized his brothers, but they did not recognize him.

9 Then Joseph remembered the dreams he dreamed about them, and said to them, "You are spies. You have come to map out the roads of the country."
10 But they said to him, "No, my lord, your servants have come to buy food.
11 We are all one man's sons; we are men of peace; your servants are not spies." 12 But he said to them, "No, but you have come to map out the roads of the land." 13 Then they said, "Your servants are twelve brothers, the sons of one man in the land of Canaan; and in fact, the youngest is with our father today, and one is no more." 14 But Joseph said to them, "It is as I spoke to you, namely, 'You are spies!' 15 In this manner you shall be manifested: By the life of Pharaoh, you shall not leave this place unless your youngest brother comes here. 16 Send one of you, and let him bring your brother; and you shall be kept in prison, that your words may be tested to see whether there is any truth in you; or else, by the life of Pharaoh, surely you are spies."
17 So he put them all together in prison three days.

18 Then Joseph said to them the third day, "Do this and live, for I fear God.
19 If you are men of peace, let one of your brothers be confined to your prison house; but you, go and carry grain for the famine of your houses. 20 But bring your youngest brother to me; so your words will be verified, and you shall not die." So they did so. 21 Then they said to one another, "We are truly guilty concerning our brother, for we saw the anguish of his soul when he pleaded with us, and we would not hear; therefore this distress has come upon us." 22 Reuben then answered them, saying, "Did I not speak to you, saying, 'Do not sin against the boy,' but you would not listen? Therefore, behold, his blood is now required of us.” [23]But they did not know Joseph understood them, for he spoke to them through an interpreter.

[24]Then Joseph turned himself away from them and wept. So he returned to them again, and talked with them; and took Simeon from them, and bound him before their eyes. [25]Joseph then gave a command to fill their sacks with grain, to restore every man’s money to his sack, and to give them provisions for the journey. Thus he did for them.

The Brothers Depart for Canaan

[26]So they loaded their donkeys with the grain and departed from there. [27]But as one of them opened his sack to give his donkey feed at the encampment, he saw his money; and there it was, in the mouth of his sack. [28]So he said to his brothers, “My money has been returned to me, and there it is, in my sack.” Then their hearts failed them, and they were afraid, saying to one another, “What is this God has done to us?”

[29]Then they went to Jacob their father in the land of Canaan and told him all that happened to them, saying, [30]“The man who is lord of the land spoke roughly to us, and took us for spies of the country. [31]But we said to him, ‘We are men of peace; we are not spies. [32]We are twelve brothers, sons of our father; one is no more, and the youngest is with our father this day in the land of Canaan.’ [33]Then the man, the lord of the country, said to us, ‘By this I will know you are men of peace: leave one of your brothers here with me, take food for your households, and be gone. [34]Now, bring your youngest brother to me; then I shall know you are not spies, but men of peace. I will then grant your brother to you, and you may trade in the land.’ ”

[35]Then it happened as they emptied their sacks, that surprisingly each man’s bundle of money was in his sack; and when they and their father saw the bundles of money, they were afraid. [36]So Jacob their father said to them, “You have bereaved me: Joseph is no more; Simeon is no more; and you want to take Benjamin. All these things are against me.” [37]Then Reuben spoke to his father, saying, “Kill my two sons if I do not bring him back to you; put him in my hands, and I will bring him back to you.” [38]But he said, “My son shall not go down with you, for his brother is dead, and he is left alone. If any calamity should befall him along the way in which you go, then you would bring down my gray hair with sorrow to the grave.”

Genesis 43

Joseph's Brothers Return to Egypt with Benjamin

1 Now the famine was severe in the land. 2 So it came to pass, when they had eaten the grain they brought from Egypt, their father said to them, "Go back, and buy us a little food." 3 But Judah spoke to him, saying, "The man solemnly warned us, saying, 'You shall not see my face unless your brother is with you.' 4 If you send our brother with us, we will go down and buy you food. 5 But if you will not send him, we will not go down; for the man said to us, 'You shall not see my face unless your brother is with you.' "

6 Then Israel said, "Why did you deal so wrongfully with me as to tell the man whether you had yet another brother?" 7 But they said, "The man asked us pointedly about ourselves and our family, saying, 'Is your father still alive? Have you another brother?' Thus we replied to him according to these words. Could we possibly have known he would say, 'Bring your brother down'?" 8 Then Judah said to Israel his father, "Send the lad with me, and we will arise and go, that we may live and not die, both we and you and all we have. 9 I myself will be surety for him; from my hand you shall require him. If I do not bring him back to you and set him before you, then let me bear the blame all my days. 10 For if we had not lingered, surely by now we would have returned this second time."

11 Then their father Israel said to them, "If it must be so, then do this: take some of the best fruits of the land in your vessels and carry down a present for the man—a little balm and a little honey, spices and myrrh, pistachio nuts and almonds. 12 Take double money in your hand, and take back in your hand the money returned in the mouth of your sacks; perhaps it was an oversight.
13 Take your brother also, and arise, go back to the man. 14 May God give you grace before the man, that he may release your other brother and Benjamin. If I am bereaved, I am bereaved."

15 So the men took that present and Benjamin, and they took double money in their hand, and arose and went down to Egypt; and they stood before Joseph. 16 When Joseph saw Benjamin, his brother by the same mother, with them, he said to the steward of his house, "Take these men to my home, and slaughter an animal and make ready; for these men will dine with me at noon." 17 Then the man did as Joseph ordered, and the man brought the men into Joseph's house.

18 Now the men were afraid because they were brought into Joseph's house, and they said, "It is because of the money returned to our sacks the first time, that we are brought here to make a case against us and fall upon us, to take us as slaves with our donkeys." 19 When they drew near to the steward of Joseph's house, they talked with him at the door of the house, 20 saying, "We entreat you, my lord, we indeed came down the first time to buy food; 21 but it happened, when we came to the encampment, that we opened our sacks, and there to our surprise, each man's money was in the mouth of his sack, our money in full weight; so we have brought it back in our hand. 22 And we have brought down other money in our hands to buy food. We do not know who put the money in our sacks." 23 But he said, "Mercy be on you; do not be afraid. Your God and the God of your father has given you treasure in your sacks; and I am receiving your genuine money as full payment." Then he brought Simeon out to them.

24 So the man brought the men into Joseph's house and gave them water, and they washed their feet; and he gave their donkeys feed. 25 Then they made the present ready for Joseph's coming at noon, for they heard he would eat bread there. 26 Thus when Joseph came home, they brought the present in their hand to him in the house, and bowed down before him to the earth.
27 Then he asked them about their well-being, and said, "Is your father well, the old man of whom you spoke? Is he still alive?" 28 So they answered,
"Your servant our father is in good health; he is still alive." Then he said,
"Blessed be that man in God"; and they bowed their heads down and prostrated themselves.

29 Then Joseph lifted his eyes and saw his brother Benjamin, his mother's son, and said, "Is this your younger brother you said you would bring to me?"
So he said, "May God grant you mercy, my son." 30 Now his heart yearned for his brother; so Joseph made haste and sought somewhere to weep. Then he went into his inner chamber and wept there. 31 He then washed his face and came out; and he composed himself, and said, "Serve the bread." 32 So they set him a place by himself, and them by themselves, and the Egyptians who ate with him by themselves; because the Egyptians could not eat food with the Hebrews, for that is an abomination to the Egyptians. 33 Now they sat before him, the firstborn according to his birthright and the youngest according to his youth; and the men looked in astonishment at one another.
34 Then he took servings to them from before him, but Benjamin's serving was five times as much as any of theirs. So they drank and were merry with him.

Genesis 44

Joseph's Stolen Cup

[1]Now Joseph commanded the steward of his house, saying, "Fill the men's sacks with food, as much as they can carry, and put each man's money in the mouth of his sack. [2]Also put my cup, the silver cup, in the mouth of the sack of the youngest, and his grain money." So he did according to the word Joseph had spoken. [3]As soon as the morning dawned, the men were sent away, they and their donkeys. [4]When they had gone out of the city, and were not yet far off, Joseph said to his steward, "Get up, follow the men; and when you overtake them, say to them, 'Why have you repaid evil for good? [5]Why have you stolen my silver cup? Is not this the cup from which my lord drinks, and with which he indeed practices divination? You have done evil in so doing.' "

[6]So he overtook them, and he spoke to them these same words. [7]But they said to him, "Why does my lord say these words? Far be it from us that your servants should do such a thing. [8]Look, we brought back to you from the land of Canaan the money we found in the mouth of our sacks. How then could we steal silver or gold from your lord's house? [9]With whomever of your servants it is found, let him die, and we also will be my lord's servants." [10]Then he replied, "Now as you say, so it will be; he with whom it is found shall be my servant, and you shall be blameless." [11]Then each man speedily let down his sack to the ground, and each opened his sack. [12]So he searched the oldest and left off with the youngest; and the cup was found in Benjamin's sack. [13]Then they tore their clothes, and each man loaded his donkey and returned to the city.

[14]So Judah and his brothers came to Joseph's house, and he was still there; and they fell before him on the ground. [15]Thus Joseph said to them, "What is this thing you have done? Did you not know that such a man as I can certainly practice divination?" [16]Then Judah said, "What shall we say to my lord? What shall we speak? Or how shall we clear ourselves? God has found out the wrongdoing of your servants; here we are, my lord's slaves, both we and he also with whom the cup was found." [17]But Joseph said, "Far be it from me that I should do so; the man in whose hand the cup was found, he shall be my servant. And as for you, go up in peace to your father."

Judah Speaks Up for Benjamin

18Then Judah came near to him and said, "O my lord, let your servant speak a word in my lord's hearing, and do not let your anger burn against your servant; for you are even like Pharaoh. 19My lord asked his servants, saying, 'Have you a father or a brother?' 20Then we said to my lord, 'We have a father, an old man, and a child of his old age, who is young; his brother is dead, and he alone is left of his mother's children, and his father loves him.' 21Then you said to your servants, 'Bring him down to me, that I may set my eyes on him.' 22But we said to my lord, 'The lad cannot leave his father, for if he should leave his father, his father would die.' 23But you said to your servants, 'Unless your youngest brother comes down with you, you shall see my face no more.' 24"So it was, when we went up to your servant my father, that we told him the words of my lord. 25And our father said, 'Go back and buy us a little food.' 26But we said, 'We cannot go down; if our youngest brother is with us, then we will go down; for we may not see the man's face unless our youngest brother is with us.' 27Then your servant our father said to us, 'You know my wife bore me two sons; 28and the one went out from me, and I said, "Surely he was eaten by a wild animal"; and I have not seen him since. 29But if you take this one also from me, and calamity befalls him, you shall bring down my gray hair with sorrow to the grave.' 30Now therefore, when I come to your servant our father, and the lad is not with us, since his life is bound up in the lad's life, 31it will happen, when he sees the lad is not with us, he will die.
So your servants will bring down the gray hair of your servant our father with sorrow to the grave. 32For your servant became surety for the lad to my father, saying, 'If I do not bring him back to you, then I shall bear the blame before my father all my days.' 33Now therefore, let your servant remain instead of the lad as a servant to my lord, and let the lad go up with his brothers. 34For how shall I go up to my father if the lad is not with me, lest perhaps I see the evil that would come upon my father?"

Genesis 45

Joseph Reveals Himself to His Brothers

[1]Now Joseph could not restrain himself before all those who stood by him, and he cried out, “Make everyone go out from me!” So no one stood with him while Joseph made himself known to his brothers. [2]Then he wept aloud, and the Egyptians and the house of Pharaoh heard it. [3]Joseph then said to his brothers, “I am Joseph; does my father still live?” But his brothers could not answer him, for they were stunned in his presence.

[4]But Joseph said to his brothers, “Come near to me.” So they came near.
Then he said, “I am Joseph your brother, whom you sold into Egypt. [5]Now therefore, do not be grieved or angry with yourselves because you sold me here; for God sent me before you to save life. [6]For this is the second year of famine in the land, and five years still remain in which there will be neither plowing nor harvesting. [7]For God sent me before you to preserve you as a remnant on the earth, and to sustain you as a great remnant. [8]So now, it was not you who sent me here, but God; and He made me a father to Pharaoh, and lord of all his house, and ruler throughout all the land of Egypt.

[9]“Hurry then and go up to my father, and say to him, ‘Thus says your son Joseph, “God made me lord of all Egypt; come down to me, do not tarry.
[10]You shall dwell in the land of Goshen, and you shall be near to me, you and your children, your children’s children, your sheep and oxen, and all you have. [11]There I will provide for you, lest you and your household, and all you have, come to poverty; for five years of famine still remain.’ ” [12]And behold, your eyes and the eyes of my brother Benjamin see it is my mouth that speaks to you. [13]Therefore, you shall tell my father of all my glory in Egypt, and of all you have seen; and you shall hurry and bring my father down here.” [14]Then he fell on his brother Benjamin’s neck and wept, and Benjamin wept on his neck. [15]Moreover he kissed all his brothers and wept over them, and after this his brothers talked with him.

[16]Now the report of it was heard in Pharaoh’s house, saying, “Joseph’s brothers have come.” So it pleased Pharaoh and his servants well. [17]So Pharaoh said to Joseph, “Say to your brothers, ‘Do this, load your conveyances and depart; go to the land of Canaan. [18]Bring your father and your households and come to me; I will give you the best of the land of Egypt, and you will eat the fat of the land. [19]Now you are commanded—do this, take carts out of the land of Egypt for your little ones and your wives;
bring your father and come. [20]Also do not be concerned about your goods, for the best of all the land of Egypt is yours.’ ”

[21]Thus the sons of Israel did so; and Joseph gave them carts, according to the command of Pharaoh, and he gave them provisions for the journey. 22He gave to all of them, to each man, two changes of garments; but to Benjamin he gave three hundred pieces of gold and five changes of exceptionally fine garments. 23He also sent to his father these things: ten donkeys loaded with the good things of Egypt, and ten mules loaded with grain, bread, and food for his father for the journey. 24So he sent his brothers away, and they departed; and he said to them, “See that you do not become angry with each other along the way.”

25Then they went up out of Egypt, and came to the land of Canaan to Jacob their father. 26Thus they told him, saying, “Joseph your son is still alive, and he is ruler over all the land of Egypt.” But Jacob’s mind was completely stunned, for he could not believe them. 27But when they told him all the words Joseph had said to them, and when he saw the carts Joseph had sent to carry him, the spirit of Jacob their father revived. 28Then Israel said, “It is a great thing to me that my son Joseph is still alive. I will go and see him before I die.”

Genesis 46

Jacob Journeys to Egypt

1Now Israel took his journey with all he had, and came to the Well of Oath, and offered a sacrifice to the God of his father Isaac. 2Then God spoke to Israel in a vision of the night, and said, “Jacob, Jacob!” So he said, “Here I am.” 3So God said to him, “I am the God of your fathers; do not fear to go down to Egypt, for I will make of you a great nation there. 4I will go down with you to Egypt, and I will also surely bring you up again, and Joseph will put his hand on your eyes.” 5Then Jacob arose from the Well of Oath, and the sons of Israel carried their father Jacob, their baggage, and their wives in the carts Pharaoh had sent to carry him. 6So they took their livestock and their goods which they had acquired in the land of Canaan and went to Egypt, Jacob and all his seed with him. 7His sons and his sons’ sons, his daughters and his sons’ daughters, and all his seed he brought with him to Egypt.

8Now these were the names of the children of Israel, Jacob and his sons, who went to Egypt: Reuben was Jacob’s firstborn. 9The sons of Reuben were Enoch, Pallu, Hezron, and Carmi. 10The sons of Simeon were Jemuel, Jamin, Ohad, Jachin, Zohar, and Shaul, the son of a Canaanite woman. 11The sons of Levi were Gershon, Kohath, and Merari. [12]The sons of Judah were Er, Onan, Shelah, Perez, and Zerah (but Er and Onan died in the land of Canaan). The sons of Perez were Hezron and Hamul. [13]The sons of Issachar were Tola, Puvah, Job, and Shimron. [14]The sons of Zebulun were Sered, Elon, and Jahleel. [15]These were the sons of Leah, whom she bore to Jacob in Mesopotamia of Syria, and his daughter Dinah. All the souls, his sons and his daughters, were thirty-three.

[16]The sons of Gad were Ziphion, Haggi, Shuni, Ezbon, Eri, Arodi, and Areli. [17]The sons of Asher were Jimnah, Ishuah, Isui, Beriah, and Serah, their sister; and the sons of Beriah were Heber and Malchiel. [18]These were the sons of Zilpah, whom Laban gave to Leah his daughter; and these she bore to Jacob: sixteen souls. [19]The sons of Rachel, Jacob's wife, were Joseph and Benjamin. [20]Also, to Joseph in the land of Egypt were born Manasseh and Ephraim, whom Asenath, the daughter of Poti-Pherah priest of On, bore to him. Sons were also born to Manasseh: Machir, whom his Syrian concubine bore to him; and Machir begot Gilead. Also, the sons of Ephraim, Manasseh's brother, were Shuthelah and Tahan. [21]The sons of Benjamin were Belah, Becher, Ashbel, and the sons of Belah were Gera, Naaman, Ehi, Rosh, Muppim, Huppim; and Gera begot Ard. [22]These were the sons of Rachel, who were born to Jacob: all the souls were eighteen. [23]The son of Dan was Hushim. [24]The sons of Naphtali were Jahzeel, Guni, Jezer, and Shillem. [25]These were the sons of Bilhah, whom Laban gave to Rachel his daughter, and she bore these to Jacob: seven souls in all. [26]All the souls who went with Jacob to Egypt, who came from his loins, besides Jacob's sons' wives, were sixty-six souls in all. [27]The sons of Joseph born to him in the land of Egypt were nine. Thus all the souls of Jacob's house who went to Egypt were seventy-five.

Joseph Meets Jacob in Goshen

[28]Now he sent Judah before him to Joseph, that he might meet him in Goshen in the land of Rameses. [29]So Joseph made ready his chariot and went up to Goshen to meet his father Israel; and he presented himself to him, and fell on his neck and wept a good while.

[30]Then Israel said to Joseph, "Now let me die in peace, since I have seen your face, because you are still alive." [31]Joseph then said to his brothers, "I will go up and tell Pharaoh, and say to him, 'My brothers and those of my father's house, who were in the land of Canaan, have come to me. [32]But the men are shepherds, for they are pastoral men; and they have brought their flocks, their herds, and all they have.’ 33So it shall be, when Pharaoh calls you and says, ‘What is your occupation?’ 34that you shall say, ‘Your servants are pastoral men from our youth even till now, both we and also our fathers,’ that you may dwell in the land of Goshen in Arabia; for every shepherd is an abomination to the Egyptians.”

Genesis 47

1Now Joseph went and told Pharaoh, and said, “My father and my brothers, their flocks and their herds and all they possess, have come from the land of Canaan; and indeed, they are in the land of Goshen.” 2So he took five men from among his brothers and presented them to Pharaoh. 3Then Pharaoh said to Joseph’s brothers, “What is your occupation?” So they said to Pharaoh, “Your servants are shepherds, both we and our fathers.” 4They also said to Pharaoh, “We have come to dwell in the land, because your servants have no pasture for their cattle, for the famine is severe in the land of Canaan. Now therefore, let your servants dwell in the land of Goshen.” 5Then Pharaoh spoke to Joseph, saying, “Let them dwell in the land of Goshen, and if you know of capable men among them, make them overseers of my cattle.”

Thus Jacob and his sons came to Egypt, and Pharaoh king of Egypt heard about it. So Pharaoh spoke to Joseph, saying, “Your father and your brothers have come to you. 6The land of Egypt is before you. Have your father and brothers dwell in the best of the land.” 7Then Joseph brought in his father Jacob and set him before Pharaoh; and Jacob blessed Pharaoh. 8Pharaoh said to Jacob, “How old are you?” 9Jacob said to Pharaoh, “The days of the years of my sojourn are one hundred and thirty years; few and evil have they been; but they have not attained to the days and years of my father’s sojourn in life.”

10So Jacob blessed Pharaoh, and went out from before him. 11Thus Joseph settled his father and brothers, and gave them a possession in the land of Egypt, in the best of the land, in the land of Rameses, as Pharaoh commanded. 12Then Joseph provided his father, his brothers, and all his father’s household with bread, according to the number of individual persons.

Joseph Confronts the Famine

[13]Now there was no food in all the land; for the famine was very severe; and both the land of Egypt and the land of Canaan were devastated by the famine. [14]So Joseph gathered up all the money found in the land of Egypt and in the land of Canaan, for the grain they bought and all he doled out to them; and Joseph brought the money into Pharaoh's house. [15]Thus when the money ran out in the land of Egypt and in the land of Canaan, all the Egyptians came to Joseph and said, "Give us bread, for why should we die in your presence? For our money has run out." [16]Then Joseph said, "Bring your cattle, and I will give you bread for them, if your money has run out." [17]So they brought their cattle to Joseph, and he gave them bread in exchange for their horses, sheep, oxen, and donkeys. Thus he fed them with bread that year in exchange for all their cattle.

[18]When that year ended, they came to him the next year and said to him, "We will not hide from my lord that our money has run out; and my lord also has our possessions and cattle. There is nothing left in the sight of my lord but our bodies and our lands. [19]Why should we die therefore before your eyes, both we and our land? Buy us and our land for bread, and we and our land will be servants of Pharaoh; give us seed, that we may live and not die, that the land may not be desolate."

[20]So Joseph bought all the land of the Egyptians for Pharaoh; for every man of the Egyptians sold his land to Pharaoh, because the famine was severe upon them. Thus the land became Pharaoh's. [21]Now as for the people, he moved them into the cities, from one end of the borders of Egypt to the other. [22]Only the land of the priests he did not buy; for the priests had rations allotted to them by Pharaoh, and they ate their rations Pharaoh gave them; therefore they did not sell their land. [23]Then Joseph said to all the Egyptians, "Indeed, I have bought you and your land this day for Pharaoh. Look, here is seed for you, and you shall sow the land. [24]Then it shall come to pass in the harvest that you shall give one-fifth to Pharaoh. Four-fifths shall be your own, as seed for the field and for your food, for those of your households." [25]So they said, "You have saved our lives; let us find grace in the sight of my lord, and we will be Pharaoh's servants." [26]Then Joseph made it a law over the land of Egypt to this day, that Pharaoh should have one-fifth, except for the land of the priests only, which did not become Pharaoh's.

Joseph's Promise to Jacob

[27]So Israel dwelt in the land of Egypt, in the land of Goshen; and they acquired possessions there and increased and multiplied exceedingly. 28Now Jacob lived in the land of Egypt seventeen years. So the length of Jacob's life was one hundred and forty-seven years. 29Thus when the time drew near for Jacob to die, he called his son Joseph and said to him, "If I have found grace in your sight, put your hand under my thigh, and deal with me in mercy and truth. Do not bury me in Egypt, 30but let me lie with my fathers; you shall carry me out of Egypt and bury me in their burial place." So he said, "I will do as you say." 31Then he said, "Swear to me." And he swore to him. So Israel bowed himself on the top of his staff.

Genesis 48

Jacob Blesses His Grandsons

1Now it came to pass after these things that Joseph was told, "Indeed your father is sick"; and he took with him his two sons, Manasseh and Ephraim, and went to Jacob. 2Thus Jacob was told, "Look, your son Joseph is coming to you"; and Israel strengthened himself and sat up on the bed. 3Then Jacob said to Joseph, "My God appeared to me at Luz in the land of Canaan and blessed me 4and said to me, 'Behold, I will increase and multiply you; and I will make of you a gathering of nations, and give this land to your seed after you as an everlasting possession.'

5"Now therefore, your two sons, Ephraim and Manasseh, who were born to you in the land of Egypt before I came to you in Egypt, are mine; as Reuben and Simeon, they shall be mine. 6Your offspring whom you beget after them shall take possession of their inheritances within the tribes of their brothers. 7But as for me, when I came from Mesopotamia of Syria, Rachel died beside me in the land of Canaan on the way, when there was but a little distance to go to Ephrath; and I buried her there on the way to Ephrath" (that is, Bethlehem).

8Then Israel saw Joseph's sons, and said, "Who are these with you?" 9So Joseph said to his father, "They are my sons God gave me here." Jacob then said, "Bring them to me that I may bless them." 10Now the eyes of Israel were dim by reason of old age, and he could not see. Then Joseph brought them near him, and he kissed and embraced them. 11Then Israel said to Joseph, "I had not thought to see your face; but in fact, God has also shown me your seed." 12So Joseph brought them from beside his knees, and they bowed down with their face to the ground.

13Then Joseph took them both, Ephraim with his right hand toward Israel's left hand, and Manasseh with his left hand toward Israel's right hand, and brought them near him. 14Thus Israel stretched out his right hand and laid it on Ephraim's head, who was the younger, and his left hand on Manasseh's head, guiding his hands knowingly, for Manasseh was the firstborn. 15Then he blessed them and said:

> "God, before whom my fathers Abraham and Isaac were > well-pleasing,
> The God who has fed me all my life long to this day, > 16The Angel who redeemed me from all evil,
> Bless these lads;
> Let my name be named upon them,
> And the name of my fathers Abraham and Isaac;
> And let them grow into a great multitude in the midst of the > earth."

17Now when Joseph saw his father put his right hand on the head of Ephraim, it displeased him; so he took hold of his father's hand to remove it from Ephraim's head to Manasseh's head. 18So Joseph said to his father, "Not so, my father, for this one is the firstborn; put your right hand on his head." 19But his father refused and said, "I know, my son, I know. He also shall become a people, and he also shall be exalted; but truly, his younger brother shall be greater than he, and his seed shall become a multitude of nations."

20So he blessed them that day, saying, "By you Israel will be blessed, saying, 'May God make you as Ephraim and as Manasseh.' " Thus he set Ephraim before Manasseh. 21Then Israel said to Joseph, "Behold, I am about to die, but God will be with you and bring you back to the land of your fathers. 22Moreover I have given to you one portion above your brothers; I am giving you Shechem, which I took from the hand of the Amorites with my sword and bow."

Genesis 49

Jacob's Final Words to His Sons

1Now Jacob called his sons and said, "Gather together, that I may tell you what shall befall you in the last days:

2 “Gather together and hear, you sons of Jacob,
And listen to Israel your father.

3 “Reuben, you are my firstborn,
My might and the beginning of my children;
You are hard to bear;
You are hardened in your self-will.
4 Unstable as water in your insolence,
You went up to your father’s bed;
Then you defiled it.

5 “Simeon and Levi are brothers;
They accomplished their injustice from their free choice.
6 Let not my soul enter their council;
Let not my honor be united to their assembly;
For in their anger they slew a man,
And in their self-will they hamstrung an ox.
7 Cursed be their anger, for it was self-willed;
And their wrath, for it was hardened.
I will divide them in Jacob,
And scatter them in Israel.

8 “Judah, you are he whom your brothers shall praise;
Your hand shall be on the neck of your enemies;
Your father’s sons shall bow down before you.
9 Judah is a lion’s cub;
From being a shoot, my son, you have grown up.
He bows down, and slept as a lion and a cub;
And who shall rouse him?
10 The scepter shall not depart from Judah,
Nor a lawgiver from his loins,
Until Shiloh comes;
And to Him shall be the expectation of the nations.
11 Binding his colt to a vine,
And his donkey’s colt to its branch,
He will wash his garments in wine,

And his clothes in the blood of grapes.
12His eyes are gladdened from the wine,
And his teeth are whiter than milk.

13“Zebulun shall dwell by the seacoast;
He shall be near a haven for ships,
And his border shall adjoin Sidon.

14“Issachar. desired what was good,
Resting between the inheritances;
15And seeing his resting place was good
And the land was fertile,
He set his shoulder to hard work,
And became a farmer.

16“Dan shall judge his own people
As one of the tribes of Israel.
17Dan shall be a serpent by the way,
A viper lying in ambush by the path,
That bites the horse’s heels,
That its rider may fall backward,
18Waiting for the Lord’s salvation.

19“As for Gad, a raider gang shall raid him,
But he shall raid them in close pursuit.

20“As for Asher, his food shall be abundant,
And he will furnish dainties for rulers.

21“Naphtali is a spreading stem,
Bestowing beauty by its produce.

22“Joseph is a grown-up son,
A grown-up son that was envied.
Oh my youngest son, return to me.
23They devised evil plans against him and reviled him,
And the archers were taking aim at him.
24But their bows were broken by force,

And the sinews of the arms of their hands were enfeebled
On account of the hand of the Mighty One of Jacob.
Thence, he who strengthened Israel
25 Is from the God of your father,
And my God has helped you and blessed you
With a blessing from heaven above
And with a blessing of the earth containing everything.
By reason of the blessing of breasts and the womb,
26 He made the blessings of your father and mother
Stronger than the blessings of stable mountains and everlasting hills.
They shall be on the head of Joseph
And on the crown of the brothers he led.

27 "Benjamin is a ravenous wolf;
In the morning he will still be eating,
And in the evening he will provide food."

The Death and Burial of Jacob

28 All these are the twelve sons of Israel, and this is what their father spoke to them and blessed them; and he blessed each one according to his own blessing. 29 Then he charged them and said to them, "I am to be added to my people; bury me with my fathers in the cave in the field of Ephron the Hittite, 30 opposite Mamre in the land of Canaan, which Abraham bought from Ephron the Hittite as a possession for a burial place. 31 There they buried Abraham and Sarah his wife; there they buried Isaac and Rebekah his wife, and there I buried Leah. 32 The field and the cave there were purchased from the sons of Heth." 33 Thus when Jacob finished commanding his sons, he drew his feet up into the bed and breathed his last, and was added to his people.

Genesis 50

1 Now Joseph fell on his father's face and wept over him, and kissed him. 2 Then Joseph commanded his servants the physicians to embalm his father. So the physicians embalmed Israel. 3 Forty days were required for him, for such are the days required for those embalmed; and the Egyptians mourned for him seventy days.

4So when the days of his mourning were past, Joseph spoke to the princes of Pharaoh, saying, “If now I have found grace in your sight, speak in the hearing of Pharaoh, saying, 5‘My father made me swear, saying, “Behold, in the grave I dug for myself in the land of Canaan, there you shall bury me.” Now therefore, let me go up and bury my father, and I will come back.’ ” 6Then Pharaoh said, “Go up and bury your father, as he made you swear.”

7So Joseph went up to bury his father; and with him went up all the servants of Pharaoh, the elders of his house, and all the elders of the land of Egypt, 8as well as all the house of Joseph, his brothers, and his father’s house. Only their sheep and oxen they left in the land of Goshen. 9There also went up with him both chariots and horses, and it was a very great gathering. 10Then they came to the threshing floor of Atad, which is beyond the Jordan, and they mourned there with a great and very solemn lamentation. He observed seven days of mourning for his father.

11So when the inhabitants of the land of Canaan saw the mourning at the threshing floor of Atad, they said, “This is a deep mourning of the Egyptians.” Therefore its name was called the Mourning of Egypt, which is beyond the Jordan. 12Thus his sons did for him just as he commanded them. 13For his sons carried him to the land of Canaan, and buried him in the cave of the field of Machpelah, opposite Mamre, which Abraham bought from Ephron the Hittite as property for a burial place. 14After he buried his father, Joseph returned to Egypt, he and his brothers and all who went up with him to bury his father.

Joseph Comforts His Brothers

15When Joseph’s brothers saw their father was dead, they said, “Perhaps Joseph will hate us, and may actually repay us for all the evil we did to him.” 16So they came to Joseph, saying, “Before your father died he commanded, saying, 17‘Thus you shall say to Joseph, “I beg you, forgive the injustice of your brothers and their sin; for they did evil to you.’ ” Now, forgive the injustice of the servants of the God of your father.” And Joseph wept when they spoke to him. 18Then his brothers also went and fell down before his face, and they said, “Behold, we are your servants.”

19So Joseph said to them, “Do not be afraid, for I belong to God. 20But as for you, you meant evil against me; but God meant it for good, in order to bring it about as it is this day, to save many people alive. 21Now therefore, do not be afraid; I will provide for you and your households." Thus he comforted them and spoke to their heart.

Joseph Dies in Egypt

22So Joseph dwelt in Egypt, he and his brothers. Then Joseph lived one hundred and ten years. 23Joseph saw Ephraim's children to the third generation and the children of Machir, the son of Manasseh, were also brought up on Joseph's knees. 24Then Joseph said to his brethren, "I am about to die; but God will surely visit you, and bring you out of this land to the land God swore to our fathers, Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob." 25Thus Joseph took an oath from the children of Israel, saying, "God will surely visit you, and you shall carry up my bones from here." 26So Joseph died, being one hundred and ten years old; and they embalmed him, and put him in a coffin in Egypt.

Annotations for Genesis

1:1 God the Father made heaven and earth. “I believe in one God the Father Almighty, Maker of heaven and earth” (Creed).

🕮 1:1–3 This passage is read during Vespers on Great and Holy Saturday.

🕮 1:1–13 This passage is read during Monday Vespers in the first week of Great Lent. It is also read on the Eve of the Feast of the Nativity, during Vespers at the Feast of Theophany (Epiphany), and at Vespers for Great and Holy Saturday.

1:2 The Spirit of God is the Holy Spirit (BasilG; EphS). He proceeds from the Father, and is “the Lord and Giver of Life” (Creed). Since He is Lord, He is coequal with the Father, and is His Coworker in making heaven and earth.

1:3 God the Father spoke to His Word and Only-begotten Son, through whom He made the light (AthanG). Since the Son, too, is Lord, He is coequal with the Father, and is His Coworker in making heaven and earth.

The Holy Fathers teach that the Father made heaven and earth through the Son and in the Holy Spirit. Thus, the Holy Trinity made heaven and earth, and the Church sings, “We glorify the Father, we exalt the Son, and we worship the Holy Spirit—the indivisible Trinity who exists as One—the Light and Lights, the Life and Lives, who grants light and life to the ends of the world” (CanonAnd).

1:4–25 Since the Father and the Son and the Holy Spirit made heaven and earth, They also made everything mentioned in these verses.

🕮 1:14–23 This passage is read during Tuesday Vespers in the first week of Great Lent.

🕮 1:24—2:3 This passage is read during Wednesday Vespers in the first week of Great Lent.

1:26–30 The Holy Trinity also made man. God the Father is speaking to God the Son (JohnChr), and He uses the personal pronouns Us and Our. These pronouns indicate three distinct Persons: the Father, the Son, and the Holy Spirit, as noted in 1:1–3.

The word image is in the singular, and shows the three distinct Persons of the Holy Trinity are one in nature and undivided. For it does not say, “Our images” (HilryP). Therefore, the Holy Trinity is one undivided nature in three distinct Persons.

Man is not one in nature with the Holy Trinity. But He was made in the image and likeness of the Holy Trinity; and he was made male and female. Therefore, the dignity of each man and each woman is this image and likeness.

1:31 Everything God made, including man, is very good, because God is good. Nothing He made is therefore evil in itself. So then, human nature is good in itself. But sin is a free choice of man’s will, and it is contrary both to God’s nature and human nature.

Creation

“We believe in one God, the Father Almighty, Maker of Heaven and Earth, and of all things visible and invisible.” These opening words of the Nicene Creed, the central doctrinal statement of Christianity, affirm that the One True God is the source of everything that exists—both physical and spiritual, both animate and inanimate. The Holy Scriptures begin with a similarly striking assertion: “In the beginning God made heaven and earth.” St. Basil the Great declares:

> In the fear that human reasonings may make you wander from the truth, Moses has anticipated inquiry by engraving in our hearts, as a seal and a safeguard, the awesome

> name of God: ‘In the beginning God created.’ It is He—beneficent Nature, Goodness without measure, a worthy object of love for all beings endowed with reason, the beauty the most to be desired, the origin of all that exists . . .—it is He who ‘in the beginning created heaven and earth.’

The ever-existent Almighty God was not forced to create the universe. Rather, in His goodness and lovingkindness, He freely chose to do so. And the fact that the Lord created the universe out of nothing stands in clear contrast to the creation myths of the surrounding cultures in the ancient world.

The central role of Jesus Christ, the Word of the Father, in the creation of all things is plainly stated in the first chapter of the apostle John’s gospel, where it is written, “In the beginning was the Word, . . . All things were made through Him, and without Him nothing was made that was made.” And the specific role of the Holy Spirit, the Third Person of the Undivided Trinity, in the creation of the world is seen in Genesis 1:2 (see also Ps 103:30; 32:6).

Regarding questions about the scientific accuracy of the Genesis account of creation, and about various viewpoints concerning evolution, the Orthodox Church has not dogmatized any particular view. What is dogmatically proclaimed is that the One Triune God created everything that exists, and that man was created in a unique way and is alone made in the image and likeness of God (Gn 1:26, 27). The Church Fathers also consistently affirm that each species of the animate creation came into existence instantaneously, at the command of God, with its seed within itself.

The development of life was not by accident. Rather, Supreme Intelligence and Impenetrable Wisdom were at work in the creation and sustenance of all that exists. In discussing various scientific theories of his day, St. Basil the Great declared, “If there is anything in this [or any other] system which seems probable to you, keep your admiration for the source of such perfect order—the wisdom of God.” He also wrote, “We must still remain faithful to the principle of true religion and recognize that all that exists is sustained by the Creator’s power.”

The repeated affirmation “and God saw that it was good” in Genesis 1 underscores the intrinsic, fundamental goodness of matter and the whole created order, even after the Fall. This understanding is the basis for a sacramental world-view—that the created order not only is good, but also can be a means for communion with God, by virtue of being created by the All-Good God. Moreover, the astounding beauty, intricate order, and sublime harmony of all aspects of Creation, as well as the tremendously vast expanse of the universe, are intended to draw mankind to an awareness of and appreciation for the Creator, and to the worship of Him—and Him alone (see Ps 18:1–4; Rom 1:20).

2:1–3 God finished the making of heaven and earth for man’s sake. He rested from His creative activity on the seventh day to show His love and providential care for man, and to invite man to enjoy this Sabbath-rest. For as Jesus said, “The Sabbath was made for man, and not man for the Sabbath” (Mk 2:27).

Man failed to keep this Sabbath-rest. But Jesus fulfilled it for man by resting in the tomb on Great and Holy Saturday, after He said on the cross, “It is finished” (Jn 19:30). For He destroyed sin and death, and rose again on the first day of the week. Through His saving work on man’s behalf, He is man’s Sabbath-rest, and He now invites all to find rest in Himself (Mt 11:28–30).

2:4 Here the Book of Genesis refers to itself by name.

🕮 2:4–19 This passage is read during Thursday Vespers in the first week of Great Lent.

2:7 God formed Adam’s body out of dust from the ground. The breath of life is the grace of the Holy Spirit, the Giver of Life (the Creed). God breathed the breath of life into man’s body, and he became a living soul. Therefore, Adam was a living soul because he possessed a body, a soul, and the grace of the Holy Spirit.

After He rose from the dead, Jesus breathed on His disciples, and said, “Receive the Holy Spirit” (Jn 20:22). For man failed to keep the grace of the Spirit, but through His Resurrection Jesus supplies His disciples abundantly with the life-giving grace of the Spirit. A disciple’s responsibility is to live by this grace.

2:8–17 God gave man a place and a law (AthanG). The place was Paradise, and the law was the commandment given in 2:16, 17. Man was to obey this commandment through the grace of God the Word. If he was obedient, he would enjoy the blessings of Paradise. But if he were to disobey the commandment, he would die and his body would decay in the grave (“die by death,” AthanG).

2:18–25 God, not man, established the law of marriage; therefore, marriage is holy. In the marriage union, the husband and wife become one flesh (v. 24), which St. Paul calls “a great mystery” (Eph 5:32). This mystery is so great and wonderful that a man will leave his father and mother with their blessing, and be joined to a woman in marriage. In this joining, he will be devoted to her with sacrificial love and devotion, and she to him.

This great mystery points to the greater mystery: the marriage of Christ and His Bride, the Church (Eph 5:22–33). For He left His Father and became Man to seek a Bride. He loved His Bride and gave Himself for her. And in his divine vision of the new heaven and earth, the apostle John saw this Bride, the “New Jerusalem, coming down out of heaven from God, prepared as a bride adorned for her husband” (Rev 21:1, 2).

📖 2:20—3:20 This passage is read during Friday Vespers in the first week of Great Lent.

The Holy Trinity

The Holy Trinity is revealed both in the Old Testament and in the New Testament. In the Old Testament, the Trinity is revealed in subtle ways; in the New Testament, the Trinity is revealed fully and plainly, beginning at the Baptism of our Lord.

The Holy Trinity is one God in three Persons, Father, Son and Holy Spirit. These Persons are distinct, but not separate, and are not three gods. They are One God because They are one in essence or nature. The Father is the unbegotten Fountainhead of Deity. The Son is eternally begotten of the Father (Jn 1:18; 3:16; 16:28). The Holy Spirit is the Helper (Jn 14:16) and Spirit of Truth (Jn 14:17; 16:13), Who proceeds from the Father (Jn 15:26).

The Holy Trinity Created the World

Genesis 1:1—God the Father created the heavens and the earth. The Creed says: “I believe in one God, the Father Almighty, Maker of heaven and earth.”

Genesis 1:2—The Spirit of God is the Holy Spirit. He hovered over creation in creative power and equality with the Father. He co-created with the Father.

Genesis 1:3—As the Word of God, the Son made the light (Jn 1:1–3). With creative power and equality with the Father, He also co-created with the Father and the Spirit.

Genesis 1:26—The pronouns “Us” and “Our” reveal a plurality of divine Persons. These Persons are the Father, Son, and Holy Spirit operating in complete unity out of the one divine Nature.

The Holy Trinity Saves the World

Isaiah 63:16—The Father is our Redeemer. He not only created the world but redeems it as well.

Psalm 2:7, 8—The Father’s decree reveals the Son as inheriting the world. This inheritance is the people saved by the Son.

Isaiah 6:1–3—The words “Holy, Holy, Holy” declare the three Persons who save us. The name “Lord” declares the one essence of the Three.

Isaiah 44:3—The Father pours out His Spirit on people like water on dry ground. The Holy Spirit quenches the thirst of the person who thirsts for salvation.

Isaiah 48:16, 17—The Son declares that the Father and the Spirit sent Him to redeem the world. Although the Son alone became a Man, all three Persons save mankind.

The New Testament Affirms the Holy Trinity in the Old Testament

John 1:1–3—The Word is the Son of God, who was present with the Father at the beginning of creation. He was Co-worker with the Father in creating the world.

John 8:58—Jesus identifies Himself as having existed before Abraham. Before His coming in the flesh as Man, Jesus existed as the eternal Son of the Father, for He is begotten from the Father before all time and ages. He appeared to Moses in the burning bush and proclaimed Himself as "I Am" (Ex 3).

Acts 2:17—The Holy Spirit's descent at Pentecost affirms His presence in the Old Testament (Joel 3:1–5).

Hebrews 1:8–10—This Scripture affirms the Father is speaking to the Son in Psalms 44:7 and 101:26–28, in which the Father acknowledges the Son as God and Creator of the world. For the Son was the Father's Co-worker in creation.

The Incarnate Son Fully Reveals the Holy Trinity

Luke 1:35—At the Annunciation, the Holy Spirit, the "power" of God the Father ("the Highest"), overshadowed the Virgin Mary; and she gave birth to the Son of God in His flesh.

Matthew 3:16–17—When the Son of God was baptized in the Jordan by John, the Father's voice was heard from heaven, and the Holy Spirit descended on Him like a dove. As the main hymn for the Feast of Theophany says, "When You, O Lord, were baptized in the Jordan, the worship of the Trinity was made manifest."

3:1–7 The serpent is the devil (2Co 11:3; Rev 12:9), and he tempted Eve. He contradicted God's commandment (2:16, 17) by denying death and decay in the grave as the penalty for disobedience (you shall not die by death). He also tempted Eve with the promise of deification (you will be like gods, knowing good and evil). But deification comes through obedience to God, not through disobedience. Nevertheless, Eve was deceived, and thus disobeyed God. She, in turn, gave the fruit to her husband, and he ate. In his disobedience, he willed contrary to the will of God, and thus ate. His free will was the first thing to suffer in the Fall, and thus is the first thing that needs healing in man (JohnDm).

3:8 Adam and Eve now had a fallen will and tried to hide from God. Fallen man now has a fallen will, thus he has a tendency to run away from God. But the grace of Christ heals the will of those who return to Him through repentance, so they might freely pursue God and do His will.

3:15 The woman's seed is first Christ, and second His Church (Gal 3:16, 26). The serpent's seed are those who reject Christ and follow the devil (1Jn 3:8–10). Christ destroyed the devil through the cross (bruise your head).

3:17–20 Adam's disobedience cursed the ground and placed mankind under toil and labor until his end in death and decay in the grave (return to the ground). For death and decay in the grave entered the world through him (Rom 5:12).

📖 3:21—4:7 This passage is read during Monday Vespers in the second week of Great Lent.

3:24 Because of Adam, man is born outside Paradise. The tree of life prefigures Christ, through whom man regains Paradise.

Ancestral Sin

In the Old Testament account of creation, God created mankind and established a place for him called Paradise. He also gave him a commandment regarding the tree of the knowledge of good and evil: "And the Lord God commanded Adam, saying, 'You may eat food from every tree in the garden; but from the tree of the knowledge of good and evil you may not eat; for in whatever day you eat from it, you shall die by death'" (Gn 2:16, 17). In that Adam and Eve did not physically die the day they ate from the tree, the words "you shall die" indicate a spiritual death through separation from God.

Ancestral sin is the disobedience of Adam to God's command regarding the tree of the knowledge of good and evil. Adam willingly disobeyed this commandment and diverted himself, or fell, from God's path to perfection, thus separating himself from His Creator, the Source of life.

What Are the Consequences of the Fall?

1. This Fall of Adam caused mankind to become subject to mortality. While this is often seen mainly as a punishment, or penalty, the emphasis concerning God's judgments on Adam and Eve at the Fall is best understood in terms of His mercy. So, for example, concerning man's mortality (Gn 3:19), St. Gregory the Theologian states, "Yet here too He provides a benefit—namely death, which cuts off sin, so that evil may not be everlasting. Thus His punishment is changed into a mercy."
2. We who are of Adam's race are not guilty because of Adam's sin, but because of our own sin. However, because all of mankind fell away from the grace of God through Adam's disobedience, man now has a propensity, a disposition, an inclination towards sin, because just as death entered the world through sin, now sin enters through fear of death.
3. Mankind's strong propensity to commit sin reveals that in the Fall, the image of God in man (Gn 1:26, 27) is also fallen. However, the ancient Fathers emphasize that the divine image in man has not been totally corrupted or obliterated. Human nature remains inherently good after the Fall; mankind is not totally depraved. People are still capable of doing good, although bondage to death and the influences of the devil can dull their perception of what is good and lead them into all kinds of evil.
4. Adam's Fall not only brought mortality and sin into the world, but also sweat, toil, hunger, thirst, weariness, sorrow, pain, suffering, sickness, tribulations, tragedy and tears.
5. Even after the Fall, the intellectual, desiring and incensive (forceful or driving) aspects of the soul are natural and therefore neutral. They can be used in a good way, or in a bad, harmful way. For instance, desire is very good when one directs it towards God. But when desire is out of control, one may use it in very inappropriate ways, such as becoming gluttonous or desiring another person's spouse. The classic analogy is that these powers of the soul are like iron, which can be made into a plow to help grow food, or into a sword to be used to kill someone.

Christ, by His Death and Resurrection, conquered the devil and death, freeing mankind from the fear of death (Heb 2:14–15) and making possible a more complete communion between God and man than was ever possible before. This communion allows people to become "partakers of the divine nature" (2Pt 1:4), to transcend death and, ultimately, all the consequences of the Fall.

4:1, 2 Cain and Abel came into existence through God and through Adam and Eve. Each came into existence at the moment of conception (she conceived) and was born nine months later. God brings every human being into existence in the womb of the mother at the moment of conception. His creative activity is simultaneous with conception.

4:3, 4 Both Cain and Abel worshiped the Lord and brought sacrifices to Him. The Lord accepted Abel and his gifts, because Abel had a good and discerning heart. He discerned through faith the Lord's coming Incarnation and His sacrifice as a lamb for the salvation of the world. (See also Mt 23:35; Lk 11:51; Heb 11:4; 12:24).

4:5 The Lord rejected Cain and his gifts. Why? The inward state of his heart was not right with God. As 1Jn 3:12 says of him, "who was of the wicked one." His passions are described in Jude 11 as "the way of Cain."

4:6 Cain's way was characterized by his sinful passions that dominated him. One of these was extreme sorrow, made manifest in his fallen countenance. His arrogant worship was rejected, and he fell into the opposite condition of extreme sorrow. Whereas godly sorrow leads one to humility and repentance, extreme sorrow nullifies both.

4:7 Because the Lord loved Cain, He sought to bring him to repentance (did you not sin). He commended him for having the right worship (brought it rightly), but reproved him for not having a right heart (did not divide it rightly). He commanded him to still his heart (be still) through repentance, for it was filled with turbulence because of the passions. He also commanded him to be his brother's keeper, as this is what is meant by the words recourse and rule. As the eldest, he was responsible for Abel's welfare. As Cain's parents looked out for his welfare, he too should show the same love to his younger brother.

4:8 However, Cain refused to deal with his passions through repentance, and his anger led to hate and murder.

🕮 4:8–15 This passage is read during Tuesday Vespers in the second week of Great Lent.

4:9 Cain rejected the notion that he was his brother's keeper and thus responsible for his welfare.

4:13 Cain used his guilt as an excuse to avoid repentance, for he did not believe in the grace of God. He willfully allowed his passions to blind his heart.

4:16 The name Nod means "one who wanders away from God." Such was Cain's state.

4:25 The name Seth signifies that God compensated Adam and Eve by raising up Seth in the place of Abel—out of death comes life. As such, Seth is a type of Christ's Resurrection, which overcomes the way of Cain and compensates the faithful for the ills they have undergone. Christ's genealogy is traced through Seth to Adam, showing that the true God became incarnate as true Man in order to compensate all who call upon His Name (Lk 3:38).

4:26 In contrast to Cain's offspring, Seth's offspring, Enosh, hoped in the Lord and called on His name. For this is the way of salvation. "Whoever calls on the name of the Lord shall be saved" (Joel 2:32; Rom 10:13).

5:1, 2 Here, the Book of Genesis refers to itself a second time. In 2:4 it calls itself "the book of the genesis of heaven and earth." Here it is the book of the genesis of mankind. Creation has a beginning of existence and an end. This does not mean creation in itself will come to an end. Rather, its beginning points to its end purpose—the Incarnation of God the Word. Man's very existence foreshadows His coming in the flesh to draw to the Father all who will come.

🕮 5:1–24 This passage is read during Thursday Vespers in the second week of Great Lent.

5:3 Seth was begotten from Adam and Eve. This threefold relationship illustrates, to a certain extent, the Holy Trinity. Adam had no human father. He was begotten by no one. Thus, he was unbegotten. Seth was begotten from Adam. Eve was neither unbegotten nor begotten. Instead she proceeded from Adam (2:21). Therefore, Eve and Seth were related to the unbegotten Adam, but each in a unique manner—Eve proceeded from Adam, but Seth was begotten from him. Each person had his or her own distinct and unique properties—unbegotten, begotten, and proceeding—but all three possessed the same human nature.

Similarly, the manner in which these three existed images the Holy Trinity. God the Father is Unbegotten; God the Son is Begotten from the Father; and God the Holy Spirit proceeds from the Father. These distinct and unique properties—unbegotten, begotten, and proceeding—distinguish each of the individual Persons of the Holy Trinity from each other; yet, They are one in nature (JohnDm).

5:4–28 This passage focuses on the genealogy of Christ (Lk 3:23–38) and the reality of death and decay in the grave—the debt man owed to the broken commandment in the Garden of Eden. The Word became flesh to abolish death and decay through His death and Resurrection, and to release man from the debt he owed (AthanG).

5:29–32 Noah is born into incarnational history, and he is a key ancestor in Christ's genealogy (Lk 3:36), for the next several chapters focus on him and his family.

Lamech named his son Noah, and as 5:29 points out, this name means "to give rest." For he would give them rest from our work and the toil of our hands, because of the ground the Lord God cursed. In this meaning, Noah is a type of Christ, who said, "Come to Me, all you who labor and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest" (Mt 11:28).

6:3 In his disobedience and expulsion from Paradise, man lost the grace of the Holy Spirit (My Spirit shall not remain). Nevertheless, His grace was always available to man, but man continually refused it (for they are flesh). So God gave them a grace period of one hundred and twenty years to come to repentance.

6:5 Without the grace of the Holy Spirit, man is easily overcome by the devil, for his willpower alone is incapable of resisting the devil's temptations. Furthermore, his will was weakened through his disobedience and expulsion from Paradise. But he willfully refused God's helping grace (every intent . . . was only evil continually).

6:6 So God was grieved over man's condition. Murders, adulteries, fornications, thefts, and every manner of sin were rampant everywhere. The human race was in danger of disappearing from the face of the earth (AthanG).

6:7 God was grieved over these people He created, and swore to blot them out . . . from the face of the earth. Yet He gave them a grace period of one hundred and twenty years to respond to the grace of the Holy Spirit. Their refusal brought judgment upon themselves, for they had no excuses for not responding to the grace of God.

6:8 But Noah was different from the rest, for he discovered the grace of the Holy Spirit. Because of this discovery, God would preserve a remnant, through which God the Word would become Man. For He would become Man through Noah's "genealogy" (vv. 9, 10; Lk 3:36).

6:9 Noah was a righteous man because he found the grace of the Holy Spirit, through which man becomes righteous. He was perfect because through the grace of the Holy Spirit he obeyed everything God told him to do (6:22). His righteous living was well-pleasing to God.

📖 6:9–22 This passage is read during Monday Vespers in the third week of Great Lent.

6:11–13 The earth was corrupt . . . and filled with unrighteousness because of man's willful refusal to become righteous through the grace of the Holy Spirit (corrupted their way on the earth). Their unrighteousness was their own fault (through them), for they had every opportunity to come to repentance.

6:14–21 The ark was a type of the Mother of God with Christ and the Church in her womb (Akath). The floodwaters were a type of baptism, in which we are saved (1Pt 3:18–22).

7:1 The Lord God made Noah righteous through faith, by which he pleased God (Heb 11:6, 7). Through the grace of the Holy Spirit he obeyed everything God commanded him to do. So he and his family entered the ark, which typified salvation.

📖 7:1–5 This passage is read during Tuesday Vespers in the third week of Great Lent.

7:2–15 Noah's faith also saved the animals. The whole creation will be saved through the children of God (Rom 8:18–22).

📖 7:6–9 This passage is read during Wednesday Vespers in the third week of Great Lent.

📖 7:11—8:3 This passage is read during Thursday Vespers in the third week of Great Lent.

7:16–24 The Lord God closed the door of the ark, for He is the Judge and determines who is in and who is out. The people on the outside were going about their usual manner of life—buying, selling, eating, drinking, marrying, and giving in marriage—but they were indifferent to God and His grace. The Flood caught them unawares, but it was too late for them to respond. So it will be in the Day of Judgment (Mt 24:37–39; Lk 17:26, 27; 2Pt 2:4, 5).

8:1 God remembered Noah and saved him from the floodwaters, for He made a wind that caused the waters to subside. Noah was saved because God remembered him. This remembrance is salvation. Many Scriptures speak of God remembering man in salvation. For example, Ps 24:6, 7: "Remember Your compassion, O Lord, / And Your mercy, for they are from of old. / Do not remember the sins of my youth, nor of my ignorance; / But remember me according to Your mercy, / Because of Your loving-kindness, O Lord." The thief on the cross said to Jesus, "Lord, remember me when You come into Your kingdom." And Jesus said to him, "Assuredly, I say to you, today you will be with Me in Paradise" (Lk 23:42–43).

🕮 8:4–21 This passage is read during Friday Vespers in the third week of Great Lent.

8:10, 11 The dove foreshadowed the Holy Spirit (Mt 3:16), who caused the Holy Virgin to conceive Christ in her womb, and the olive leaf speaks of the Virgin herself (Lk 1:35; Akath). The olive leaf was also a token of man's reconciliation to God and foreshadowed the fulfillment of grace in the Holy Mysteries (Sacraments) of the Church (Service of Baptism).

8:20 "God remembered Noah" (8:1), but Noah also remembered God. Remembrance in salvation is a two-way street. As the Psalmist said, "I remembered Your name in the night, O Lord, / And I kept Your law" (Ps 118:55). This Noah did, and he built an altar to God.

8:21 Noah's sacrifices were a sweet aroma to the Lord God. The Church, likewise, has an altar on which she offers the sweet aroma of praise and thanksgiving to the Lord (Heb 13:10, 15).

🕮 8:21—9:7 This passage is read during Monday Vespers in the fourth week of Great Lent.

8:22 The earth will remain with its regular cycles until the new heaven and the new earth come (Rev 21:1).

9:1 God not only "remembered" Noah (8:1), He also blessed him. Remembrance is salvation and so is blessing. Many Scriptures speak to this. For example, the Psalmist said, "He shall receive blessing from the Lord, / And mercy from the God of his salvation" (Ps 23:5).

9:8–16 Noah's seed is Christ (Lk 3:23, 36), and the everlasting covenant (v. 16) is the new covenant God established in Him. God's rainbow in the clouds is His sign of the covenant.

🕮 9:8–17 This passage is read during Tuesday Vespers in the fourth week of Great Lent.

🕮 9:18—10:1 This passage is read during Wednesday Vespers in the fourth week of Great Lent.

9:26 Not only did the Lord God bless Noah (9:1), but Noah blessed Him. Many Scriptures speak to this. For example, the Psalmist said, "For my foot stands in uprightness; / In the churches I will bless You, O Lord" (Ps 25:12; Vesting Service). Noah blessed God because of Shem, through whom Christ would come to save the world (Lk 3:36).

10:1 This chapter continues Christ's genealogy through Shem after the flood.

10:21–31 Christ's genealogy is traced from Shem down to Peleg (Lk 3:35, 36). His name means division, for in his days the earth was divided (v. 25). This division is described in the history of 11:1–9.

11:6 Mankind was united as one race and one language. But this unity existed without the Holy Trinity, for man's true unity is union and communion with the Father, the Son, and the Holy Spirit. The Church is "the race of Christians" (Kairon Service), "a holy nation" (1Pt 2:9), and glorifies God "with . . . one mouth" (Rom 15:6). In the Great Litany, the Church prays "for the union of all men," a union based in the Holy Trinity.

11:7 The pronoun Us refers to the Holy Trinity. The words go down are a figure of speech, for the Trinity is everywhere present and fills all things. The words "came down to see" (v. 5) are also a figure of speech, for the Trinity is not ignorant of anything. God condescends to our weakness that we might understand something about Him and His works.

11:8 The Lord divided this false unity for the sake of man's salvation, that man might seek and find Him (Acts 17:26–28). For they sought to build their unity by making a name for themselves (v. 4). They cared nothing for the name of the Lord God, by which man is saved.

11:10–31 The genealogy of Shem carries Christ's genealogy down to Abraham, for the true unity of the human race is Christ Himself.

12:1–7 "The Holy Spirit spoke through the prophets" (Creed). He spoke through the prophet Moses, who wrote this Scripture. Thus, St. Paul said, "And the Scripture, foreseeing that God would justify the Gentiles by faith, preached the gospel to Abraham beforehand, saying, 'In you all the nations shall be blessed'" (Gal 3:8). Thus the Holy Spirit preached the gospel beforehand to Abraham.

The Holy Spirit inspired Moses to write in v. 1 that the Lord said to Abram this scripture. Who is this Lord? He is God the Father, as St. Paul indicated in Gal 3:8: "God would justify the Gentiles by faith." Thus, the Father preached the gospel beforehand to Abraham.

In v. 7, the Holy Spirit inspired Moses to write that the Lord appeared to Abraham and spoke to him. Who is this Lord who appeared? The Holy Spirit identified Him in 15:1 as the Word of the Lord whom Abraham saw in a vision, and He identified Him as the Angel of the Lord in 16:7, 9, 10, 11, and 13. This Word is the Son of God (AthanG) and the Angel is also the Son of God, for He was no created angel (HilryP). "He is called Angel because He alone reveals the Father" (AthanG). Thus, the Son also preached the gospel beforehand to Abraham, for the Father always speaks through His Word.

Therefore, where one Person of the Trinity is present and working, the other two Persons are also present in one and the same working for the salvation of man. The Father works through the Son and in the Spirit.

12:8 Abraham is the father of all the faithful (Rom 4:11). Since he built an altar of worship, therefore an altar is part of his faith. Bethel means "house of God," which foreshadows the Church as the house of God. The altar is central to worship. At the altar, the Church calls on the name of the Lord, as did Abraham.

12:17 The Lord protected Sarah's virtue, and also the Incarnation. For Abraham and Sarah begot Isaac, through whom the promise in Christ was made (Rom 9:7).

13:1–5 Canaan, not Egypt, was the land of promise. While in Egypt, Abraham never lost his focus on God's promise in the gospel of salvation, for he returned to Bethel, the house of God, and called on the name of the Lord (v. 4). Similarly, those who possess Abraham's faith keep their focus on this same gospel.

13:6–9 Abraham was a peacemaker, and "Blessed are the peacemakers, / For they shall be called sons of God" (Mt 5:9). He was looking for his eternal inheritance in "the world to come" (Creed; see also Heb 11:9–11). Although he was very rich, he was a man of virtue. For in his heart he was detached from his wealth and also from the love of land. Thus he overcame strife (v. 7) and made peace with Lot. Therefore, virtue characterized the faith of Abraham. It will also characterize his spiritual children.

13:10–13 Lot, on the other hand, was attached to the beauty of the landscape. It looked like the Garden of Eden. Unlike Abraham, he walked by sight, and not by faith (2Co 5:7). Thus, he chose wrongfully, not because of the beauty itself, but because of his immature faith. His poor judgment landed him with the people of Sodom. They were exceedingly wicked and sinful before God (v. 13)—beautiful scenery but an extremely depraved environment. Their godless behavior oppressed and tormented his righteous soul every day (2Pt 2:7, 8).

13:14–18 Lot "pitched his tent" in Sodom (v. 12), but Abraham built an altar (v. 18)—a notable difference in the two men. One trapped himself in the environment of this fallen world; the other focused himself on the Lord. However, the Lord would eventually deliver righteous Lot from Sodom (2Pt 2:9).

14:14 The 318 bishops of the Orthodox Church at the Council of Nicea were likened to these trained servants of Abraham. As Abraham's servants overcame insurmountable odds, so the bishops, the trained servants of the Church, defeated the arguments of the many heretics who denied that the Son of God is coeternal and one in essence with the Father. These servants defended Abraham's faith, handed down in the Church.

14:18 Melchizedek brought out bread and wine to Abraham. His priesthood typified the High Priesthood of Christ, who gives His precious body and blood to the faithful in the bread and wine of the Eucharist (CypC).

Christ's priesthood is called "the order of Melchizedek" (Ps 109:4; Heb 5:6), and it is superior to the order of Aaron in the Mosaic Law (Heb 7:11). The Book of Hebrews gives numerous reasons for this superiority.

14:19, 20 Two of the many reasons for the superiority of the order of Melchizedek are: (1) Melchizedek blessed Abraham. Aaron was a descendant of Abraham through Levi. Thus, in blessing Abraham, Melchizedek also blessed Levi and Aaron. It is always the greater who blesses the lesser. (2) Abraham paid a tithe to Melchizedek, and in this act, so did Levi and Aaron (Heb 7). Therefore, salvation comes through the superior order.

14:21–24 Abraham showed his complete detachment from earthly wealth, because (1) he knew that God Most High, Creator of heaven and earth (v. 22) had given him everything he possessed, and (2) he loved God supremely, and not the wealth God gave him. He also loved his neighbor as himself, for he saw to the needs of Aner, Eshcol, and Mamre. Thus, Abraham was, so to speak, heaven-bound. The king of Sodom, on the other hand, was earthbound. Faithful people follow Abraham's example.

15:1–3 The Word of the Lord is the Word of the Father (AthanG). He is also the Son of God. Abraham saw God the Word in a vision. Thus, he saw Him before He became incarnate, as did the other Old Testament prophets. Abraham was fearful the promise God had given him in 12:1 would not be fulfilled, for he had no heir.

15:4 The Voice of the Lord is also the Word of the Father. He reassures Abraham that his heir will come from your own body. This refers to the birth of Isaac, based on God's promise. For man is saved by this promise through faith in Christ (Rom 4:17–25; 9:7, 8).

15:5 The seed is first Christ, then His Church (Gal 3:16; Rom 4:16). The stars are a type of all the members of His body (Php 2:15). Their number is countless, and consists of both Jews and Gentiles (Eph 2:11–16).

15:6 Abraham believed the promise in 12:1, and he continued to believe it in 15:5. For Abraham's faith was living and growing—something dynamic. He was made righteous by this faith. So are both Jews and Gentiles. Righteousness is the gift of God through Jesus Christ (Rom 5:17).

15:7 God the Word said to Abraham, "I am the God who brought you out of Ur of the Chaldeans, to give you this land to inherit it." Thus, He identifies Himself as God. The Creed calls Him "True God of True God." For He is the Only-begotten of the Father, through whom the Father speaks and reveals Himself.

15:8 Abraham calls the Word his own Master and Lord, and thus recognizes His divinity. The Church does the same thing.

16:1 In Gal 4:21–31, St. Paul uses Hagar and Sarah as an allegory, representing two covenants. Hagar and Ishmael represent the old covenant of the Law, which "gives birth to bondage." Sarah and Isaac represent the new covenant, which gives birth to freedom. The Jerusalem below is made up of those under the bondage of the Law, but the Jerusalem above is the Church, those under the freedom of God's grace.

16:7 The Lord is the Father, and the Angel is His Son (HilryP). And the prophet Isaiah calls Him "the Angel of Great Counsel" (Is 9:5). "The Son is called Angel because He alone reveals the Father" (AthanG).

16:8 The Lord asked Hagar questions, not because He was ignorant, but for Hagar's sake and for ours. After He became Man, He also asked questions in the four Gospels, not because He was ignorant, but for the sake of the immediate listeners and of the faithful. For He is God in the flesh, and therefore, never ignorant of anything (JohnDm).

16:9 Since He is God, the Angel commanded Hagar. She obeyed (v. 15). This Angel is the Word of God.

16:10 This statement by the Angel could not have been made by a created angel, for only God can say, "I will surely multiply your seed exceedingly, that it may not be counted because of its multitude." No created angel can do this. The Angel is God the Son.

16:11 The Angel then spoke to Hagar concerning the Father and said, "The Lord has taken notice of your humiliation."

16:13 Hagar called the Angel who appeared to her both Lord and God. The Church knows Him as the Only-begotten of the Father (Jn 1). As the Father's Only-begotten, He is "true God of true God" (Creed).

One meaning of the name God is, You are the God who sees me. The Only-begotten sees everything. So do God the Father and God the Holy Spirit.

17:1 Thirteen years after the birth of Ishmael (16:16), the Lord appeared to Abram again and identified Himself as God, for He said to him, "I am your God." This appearance is another of the personal appearances of the Son of God to Abraham.

📖 17:1, 2, 4–8, 9–12, 14 These verses are read at the Feast of the Circumcision of Our Lord Jesus Christ.

17:2–4 The covenant is that established "in Christ" (Gal 3:17). God established it before the Mosaic covenant. Therefore, the Law of Moses, which came later, could not cancel it. Abraham's faith is multiplied exceedingly in the Church. For he is the father of many nations (see also Rom 4:16, 17).

17:5 Abram's name (meaning "exalted father") was changed to Abraham ("father of many"). This very name change proves the gospel of salvation is for many nations, the Gentiles as well as the Jews.

17:7 The God of the everlasting covenant is the Holy Trinity, for the Son is God of God, the Only-begotten of the Father. The Holy Spirit is also God of God, for He "proceeds from the Father" (Creed).

17:10–14 The rite of circumcision was not the covenant itself. It was a sign of the covenant (v. 11). It was a temporary sign, because it applied only to Abraham's genealogy (v. 12), that is, to Abraham's physical lineage, and also to those born in his house or bought with his money. Thus, the rite did not apply to the "many nations," or Gentiles, to be made righteous by faith in the gospel (v. 3; see also Rom 4:9–17). Christ Himself fulfilled this rite and brought it to an end when He was circumcised on the eighth day after His birth from the Virgin (Lk 2:21).

17:19–21 God's covenant with Abraham was established in Isaac, because his birth was based on the promise of God (Rom 9). It was not based on physical lineage, for Abraham and Sarah were past the age of childbearing at the time. Therefore, salvation is based on the promise of the Word of God, and not on Abraham's physical descendants, such as the Ishmaelites or the Jews, or on any of the other physical offspring of Abraham, such as the Midianites (25:1, 2).

18:1–3 The Holy Spirit says through the prophet Moses that God appeared to Abraham. This is another personal appearance of the Son of God to him. He saw three men standing before him, but he worshiped only one of them as Lord, for He is Lord and God. The other two are called "angels" (19:1). The Son of God is the Lord of all the angels.

18:4–8 The hospitality of Abraham was a virtue that should be shared by his spiritual children.

18:9 The Lord was not ignorant of Sarah's location. He asked the question for Abraham's sake and for that of those who read the Scriptures. He also asked questions for the same reason after He became incarnate, for example, concerning the location of Lazarus's grave (Jn 11:34).

18:14 The Lord speaks of God the Father, who does not will everything He can do, but He can do everything He wills. For nothing is impossible with Him. Likewise, nothing is impossible with His Son, for the Father works all things through the Son. As St. Athanasius the Great said, "He is the Will of the Father." Therefore, the Son would strengthen Abraham and Sarah, and Sarah would conceive to bear Isaac, the child of promise.

18:17–19 The Lord possesses foreknowledge (for I know). Abraham and his spiritual children would be characterized by righteousness and judgment, because they know the Lord and keep His ways.

Righteousness and judgment are the gifts of the Lord to the faithful. These are two of the four general virtues of wisdom that produce all the other virtues (see the notes at Pr 1:2b–5).

📖 18:20–33 This passage is read during Thursday Vespers in the fifth week of Great Lent.

18:22 One of the three men was the Lord, and Abraham remained before Him. The other two men, who were the Lord's angels, went toward Sodom (see also 19:1).

18:23–32 Abraham interceded for the righteous in Sodom, but actually the city was so morally depraved that Lot was the only righteous person in the entire place. Abraham's intercession delivered him. The Lord delivered Lot, but He allowed Abraham to participate in the work.

18:33 Abraham returned to his home, but the Lord went on to Sodom.

19:1 The Holy Spirit through the prophet Moses calls two of the three men angels. When they arrived in Sodom, they met Lot at the city gate.

19:2 Lot paid the angels due respect by calling them lords, but he did not worship them, for they were created beings.

19:13 The third man was the Lord, the Son of God, and he sent the other two to Sodom to destroy it.

19:16 He also came to Sodom after He finished talking to Abraham. By His mercy (the Lord being merciful), His two angels seized the hands of Lot, his wife, and two daughters and brought them outside the city.

19:18 Lot spoke to all three men, but prayed to the Lord in particular.

19:21 The Lord granted his request (I have acquiesced to you) to escape to a small city, called Zoar. The Son is the Will of the Father; thus He said, "I will not overthrow this city." The Son is also the Word, Wisdom, and Power of the Father (Jn 1:1–3 and 1Co 1:24).

19:22 The Lord can do anything He wills to do. But He would not will to destroy Sodom before Lot arrived in Zoar.

19:24 The Lord rained brimstone and fire . . . from the Lord out of heaven, that is, the Son rained brimstone and fire from the Father (AthanG, BasilG, AmbM, and HilryP). Both have the name "Lord" because of Their equality and oneness of lordship. For in Their essence, the Two are One and undivided (Creed). The Holy Spirit, who spoke this Scripture through the prophet Moses, is also one in lordship with the Father and the Son, for as the Creed says, "I believe in the Holy Spirit, the Lord . . . who proceeds from the Father."

The destruction of Sodom and the adjoining city of Gomorrah is a warning to the ungodly concerning the Day of Judgment (2Pt 2:6, 9; Jude 7).

19:22–24 During Great Lent, the Church sings, "O my soul, flee like Lot to the mountain, and take refuge in Zoar before it is too late. Flee from the flames, my soul, flee from the burning heat of Sodom, flee from destruction by the fire of God."

19:26 In Lk 17:28–33, the Lord commanded us to remember Lot's wife, for she lost her life because she turned back in disobedience to the Lord.

20:1 Abraham was a sojourner because he waited for "the city which has foundations, whose builder and maker is God" (Heb 11:10). The Creed calls this city "the world to come." Abraham believed he would be raised from the dead to dwell in his true city.

20:2 The city of Gerar was not Abraham's true city, for it was given to idolatry. The Gerarites worshiped the god Dagon (3Kg 5:2) and the goddess Ashtaroth (3Kg 31:10). But when the Son of God became incarnate, and the word of the gospel went out to Gerar, idolatry in that place was destroyed. A church and a monastery were established there. One of its bishops, Marcian, attended the Fourth Ecumenical Council of Chalcedon in AD 451. Truly, the city embraced the faith of Abraham.

21:1 The Son of God visited Sarah and fulfilled the promise He had given in 18:10 (HilryP). Abraham and Sarah would have a son in their old age.

21:2 Thus, Sarah conceived, based on the word of promise. She did not conceive based on the power of the flesh, for both she and Abraham were past the time of childbearing. Therefore, it is not the children of the flesh—that is, Abraham's offspring through procreation—who are the children of God. Rather, the children of this promise are counted as Abraham's seed (Rom 9:8). These children are those who embrace Abraham's faith through the Lord Jesus Christ (Gal 3:16).

21:10 Hagar was cast out to show that it is not Abraham's children according to procreation who are God's children. For example, Abraham's children according to the flesh are such peoples as the Jews, the Ishmaelites, the Edomites, and the Midianites. But none of these are the children of God because of their fleshly relationship. Rather, God's children are any and all who embrace Abraham's faith through the Lord Jesus Christ (Gal 4:22–31).

21:17 The Angel of God is the Son of God. He told Hagar that God, that is, God the Father, had heard Ishmael's crying. "The Son is called Angel because He alone reveals the Father" (AthanG).

21:18 The Angel told Hagar He Himself (I will make) would make a great nation of Ishmael. Therefore, this Angel is God (see also vv. 19, 20), for God alone could do such a thing. This Angel is not a created angel, but the Son of God Himself. And why would He make a great nation of Ishmael? Because after His Incarnation, Ishmael's descendants would embrace Abraham's faith based on the word of promise.

22:1 God the Word tested Abraham (AthanG).

📖 22:1–18 This passage is read during Friday Vespers in the fifth week of Great Lent.

22:2 The Word is the Son of God, and by calling Isaac Abraham's beloved son, He is teaching Abraham concerning His eternal birth from God the Father (AthanG). For He is "the Only-begotten from the Father" (Creed). He is also teaching Abraham that He Himself would be offered up as a whole burnt offering for the world's salvation, and be raised from the dead.

22:3 Abraham's faith was tested, and he obeyed the Son of God. Such faith and obedience made Abraham righteous and a friend of God (Jam 2:22–23).

22:12 Abraham received Isaac back alive. This prefigured the Resurrection of Christ and the future resurrection from the dead, in which Abraham believed (Heb 11:19).

22:14, 15 The Angel of the Lord is the Son of God, and He appeared to Abraham. The Lord is God the Father.

22:16 Abraham and Abimelech counseled together and swore by the greater, namely, by the name of God (21:23, 24). The seven ewe lambs confirmed the oath, and Abraham named the place the Well of Oath. So they were reconciled. However, God cannot swear by anyone greater; therefore, He swore by Himself. He confirmed the oath by His Lamb, the Son of God, through whom God's eternal covenant is established (Heb 6:13–20). The Well of Oath foreshadows the reconciliation of man to God through Jesus Christ.

22:17 Abraham's seed would be as the stars of heaven and as the sand on the seashore. These are Abraham's seed based on the word of promise. This seed is Christ and His Church begotten from Him (Gal 3:16). It does not refer to Israel according to the flesh. It refers to both Jews and Gentiles who are the children of the promise.

23:1 The days of Sarah's life were numbered. She knew this because she was a woman of faith. She did not know when she would die, but knew she would. For she saw herself as a sojourner and stranger passing through this life to the world to come (Heb 11:11–16).

23:4 Abraham describes himself as a sojourner and a stranger living in this present world. As a sojourner, he was passing through this world to the one to come (Heb 11:8–10). As a stranger, he saw himself as a foreigner in this world, which was not his true home.

23:8 Abraham calls Sarah my dead. He does not say "my corpse," as though Sarah's dead body no longer had meaning and value. For he buried Sarah believing her body would be raised from the dead.

23:19 Abraham buried Sarah his wife. He buried a person, for a person consists of both body and soul. It requires both natures to be a person, and at death one does not cease to be a person. Therefore, Sarah's dead body was her dead body. It was part of her person, awaiting the resurrection from the dead. In the resurrection her soul would be reunited with her body, which would then become immortal.

24:3 Abraham believed in one God, whom he called the Lord, the God of heaven and the God of the earth. This Lord is God the Father, as the Creed says: "I believe in one God the Father Almighty, Maker of heaven and earth."

24:7 The Lord's Angel is the Son of God. The word angel also means messenger. In this meaning it is also akin to the term word. The Son of God is called both Angel and Word, for "He alone reveals the Father" (AthanG). Both names emphasize that the Son is the Will of God the Father. Thus, God spoke to Abraham through His Will, and told him to leave his father's house for the land of promise. The words He will send His Angel before you were prophesied by Abraham to his servant. He spoke these words by the Holy Spirit, as the Creed says: "I believe in the Holy Spirit . . . who spoke by the prophets."

24:8 Neither the Lord nor Abraham would force the woman to follow Abraham's servant to become Isaac's wife. Both honored free will.

24:12 Abraham's servant also embraced Abraham's faith. He, too, was a child of God according to the word of promise. He also knew the mercy of God.

24:14 The Lord appointed Rebekah to be Isaac's wife. However, this appointment was based on His foreknowledge, for He knew beforehand how she would respond. Her free will was not forced. Similarly, election to salvation is based in the same foreknowledge. As St. Paul said, "whom He foreknew, He also predestined" (Rom 8:29).

24:27 Abraham's servant knew how to pray, for he began, "Blessed is . . ." This is the way the services of the Church begin. In his prayer he recognized the Lord's righteousness and truth. The Lord makes people righteous through Abraham's faith, and this faith is based in the truth. The Church is "the pillar and ground of the truth" (1Ti 3:15).

24:58 Rebekah went with Abraham's servant of her own free will. She freely submitted her will to the Lord's will.

24:62, 63 At the Well of the Vision, the Son of God appeared to Hagar (16:7–14). Isaac was meditating on this vision.

25:1–4 The children of God are not Abraham's children according to the flesh. If this were so, the six children of Abraham by Keturah would be the children of God. So also would be the Jews, the Ishmaelites, and the Edomites, by right of birth. For the Jews came from Jacob, whose name was changed to Israel. The Ishmaelites sprang from Hagar, Abraham's concubine. The Edomites were the offspring of Esau, Jacob's twin brother. But the children of God are any and all who embrace the faith of Abraham through the word of promise.

25:5–7 Abraham sent all the children of Keturah away from Isaac, who was born according to the word of promise. He sent them away to emphasize that the children of God are born according to this word.

25:7, 8 Abraham died in a good old age, old and full of days; that is, he died full of faith and blessing from God. He was added to his people, that is, to the children of God. These children are awaiting the resurrection from the dead and the life of the world to come (Creed).

25:11 Isaac dwelt at the Well of the Vision, where the Son of God appeared to Hagar (16:7–14). He knew the Son of God.

25:19 Christ came through the genealogy of Isaac (Mt 1:2).

25:23 This prophecy shows that God's purpose in salvation stands on the basis of His calling, and not on the basis of works, either good or bad (Rom 9:11). For God foreknew which of the two sons would believe the word of promise given to Abraham. Jacob embraced the faith of Abraham, whereas Esau rejected it. Both were called, but Jacob alone responded to the call through faith. The Jews came from Jacob, and those who respond to God's calling, as did Jacob, are the children of God. For the Jews who do not embrace Abraham's faith are like Esau.

25:27–33 Esau was the older son, so the right of the firstborn was his. This right taught the firstborn to embrace Abraham's faith. But he despised this faith, because of his fear of death (v. 32). He despised the very faith that could save him from death (Heb 12:16, 17).

26:2 The Word, who is the Son of God, appeared to Isaac and told him not to go down to Egypt, but to live in the land promised to Abraham. For Egypt was a type of the fallen world, whereas the land promised to Abraham was a type of the world to come. It reminded Isaac to keep his focus on Abraham's faith.

26:3 The Word also told Isaac to sojourn in this land. A sojourner is one who sees the world to come as the land of promise (Creed). The land of Canaan was only a land in which to sojourn. Like his father, Abraham, he saw the world to come as his true inheritance. “By faith he [Abraham] dwelt in the land of promise as in a foreign country, dwelling in tents with Isaac and Jacob, the heirs with him of the same promise; for he waited for the city which has foundations, whose builder and maker is God” (Heb 11:9, 10).

26:4 The phrase your seed includes both Jews and Gentiles (all the nations) who embrace the promise given to Abraham. The phrase “in your seed” is a reference to Christ (Gal 3:16). For both Jews and Gentiles who believe are joined together as one body in Christ, that is, in Christ and His Church.

26:5 All who believe are blessed with Abraham, because he obeyed the voice of God the Son and kept what He commanded him to do. The faithful are those who obey the voice of the Son of God (Jn 10).

26:20–22 The names of the two wells, Injustice and Enmity, show the opposition between righteousness and unrighteousness. Isaac was righteous through faith, but the herdsmen of Gerar were representatives of this fallen world. Isaac was a man of peace, but they were men of war, who fought against the righteous man. The well called Room shows that the Lord makes room for the righteous in this world, in order to increase their number. These will inherit the land of promise to come.

26:24 God the Son appeared to Isaac at the Well of Oath and swore to him concerning the promise made to Abraham. This swearing emphasized the unchangeableness of the Lord’s will and purpose (Heb 6:17, 18). The Lord will fulfill His purpose in the world to come and give it to the heirs of promise. Isaac laid hold of this oath and the hope it gave him (Heb 6:19, 20).

26:25 Isaac worshiped the Son of God at the altar he built. At the altar, the Church worships the Son, and together with Him, the Father and the Spirit.

26:34, 35 The wives of Esau represent those who contend with Christ and His Church.

🕮 27:1–41 This passage is read during Monday Vespers in the sixth week of Great Lent.

27:2 Isaac did not know the day he would die, nor does any man. But he was a man of faith, and he looked to the day he would die. He faced this reality by faith and prepared himself for it.

27:7 The Lord is present everywhere and fills all things. Thus, Isaac would give the blessing of the firstborn in His presence. The blessing of the firstborn gave the eldest son a double portion of his father’s inheritance. He would also become the ruler and head over his brethren upon his father’s death, and be responsible for the welfare and administration of the family. All this foreshadowed the Lord’s Incarnation as the Firstborn of the Father and the ruler and head over the Church. Through His Incarnation, He would secure the Church’s eternal inheritance (Rom 4:13; 8:29; Gal 3:3, 18, 29; 4:7; Eph 1:11, 14, 18; 3:6; Col 1:12, 15, 18; 3:24; Tts 3:7; Heb 1:2, 4, 6; 6:17; 9:15; 11:7–9; Jam 2:5; 1Pt 1:4; 3:7; 12:23; Rev 1:5).

27:34 The blessing of the firstborn was denied Esau because he despised the faith of Abraham. Because of this, he could find no place of repentance in order to inherit the blessing of the firstborn son (Heb 12:16, 17). Likewise, in the Day of Judgment, people who in this life reject the offer of the future inheritance will be unable to find repentance in that day.

28:4 The blessing of Abraham was given to Jacob, as noted in v. 3. The seed is first Christ, then His Offspring, the Church (Gal 3). The land is a type of the world to come, which will be this present world redeemed (Rom 8). This present world is the land of your sojourning. In the world to come, it will be the permanent home of those who inherit it.

🕮 28:10–17 This passage is read on the Feasts of the Theotokos: the Annunciation (March 25); the Dormition (August 15); and the Nativity (September 8).

28:12 The ladder that reached to heaven speaks of the Mother of God and of the Son of God born of her. The icon in the apse of the church is called the Platytera, which means wide, broad, spacious. It reveals Christ in her womb, and she connects heaven and earth through Him for our salvation.

28:17 The house of God speaks of the Church, and the gate of heaven is the Mother of God (Kairon and Akathist Services). Because the Son was conceived in her womb, she opened the gate of heaven to those who embrace the faith of Abraham.

28:18 The stone is Christ, the foundation stone of the Church (Mt 21:42–44; Mk 12:10; Lk 20:17, 18; Acts 4:11; Rom 9:32, 33; 1Co 3:10, 11; 1Pt 2:4–8). The oil signifies Christ, whose human nature was anointed by the Holy Spirit (Mt 1:18; 3:16; Heb 1:9).

28:22 God's house speaks of the Church. Jacob gave a tithe of all God gave him. A tithe is ten percent given to the Church.

29:14 Laban called Jacob my bone and my flesh, for they were blood relatives. In contrast to this, the Church is not based on blood relationships. It is based on the life-giving flesh of Christ, by which those who embrace Him in faith become "members of His body, of His flesh and of His bones" (Eph 5:30). The members of His body are closer in relationship than blood relations.

29:15 Laban called Jacob my brother. Technically, Jacob was Laban's nephew. Therefore, the title brother does not necessarily mean a son of the same father or mother. In Mt 13:55 and Mk 3:31, Jesus is said to have brothers. These are not sons of Mary His mother. They are simply close relatives. The Church calls Mary Ever-virgin. This belief is a dogma of the Church, for she bore only one Son, the Lord Jesus Christ.

29:27 One week in this case equals seven years. Thus, each week in Daniel's prophecy equals seven years (Daniel 9), to the coming of Christ in the Incarnation.

29:34, 35 Levi was the forefather of the levitical priesthood, also known as the order of Aaron, for Aaron came from Levi (Heb 7:11). But the Christ could not be part of this order, because He would descend from Judah (Heb 7:14). However, the prophecy said Christ would be the High Priest of the order of Melchizedek (Ps 109:4). Thus, both orders cannot coexist as the way to be perfected. The order of Aaron became obsolete because Levi and his offspring are still dead, whereas Christ is alive from the dead. Therefore, Jews are not made children of God through the order of Aaron. Both Jews and Gentiles become the children of God only through the order of Melchizedek, in the one body of Christ, the Church, which is also called "the Israel of God" (Gal 6:16).

30:6 The names of the sons of Jacob reveal things concerning the Incarnation of the Son of God. For example, Rachel speaks of Dan's birth in relation to God as Judge; Christ "shall come to judge the living and the dead" (Creed). Also, Reuben's birth relates to humiliation (29:32); the Son humbled Himself to become Man for man's salvation (Php 2:7). Simeon's birth emphasizes hatred (29:33); Christ was hated without cause (Jn 15:25), and sometimes, so is the Church (Jn 15:18). Levi's birth speaks of union, for "on my side" speaks of union (29:34). Christ unites His Church to Himself in baptism (Rom 6:5). Judah's birth relates to thanksgiving (29:35); Christ established the Eucharist, which means Thanksgiving.

30:7 Naphtali's birth emphasizes victory; Christ prevailed over death by triumphing over it through the cross (Col 2:14, 15).

30:11 Gad's name speaks of good fortune, or prosperity. Christ's Incarnation is man's true prosperity and health (3Jn 2, 3).

30:13 Asher relates to blessing. Christ's Incarnation blesses His own with every spiritual blessing in the heavenly places (Eph 1:3).

30:18 Issachar's name speaks of wages or reward. Christ will bring His reward, to give each one according to his works (Rev 22:12).

30:20 Zebulun's name emphasizes endowment. Zebulun is a haven for ships ( 49:13). Christ is our endowment as a haven from the stormy sea of life.

30:23, 24 Joseph's name relates to the bearing of reproach, and he bore the reproach of his brothers when they sold him into Egypt. Christ bore our reproach (Rom 15:3).

30:33 Jacob was made righteous by faith, as were his father Isaac and grandfather Abraham. This righteousness is a gift of God's grace, one of the four general virtues of Wisdom (see notes on Pr 1:2b–5). Jacob lived out this righteousness in his behavior toward his uncle Laban.

31:3 The Lord is the Word and Son of God. He told Jacob to return to the land of his father, for this land was a type of the world to come. Laban's country was not Jacob's permanent residence (Heb 11:14–16, 21).

📖 31:3–16 This passage is read during Tuesday Vespers in the sixth week of Great Lent.

31:11 The Word is also called the Angel of God, because it is He alone who reveals the Father, and also because when the Son is beheld, so is the Father, for He is the Father's Radiance; therefore, the Father and the Son are one (AthanG).

31:13 In verse 11, the name "God" refers to the Father. But in this verse, the Angel is called the God who appeared. Thus, the Son is "true God of true God" (Creed).

31:24 The Son of God came to Laban in a dream, and warned him to do Jacob no harm.

31:29 Laban calls the Word the God of Jacob's father, that is, the God of Isaac. Laban's problem was his unbelief, for he did not believe in the very One who appeared to him in a dream.

31:42 Jacob believed in the Son of God and thanked Him for rebuking Laban for his injustice. Laban was a liar and a cheat, for he had changed Jacob's wages ten times (v. 7). In all this, Jacob, so to speak, had stepped aside and allowed the Lord to fight his battles over the twenty-year period (v. 38).

31:45 The stone set up as a pillar was a type of the Incarnate Son, for He is the foundation stone and pillar of the Church (1Co 3:11).

31:46 These stones are types of the living stones in the Church (1Pt 2:4, 5).

31:48, 49 The pillar and the stones were called This-Heap-Witnesses and The Vision. This vision was the vision of God the Word who appeared to both Laban and Jacob (vv. 11, 24). The pillar and stones foreshadow the Incarnation and the Church.

🕮 32:1–10 This passage is read at Vespers of the Feast of the Theophany of the Lord.

32:12 Your seed is a reference to Christ (Gal 3:16), and together with Him, the Church, composed of both Jews and Gentiles. It is not a reference to the Jews based on physical lineage.

32:24 The man who wrestled with Jacob was the Son of God, who appeared to him as a weak man (AthanG and HilryP). When He became incarnate, He assumed the weakness of human flesh for man's salvation.

32:28 Jacob's name was changed to Israel, which means "God prevails." In this meaning, Jacob was a type of the Son of God, who became Man and prevailed as God and Man for man's salvation.

32:30, 31 The Form of God was the Son and Word of God, who revealed Himself to Jacob (AthanG and HilryP). He is the Radiance of the Father who reveals the Father in Himself, for as He said, "He who has seen Me has seen the Father" (Jn 14:9). The rising and radiating of the sun on Jacob illustrated this relation of the Son to the Father.

33:5, 9, 11 Jacob acknowledged that God gave him all his possessions. For he was a man of faith who looked to the world to come (Heb 11:13–15, 21). Esau, on the other hand, did not glorify God for the possessions God gave him, for he was an unbeliever.

33:19, 20 Jacob bought a small piece of land, set up an altar, and called on the true God. The Church does the same.

34:2 Shechem was a ruler of the land, but not a ruler of his passions. His lack of self-control would cost him his own life and the lives of his countrymen.

34:8 The passionate love Shechem had for Dinah was not true love. It was a sinful passion—its true name.

34:31 The sons of Jacob repaid evil for evil, for they, so to speak, took the law into their own hands. Furthermore, the punishment did not fit the crime. They turned out to be worse sinners than Shechem.

35:1 God speaks, and it is God of whom He speaks. Two distinct Persons own the same name, God. For the Father who is true God speaks of His Son who is also true God, for the Son is begotten from the Father as true God (Creed). Thus, the God who appeared to Jacob at Bethel was the Son, who is true God of true God (HilryP).

35:9 The God who appeared to Jacob again is true God of true God, that is, the Son of the Father. In Him the Father is revealed, for He alone reveals the Father (AthanG).

35:11 The God who appeared to Jacob also calls Himself Jacob's God, for He is true God of true God, the Only-begotten of the Father. It was He who changed Jacob's name to Israel.

35:13 The Only-begotten appeared to Jacob temporarily as a man, then ascended from him. After He became incarnate in the Mother of God, He ascended to the Father.

37:3, 4 Israel's love was partial, for he loved Joseph more than his other sons. Such love divided his family and opened the door to hatred. Thus Jacob was not yet perfected in love, for perfect love is impartial. But Christ loves all equally, and died for all.

37:8 Joseph's brothers were blinded by their hatred for him, and therefore, could not understand the things of God.

37:26, 27 Joseph's brothers were motivated by the love of money and possessions, for they did not know the God of Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob.

37:28 Joseph's brothers cast him into a pit (v. 24), then lifted him out and sold him as a slave into Egypt. However, he ultimately became the lord of all Egypt. Similarly, Jesus was betrayed for thirty pieces of silver, was killed and buried in His grave. But He rose again, and became the Lord of all (Acts 2:36; 10:36).

38:24 Those who reported to Judah viewed fornication and adultery as one and the same sin. For some say fornication is sin committed by single people, whereas adultery is committed by married people. Both fornication and adultery, however, are one and the same sin.

39:9 Joseph viewed adultery and/or fornication as great wickedness and sin against God. But people who treat such sin lightly simply do not know God.

39:20 Joseph's holiness cost him his freedom. "Yes, and all who desire to live godly in Christ Jesus will suffer persecution" (2Ti 3:12).

39:21 Joseph suffered for righteousness' sake; therefore, the Lord was with him. Truly, he was a blessed man (Mt 5:10).

39:23 Joseph's authority speaks of his human will, and the Lord was with him speaks of God's will. This shows that Joseph's will was in submission to the will of God. Both wills, therefore, worked in synergy.

40:8 Joseph glorified God and not himself. This is humility in the truest sense.

40:23 Since the cupbearer forgot Joseph, he also forgot the true God who delivered him from prison. His position as the king's favorite caused him to forget, for he loved the praise of men more than the praise of God.

41:13 Joseph was a true prophet, and the Holy Spirit prophesied through him (Creed). His short-term prophecies came to pass in a matter of three days (40:12, 18). This proved that his long-term prophecies concerning Jacob and his family would also come to pass (ch. 37). All God's prophets are judged on this basis: if their short-term prophecies come to pass, then their long-term ones are to be believed. Otherwise, they are false prophets.

41:37 Although Pharaoh was an idolater, he recognized the Spirit of God speaking in the prophet Joseph (Creed).

41:52 Joseph calls Egypt the land of my humiliation. Such is this fallen world to those who look for their inheritance in the world to come (Heb 11:13–16, 22; Creed).

42:1 Jacob's sons were lazy, and lazy people are unruly (2Th 3:6–12). Such people lack reverence, lack self-control in speech, and are quick to abuse others (JohnCas). These sinful passions characterized Jacob's sons when they sold Joseph into Egypt.

42:9 Joseph was a true prophet, for the Holy Spirit spoke by him. Thus, his prophecies concerning Jacob and his sons came to pass. His long-term prophecy concerning the general resurrection will also come to pass (50:25; Heb 11:22). Therefore, his prophecies are trustworthy.

42:18 Joseph feared God. "The fear of God is the beginning of wisdom, and those who practice it have a good understanding" (Pr 1:7). Joseph's fear and good understanding enabled him to love his brothers and to forgive them for their abuse of him.

42:22 Joseph's brothers did not fear God; therefore, they would not listen to wise counsel when they sinned against him. So they ended up with a guilty conscience (AthanG).

43:14 Jacob knew the grace of God, which enabled him to accept whatever the outcome would be in the case of Simeon and Benjamin. St. Paul also said, "By the grace of God I am what I am" (1Co 15:10). And St. Athanasius the Great said that man fell into death because he abandoned the grace of God the Word.

43:18 Their guilty consciences regarding their previous abuse of Joseph also led them into vain imaginations in this circumstance. Their imaginings, so to speak, ran wild, causing them great anxiety.

43:23 In spite of their guilty consciences, the grace of God was abundant toward them and delivered them from anxiety. Both God and Joseph loved them, for both cared about them.

📖 43:26–31 This passage, coupled with 45:1–16, is read during Wednesday Vespers in the sixth week of Great Lent.

43:28 Joseph honored his father Jacob by blessing him in God, which also showed he knew God's grace. In honoring Jacob he honored God.

43:34 God's grace in people leads to great joy in their midst.

45:1 Joseph made himself known to his brothers, and Jesus makes Himself known to His own brethren (Jn 10:4, 14; Heb 2:11).

45:5 Joseph's brothers sold him into Egypt, but God sent him there. The brothers sold him for profit, but God sent him to save lives. God overcame their sinful purpose with His saving purpose. Christ died for our sins, and thus overcame all injustices for man's salvation.

45:9 God made Joseph lord of all Egypt, but He made Jesus Lord of all the world (Acts 2:36; 10:36).

45:27 Jacob's spirit revived when he realized Joseph was alive; our spirit revives when we realize Jesus is risen from the dead.

46:1 The Well of Oath foreshadowed the reconciliation of man to God through the Word of God, the Lord Jesus Christ (see note at 22:16).

46:2 God spoke to Israel in and through His Word and Son, for He alone reveals the Father (AthanG). Therefore, Israel's vision was a personal appearance of the Son of God to him. The Son is also called the Angel of God. As He spoke to Abraham and said, "Abraham! Abraham!" (22:11), so now He speaks to Jacob, saying, "Jacob, Jacob!" Therefore, Jacob went to Egypt by divine revelation from the Father through the Son.

46:30 Israel could die in peace because Joseph was alive. Even so, we can die in peace because Jesus is risen from the dead, and we believe in Him.

47:9 Jacob described himself and his fathers, Abraham and Isaac, as sojourners, for he embraced Abraham's faith and thus "looked for the resurrection of the dead and the life of the world to come" (Creed; Heb 11:13–16, 21). And although he had suffered much in his life, he saw this as nothing compared to the glory to be revealed (Rom 8:18).

47:29 Jacob sees grace as synonymous with mercy and as coupled with truth. The apostle John said that the Word of God who became flesh is "full of grace and truth" (Jn 1:14).

47:30 Jacob wished to be buried with his fathers because he looked to the inheritance of the world to come.

48:3 The God who appeared to Jacob at Luz was the Son and Word of God, also called the Angel of God. It was He who blessed Jacob, for no created angel could do this (AthanG).

48:4 God the Word speaks of His Incarnation, by which the Church (a gathering of nations) would be established. He would give His Church the world to come (this land as an everlasting possession). Jacob's seed would be Christ, and with Him, His Church (Gal 3).

48:5 Ephraim and Manasseh were born to Joseph as his natural sons, born from his nature. So too, the Son and Word is the natural Son and Word of the Father, born from His nature (AthanG).

48:8 Joseph recognized his sons as gifts from God, for they belonged to God more than to him.

48:15, 16 The Holy Spirit spoke by the prophet Jacob (Creed), who identified the Angel as God. He is the Son and Word of God. For no created angel could redeem Jacob from all evil (AthanG). Therefore, the Holy Trinity is revealed to a certain extent in the Old Testament, and fully in the New.

48:21 The Holy Spirit spoke by Jacob and predicted that God would bring Joseph back to Canaan. Joseph's bones were later taken to Canaan, prefiguring the resurrection from the dead (Heb 11:22).

49:1 The Holy Spirit prophesies by Jacob concerning the last days (Creed). These last days are those between the two comings of Christ, and all these prophecies refer to these last days.

49:3 Reuben is called the firstborn and the beginning of Jacob's children; therefore, he was Jacob's natural son, as were all his brothers. But he was not a work of Jacob's, as for example, when he took care of his sheep. So too, the Son and Word of God is begotten from the nature of the Father; therefore, He is not a work of the Father (AthanG).

49:7 Simeon and Levi, as well as their brother, Reuben (v. 3), were hardened in their self-will. For their injustice was chosen freely (v. 5). Therefore, sin is a matter of will and choice. It is not a matter of nature, for they were good by nature, but evil by choice. The same is true of all who sin.

49:8–12 This prophecy relates to Christ in numerous ways, two of which are as follows: He would rise from the dead (who shall rouse Him, v. 9), and He would be the Lawgiver (v. 10). For every law of God the Father given to man, including the Mosaic Law, is given in and through Him.

49:14, 15 Issachar rested between the inheritances of both the Old and New Testaments, and he farmed them by hard work (AthanG).

📖 49:33—50:26 This passage is read during Friday Vespers in the sixth week of Great Lent.

50:21 Joseph spoke to the heart of his brothers, for the heart has spiritual eyes to see the things of God (Eph 1:18). If their eyes were clear, they would be able to see God's forgiveness expressed through Joseph (v. 17), and that He worked their evil for good, in order to save many people alive (v. 20). They would also be thankful to God for providing for their welfare (v. 21). Truly, God is good!

50:24, 25 The Holy Spirit spoke two prophecies by the prophet Joseph (Creed): the Exodus of Israel from Egypt and the resurrection from the dead. For the burial of his bones in Canaan prefigures "the resurrection from the dead and the life of the world to come" (Creed).

50:26 The life that began in Paradise (2:8) ended in a coffin in Egypt. For Adam's sin brought mortality and death into the world. But Christ came, trampled down death by death, and opened the gates of heaven to us.

The Book of Exodus

Author

According to Hebrew and Christian tradition, Moses is the author of Exodus. This is the teaching of Christ (Mk 1:44), of His disciples (Jn 1:45), and of the book itself (17:14).

Date

Exodus, which means "departure," was written during the forty years of Israel's wandering in the wilderness, from the crossing of the Red Sea to the entrance into the land of Canaan.

Major Themes

God's covenant with Israel and the judgment of her oppressors. God reveals Himself and His Name "YAHWEH," meaning "I AM the Existing One."

Background

Exodus immediately follows in the timeline after Genesis. God brought about a series of miracles to release His people from slavery in Egypt. The nation of Egypt was judged by God for its treatment of the Hebrews and its rejection of Him as the One True God. The forty years of wandering in the wilderness is the consequence of Israel's sins, as well as a necessary time of preparation to inherit the promised land as a people set apart for God.

Israel Suffers in Egypt

1 Now these are the names of the children of Israel who came to Egypt; each man and his household came with Jacob: 2 Reuben, Simeon, Levi, and Judah; 3 Issachar, Zebulun, and Benjamin; 4 Dan, Naphtali, Gad, and Asher. 5 All those who were the seed of Jacob were seventy-five persons (for Joseph was in Egypt already). 6 Now Joseph died, as well as all his brothers and all that generation. 7 Then the children of Israel increased and multiplied, became numerous, and grew exceedingly mighty; and the land was filled with them.

8 But there arose a new king over Egypt who knew not Joseph. 9 Then he said to his nation, “Look, the race of the children of Israel is a great multitude and is stronger than we; 10 come, let us outwit them, lest they multiply, and it happen in the event of war that they also join our enemies and fight against us and so escape out of the land.” 11 Therefore he set taskmasters over them to afflict them in their works; and they built for Pharaoh strong cities—Pithom and Raamses and On, which is Heliopolis. 12 But the more they humbled them, the more they multiplied and grew; and the Egyptians greatly abhorred the children of Israel. 13 So the Egyptians tyrannized the children of Israel by force. 14 They made their lives bitter with hard labor—in mortar, in brick, and in all manner of service in the field. All their labor in which they made them serve was by violence.

15 Then the king of the Egyptians spoke to the Hebrew midwives, of whom the name of one was Shiphrah and the name of the other Puah; 16 and he said, “When you do the duties of a midwife for the Hebrew women and see they are about to give birth, if it is a male, then you shall kill him; but if a female, let her live.” 17 But the midwives feared God and did not do as the king of Egypt commanded them, but saved the male children alive.

18 So the king of Egypt called for the midwives and said to them, “Why have you done this thing and saved the male children alive?” 19 Thus the midwives said to Pharaoh, “Because the Hebrew women are not like the women of Egypt; for they are lively and give birth before the midwives come to them.” 20 Therefore God dealt well with the midwives, and the people multiplied and grew very mighty. 21 So it was, because the midwives feared God, He provided households for them. 22 So Pharaoh commanded all his people, saying, “Every male born to the Hebrews you shall cast into the river, but every female you shall save alive.”

Exodus 2

The Birth of Moses

1 Now a man of the house of Levi went and took as wife a daughter of Levi.
2 So the woman conceived and bore a son; and seeing he was a beautiful child, they hid him three months. 3 But when she could no longer hide him, she took an ark of bulrushes, daubed it with asphalt, put the child in it, and laid it in the reeds by the river’s bank. 4 Now his sister was watching from a distance to learn what would be done with him.

5 Then the daughter of Pharaoh came down to bathe at the river, and her maidens walked along the riverside; and seeing the ark among the reeds, she sent a maid to get it. 6 So when she opened the ark, she saw the child crying, and the daughter of Pharaoh had compassion on him and said, “This is one of the Hebrews’ children.” 7 Then his sister said to Pharaoh’s daughter, “Shall I go and call a nurse for you from the Hebrew women, that she may nurse the child for you?” 8 So Pharaoh’s daughter said to her, “Go.” Then the maiden went and called the child’s mother. 9 Pharaoh’s daughter then said to her, “Take this child and nurse him for me, and I will pay you.” So the woman took the child and nursed him. 10 Now when the boy was grown, she brought him to Pharaoh’s daughter, and he became her son; and she called his name Moses, saying, “Because I drew him out of the water.”

Moses Flees to Midian

11 Thus it came to pass in those days, when Moses was grown, that he went out to his brethren and saw their burdens. He also saw an Egyptian beating a Hebrew, one of his brethren of the sons of Israel. 12 So he looked this way and that, and when he saw no one, he killed the Egyptian and hid him in the sand.
13 When he went out the second day, he saw two Hebrew men fighting, and he said to the one who did the wrong, “Why are you hitting your neighbor?” 14 He replied, “Who made you a prince and a judge over us? Do you intend to kill me as you killed the Egyptian?” So Moses was alarmed and said, “Surely this thing is known.” 15 Thus when Pharaoh heard this matter, he sought to kill Moses. But Moses fled from the face of Pharaoh and dwelt in the land of Midian; and he sat down by a well.

18When they came to Reuel their father, he said to them, "How is it you came so soon today?" 19They replied, "An Egyptian delivered us from the shepherds; and he also drew enough water for us and watered our sheep." 20So he said to his daughters, "And where is he? Why have you left the man? Call him, that he may eat bread." 21Then Moses dwelt with the man, and he gave Zipporah his daughter to Moses. 22So the woman conceived and bore Moses a son, and he called his name Gershom; for he said, "I have been a sojourner in a foreign land."

23Now in the course of time, it happened that the king of Egypt died. Then the children of Israel groaned because of their labors and cried out; and their cry came up to God because of the labors. 24So God heard their groaning, and God remembered His covenant with Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob. 25Then God looked upon the children of Israel and was made known to them.

Exodus 3

The Burning Bush

1Now Moses was tending the sheep of Jethro his father-in-law, the priest of Midian. Then he led them to the back of the desert and came to Horeb, the mountain of God. 2Then the Angel of the Lord appeared to him in a flame of fire from the midst of a bush. So he saw the bush burning with fire, but the bush was not consumed. 3So Moses said, "I will now turn aside and see this great sight, why the bush is not consumed."

4When therefore the Lord saw him turn aside to look, God called to him from the midst of the bush and said, "Moses! Moses!" Then he said, "Here I am." 5So He said, "Do not come any closer. Take your sandals off your feet, for the place where you stand is holy ground." 6Moreover He said, "I am the God of your father—the God of Abraham, the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob." Moses then hid his face, for he was afraid to look at God.

7Then the Lord said, "Indeed, I have seen the affliction of My people in Egypt, and have heard their cry because of their taskmasters; for I know their sorrow. 8So I came down to deliver them out of the hand of the Egyptians and to bring them up from that land to a good and large land, to a land flowing with milk and honey, to the place of the Canaanites, the Hittites, the Amorites, the Perizzites, the Gergesites, the Hivites, and the Jebusites. 9Now therefore, behold, the cry of the children of Israel has come to Me, and I have also seen the affliction with which the Egyptians oppress them. 10Come now, I will send you to Pharaoh, to bring My people, the children of Israel, out of the land of Egypt."

11But Moses said to God, "Who am I to go to Pharaoh, king of Egypt, to bring the children of Israel out of the land of Egypt?" 12Then God said to Moses, "I will be with you, and this shall be a sign to you that I have sent you: When you have brought the people out of Egypt, you shall serve God on this mountain." 13So Moses said to God, "Indeed, when I go to the children of Israel and say to them, 'The God of your fathers sent me to you,' and they ask me, 'What is His name?' what shall I tell them?"

14Then God said to Moses, "I AM the Existing One." He also said, "Thus you shall say to the children of Israel: 'The Existing One sent me to you.' " 15Moreover God said to Moses again, "Thus you shall say to the children of Israel: 'The Lord God of your fathers—the God of Abraham, the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob—sent me to you.' This is My name forever, and My memorial to all generations. 16Go then, and gather the elders of the children of Israel together and say to them, 'The Lord God of your fathers—the God of Abraham, the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob—appeared to me, saying, "I have surely looked upon you and all the things that happened to you in Egypt; 17and I will bring you up out of the affliction of Egypt to the land of the Canaanites, the Hittites, the Amorites, the Perizzites, the Gergesites, the Hivites, and the Jebusites, to a land flowing with milk and honey.' "

18"Then they will heed your voice; and you shall go, you and the elders of Israel, to the king of Egypt; and you shall say to him, 'The God of the Hebrews met with us; and now, let us go three days' journey into the desert to sacrifice to our God.' 19But I know Pharaoh the king of Egypt will not let you go, not even by a mighty hand. 20Thus I will stretch out My hand and strike the Egyptians with all My wonders which I will work among them; and after that he will let you go. 21Then I will give this people grace in the sight of the Egyptians; and when you go, you shall not go empty-handed. 22But every woman shall ask of her neighbor, namely, of her who dwells near her house, articles of silver, gold, and clothing; and you shall put them on your sons and daughters. Thus you shall plunder the Egyptians."

Attesting Miracles

[1]Then Moses answered and said, "But suppose they will not believe or listen to my voice; suppose they say, 'The Lord did not appear to you.' " [2]So the Lord said to him, "What is in your hand?" He said, "A rod." [3]Thus He said, "Cast it on the ground." So he cast it on the ground, and it became a serpent; and Moses fled from it. [4]Then the Lord said to Moses, "Reach out your hand and take it by the tail" (so he reached out his hand and caught it, and it became a rod in his hand), [5]"so they may believe the Lord God of their fathers—the God of Abraham, the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob—appeared to you."

[6]Furthermore, the Lord said to him, "Now put your hand in your bosom." So he put his hand in his bosom, and when he took it out, it was leprous like snow. [7]Again He said, "Put your hand in your bosom" (so he put his hand in his bosom again and then removed it; and it was restored to the complexion of his other flesh), [8]"then it will be, if they do not believe you, nor heed the message of the first sign, they may believe the message of the second. [9]Then it shall be, if they do not believe even these two signs or listen to your voice, you shall take water from the river and pour it on the dry land; and the water you take from the river will become blood on the dry land."

[10]Then Moses said to the Lord, "I pray, O Lord, I am not capable, neither before nor since You spoke to Your servant; but I am weak in speech and slow of tongue." [11]So the Lord said to him, "Who made man's mouth? And who made the mute, the deaf, the seeing, and the blind? Did not I, God? [12]Now therefore, go, and I will open your mouth and teach you what you shall say." [13]But he said, "I pray, O Lord, appoint another capable one whom You may send."

[14]Then the Lord was very angry with Moses, and He said, "Is not Aaron the Levite your brother? I know he will speak for you, and indeed, he will come out to meet you; and indeed, when he sees you, he will be glad in heart. [15]Now you shall speak to him and put My words in his mouth, and I will open your mouth and his mouth; and I will teach you what you shall do. [16]So he shall be your spokesman to the people, and he himself shall be your mouth; and you shall be to him as God. [17]Now you shall take in your hand the rod that was turned into a serpent, with which you shall work miracles."

Moses Returns to Egypt

[18]So Moses went and returned to Jethro his father-in-law, and said to him, "I will go and return to my brethren in Egypt and see whether they are still alive." And Jethro said to Moses, "Go in peace." [19]Now in those days, after some time, the king of Egypt died. So the Lord said to Moses in Midian, "Go, return to Egypt; for all the men who sought your life are dead." [20]Then Moses took his wife and sons and set them on beasts of burden; and he returned to the land of Egypt, and Moses took the rod of God in his hand. [21]Again, the Lord said to Moses, "When you go back to Egypt, see that you work before Pharaoh all the wonders I put in your hand. But I will harden his heart, and he will not let the people go. [22]Then you shall say to Pharaoh, 'Thus says the Lord: "Israel is My firstborn son. [23]So I say to you, 'Let My people go so they may serve Me.' But if you refuse to let them go, indeed, I will kill your firstborn son." ' "

[24]Thus it came to pass on the way, at the inn, that the Angel of the Lord met him and sought to kill him. [25]Then Zipporah took a sharp stone and cut off the foreskin of her son, and fell at His feet and said, "The flow of blood from my son's circumcision is stopped." [26]So He departed from him, because she said, "The flow of blood from my son's circumcision is stopped." [27]Now the Lord said to Aaron, "Go into the desert to meet Moses." So he went and met him on the mountain of God, and they kissed one another. [28]Then Moses reported to Aaron all the words of the Lord which He sent to him, and all the signs which He commanded him. [29]Thus Moses and Aaron went and gathered together the elders of the children of Israel. [30]Aaron then spoke all the words the Lord spoke to Moses, and he did the signs in the sight of the people. [31]So the people believed and rejoiced because God had visited the children of Israel and because He had seen their affliction. Then the people bowed and worshiped.

Moses and Aaron before Pharaoh

[1]Now after this Moses and Aaron went and spoke to Pharaoh, “Thus says the Lord God of Israel: ‘Let My people go, so they may hold a feast to Me in the desert.’ ” [2]Then Pharaoh said, “Who is He, that I should obey His voice to let Israel go? I do not know the Lord, nor will I let Israel go.” [3]So they said, “The God of the Hebrews has called us to Him. Let us go three days’ journey into the desert and sacrifice to the Lord our God, lest at any time death or slaughter happen to us.” [4]Then the king of Egypt said to them, “Why, Moses and Aaron, do you take the people from their work? Get back to your work.” [5]Again Pharaoh said, “Look, the people of the land are many now, so let us not give them rest from their work.”

[6]So the same day Pharaoh commanded the taskmasters of the people and their clerks, saying, [7]“You shall no longer give the people straw to make bricks as yesterday and the day before. Let them go and gather straw for themselves. [8]Furthermore, you shall lay on them a daily quota of bricks they are to do each day. You shall hold them to it. You shall not reduce it, for they are loafers; therefore they cry out, saying, ‘Let us go and sacrifice to our God.’ [9]Let the labors of these men be oppressive and cause them anxiety; and let them not pay attention to empty words.”

[10]So the taskmasters of the people and their clerks went out and spoke to the people, saying, “Thus says Pharaoh: ‘I will not give you straw. [11]Go, get it yourselves wherever you can find it; yet nothing will be reduced from your workload.’ ” [12]The people were then dispersed throughout all the land of Egypt to gather stubble for straw. [13]The taskmasters also forced them to hurry, saying, “Fulfill your daily quota of work as when straw was given you.” [14]Also the clerks from the race of the children of Israel, whom Pharaoh’s taskmasters set over them, were beaten and questioned, “Why have you not fulfilled your task in making bricks both yesterday and the day before, and also today?”

[15]Then the clerks of Israel’s sons entered and cried out to Pharaoh, saying, “Why are you dealing thus with your servants? [16]No straw is given your servants, and they say to us, ‘Make bricks!’ and indeed, your servants are beaten, but the fault is with your own people.” [17]But he said, “You are loafers! You are loafers! Therefore you say, ‘Let us go and sacrifice to the Lord.’ [18]Now therefore, go and work; for no straw shall be given you; yet you shall deliver the quota of bricks.” [19]So the clerks from the children of Israel saw they were in trouble after it was said, “You shall not reduce any bricks from your daily quota.”

20 Then as they departed from Pharaoh, they met Moses and Aaron, who stood there to meet them. 21 They said to them, “Let the Lord look on you and judge, because you have made us abhorrent in the sight of Pharaoh and in the sight of his servants, to put a sword in his hand to kill us.”

God Promises Israel’s Deliverance

22 So Moses returned to the Lord and said, “O Lord, why have You brought trouble on this people? Why is it You sent me? 23 From the time I went to Pharaoh to speak in Your name, he has afflicted this people; neither have You delivered Your people at all.”

Exodus 6

1 Then the Lord said to Moses, “Now you shall see what I will do to Pharaoh; for with a strong hand he will let them go, and with a strong hand he will drive them from his land.”

2 God also spoke to Moses and said to him, “I am the Lord. 3 I appeared to Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob as their God, but I did not reveal to them My name, Lord. 4 I also established My covenant with them to give them the land of the Canaanites, the land of their sojourn, in which they were strangers. 5 I have also heard the groaning of the children of Israel, whom the Egyptians keep in bondage, and I remembered My covenant. 6 Therefore say to the children of Israel: ‘I am the Lord; I will bring you out from under the Egyptian tyranny; I will rescue you from their bondage and redeem you with an outstretched arm and great judgments. 7 I will take you as My people and be your God. Then you shall know I am the Lord your God who brought you out from under the Egyptian tyranny. 8 I will also bring you into the land I swore to give Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, and I will give it to you as a heritage: I am the Lord.’ ” 9 So Moses spoke thus to the children of Israel; but they paid no heed to Moses because of their faintheartedness and cruel bondage.

10 Then the Lord spoke to Moses, saying, 11 “Go in, tell Pharaoh king of Egypt to send forth the children of Israel from his land.” 12 Moses then spoke before the Lord, saying, “The children of Israel have paid no heed to me.
How then shall Pharaoh heed me, for I am not eloquent?” 13 Thus the Lord spoke to Moses and Aaron, and gave them a command for the children of Israel and for Pharaoh king of Egypt, to send forth the children of Israel out of the land of Egypt.

The Families of Moses and Aaron

[14]Now these are the heads of their fathers' houses: The sons of Reuben, the firstborn of Israel, were Hanoch, Pallu, Hezron, and Carmi. This is the family of Reuben. [15]Now the sons of Simeon were Jemuel, Jamin, Ohad, Jachin, Zohar, and Shaul the son of a Canaanite woman. These are the families of Simeon. [16]Now these are the names of the sons of Levi according to their genealogy: Gershon, Kohath, and Merari; and Levi lived one hundred and thirty-seven years. [17]The sons of Gershon were Libni and Shimi, the houses of their family. [18]The sons of Kohath were Amram, Izhar, Hebron, and Uzziel; and Kohath lived one hundred and thirty-three years. [19]The sons of Merari were Mahli and Mushi. These are the families of Levi according to their kindreds. [20]Now Amram took as his wife Jochebed, the daughter of his father's brother; and she bore him Aaron and Moses and Miriam their sister; and Amram lived one hundred and thirty-seven years. [21]The sons of Izhar were Korah, Nepheg, and Zichri. [22]The sons of Uzziel were Mishael, Elzaphan, and Zithri. [23]Now Aaron took as his wife Elisheba, daughter of Amminadab, the sister of Nahshon; and she bore him Nadab, Abihu, Eleazar, and Ithamar. [24]The sons of Korah were Assir, Elkanah, and Abiasaph. This is the genealogy of Korah. [25]Eleazar, Aaron's son, took as his wife one of the daughters of Putiel; and she bore him Phinehas. These are the heads of the families of the Levites according to their genealogy. [26]Now these are the same Aaron and Moses to whom God said, "Bring out the children of Israel from the land of Egypt with their army." [27]These are the ones who spoke to Pharaoh king of Egypt to bring out the children of Israel from Egypt. These are the same Moses and Aaron.

God's Instructions to Moses and Aaron

[28]In the day the Lord spoke to Moses in the land of Egypt, [29]the Lord said to him, "I am the Lord. Speak to Pharaoh king of Egypt everything I tell you." [30]But Moses said before the Lord, "Behold, I am weak in speech; and how shall Pharaoh heed me?"

Exodus 7

[1]Now the Lord said to Moses, “See, I have made you a god to Pharaoh, and Aaron your brother shall be your prophet. [2]You shall speak all I command you, and Aaron your brother shall speak to Pharaoh to send the children of Israel from his land. [3]I will harden Pharaoh’s heart and multiply My signs and My wonders in the land of Egypt. [4]But Pharaoh will not heed you; and I shall lay My hand on Egypt and bring My people, the children of Israel, out of the land of Egypt with My power and great vengeance. [5]Then all the Egyptians shall know I am the Lord, when I stretch out My hand on Egypt and bring out the children of Israel from among them.” [6]Thus, as the Lord commanded Moses and Aaron, so they did. [7]Now Moses was eighty years old and Aaron eighty-three years old when they spoke to Pharaoh.

[8]Again the Lord spoke to Moses and Aaron, saying, [9]“When Pharaoh speaks to you, saying, ‘Show us a sign or a wonder,’ then you shall say to Aaron your brother, ‘Take your rod and cast it on the ground before Pharaoh, and it shall become a serpent.’ ” [10]So Moses and Aaron went before Pharaoh and his servants, and they did so, as the Lord commanded them. Aaron cast down his rod before Pharaoh and his servants, and it became a serpent. [11]In response, Pharaoh called together the wise men, the sorcerers, and the charmers of Egypt, and in like manner, they did the same with their sorceries. [12]For each man threw down his rod, and they became serpents. But Aaron’s rod swallowed up their rods. [13]But Pharaoh’s heart was hardened, and he did not give heed to them as the Lord commanded.

The Plague of Water Turned to Blood

[14]So the Lord said to Moses, “Pharaoh’s heart is hardened; he refuses to let the people go. [15]Go to Pharaoh early in the morning, when he goes to the water, and you shall stand by the river’s bank to meet him; and you shall take in your hand the rod that turned to a serpent. [16]Then you shall say to him, ‘The Lord God of the Hebrews has sent me to you, saying, “Let My people go, to serve Me in the desert”; but indeed, until now you would not hear. [17]Thus says the Lord: “By this you shall know I am the Lord. Behold, I will strike the water in the river with the rod in my hand, and it shall be turned to blood. [18]Then the fish in the river shall die, the river shall stink, and the Egyptians will be unable to drink water from the river.” ’ ” [19]Then the Lord spoke to Moses, “Say to Aaron your brother, ‘Take your rod in your hand and stretch out your hand over the waters of Egypt—over their rivers, their canals, their ponds, and all their standing water, so they may become blood.

There shall be blood throughout all the land of Egypt, both in vessels of wood and of stone.' "

20So Moses and Aaron did so, as the Lord commanded them. Aaron lifted his hand with the rod and struck the waters in the river, in the sight of Pharaoh and his servants. Then all the waters in the river were turned to blood. 21The fish in the river died, the river stank, and the Egyptians could not drink water from the river. So there was blood throughout all the land of Egypt. 22Then the sorcerers of Egypt did the same with their sorceries; and Pharaoh's heart was hardened, and he did not heed them, as the Lord said. 23Pharaoh then turned and went to his house. Neither was his heart moved by this. 24So all the Egyptians dug around the river for water to drink, because they could not drink water from the river. 25Then seven days passed after the Lord struck the river.

The Plague of Frogs

26Now the Lord spoke to Moses, "Go to Pharaoh and say to him, 'Thus says the Lord: "Let My people go to serve Me. 27But if you refuse to let them go, behold, I will smite all your territory with frogs. 28So the river shall bring forth frogs abundantly, which shall go up and come into your house, into your bedroom, on your bed, into the houses of your servants, on your people, into your ovens, and into your kneading bowls. 29The frogs shall come up on you, your people, and all your servants." ' "

Exodus 8

1Again the Lord spoke to Moses, "Say to Aaron your brother, 'Stretch out your hand with your rod over the rivers, the canals, and the pools, and cause frogs to come up on the land of Egypt.' " 2So Aaron stretched out his hand over the waters of Egypt, and the frogs came up and covered the land of Egypt. 3Then the sorcerers did the same with their sorceries and brought up frogs on the land of Egypt.

4Pharaoh then called for Moses and Aaron and said, "Pray to the Lord for me, and let Him take away the frogs from me and my people; and I will let the people go and sacrifice to the Lord." 5Moses replied to Pharaoh, "Appoint me a time when I shall pray for you, for your servants, and for your people to make the frogs disappear from you, your people, and your houses. Only in the river will they remain.” [6]So Pharaoh said, “Tomorrow.” Moses then said, “Let it be according to your word, that you may know this is none other than the Lord. [7]Now the frogs shall depart from you, your houses, your servants, and your people. They shall remain in the river only.”

[8]Then Moses and Aaron departed from Pharaoh, and Moses cried to the Lord about the time He had agreed to, concerning the frogs He had brought against Pharaoh. [9]So the Lord did just as Moses said, and the frogs died away from the houses, the villages, and the fields. [10]Then they gathered them together in heaps, and the land stank. [11]But when Pharaoh saw there was relief, his heart was hardened; and he did not heed them, as the Lord said.

The Plague of Lice

[12]Then the Lord said to Moses, “Say to Aaron, ‘Stretch out your rod and strike the dust of the land, that it may become lice on men, on four-footed animals, and throughout all the land of Egypt.’ ” [13]Thus Aaron stretched out his hand with his rod and struck the dust of the earth, and it became lice on man and four-footed animals; and there were lice in all the dust of the land. [14]Now the sorcerers so worked with their sorceries to bring forth lice, but they could not; and there were lice on man and four-footed animals. [15]Then the sorcerers said to Pharaoh, “This is the finger of God.” But Pharaoh’s heart was hardened, and he did not heed them, as the Lord said.

The Plague of Flies

[16]Again the Lord said to Moses, “Rise early in the morning and stand before Pharaoh as he goes to the water. Then say to him, ‘Thus says the Lord: “Let My people go to serve Me in the desert. [17]Or else, if you will not let My people go, behold, I will send the dog-fly on you and your servants, and on your people and into your houses. The houses of the Egyptians shall be filled with the dog-fly, and also the ground on which they stand. [18]Now on that day I will set apart the land of Goshen, in which My people dwell, that no dog-fly be there, that you may know I am the Lord, the Lord of all the earth. [19]I will make a difference between My people and your people. Tomorrow this shall be a sign in the land.” ’ ” [20]So the Lord did thus; and the dog-fly came in abundance into the houses of Pharaoh, and into his servants’ houses, and into all the land of Egypt, and the land was destroyed by the dog-fly.

[21]Then Pharaoh called for Moses and Aaron and said, “Go, sacrifice to your God in the land.” [22]But Moses said, “It is not right to do so, for we would be sacrificing the abomination of the Egyptians to the Lord our God. If we should sacrifice the abomination of the Egyptians before their eyes, they would stone us. [23]We will go three days' journey into the desert and sacrifice to the Lord our God, as He said to us." [24]Pharaoh then said, "I will send you away, and you shall sacrifice to the Lord your God in the desert; only you shall not go very far away, and then pray for me to the Lord." [25]Then Moses said, "Indeed, I will go out from you and pray to God, and tomorrow the dog-fly will depart from you, and from your servants and your people. But let Pharaoh not deal deceitfully anymore in not letting the people go sacrifice to the Lord."

[26]So Moses went out from Pharaoh and prayed to God. [27]Thus the Lord did as Moses said and removed the dog-fly from Pharaoh, his servants, and his people. Not one remained. [28]But Pharaoh hardened his heart at this time also; neither would he let the people go.

The Plague of Diseased Cattle

[1]Now the Lord said to Moses, "Go to Pharaoh and you shall say to him, 'Thus says the Lord God of the Hebrews: "Let My people go so they may serve Me. [2]But if you refuse to let them go and still hold them, [3]behold, the hand of the Lord will be on your cattle in the fields—on the horses, the donkeys, the camels, the oxen, and the sheep—a very severe pestilence. [4]Then I will make a clear distinction between the cattle of Israel and the cattle of Egypt. So nothing shall die of all that belongs to the children of Israel." ' "

[5]Then God appointed a set time, saying, "Tomorrow the Lord will do this thing in the land." [6]So the Lord did this thing on the next day, and all the cattle of the Egyptians died; but of the cattle of the children of Israel, not one died. [7]Then Pharaoh sent, and indeed, not even one among the cattle of the Israelites was dead. But the heart of Pharaoh was hardened, and he did not let the people go.

The Plague of Boils

[8]So the Lord said to Moses and Aaron, "Take for yourselves handfuls of ashes from a furnace, and let Moses scatter it toward heaven in the sight of Pharaoh; [9]and let it become dust in all the land of Egypt, and it will cause boils to break out in sores on man and beast throughout all the land of Egypt.” [10]So they took ashes from the furnace and stood before Pharaoh, and Moses scattered them toward heaven; and they caused boils to break out in sores on man and beast. [11]Now the sorcerers could not stand before Moses because of the sores, for the sores were on the sorcerers and in all the land of Egypt. [12]But the Lord hardened Pharaoh’s heart; and he did not heed them, as the Lord said to Moses.

The Plague of Hail

[13]Then the Lord said to Moses, “Rise early in the morning and stand before Pharaoh, and say to him, ‘Thus says the Lord God of the Hebrews: “Let My people go, so they may serve Me, [14]for at this time I will send all My plagues into your very heart, and on your servants and your people, that you may know there is not another such as I in all the earth. [15]For now I will stretch forth My hand and smite you and kill your people, and you will be cut off from the earth. [16]But for this very reason were you preserved, that I might display in you My strength, and that My name might be declared in all the earth. [17]As yet, you exalt yourself against My people in that you will not let them go. [18]Behold, tomorrow about this time, I will cause very heavy hail to rain down, such as has not been in Egypt since its founding until now. [19]Therefore, hurry now and gather your cattle and all you have in the fields, for the hail shall come down on every man and animal found in the fields; and whatever is not brought home shall die.” ’ ” [20]Thus he who feared the word of the Lord among the servants of Pharaoh gathered his cattle into the houses. [21]But he who did not regard the word of the Lord left his servants and cattle in the field.

[22]Then the Lord said to Moses, “Stretch out your hand toward heaven, and there shall be hail in all the land of Egypt—both on man and cattle, and on every herb of the field, throughout the land of Egypt.” [23]So Moses stretched out his rod toward heaven; and the Lord sent thunder and hail, and fire darted to the ground. Thus the Lord rained hail on the land of Egypt. [24]This hail and the fire mingled with it were so very heavy, there was none like it in all the land of Egypt since it became a nation; and [25]throughout the whole land of Egypt it struck both man and cattle and every herb of the field, and broke every tree of the field. [26]Only in the land of Goshen, where the children of Israel were, there was no hail.

[27]Then Pharaoh sent and called for Moses and Aaron and said to them, “I have sinned this time. The Lord is righteous, and my people and I are ungodly. [28]Therefore, pray for me to the Lord, and let Him cause the thunderings of God to cease, and the hail and fire, for I will let you go and you shall stay no longer." [29]So Moses said to him, "As soon as I have gone out of the city, I will spread out my hands to the Lord; the thunder will cease, and there will be no more hail and rain, that you may know the earth is the Lord's. [30]But as for you and your servants, I know you will not yet fear the Lord." [31]Now the flax and the barley were struck, for the barley was ripe and the flax was beginning to seed. [32]But as for the wheat and the rye, they were not struck, for they were late crops.

[33]So Moses went out of the city from Pharaoh and spread out his hands to the Lord; then the thunder and the hail ceased, and the rain was not poured on the earth. [34]Thus when Pharaoh saw that the rain, the hail, and the thunder ceased, he sinned yet more; and he hardened his heart, and the heart of his servants. [35]So the heart of Pharaoh was hardened; neither would he let the children of Israel go, as the Lord said to Moses.

The Plague of Locusts

[1]Now the Lord said to Moses, "Go in to Pharaoh; for I have hardened his heart and the heart of his servants, that these signs may come upon them; [2]and that you may tell in the hearing of your children and your children's children, in how many things I mocked the Egyptians, and My wonders I wrought among them; and you shall know I am the Lord."

[3]So Moses and Aaron came in to Pharaoh and said to him, "Thus says the Lord God of the Hebrews: 'How long will you refuse to humble yourself before Me? Let My people go so they may serve Me. [4]Or else, if you refuse to let My people go, behold, tomorrow I will bring an abundance of locusts into your territory. [5]And they shall cover the face of the earth, so no one will be able to see the earth; and they shall eat the residue of what is left of the land's abundance which remains to you from the hail, and they shall eat every tree which grows up for you out of the field. [6]They shall fill your houses, the houses of all your servants, and the houses of all the Egyptians—which neither your fathers nor their forefathers saw, since the day they were on the earth to this day.' " So Moses turned and went out from Pharaoh.

7 Then Pharaoh’s servants said to him, “How long shall this man be a snare to us? Let the men go so they may serve their God. Do you not yet know Egypt is destroyed?”
8 So Moses and Aaron were brought again to Pharaoh, and he said to them, “Go, serve the Lord your God, but who are the ones going?” 9 Moses replied, “We will go with our young and old; with our sons and daughters, with our sheep and oxen, for we must hold a feast to the Lord.” 10 Then he said to them, “Let the Lord be with you when I let you and your little ones go, but not your belongings, for evil lies before you. 11 Not so, but let the men go and serve God, for that is what you desired.” Then they were driven out from Pharaoh’s presence.
12 Then the Lord said to Moses, “Stretch out your hand over the land of Egypt, and let the locusts come upon the land of Egypt and eat every herb of the land—everything the hail left.” 13 So Moses stretched out his rod toward heaven, and the Lord brought a south wind on the land all that day and night.
When it was morning, the south wind brought the locusts; 14 and the locusts went up over all the land of Egypt and rested in very great abundance on all the territory of Egypt. Previously there were no such locusts as they, nor shall there be such after them. 15 For they covered the face of the land, and the land was wasted. They ate every herb of the land and all the fruit of the trees left by the hail. There remained nothing green on the trees or on the plants of the field throughout all the land of Egypt.
16 Then Pharaoh called for Moses and Aaron in haste, and said, “I have sinned against the Lord your God and against you. 17 Now therefore, pardon my sin yet this time, and pray to the Lord your God that He take away from me this death.” 18 So Moses went out from Pharaoh and prayed to God.
19 Then the Lord brought in from the opposite direction a strong wind from the sea, which took the locusts away and blew them into the Red Sea. There remained not one locust in all the territory of Egypt. 20 But the Lord hardened Pharaoh’s heart, and he did not let the children of Israel go.

The Plague of Darkness

21 Then the Lord said to Moses, “Stretch out your hand toward heaven and let there be darkness over the land of Egypt, a darkness that may be felt.” 22 So Moses stretched out his hand toward heaven, and there was thick darkness in all the land of Egypt for three days. 23 No one saw his brother for three days; nor did anyone rise from his bed for three days. But all the children of Israel had light in their dwellings.

[24]Then Pharaoh called to Moses and said, “Go, serve the Lord your God; only let your sheep and oxen be kept back. Let your belongings also go with you.” [25]But Moses said, “No, but you must give us whole burnt offerings and sacrifices that we may sacrifice to the Lord our God. [26]Thus our cattle shall go with us; not a hoof shall be left behind. For we must take some of them to serve the Lord our God, and even we do not know in what manner we shall serve the Lord our God until we arrive there.”

[27]But the Lord hardened Pharaoh’s heart, and he would not let them go. [28]Then Pharaoh said to him, “Depart from me. Take heed to yourself that you see my face no more. For in the day you see my face, you shall die.” [29]So Moses said, “You have spoken well. I will never see your face again.”

Death of the Firstborn Announced

[1]Now the Lord said to Moses, “I will bring yet one more plague on Pharaoh and on Egypt. Afterward, he will let you go from here. When he lets you go, he will surely drive you out of here. [2]Speak now secretly in the hearing of the people, and let everyone ask from his neighbor articles of silver and gold and clothing.” [3]So the Lord gave the people grace in the sight of the Egyptians, and they lent to them. Moreover, the man Moses was very great before the Egyptians and before Pharaoh and all his servants.

[4]Then Moses said to Pharaoh, “Thus says the Lord: ‘About midnight I will go out into the midst of Egypt; [5]and all the firstborn in the land of Egypt shall die, from the firstborn of Pharaoh who sits on his throne even to the firstborn of the female servant behind the handmill, and all the firstborn of the cattle. [6]Then there shall be a great cry throughout all the land of Egypt such as was not like it before, nor shall be like it again. [7]But against not even one of the descendants of Israel, be it man or cattle, shall a dog snarl its tongue, that you may know the Lord shall make a wide distinction between the Egyptians and Israel.’ [8]And all these your servants shall come down to me and bow down to me, saying, ‘Go from here, and all the people who follow you.’ After that I will go out.” Then he went out from Pharaoh in great anger.

[9]But the Lord said to Moses, “Pharaoh will not heed you, that I may multiply My signs and wonders in the land of Egypt.” [10]So Moses and Aaron did all these signs and wonders in the land of Egypt before Pharaoh; and the Lord hardened Pharaoh's heart, and he did not let the children of Israel depart from the land of Egypt.

Exodus 12

The Passover

1Now the Lord spoke to Moses and Aaron in the land of Egypt, saying, 2"This month shall be your beginning of months; it shall be the first month of the year to you. 3Speak to all the congregation of the children of Israel, saying, 'On the tenth day of this month every man shall take for himself a lamb, according to the family households, a lamb for each home. 4If there be too few in a household, let him and his neighbor next to his house take it according to the number of souls; he will make his count in lambs according to the needs of each one. 5Your lamb shall be without blemish, a male of the first year. You shall take it from the sheep or the kids. 6Then you shall keep it until the fourteenth day of the same month, and the whole assembly of the congregation of Israel shall kill it at twilight. 7Then they shall take some of the blood and put it on the two doorposts and on the lintel of the houses where they eat it. 8They shall eat the flesh on that night, roasted in fire; with unleavened bread and bitter herbs they shall eat it. 9Do not eat it raw, nor boiled at all with water, but roasted in fire—its head with its legs and its entrails. 10You shall let none of it remain until morning, nor shall you break a bone of it; and what remains of it until morning you shall burn with fire.
11Thus you shall eat it: with a belt on your waist, your sandals on your feet, and your staff in your hand. You shall eat it in haste. It is the Lord's Pascha.
12For I will pass through the land of Egypt on that night and will strike all the firstborn in the land of Egypt, both man and beast; and against all the gods of Egypt I will execute vengeance: I am the Lord. 13Now the blood shall be a sign for you on the houses where you are; and when I see the blood, I will pass over you; and the plague shall not be on you to destroy you when I strike the land of Egypt. 14So this day shall be to you a memorial; and you shall keep it as a feast to the Lord throughout your generations. You shall keep it as a feast by an everlasting ordinance.

15'Seven days you shall eat unleavened bread. On the first day you shall remove leaven from your houses. For whoever eats leavened bread from the first day until the seventh day, that soul shall be cut off from Israel. [16]On the first day there shall be a holy convocation, and on the seventh day there shall be a holy convocation for you. No servile work shall be done on them; and whatever must be done by each soul, this only shall be done by you. [17]So you shall keep this commandment, for on this same day I will bring your army out of the land of Egypt. Therefore, you shall observe this day throughout your generations as an everlasting ordinance. [18]In the first month, on the fourteenth day of the month at evening, you shall eat unleavened bread, until the twenty-first day of the month at evening. [19]For seven days no leaven shall be found in your houses, since whoever eats what is leavened, that soul shall be cut off from the congregation of Israel, whether he is a stranger or a native of the land. [20]You shall eat nothing leavened; in all your dwellings you shall eat unleavened bread.' "

[21]Then Moses called for all the elders of Israel and said to them, "Go away and take a lamb for yourselves according to your families, and sacrifice the Pascha. [22]Then you shall take a bunch of hyssop, dip it in the blood in the basin, and strike the lintel and the two doorposts with the blood in the basin. But none of you shall go out from the door of his house until morning. [23]For the Lord will pass through to strike the Egyptians; and when He sees the blood on the lintel and on the two doorposts, the Lord will pass by the door and not allow the destroyer to come into your houses to strike you. [24]Now you shall observe this thing as an ordinance for you and your children forever. [25]So if you enter the land the Lord shall give you, as He promised, you shall keep this service. [26]Thus it shall be, when your children say to you, 'What does this service mean?' [27]that you shall say, 'This is the Paschal sacrifice of the Lord, who passed over the houses of the children of Israel in Egypt when He struck the Egyptians and delivered our households.' " So the people bowed down and worshiped. [28]Then the children of Israel went away and did as the Lord commanded Moses and Aaron; so they did.

The Plague of the Death of the Firstborn

[29]Now it came to pass at midnight that the Lord struck all the firstborn in the land of Egypt, from the firstborn of Pharaoh who sat on his throne to the firstborn of the captive woman in the dungeon, and the firstborn of all the cattle. [30]So Pharaoh rose in the night, he, all his servants, and all the Egyptians; and there was a great cry in all the land of Egypt, for there was not a house where there was not one dead. [31]Then he called for Moses and Aaron

by night and said, “Rise, go out from among my people, both you and the children of Israel. Go and serve the Lord as you said. 32Take also your sheep and oxen and go, and bless me as well.” 33The Egyptians also urged the people so as to send them out of the land in haste. For they said, “We shall all be dead.” 34So the people took their dough before it was leavened, having their kneading bowls bound up in their clothes on their shoulders. 35Thus the children of Israel did as Moses commanded them, and they asked from the Egyptians articles of silver, gold, and clothing. 36Now the Lord gave the people grace in the sight of the Egyptians, who lent to them. Thus they plundered the Egyptians.

The Exodus

37Then the children of Israel journeyed from Rameses to Succoth, about six hundred thousand men on foot, besides their belongings. 38A mixed multitude also went up with them, along with sheep, oxen, and a great deal of cattle. 39Then they baked unleavened cakes of the dough which they brought out of Egypt; for it was not leavened, because the Egyptians drove them out; and they could not remain, nor had they prepared for themselves provisions for the journey. 40Now the sojourn of the children of Israel who lived in Egypt and in the land of Canaan was four hundred and thirty years. 41Then it came to pass at the end of the four hundred and thirty years that the entire army of the Lord went out from the land of Egypt by night. 42It is a night of vigil to the Lord for bringing them out of the land of Egypt. This is that night of vigil to the Lord for all the children of Israel throughout their generations.

Paschal Regulations

43Now the Lord said to Moses and Aaron, “This is the law of Pascha: no foreigner shall eat it. 44But every man’s servant bought with money, when you circumcise him, then he may eat it. 45A sojourner and a hired servant shall not eat it. 46In one house it shall be eaten; you shall not carry any of the flesh outside the house, nor shall you break one of its bones. 47All the congregation of the children of Israel shall keep it. 48But when a stranger dwells with you and wants to keep the Lord’s Pascha, let all his males be circumcised, and then let him come near and sacrifice it; and he shall be as a native of the land. For no uncircumcised person shall eat it. 49One law shall be for the native-born and for the stranger who dwells among you.” 50Thus all the children of Israel did; as the Lord commanded Moses and Aaron, so they did. [51]So it came to pass, on that very same day, that the Lord brought the children of Israel out of the land of Egypt with their army.

Exodus 13

Sanctification of the Firstborn

[1]Now the Lord spoke to Moses, saying, [2]"Sanctify to Me all the firstborn, the first-begotten, whatever opens the womb among the children of Israel, both man and cattle; it is Mine."

The Feast of Unleavened Bread

[3]Then Moses said to the people, "Remember this day, in which you went out from the land of Egypt, out of the house of bondage; for by strength of hand the Lord brought you out from this place. No leavened bread shall be eaten. [4]On this day you are going out, in the month of new grains. [5]And it shall be, when the Lord your God brings you into the land of the Canaanites, the Hittites, the Hivites, the Gergesites, the Amorites, the Perizzites, and the Jebusites, which He swore to your fathers to give you, a land flowing with milk and honey, that you shall keep this service in this month. [6]Seven days you shall eat unleavened bread, and on the seventh day there shall be a feast to the Lord. [7]Unleavened bread shall be eaten seven days, and no leavened bread shall be seen among you; nor shall leaven be seen among you in all your regions. [8]Then you shall tell your son in that day, saying, 'This is done because of what the Lord my God did for me when I came up from Egypt.' [9]It shall be as a sign to you on your hand and as a memorial before your eyes, that the Lord's law may be in your mouth; for with a strong hand the Lord God brought you out of Egypt. [10]You shall therefore keep this law according to the times of the seasons from year to year.

Tradition of the Firstborn

[11]"Then it shall be, when the Lord your God brings you into the land of the Canaanites, as He swore to your fathers, and gives it to you, [12]that you shall set apart to the Lord all that open the womb, that is, every male, everything that opens the womb from the herds or among your cattle; as many as you shall have, you shall sanctify the males to the Lord. [13]But every offspring that opens the womb of a donkey you shall exchange for a sheep; but if you will not exchange it, you shall redeem it; and every firstborn of man among your sons you shall redeem. 14So it shall be, when your son asks you in time to come, saying, ‘What is this?’ that you shall say to him, ‘With a strong hand the Lord brought us out of Egypt, out of the house of bondage. 15Thus it came to pass, when Pharaoh was stubborn about letting us go, that the Lord killed all the firstborn in the land of Egypt, both the firstborn of man and the firstborn of cattle. Therefore I sacrifice to the Lord all males that open the womb, but all the firstborn of my sons I redeem.’ 16It shall be as a sign on your hand and immoveable before your eyes, for with a strong hand the Lord brought us out of Egypt.”

Pillar of Cloud, Pillar of Fire

17Thus when Pharaoh let the people go, God did not lead them by way of the land of the Philistines, although that was near; for God said, “Lest perhaps the people change their minds when they see war and return to Egypt.” 18So God led the people around by way of the desert to the Red Sea, and in the fifth generation the children of Israel went up from the land of Egypt. 19Now Moses took the bones of Joseph with him, for he had placed the children of Israel under solemn oath, saying, “God will surely visit you, and you shall carry up my bones from here with you.” 20So they took their journey from Succoth and camped in Etham by the desert. 21Moreover, God led them, by day in a pillar of cloud to show them the way, and by night in a pillar of fire. 22Thus the pillar of cloud by day and the pillar of fire by night did not depart from before all the people. Christ Our Passover

Crossing the Red Sea

1Now the Lord spoke to Moses, saying, 2“Speak to the children of Israel that they turn and camp at the village between Migdol and the sea, opposite Baal Zephon; you shall camp before them by the sea. 3For Pharaoh will say of the children of Israel, ‘They are wandering in the land; the desert has closed them in.’ 4Then I will harden Pharaoh’s heart, and he will pursue them; and I will be glorified in Pharaoh and over all his army, that the Egyptians may know I am the Lord.” So they did.

5 Now it was told the king of the Egyptians that the people had fled, and the heart of Pharaoh and his servants was turned against the people; and they said, “Why have we done this, that we have let Israel go from serving us?” 6 So he made ready his chariot and took his people with him. 7 Also, he took six hundred choice chariots, and all the chariots of Egypt with captains over every one of them. 8 Thus the Lord hardened the heart of Pharaoh king of Egypt and his servants, and he pursued the children of Israel; and the children of Israel went out with a high hand. 9 So the Egyptians pursued them, all the cavalry and chariots of Pharaoh, his horsemen and his army, and overtook them camping by the village opposite Baal Zephon.

10 Now when Pharaoh drew near, the children of Israel lifted their eyes, and behold, the Egyptians marched after them. So they were very afraid, and the children of Israel cried out to the Lord. 11 Then they said to Moses, “Because there were no graves in Egypt, have you taken us away to die in the desert?
Why have you so dealt with us to bring us up out of Egypt? 12 Is this not the word we told you in Egypt, saying, ‘Let us alone that we may serve the Egyptians’? For it is better for us to serve the Egyptians than to die in the desert.”

13 Then Moses said to the people, “Be of good courage. Stand still and see the Lord’s salvation which He will accomplish for you today. For the Egyptians whom you see today, you will never see again. 14 The Lord will fight for you, and you shall hold your peace.”

15 Then the Lord said to Moses, “Why do you cry to Me? Tell the children of Israel to go forward. 16 Now lift up your rod, and stretch out your hand over the sea and divide it; and let the children of Israel go on dry ground through the midst of the sea. 17 I indeed will harden Pharaoh’s heart and all the Egyptians, and they will go in after them. So I will be glorified in Pharaoh and over all his army, his chariots, and his horses. 18 Then the Egyptians will know I am the Lord, when I am glorified upon Pharaoh, his chariots, and his horses.”

19 Now the Angel of God who went before the camp of Israel moved and went behind them; and the pillar of cloud also went from before them and stood behind them. 20 So it came between the camp of the Egyptians and the camp of Israel, and the night passed; but there was such darkness and blackness, they did not come near one another all that night. 21 Then Moses stretched out his hand over the sea; and the Lord carried back the sea by a strong south wind all that night and made the sea dry ground. Thus the waters were divided. [22]So the children of Israel went into the midst of the sea on the dry ground, and the waters were a wall to them on their right hand and on their left. [23]Then the Egyptians pursued and went after them into the midst of the sea, all Pharaoh's horses, chariots, and horsemen. [24]Now it came to pass, in the morning watch, the Lord looked down upon the army of the Egyptians through the pillar of fire and cloud; and He troubled the army of the Egyptians. [25]He bound the axles of their chariot wheels and caused them to proceed with difficulty; and the Egyptians said, "Let us flee from the face of Israel, for the Lord fights for them against the Egyptians."

[26]Then the Lord said to Moses, "Stretch out your hand over the sea so the waters may come back upon the Egyptians, on their chariots and the riders." [27]So Moses stretched out his hand over the sea; and when the morning appeared, the sea returned to its full depth, while the Egyptians were trying to flee. But the Lord shook off the Egyptians in the midst of the sea. [28]Then the waters returned and covered the chariots, the horsemen, and all of Pharaoh's army that came into the sea after them. Not so much as one of them remained. [29]But the children of Israel walked on dry ground in the midst of the sea. The waters were a wall to them on their right hand and on their left. [30]So the Lord saved Israel that day from the hand of the Egyptians, and Israel saw the Egyptians dead on the seashore. [31]Thus Israel saw the Lord's mighty hand and the things He did to the Egyptians; therefore, the people feared the Lord and believed God and His servant Moses.

Exodus 15

The Song of Moses

[1]Now Moses and the children of Israel sang this song to God and spoke, saying:

"Let us sing to the Lord, for He is greatly glorified.
Horse and rider He has thrown into the sea.
[2]The Lord became my helper and the shield of my salvation;
He is my God, and I will glorify Him;
My father's God, and I will exalt Him.
[3]The Lord brings wars to nothing;
The Lord is His name.

4 Pharaoh’s chariots and army He cast into the sea;
His chosen captains also were drowned in the Red Sea.
5 The sea covered them;
They sank to the bottom like a stone.

6 “Your right hand, O God, is glorified in strength;
Your right hand, O God, dashed the enemy in pieces.
7 In the greatness of Your glory
You broke the adversaries to pieces;
You sent forth Your wrath;
It consumed them like stubble.
8 By the Spirit of Your anger the waters were gathered together;
The waves stood upright in the midst of the sea;
The depths congealed in the heart of the sea.
9 The enemy said, ‘I will pursue, I will overtake, I will divide the spoils;
I will satisfy my soul;
I will destroy with my sword;
My hand shall have dominion.’
10 You sent forth Your Spirit;
The sea covered them;
They sank like lead in the mighty waters.

11 “Who is like You, O Lord, among the gods?
Who is like You, glorified in holiness,
Marvelous in praises, doing wonders?
12 You stretched out Your right hand;
The earth swallowed them up.
13 In righteousness You guided Your people whom You redeemed;
In strength You called them to Your holy resting place.

14 “The nations heard and were angry;
Pangs seized the inhabitants of Philistia.
15 The princes of Edom
And the chiefs of the Moabites were dismayed;
Trembling took hold of them;

All the inhabitants of Canaan melted away.
16 Fear and dread fell upon them;
By the greatness of Your arm, let them become as stone
Till Your people pass over, O Lord,
Till Your people pass over, whom You purchased.
17 Bring them in and plant them in the mountain of their inheritance,
In Your prepared habitation, O Lord, which Your hands made ready;
The sanctuary, O Lord, which Your hands established.

18 "The Lord reigns forever and ever and ever."

19 For Pharaoh's horses went with his chariots and horsemen into the sea, and the Lord brought back the waters of the sea upon them. But the children of Israel walked on dry ground in the midst of the sea.

The Song of Miriam

20 Then Miriam the prophetess, the sister of Aaron, took the timbrel in her hand; and all the women went out after her with timbrels and dances. 21 So Miriam led them:

"Let us sing to the Lord, for He is greatly glorified.
Horse and rider He cast into the sea."

Bitter Waters Sweetened

22 Thus Moses brought Israel from the Red Sea; then they went out into the Wilderness of Shur. They went three days in the desert and found no water to drink. 23 Now when they came to Marah, they could not drink the waters of Marah, for they were bitter. Therefore he named that place Bitterness. 24 Then the people complained against Moses, saying, "What shall we drink?" 25 So he cried to the Lord, and the Lord showed him a tree. When he cast it into the waters, the waters were made sweet. There He made a statute and an ordinance for them. There He proved him 26 and said, "If you diligently heed the voice of the Lord your God and do what is pleasing in His sight, give ear to His commandments and keep all His ordinances, I will put none of the diseases on you that I brought on the Egyptians; for I am the Lord your God who heals you."

27 Then they came to Elim, where there were twelve fountains of water and seventy palm trees; so they camped there by the waters.

Exodus 16

Manna and Quail

1 Now they journeyed from Elim, and all the congregation of the children of Israel came to the Wilderness of Sin, which is between Elim and Sinai, on the fifteenth day of the second month after they departed from the land of Egypt.
2 Then the whole congregation of the children of Israel complained against Moses and Aaron. 3 The children of Israel said to them, “Would we had died, smitten by the Lord in the land of Egypt, when we sat by the pots of meat and ate bread to the full. For you brought us out into this desert to kill this whole assembly with hunger.” 4 Then the Lord said to Moses, “Behold, I will rain bread out of heaven for you; and the people shall go out and gather a certain quota every day, that I may test them, whether they will walk in My law or not. 5 So it shall be on the sixth day, they shall prepare what they bring in, and it shall be twice as much as they gather daily.”

6 Then Moses and Aaron said to all the congregation of the children of Israel, “At evening you shall know the Lord brought you out of the land of Egypt. 7 In the morning you shall see the Lord’s glory; for He hears your complaints against God. But what are we, that you complain against us?” 8 Also Moses said, “The Lord’s glory shall be seen when He gives you meat to eat in the evening, and in the morning bread to the full; for the Lord hears your complaints you make against Him. But what are we? Your complaints are not against us but against God.”

9 Then Moses spoke to Aaron, “Say to all the congregation of the children of Israel, ‘Come near before God, for He has heard your complaints.’ ” 10 Now when Aaron spoke to the whole congregation of the children of Israel, they looked toward the desert, and behold, the Lord’s glory appeared in the cloud. 11 Then the Lord spoke to Moses, saying, 12 “I have heard the complaints of the children of Israel. Speak to them, saying, ‘At twilight you shall eat meat, and in the morning you shall be filled with bread. Then you shall know I am the Lord your God.’ ”

13 So it was that quail came up at evening and covered the camp, and in the morning the dew lay all around the camp. 14 But when the layer of dew lifted, there, on the surface of the desert, was a small round substance, white like coriander seed, like frost on the ground. 15So when the children of Israel saw it, they said to one another, “What is this?” For they did not know what it was. Thus Moses said to them, “This is the bread the Lord gives you to eat. 16This is what the Lord has ordered, ‘Let every man gather it for his family, one omer according to the head count and number of souls among you. Each one should gather it with those who share your tents.’ ”

17Then the children of Israel did so and gathered, some more, some less. 18So when they measured it by omers, he who gathered much had nothing left over, and he who gathered little had no lack. Each one gathered according to the need of those sharing the tent with him. 19Moses then said, “Let no one leave any of it till morning.” 20Notwithstanding, they did not heed Moses. But some of them left part of it until morning, and it bred worms and stank. So Moses was angry with them. 21Thus they gathered it every morning, every man according to his need, and when the sun became hot, it melted.

22So it was, on the sixth day, they gathered twice as much bread, two omers for each one; and all the rulers of the congregation came and told Moses. 23Then he said to them, “This is the word the Lord has spoken: ‘Tomorrow is the Sabbath, a holy rest to the Lord. Bake what you will bake, and boil what you will boil; and lay up for yourselves all that remains to be kept until morning.’ ” 24So they laid it up till morning as Moses commanded them; but it did not stink, nor were there any worms in it. 25Then Moses said, “Eat that today, for today is a Sabbath to the Lord; today you will not find it in the field. 26Six days you shall gather it, but on the seventh day, which is the Sabbath, there will be none.”

27Now it happened that some of the people went out on the seventh day to gather, but they found none. 28Then the Lord said to Moses, “How long will you refuse to keep My commandments and My laws? 29Behold, for the Lord has given you this day as the Sabbath; therefore, on the sixth day He gives you bread for two days. Let every man remain in his house; let no man go out of his place on the seventh day.” 30Thus the people rested on the seventh day.

31Now the children of Israel called its name manna, and it was white like coriander seed, and the taste of it was like wafers made with honey. 32Then Moses said, “This is the thing the Lord commanded: ‘Fill an omer with the manna to be kept for your generations, so they may see the bread you ate in the desert when the Lord led you out of the land of Egypt.’ ” 33Moses then said to Aaron, “Take a golden pot, put one full omer of the manna in it, and lay it up before God to be kept for your generations.” 34As the Lord commanded Moses, so Aaron laid it up before the testimony to be kept. 35Thus the children of Israel ate the manna forty years until they came to an inhabited land; they ate the manna until they came to the border of Phoenicia. 36Now an omer was the tenth part of three measures.

Water from the Rock

1Now all the congregation of the children of Israel departed from the Wilderness of Sin, according to their encampments and by the word of the Lord, and camped in Rephidim; but there was no water for the people to drink. 2Therefore the people contended with Moses, saying, “Give us water, that we may drink.” Moses then said to them, “Why do you contend with me? Why do you tempt the Lord?” 3Thus the people thirsted there for water, and the people complained against Moses and said, “Why is it you brought us up out of Egypt to kill us, our children, and our cattle with thirst?” 4So Moses cried out to the Lord, saying, “What shall I do with this people? They are almost ready to stone me.”

5Then the Lord said to Moses, “Go before this people and take with you some of the elders of Israel. Also take in your hand the rod with which you struck the river and go. 6Behold, I will stand before you there on the rock in Horeb; and you shall strike the rock, and water will come out of it so the people may drink.” So Moses did so before the children of Israel. 7Thus he called the name of that place Temptation and Abuse, because of the abusive language of the children of Israel and because they tempted the Lord, saying, “Is the Lord among us or not?”

Victory over Amalek

8Now Amalek came and fought with Israel in Rephidim. 9So Moses said to Joshua, “Choose for yourself some mighty men and go out, and set the army in array against Amalek. Tomorrow I will stand on the top of the hill with the rod of God in my hand.” 10So Joshua did as Moses said to him and set the army in array against Amalek. Then Moses, Aaron, and Hur went up to the top of the hill. 11And so it was, when Moses held up his hands, that Israel prevailed; but when he let down his hands, Amalek prevailed. 12Now Moses’

hands became heavy; so they took a stone and put it under him, and he sat on it. Then Aaron and Hur supported his hands, one on one side, and one on the other; and his hands were steady until the going down of the sun. 13So Joshua defeated Amalek and his people with the edge of the sword.

14Then the Lord said to Moses, “Write this for a memorial in a book and recount it in the hearing of Joshua, that I will utterly blot out the remembrance of Amalek from under heaven.” 15Now Moses built an altar and called its name The-Lord-My-Refuge; 16for with a secret hand the Lord wars with Amalek from generation to generation.

Exodus 18

Jethro’s Visit and Counsel

1Now Jethro the priest of Midian, Moses’ father-in-law, heard about all God did for Moses and for Israel His people—that the Lord brought Israel out of Egypt. 2Then Jethro, Moses’ father-in-law, took Zipporah, Moses’ wife, after he sent her back 3with her two sons, of whom the name of one was Gershom (for he said, “I was a sojourner in a foreign land”) 4and the name of the other was Eliezer (for he said, “The God of my father is my help, and He rescued me from the hand of Pharaoh”); 5and Jethro, Moses’ father-in-law, came with his sons and his wife to Moses in the desert, where he encamped at the mountain of God.

6Now he had said to Moses, “I, your father-in-law Jethro, am coming to you with your wife and two sons with her.” 7So Moses went out to meet his father-in-law, bowed down, and kissed him. Thus they greeted one another, and he brought them into the tent. 8Then Moses told his father-in-law all the Lord had done to Pharaoh and to all the Egyptians for Israel’s sake, and all the hardship that had come upon them on the way, and how the Lord had delivered them out of the hand of Pharaoh and from the hand of the Egyptians. 9Then Jethro was amazed at all the good things the Lord had done for Israel, whom He delivered out of the hand of Pharaoh and from the hand of the Egyptians. 10Then Jethro said, “Blessed be the Lord, who delivered you out of the hand of Pharaoh and from the hand of the Egyptians. 11Now I know the Lord is great above all the gods; for this reason they did not prevail over them.” 12Then Jethro, Moses’ father-in-law, took whole burnt offerings and sacrifices for God, for Aaron came with all the elders of Israel to eat bread with Moses' father-in-law before God.

13So it was, on the next day, that Moses sat to judge the people; and the people stood before Moses from morning until evening. 14So when Moses' father-in-law saw all he did for the people, he said, "What is this thing you are doing for the people? Why do you alone sit, and all the people stand before you from morning until evening?" 15Then Moses said to his father-in-law, "Because the people come to me to seek judgment from God. 16When they have a dispute, they come to me, and I judge between one and another; and I make known the ordinances of God and His laws." 17So Moses' father-in-law said to him, "The thing you are doing is not good. 18Both you and these people with you will surely wear yourselves out. For this thing is too much for you; you are not able to perform it by yourself.

19"Now listen to me; I will give you counsel, and God will be with you: Stand before God for the people that you may bring their concerns to God. 20Teach them God's ordinances and laws, and show them the way in which they must walk and the works they are to do. 21Moreover, you shall select from all the people able men such as fear God, just men, hating covetousness; and set them over the people to be rulers of thousands, hundreds, fifties, and tens. 22Let them judge the people at all times. Then every great matter they shall bring to you, but every small matter they themselves shall judge. So it will be easier for you, for they will relieve and help you. 23If you do this thing, God will strengthen you; then you will be able to endure, and all this people will also go to their place in peace."

24So Moses heeded the voice of his father-in-law and did all he said. 25Thus Moses chose able men out of all Israel and made them heads over the people: rulers of thousands, hundreds, fifties, and tens. 26They judged the people at all times; all the hard cases they brought to Moses, but the small ones they judged themselves. 27Then Moses let his father-in-law depart, and he returned to his own land.

Israel at Sinai

1Now in the third month after the children of Israel departed from the land of Egypt, on the same day, they came into the Sinai Desert. 2For they departed from Rephidim, came into the Sinai Desert, and camped in the desert. So Israel camped there before the mountain.

3Then Moses went up to the mountain of God, and God called to him from the mountain, saying, “Thus you shall say to the house of Jacob and tell the children of Israel: 4‘You have seen what I did to the Egyptians, and how I bore you on eagles’ wings and brought you to Myself. 5Now therefore, if you will indeed obey My voice and keep My covenant, you shall be a special people to Me above all nations; for all the earth is Mine. 6You shall be to Me a royal priesthood and a holy nation.’ These are the words you shall speak to the children of Israel.”

7So Moses came and called for the elders of the people, and laid before them all these words the Lord commanded him. 8Then all the people answered with one accord and said, “Everything the Lord said we will do and hearken to.” So Moses reported these words to God. 9The Lord then said to Moses, “Behold, I come to you in the pillar of cloud, that the people may hear when I speak with you and believe you forever.” So Moses reported the words of the people to the Lord.

10Again the Lord said to Moses, “Go down and solemnly charge the people and sanctify them today and tomorrow, and let them wash their clothes. 11Let them be ready for the third day, for on the third day the Lord will descend upon Mount Sinai in the sight of all the people. 12You shall set bounds for the people all around, saying, ‘Take heed to yourselves that you do not go up to the mountain or touch its base. Whoever touches the mountain shall surely die. 13Not a hand shall touch him, but he shall surely be stoned or shot with an arrow; whether man or beast, he shall not live.’ When the thunders, the trumpets, and the cloud depart from the mountain, they shall ascend the mountain.”

14So Moses went down from the mountain to the people and sanctified them, and they washed their clothes. 15Then he said to the people, “Be ready for the third day; do not come near your wives.”

16So it was that on the third day in the morning, there were thunderings and lightnings and a dark cloud on Mount Sinai; and the sound of the trumpet was very loud, and all the people in the camp trembled. 17And Moses brought the people out of the camp to meet with God, and they stood at the foot of the mountain. 18Now Mount Sinai was completely enveloped in smoke, because God descended upon it in fire. Its smoke ascended like the smoke of a furnace, and the people were exceedingly amazed. 19And when the blast of the trumpet sounded long and became louder and louder, Moses spoke, and

God answered him by voice.

[20]Then the Lord came down upon Mount Sinai, on the top of the mountain, and the Lord called Moses to the top of the mountain, and Moses went up.
[21]Then God spoke to Moses, “Go down and solemnly charge the people, lest they break through to gaze at God, and many of them perish. [22]Also let the priests who come near the Lord God sanctify themselves, lest He destroy some of them.” [23]But Moses said to God, “The people cannot come up to Mount Sinai; for You solemnly charged us, saying, ‘Set bounds around the mountain and sanctify it.’ ” [24]The Lord then said to him, “Go! Go down and then come up, you and Aaron with you. But do not let the priests and the people break through to come up to God, lest the Lord destroy some of them.” [25]So Moses went down to the people and spoke to them. The Grace of Christ and the Law of Moses

The Ten Commandments

[1]Now the Lord spoke all these words, saying:

[2]“I am the Lord your God, who brought you out of the land of Egypt, out of the house of bondage. [3]You shall have no other gods before Me.

[4]“You shall not make for yourself an idol or a likeness of anything in heaven above, or in the earth beneath, or in the waters under the earth. [5]You shall not bow down to them or serve them, for I, the Lord your God, am a jealous God, recompensing the sins of the fathers on the children to the third and fourth generation of those who hate Me; [6]but showing mercy to thousands, to those who love Me and keep My commandments.

[7]“You shall not take the name of the Lord your God in vain, for the Lord will not hold him guiltless who takes His name in vain.

[8]“Remember the Sabbath Day, to keep it holy. [9]Six days you shall labor and do all your work, [10]but the seventh day is the Sabbath of the Lord your God. In it you shall do no work: neither you, nor your son, your daughter, your male servant, your female servant, your cattle, nor your stranger who sojourns with you. [11]For in six days the Lord made heaven and earth, the sea, and everything in them, and rested on the seventh day. Therefore, the Lord blessed the Sabbath Day and hallowed it.

[12]“Honor your father and mother that it may be well with you, and your days may be long upon the good land the Lord your God is giving you.

13 “You shall not murder.
14 “You shall not commit adultery.
15 “You shall not steal.
16 “You shall not bear false witness against your neighbor.
17 “You shall not covet your neighbor’s wife or his house, and neither shall you covet his field, nor his male servant, his female servant, his ox, his donkey, any of his cattle, or whatever belongs to your neighbor.”

The People Tremble

18 Now all the people witnessed the thunderings, the lightning flashes, the sound of the trumpet, and the mountain smoking; and when the people saw this, they trembled and stood afar off. 19 Then they said to Moses, “You speak with us, and we will hear; but let not God speak with us, lest we die.” 20 And Moses said to the people, “Be of good courage, for God is come to test you, that His fear may be among you so you may not sin.” 21 So the people stood afar off, but Moses drew near the thick darkness where God was.

Making an Altar

22 Then the Lord said to Moses, “Thus you shall say to the house of Jacob and report it to the children of Israel: ‘You have seen that I talked with you from heaven. 23 You shall not make for yourselves gods of silver, and gods of gold you shall not make for yourselves. 24 An altar of earth you shall make for Me, and you shall sacrifice on it your whole burnt offerings, your peace offerings, your sheep and your calves. In every place where I record My name I will come to you and bless you. 25 If you make Me an altar of stone, you shall not build it of hewn stone; for if you use your tool on it, you defile it. 26 Nor shall you go up by steps to My altar, that your nakedness may not be exposed on it.’ Images and Imagery

Exodus 21

Buying a Servant

1 “Now these are the ordinances you shall set before them: 2 If you buy a Hebrew servant, he shall serve six years; and in the seventh he shall go out free and pay nothing. 3If he comes in by himself, he shall go out by himself;

if he comes in married, then his wife shall go out with him. 4If his lord gave him a wife, and she bore him sons or daughters, the wife and her children shall be her lord's, and he shall go out by himself. 5But if the servant plainly says, 'I love my lord, my wife, and my children; I will not go out free,' 6then his lord shall bring him to the judgment seat of God, and also to the door, or to the doorpost, and his lord shall pierce his ear with an awl; and he shall serve him forever.

7"If a man sells his daughter to be a domestic, she shall not go out as the maidservants do. 8If she does not please her lord who betrothed her to himself, he shall let her go free. But he has no right to sell her to a foreign people, since he has dealt deceitfully with her. 9If he betrothed her to his son, he shall deal with her according to the right of daughters. 10But if he takes another wife, he shall not deprive her of necessities, clothing, and marriage rights. 11If he will not do these three things for her, she shall go out free, without paying money.

Responding to Violence

12"He who so strikes a man that he dies shall surely be put to death.
13However, if he did not willfully lie in wait, but God delivered him into his hands, I will appoint for you a place where the slayer may flee. 14But if a man acts with premeditation against his neighbor to kill him by treachery, you shall take him from My altar that he may die. 15He who strikes his father or his mother shall surely be put to death. 16He who curses his father or mother shall surely be put to death. 17Whoever kidnaps one of the children of Israel and overcomes and sells him, and he is found with him, let him surely die.

18"If two men revile one another, and one strikes the other with a stone or with his fist, and he does not die but is confined to his bed, 19if the man rises again and walks about outside with his staff, then he who struck him shall be acquitted. He shall only pay for his loss of time and for his healing. 20If a man beats his male or female servant with a rod, and he dies under his hand, he shall surely be punished. 21Notwithstanding, if he remains alive a day or two, the lord shall not be punished; for he is his property.

22"If two men fight and hurt a woman with child, and her child is born imperfectly formed, he shall surely be punished accordingly as the woman's husband imposes on him; and he shall pay as the judges determine. 23But if the child is perfectly formed, he shall give life for life, [24]eye for eye, tooth for tooth, hand for hand, foot for foot, [25]burn for burn, wound for wound, stripe for stripe. [26]If a man strikes the eye of his male or female servant and destroys it, he shall let them go free for their eye's sake. [27]If he knocks out the tooth of his male or female servant, he shall let them go free for their tooth's sake.

Owners of Animals

[28]"If a bull gores a man or a woman to death, then the bull shall surely be stoned, and its flesh shall not be eaten; but the owner of the bull shall be acquitted. [29]But if the bull tended to gore in times past, and it was made known to its owner, but he did not keep it confined, and it killed a man or a woman, the bull shall be stoned, and its owner also shall be put to death. [30]But if a sum of money is imposed on him, then he shall pay the amount imposed so as to redeem his life. [31]If a bull gores a son or daughter, it shall be done to him according to this ordinance. [32]If a bull gores a male or female servant, he shall pay their lord thirty shekels of silver, and the bull shall be stoned.

[33]"If a man opens a pit, or digs a pit and does not cover it, and an ox or a donkey falls into it, [34]the owner of the pit shall make it good; he shall give money to their owner, but the dead animal shall be his. [35]If any man's bull gores his neighbor's bull, and it dies, they shall sell the live bull and divide the money; and the dead bull they shall also divide. [36]But if the bull was known to gore in times past, and its owner did not keep it confined, he shall surely pay bull for bull, and the dead animal shall be his own.

Stolen Property

[37]"Now if a man steals an ox or a sheep and slaughters or sells it, he shall restore five oxen for an ox and four sheep for a sheep.

Exodus 22

[1]"If a thief is found breaking in at night and is killed, there shall be no guilt for his blood. [2]But if the sun rises on the thief, there shall be guilt if his blood is shed. However, he should make full restitution; but if he has nothing, then he shall be sold for his theft. [3]If the thing stolen, from a donkey to a sheep, is found alive in his hand, he shall restore double. [4]If a man allows his field or vineyard to be grazed upon, but lets loose his animal and it feeds in the field of another man, he shall make restitution from the best of his own field and the best of his own vineyard.

[5]"If fire breaks out and catches in thorns, but sets threshing floors, stacked grain, or a field on fire, he who kindled the fire shall surely make restitution. [6]If a man gives his neighbor money or goods to keep, but it is stolen out of the man's house, the thief shall pay double if he is found. [7]But if the thief is not found, then the lord of the house shall be brought before God; and he shall swear he played no wicked part with regard to any of his neighbor's deposit. [8]For any kind of trespass, whether it concerns an ox, a donkey, a sheep, or clothing, or any alleged loss of whatever kind, the cause of both parties shall come before God; and he that is convicted by God shall repay double to his neighbor. [9]If anyone gives his neighbor a donkey, an ox, a sheep, or any animal to keep, and it dies, is injured, or is taken, but no one knows it, [10]then an oath of God shall be between them both, that he is not guilty with regard to the deposit; and the owner of the deposit shall accept this. Thus no compensation shall be made to him. [11]But if, in fact, the deposit is stolen from him, he shall compensate the owner. [12]But if it is torn to pieces by a beast, he shall bring it as evidence and make no compensation. [13]If a man borrows anything from his neighbor and it becomes injured or dies, the owner not being with it, he shall make compensation to the owner. [14]But if its owner was with it, he shall not make compensation; if it was hired, it came for its hire.

Moral Laws

[15]"If a man entices a virgin who is not betrothed and lies with her, he shall surely pay the bride-price for her to be his wife. [16]But if her father utterly refuses to give her to him, he shall pay money to her father according to the bride-price of virgins. [17]You shall not permit a sorcerer to live. [18]Whoever lies with an animal shall surely be put to death. [19]He who sacrifices to any god except to the Lord alone, he shall be put to death. [20]You shall neither mistreat a stranger nor oppress him, for you were strangers in the land of Egypt. [21]You shall not afflict any widow or orphan. [22]If you afflict them in any way and they cry out to Me, I will surely hear their cry; [23]and My wrath will become hot, and I will kill you with the sword; your wives shall be widows and your children orphans. [24]If you lend money to any poor brother among you, you shall not be hard on him or charge him interest. [25]If you take your neighbor's garment as a pledge, you shall return it to him before the sun goes down. [26]For that is his only covering, his only garment for covering his nakedness. What will he sleep in? So it will be when he cries to Me, I will hear him, for I am merciful.

[27]"You shall not speak against gods, nor curse a ruler of your people. [28]You shall not delay to offer the first of your threshing floor and fruit press. The firstborn of your sons you shall give to Me. [29]Likewise you shall do with your calf, sheep, and donkey. It shall be with its mother seven days; on the eighth day you shall give it to Me. [30]Now you shall be holy men to Me, and you shall not eat meat torn by wild animals in the field; you shall throw it to the dog.

Justice

[1]"Now you shall not circulate a false report. Do not agree with the wicked man to be an unrighteous witness. [2]You shall not follow a crowd to do evil; nor join with them, so as to turn aside with the majority to pervert justice. [3]You shall not show partiality to a poor man in his dispute. [4]If you meet your enemy's ox or his donkey going astray, you shall surely bring it back to him again. [5]If you see your enemy's donkey fallen beneath its load, you shall not walk away from it, but shall surely help him with it. [6]You shall not pervert the judgment of your poor in his dispute. [7]Keep yourself far from every unjust matter; do not kill the innocent and the righteous; and do not justify the wicked for his gifts. [8]You shall take no bribe, for a bribe blinds the eyes and corrupts just pronouncements. [9]Also you shall not oppress a resident alien, for you know the heart of a resident alien, because you were resident aliens in the land of Egypt.

Sabbath Laws

[10]"Six years you shall sow your land and gather in its produce, [11]but in the seventh year you shall let it rest and lie fallow, that the poor of your people may eat; and what they leave, the beasts of the field may eat. In like manner you shall do with your vineyard and your olive grove. [12]Six days you shall do your work, and on the seventh day you shall rest, that your ox and donkey may rest, and the son of your female servant and the stranger may be refreshed.

Three Yearly Feasts

13 “Now in everything I said to you, be circumspect and do not invoke the name of other gods, nor let it be heard from your mouth. 14 Keep a feast to Me three times in the year: 15 You shall keep the Feast of Unleavened Bread (you shall eat unleavened bread seven days, as I commanded you, at the time appointed in the month of new grains, for in it you came out of Egypt; none shall appear before Me empty); 16 and the Feast of Harvest, the first fruits of your labors you sowed in the field; and the Feast of Ingathering at the end of the year, when you gather in the fruit of your labors from the field. 17 Three times in the year all your males shall appear before the Lord your God.
18 When I cast out the nations from before your face and expand your borders, you shall not offer the blood of My sacrifice with leavened bread; nor shall the fat of My sacrifice remain until morning. 19 The first of the first fruits of your land you shall bring into the house of the Lord your God. You shall not boil a lamb in its mother’s milk.

An Angel of Protection

20 “Behold, I send My Angel before your face, to keep you in the way and to bring you into the land I prepared for you. 21 Listen to Him and obey His voice; do not provoke Him, for He will not pardon your transgressions; for My name is in Him. 22 But if you will indeed obey My voice and do all I command you and keep My covenant, you shall be My special people above all nations, for the whole earth is Mine; and you shall be a royal priesthood and a holy nation. You shall speak these words to the children of Israel; and if you shall indeed obey My voice and do all I tell you, I will be an enemy to your enemies and an adversary to your adversaries. 23 For My Angel will go before you and bring you in to the Amorites, the Hittites, the Perizzites, the Canaanites, the Gergesites, the Hivites, and the Jebusites; and I will cut them off. 24 You shall not bow down to their gods, nor serve them, nor do according to their works; but you shall utterly overthrow them and completely break down their sacred pillars. 25 So you shall serve the Lord your God, and He will bless your bread, wine, and water; and I will take away sickness from you. 26 No one shall suffer miscarriage or be barren in your land; I will fulfill the number of your days.

[27]“I will send My fear before you; and I will cause confusion among all the nations to whom you come, and will make all your enemies turn their backs to you. [28]I will also send hornets before you which shall drive out the Amorites, the Hivites, the Canaanites, and the Hittites from before you. [29]I will not drive them out from before you in one year, lest the land become desolate and the wild animals of the field become too numerous for you. [30]Little by little I will drive them out from before you, until you have increased and inherit the land. [31]And I will set your bounds from the Red Sea to the sea of the Philistines, and from the desert to the Euphrates River. For I will deliver the inhabitants of the land into your hand and will drive them out from before you. [32]You shall make no covenant with them, nor with their gods. [33]They shall not dwell in your land, lest they make you sin against Me. For if you serve their gods, it will surely be a stumbling block to you.” The Priesthood, Hebrew and Christian

Exodus 24

The Covenant Affirmed

[1]Now He said to Moses, “Come up to the Lord, you and Aaron, Nadab and Abihu, and seventy of the elders of Israel, and worship from afar. [2]Moses alone shall come near to God, but they shall not come near; nor shall the people go up with them.”

[3]So Moses came and told the people all the words of God and all the ordinances, and all the people answered with one voice and said, “All the words the Lord spoke we will do.” [4]Then Moses wrote all the words of the Lord; and he rose early in the morning and built an altar at the foot of the mountain, and twelve stones according to the twelve tribes of Israel. [5]Then he sent young men of the children of Israel, who offered whole burnt offerings and sacrificed peace offerings of calves to God. [6]Moses took half the blood and put it in basins, and half the blood he poured on the altar. [7]Then he took the Book of the Covenant and read in the hearing of the people; and they said, “All the Lord said, we will do, and be obedient.” [8]Moses then took the blood, sprinkled it on the people, and said, “This is the blood of the covenant the Lord made with you according to all these words.”

Moses with God on Mount Sinai

9 After this, Moses went up, along with Aaron, Nadab, and Abihu, and the seventy of the elders of Israel; 10 and they saw the place where the God of Israel stood. Under His feet was, as it were, a paved work of sapphire stone and the appearance of heaven's firmament in its purity. 11 And of Israel's chosen men not one was missing. So they saw the place of God, and ate and drank. 12 Then the Lord said to Moses, "Come up to Me on the mountain and be there; and I will give you tablets of stone and the law and commandments
I wrote, that you may teach them." 13 So Moses arose with his assistant Joshua, and they went up to the mountain of God. 14 But he said to the elders, "Wait here for us until we come back to you. Indeed, Aaron and Hur are with you. If any man has a difficulty, let him go to them." 15 Then Moses and Joshua went up the mountain, and the cloud covered the mountain. 16 Now the glory of God descended on Mount Sinai, and the cloud covered it six days.
Then on the seventh day the Lord called to Moses out of the midst of the cloud. 17 The sight of the Lord's glory was like a burning fire on the top of the mountain before the children of Israel. 18 So Moses went into the midst of the cloud and went up the mountain; and he was on the mountain forty days and forty nights.

Offerings for the Sanctuary

1 Now the Lord spoke to Moses, saying, 2 "Speak to the children of Israel, that they take first fruits from everyone who gives it willingly from the heart.
Thus you shall take My first fruits. 3 This is the offering you shall take from them: gold, silver, and bronze; 4 blue, purple, and scarlet cloth, fine spun linen; and female goats' hair, 5 ram skins dyed red and skins dyed blue, and incorruptible wood; 6 oil for the light, and incense for anointing oil and for the composition of incense; 7 sardius stones, and stones for the carved work of the breastplate and the full-length robe. 8 Also, you shall make Me a sanctuary, and I will appear among you. 9 According to all I show you, that is, the pattern of the tabernacle and the pattern of all its furnishings, so you shall make it.

The Ark of the Covenant

10 "Thus you shall make the ark of testimony from incorruptible wood; two and a half cubits shall be its length, a cubit and a half its width, and a cubit and a half its height. [11]You shall overlay it with pure gold; inside and out you shall overlay it and shall make on it a wreath of gold all around. [12]You shall cast four golden rings for it and put them on its four corners; two rings on one side and two rings on the other. [13]You shall make poles of incorruptible wood and overlay them with gold. [14]You shall put the poles into the rings on the sides of the ark, that the ark may be carried by them. [15]The poles shall remain fixed in the rings of the ark. [16]Then you shall put into the ark the testimonies I will give you.

[17]"You shall also make a mercy seat of pure gold; two and a half cubits shall be its length and a cubit and a half its width. [18]Then you shall make two cherubim of gold; of hammered work you shall make them at the two ends of the mercy seat. [19]Make one cherub at one end and the other cherub at the other end; you shall make the cherubim at the two ends of it of one piece with the mercy seat. [20]And the cherubim shall stretch out their wings above, overshadowing the mercy seat with their wings, and they shall face one another; the faces of the cherubim shall be toward the mercy seat. [21]You shall put the mercy seat on top of the ark, and in the ark you shall put the testimonies I will give you. [22]There I will make Myself known to you, and I will speak with you from above the mercy seat, from between the two cherubim which are on the ark of testimony, about everything I will give you in commandment to the children of Israel.

The Table for the Holy Bread

[23]"You shall also make a golden table of pure gold; two cubits shall be its length, a cubit its width, and a cubit and a half its height. [24]You shall make for it golden wreaths twisted all around, and also a crown of a handbreadth all around, [25]and you shall make a twisted wreath of gold for the crown all around. [26]You shall make four golden rings for it and put the rings on the four corners of its four legs under the crown. [27]The rings shall be bearings for the poles, so they may bear the table with them. [28]And you shall make the poles of incorruptible wood and overlay them with pure gold, that the table may be carried with them. [29]You shall make its dishes, censers, bowls, and cups of pure gold, that you may offer drink offerings with them; [30]and you shall set the bread on the table before Me continually.

A Lampstand of Gold

31“You shall also make a lampstand of pure gold which shall be of hammered work. Its shaft, branches, and bowls, and its stem and corolla shall be of one piece. 32Six branches shall come out of its sides: three branches of the lampstand out of one side and three branches out of the other. 33Three bowls shall be made like almonds on each branch, with its ornamental knobs and lilies—and so for the six branches that come out of the lampstand. 34On the lampstand itself four bowls shall be made like almonds, and each with its ornamental knob and lilies. 35There shall be a knob under the first two branches of the same, a knob under the second two branches of the same, and a knob under the third two branches of the same, according to the six branches that extend from the lampstand. 36Their knobs and their branches shall be of one piece; all of it shall be one hammered piece of pure gold.
37You shall make its seven lamps, and you will lay the lamps upon them.
From this one presence they will shine outward. 38You shall make its funnels and dishes of pure gold. 39It shall be made of a talent of pure gold, with all these utensils. 40And see to it you make them according to the pattern shown you on the mountain. The Tabernacle

Exodus 26

The Tabernacle

1“Now you shall make the tabernacle with ten curtains of fine woven linen, with blue, purple, and scarlet fabric, and you shall weave them with artistic designs of cherubim. 2The length of each curtain shall be twenty-eight cubits and the width of each curtain four cubits. Each curtain shall have the same measurements. 3Five curtains shall be coupled to one another, and the other five curtains shall be coupled to one another. 4You shall make loops of blue yarn on the edge of the curtain of one set, and likewise you shall do on the outer edge of the curtain of the second set. 5Fifty loops you shall make in the one curtain, and fifty loops you shall make on the edge of the curtain at the end of the second set, that the loops may be clasped to one another. 6You shall make fifty clasps of gold and couple the curtains together with the clasps, that it may be one tabernacle.

7“You shall also make curtains of goats’ hair skins to be a tent over the tabernacle. You shall make eleven such curtains. 8The length of each curtain shall be thirty cubits, and the width of each curtain four cubits; and the eleven curtains shall all have the same measurements. [9]You shall couple five curtains by themselves and six curtains by themselves, and you shall double over the sixth curtain at the forefront of the tent. [10]You shall make fifty loops on the edge of the outermost curtain in one set, and fifty loops on the edge of the curtain of the second set. [11]You shall make fifty bronze clasps, put the clasps into the loops, and couple the tent together, that it may be one. [12]The remaining remnant of the tent's curtains, that is, the half curtain that remains, shall hang over the back of the tabernacle. [13]A cubit on one side and a cubit on the other side of the remaining length of the tent's curtains shall hang over the sides of the tabernacle, on this side and on that side, to cover it. [14]You shall also make a covering of ram skins dyed red for the tent, and blue skins as coverings above that.

[15]"You shall make the tabernacle posts out of incorruptible wood. [16]Ten cubits shall be the length of each post, and a cubit and a half its width. [17]Two joints shall be made in each post for binding one to another. Thus you shall do for all the posts of the tabernacle. [18]Thus you shall make the posts for the tabernacle, twenty for the north side. [19]You shall make forty bases of silver for the twenty posts: two bases for each of the two joints of the posts. [20]For the second side of the tabernacle, the south side, there shall be twenty posts, [21]and their forty bases of silver: two bases for each of the posts' two joints. [22]For the far side of the tabernacle, westward, you shall make six posts. [23]You shall also make two posts for the two back corners of the tabernacle. [24]They shall be coupled together at the bottom and at the top by one ring. Thus it shall be for both of them. They shall be equal. [25]So there shall be eight posts with their sixteen bases of silver, two bases for both sides of each post.

[26]"You shall make bars of incorruptible wood: five for the posts on one side of the tabernacle, [27]five bars for the posts on the other side of the tabernacle, and five bars for the posts of the side of the tabernacle toward the sea. [28]The middle bar shall pass through the midst of the posts from end to end. [29]You shall overlay the posts with gold, make their rings of gold as holders for the bars, and overlay the bars with gold. [30]Then you shall raise up the tabernacle according to its pattern shown you on the mountain.

[31]"You shall then make a veil woven of blue, purple, and scarlet fabric and fine woven linen. It shall be woven with an artistic design of cherubim. [32]You shall hang it upon the four posts of incorruptible wood overlaid with gold. Their hooks shall be gold upon four bases of silver. [33]You shall hang the veil on the posts. Then you shall bring the ark of the testimony in there behind the veil. The veil shall be a divider for you between the holy place and the holy of holies. [34]You shall put the mercy seat upon the ark of the testimony in the holy of holies. [35]You shall set the table outside the veil, and the lampstand across from the table on the side of the tabernacle toward the south; and you shall put the table on the north side.

[36]"You shall make a screen for the door of the tabernacle woven of blue, purple, and scarlet fabric and fine woven linen, made by a weaver. [37]You shall make five posts for the veil and overlay them with gold; their hooks shall be of gold, and you shall cast five bases of bronze for them.

The Altar

[1]"Now you shall make an altar of incorruptible wood, five cubits long and five cubits wide—the altar shall be square—and its height shall be three cubits. [2]You shall make horns on its four corners; its horns shall be of one piece with it, and you shall overlay it with bronze. [3]Also you shall make a crown around the altar; and its cover, its libation bowls, its flesh-hooks, its incense bowl, and all its utensils you shall make of bronze. [4]You shall make a grate for it, a network of bronze; and on the network you shall make four bronze rings at its four corners. [5]You shall put them below under the grate of the altar, that the grate may be midway up the altar. [6]You shall make poles for the altar of incorruptible wood, and overlay them with bronze. [7]The poles shall be put in the rings, and the poles shall be on the two sides of the altar to carry it. [8]You shall make it hollow with boards; as it was shown you on the mountain, so shall you make it.

The Court of the Tabernacle

[9]"You shall also make a court for the tabernacle. For the west side there shall be hangings for the court made of fine woven linen, one hundred cubits long for one side. [10]And its twenty posts and their twenty bases shall be bronze. The hooks of the posts and their bands shall be silver. [11]Likewise along the east side shall be curtains one hundred cubits in length, with its twenty posts and their twenty bases of bronze, and the hooks of the posts and their bands of silver. [12]And along the width of the court on the north side shall be curtains of fifty cubits, with their ten posts and ten bases. [13]The width of the court on the south side shall be curtains of fifty cubits, with their ten posts and ten bases. [14]The length of the curtains on one side shall be fifty cubits, with their three posts and three bases. [15]On the other side shall be curtains of fifteen cubits, with their three posts and three bases. [16]For the gate of the court there shall be a veil twenty cubits long, woven of blue, purple, and scarlet fabric and fine woven linen, made by a weaver. It shall have four posts and four bases. [17]All the posts around the court shall be overlaid with silver; their hooks shall be of silver and their bases of bronze. [18]The length of the court shall be one hundred cubits on each side, the width fifty on each side, and the height five cubits, made of fine woven linen, and its bases of bronze. [19]All the utensils, all the instruments, and all the pegs of the court shall be of bronze.

The Lighted Lamp

[20]"You shall also command the children of Israel to bring you pure oil of pressed olives for the light, to cause the lamp to burn continually [21]in the tabernacle of testimony, outside the veil before the testimony. Aaron and his sons shall tend it from evening until morning before the Lord. It shall be an ordinance forever to their generations on behalf of the children of Israel.

Exodus 28

The Priest's Vestments

[1]"Now take Aaron your brother, and his sons with him, from among the children of Israel, that Aaron, Nadab, Abihu, Eleazar, and Ithamar may minister to Me. [2]Then you shall make a holy garment for Aaron your brother, for honor and glory. [3]So you shall speak to all who are wise in understanding, whom I filled with the spirit of wisdom and perception, so they may make Aaron's holy vestments for the sanctuary, in which he shall minister to Me as priest. [4]These are the garments they shall make: a breastplate, an ephod, a full-length robe, a skillfully woven tunic with a fringe, a turban, and a sash. So they shall make holy garments for Aaron your brother and his sons, so they may minister to Me as priests. [5]They shall take the gold, blue, purple, and scarlet fabric and fine linen, [6]and they shall make the ephod of fine spun linen, the woven work of a designer. [7]The two parts of the ephod shall be joined together, attached at their two hems. [8]The woven joining of the ephod, which is on it, shall be of the same workmanship, made of pure gold, and blue, purple, and scarlet fabric, and fine woven linen. [9]Then you shall take two stones, emeralds, and engrave on them the names of the sons of Israel: [10]six of their names on one stone, and six names on the other stone, in the order of their birth. [11]With the work of the stone-engraver's art, the engraving of a seal, you shall engrave the two stones with the names of the sons of Israel. [12]You shall put the two stones on the shoulders of the ephod as memorial stones for the sons of Israel. So Aaron shall bear their names before the Lord on his two shoulders as a memorial. [13]You shall also make bosses of gold, [14]and you shall make two fringes of pure gold intermixed with flowers, a braided work, and fasten the braided fringes to the bosses on the shoulder bands in front.

The Breastplate

[15]"You shall make the oracle of judgment. Artistically woven according to the style of the ephod you shall make it: of gold, blue, purple, and scarlet fabric and fine spun linen you shall make it. [16]It shall be doubled into a square: a span shall be its length, and a span its width. [17]Interwoven into this texture shall be a setting for four rows of stones. There shall be a row for a sardius, a topaz, and an emerald. This shall be the first row. [18]The second row shall be a carbuncle, a sapphire, and a jasper; [19]the third row, a jacinth, an agate, and an amethyst; [20]and the fourth row, a chrysolite, a beryl, and an onyx. They shall be set in gold settings, bound together with gold, according to their row. [21]The stones shall have the names of the sons of Israel, twelve according to their names, as the engravings of seals, each one with its own name; they shall be according to the twelve tribes. [22]You shall make chains for the oracle, a braided work of pure gold. [23]Aaron shall bear the names of the children of Israel upon the oracle of judgment on his breast, as a memorial before God for him as he goes into the sanctuary. [24]You shall put fringes upon the oracle of judgment, and wreaths on both sides of the oracle. You shall put the two bosses on both shoulders of the ephod in the front. [25]You shall put the revelation and the truth on the oracle of judgment, which will be on the breast of Aaron when he enters the holy place in the Lord's presence; and on his breast Aaron will discern the judgments for the children of Israel at all times.

Other Priestly Garments

[26]"To go underneath the ephod, you shall make a full-length robe, entirely blue. [27]In the middle of it there shall be an opening for the head, the collar bordered in sheepskin, a woven piece. The hem shall be interwoven with the rest, to prevent ripping. [28]Beneath the border of the robe you shall make knobs as of a flowering pomegranate, constructed of blue, purple, and scarlet fabric and fine spun linen, all around the hem of the garment. [29]Hanging from each golden knob will be a flower-shaped bell all around the hem of the garment. [30]Its sound will be heard when Aaron is serving as a priest, entering and leaving the holy place before the Lord, that he not die. [31]You shall also make a plate of pure gold and, as the inscription of a seal, engrave on it: Holiness to the Lord. [32]You shall put it on a blue cord, and it shall be on the turban. It shall be on the front of the turban. [33]So it shall be on Aaron's forehead. Aaron shall take away the defilements of the holy things which the children of Israel might dedicate, of their every gift of holy things. It shall always be on Aaron's forehead to make them acceptable before the Lord.

[34]"The appointments of the robes you shall make of linen. You shall make the turban of fine linen, and you shall make a sash of woven work. [35]For Aaron's sons you shall make robes and sashes for them, and turbans you shall make for them for honor and glory. [36]So you shall put them on Aaron your brother and on his sons with him. You shall anoint them, consecrate their hands, and sanctify them so they may minister to Me as priests. [37]You shall make for them trousers to cover their naked skin from loin to thigh. [38]Thus Aaron and his sons shall wear them when they come into the tabernacle of testimony or when they come near the altar of the holy place to minister as priests, so they not bring guilt upon themselves so as to die. It shall be an ordinance forever to him and his seed after him.

Aaron and His Sons Consecrated as Priests

[1]"Now this is what you shall do to them to consecrate them for ministering to Me as priests, to serve Me in the priesthood: Take one young bull and two rams without blemish, [2]and unleavened loaves kneaded with oil, and unleavened cakes anointed with oil. You shall make them of wheat flour.

3 You shall put them in one basket and bring them in the basket, with the young bull and the two rams.
4 “Then you shall bring Aaron and his sons to the doors of the tabernacle of testimony, and wash them with water. 5 Then taking the garments, you shall dress Aaron your brother with the cloak, the ephod, the full-length robe, and the oracle, and you shall attach the oracle on the ephod for him. 6 You shall put the miter on his head, and the sanctified golden plate on the miter. 7 You shall take the anointing oil, pour it on his head, and anoint him. 8 Then you shall bring his sons and put the robes on them. 9 You shall gird them with sashes, Aaron and his sons, and crest them with turbans. Their priesthood to Me shall be for a continual ordinance. So you shall consecrate Aaron and his sons.
10 “You shall also have the young bull brought before the tabernacle of testimony, and Aaron and his sons shall put their hands on the head of the young bull before the Lord at the doors of the tabernacle of testimony. 11 Then you shall kill the young bull before the Lord at the doors of the tabernacle of testimony. 12 You shall take some of the blood of the young bull and put it on the horns of the altar with your finger, and pour all the blood beside the base of the altar. 13 You shall take all the fat that covers the entrails, the fatty lobe attached to the liver, and the two kidneys and the fat on them and burn them on the altar. 14 But the flesh of the young bull, with its skin and offal, you shall burn with fire outside the camp. It is a sin offering.
15 “You shall also take one ram, and Aaron and his sons shall put their hands on the head of the ram; 16 and you shall kill the ram and take its blood and sprinkle it all around on the altar. 17 Then you shall cut the ram in pieces, wash its entrails and legs, and put them with its pieces and its head. 18 You shall offer the whole ram on the altar. It is a whole burnt offering to the Lord for a sweet aroma, an offering of incense to the Lord. 19 You shall also take the second ram, and Aaron and his sons shall put their hands on the head of the ram. 20 Then you shall kill the ram, and take some of its blood and put it on the tip of Aaron’s right earlobe, on the thumb of his right hand, on the big toe of his right foot, and on the earlobes of his sons, on the thumbs of their right hands, and on the big toes of their right feet. 21 You shall take some of the blood on the altar and some of the anointing oil, and sprinkle it on Aaron and his robe, on his sons and on his sons’ robes with him; and he and his garments shall be sanctified, and his sons and his sons’ garments with him.
But the blood of the ram you shall pour all around on the altar.

[22]“You shall also take the fat of the ram, and the fat that covers the entrails, the fatty lobe attached to the liver, the two kidneys and the fat on them, the right thigh (for it is a ram of consecration), [23]and one loaf of bread, one unleavened cake from the basket of unleavened bread set before the Lord; [24]and you shall put all these things in the hands of Aaron and in the hands of his sons, and you shall set them aside as a separate offering before the Lord. [25]You shall receive them from their hands and offer them on the altar as a whole burnt offering, as a sweet aroma before the Lord. It is an offering to the Lord.

[26]“Then you shall take the breast from the ram of Aaron’s consecration and set it aside before the Lord. It shall be your portion. [27]You shall sanctify the reserved breast and the shoulder that was lifted (both that which was reserved and that which was lifted) from the ram of consecration, both Aaron’s portion and that of his sons. [28]It shall be for Aaron and his sons an ordinance forever among the children of Israel. For it shall be a special offering from the children of Israel from their peace offerings, a special offering to the Lord.

[29]“Moreover, Aaron’s holy garment of the sanctuary shall be his sons’ after him, to be anointed and consecrated in them. [30]That son who succeeds him as priest shall put them on for seven days when he enters the tabernacle of testimony to minister in the holy place. [31]You shall then take the ram of the consecration and boil its flesh in the holy place. [32]Then Aaron and his sons shall eat the flesh of the ram and the bread in the basket by the doors of the tabernacle of testimony. [33]They shall eat those things by which they were sanctified to consecrate their hands. But an outsider shall not eat them, because they are holy. [34]If any of the flesh of the consecration offerings or of the loaves remains until the morning, you shall burn the remainder with fire. It shall not be eaten because it is holy.

[35]“Thus you shall do for Aaron and his sons according to all I have commanded you. Seven days you shall consecrate their hands. [36]You shall sacrifice a young calf for the sin offering on the day of purification. You shall purify the altar when you perform a consecration on it, and anoint it so as to sanctify it. [37]Seven days you shall purify the altar and sanctify it, and the altar shall be most holy. Whatever touches the altar will be holy.

Daily Offerings

[38]“Now this is what you shall offer on the altar: two unblemished lambs of the first year, day by day continually. [39]One lamb you shall offer in the morning, and the other lamb you shall offer in the evening. [40]With the one lamb shall be one-tenth of a measure of fine flour mixed with one-fourth of a hin of pressed oil, and one-fourth of a hin of wine as a drink offering. [41]The other lamb you shall offer in the evening, as at the morning offering, and according to the drink offering of the morning lamb. You shall offer it as a sacrifice of sweet aroma to the Lord.

[42]"This shall be a continual sacrifice throughout your generations at the doors of the tabernacle of testimony before the Lord, where I will be known to you to speak to you. [43]There I shall give directions to the children of Israel, and I shall be sanctified in My glory. [44]So I will sanctify the tabernacle of testimony and the altar. I will also consecrate both Aaron and his sons to minister to Me as priests. [45]I will be called upon among the children of Israel and will be their God. [46]So they shall know I am the Lord their God, who brought them up out of the land of Egypt to be called upon among them and to be their God.

The Altar of Incense

[1]"Now you shall make an altar of incense of incorruptible wood. [2]You shall make it a cubit in length and a cubit in width—it shall be square—and two cubits shall be its height. Its horns shall be of one piece with it. [3]You shall overlay its grating, its sides all around, and its horns with pure gold; and you shall make for it a rim of gold all around. [4]Two gold rings you shall make for it under the molded rim on both its sides. You shall place them on its two sides, and they will be holders for the poles with which to bear it. [5]You shall make the poles of incorruptible wood and overlay them with gold. [6]You shall put it before the veil that is before the ark of the testimonies, where I will make Myself known to you. [7]Aaron shall burn on it fine compounded incense every morning; when he tends the lamps, he shall burn incense on it. [8]When Aaron lights the lamps in the evening, he shall burn incense on it, a perpetual incense before the Lord throughout your generations. [9]You shall not offer strange incense on it, or an offering made by fire, or a sacrifice; nor shall you pour a drink offering on it. [10]Now Aaron shall make atonement upon its horns once a year, purging it with the blood of purification throughout your generations. It is most holy to the Lord."

Gifts of Money

[11]Then the Lord spoke to Moses, saying, [12]“When you take the census of the children of Israel for their number, then every man shall give a ransom for his soul to the Lord, so there may be no plague among them when you number them. [13]This is what everyone among those who are numbered shall give: half a drachma according to the drachma of the sanctuary (a drachma is twenty obols). The half-drachma shall be an offering to the Lord. [14]Everyone included among those who are numbered, from twenty years old and above, shall give an offering to the Lord. [15]The rich shall not give more and the poor shall not give less than half a drachma when you give an offering to the Lord to make atonement for your souls. [16]You shall take the money of the offering of the children of Israel and shall give it for the service of the tabernacle of testimony, that it may be a memorial for the children of Israel before the Lord to make atonement for your souls.”

A Laver of Bronze

[17]Then the Lord spoke to Moses, saying, [18]“You shall also make a laver of bronze, with its base also of bronze, for washing. You shall put it between the tabernacle of testimony and the altar. You shall put water in it, [19]for Aaron and his sons shall wash their hands and feet with water from it. [20]When they go into the tabernacle of testimony, they shall wash with water, lest they die, or when they come near the altar to minister and to offer whole burnt offerings to the Lord. [21]So they shall wash their hands and feet with water when they go into the tabernacle of testimony, lest they die. It shall be an ordinance forever to them—for him and his genealogy after him.”

Holy Oil for Anointing

[22]Furthermore the Lord spoke to Moses, saying, [23]“Also take for yourself aromatic spices, the flower of costly myrrh—five hundred shekels’ worth—and fragrant cinnamon—half as much, two hundred and fifty, and two hundred and fifty shekels of sweet-smelling calamus, [24]and five hundred shekels of cassia, according to the shekel of the sanctuary, and a hin of olive oil. [25]You shall make from these a holy anointing oil, an ointment compounded according to the art of the perfumer. It shall be a holy anointing oil. [26]With it you shall anoint the tabernacle of testimony and the ark of the tabernacle of testimony; [27]and the table and all its utensils, the lampstand and its utensils, and the altar of incense; [28]and the altar of whole burnt offerings with all its utensils, and the table and all its utensils, and the laver and its base. [29]You shall sanctify them so they may be most holy; whatever touches them will be holy. [30]You shall anoint Aaron and his sons and consecrate them so they may minister to Me as priests. [31]You shall speak to the children of Israel, saying, 'This shall be a holy anointing oil throughout your generations. [32]It shall not be poured on man's flesh; nor shall you make any like it according to its composition. It is holy, and it shall be holy to you. [33]Whoever compounds any like it, or whoever puts any of it on an outsider, shall be cut off from his people.' "

Incense

[34]And the Lord said to Moses, "Take sweet spices, stacte and onycha and sweet galbanum, and pure frankincense; there shall be equal amounts of each. [35]You shall make of these perfumed incense, a compound according to the art of the perfumer, mixed, pure, and holy. [36]And you shall beat some of it very fine and put some of it before the testimonies in the tabernacle of testimony, where I will make Myself known to you. It shall be a most holy incense to you. [37]You shall not make any for yourselves according to this composition. It shall be to you a holy thing for the Lord. [38]Whoever makes any like it to smell it, he shall be cut off from his people."

Craftsmen to Build the Tabernacle

[1]Now the Lord spoke to Moses, saying, [2]"See, I have called by name Bezalel the son of Uri, the son of Hur, of the tribe of Judah. [3]I have filled him with the divine Spirit of wisdom, understanding, and knowledge, and in every manner of workmanship, [4]to design artistic works, to work in gold, silver, and bronze, [5]in cutting jewels for setting, in carving wood, and to work in every manner of workmanship. [6]Indeed I have appointed with him Aholiab the son of Ahisamach, of the tribe of Dan; and I have put understanding in the hearts of all who are gifted artisans, so they may make all I commanded you: [7]the tabernacle of testimony, the ark of the testimony and the mercy seat on it, and all the utensils of the tabernacle— [8]the altars and the table and its utensils, the pure gold lampstand with all its utensils, [9]and the laver and its base— [10]the liturgical garments for Aaron and the garments of his sons, to minister to Me as priests, [11]and the anointing oil and the compound incense for the holy place. According to all I have commanded you they shall do."

Keeping the Sabbath

[12]Again the Lord spoke to Moses, saying, [13]"You shall direct the children of Israel, saying, 'See to it that you keep My Sabbaths, for it is a sign between Me and you throughout your generations, that you may know I am the Lord who sanctifies you. [14]You shall keep the Sabbaths, because this is holy for you to the Lord. Everyone who profanes it shall be put to death; for whoever works on it, that soul shall be cut off from among his people. [15]Work shall be done for six days, but the seventh is the Sabbath, a holy rest to the Lord. Whoever works on the seventh day shall be put to death. [16]Therefore the children of Israel shall keep the Sabbaths, to observe them throughout their generations as a perpetual covenant. [17]It is a sign between Me and the children of Israel forever; for in six days the Lord created heaven and earth, and on the seventh day He ceased and rested.' "

[18]So when He made an end of speaking with Moses on Mount Sinai, He gave him two tablets of testimony, tablets of stone, written with the finger of God.

Exodus 32

The Golden Calf

[1]Now when the people saw that Moses delayed coming down from the mountain, the people gathered against Aaron and said to him, "Rise up and make us gods that shall go before us. As for Moses, the man who brought us up from the land of Egypt, we do not know what has become of him." [2]Aaron then said to them, "Remove the golden earrings in the ears of your wives and daughters and bring them to me." [3]So all the people removed the golden earrings in their ears and brought them to Aaron. [4]He received them from their hands; and he fashioned them with an engraving tool and made a molten calf. Then he said, "These are your gods, O Israel, that brought you out of the land of Egypt." [5]So when Aaron saw it, he built an altar before it. Aaron then made a proclamation and said, "Tomorrow is a feast to the Lord." [6]Thus he rose early the next day and offered whole burnt offerings and peace offerings; and the people sat down to eat and drink, and rose up to play.

7But the Lord said to Moses, “Go quickly! Get down from here! For your people whom you brought out of the land of Egypt are transgressing the law.
8They turned aside quickly from the way I commanded them. They made themselves a calf and are worshiping and sacrificing to it, and are saying, ‘These are your gods, O Israel, that brought you out of the land of Egypt.’ 9Now therefore, let Me be, that I may burn in wrath against them and consume them. 10Then I will make of you a great nation.” 11But Moses prayed before the Lord God and said, “Why, O Lord, does Your wrath burn hot against Your people whom You brought out of the land of Egypt with great power and a mighty hand? 12Why should the Egyptians speak and say, ‘He brought them out with evil intent, to kill them in the mountains and to consume them from the face of the earth’? Turn from Your fierce wrath and be merciful to the wickedness of Your people. 13Remember Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, Your servants, to whom You swore by Yourself and said to them, ‘I will greatly multiply your seed as the stars of heaven for multitude; and all this land I spoke about to give their seed, they shall inherit unto the ages.’ ” 14So the Lord granted mercy for the harm He said He would do to His people.

15Then Moses turned and went down from the mountain with the two tablets of the testimony in his hands. They were stone tablets written on both sides, on one side and on the other. 16Now the tablets were the work of God, and the writing was the writing of God engraved on the tablets. 17When Joshua therefore heard the noise of the people as they shouted, he said to Moses, “There is a noise of war in the camp.” 18But Moses said, “It is not the noise of those that begin the battle, nor of those that begin the cry of defeat, but the noise of those that begin the banquet of wine that I hear.” 19So it was, as soon as he came near the camp, he saw the calf and the dancing. Thus Moses became very angry; and he cast the two tablets out of his hands and broke them at the foot of the mountain. 20Then he took the calf they had made, burned it in the fire, and ground it to powder; and he scattered it on the water and made the children of Israel drink it. 21Moses then spoke to Aaron, “What did this people do to you that you brought so great a sin upon them?” 22Aaron replied, “Do not be angry, my lord. You know how impulsive this people is. 23For they said to me, ‘Make us gods that shall go before us; as for this man Moses, who brought us out of the land of Egypt, we do not know what has become of him.’ 24So I said to them, ‘Whoever has any gold, let him remove it.’ Thus they gave it to me, and I cast it into the fire, and this calf came out.”

25Now when Moses saw the people were scattered (for Aaron scattered them, making them a prey to their enemies), 26Moses then stood in the entrance of the camp and said, “Whoever is on the Lord’s side, come to me.” So all the sons of Levi gathered themselves together to him. 27He said to them, “Thus says the Lord God of Israel: ‘Let every man put his sword on his side and go in and out from entrance to entrance throughout the camp, and let every man kill his brother, every man his companion, and every man his neighbor.’ ” 28So the sons of Levi did as Moses said to them, and about three thousand men of the people fell that day. 29Then Moses said, “You filled your hands to the Lord today, each one on his son or brother, that blessing be given you.”

30Now it came to pass on the next day that Moses said to the people, “You committed a great sin. So now I will go up to God to make atonement for your sin.” 31Then Moses returned to the Lord and said, “I pray, O Lord, these people have committed a great sin and have made for themselves a god of gold! 32Yet now, if You will forgive their sin, forgive it—but if not, blot me out of the book You have written.” 33Then the Lord said to Moses, “Whoever sins against Me, I will blot him out of My book. 34Now therefore, go down and lead the people to the place of which I spoke to you. Behold, My Angel shall go before your face. Nevertheless, in the day when I visit, I will strike them for their sin.” 35So the Lord struck the people for making the calf which Aaron made.

God Orders Israel to Depart Sinai

1Now the Lord said to Moses, “Depart, go up from here, you and the people you brought out of the land of Egypt, to the land I swore to Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, saying, ‘To your seed I will give it.’ 2I will send My Angel before your face, and I will drive out the Amorite, the Hittite, the Perizzite, the Gergesite, the Hivite, the Jebusite, and the Canaanite. 3I will bring you into a land flowing with milk and honey; for I will not go up in your midst, lest I consume you on the way, for you are a stiff-necked people.” 4When the people heard this bad news, they mourned in lamentations. 5For the Lord said to the children of Israel, “You are a stiff-necked people. Beware, lest I inflict another plague on you and consume you. Now therefore, take off your bright clothes and ornaments, and I will show you what I will do.” 6So the children of Israel stripped themselves of their bright clothes and ornaments by Mount Horeb.

Moses before the Lord

7Moses then took his tent and pitched it outside the camp, far from the camp, and called it the tabernacle of testimony. Thus it came to pass that everyone who sought the Lord went out to the tabernacle of testimony, which was outside the camp. 8So it was, whenever Moses went out to the tabernacle, which was outside the camp, all the people rose, and each man stood at his tent door and watched Moses until he went into the tabernacle. 9Now it came to pass, when Moses entered the tabernacle, that the pillar of cloud descended and stood at the door of the tabernacle, and God talked to Moses. 10All the people saw the pillar of cloud standing at the tabernacle door, and all the people rose and worshiped, each man at his tent door. 11Thus the Lord spoke to Moses face to face, as a man speaks to his friend. Then he would return to the camp, but his servant Joshua the son of Nun, a young man, did not depart from the tabernacle.

God Promises His Presence

12Then Moses said to the Lord, “Behold, You say to me, ‘Bring up this people.’ But You have not let me know whom You will send with me. Yet You have said, ‘I know you above all, and you have also found grace in My sight.’ 13Now therefore, I pray, if I have found grace in Your sight, reveal Yourself to me, that I may see You clearly and find grace in Your sight, and know this great nation is Your people.”

14So He said, “I Myself will go before you and give you rest.” 15Then he said to Him, “If You Yourself do not go up with us, do not bring us up from here. 16For how then will it be known that Your people and I found grace in Your sight, except You go with us? So both I and Your people shall be glorified beyond all the nations on the earth.” 17The Lord then said to Moses, “I will also do this thing you have spoken; for you have found grace in My sight, and I know you above all.” 18Moses replied, “Reveal Yourself to me.”

19Then God said, “I will pass before you in My glory, and I will proclaim My name, the Lord, before you. I will have mercy on whom I will have mercy, and I will have compassion on whom I will have compassion.” [20]But He said, “You cannot see My face; for no man can see My face and live.” [21]Moreover, the Lord said, “Here is a place by Me: you shall stand on the rock. [22]So it shall be, while My glory passes by, that I will put you in the cleft of the rock, and will cover you with My hand while I pass by. [23]Then I will take away My hand, and you shall see My back; but My face shall not be seen.”

A Second Set of Tablets

[1]Now the Lord said to Moses, “Cut two tablets of stone like the first ones, and I will write on these tablets the words that were on the first tablets you broke. [2]So be ready in the morning to come up on Mount Sinai and to present yourself to Me there on top of the mountain. [3]But no man shall come up with you, and let no man be seen throughout all the mountain; let neither sheep nor oxen feed before that mountain.” [4]So he cut two tablets of stone like the first ones. Then Moses rose early in the morning and went up to Mount Sinai as the Lord commanded him; and he took in his hand the two tablets of stone. [5]Now the Lord descended in the cloud; and He stood with him there, and he called upon the name of the Lord. [6]Then the Lord passed before his face and proclaimed, “The Lord God, compassionate, merciful, longsuffering, abounding in mercy and true, [7]preserving righteousness and showing mercy unto thousands, taking away lawlessness, wrongdoing, and sins; and He will not clear the guilty, visiting the lawlessness of the fathers upon the children and the children’s children to the third and the fourth generation.” [8]So Moses made haste and bowed his head toward the ground and worshiped. [9]Then he said, “If now I have found grace in Your sight, let my Lord go with us, for the people are stiff-necked; and You will take away our sins and lawlessness, and we will be Yours.”

The Covenant Is Renewed

[10]The Lord then said to Moses, “Behold, I am establishing a covenant with you. Before all your people I will do marvels such as have not been done in all the earth, nor in any nation; and all the people among whom you are shall see the works of the Lord, for I will do awesome things for you. [11]Observe what I command you this day. Behold, I am driving out from before you the Amorite, the Canaanite, the Perizzite, the Hittite, the Hivite, the Gergesite, and the Jebusite. 12Take heed to yourself, lest you make a covenant with the inhabitants of the land where you are going, lest it be a stumbling-block in your midst. 13But you shall destroy their altars, break their sacred pillars, and cut down their groves; and you shall burn the graven images of their gods with fire 14(for you shall worship no other god, for the Lord God, a jealous name, is a jealous God), 15lest you make a covenant with the foreigners of the land; and they indulge themselves in gross immorality with their gods by making sacrifice to them; and they invite you, and you eat of their sacrifices; 16and you take of their daughters for your sons and give your daughters to their sons; and your daughters commit fornication with their gods, and your sons commit fornication with their gods. 17You shall make no molten gods for yourselves.

18"The Feast of Unleavened Bread you shall keep. Seven days you shall eat unleavened bread, as I commanded you, at the season in the month of new grain; for in the month of new grain you came out from Egypt. 19All that open the womb are Mine: every male firstborn among your livestock, of oxen or sheep. 20But the firstborn of a donkey you shall redeem with a sheep, and if you will not redeem it, you shall pay a price. All the firstborn of your sons you shall redeem, and none shall appear before Me empty-handed. 21Six days you shall work, but on the seventh day you shall rest. There shall be rest in seedtime and harvest. 22You shall observe the Feast of Weeks, the firstfruits of wheat harvest, and the Feast of Ingathering at the year's end.

23"Three times in the year all your males shall appear before the Lord God of Israel. 24For I will cast out the nations before you and enlarge your borders; neither will any man covet your land when you go up to appear before the Lord your God three times in the year. 25You shall not offer the blood of My sacrifices with leaven, nor shall the sacrifices from the Feast of Pascha be left until morning. 26The first fruits of your land you shall bring to the house of the Lord your God. You shall not boil a lamb in its mother's milk."

27Again the Lord said to Moses, "Write these words for yourself, for according to these words I established a covenant with you and with Israel." 28So he was there with the Lord forty days and forty nights; he neither ate bread nor drank water. He wrote on the tablets the words of the covenant, the Ten Commandments.

Moses' Face Shines

[29]Now when Moses came down from Mount Sinai (and the two tablets were in Moses' hand when he came down from the mountain), he did not know the skin of his face was glorified while God talked with Him. [30]So when Aaron and all the children of Israel saw Moses and the glorified appearance of the skin of his face, they were afraid to come near him. [31]Then Moses called to them, and Aaron and all the rulers of the congregation returned to him; and Moses talked with them. [32]Afterward all the children of Israel came near, and he gave them as commandments all that the Lord commanded him on Mount Sinai. [33]When Moses finished speaking with them, he put a veil on his face. [34]But when Moses went in before the Lord to speak with Him, he would take the veil off until he came out; and he would come out and speak to the children of Israel whatever the Lord commanded him. [35]So the children of Israel saw the face of Moses, that it was glorified; and Moses put the veil on his face again until he went in to speak with Him.

Regulations Regarding the Sabbath

[1]Now Moses gathered all the congregation of the children of Israel together and said to them, "These are the words the Lord said for you to do. [2]Work shall be done for six days, but the seventh day shall be a holy day for you, a Sabbath of rest to the Lord. Whoever does work on it shall be put to death. [3]You shall kindle no fire throughout your dwellings on the Sabbath Day; I am the Lord."

[4]Again Moses spoke to all the congregation of the children of Israel, saying, "This is the thing the Lord commanded, saying, [5]'Take from among you an offering to the Lord. Whoever is of a willing heart, let him bring his first fruits to the Lord: gold, silver, and bronze; [6]blue, purple, and scarlet fabric, fine linen, and female goats' hair; [7]ram skins dyed red, skins dyed blue, and incorruptible wood; [8]sardius stones and stones to be set in the ephod and the full-length robe.

[9]'Every man wise in heart among you, let him come and do all the Lord has commanded: [10]the tabernacle, its cords, coverings, rings, bars, and posts; [11]the ark of the testimony, its poles, mercy seat, and veil; [12]and the curtains of the court and its posts; [13]and the emerald stones; [14]and the incense and the anointing oil; [15]and the table and all its utensils; [16]and the illuminating lampstand and all its utensils; [17]and the altar and all its utensils; [18]and the holy vestments of Aaron the priest and the garments in which they shall do service; [19]and the priestly robes for the sons of Aaron and the compounded incense.' "

[20]So all the congregation of the children of Israel departed from the presence of Moses. [21]Then everyone came whose heart was stirred and whose soul was willing; and they brought the Lord's offering for the work of the tabernacle of testimony, for all its service and the garments of the holy place. [22]They came, both men and women, as many as had a willing mind, and brought signets, earrings, rings, and necklaces, all jewelry of gold to the Lord. [23]Also every man with whom was found blue fabric and skins dyed blue and skins dyed red brought them. [24]Everyone who offered an offering of silver or bronze also brought these to the Lord; and everyone with whom was found incorruptible wood for any work of the service brought it. [25]All the women who were gifted artisans spun yarn with their hands and brought what they spun—of blue, purple, scarlet, and fine linen. [26]Also all the women whose heart stirred with wisdom spun yarn of female goats' hair. [27]The rulers brought emerald stones, and the stones to be set in the ephod and in the oracle, [28]and the compounds for the anointing oil, and the compounds for the incense. [29]Thus the children of Israel brought a freewill offering to the Lord, all the men and women whose minds were willing to bring material for all kinds of work, which the Lord, by the hand of Moses, commanded to be done.

Artisans for the Tabernacle

[30]Then Moses said to the children of Israel, "Behold, God has called by name Bezalel the son of Uri, the son of Hur, of the tribe of Judah; [31]and He has filled him with a divine Spirit of wisdom, understanding, and knowledge in all things [32]to design artistic works, to work in gold and silver and bronze, [33]in cutting jewels for setting, in carving wood, and to work in all manner of artistic workmanship. [34]He has put in his mind and in that of Aholiab the son of Ahisamach, of the tribe of Dan, the ability to teach. [35]He filled them with wisdom, understanding, and skill to do all manner of work of the holy place, and to weave the woven and embroidered work with scarlet and fine linen, and to do all work of curious workmanship and embroidery."

Exodus 36

[1]Now Bezalel and Aholiab, and every gifted artisan in whom the Lord put wisdom and knowledge to know how to do all manner of work for the service of the holy place, did according to all the Lord commanded.

The Gifts of the People

[2]Then Moses called Bezalel and Aholiab, and every gifted artisan in whose heart the Lord put wisdom, everyone whose heart willed freely to come and do the work. [3]They received from Moses all the offerings the children of Israel brought for all the works for making the holy place, and they continued bringing him freewill offerings every morning. [4]Then all the wise men who were doing all the work of the holy place came, each according to the work he was doing, [5]and they spoke to Moses, saying, “The people bring much more than enough for the work the Lord commanded us to do.” [6]So Moses gave a commandment and proclaimed it throughout the camp, saying, “Let neither man nor woman do any more work for the offering of the holy place.” Thus the people were restrained from bringing more, [7]for the material was sufficient for all the work to be done—indeed, too much.

Articles for the Tabernacle

[8]Then all the gifted artisans among them who worked on Aaron’s garments for the holy places did as the Lord commanded Moses. [9]He made the ephod of gold, blue, purple, spun scarlet, and fine twined linen. [10]Thin plates of gold were then cut into threads to be woven into the blue, purple, spun scarlet, and fine twined linen; and they formed it as a woven piece. [11]He then coupled the ephod together from its two sides, a work woven by a mutual twisting of the parts into one another. [12]They constructed it according to the same workmanship of gold, blue, purple, spun scarlet, and fine twined linen, as the Lord commanded Moses. [13]Then they made two emerald stones, clasped together and set in gold, carved and engraved as signets are engraved with the names of the sons of Israel. [14]He attached these as memorial stones to the shoulders of the ephod for the children of Israel, as the Lord commanded Moses.

[15]Then they made the oracle, a woven work of embroidery like the workmanship of the ephod, of gold, blue, purple, spun scarlet, and fine

twined linen. [16]They made the oracle square by doubling it; a span was its length and a span its width when doubled. [17]Interwoven into this texture was a setting of four rows of stones: the first row, a sardius, a topaz, and an emerald; [18]and the second row, a carbuncle, a sapphire, and a jasper; [19]and the third row, a jacinth, an agate, and an amethyst; [20]and the fourth row, a chrysolite, a beryl, and an onyx, set around with gold and fastened with gold. [21]The twelve stones bore the names of the sons of Israel, their names engraved like a signet, each one with its own name according to the twelve tribes. [22]Then they made on the oracle chains, plaited fringes of gold, a work of pure gold. [23]They also made two gold bosses and two gold rings. [24]Then they put the two braided chains of gold in the two rings on the ends of the oracle. [25]They also attached two golden clasps to the rings on both sides of the oracle, the two clasps to the two couplings. [26]Then they placed the two gold bosses, joining them to the shoulders of the ephod opposite one another in the front. [27]They made two gold rings and attached them to two loops on top of the oracle, near the back of it, the side toward the ephod. [28]Then they made two gold rings and attached them below the two shoulders of the ephod in front, woven into the ephod like the coupling above.

[29]Then they bound the oracle by means of its rings to the rings of the ephod with a blue cord. [30]That way it would be above the intricately woven band of the ephod, and the breastplate would not rip away from the ephod, as the Lord commanded Moses. [31]He made the undergarment of the ephod of woven work, all of blue. [32]The collar of the undergarment was plaited and interwoven, having a border all around that it would not tear. [33]Beneath the border of the robe there were knobs of flowering pomegranate, constructed of blue, purple, spun scarlet, and fine twined linen.

[34]Then they made bells of pure gold and put the bells on the hem of the robe all around between the pomegranates. [35]The golden bells and pomegranates, all the hem of the robe, were for the ministry, as the Lord commanded Moses. [36]They made fine linen robes, woven work, for Aaron and his sons, and belts of fine linen, and turbans of fine linen, short trousers of fine linen, [37]and their sashes of fine woven linen, blue, purple, spun scarlet, made by a weaver according as the Lord commanded Moses.

[38]Then they made the plate of gold, a dedicated thing of the holy place, of pure gold, and on it he wrote an inscription like the engraving of a signet: Holiness to the Lord. [39]And they tied a blue cord to it to fasten it above on the turban, in the manner the Lord commanded Moses.

Exodus 37

The Tabernacle of Testimony

[1]Now they made ten curtains for the tabernacle. [2]The length of one curtain was twenty-eight cubits (and thus it was for all of them), and the width four cubits. [3]They made the veil of blue, purple, spun scarlet, and fine twined linen; a work woven with cherubim. [4]Then they put it on four posts of incorruptible wood overlaid with gold; and their capitals were gold, and their four bases were silver. [5]For the tabernacle of testimony, they made the veil of the door blue, purple, spun scarlet, and fine twined linen, a woven work with cherubs; [6]and they made its five posts with their rings, and they gilded their capitals and bands with gold; but their five bases were bronze.

[7]Then they made the court toward the south, and its curtains were of fine twined linen, one hundred cubits symmetrically. [8]There were twenty posts for them with twenty bases. [9]On the north side they were a hundred cubits symmetrically. On the south side they were a hundred cubits symmetrically with their twenty posts and twenty bases. [10]On the west side there were curtains of fifty cubits with their ten posts and twenty bases. [11]On the east side, there were curtains of fifty cubits: [12]with one curtain on one side of the court entrance of fifteen cubits, with its three posts and bases, [13]and one on the other side of the court entrance of fifteen cubits, with its three posts and bases. [14]All the curtains of the court were of fine twined linen. [15]The bases of the posts were bronze, the hooks of the posts were silver, and their capitals were overlaid with silver; and all the posts of the court were overlaid with silver. [16]The veil of the court entrance was a woven work of blue, purple, spun scarlet, and fine twined linen. Its length was twenty cubits, and its height or width was five cubits, corresponding with the curtains of the court.
[17]There were four posts and bases for the veil, made of bronze with their hooks of silver, and their capitals overlaid with silver. [18]The pegs all around the court were made of bronze and overlaid with silver.

[19]So this was the construction of the tabernacle of testimony, as it was commanded to Moses, for the service of the Levites through Ithamar, the son of Aaron the priest. [20]Bezalel the son of Uri, of the tribe of Judah, did as the Lord commanded Moses.

[21]There was Aholiab the son of Ahisamach, of the tribe of Dan, who was a master workman of woven and needlework in the scarlet and fine linen.

Exodus 38

Making the Ark

[1]Now Bezalel made the ark. [2]He overlaid it with pure gold inside and out. [3]He cast for it four golden rings (two rings on one side and two on the other), [4]wide enough for the poles with which to carry it. [5]He also made the mercy seat above the ark of pure gold, [6]and two cherubim of pure gold [7](a cherub at one end of the mercy seat and one at the other end), [8]spreading out their wings above the mercy seat.

The Table of Offering

[9]Then he made the table of offertory of pure gold [10]and cast for it four rings (two on one side and two on the other), wide enough for the poles with which to carry it. [11]Then he made the poles of the ark and the table and gilded them with gold. [12]He also made the utensils of the table, the dishes, the censers, the cups, and the pitchers for pouring drink offerings, of gold.

The Lampstand

[13]He then made the lampstand to give light, of gold, [14]both its solid stem and the branches on each side thereof, [15]and the blossoms projecting from its branches, three on one side and three on the other, symmetrical to one another. [16]As to the lamps on top of them, almond blossoms budded from them; and there were sockets to hold the lamps, the seventh of which was atop the lampstand itself at its summit, all of solid gold. [17]The seven lamps, their snuffers and funnels were also made of gold.

The Altar

[18]Then he overlaid the posts with silver and cast golden rings for the posts; and he gilded the posts supporting the veil with gold and made the hooks of gold. [19]He also made the rings of the tabernacle of gold; and the rings of the court and those for drawing out the veil above he made of bronze. [20]He then cast in silver the capitals of the tabernacle, and in bronze, the capitals of the door of the tabernacle and the gate of the court; and he made silver hooks to be attached to the posts. [21]He made of bronze all the pegs of the tabernacle and the court. [22]He made the altar of bronze from the censers used by the men engaged in Korah's rebellion. [23]He made of bronze all the utensils of the altar, and also its grate, its base, its bowls, and its flesh-hooks. [24]As an appendage to the altar, he made a network under the grate, beneath it as far as the middle of it; and he fastened four rings of bronze to the four sides of the appendage, wide enough for the bars so as to carry the altar with them. [25]He also made the holy anointing oil and the composition of the incense, the pure work of the perfumer.

A Laver of Bronze

[26]He made the laver of bronze and its base of bronze from the bronze mirrors of the women who fasted by the doors of the tabernacle of witness on the day he set it up. [27]He made the laver that in it Moses and Aaron and his sons might wash their hands and feet. Whenever they went into the tabernacle of testimony or came near to minister at the altar, they washed in it, as the Lord commanded Moses.

The Use of the Offerings

[1]Now all the gold used in all the production of the holy places was that of the offerings: twenty-nine talents and seven hundred and twenty shekels, according to the holy shekel. [2]The offering of silver from the numbered men of the congregation was one hundred talents and one thousand seven hundred and seventy-five shekels (one drachma per head being a half shekel, according to the holy shekel), [3]for everyone surveyed in the tally from twenty years old and up, to the number of six hundred and three thousand, five hundred and fifty. [4]The hundred talents of silver were used to cast the one hundred capitals of the tabernacle and the capitals of the veil; a hundred capitals to the hundred talents, a talent to a capital. [5]Then from the one thousand seven hundred and seventy-five shekels he made hooks for the posts, gilded their capitals, and decorated them. [6]The bronze from the offering was seventy talents and a thousand five hundred shekels, [7]and with it they made the bases for the doors of the tabernacle of testimony, [8]the bases for the court all around, the bases for the court gate, the pegs for the tabernacle, the pegs for all around the court, [9]the bronze appendage of the altar, all the vessels of the altar, and all the instruments of the tabernacle of testimony. [10]So the children of Israel did as the Lord commanded; thus did they.

[11]Also of the gold that remained from the offering they made vessels with which to minister before the Lord. [12]The remaining blue, purple, and scarlet cloth they made into liturgical vestments for Aaron, to minister in them in the holy place.

Presentation to Moses

[13]So they brought to Moses the garments, the tabernacle and all its vessels, the bases and their bars, the posts, [14]the ark of the covenant and its poles, [15]the altar and all its vessels, the anointing oil, the incense compound, [16]the pure lamp and its lamps (lamps for burning), the oil for light, [17]the table of offertory and the bread set forth upon it and all its utensils, [18]the garments of the holy place, which belong to Aaron and his sons for ministering as priests, [19]the curtains of the court and their posts, the veil for the door of the tabernacle, the court gate, all the utensils for the tabernacle and all its instruments, [20]the rams' skins dyed red, the blue coverings and the other coverings, [21]the pegs, and all the instruments for the work of the tabernacle of testimony. [22]Whatever things the Lord commanded Moses, thus the children of Israel made and prepared in every respect. [23]Then Moses looked over all the work, and it was done in the manner the Lord commanded Moses. They did it in this way, and Moses blessed them.

Setting Up the Tabernacle

[1]Now the Lord spoke to Moses, saying, [2]“On the first day of the first month, the new moon, you shall set up the tabernacle of testimony. [3]You shall put in it the ark of the testimony and cover the ark with the veil. [4]You shall bring in the table and lay out its offering, and bring in the lampstand and install its lamps. [5]You shall also set the altar of gold for the incense before the ark, and put up the veil for the door of the tabernacle of testimony. [6]Then you shall set the altar of the burnt offerings before the door of the tabernacle of testimony. [7]You shall put a cover over the tabernacle and consecrate everything pertaining to it. [8]You shall take the anointing oil and anoint the tabernacle and everything in it; and you shall consecrate it and all its utensils, and it shall be holy. [9]You shall anoint the altar of burnt offerings and all its utensils and consecrate the altar. The altar shall be most holy.

Entrance of the Priests

[10]“Then you shall bring Aaron and his sons to the doors of the tabernacle of testimony and wash them with water. [11]You shall put the holy garments on Aaron and anoint and consecrate him that he may minister to Me as priest. [12]You shall also bring his sons and put garments on them. [13]You shall anoint them as you anointed their father, so they may minister to Me as priests; for their anointing shall surely be an everlasting priesthood throughout their generations.” [14]Thus Moses did; according to all the Lord commanded him, so he did.

The Work Is Finished

[15]Then it came to pass in the first month of the second year after their departure from Egypt, on the first day of the month, the tabernacle was set up. [16]So Moses set up the tabernacle, placed the capitals, inserted the bars, and set up the posts. [17]He spread out the curtains over the tabernacle and put the veil of the tabernacle on it above, as the Lord commanded Moses.

[18]Then he took the testimonies, put them into the ark, and inserted the poles under the ark. [19]He then brought the ark into the tabernacle, hung up the veil of the covering, and partitioned off the ark of the testimony, as the Lord commanded Moses. 20He put the table in the tabernacle of testimony, on the north side of the tabernacle of testimony, outside the veil of the tabernacle. 21He also set the bread of the offertory upon it before the Lord, in the manner the Lord commanded Moses. 22Then he put the lampstand in the tabernacle of testimony, on the south side of the tabernacle; 23and he placed its lamps before the Lord, as the Lord commanded Moses. 24He also put the gold altar in the tabernacle of testimony in front of the veil; 25and he burned the incense compound on it, as the Lord commanded Moses. 26Then he put the altar of burnt offering before the doors of the tabernacle. 27He also set up the court all around the tabernacle and the altar. So Moses finished all the work.

The Overshadowing Cloud

28Then the cloud covered the tabernacle of testimony, and the tabernacle was filled with the Lord’s glory. 29But Moses was not able to enter the tabernacle of testimony because the cloud overshadowed it, and the glory of the Lord filled the tabernacle. 30Whenever the cloud ascended from the tabernacle, the children of Israel prepared to depart with their belongings. 31But if the cloud did not ascend, they did not prepare to depart until the cloud ascended. 32For before all Israel, throughout all their journeys, the cloud was above the tabernacle by day, and fire was over it by night.

Annotations for Exodus

📖 1:1–20 This passage is read during Monday Vespers in Passion Week.

1:6 Death continued to reign. Joseph and all his generation died. Nevertheless, the appearances of the Son of God to the prophets and the Holy Spirit speaking through them—especially in relation to Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob—laid the beginnings of His future plan for the overthrow of death. These beginnings will continue as the Son reveals Himself to Moses and the Holy Spirit speaks through him.

1:10 The deceitfulness of Pharaoh ties this story to two others. First to the account of the serpent, who was "more cunning than all the wild animals the Lord God made on the earth" (Gn 3:1); and second, to a later pharaoh's attempt to outwit Moses. This early verse of Exodus introduces a major motif of this book, namely, the matching of wits—the wisdom of the serpent again encounters the wisdom of God. Similarly, when the Son of God became incarnate, He easily outwitted the devil and destroyed him and death through His Cross (Col 2:15; Heb 2:14, 15).

1:12 The Egyptians severely humbled the children of Israel, but the more they persecuted them, the more their numbers multiplied. For the Lord preserved Israel so that He might become incarnate through them for man's salvation. When He became Man, He suffered the extreme humiliation of the Cross; nevertheless, through the Cross His Church grew and multiplied in great numbers.

1:15 Shiphrah and Puah outmaneuvered Pharaoh, for they feared God, who gave them wisdom. And whereas the enemy outsmarted Eve at the beginning of Genesis, these women at the beginning of Exodus outwit the enemy. God's plan for the Incarnation cannot be stopped.

2:2 Moses' parents were Amram and Jochebed (6:20; Nm 26:59). They hid Moses for three months because they embraced the faith of Abraham (Heb 11:8–15; 23). Thus, they were not afraid of the king's commandment.

2:4 Miriam, Moses' sister, was watching from a distance to learn what would become of Moses. She, too, was a woman of God whose faith led to learning. She would learn through observing the divine providence in the situation (Acts 7:20). And we can learn how easy it is for the Lord to keep incarnational history in motion in the midst of great opposition.

📖 2:5–10 This passage is read during Tuesday Vespers in Passion Week and at Vespers of the Feast of the Theophany of the Lord.

2:9 Jochebed may be the only woman in history to be paid for nursing her own child.

2:11 Moses went out to see his brethren because he refused to be called the son of Pharaoh's daughter. Why? Because of his faith, for he chose the Lord and holiness over the riches of Egypt and the passing pleasures of sin. He had his eyes on the world to come (Heb 11:24–26).

📖 2:11–22 This passage is read during Wednesday Vespers in Passion Week.

2:12 Moses was forty years old at this time, and he knew he was Israel's deliverer. Thus, he defended an Israelite and killed the Egyptian. He supposed the Israelites would understand his calling from God, but they did not (Acts 7:23–28). That generation never would.

2:15 This is another instance of divine providence preserving Moses' life. He fled to Midian, where he lived for forty years (Acts 7:29, 30).

2:22 Moses named this son Gershom, which name relates to sojourning in a foreign land. As a man of God, he looked to the reward (Heb 11:26), which is the world to come. For this world is a foreign land to people of faith.

2:24 God remembered His covenant, for His remembrance is salvation. This covenant is the New Testament in Christ. It is called the covenant of Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob to instruct the Jews and all mankind that salvation comes through faith in the Lord Jesus Christ.

📖 3:1–8 These verses are read as the first reading in the Liturgy during the Feast of the Annunciation.

3:2 God the Word revealed Himself to Moses in the burning bush to forecast His coming Incarnation (JohnDm, AthanG, JohnChr, GrgTheo, AmbM). He is called the Angel of the Lord because He is the Angel or Messenger of the Father who reveals the Father's will. For He is the Will of the Father (AthanG). He is the Only-begotten God because He is begotten from the Unbegotten Father before all time and ages (GrgNy). Isaiah the prophet called the Son "the Angel of Great Counsel" (Is 9:5).

The bush was on fire but was not consumed, for the Son of God became Man to save man and not to consume him. He became Man in the womb of the Mother of God, for the bush itself typifies her.

3:3 Moses was shown this great sight of the Lord's coming Incarnation because he was detached from the fleeting pleasures of this world (JohnDm, AmbM). For he was looking to the resurrection of the dead and the life of the world to come (Creed).

3:4 The Angel is called Lord and God, for He is the Speaker. Since He is begotten from the Father before all time and ages, He is therefore the Only-Begotten God.

3:5 Moses was to remove his sandals. This indicates that nothing dead is to stand between God and man, for He is the God of the living (AmbM).

3:6 The Angel also called Himself the God of Abraham, the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob. For the Son is true God of true God, and He reveals the Father in Himself. He who sees the Son also sees the Father. He who sees the Only-begotten God also sees the Unbegotten Father.

3:7 The Lord loves His people and knows their pain and suffering, and His Incarnation is the remedy for all their sorrows.

3:14 The name I AM the Existing One is the name for the Essence of God, which is one and undivided (AthanG, JohnDm). This Essence is like a boundless sea, containing all things yet not contained by anything. The Son is eternally begotten from the Essence of the Father. When Jesus said He was the Existing One, the Jews who were listening took up stones to stone Him, for they knew this passage in Exodus (Jn 8:57–59). He is acknowledged as the Existing One in every Vespers service of the Church.

4:2, 3 The rod was Moses' staff as a shepherd. It was a type of the Cross (Jn 3:14), which is the antidote to the serpent's bite. The devil poisoned man with sin and death, but the Lord destroyed all three enemies by His Cross.

4:7, 8 Leprosy was a type of sin and death. The Cross heals man of his leprosy.

4:14 God is dispassionate; therefore, He does not possess passion in His nature. He is said to be very angry by way of analogy with man's anger. In this sense, the Lord was displeased with Moses, but He Himself is without such passion.

4:17 The Son of God worked miracles through the instrument of Moses' staff. Having become incarnate, He now works miracles through the Cross.

4:21 It is customary for Holy Scripture to call God's permission His action (JohnDm). Therefore, when the Lord said to Moses, I will harden his heart, this hardness was by way of divine permission. For Pharaoh hardened his own heart through his free choice.

4:22 The Lord calls Israel His firstborn son. The use of the term firstborn in this verse, therefore, cannot imply other offspring born afterward. Similarly, Jesus is called the "firstborn" of the Virgin Mary (Mt 1:25). Therefore, no one can claim this necessarily implies she had other children, for in truth He was her only offspring.

4:30, 31 The people believed, rejoiced, and worshiped because they saw the signs, but did they love the Lord? No, for later on these same people would die in the wilderness because of their unbelief. Similarly, when Jesus did signs before the people, they believed; however, He would not commit Himself to them, for they did not love Him (Jn 2:23–25). Moreover, people who ask for signs are tempters, for those who love Christ have no need for signs (JohnChr).

5:2 Pharaoh asked perhaps the most important question in human history: "Who is the Lord?" But in his arrogance he boldly said, "I do not know the Lord." His ignorance stemmed from his arrogance, for he was his own lord. Shortly, he would know Him to be the Lord of all the earth, but he would still refuse to obey Him.

5:21 A short time before, the clerks had believed, rejoiced, and worshiped the Lord along with the people when they saw the signs. But now they were unwilling to suffer for His sake, although believing and suffering belong together as a privilege (Php 1:29). For suffering on the Lord's behalf results in eternal glory (2Co 4:17). But they condemned Moses. So although they gave mental assent to belief in the Lord, they actually had no heart for Him.

5:22, 23 Moses asked the Lord, "Why have You brought trouble on this people?" The answer is, "To test their faith" (see Jam 1:2–4), for such testing produces patience in those who pass the test. And Moses, along with the people, needed such patience.

6:2, 3 The Son of the Father appeared to Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob as their God. He told Jacob, for example, that He was the Lord (Gn 28:13), but He did not show him the power He had over all the earth. Now He was about to reveal His almighty power in relation to the Egyptians, for He is the Wisdom and Power of the Father (1Co 1:24). After He became incarnate, and in many places of the New Testament, He is now called the Lord Jesus Christ.

6:4 The land of Canaan is called the land of their [Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob's] sojourn, in which they were strangers. They did not see Canaan as their permanent home, for they "waited for the city which has foundations, whose builder and maker is God," and "they desired a better, that is, a heavenly country" (Heb 11:10, 16). The Jews who embraced this faith had the same vision, as do the Gentiles who do the same. For Canaan was a type of the world to come. But the Jews who came out of Egypt and did not embrace this faith saw the Canaan of this world as their true home, a false vision on their part.

6:7 The Son of the Father is speaking, and the Jews were to know that He was the Lord their God, together with His Father and the Holy Spirit. When He became incarnate, He revealed the Father and the Holy Spirit to the Jews in full measure.

6:9 The children of Israel had a heart problem—they were willing to believe, but not to suffer for the Lord's sake. Therefore, they were fainthearted and disobedient because of their cruel bondage.

7:1 The Lord made Moses a god to Pharaoh, but it is one thing to be made a god and another to be God (HilryP). The Scripture uses the name god in three ways: (1) gods in name only, as are Moses and the saints; (2) false gods, as are the demons and idols; and (3) the true God, as is the Father (AmbM). Moses was god in name only, but not in nature. But the Son is True God of True God (Creed), because He is God both in name and in nature. For before all time and ages, He is begotten from God to be God. He is begotten, not made (Creed).

7:3, 14, 22 See note at 4:21.

7:5 The Egyptians would learn that the Lord is the Lord of all, not only of the Hebrews.

7:9 Thus, signs are for unbelievers (1Co 14:22).

7:23 Pharaoh's heart was not moved by the signs toward faith in the Lord. He was too arrogant to humble himself.

8:4 In 5:2, Pharaoh refuses to acknowledge the Lord, saying, "Who is He, that I should obey His voice?" But now he asks for intercessory prayer to the Lord on his behalf and that of his people. However, he still worships the gods of Egypt; the Lord is only another god to add to his list.

8:6 The Lord is the Lord of all, and Pharaoh needed to realize this. He is not one among others.

8:11 Pharaoh still refused to forsake his idols and believe in the Lord. So he hardened his heart (see note at 4:21).

8:15 The finger of God is the Holy Spirit (Mt 12:28; Lk 11:20). The operation of the Spirit brought the lice upon Egypt, for the Father works through the Son and in the Spirit.

8:18 Egypt's gods were lords of Egypt, but the Lord is the Lord of all the earth. Therefore, the gods of Egypt were not lords in any sense, but Pharaoh was too arrogant to acknowledge the true Lord. After the Lord became incarnate, His parents took Him to Egypt, where as a baby He destroyed the idols of Egypt and brought the nation to Himself (Is 19:1, 18–22).

8:28 Pharaoh hardened his own heart through free choice (see also note at 4:21).

9:7, 12, 34, 35 See note at 4:21.

9:14, 16 The Lord of all the earth used Pharaoh to declare His mighty power throughout the earth, for He shows compassion to whom He will, and He shows mercy to whom He will (Rom 9:17, 18). We should never inquire into why God does what He does, nor even raise any questions about it. Our response should be obedience to Him (JohnChr).

9:17 Pharaoh's problem was self-exaltation, which opposes faith in the Lord.

9:20, 21 Some among Pharaoh's servants believed in the Lord, for faith produces fear of the Lord. But some did not believe the Lord's word. Thus, some exercised their free will to believe and some did not. However, all had the opportunity to know the Lord through faith, for He desires that all be saved.

10:1, 20, 27 Both Pharaoh and his servants hardened their hearts (see note at 4:21).

10:2 Future generations are instructed by the Lord's works as to how easy it is for the Lord to do what He does. Recounting His works helps these generations know the true Lord of all.

10:3 Humility is to know the Lord and to humble oneself before Him. Pharaoh refused to humble himself through his own free choice. Humility is the beginning and end of salvation (JohnChr).

10:16, 17 Pharaoh's confession was not from his heart, for it was motivated by self-interest. He wanted death removed from him, but he still refused to glorify the Lord.

10:21 The soul also feels the darkness caused by unbelief.

11:3 The Lord gave Israel grace in the sight of the Egyptians, for as the Only-begotten of the Father, He is full of grace and truth (Jn 1:14). And as Moses became great in their sight, similarly, the Incarnate Son became great in their sight when He established His Church throughout that land.

11:10 See note at 4:21.

12:2 The Law of Moses commanded that Pascha (or Passover) be celebrated in the beginning of months . . . the first month of the year. But the Lord came down "at the end of the ages" (Heb 9:26), and He is "the end of the law" (Rom 10:4); therefore, He established a different day (AthanG).

12:3 The Lord's commandment through Moses was the type, for a lamb was commanded to be sacrificed. But the incarnate Lord did not command any such thing, for He became the command itself by offering Himself as the Sacrifice to the Father (JohnChr).

12:7 The two doorposts speak of our heart and its vision and action with regard to the New Covenant made in Christ's Blood, that we might be crucified with Him and rise up to be glorified and reign with Him, both now and at His Second Coming (GrgTheo).

12:10, 46 Not a bone of Christ's Body was broken (Jn 19:33, 36), which fulfilled this commandment concerning Pascha (see also Nm 9:12). We see the strong connection between the type and the reality (JohnChr).

12:11 The haste in eating the Lord's Pascha speaks of sojourning. Likewise, we are to eat the Lord's Eucharist as sojourners (JohnChr), for we "look for the resurrection of the dead and the life of the world to come" (Creed). Originally, Passover was called "the Lord's Pascha," but later it was called "the Jews' Pascha" (see Jn 6:4), because they denied the Lord who fulfilled the type (AthanG).

12:13 Death would not touch Israel because of the blood. Christ's Blood destroyed death and delivers His Church from the same (Heb 2:14, 15). The firstborn were preserved by God from being touched by the destroyer to show that we who were made alive in Christ no longer die in Adam (BasilG).

12:14 This eternal memorial is fulfilled in Christ, who said the Eucharist is to be eaten "in remembrance of Me" (1Co 11:24, 25; JohnChr).

12:16 Servile work: the things necessary to life done during the course of the Feast of Unleavened Bread. But now we are to keep the feast our whole life long: "Therefore let us keep the feast, not with old leaven, nor with the leaven of malice and wickedness, but with the unleavened bread of sincerity and truth" (1Co 5:8). For this is necessary to life (JohnChr).

12:22 The hyssop speaks of Christ's garments that were whiter than snow in the Resurrection, and of the purity bestowed by the remission of sins in baptism (AmbM). See also Ps 50:9.

12:23, 26, 27 Christ's Paschal sacrifice saves us from death, for He trampled down death by His death and bestowed life on those in the grave. In the eucharistic cup, His precious Blood saves us from death.

12:30 A great cry arose throughout Egypt because they had no hope beyond this life and were without God in this world (Eph 2:12).

12:33 The Egyptians lived under the fear of death (Heb 2:15).

12:38, 48 A mixed multitude of Gentiles also went with Israel because they believed. But those who wished to partake of Pascha had to be circumcised. Similarly, baptism is the door to the Eucharist.

🕮 12:51; 13:1–3, 10–12, 14–16; 22:29 These verses are read as the first reading of the Feast of the Meeting of Our Lord, God and Savior Jesus Christ.

13:1 The sanctification of the firstborn foreshadows the Incarnation of the Son of God. For He is the Firstborn of the Mother of God (Mt 1:25; Lk 2:7). The Church of the Firstborn are His brethren, whose names are registered in heaven (Heb 2:11, 17; 12:23).

13:22 The pillar of cloud by day and the pillar of fire by night speak of baptism, the sacrament of illumination or enlightenment (1Co 10:1, 2). The cloud itself is a foreshadowing of the Holy Spirit, who in baptism cools the flame of the sinful passions (BasilG). As one walks in his baptism, the Holy Spirit enlightens him on the pathway to the resurrection from the dead and the life of the world to come.

Christ Our Passover

Passover, the central rite and symbol of Judaism, is based on the experience of the liberation of the Hebrew people from bondage in Egypt (Ex 12:1–15:21). It is called Passover both because the Lord passed over the homes of the Hebrews, sparing them from the death that came to the first-born in Egypt, and because the Hebrews passed over the Red Sea as if it were dry land. Passover celebrates God's steadfast love and devotion to His people and their freedom in Him.

Throughout the rest of the Old Testament, Passover preeminently signifies God's rescue and forging together of His chosen people, Israel. The Lord repeatedly brings this event to mind as He encourages and exhorts His people to return to their covenantal responsibilities (Jdg 6:7–10; 1Kg 10:17–19; Ps 80:10, 11; Jer 11:1–8; Mic 6:1–8).

Through His saving work, Christ becomes our Passover (pascha in Greek). Through Him we experience liberation from sin, death, and the devil. St. Paul exclaims, "Christ, our Passover, was sacrificed for us. Therefore let us keep the feast" (1Co 5:7, 8). He is the Paschal Lamb (Is 53:7; Jn 1:29; Rev 5:6–14) who gave Himself up in sacrifice "once for all" (Heb 10:10–14) to reconcile us with God. At every Pascha—"Easter"—the Church sings:

> Today a sacred Pascha is revealed to us, a new and holy Pascha, a mystical Pascha, a Pascha worthy of veneration, a Pascha which is Christ the Redeemer.

In many typological details, the Passover of the Jews clearly points towards Christ as our Passover.

1. The Passover lamb, whose blood was smeared by the Hebrews on their doorposts in the sign of the Cross, was a male without blemish; Jesus was a male without blemish who died on the Cross.
2. The blood of the Passover lamb saved the first-born of the Hebrews from death; the blood of Christ saves all those believing in Him from eternal death (Rom 5:8–10; 1Pt 1:17–19).
3. The Passover lamb had none of its bones broken (Ex 12:10, 46); Jesus also had no bones broken as He was sacrificed (Jn 19:31–36).
4. The Hebrews escaped from the burden of slavery in Egypt by passing through the Red Sea; Christians pass "from Egypt, from the burden of sin," being "set free and saved" through the waters of Holy Baptism (GrgNy). For in the waters of Baptism, we are "baptized into His death," "crucified with Him," and raised up "in the likeness of His resurrection" to "walk in newness of life" (Rom 6:3–11).

St. John Chrysostom marvels at the power of Christ's blood:

> If the type of it had such great power . . . in the midst of Egypt, when smeared on the doorposts, much more the reality. . . . if death so shuddered at the shadow, tell me how would it not have dreaded the very reality? This blood is the salvation of our souls; by it the soul is washed, and made beautiful and . . . more gleaming than gold (see Rev 7:13, 14).

Sustained and strengthened by the blood of Christ our Passover, we resume daily our journey to the eternal promised land, the promised kingdom to come.

14:4, 8, 17 See note at 4:21.

14:15 Moses cried out to the Lord with inward tears in the silence of his heart, and the Lord answered him (GrgTheo; JohnChr; GrgNy).

📖 14:15–18, 21–23, 27–29 This passage is read at Vespers of the Feast of the Theophany of the Lord.

14:19, 24 The Angel of God the Father is the Lord, who looked down through the pillar of fire and cloud. He is the Only-begotten God, because He is begotten from the Unbegotten Father before all time and ages (GrgNy). Thus, the Son of God troubled the army of the Egyptians.

14:21 Moses accomplished what he did through prayer and as a servant of Christ, but Christ Himself walked on the Sea of Galilee by His own absolute power (Mt 14:25). Job 9:8 prophesied of Christ, "who walks on the sea as on firm ground" (JohnChr).

14:22 Based on their own nature, the waters of the sea could not form walls on either side of Israel as they walked through. But through the prophetic office of Moses, the sea's nature was changed. This shows that the power of blessing is greater than that of nature, for Israel was blessed with deliverance. Similarly, the power of blessing is greater than nature when the bread and wine of the Eucharist become in a mystery the Body and Blood of Christ (AmbM).

14:27, 28 Pharaoh and his servants are types of the devil and his angels, whom the Lord destroyed on the Cross and in the waters of baptism (BasilG; GrgNy).

15:1 The Egyptians were thrown into the sea. Their opposition to Israel was instigated by the devil (AthanG).

15:2 The verb translated became means "to make." Thus, in what sense was the Lord made? In the sense of His Incarnation (AmbM). For He "became flesh" (Jn 1:14) to become man's helper and shield in salvation. This prophecy also acknowledges the Incarnate Lord as God (my God and my father's God).

15:6, 12 The right hand of God is the Son of the Father (BasilG; AmbM). As the hand is one in essence with its body, similarly, the Son is one in essence with the Father.

15:8–10 The Spirit is the Holy Spirit (AmbM).

15:16 The Lord gave the enemy a spirit of fear, in contrast to the spirit "of power and of love and of a sound mind" that He gives the faithful (2Ti 1:7; JohnChr).

15:21 Miriam was a type of the Mother of God (GrgNy) and of the Church (AmbM). The Mother of God leads the Church in songs of praise to the Lord.

15:23 The waters of Marah were called Bitterness, which describes man's condition apart from the grace of Christ.

15:25 The tree cast into the waters made them fit for the people to drink. This tree speaks of the Cross of Christ and baptism (AmbM). For the Cross is baptism, and baptism is the Cross. The Cross is in the baptismal water, and the baptismal water is in the Cross. This is why baptism saves man (1Pt 3:21).

15:26 God heals those who hear His voice and obey Him.

15:27 Israel camped by twelve fountains of water and seventy palm trees. Similarly, the Twelve Apostles of Christ were twelve fountains of spiritual water, which quenches the thirst of those who seek the true God. Also, Christ sent forth the Seventy to provide heavenly shade from desert heat.

16:2, 8 The entire congregation complained against the godly leadership, but they were actually complaining against God. This sin arose from the sins of gluttony and unbelief. These sins led them into rebellion against the Lord and His appointed leadership, and their complaining ultimately caused their destruction in the desert (Heb 3:7–11). Similarly, the Church suffers when its members complain (1Co 10:10).

16:3 The Egyptians were gluttons (pots of meat), and the Hebrews followed their example (JohnChr). They refused to renounce this sin (JohnCas). The New Testament also warns against the sin of gluttony (Php 3:19).

16:4 The Lord rained bread out of heaven for them. It was a type of Christ, "the bread of life" (Jn 6:48–51). In the Church, He gives Himself and His life to the Church in the Eucharist (Jn 6:53–58).

16:13, 14 Israel saw the quail and the manna with their physical eyes, but these things were limited to this present life. The future life in the world to come is seen by those who walk in the Spirit (1Co 2:9, 10; AmbM).

16:18 Each one gathered what he needed. This shows the need for moderation in relation to the body (GrgNy).

16:20 Some of them left the manna over until the next morning because they were covetous. The leftovers bred worms and stank. Covetousness is a foul-smelling sin (JohnChr).

16:29 Every man was to remain in his house on the Sabbath. Yet the Jewish leaders left their houses, contrary to the Law of Moses, to plot against Jesus (Mt 27:62–66; JohnChr). They broke the Law to plot against the Lawgiver.

16:33 Manna was a type of Christ as the Bread of Life, and the golden pot a type of the Mother of God. For Christ became the Bread of Life in her holy womb for the salvation of the world.

17:6 The rock was a type of the Son of God (1Co 10:4; AmbM). He stood on the rock in Horeb and caused it to pour forth water. Rocks do not pour forth water by nature, but in a mystery this rock did. It remained a rock but simultaneously became a fountain. Similarly, bread and wine are not by nature the Body and Blood of Christ, but in a mystery they become so. They remain bread and wine, but simultaneously are Christ's Body and Blood.

17:11 Although Moses was silent, he was crying out to God, and although he was at ease, he was triumphing (AmbM; GrgTheo). His body was still, but he was actively engaged in spiritual warfare. Triumph in spiritual warfare comes through stillness in prayer and through the victory of the Cross.

17:12 Moses' hands were outstretched by Aaron and Hur, which was a type of the Cross. However, Christ alone outstretched His hands in triumph over the enemy (JohnChr; GrgTheo).

18:3, 4 The names of Moses' two sons summarize two aspects of salvation. One aspect is deliverance from Pharaoh and the Egyptians, who were a type of sin, death, and the devil. Another aspect is sojourning in a foreign land: this world was not Moses' true home, for he looked to the reward of the world to come (Heb 11:26).

18:14 Although Moses had done mighty works in God, he was still only a man and needed wise counsel. Similarly, wise leaders in the Church seek the godly counsel of others, for they are not dictators. Rather, they are counselors who seek the wise counsel of others (JohnChr).

19:4 The Son of God brought Israel to Himself from Egyptian bondage. This prefigures His Incarnation, by which He brings the Church to Himself as the Great High Priest (AmbM).

19:6 The children of Israel were to be a holy nation and a royal priesthood. These things were fulfilled in the Church (1Pt 2:4–10).

19:8 They said they would obey but did not, "for not the hearers of the law are just in the sight of God, but the doers of the law will be justified" (Rom 2:13; JohnChr).

🕮 19:10–19 This passage is read on Holy Thursday, the Thursday before Pascha (Easter).

19:14, 15 The washing of clothes and refraining from wives speak of spiritual seed conceived through the love and fear of God in the spiritual womb, travailing and bringing forth the spirit of salvation

19:17, 20, 21 Moses brought out the people to meet with God, that is, with God the Son. He is the Lord who came down on Mt. Sinai, and He is God, for it was He who spoke to Moses on the mountain (HilryP).

19:19 The Jews acknowledged that God spoke to Moses, but said concerning Jesus they did not know where He was from (Jn 9:29). Yet it was He who spoke to Moses on Mt. Sinai.

The Grace of Christ and the Law of Moses

The Apostle John wrote, "The law was given through Moses, but grace and truth came through Jesus Christ" (Jn 1:17). The grace of Christ and the Law of Moses are complementary, not contradictory. The following helps explain both.

Friendship between Christ and Moses

Christ and Moses were friends and conversed as friends. The pre-incarnate Christ gave Moses the Law; in turn, Moses gave it to Israel (Ex 20:1–26). As the Lawgiver, Christ, not Moses, was the Author of the Law. Moses was His servant.

In the New Testament, Moses and Elijah appeared with Christ on the Mount of Transfiguration, and they conversed with Him as friend with friend (Mt 17:1–8). The presence of Moses shows Christ as the fulfillment of the Law. The presence of Elijah shows Christ as the fulfillment of the Prophets.

Contrast between Christ and Moses

Christ is incomparably greater than Moses, for Christ, the Son of God, who brought all creation into existence from nonexistence, is building His Church. When Christ gave Moses and Israel the Law, He spoke as the Lord their God. Moses, however, spoke to Israel in the name of the Lord their God, not in his own name (Ex 20:22). When the Son of God became incarnate, He continued to speak to Israel, but now directly and not through a prophet. Although during His three-year ministry in Israel, He did works and spoke words in His almighty power, Israel refused to believe Him, their own Lord God. But to those Jews who did believe, He gave authority to become His children (Jn 1:11, 12).

Christ also gave authority to believing Gentiles to become His children. In the Old Testament, He made it clear through Moses and His prophets the Gentiles would be included in promises to Israel (for example, Gn 12:1–3; Is 49:5, 6). Both would be in His Church. Race is not the issue, but rather faith in Christ. His Church is one, composed of every nation, tongue and tribe (Rev 5:9).

Harmony between Law and Grace

Christ is the Lawgiver in both Old and New Testaments. Therefore, there is no opposition or contradiction between the old and new laws. In His Incarnation, the Lawgiver Himself fulfilled the old Law, making it obsolete (Heb 8:13).

Christ gave His written Law through Moses to make sin known (Rom 3:20; 7:7). Man's God-given natural law, written in the conscience, was dulled through disobedience in the years between Adam and Moses. The Mosaic Law helped renew this knowledge of sin to lead man to repentance. After His Ascension, Christ sent the Holy Spirit at Pentecost to convict the world of sin (Jn 16:8), to renew the natural law in man's conscience (Heb 8:10), to lead us into all truth (Jn 16:13), and to make it possible for us to become partakers of the divine nature (2Pt 1:4).

Grace from the Lawgiver

Christ is the Incarnate Lawgiver who offers us remission of sins through His precious blood. The old

Law could never remit sins (Heb 10:1–4). Christ not only forgives sins, but also heals the damage done through sinning. This is the unspeakable grace of the Lawgiver.

20:1 All these words refers to the Ten Commandments. But what need was there for these to be written? For God implanted all His laws in man's nature when He created him. It was necessary because of free will and man's corruption through sin (JohnCas; see also Rom 2:14, 15). However, the written law is a lower standard than the law of nature (JohnChr), for these commandments in the Old Testament condescend to man's weakness and thus refer only to keeping the body pure. But in the New Testament, the law of Christ elevates man to be pure in both body and soul.

20:2 It is not enough to be brought out of Egypt, out of the house of bondage into freedom. Far greater than this, Christ gave Himself for us to free us from our sins and to lead us into the true freedom of the children of God (Rom 8:21; AmbM).

20:3 The Lord our God is the true Son of the true Father; thus we do not worship any false god (GrgNy). However, false gods do not exist in themselves, for this commandment refers to the future, and what is in the future does not yet exist (AthanG). But the Son is true God of true God; therefore, He exists eternally with the Father and the Holy Spirit. We worship the Father and the Son and the Holy Spirit, our one God.

20:4, 23 An idol, or image, depicts some god as having a form or shape, but the true God has no form or shape. Why therefore did Israel use images in their worship? Because all these foreshadowed the Incarnation of the Son of God, whom we worship both as God and Man. Also, icons used in Church worship do not depict the divine nature. They draw attention to the Incarnation.

20:5 God is without passion, but He condescends to call Himself a jealous God to show the intensity of His love for man. Therefore, let us love Him with intensity, for this is very pleasing to Him (JohnChr).

20:12 God offers no rewards in the prohibitions of the Ten Commandments. God's promise of reward is offered to those who keep the positive ones. For example, to honor one's father and mother is the first commandment in the Ten to promise a reward, namely, a long and spiritually prosperous life on earth (Eph 6:1, 2; JohnChr).

20:13, 14 All sinful passions are evil, but murder is listed before adultery because it is worse than lust (JohnChr).

20:17 Evil desire is an ancient vice, especially the love of money, and this commandment was given to check it (AmbM).

20:19 Moses was a mediator between God and the people, and they believed him. In this sense, he was a type of Christ, the Mediator between God and man (1Ti 2:5; BasilG).

20:21 The Son of God humbled Himself to allow Moses to see and talk with Him (GrgTheo), and He humbled Himself to the extreme by becoming Man to be crucified for us. He, the Father, and the Holy Spirit dwell in the thick darkness, that is, They cannot be comprehended in Their nature or essence. We cannot know God in His essence; we can only know Him through the revelation of the Son.

20:24–26 Man is not to worship before idols. Israel worshiped the true God at an altar. The Church also worships the true God at an altar (Heb 13:10).

Images and Imagery

Many people have been taught that the second of the Ten Commandments prohibits icons. However, if correct, all artistic representations of anything would be forbidden. The Lord Himself in the same book of Exodus commanded Moses to make two gold cherubim (angels) "of hammered work," and to place them at each end of the mercy seat on the ark of the covenant (Ex 25:17–21). The Lord also stipulated that the ten curtains of the tabernacle be woven with images of cherubim on them (Ex 26:1), and likewise the veil (Ex 26:31).

When King Solomon built the temple, the huge basin, or "sea," was set upon twelve statues of oxen (3Kg 7:13, 30). And upon the ten bases of the sea were cast or engraved "lions, oxen, and cherubim" (3Kg 7:16), as well as palm trees (3Kg 7:22). The Lord bestowed His blessing upon all these artistic representations first by filling the new temple with His Glory (3Kg 8:10, 11), and then by declaring to Solomon, "I have consecrated this house which you have built to put My name there forever, and My eyes and My heart will be there perpetually" (3Kg 9:3).

Perhaps a most striking example of an image made at God's command in the Old Testament is the bronze serpent that God ordered Moses to make and put on a pole in order to protect the Hebrews bitten by the deadly serpents (Nm 21:4–9; see Jn 3:14, 15). Hundreds of years later, when the Israelites were offering incense to this same bronze serpent in a kind of idol-worship, King Hezekiah, who "did what was right in the sight of the Lord," had the serpent smashed into pieces (4Kg 18:3, 4).

So it is not the image itself which is faulty or prohibited, but rather its improper use. The prohibition in Exodus 20:4 is not against all artistic representations. Rather, it is against images, whether in human form or not, which would be worshipped as gods and goddesses—"gods of silver, and gods of gold" (Ex 20:23). For the Lord knew that such images would tempt the Hebrews to depart from worshipping Him, the One true God (Ex 20:3–5).

Certainly, before the invisible and limitless Lord God of Israel became incarnate, it was impossible to make an image of Him. However, after God the Son assumed a visible and tangible human body, it was natural and beneficial for the Church to create artistic representations of Him—and of His holy Mother, and of the saints and angels—from the earliest times. According to tradition, St. Luke the Evangelist made at least three icons of Christ and His Mother.

Every image, or icon, of Christ has significant theological content. For it proclaims anew the Incarnation of God, who "became flesh" for our salvation (Jn 1:14). Recognized icons of our Savior, prayerfully made, provide us with inspired, trustworthy representations of Him.

The Seventh Ecumenical Council, held in Nicea in AD 787, condemned the heresy of iconoclasm (the rejection, and even destruction, of icons). These Holy Fathers articulated the critical distinction between the worship reserved for God alone, and the veneration/honor/reverence given to the icons. In addition, this Council declared that "the honor given to the image passes on to that which the image represents."

Through icons, Orthodox Christians are drawn closer to Christ. A hymn sung the first Sunday of Great Lent, which commemorates the restoration of icons in AD 843, declares: "the icons that depict Thy flesh lead us to the desire and love of Thee."

21:1 The Word of the Father spoke these ordinances to Moses (AthanG). These ordinances reveal the mercy and love of God, for they protect the innocent from evil people in Old Testament times. If they had not been given, evil people would have become much more numerous than they were. For as St. Paul said: "The law is not made for a righteous person, but for the lawless" (1Ti 1:9). These laws do not proceed from cruelty, but from abounding mercy, for if the Lord had not given these laws, He would seem to have been cruel (JohnChr).

21:5, 6 The Law honored free will, for the permanent relationship of servant to master was based on it. Similarly, our service to the Lord Jesus Christ is based on free will.

21:13 The Word of the Father appointed cities of refuge, and when He became incarnate, He also commanded, "When they persecute you in this city, flee into another" (Mt 10:23; AthanG).

21:16 The Law imposed the death penalty for cursing one's father or mother. Similarly, the heretics curse the Holy Fathers and the teachings of the Church. They constantly change their own teachings, because they cannot find Christ, the Wisdom of God (AthanG).

21:24 The Law allowed vengeance to be taken on one's enemy, but the saints in the Old Testament did not fulfill this law. They went beyond it and suffered all kinds of deprivation from their enemies (Heb 11:37, 38). The law of Christ would have our patience proved by the injuries and blows offered to us being redoubled, and bids us be ready to endure twice as much damage (Mt 5:38, 39; JohnCas).

22:20 The children of Israel were to be a holy people in their behavior toward one another. Holiness in personal relationships was to be motivated by one commandment: "You shall love your neighbor as yourself," and this applied to both fellow Israelites and resident aliens (Lv 19:18, 34). All the ordinances given Israel regarding neighbors are summed up in this one commandment (Rom 13:9).

23:1 One should never accept a report that belittles someone without investigating its validity, for the Holy Spirit warns against circulating a false report (BasilG).

23:2 The majority are not always right. Sometimes they pervert justice.

23:3 If a poor man is not to be shown partiality, much less the rich. This holds true not only for judges in the courts but also for all men, for justice is to be kept pure (JohnChr).

The Priesthood, Hebrew and Christian

Old Testament Priests

The Hebrew word for "priest" is kohen. He is the Levite who stood as intercessor for the people before God. Old Testament priests offered up gifts and sacrifices to the Lord on behalf of the people, that they might be reconciled to Him.

The Lord directed Moses to construct the tabernacle (Ex 25:1–27:21). Then He established a permanent, hereditary priesthood, beginning with Moses' brother Aaron and continuing through Aaron's sons (Ex 28:1). The priests were sanctified, or consecrated, with holy oil (Ex 30:22–30). Their holy garments of finely woven and richly decorated material were for the honor and glory of God (Ex 28:2–39).

After Aaron's death, "the Lord separated the tribe of Levi [Aaron's tribe] to bear the ark of the covenant of the Lord, to stand before the Lord, to minister to Him, and to bless in His name" (Dt 10:8). Besides the various sacrifices, the priests blessed the people (Nm 6:23–25), maintained the tabernacle (later, the temple) and its grounds (Nm 18:1–7), received tithes and offerings (Nm 18:8–32), supervised purification procedures (Lv 13:1–14:57), acted as judges (Dt 17:8–13) and taught the Law (Dt 33:8–11). Only male Levites administered the liturgical rites.

New Testament Priests

From the Christian perspective, the authority of the levitical priesthood ended when Christ willingly offered Himself up to the Father as a perfect sacrifice on the cross, typified by the curtain being torn asunder in the temple (Mt 27:51).

Orthodox Christians believe the priesthood of the Church is Christ's priesthood, with the Eucharist as the first-fruit offering. Concerning the Eucharist, St. John Chrysostom notes, "It is not men who sanctify this offering. It is the Same One who sanctified the first one [the Last Supper] who also sanctifies this one . . . Christ even now is present, and even now acts." In the Divine Liturgy, the celebrant prays, "Thou Thyself art the One who offers and is offered, who accepts and is distributed." The Church retains the male priesthood because the Man Christ Jesus, the Son of God, officiates at every Eucharistic service in and through His bishops, priests and deacons. The clergy do not serve in the place of Christ; rather, Christ Himself serves in them.

St. John Chrysostom marvels at how the "fearful and awe-inspiring symbols" of the levitical priesthood are now "outshone by a splendor greater still" (see 2Co 3:10), namely the new covenant priesthood. He writes:

> When you see the Lord sacrificed and lying before you, and the priest standing over the sacrifice and praying, and all who partake being instilled with that precious blood, can you think that you are still among men and still standing on earth? Are you not at once transported to heaven? . . . He who sits above with the Father is at that moment held in our hands, and gives Himself to those who wish to clasp and embrace Him . . . how great is the honor which the grace of the Spirit has bestowed on priests.

While the ordained priesthood serves on behalf of all, every believer—baptized and anointed—is a member of God's royal priesthood. This priestly calling of all believers is foretold in Exodus 19:6: "You shall be to Me a royal priesthood and a holy nation" (see also Is 61:6), and finds its fulfillment in the Church, the new Israel: "You are . . . a royal priesthood, a holy nation" (1Pt 2:9; see also 2:5; Rev 1:5, 6). Thus, all Christians are called to offer all of creation back to God, with praise and thanksgiving. And in this work, man and creation become evermore reconciled with God.

23:4, 5 If we are to return an enemy's domestic animal that is straying, how much more are we to return his soul and that of our friends to God (JohnChr).

23:10–12 Love of God and neighbor also includes love of creation, for the land needs rest. And this benefits both the poor and the wild animals. Then too, man is refreshed, for the Sabbath is made for man and creation, and not man and creation for the Sabbath.

23:15 When you appear before God, do not appear before Him empty-handed. This applies to almsgiving, for when you enter before God to implore mercy, you must first show mercy. Make God your debtor, then offer your prayers. Lend to Him, then ask for a return, and you will receive it with interest (JohnChr).

23:20 This is the Angel who said to Moses, "I AM the Existing One" (3:14). He is the Only-begotten God, because He is begotten from the Unbegotten Father before all time and ages. He is called Angel to distinguish Him from the Father. The word angel means messenger, and this Angel reveals the will of the Father to man. Moses believed in the Holy Trinity (GrgNy). Thus, "My" refers to the Father, and "Angel" refers to the Son.

23:21 This Angel has the authority to forgive sins, for the Father's name is in Him. The Father's name is the Lord; therefore, the Son is also called by this name (AmbM). When He became incarnate, He also forgave sins. But the Jews challenged His authority in vain, because they did not believe He was the Son of God (Mt 9:1–7).

23:22 Israel was to be a royal priesthood and a holy nation based on obedience to the Lord. The Lord speaking to Israel was the Word, and when He became Incarnate, the nation disobeyed Him. Therefore, He took the kingdom away from Israel and gave it to a nation bearing the fruits of it (Mt 21:43). This nation consists of the obedient in the Church, both Jews and Gentiles (1Pt 2:9, 10).

23:23 Again, My Angel is the Son of the Father. He led Israel into the land of promise (JohnCas). He also became incarnate to lead us into the world to come. Moses believed in the Holy Trinity and in the Incarnation.

23:25 The Word commanded them to serve the Lord their God, who is the Father. The Word incarnate now draws all who obey Him into the service of His Father.

23:26 The Lord promises to fulfill the number of our days if we truly serve Him. Those who do so will not die before their service is completed. Abraham was an example of this (Gn 25:8), and the Psalmist prays, "Take me not away in the midst of my days" (Ps 101:25; AthanG).

24:1, 2 Moses alone could draw near to God because he had the unquenchable grace of the Spirit. St. Paul also said, "Do not quench the Spirit" (1Th 5:19), for so shall we be partakers of Christ if we hold fast to the end the Spirit given to us at the beginning. By quenching the Spirit, he did not mean the Spirit is placed in the power of men and is able to suffer anything from them. Rather, evil and unthankful people are such who wish to quench Him (AthanG).

24:3 The people said they would do all the Lord's words, but saying is one thing and doing another. So the Apostle John said we are to love "in deed and in truth" (1Jn 3:18).

24:4–8 Moses' activity prefigured four things involved in worship: Scripture, the altar, the Church (the twelve stones), and the Blood of Christ (Heb 9:19–24).

📖 24:12–18 These verses are read as the first reading during the Feast of the Holy Transfiguration.

24:15 Joshua, too, was covered by the sacred cloud, for he had the grace of the Spirit (AmbM).

24:18 Moses broke the law regarding the Sabbath, which requires rest but not fasting. Yet he was guiltless in spite of journeying on the mountain and fasting for forty days and nights. He directed his whole desire toward God, and his anger against the enemies of God. This foreshadowed grace, in which the Sabbath Day would be fulfilled. Under grace, we no longer serve God one day a week, but we are to direct our whole desire toward God and our anger toward the devil throughout our life. We also cause our bodies to cease from sin and urge them forward to assist our obedience to the divine precepts (JohnDm).

25:1 The Law of Moses honored free will.

25:9 The use of icons in the Church is not idol worship. For God commanded Israel to use icons in their worship. These icons were the pattern of the tabernacle and the pattern of all its furnishings. The honor given the icons in the Church passes over to the prototype (JohnDm; BasilG).

25:10 The first thing made for the tabernacle was the ark of testimony, because it foreshadows the Mother of God with Christ in her womb (Akathist). Christ in her womb is typified by the contents eventually placed in the ark: the pot of manna, Aaron's rod that budded, and the Ten Commandments (Heb 9:4). For He is the heavenly manna, His death and Resurrection are life-giving, and He is the Lawgiver and the fulfiller of the Law He gave.

25:18 The holy angels are members of the Church.

25:22 God does not make Himself known in His essence, for no creature can know this. God makes Himself known in intimate communion (BasilG).

25:40 The pattern shown Moses on the mountain speaks of true worship in the heavenly holy of holies (Heb 8:5). The pattern speaks of Christ, the Mother of God, and the Church.

The Tabernacle

On Mt. Sinai Moses received not only the Ten Commandments, but also precise and detailed instructions for building the tabernacle—a moveable tent—where God met the assembly of the people Israel (Ex 25:1–27:21). Consequently, the tabernacle is built according to the divine blueprints (Ex 35:4–40:33). Here God's Presence, His Glory, will be made manifest through the shining cloud filling the holy place (Ex 40:34–38).

The importance of God's Presence in the tabernacle is apparent in the prayers of the Psalms, which express a longing to be with God, a fervent desire to be in His tabernacle (Pss 26:4–6; 60:4; 64:4; 83:1–4, 10; see also 22:6; 25:8). Indeed, the Lord promises that at the tabernacle, "I shall be known to you to speak to you. There I shall give directions to the children of Israel, and I shall be sanctified in My glory" (Ex 29:42–43; see also Ezk 37:26–28). While the tabernacle is the specific place where God was encountered in Israel, this did not exhaust His Presence, for as Almighty God, He has always been everywhere present, filling all things.

Israel's most sacred objects were kept in the ark of the covenant, located in the holy of holies (Heb 9:2–5). Each object it held was prophetic of Christ: the tablets of the Law inscribed by God (Ex 25:15) prefigure Christ the Lawgiver; the manna (Ex 16:31–34) points to Christ as the Bread of Life (Jn 6:30–58); and Aaron's staff that budded (Nm 17:16–26) prefigures the life-giving Cross of Christ. Further, the veil separating the holy place from the holy of holies foreshadows the Incarnation (Heb 10:19, 20).

The tabernacle as a whole prefigures Christ, the eternal Word of God, who "became flesh and tabernacled (the usual English translation is 'dwelt') among us" (Jn 1:14; see also Col 2:9). St. Gregory of Nyssa observes, "Moses was earlier instructed by a type in the mystery of the tabernacle, which encompasses the universe. This tabernacle would be Christ, who is the power and the wisdom of God (1Co 1:24)." The tabernacle also prefigures Mary the Theotokos, whose womb will be the tabernacle in which the Lord will dwell as He takes His flesh from her.

On the cross, Jesus offers the ultimate sacrifice of His body, which the New Testament calls "the greater and more perfect tabernacle not made with hands" (Heb 9:11). St. John Chrysostom comments that by this greater tabernacle St. Paul "means the flesh [of Christ]. And well did he say, 'greater and more perfect,' since God the Word and all the power of the Spirit dwell therein."

In time, the moveable tabernacle of the wilderness is superseded by the permanent temple in Jerusalem. The temple, in turn, is superseded by Christ (Jn 2:18–21) and the Church, which is His Body (Eph 1:22, 23). Moreover, in Baptism every Christian becomes a tabernacle, a dwelling place of the Holy Spirit. As St. Paul exclaims, "Or do you not know that your body is the temple of the Holy Spirit?" (1Co 6:19). St. Isaac of Nineveh declares, "Lord, I give praise to Your holy nature, for You have made my nature a sanctuary for Your hiddenness, a tabernacle for Your Mysteries, a place where You can dwell, and a holy temple for Your divinity."

In his vision of the kingdom of heaven, St. John writes, "But I saw no temple in it, for the Lord God Almighty and the Lamb are its temple" (Rev 21:22). All earthly types vanish as the redeemed behold God and the Lamb in unmediated glory (2Pt 1:4). The ultimate promise of the tabernacle, the temple and the Church is for God Himself to dwell in each believer forever (Jn 14:16, 17, 23; 17:20–23; see also Rev 3:20).

26:31 The veil was a type of the life-giving flesh of Christ (Heb 10:20; Jn 6:51). In a mystery, the bread and wine of the Eucharist become the Body and Blood of Christ, which give life to the faithful.

28:17–20 The twelve stones speak of twelve names of Christ by which our holy faith is built up. They reveal His oneness of essence with the Father and the fact that He is undivided from Him. He is called God and Word (Jn 1:1), Son and Only-begotten (Jn 1:18), Brightness and Impress (Heb 1:3), Mirror (Jn 14:9) and Image (Col 1:15), Wisdom and Power (1Co 1:24), and Truth and Life (Jn 14:6; AmbM).

29:5 Aaron was not born a high priest, but when God willed, he became one. And when God willed, the Word became flesh, and as High Priest He offered Himself to the Father to cleanse us from all sin by His precious Blood (AthanG).

29:14 The flesh of the sin offering was burned outside the camp. Similarly, no one placed amid the evil of this world can lay aside sin, nor is his blood acceptable to God, unless he put away the defilement of the body (AmbM).

30:10 The Law of Moses was a type and shadow of the New Covenant made in Christ. For example, the high priest could only go into the holy of holies once a year with the blood of atonement. By this the Holy Spirit was indicating that the way into the heavenly holy of holies was not yet manifested. For external gifts and sacrifices under the Law could not cleanse and perfect the conscience of the worshipers. But Christ our Great High Priest entered the holy of holies once for all, and His precious blood cleanses and perfects the conscience of the worshipers. The blessing of a cleansed conscience is unspeakable joy, and in the Eucharist the faithful enter the heavenly holy of holies to partake of this cleansing and perfection (Heb 9).

31:3 The divine Spirit is the Holy Spirit (BasilG; GrgTheo; CyrJer).

31:15 The penalty for breaking the Sabbath was death. Yet the Jewish leaders did not rest on the Sabbath (Mt 27:62–66), but were running around and seeking to keep Christ in the tomb (AthanG).

31:18 The finger of God is the Holy Spirit (Mt 12:28; Lk 11:20).

32:1–6 These words were written to warn everyone to beware of spiritual arrogance, for anyone can fall into sin if he fails to guard against temptation (1Co 10:6–12).

32:10, 32 Moses performed many great wonders and signs, but nothing made him as great as the love he showed in these statements. For he looked to the interest of his neighbors. He distinguished between God's work and the devil's work, for he loved them as God's handiwork while hating their evil behavior. He did not despise them, but only their sin. He chose rather to perish with them than to be saved without them. He would rather perish with them than have the honor of a great nation (JohnChr).

32:34 My Angel is the Only-begotten God and Son of the Father. He is called "Angel" (or "Messenger") because He reveals the Father's will to man (GrgNy). For He is the Will of the Father (AthanG).

33:3, 12–17 My Angel is the Son of the Father, and He sent Him to lead Israel to the promised land (GrgNy). "Angel" means "messenger," for the Son is the Will and Word of the Father (AthanG). He is the Angel who appeared to Moses in Exodus 3 and said, "I AM the Existing One" (3:2, 14). The Father also sent Him to become incarnate for the salvation of the world (1Jn 4:14).

33:7 Moses pitched the tabernacle outside the camp, far from the camp. Everyone who sought the Lord went outside the camp. When the Lord became incarnate, He suffered on the Cross outside Jerusalem. Those who wish to find Him must leave the earthly Jerusalem to find Him in the heavenly Jerusalem (Heb 13:12–14; AmbM).

📖 33:11–23; 34:4–6, 8 These verses are read as the second reading during the Feast of the Transfiguration.

33:19 The Lord has mercy and compassion on whom He wills, because He alone knows the secrets of the heart and who is worthy and who is not (JohnChr).

33:20 No man can see the essence of the Father ("My face"), either in this world or in the one to come (JohnChr; GrgNy). The Apostle John also said the same thing: "No one has seen God at any time" (Jn 1:18). But the Son is one in essence with the Father, and therefore fully sees and knows the Father's essence (AthanG; JohnChr).

33:21 A place refers to the Holy Spirit, for He is often called the place of those being sanctified. Moses as well gained some knowledge of God by the Spirit (BasilG).

33:22 The Son of the Father is the rock and the hand. The rock reveals the mystery of the Incarnation (1Co 10:4; AmbM). The hand reveals the oneness in essence of the Son with the Father. For as the hand is one in essence with the body, similarly, the Son is one in essence with the Father (AthanG). Therefore, He reveals the Father and makes Him known to man.

33:23 My back refers to the glory of God, for man can see His glory if his heart is pure. For Moses saw His glory to the extent he was capable, as is the case with any man. This glory is also called His energy. Man can know God in His energy, but not in His essence.

34:5 The Lord who descended in the cloud is the Only-begotten Lord, and He called upon the name of the Lord, who is the Father. Thus, the Son speaks of the Father.

34:6, 7 The Lord proclaimed the Lord, that is, the Son and Word proclaimed the Father and revealed things concerning Him. For example, the Father is true, that is, he is the True God. The Son and Word is "True God of True God" (Creed).

34:9, 11 Moses requested that the Lord Himself lead Israel to the promised land, and his prayer was answered. The Lord is the Angel of the Father, mentioned in previous chapters. "Angel" means "messenger," for the Son is the Word of the Father. He interpreted the Father's will through Moses to Israel.

34:14 The Word calls His Father a jealous God. He does not mean the Father has passion in His nature. He uses "jealous" by way of analogy with human nature. For example, as a loving father is intolerant toward bad things happening to his children, so the loving Father is intolerant of the evil things that happen to His children when they go astray to worship other gods.

34:29–35 The glory of the Law that shone on Moses' face was to point the Jews to Christ. But their hearts were hard; therefore, they were unable to look upon this glory. The Law was not the problem. The problem was their hardness of heart, which prevented them from seeing Christ in the Law. When, therefore, either a Jew or Gentile now turns to Christ, he sees His glory not only in the Law, but also in the New Covenant (2Co 3; JohnChr).

35:5, 21, 22, 26, 29 The offering was to be made from a willing heart, for the Law did not force anyone to serve the Lord. The same is true under grace in the New Testament, for the Lord never forces anyone against his will.

35:31–35 The Holy Spirit filled Bezalel and Aholiab with the effects or gifts of His energies: wisdom, understanding, knowledge, skill, and the ability to teach. By the Holy Spirit they were able to build the tabernacle of testimony. By the Holy Spirit's variety of gifts in the New Testament, the Church as the Body of Christ is being built (1Co 12).

36:2, 3 Great things were accomplished when the children of Israel freely submitted their will to the will of God. Two wills worked in synergy to build the tabernacle—the human will of the people freely willing the same thing as the divine will. Great things are also accomplished in the Church when both wills work in synergy (Php 2:13).

36:6, 7 When the will of the people works freely in synergy with the will of God, the offerings exceed the needs. God loves this kind of giving (2Co 9:7).

38:1 The ark was a type of the Mother of God (Akathist). Inside the ark would be placed the jar of manna, a type of Christ as the Bread of Life. Also within would be Aaron's rod that budded, a type of the Life-giving Cross, and the Ten Commandments, which spoke of Christ as the Lawgiver. Christ was conceived in the Virgin's womb to give life to the world.

38:5 The mercy seat was a type of the Cross and the shed blood of Christ by which He makes people righteous (Rom 3:25). Those cleansed by His precious blood are made righteous immediately. The unbelieving Jews, however, hoped to obtain righteousness by keeping the commandments of the Law, but this was an impossibility. They failed to see what the mercy seat was teaching them, namely, that Christ is the mercy seat for their sins and "the end of the law for righteousness" (Rom 10:4).

38:6 The cherubim were icons or images of two angels. These were not idols, yet they were part of Israel's worship. Similarly, icons used in the Church are not idols. These are venerated, and the honor paid to them passes to the ones they image.

38:11, 12 Worship in Israel was liturgical. Liturgy means "the work of the people." Israel's worship included four orders: the high priest, the priests, the Levites, and Israel in general. Similarly, Church worship is liturgical and includes four orders: the bishop (high priest), the priests, the deacons (Levites), and the laity. These orders are essential to liturgical worship.

38:13 The lampstand was a type of Christ as the Light of the world (Jn 8:12).

39:23 In six months, what was required for the liturgical worship was completed and brought to Moses (vv. 13–22). Moses blessed them to show the end of willing obedience to the Lord is blessing.

40:1–38 Here the Lord directs Moses to set up the tabernacle for liturgical worship on the first day of the first month—one year after Israel came out of Egypt (v. 15). Now the Lord manifested His presence in a cloud by day and in fire by night. The tabernacle was filled with the Lord's glory (vv. 28–32). Both these items speak of type and prophecy. For the physical manifestations of cloud and fire typify His human nature. The glory typifies His divine nature—both of which are united in His one Person. And the Lord—the source of the glory—is the Father. Thus when He became incarnate, the Cloud and the Fire "tabernacled" or dwelt among us (Jn 1:14). And just as some Israelites in the Old Testament could see the cloud and the fire—but not the glory within it—so too, some saw Jesus in the flesh, but did not see the glory of His divinity. They failed to see Him as the very Lord God who spoke to Moses and directed him in establishing the tabernacle of Testimony.

At His conception, the Son of God ("the Power") "overshadowed" the Virgin Mary and became a Man in her womb (Lk 1:35). When He overshadowed the tabernacle, this became a type of His overshadowing Mary at His conception. And as He led Israel by the cloud and the fire (vv. 30–32), the Incarnate Lord now leads His Church. For the Church hears His voice and follows Him, as Israel did when they heard His voice speaking in and through Moses.

🕮 40:1–5, 9, 10, 16, 34, 35 These verses are read during the Feast of the Entry of the Most Holy Mother of God into the Temple.

40:28 The tabernacle was a type of the Mother of God, and the cloud was the presence of the Holy Trinity. When God the Word was conceived in her womb, the Holy Spirit came upon her, and the Power of the Highest overshadowed her (Lk 1:35). The Power was the Son and the Highest was the Father. The Son became incarnate, but all three Persons were actively involved.

The Book of Leviticus

Author

Moses uses the phrase “and the Lord said to Moses” as many as thirty times, usually to begin a chapter. Both Israel and the Church traditionally ascribe authorship to Moses.

Date

The place and time at which this book was given is specifically defined as during the sojourn at Mt. Sinai (7:38; 25:1; 26:46; 27:34).

Major Theme

How to worship God. This is our first-ever book of worship. It was especially written for priests to teach the Israelites how to rightly worship God. This book points out the differences between God’s laws for His people and those of the polytheistic, idolatrous, corrupt nations surrounding them. “You shall be holy, for I the Lord your God am holy” (19:2).

Background

The opening statement (1:1) presupposes the Tabernacle has been erected, as described in Exodus 40. God spoke to Moses from the “tabernacle of testimony” (1:1), or “on the Mount” (Ex 25:1), or “upon the door of the tabernacle” (Nm 12:5). The writing of this book took place five months after Israel left Mt. Sinai.

Burnt Offerings

1 Now the Lord called to Moses, and spoke to him from the tabernacle of testimony, saying, 2 "Speak to the children of Israel, and say to them, 'If a man among you should offer gifts to the Lord from the cattle—the oxen or the sheep—you shall offer your gifts. 3 If his gift should be a whole burnt offering from the oxen, he shall offer a male without blemish. He shall offer it at the door of the tabernacle of testimony as acceptable before the Lord.
4 Then he shall put his hand on the head of the burnt offering, and it will be accepted on his behalf to make atonement for him. 5 He shall kill the young bull before the Lord; and the priests, Aaron's sons, shall offer the blood and sprinkle the blood all around on the altar by the doors of the tabernacle of testimony. 6 Then he shall skin the whole burnt offering and cut it into its pieces. 7 The sons of Aaron the priest shall put fire on the altar, and lay the wood on the fire. 8 Then the priests, Aaron's sons, shall lay the parts, the head and the fat, upon the wood and fire on the altar; 9 but he shall wash its entrails and its legs with water. The priest shall then put all of it on the altar as a burnt offering, a sacrifice for a sweet aroma to the Lord.

10 'If his gift to the Lord should be from the sheep—from the lambs or the kids—as a whole burnt offering, he shall offer a male without blemish, and put his hand on its head. 11 He shall kill it on the north side of the altar before the Lord; and the priests, Aaron's sons, shall sprinkle its blood all around on the altar. 12 Then they shall cut it into its pieces, with its head and its fat; and the priests shall lay them upon the wood and fire on the altar; 13 but he shall wash the entrails and the legs with water. Then the priest shall offer all of it, and put it on the altar as a burnt offering, a sacrifice for a sweet aroma to the Lord.

14 'But if you should offer a gift to the Lord from the birds for a burnt offering, he shall offer his gift from the turtledoves or young pigeons. 15 The priest shall offer it on the altar, wring off its head, and put it on the altar; its blood shall be drained out at the base of the altar. 16 Then he shall remove its crop with its feathers, and cast it beside the altar on the east side, into the place for ashes. 17 Then he shall split it at its wings, but shall not divide it; and the priest shall put it upon the wood and fire on the altar as a burnt offering, a sacrifice for a sweet aroma to the Lord. Sacrifice

Grain Offerings

1 ‘Now if a soul should offer a gift for a grain offering to the Lord, his gift shall be of fine flour; and he shall pour oil on it, and put frankincense on it.
2 He shall bring it to Aaron’s sons, the priests, one of whom shall take from it his handful of fine flour and oil with all the frankincense. Then the priest shall put it on the altar as a memorial, a sacrifice for a sweet aroma to the Lord. 3 The rest of the grain offering shall be Aaron’s and his sons. It is the most holy of the Lord’s sacrifices. 4 But if you should offer a gift as a grain offering baked in the oven, a gift of fine flour to the Lord, it shall be unleavened cakes of fine flour mixed with oil, or unleavened wafers anointed with oil. 5 But if your gift should be a grain offering fried in a pan, it shall be of fine flour, unleavened, and mixed with oil. 6 You shall break it in pieces and pour oil on it; it is a grain offering to the Lord. 7 If your gift should be a grain offering from the grate, it shall be made of fine flour with oil. 8 You shall offer the grain offering made of these things to the Lord; and when it is presented to the priest, he shall bring it to the altar. 9 Then the priest shall take from the grain offering its memorial portion, and put it on the altar as a burnt offering, for a sweet aroma to the Lord. 10 But what is left of the grain offering shall be Aaron’s and his sons. It is the most holy of the Lord’s burnt offerings.

11 ‘No grain offering you offer to the Lord shall be made with leaven, for you shall burn no leaven or honey in any burnt offering to the Lord. 12 As for a gift of firstfruits, you shall offer them to the Lord, but they shall not be offered on the altar for a sweet aroma. 13 Now every gift of your grain offering you shall season with salt; you shall not allow the salt of the Lord’s covenant to be lacking from your grain offerings. With every gift you shall offer salt to the Lord your God. 14 If you should offer a grain offering of your firstfruits to the Lord, you shall offer for the grain offering of your firstfruits green heads of grain roasted on the fire, grain beaten from full heads for the Lord. Thus you shall offer your grain offering of firstfruits. 15 Then you shall put oil on it, and put frankincense on it. It is a grain offering. 16 The priest shall then offer its memorial portion: its beaten grain and oil, with all the frankincense. It is a burnt offering to the Lord.

Leviticus 3

Peace Offerings

1 ‘Now if his gift for the Lord should be a peace offering, and if he should offer it from the oxen, whether male or female, he shall offer it without blemish before the Lord. 2 Then he shall put his hands on the head of his gift, and kill it at the doors of the tabernacle of testimony; and Aaron’s sons, the priests, shall sprinkle the blood all around on the altar of whole burnt offering. 3 He shall then offer from the peace offering a burnt offering to the Lord; and he shall remove its fat that covers the entrails, all the fat on the entrails, 4 the two kidneys and the fat on them by the flanks, and the fatty lobe attached to the liver above the kidneys; 5 and Aaron’s sons, the priests, shall offer these upon the wood and fire on the altar of whole burnt offering as a burnt offering, for a sweet aroma to the Lord.

6 ‘Now if his peace offering should be a gift from the sheep, whether male or female, he shall offer it without blemish. 7 If he should offer a lamb as his gift, then he shall offer it without blemish. 8 Then he shall put his hands on the head of his gift, and kill it before the doors of the tabernacle of testimony;
and Aaron’s sons, the priests, shall sprinkle its blood all around on the altar.
9 He shall then offer from the peace offering, a burnt offering to God; and he shall remove its fat, the whole fat tail close to the backbone, the fat that covers the entrails, all the fat on the entrails, 10 the two kidneys and the fat on them by the flanks, and the fatty lobe attached to the liver above the kidneys; 11 and the priest shall offer these on the altar as a burnt offering, for a sweet aroma to the Lord.

12 ‘Now if his gift should be from the goats, then he shall offer it before the Lord. 13 He shall put his hands on its head, and kill it before the Lord at the doors of the tabernacle of testimony; and Aaron’s sons, the priests, shall sprinkle its blood all around on the altar. 14 Then he shall offer his burnt offering to the Lord; and he shall remove its fat that covers the entrails, all the fat on the entrails, 15 the two kidneys and the fat on them by the flanks, and the fatty lobe attached to the liver above the kidneys; 16 and the priest shall offer these on the altar as a burnt offering, for a sweet aroma to the Lord. All the fat is the Lord’s. 17 This shall be a perpetual ordinance throughout your generations in all your dwellings: you shall eat neither fat nor blood.’ ”

Leviticus 4

Sin Offerings

1Then the Lord spoke to Moses, saying, 2“Speak to the children of Israel, saying, ‘If a soul should sin involuntarily before the Lord against any of the Lord’s ordinances, which ought not to be done, and does anything against them, 3even if he should be the anointed priest, and should sin to the detriment of the people, he shall offer to the Lord for the sin he committed a young bull without blemish from the oxen as a sin offering. 4He shall offer the young bull at the door of the tabernacle of testimony before the Lord, put his hand on the young bull’s head, and kill the young bull before the Lord. 5Then the anointed and consecrated priest shall take some of the young bull’s blood and bring it to the tabernacle of testimony. 6The priest shall dip his finger in the blood and sprinkle some of the blood seven times before the Lord, in front of the veil of the holy place. 7Then the priest shall put some of the blood of the young bull on the horns of the altar of the incense compound before the Lord in the tabernacle of testimony; and he shall pour the remaining blood of the young bull at the base of the altar of whole burnt offering, which is at the door of the tabernacle of testimony. 8He shall take from it all the fat of the young bull as the sin offering. The fat that covers the entrails and all the fat on the entrails, 9the two kidneys and the fat on them by the flanks, and the fatty lobe attached to the liver above the kidneys, he shall remove, 10as it was taken from the young bull of the sacrifice of the peace offering; and the priest shall burn them on the altar of burnt offering. 11But the young bull’s hide and all its flesh, with its head and legs, its entrails and excrement— 12the whole young bull he shall carry outside the camp to a clean place, where the ashes are poured out, and burn it on wood with fire; where the ashes are poured out it shall be burned.

13‘Now if the whole congregation of Israel acts involuntarily in ignorance, and it is hidden from the eyes of the assembly, and they did something against any of the Lord’s commandments, which should not be done, and committed sin; 14when the sin they committed becomes known, then the assembly shall offer a young bull for the sin, and offer it before the doors of the tabernacle of testimony. 15Then the elders of the congregation shall put their hands on the head of the young bull before the Lord. The young bull shall then be killed before the Lord. 16The anointed priest shall bring some of the young bull's blood to the tabernacle of testimony. 17Then the priest shall dip his finger in the blood of the young bull, and sprinkle it seven times before the Lord, in front of the veil of the holy place. 18The priest shall put some of the blood on the horns of the altar of the incense compound, which is before the Lord in the tabernacle of testimony; and he shall pour the remaining blood at the base of the altar of burnt offering, which is at the door of the tabernacle of testimony. 19He shall take all the fat from it and offer it on the altar. 20Then he shall do with the young bull as he did with the young bull of the sin offering; thus he shall do with it. So the priest shall make atonement for them, and their sin shall be remitted them. 21Then they shall carry the young bull outside the camp, and burn it as they burned the first young bull. It is a sin offering for the assembly. 22Now if a ruler should sin, and do something against any of the commandments of the Lord their God, which should not be done, and commits sin involuntarily, 23and the sin he committed comes to his knowledge, he shall offer as his gift a kid of the goats, a male without blemish. 24He shall put his hand on the head of the kid and kill it at the place where they kill the whole burnt offering before the Lord. It is a sin offering. 25The priest shall then take some of the blood of the sin offering with his finger, put it on the horns of the altar of whole burnt offering, and pour its remaining blood at the base of the altar of whole burnt offering. 26Then he shall offer all its fat to the altar, like the fat of the sacrifice of the peace offering. So the priest shall make atonement for him concerning his sin, and it shall be remitted him.

27'If any soul of the people of the land should sin involuntarily by doing something against any of the Lord's commandments, which ought not to be done, and commits sin, 28and the sin he committed comes to his knowledge, then he shall bring a kid of the goats, a female without blemish, for the sin he committed. 29He shall put his hand on the head of his sin offering and kill the kid of the sin offering at the place of the whole burnt offering. 30Then the priest shall take some of its blood with his finger, put it on the horns of the altar of whole burnt offering, and pour all its remaining blood at the base of the altar. 31He shall remove all its fat, as fat is removed from the sacrifice of the peace offering; and the priest shall offer it on the altar for a sweet aroma to the Lord. So the priest shall make atonement for him, and it shall be remitted him. 32If he should bring as his gift a sheep for a sin offering, he shall offer a female without blemish. 33Then he shall put his hand on the head of the sin offering and kill it as a sin offering at the place where they kill the whole burnt offering. 34The priest shall take some of the blood of the sin offering with his finger, put it on the horns of the altar of whole burnt offering, and pour all its remaining blood at the base of the altar. 35He shall remove all its fat, as the fat of the sheep is removed from the sacrifice of the peace offering. Then the priest shall put it on the altar for a whole burnt offering to the Lord. So the priest shall make atonement for his sin he committed, and it shall be remitted him.

Trespass Offerings

1‘Now if a soul should sin in hearing the utterance of an oath, and is a witness, whether he saw or knew of the matter—if he does not tell it, he shall bear his guilt. 2Or if a soul should touch any unclean thing, whether it is the carcass of an unclean animal, or one torn by a wild animal, or the unclean carcasses of creeping things, or the unclean carcasses of cattle; 3or should touch human uncleanness—even by any uncleanness, which by touching it he is defiled—and he is unaware of it, but afterwards becomes aware, he shall bear his guilt. 4Or if a soul should swear, speaking thoughtlessly with his lips to do evil or good, whatever a man may pronounce by an oath, and it should escape his notice—and thus he should sin in one of these things, 5then he shall confess his sin in that thing; 6and he shall bring for his trespass against the Lord, and for his guilt, a female from the sheep, a lamb, or a kid of the goats as a sin offering. So the priest shall make atonement for him concerning the sin he committed, and it shall be remitted him.

7‘But if he should be unable to afford a sheep, he shall bring for the sin he committed two turtledoves or two young pigeons to the Lord: one as a sin offering and the other as a whole burnt offering. 8He shall bring them to the priest, who shall offer the first one as a sin offering. Then he shall wring off its head from its neck, but shall not divide it. 9Then he shall sprinkle some of the blood of the sin offering on the side of the altar, but the rest of the blood shall be drained out at the base of the altar. It is a sin offering. 10He shall then make the second one a whole burnt offering according to the prescribed manner. So the priest shall make atonement on his behalf for the sin he committed, and it shall be remitted him. [11]Now if he should be unable to afford a pair of turtledoves or two young pigeons, he shall bring for his sin a gift: one-tenth of an ephah of fine flour as a sin offering. He shall put no oil on it, nor shall he put frankincense on it, for it is a sin offering. [12]Then he shall bring it to the priest, and the priest shall take his handful as a memorial portion and put it on the altar of whole burnt offerings to the Lord. It is a sin offering. [13]The priest shall make atonement for him, for the sin he committed in any of these matters; and it shall be remitted him. The rest shall be the priest's as a grain offering.' "

Restitution Offerings

[14]Again the Lord spoke to Moses, saying, [15]"Now if a soul should be oblivious and sin involuntarily in regard to the holy things of the Lord, he shall bring to the Lord for his trespass in which he transgressed a ram without blemish from the sheep, with your valuation in shekels of silver according to the shekel of the holy place. [16]Thus he shall make restitution wherein he sinned in regard to the holy things, and he shall add one-fifth to give to the priest. So the priest shall make atonement for him with the ram of the trespass offering, and it shall be remitted him.

[17]"Now if a soul should sin and do anything against the Lord's commandments, though he may not know it, nevertheless, he trespassed and shall bear his guilt. [18]So he shall bring to the priest a ram without blemish from the sheep for a trespass offering, with your valuation of silver. So the priest shall make atonement for him regarding his ignorance in which he erred but did not know it, and it shall be remitted him. [19]It is a trespass offering; he has certainly trespassed against the Lord."

[20]Again the Lord spoke to Moses, saying, [21]"Now if a soul should sin and actually disregard the Lord's commandments by lying to his neighbor about a deposit entrusted to him for safekeeping, or about a joint-ownership, or about a robbery, or if he wronged his neighbor in something, [22]or if he found what was lost and should lie about it and swear falsely—in any one of these things a man may do when he sins: [23]then it shall be, whenever he should trespass and is guilty, he shall restore what he stole, or the thing he extorted, or what was delivered to him for safekeeping, or the lost thing he found, [24]or everything about which he swore falsely. He shall restore its full value, add one-fifth more to it, and give it to whomever it belongs on the day his trespass is brought to light. [25]Then he shall bring to the priest his trespass offering to the Lord, a ram without blemish from the sheep, with your valuation. [26]So the priest shall make atonement for him before the Lord, and it shall be remitted him for any of these things he did wherein he trespassed."

Leviticus 6

The Law of the Burnt Offering

[1]Then the Lord spoke to Moses, saying, [2]"Command Aaron and his sons, saying, 'Now this is the law of the whole burnt offering: The whole burnt offering shall be on the hearth upon the altar all night until morning, and the fire of the altar shall be kept burning on it; it shall not be put out. [3]Then the priest shall put the linen trousers on his body; then he shall put on his linen garment, and take up the ashes of the whole burnt offering, which the fire consumed on the altar; and he shall put them beside the altar. [4]He shall then take off his linen garment, put on another one, and carry the ashes outside the camp to a clean place. [5]So the fire on the altar shall be burning; it shall not be put out. The priest shall burn wood on it every morning and put the whole burnt offering on it; and he shall burn on it the fat of the peace offering. [6]A fire shall always be burning on the altar; it shall never go out.

The Law of the Grain Offering

[7]'Now this is the law of the grain offering: The sons of Aaron shall offer it in front of the altar before the Lord. [8]He shall take from it his handful of the fine flour of the grain offering, with its oil and frankincense which is on the grain offering, and offer it on the altar of burnt offering for a sweet aroma, a memorial to the Lord. [9]Then Aaron and his sons shall eat what is left. It shall be eaten in a holy place, in the court of the tabernacle of testimony. [10]It shall not be baked with leaven. I gave it to them as their portion of the Lord's burnt offerings; it is most holy, like the sin offering and the trespass offering. [11]All the males of the priests shall eat it. It shall be an ordinance forever in your generations concerning the Lord's burnt offerings. Everyone who touches them shall be sanctified.' "

[12]Again the Lord spoke to Moses, saying, [13]"This is the gift of Aaron and his sons, which they shall offer to the Lord on the day you anoint him: one-tenth of an ephah of fine flour as a daily grain offering, half of it in the morning and half in the evening. [14]It shall be made in a frying pan with oil.

When it is mixed, you shall bring it in. The baked pieces of the grain offering you shall offer for a sweet aroma to the Lord. [15]The anointed priest who takes his place from among his sons shall make it. It is an ordinance forever. It shall be wholly consumed. [16]For every grain offering of a priest shall be wholly burned. It shall not be eaten."

The Law of the Sin Offering

[17]Again the Lord spoke to Moses, saying, [18]"Speak to Aaron and his sons, saying, 'Now this is the law of the sin offering: In the place where the whole burnt offering is killed, they shall kill the sin offering before the Lord. It is most holy. [19]The priest who offers it shall eat it. In a holy place it shall be eaten, in the court of the tabernacle of testimony. [20]Everyone who touches its flesh shall be sanctified; and if some of its blood might have been sprinkled on any garment, you shall wash that on which it was sprinkled in a holy place. [21]But the earthen vessel in which it is boiled shall be broken; and if it is boiled in a bronze pot, it shall be both scoured and rinsed in water. [22]Every male among the priests shall eat it. It is most holy. [23]But no sin offering whose blood may have been brought into the tabernacle of testimony to make atonement in the holy place shall be eaten. It shall be burned in the fire.

The Law of the Trespass Offering

[1]'Now this is the law of the trespass offering of the ram (it is most holy): [2]In the place where they kill the whole burnt offering, they shall kill the ram of the trespass offering before the Lord; and its blood he shall pour all around the base of the altar. [3]He shall then offer from it all its fat. The fat tail, the fat that covers the entrails, and all the fat above the entrails, [4]the two kidneys and the fat on them by the flanks, and the fatty lobe attached to the liver above the kidneys, he shall remove. [5]Then the priest shall offer them on the altar of burnt offering to the Lord. It is a trespass offering. [6]Every male among the priests may eat these things. It shall be eaten in a holy place. It is most holy. [7]The trespass offering is like the sin offering; there is one law for them both: the priest who makes atonement with it shall have it. [8]Now the priest who offers a man's whole burnt offering shall have for himself the skin of the whole burnt offering he offered. [9]Also every grain offering made in the oven, and all that is made on the grate or in a frying pan, shall be the priest's who offers it. [10]Every grain offering, whether prepared with or without oil, shall belong to all the sons of Aaron, to one as much as the other.

The Law of the Peace Offering

[11]'This is the law of the sacrifice of the peace offering, which he shall offer to the Lord: [12]If he should offer it for a thanksgiving, he shall offer with the sacrifice of thanksgiving loaves of fine flour mixed with oil, and unleavened cakes smeared with oil, and fine flour kneaded with oil. [13]Besides the unleavened loaves, he shall offer with his gifts leavened bread with the sacrifice of thanksgiving of his peace offering. [14]Then from all his gifts he shall offer one choice portion to the Lord. It shall belong to the priest who pours out the blood of the peace offering. [15]The flesh of the sacrifice of his peace offering for thanksgiving shall be eaten the same day it is offered. He shall not leave any of it until morning. [16]Now if the sacrifice of his offering is a vow or a voluntary offering, it shall be eaten the same day he offers his sacrifice; and on the next day the remainder of it may also be eaten; [17]but the remainder of the flesh of the sacrifice on the third day shall be burned with fire. [18]But if some of the flesh should be eaten on the third day, it shall not be accepted for him who offered it, nor shall it be imputed to him; it is a defilement; and the soul who eats from it shall bear guilt. [19]The flesh that should touch any unclean thing shall not be eaten. It shall be burned with fire, but all clean flesh may be eaten. [20]But the soul who eats the flesh of the sacrifice of the peace offering which is the Lord's while he is unclean, that soul shall be utterly destroyed from among his people. [21]Moreover, the soul who touches any unclean thing, or some human uncleanness, or an unclean animal, or any abominable unclean thing, and who eats some of the flesh of the sacrifice of the peace offering which is the Lord's, that soul shall be utterly destroyed from among his people.' "

[22]Again the Lord spoke to Moses, saying, [23]"Speak to the children of Israel, saying, 'You shall not eat any fat of oxen, sheep, or goats. [24]Also the fat of an animal that dies naturally and the fat of what is torn by wild beasts may be used in any other way; but you shall by no means eat it. [25]For whoever eats the fat from the cattle which someone is going to offer to the Lord as a burnt offering, that soul shall be utterly destroyed from among his people. [26]Moreover, you shall not eat any blood in any of your dwellings, whether of birds or cattle. [27]Any soul who eats blood, that soul shall be utterly destroyed from among his people.’ ”

28Furthermore, the Lord spoke to Moses, saying, 29“Speak to the children of Israel, saying, ‘He who offers the sacrifice of the peace offering to the Lord shall bring his gift to the Lord from the sacrifice of his peace offering.
30His own hands shall offer the burnt offerings to the Lord. The lobe of the liver and the fat upon the breast, these he shall offer to place as gifts before the Lord. 31Then the priest shall offer the fat on the altar, but the breast shall be Aaron’s and his sons’. 32Also the right thigh you shall give to the priest as a choice portion from the sacrifices of your peace offerings. 33He among the sons of Aaron who offers the blood of the peace offering and the fat shall have the right thigh for his portion. 34For the breast from which the fat was offered and the thigh of the choice portion I took from the children of Israel, from the sacrifices of your peace offerings, and I gave them to Aaron the priest and to his sons from the children of Israel by an ordinance forever.’ ”

35This is the consecrated portion for Aaron and his sons from the burnt offerings of the Lord, on the day He presented them to minister to the Lord as priests. 36The Lord commanded this to be given to them by the children of Israel on the day He anointed them, by an ordinance forever throughout their generations. 37This is the law of the whole burnt offerings, the grain offering, the sin offering, the trespass offering, the consecrations, and the sacrifice of the peace offering, 38in the manner the Lord commanded Moses on Mount Sinai, on the day He commanded the children of Israel to offer their gifts before the Lord in the Sinai Desert.

Leviticus 8

The Ordination of Aaron and His Sons

1Now the Lord spoke to Moses, saying, 2“Take Aaron and his sons with him, and the garments, the anointing oil, a young bull as the sin offering, two rams, and a basket of unleavened bread; 3and gather all the congregation together at the door of the tabernacle of testimony.”

4So Moses did as the Lord commanded him, and the congregation was gathered together at the door of the tabernacle of testimony. 5Then Moses said to the congregation, “This is the word the Lord commanded us to do.” 6So Moses brought Aaron and his sons and washed them with water. 7He put the tunic on him, girded him with the belt, clothed him with the robe, and put the ephod on him; and he girded him with the intricately woven band of the ephod, and with it tied the ephod on him. [8]Then he put the breastplate on him, and he put the Urim and the Thummim in the breastplate. [9]He also put the turban on his head; and on the turban, on its front, he put the golden plate, the holy crown, as the Lord commanded Moses.

[10]Moses then took the anointing oil, [11]and he sprinkled some of it on the altar seven times, anointed the altar, and sanctified it, and all its utensils, and the laver and its base, to sanctify them. He also anointed the tabernacle and everything in it, and sanctified it. [12]Moses then poured some of the anointing oil on Aaron's head and anointed him, to sanctify him. [13]After this, Moses brought Aaron's sons and put tunics on them, girded them with the belts, and put hats on them, as the Lord commanded Moses.

[14]Then he brought the young bull for the sin offering; and Aaron and his sons put their hands on the head of the bull for the sin offering, [15]and Moses killed it. Then he took the blood, and put some on the horns of the altar all around with his finger, and purified the altar. He poured the blood at the base of the altar, and sanctified it, to make atonement upon it. [16]Moses then took all the fat on the entrails, the fatty lobe attached to the liver, and the two kidneys with their fat, and Moses offered them on the altar. [17]But the young bull, its hide, its flesh, and its offal he burned with fire outside the camp, as the Lord commanded Moses.

[18]Next, Moses brought the ram as the burnt offering. Aaron and his sons put their hands on the head of the ram, [19]and Moses killed the ram. Then he poured the blood all around on the altar [20]and cut the ram into pieces; and he offered the head, the pieces, and the fat. [21]Then he washed the stomach and the feet in water and offered the whole ram on the altar. It was a whole burnt offering for a sweet aroma, a burnt offering to the Lord, as the Lord commanded Moses.

consecration before the Lord, he took one unleavened cake, a cake of bread anointed with oil, and one wafer and put them on the fat and on the right thigh; [27]and he put all these in Aaron's hands and in his sons' hands and offered them as a choice portion before the Lord. [28]Then Moses took them from their hands and offered them on the altar for a whole burnt offering of consecration, which was a sweet aroma and a burnt offering to the Lord. [29]Moses also took the breast and removed it as a deposit from the ram of consecration before the Lord. It was Moses' part, as the Lord commanded Moses.

[30]Moses then took some of the anointing oil and some of the blood on the altar and sprinkled it on Aaron and his garments, and on his sons and their garments with him; and he sanctified Aaron and his garments, and his sons and their garments with him.

[31]After this, Moses said to Aaron and his sons, "Boil the flesh in the court of the tabernacle of testimony, in a holy place, and eat it there with the bread in the basket of consecration as I was commanded, saying, 'Aaron and his sons shall eat it.' [32]What remains of the flesh and the bread shall be burned with fire. [33]You shall not go outside the door of the tabernacle of testimony for seven days, until the days of your consecration are fulfilled. For seven days he shall consecrate you. [34]As the Lord did on this day, He commanded to do to make atonement for you. [35]Therefore you shall stay at the door of the tabernacle of testimony day and night for seven days and keep the charge of the Lord, that you may not die; for the Lord God so commanded me." [36]So Aaron and his sons did all the words the Lord commanded Moses.

The Priestly Service Begins

[1]Now it came to pass on the eighth day that Moses called Aaron and his sons and Israel's council of elders. [2]Moses said to Aaron, "Take for yourself a young calf from the oxen as a sin offering and a ram as a whole burnt offering, without blemish, and offer them before the Lord. [3]And to the council of elders you shall speak, saying, 'Take one kid of the goats as a sin offering, and a young calf and a lamb, both of the first year, without blemish, as a whole burnt offering, [4]also a young bull and a ram as peace offerings before the Lord, and a grain offering mixed with oil; for today the Lord will appear to you.’ ”

5So they brought what Moses commanded before the tabernacle of testimony, and all the congregation drew near and stood before the Lord. 6Then Moses spoke this word, “This is the thing the Lord commanded you to do, and the glory of the Lord will appear among you.” 7Moses then said to Aaron, “Go to the altar, offer your sin offering and your whole burnt offering, and make atonement for yourself and for your house. Also offer the gifts of the people and make atonement for them, as the Lord commanded Moses.”

15Then he brought the people’s gift and took the young goat, which was the sin offering for the people, and killed it and offered it for sin, like the first one. 16He also brought the whole burnt offering and offered it according to the prescribed manner. 17Then he brought the grain offering, took a handful of it, and put it on the altar, besides the whole burnt offering of the morning. 18He also killed the young bull and the ram as sacrifices of peace offerings, which were for the people; and Aaron’s sons presented to him the blood, which he poured all around on the altar. 19The fat from the young bull and the ram: the fatty tail, what covers the stomach and the kidneys, and the fatty lobe attached to the liver, 20they put on the breasts. Then he offered the fat on the altar; 21but the breasts and the right thigh Aaron removed as a choice portion before the Lord, as the Lord commanded Moses.

22Then Aaron lifted his hand toward the people, blessed them, and came down from offering the sin offering, the whole burnt offerings, and peace offerings. 23After this, Moses and Aaron went into the tabernacle of testimony, and came out, and blessed all the people. Then the glory of the Lord appeared to all the people; 24and fire came out from the Lord, and consumed the things on the altar, both the whole burnt offerings and the fat.

When all the people saw this, they were amazed and fell on their faces.

The False Offerings of Nadab and Abihu

[1]Now Nadab and Abihu, Aaron's sons, each took his censer and put fire in it, put incense on it, and offered strange fire before the Lord, which He had not commanded them. [2]So fire went out from the Lord and devoured them, and they died before the Lord. [3]Then Moses said to Aaron, "This is what the Lord spoke, saying, 'By those who come near Me I shall be sanctified; and before all the congregation I shall be glorified.' " So Aaron was greatly distressed.
[4]Moses then called Mishael and Elzaphan, the sons of Uzziel, Aaron's uncle, and said to them, "Come near, carry your brethren from the presence of the sanctuary outside the camp." [5]So they came near and carried them by their tunics outside the camp, as Moses said. [6]Then Moses said to Aaron and to Eleazar and Ithamar, his sons, "Do not uncover your heads, nor take off your garments, lest you die, and wrath come upon all the congregation. But let your brethren, the whole house of Israel, bewail the burning the Lord kindled.
[7]You shall not go out from the door of the tabernacle of testimony, lest you die, for the anointing oil of the Lord is upon you." So they did according to Moses' word.

Conduct for Priests

[8]Then the Lord spoke to Aaron, saying, [9]"Do not drink wine and strong drink, you nor your sons with you, when you go into the tabernacle of testimony, or when you approach the altar, lest you die (it shall be an ordinance forever throughout your generations), [10]that you may distinguish between holy and unholy, and between unclean and clean, [11]and that you may teach the children of Israel all the ordinances which the Lord spoke to them by the hand of Moses."

[12]Then Moses spoke to Aaron, and to Eleazar and Ithamar, his sons who were left, "Take the grain offering that remains from the burnt offerings of the Lord and eat it without leaven beside the altar; for it is most holy. [13]You shall eat it in a holy place, because from the burnt offerings of the Lord, it belongs to you and your sons by ordinance; for thus I was commanded. [14]The breast of the wave offering and the thigh of the choice portion you shall eat in a clean place, you, your sons, and your household with you; because it was given to you and your sons by ordinance from the peace offerings of the children of Israel. 15The thigh of the choice portion and the breast of the wave offering they shall bring with the burnt offerings of fat to offer as a wave offering before the Lord; and it shall be yours and your sons' and daughters' with you by an ordinance forever, as the Lord commanded Moses."

16Then Moses made careful inquiry about the young goat of the sin offering, and there it was—burned up. So he was angry with Eleazar and Ithamar, Aaron's remaining sons, saying, 17"Why have you not eaten the sin offering in a holy place, since it is most holy; and He gave this to you, to bear the guilt of the congregation, to make atonement for them before the Lord? 18For you did not bring its blood into the holy place; you personally should have eaten it in a holy place, as the Lord commanded me." 19Then Aaron spoke to Moses, saying, "If they had offered their sin offering and whole burnt offerings today before the Lord, and these things happened to me, and I had eaten the sin offering today, would it have been acceptable to the Lord?" 20So when Moses heard that, he was pleased.

Clean and Unclean Animals

1Now the Lord spoke to Moses and Aaron, saying to them, 2"Speak to the children of Israel, saying, 'These are the animals you may eat among all the animals on the earth: 3Whatever divides the hoof, having cloven hooves and chewing the cud—that you may eat. 4Nevertheless these you shall not eat among those that chew the cud or have cloven hooves: the camel, because it chews the cud but does not have cloven hooves, is unclean to you; 5the rock hyrax, because it chews the cud but does not have cloven hooves, is unclean to you; 6the hare, because it chews the cud but does not have cloven hooves, is unclean to you; 7and the swine, though it divides the hoof, having cloven hooves, yet does not chew the cud, is unclean to you. 8Their flesh you shall not eat, and their carcasses you shall not touch. They are unclean to you.

9'These you may eat of everything in the water: whatever in the water has fins and scales, whether in the seas or in the rivers—that you may eat. 10But everything in the water or in the seas or the rivers that does not have fins and scales, from all these, and from every living creature in the water which the waters produce, they are an abomination to you. [11]They shall be an abomination to you; you shall not eat their flesh, but you shall regard their carcasses as an abomination. [12]Whatever in the water does not have fins or scales—that shall be an abomination to you.

[13]‘Now these you shall regard as an abomination among the birds; they shall not be eaten, they are an abomination: the eagle, the ossifrage, and the sea eagle, [14]the kite, and the falcon after its kind; [15]every raven after its kind, [16]the ostrich, the short-eared owl, the sea gull, and the hawk after its kind; [17]the little owl, the fisher owl, and the screech owl; [18]the white owl, the jackdaw, and the carrion vulture; [19]the stork, the heron after its kind, the hoopoe, and the bat.

[20]‘Now all flying insects that creep on all fours shall be an abomination to you. [21]Yet these you may eat of every flying insect that creeps on all fours: those which have jointed legs above their feet with which to leap on the earth. [22]These you may eat: the locust after its kind, the destroying locust after its kind, the cricket after its kind, and the grasshopper after its kind. [23]But all other flying insects which have four feet shall be an abomination to you.

[24]‘Now by these you shall become unclean; whoever touches the carcass of any of them shall be unclean until evening; [25]whoever carries part of the carcass of any of them shall wash his clothes and be unclean until evening: [26]any animal which divides the foot, but is not cloven-hoofed or does not chew the cud, is unclean to you. Everyone who touches it shall be unclean. [27]Now whatever goes on its paws, among all kinds of animals that go on all fours, those are unclean to you. Whoever touches any such carcass shall be unclean until evening. [28]Whoever carries any such carcass shall wash his clothes and be unclean until evening. It is unclean to you.

[29]‘These also shall be unclean to you among the creeping things that creep on the earth: the mole, the mouse, and the large lizard after its kind; [30]the gecko, the monitor lizard, the sand reptile, the sand lizard, and the chameleon. [31]These are unclean to you among all that creep. Whoever touches them when they are dead shall be unclean until evening. [32]Anything on which any of them falls when they are dead shall be unclean, whether it is any item of wood or clothing or skin or sack, whatever item it is in which work is done, it must be put in water. And it shall be unclean until evening; then it shall be clean. [33]Any earthen vessel into which any of them falls you shall break; and whatever is in it shall be unclean: [34]in such a vessel, any edible food upon which water falls becomes unclean, and any drink that may be drunk from it becomes unclean. [35]Everything on which a carcass falls shall be unclean; whether it is an oven or cooking stove, it shall be broken down; for they are unclean and shall be unclean to you. [36]Nevertheless, a spring or a cistern where there is plenty of water shall be clean, but whatever touches any such carcass becomes unclean. [37]But if a part of any such carcass falls on any planting seed which is to be sown, it remains clean. [38]However, if water is put on the seed, and if a part of any such carcass falls on it, it becomes unclean to you. [39]Now if any animal you are permitted to eat dies, he who touches its carcass shall be unclean until evening. [40]He who eats of its carcass shall wash his clothes and be unclean until evening. He also who carries its carcass shall wash his clothes and be unclean until evening.

[41]'Now every creeping thing that creeps on the earth shall be an abomination. It shall not be eaten. [42]Whatever crawls on its belly, whatever goes on all fours, or whatever has many feet among all creeping things that creep on the earth—these you shall not eat, for they are an abomination. [43]You shall not make yourselves abominable with any creeping thing that creeps; nor shall you make yourselves unclean with them, lest you be defiled by them. [44]For I am the Lord your God. You shall therefore sanctify yourselves, and you shall be holy; for I, the Lord your God, am holy. Neither shall you defile your souls with any creeping thing that creeps on the earth. [45]For I am the Lord who brings you up out of the land of Egypt, to be your God. You shall therefore be holy, for I, the Lord, am holy.

[46]'This is the law of the animals and the birds and every living creature that moves in the waters, and of every creature that creeps on the earth, [47]to distinguish between the unclean and the clean, and between the animal that may be eaten and the animal that may not be eaten.' "

Leviticus 12

Purification After Childbirth

[1]Now the Lord spoke to Moses, saying, [2]"Speak to the children of Israel, saying to them, 'If a woman conceived and bore a male child, then she shall be unclean seven days; she shall be unclean as in the days of her menstrual isolation. [3]Then on the eighth day, the flesh of his foreskin shall be circumcised. [4]She will then continue in the blood of her uncleanness thirty-three days. She is not to touch any hallowed thing, nor come into the sanctuary, until the days of her purification are fulfilled. 5But if she bears a female child, she will be unclean two weeks, as in her menstrual isolation, and she will continue in the blood of her uncleanness sixty-six days. 6When the days of her purification are fulfilled, whether for a son or a daughter, she is to bring to the priest a lamb of the first year as a whole burnt offering, and a young pigeon or a turtledove as a sin offering, to the door of the tabernacle of testimony. 7Then he shall bring it before the Lord and make atonement for her, and it will cleanse her from her flow of blood. This is the law for her who bore a male or a female. 8But if she is unable to afford a lamb, she may bring two turtledoves or two young pigeons—one as a whole burnt offering and the other as a sin offering. So the priest shall make atonement for her, and she will be clean.' "

Leviticus 13

Laws Concerning Leprosy

1Now the Lord spoke to Moses and Aaron, saying, 2"When a man has a scar on the surface of his skin, or a shiny spot, and it appears to be a leprous infection, he is to be brought to Aaron the priest or to one of his sons the priests. 3The priest shall examine the infection on the surface of his skin; and if the hair in the infection has turned white and the infection appears deeper than the surface of his skin, it is a leprous infection. Thus the priest shall examine him, and pronounce him unclean. 4But if the shiny spot on the surface of his skin is white, but appears to be no more than skin deep, and its hair has not turned white, but is dark, the priest shall quarantine him for seven days. 5Then the priest shall examine him on the seventh day; and indeed, if the infection appears as it was, and has not spread on the skin, the priest shall quarantine him another seven days. 6Then the priest shall examine him again on the seventh day; and indeed, if the infection is dark, and has not spread on the skin, the priest shall pronounce him clean; it is only a spot, and he shall wash his clothes and be clean. 7But if the spot happens to spread at all on the skin, after he was seen by the priest for his cleansing, then he must be seen by the priest again. 8So if the priest sees the spot has indeed spread on the skin, the priest shall pronounce him unclean. It is leprosy.

9"When the leprous infection is on a man, he shall be brought to the priest.

[10]The priest shall examine him; and indeed, if the scar on the skin is white, and has turned the hair white, and some of the flesh in the scar is healthy and alive, [11]it is an old leprosy on the surface of his skin. The priest shall pronounce him unclean and shall quarantine him, for he is unclean. [12]But if leprosy breaks out all over the skin, and it covers from head to foot all the skin of the one with the infection, according to the full examination of the priest, [13]then the priest shall consider; and indeed, if the leprosy covers the entire surface of his skin, he shall pronounce clean him who has the infection; because it all turned white. He is clean. [14]But in whatever day an open wound appears on him, he shall be unclean. [15]Thus the priest shall examine the open wound and pronounce him unclean; for an open wound is unclean; it is leprosy. [16]But if the surface of the skin is restored and turns white again, he shall come to the priest. [17]The priest shall examine him; and indeed, if the infection has turned white, the priest shall pronounce clean him who has the infection. He is clean.

[18]“If one’s body develops an ulcer in the skin, and it is healed, [19]and in the place of the ulcer there comes a white scar or a shiny or inflamed spot, it shall be shown to the priest. [20]When the priest sees it, and indeed, it appears deeper than the skin, and its hair has turned white, the priest shall pronounce him unclean. It is leprosy which broke out in the ulcer. [21]But if the priest examines it, and indeed, there is no white hair in it, and it is not deeper than the skin’s surface, but is dark, the priest shall quarantine him seven days.
[22]But if it should spread over the skin, the priest shall pronounce him unclean. It is a leprous infection which broke out in the ulcer. [23]But if the shiny spot stays in one place and has not spread, it is the scar of the ulcer; and the priest shall pronounce him clean.

[24]“Or if one’s body receives a burn on its skin by fire, and the open wound of the burn becomes a bright spot, reddish-white or white, [25]the priest shall examine it; and indeed, if the hair of the bright spot has turned white, and it appears deeper than the skin, it is leprosy broken out in the burn. Therefore the priest shall pronounce him unclean. It is a leprous infection. [26]But if the priest examines it, and indeed, there are no white hairs in the bright spot, and it is not deeper than the skin, but is dark, then the priest shall quarantine him seven days. [27]Then the priest shall examine him on the seventh day. If it has at all spread over the skin, the priest shall pronounce him unclean. It is a leprous infection broken out in the ulcer. [28]But if the bright spot stays in one place and has not spread on the skin, but is dark, it is a scar from the burn.

The priest shall pronounce him clean.

29“If a man or woman appears to have a leprous infection on the head or the beard, 30the priest shall examine the infection; and indeed, if it appears deeper than the skin, and there is thin yellow hair in it, the priest shall pronounce him unclean. It is a lesion, a leprosy of the head or beard. 31But if the priest examines the infection of the lesion, and indeed, it does not appear deeper than the skin, and there is no thin yellow hair in it, the priest shall quarantine seven days the one who has the infection of the lesion. 32Then on the seventh day the priest shall examine the infection; and indeed, if the lesion has not spread, and there is no yellow hair in it, and the indentation does not appear deeper than the skin, 33he shall shave himself, but he shall not shave the lesion. Then the priest shall quarantine another seven days the one who has the lesion. 34On the seventh day the priest shall examine the lesion; and indeed, if the lesion has not spread over the skin and the indentation does not appear deeper than the skin, the priest shall pronounce him clean. He shall wash his clothes and be clean. 35But if the lesion happens to spread at all on the skin after his cleansing, 36the priest shall examine him; and indeed, if the lesion has spread over the skin, the priest need not seek for yellow hair. He is unclean. 37But if the lesion appears to be at a standstill, and there is black hair grown up in it, the lesion has healed. He is clean, and the priest shall pronounce him clean.

38“If a man or a woman has bright spots on the skin of the body, specifically shining white spots, 39the priest shall look; and indeed, if the bright spots on the skin of the body are shining white spots, it is eczema. He is clean.

40“As for the man whose hair has fallen from his head, he is bald, but he is clean. 41He whose hair has fallen from his forehead, he is bald on the forehead, but he is clean. 42Now if there is on the bald head or bald forehead a reddish-white infection, it is leprosy breaking out on his bald head or his bald forehead. 43Then the priest shall examine him; and indeed, if the infection of the reddish-white skin on his bald head or on his bald forehead is like the form of leprosy on the skin of the body, 44he is a leprous man. The priest shall surely pronounce him unclean; his infection is on his head.

45“Now the clothes of the leper on whom the infection is shall be torn and his head uncovered; and he shall cover his mouth, and he shall be called unclean. 46He shall be unclean. All the days he has the infection he shall be unclean. He is unclean, and he shall dwell apart; his way of life shall be outside the camp.

Laws Concerning Leprous Garments

47 “Also, if a garment has a leprous infection in it, whether it is a woolen garment or a linen garment, 48 whether it is in the warp or woof of linen or wool, whether in leather or in anything made of leather, 49 and if the infection is greenish or reddish in the garment or in the leather, whether in the warp or in the woof, or in anything made of leather, then it is a leprous infection and shall be shown to the priest. 50 The priest shall examine the infection and quarantine him who has the infection seven days. 51 Then he shall examine the infection on the seventh day. If the infection has spread in the garment, either in the warp or in the woof, in the leather, or in anything made of leather, the infection is an active leprosy. It is unclean. 52 Therefore he shall burn the garment with the infection, whether the warp or woof in wool or linen, or in anything of leather, for it is an active leprosy; the garment shall be burned in the fire. 53 But if the priest examines it, and indeed the infection has not spread in the garment, either in the warp or in the woof, or in anything made of leather, 54 then the priest shall order that the object with the infection be washed; and he shall quarantine it another seven days. 55 Then the priest shall examine the infection after it is washed; and indeed, if the infection has not changed its color, though the infection has not spread, it is unclean. It shall be burned in the fire, for it is firmly established in the garment, either in the warp or the woof. 56 If the priest examines it, and indeed, the infection is dark after washing it, he shall tear it out of the garment, whether out of the warp or the woof, or the leather. 57 But if it appears again in the garment, either in the warp or the woof, or in anything made of leather, it is a spreading leprosy; and that garment with the infection shall be burned with fire. 58 But if you wash the garment, either warp or woof, or anything made of leather, and the infection disappeared from it, then it shall be washed a second time, and shall be clean. 59 This is the law of the leprous infection in a garment of wool or linen, either in the warp or woof, or in anything made of leather, to pronounce it clean or to pronounce it unclean.”

Leviticus 14

Laws of Purification for Healed Lepers

[1]Now the Lord spoke to Moses, saying, [2]“This shall be the law of the leper for the day of his cleansing: He shall be brought to the priest. [3]The priest shall go out of the camp, and the priest shall examine him; and indeed, if the leprous infection is healed in the leper, [4]the priest shall give orders to take, for the one declared clean, two small birds, live and clean, and also cedar wood, and scarlet, and hyssop. [5]Then the priest must give orders that one of the birds be killed in an earthen vessel over running water. [6]As for the living bird, he shall take it, the cedar wood, the scarlet and hyssop, and dip them and the living bird in the blood of the bird killed over the running water.
[7]Then he shall sprinkle the water seven times on the one cleansed from his leprosy, and he shall be clean; then he shall send away the living bird into a field. [8]And the one who was cleansed shall wash his clothes, shave off all his hair, and wash himself in water; and he shall be clean. After this, he shall come into the camp, and shall stay outside his tent seven days. [9]But on the seventh day he shall shave all the hair from his head, his beard, and his eyebrows—all his hair he shall shave off. He shall wash his clothes and wash his body in water, and he shall be clean.

[10]“Then on the eighth day he shall take two one-year-old lambs without blemish, a one-year-old sheep without blemish, three-tenths of the finest wheaten flour for a grain offering mixed with oil, and also one cup of oil.
[11]Then together with these things, the priest who cleanses shall present before the Lord at the door of the tabernacle of testimony the man to be made cleansed. [12]The priest shall then take one lamb and offer it as a trespass offering, and the cup of oil, and set them apart as a wave offering before the Lord. [13]Then he shall kill the lamb in the place where he kills the sin offering and the whole burnt offering, in a holy place; for as the sin offering is the priest’s, so is the trespass offering. It is most holy. [14]The priest shall take some of the blood of the trespass offering, and put it on the tip of the right ear of the one to be cleansed, on the thumb of his right hand, and on the big toe of his right foot. [15]The priest shall also take some of the oil from the cup and pour it into the palm of his own left hand. [16]Then he shall dip his right finger in the oil in his left hand, and sprinkle some of it with his finger seven times before the Lord. [17]The priest shall then put some of the remaining oil on the tip of the right ear of the one to be cleansed, and also on the thumb of his right hand, the big toe of his right foot, and on the blood of the trespass offering. [18]Then the priest shall put the rest of the oil on the head of the one to be cleansed. Thus the priest shall make atonement for him before the Lord.

[19]Afterward, the priest shall offer the sin offering, and by it make atonement for the one to be cleansed. Then he shall kill the whole burnt offering. [20]The priest shall offer the whole burnt offering and the grain offering on the altar before the Lord. Thus the priest shall make atonement for him, and he shall be clean.

[21]"But if he is poor and cannot afford it, he shall take one lamb as a choice portion for a trespass offering, along with one-tenth of fine flour mixed with oil and a cup of oil as a grain offering, and [22]two turtledoves or two young pigeons, such as he is able to afford: one shall be a sin offering and the other a burnt offering, to make atonement for him. [23]He shall bring them to the priest on the eighth day for his cleansing, to the door of the tabernacle of testimony, before the Lord. [24]The priest shall take the lamb of the trespass offering and the cup of oil and put them as a deposit before the Lord. [25]Then the priest shall kill the lamb of the trespass offering, and take some of its blood, and put it on the tip of the right ear of the one to be cleansed, then on the thumb of his right hand, and the big toe of his right foot. [26]The priest shall then pour some of the oil into the palm of his own left hand, [27]and sprinkle with his right finger some of the oil in his left hand, seven times before the Lord. [28]Then the priest shall put some of the oil in his hand on the tip of the right ear of the one to be cleansed, and also on the thumb of his right hand and the big toe of his right foot, on the place of the blood of the trespass offering. [29]The rest of the oil in the priest's hand he shall put on the head of the one to be cleansed, to make atonement for him before the Lord. [30]After this, he shall offer one of the turtledoves or young pigeons, such as he can afford— [31]one as a sin offering and the other as a whole burnt offering, with the grain offering. Thus the priest shall make atonement for the one to be cleansed before the Lord. [32]This is the law for one who has a leprous infection, who cannot afford the usual cleansing."

Laws Concerning Leprous Houses

[33]Now the Lord spoke to Moses and Aaron, saying, [34]"When you enter the land of Canaan, which I give you as a possession, and I put the leprous infection in a house in the land of your possession, [35]and he who owns the house comes and tells the priest, saying, 'It seems to me there is an infection in my house,' [36]then before the priest goes into the house to examine the infection, he shall give orders for them to empty the house, that everything in the house may not become unclean. Afterward the priest shall enter the house to examine it. [37]He shall examine the infection; and indeed, if the plague on the walls of the house has greenish or reddish depressions that appear to be deep in the walls, [38]then the priest shall go outside the house to the door of the house, and quarantine the house seven days. [39]After this, the priest shall come again on the seventh day to examine it; and indeed, if the infection has spread on the walls of the house, [40]then the priest shall give orders to take away the stones with the infection; and they shall cast them into an unclean place outside the city. [41]They shall then scrape the house inside and outside, and the dust they scrape off they shall pour out in an unclean place outside the city. [42]Then they shall take other scraped stones and put them in the place of those stones; and they shall take other mortar and plaster the house.

[43]"Now if the infection comes back and breaks out in the house, after they took away the stones and scraped and plastered the house, [44]then the priest shall enter the house to examine it; and indeed, if the infection has spread in it, there is an active leprosy in the house. It is unclean. [45]So they shall break down the house, its stones, timber, and all its plaster, and carry them outside the city to an unclean place. [46]Moreover, he who goes into the house at all while it is quarantined shall be unclean until evening. [47]Also the one who lies down in the house shall wash his clothes and be unclean until evening; and the one who eats in the house shall wash his clothes and be unclean until evening.

[48]"But if the priest enters the house to examine it, and indeed, the infection has not spread at all in the house after it was plastered, then the priest shall pronounce it clean, because the infection is healed. [49]Then to cleanse the house he shall take two live birds, cedar wood, scarlet, and hyssop. [50]And he shall kill one of the birds in an earthen vessel over running water; [51]and he shall take the cedar wood, the hyssop, the scarlet, and the living bird and dip them in the blood of the slain bird and in the running water, and sprinkle the house seven times. [52]Thus he shall cleanse the house with the blood of the bird, the running water, and the living bird, along with the cedar wood, the hyssop, and the spun scarlet. [53]Then he shall send away the living bird into a field outside the city and make atonement for the house, and it shall be clean.

[54]"This is the law for any leprous infection and lesion, [55]and for a leprous garment, a house, [56]a scar, a mark, and a bright spot, [57]to determine in which day there is the unclean, and in which day it will be declared clean. This is the law of leprosy."

Laws Concerning Bodily Discharges

[1]Now the Lord spoke to Moses and Aaron, saying, [2]“Speak to the children of Israel, and say to them, to any and every man, ‘When any man has a seminal discharge from his body, his discharge is unclean. [3]This shall be the law of his uncleanness—whether his bodily member flows with an involuntary discharge of semen, or is stopped up by his discharge, it is his uncleanness. [4]Every bed on which he who has the discharge lies is unclean, and everything on which he sits shall be unclean. [5]Whoever touches his bed shall wash his clothes and bathe in water, and be unclean until evening. [6]Whoever sits on anything on which he who has the discharge sat shall wash his clothes and bathe in water, and be unclean until evening. [7]Whoever touches the skin of him who has the discharge shall wash his clothes and bathe in water, and be unclean until evening. [8]If he who has the discharge spits on him who is clean, he shall wash his clothes and bathe in water, and be unclean until evening. [9]Any saddle of a donkey on which he who has the discharge rides shall be unclean until evening. [10]Whoever touches anything under him shall be unclean until evening; and whoever carries any of those things shall wash his clothes and bathe in water, and be unclean until evening. [11]Whomever he who has the discharge touches, and has not rinsed his hands in water, he shall wash his clothes and bathe in water, and be unclean until evening. [12]An earthen vessel that he who has the discharge touches shall be broken, and every wooden vessel shall be rinsed in water.

[13]‘Now when he who has a discharge is cleansed of his discharge, he shall count for himself seven days for his cleansing. He shall wash his clothes, and bathe his body in water; then he shall be clean. [14]On the eighth day he shall take for himself two turtledoves or two young pigeons and bring these before the Lord, to the door of the tabernacle of testimony, and give them to the priest. [15]Then the priest shall offer them, the one as a sin offering and the other as a whole burnt offering. So the priest shall make atonement for him before the Lord because of his discharge.

[16]‘If any man has an emission of semen, he shall wash all his body in water and be unclean until evening. [17]Any garment and any leather on which there is semen shall be washed with water, and be unclean until evening. [18]Also, when a woman lies with a man and there is an emission of semen, they shall bathe in water, and be unclean until evening.

19 ‘If a woman has a discharge, and the discharge from her body is blood, she shall be in her menstrual period seven days; and whoever touches her shall be unclean until evening. 20 Everything she lies on during her menstruation shall be unclean; also everything she sits on shall be unclean.
21 Whoever touches her bed shall wash his clothes and bathe his body in water, and be unclean until evening. 22 Whoever touches anything she sat on shall wash his clothes and bathe in water, and be unclean until evening. 23 If anything is on her bed, or on anything on which she sits, when he touches it, he shall be unclean until evening. 24 If any man lies with her, and her uncleanness is on him, he shall be unclean seven days; and every bed on which he lies shall be unclean.

25 ‘If a woman has a discharge of blood for many days, other than at the time of her menstruation, or if it runs beyond this time, all the days of her unclean discharge shall be as the days of her menstruation. She shall be unclean. 26 Every bed on which she lies all the days of her discharge shall be to her as the bed of her menstruation; and whatever she sits on, it shall be unclean, as the uncleanness of her menstruation. 27 Whoever touches her shall be unclean; and he shall wash his clothes, bathe in water, and be unclean until evening. 28 But if she is cleansed of her discharge, she shall count for herself seven days, and after that she shall be clean. 29 Then on the eighth day she shall take for herself two turtledoves or two young pigeons and bring them to the priest, to the door of the tabernacle of testimony. 30 The priest shall offer one as a sin offering and the other as a whole burnt offering, and the priest shall make atonement for her before the Lord because of the discharge of her uncleanness.

31 ‘Thus you shall make the children of Israel ungodly because of their uncleanness, lest they die in their uncleanness when they defile My tabernacle among them. 32 This is the law for one who has a discharge and who emits semen and is unclean thereby, 33 and for her who is indisposed because of her menstrual period, and for one who has a discharge, either man or woman, and for the man who lies with her during her menstrual period.’ ”

Leviticus 16

The Day of Atonement

[1]Now the Lord spoke to Moses after the death of Aaron's two sons, when they offered strange fire before the Lord and died; [2]and the Lord said to Moses, "Tell Aaron your brother not to come at just any time into the holy place inside the veil, in the presence of the mercy seat on the ark of the testimony, lest he die; for I will be seen in the cloud above the mercy seat.
[3]Thus Aaron shall come into the holy place with a young bull of the oxen as a sin offering, and a ram as a whole burnt offering. [4]He shall put the holy linen tunic and the linen trousers on his body; he shall be girded with a linen sash, and with the linen turban he shall be attired. These are holy garments.
Therefore he shall wash his body in water and put them on.

[5]"Then he shall take from the congregation of the children of Israel two kids of the goats as a sin offering, and one ram as a whole burnt offering.
[6]Aaron shall offer the young bull as his sin offering, to make atonement for himself and his house. [7]He shall take the two kids and present them before the Lord at the door of the tabernacle of testimony. [8]Then Aaron shall cast lots for the two kids: one lot for the Lord and the other lot for the scapegoat.
[9]Aaron shall bring the kid on which the Lord's lot fell and offer it as a sin offering. [10]But the kid on which the lot fell to be the scapegoat shall be presented alive before the Lord, to make atonement upon it, to let it go as the scapegoat into the desert.

[11]"Then Aaron shall offer the young bull as his sin offering, to make atonement for himself and his house. Thus he shall kill the young bull as his sin offering. [12]He shall then take a censer full of burning coals of fire from the altar before the Lord, with his hands full of the incense compound, beaten fine, and bring it inside the veil. [13]He shall put the incense on the fire before the Lord, that the cloud of incense may cover the mercy seat on the testimonies, lest he die. [14]He shall take some of the young bull's blood with his finger and sprinkle it upon the east side of the mercy seat seven times.

[15]"After that, he shall kill the kid of the sin offering before the Lord on behalf of the people, and bring some of its blood inside the veil, do with that blood as he did with the blood of the young bull, and sprinkle it upon the east side of the mercy seat seven times. [16]So he shall make atonement in the holy place because of the impurities and injustices of the children of Israel, for all their sins; and thus he shall do this in the tabernacle of testimony, built among them in the midst of their uncleanness. [17]There shall be no man in the tabernacle of testimony when he goes in to make atonement in the holy place, until he comes out, that he may make atonement for himself, his household, and all the congregation of the children of Israel. [18]Then he shall go out to the altar before the Lord and make atonement upon it; and he shall take some of the blood of both the young bull and the kid and put it on the horns of the altar all around. [19]Then he shall sprinkle some of the blood upon it with his finger seven times, and cleanse and sanctify it because of the impurities of the children of Israel.

The Scapegoat

[20]"When Aaron shall finish making atonement in the holy place, the tabernacle of testimony and the altar, and shall also cleanse matters concerning the priests, then he shall bring the living kid. [21]Aaron shall place his hands on the head of the living kid, confess over it all the transgressions of the children of Israel, and all their lawlessness, and all their sins; and he shall put them on the head of the living kid, and send it away into the desert by the hand of a suitable man. [22]The kid shall bear on itself all their wrongdoings to an uninhabited land. Thus he shall send away the kid into the desert. [23]Then Aaron shall come into the tabernacle of testimony and take off the linen garments he put on when he went into the holy place; and he shall leave them there. [24]He shall then wash his body with water in a holy place, put on his garments, and come out to offer his whole burnt offering and the whole burnt offering of the people, to make atonement for himself, his house, the people, and in matters concerning the priests. [25]The fat of the sin offering he shall offer on the altar. [26]He who sent away the kid which was set apart for remission shall wash his clothes and bathe his body in water, and afterward he may come into the camp. [27]The young bull and the kid for the sin offerings whose blood was brought in to make atonement in the holy place shall be carried outside the camp; and they shall burn them in the fire: their skin, their flesh, and their offal. [28]Then he who burns them shall wash his clothes and bathe his body in water; and afterward, he may come into the camp.

Ordinances for the Day of Atonement

[29]"This shall be an ordinance forever for you: In the seventh month, on the tenth day of the month, you shall humble your souls, and do no work at all, whether a native of your own country or a resident alien who dwells among you. [30]For on that day the priest shall make atonement for you, to cleanse you from all your sins before the Lord. Thus you shall be clean. [31]It is a Sabbath of Sabbaths, a rest for you, and you shall humble your souls. It is an ordinance forever. 32So the priest who is anointed and consecrated to minister as priest in his father's place shall make atonement and put on the linen clothes, the holy garments. 33Then he shall make atonement in the most holy place, the tabernacle of testimony and the altar; and he shall make atonement for matters concerning the priests and all the congregation. 34So this shall be an ordinance forever for you, to make atonement for the children of Israel, for all their sins; and he shall do this once a year," as the Lord gave orders to Moses.

The Sanctity of Blood

1Now the Lord spoke to Moses, saying, 2"Speak to Aaron, his sons, and all the children of Israel, and say to them, 'This is the thing the Lord commanded, saying, 3"Whatever man of the children of Israel, or resident aliens dwelling among them, kills a young bull, a sheep, or a goat in the camp, or kills it outside the camp, 4and does not bring it to the door of the tabernacle of testimony, to offer it as a whole burnt offering or a peace offering to the Lord, acceptable for a sweet aroma; and whatever man kills outside and does not bring it to the door of the tabernacle of testimony, so as to offer it as a gift to the Lord before the Lord's tabernacle, blood shall be reckoned to that man, for he has shed blood; and that man shall be utterly destroyed from among his people, 5that the children of Israel may bring their sacrifices they kill in the fields to the Lord at the door of the tabernacle of testimony, to the priest, and offer them as peace offerings to the Lord. 6The priest shall pour the blood upon the altar all around before the Lord at the doors of the tabernacle of testimony, and offer the fat for a sweet aroma to the Lord. 7They shall no more offer their sacrifices to worthless things, after whom they prostituted themselves. This shall be an ordinance forever for you throughout your generations.' "

8"Also you shall say to them, 'Whatever man of the children of Israel, or of the resident aliens who dwell among you, offers a whole burnt offering or sacrifice 9and does not bring it to the door of the tabernacle of testimony, to offer it to the Lord, that man shall be utterly destroyed from among his people.

10 ‘And whatever man of the children of Israel, or of the resident aliens dwelling among you, eats any blood, I will set My face against that soul who eats blood and will utterly destroy him from among his people. 11 For the life of all flesh is in its blood, and I give it to you upon the altar to make atonement for your souls; for its blood makes atonement for the soul.’ 12 “Therefore, I said to the children of Israel, ‘No one among you shall eat blood, nor shall any resident alien who dwells among you eat blood.’ 13 Whatever man of the children of Israel, or of the resident aliens dwelling among you, hunts and catches any animal or bird that may be eaten, he shall pour out its blood and cover it with dirt; 14 for the life of all flesh is its blood.
Therefore, I said to the children of Israel, ‘You shall not eat the blood of any flesh, for the life of all flesh is its blood. Whoever eats it shall be utterly destroyed.’
15 “Every soul who eats what died naturally or what was torn by wild animals, whether a native of your own country or a resident alien, he shall both wash his clothes, bathe in water, and be unclean until evening. Then he shall be clean. 16 But if he does not both wash his body and bathe in water, he shall bear his guilt.”

Leviticus 18

Laws of Sexual Morality

1 Now the Lord spoke to Moses, saying, 2 “Speak to the children of Israel, and say to them, ‘I am the Lord your God. 3 According to the way of life in the land of Egypt, where you dwelt, you shall not do; and according to the way of life in the land of Canaan, where I bring you, you shall not do; nor shall you walk in their ordinances. 4 You shall do My judgments and keep My ordinances, to walk in them: I am the Lord your God. 5 You shall therefore keep all My ordinances and My judgments, and do these, which if a man does, he shall live by them; I am the Lord your God. 6 None of you shall approach anyone who is near of kin to him, to uncover his nakedness: I am the Lord. 7 The nakedness of your father or mother you shall not uncover. She is your mother; you shall not uncover her nakedness. 8 The nakedness of your father’s wife you shall not uncover; it is your father’s nakedness. 9 The nakedness of your sister, the daughter of your father, or the daughter of your mother, whether born at home or elsewhere, her nakedness you shall not uncover. [10]The nakedness of your son’s daughter, or your daughter’s daughter, their nakedness you shall not uncover; for theirs is your own nakedness. [11]The nakedness of your father’s wife’s daughter, begotten by your father—she is your sister—you shall not uncover her nakedness. [12]You shall not uncover the nakedness of your father’s sister; she is near of kin to your father. [13]You shall not uncover the nakedness of your mother’s sister, for she is near of kin to your mother. [14]You shall not uncover the nakedness of your father’s brother, and approach his wife; she is your aunt. [15]You shall not uncover the nakedness of your daughter-in-law—she is your son’s wife—you shall not uncover her nakedness. [16]You shall not uncover the nakedness of your brother’s wife; it is your brother’s nakedness. [17]You shall not uncover the nakedness of a woman and her daughter, nor shall you take her son’s daughter, or her daughter’s daughter, to uncover their nakedness. They are near of kin to her. It is impious. [18]Nor shall you take a woman as a rival to her sister, to uncover her nakedness while the other is alive.

[19]‘Also you shall not approach a woman to uncover her nakedness as long as she is in her menstrual period of uncleanness. [20]Moreover, you shall not lie carnally with your neighbor’s wife, to defile yourself with her. [21]Furthermore, you shall not give your offspring to worship a ruler, nor shall you defile My holy name: I am the Lord. [22]You shall not lie with a male as with a woman. It is an abomination. [23]Nor shall you mate with any animal, to defile yourself with it. Nor shall any woman stand before an animal to mate with it. It is perversion.

[24]‘Do not defile yourselves with any of these things; for by all these ways of life the nations are defiled, which I am casting out before your face. [25]For the land is defiled, and on its account I am repaying them for their wrongdoing. Thus the land became vexed with those dwelling upon it. [26]You shall therefore keep all My ordinances and My judgments and shall not do any of these abominations, either any of your own nation or any resident alien who dwells among you [27](for the men of the land before you did all these abominations, and thus the land was defiled), [28]that the land not be vexed with you in your defilement of it, as it was vexed with the nations before you. [29]For whoever does any of these abominations, these souls shall be utterly destroyed from among their people. [30]Therefore, you shall keep My ordinances, so as not to do any of these abominable customs which were committed before you, and not to defile yourselves by them; for I am the Lord your God.’ ”

Laws of Morality and Justice

[1]Now the Lord spoke to Moses, saying, [2]"Speak to all the congregation of the children of Israel and say to them, 'You shall be holy, for I the Lord your God am holy. [3]Every one of you shall reverence his father and mother and keep My Sabbaths: I am the Lord your God. [4]Do not follow idols, nor make for yourselves molten gods: I am the Lord your God. [5]And if you offer a sacrifice of a peace offering to the Lord, you shall offer it in a manner acceptable for you. [6]It shall be eaten the same day you offer it, and on the next day, and if any remains until the third day, it shall be burned in the fire. [7]And if it is eaten at all on the third day, it is not fit to be offered. It shall not be accepted. [8]Therefore, everyone who eats it shall bear his guilt, because he has defiled the holy things of the Lord; and the souls that eat it shall be utterly destroyed from among their people.

[9]'When you reap the harvest of your land, you shall not wholly reap the corners of your field, nor shall you gather the gleanings of your harvest. [10]Also you shall not glean your vineyard, nor shall you gather every grape of your vineyard; you shall leave them for the poor and the resident alien: I am the Lord your God.

[11]'You shall not steal, nor deal falsely, nor lie to one another. [12]You shall not swear by My name unjustly, nor shall you defile the name of your God: I am the Lord your God. [13]You shall not treat your neighbor unjustly, nor rob him. The wages of him who is hired shall not remain with you all night until morning. [14]You shall not curse the deaf, nor put a stumbling block before the blind, but shall fear your God: I am the Lord your God.

[15]'You shall do no injustice in judgment. You shall not be partial to the poor, nor admire the person of the mighty. In righteousness you shall judge your neighbor. [16]You shall not go about deceitfully among your people; nor shall you take a stand against the life of your neighbor: I am the Lord your God. [17]You shall not hate your brother in your mind. You shall surely rebuke your neighbor, and not bear guilt because of him. [18]You shall not take vengeance, nor bear any grudge against the children of your people, but you shall love your neighbor as yourself: I am the Lord.

[19]'You shall keep My law. You shall not let your cattle mate with a different species. You shall not sow your field with mixed seeds. Nor shall a garment of mixed linen and wool come upon you.

[20]‘Whoever lies carnally with a woman who is betrothed to a man as a concubine and has not at all been redeemed nor given her freedom, for this there shall be an inquiry; but they shall not be put to death, because she was not free. [21]Then he shall bring his trespass offering to the Lord, to the door of the tabernacle of testimony, a ram as a trespass offering. [22]The priest shall make atonement for him with the ram of the trespass offering before the Lord for the sin he committed; and the sin he committed shall be remitted him.

[23]‘When you come into the land the Lord your God gives you and have planted all kinds of trees for food, then you shall cleanse its impurity. Three years its fruit shall be impure to you. It shall not be eaten. [24]But in the fourth year all its fruit shall be holy, a praise to the Lord. [25]Then in the fifth year you may eat its fruit, that it may yield to you its increase: I am the Lord your God.

[26]‘You shall not eat upon the mountains, nor divine for omens, nor watch birds for omens. [27]You shall not shave around the sides of your head, nor shall you disfigure the edges of your beard. [28]You shall not make any gashing on your bodies for the dead, nor tattoo any marks on you: I am the Lord your God. [29]Do not defile your daughter, to cause her to commit fornication, lest the land fall into fornication, and the land become full of lawlessness.

[30]‘You shall keep My Sabbaths and reverence My holy things: I am the Lord. [31]You shall not follow ventriloquists, nor attach yourselves to enchanters, to be defiled by them: I am the Lord your God. [32]You shall rise before the gray-headed and honor the presence of an old man, and fear your God: I am the Lord your God. [33]And if a resident alien dwells with you in your land, you shall not mistreat him. [34]The resident alien who dwells among you shall be to you as one born among you, and you shall love him as yourself; for you were resident aliens in the land of Egypt: I am the Lord your God. [35]You shall do no injustice in judgment, in measurement of length, weight, or balances. [36]You shall have honest scales, honest weights, and honest measures: I am the Lord your God, who brings you out of the land of Egypt.

[37]‘Therefore you shall keep all My law and all My ordinances, and perform them: I am the Lord your God.’ ”

Leviticus 20

Penalties for Lawbreakers

[1]Now the Lord spoke to Moses, saying, [2]“Again, you shall say to the children of Israel, ‘Whoever of the children of Israel, or of the resident aliens dwelling in Israel, gives any of his children to worship a ruler, let him be put to death. The people of the land shall stone him with stones. [3]I will set My face against that man and will destroy him from among his people, because he gave his children to a ruler, to defile My holy things and profane the name of those sanctified for Me. [4]But if the natives of the land disregard that man, taking no notice of him when he gives his children to a ruler, and they do not kill him, [5]then I will set My face against that man and those of his kind. For since he and those in agreement with him prostituted themselves to rulers, I will destroy them from among their people. [6]Also the soul who follows ventriloquists and charmers, to prostitute himself with them, I will set My face against that soul and destroy him from among his people. [7]Therefore, you shall be holy, for I the Lord your God am holy. [8]You shall keep My ordinances and perform them: I am the Lord who sanctifies you. [9]Whatever man curses his father or mother shall surely be put to death. He cursed his father or mother. Thus he shall be guilty.

[10]‘The man who commits adultery with another man’s wife, or who commits adultery with his neighbor’s wife, the adulterer and the adulteress shall be put to death. [11]The man who lies with his father’s wife has uncovered his father’s nakedness; both shall surely be put to death, for they are guilty. [12]If a man lies with his daughter-in-law, both shall surely be put to death. They are impious, and therefore guilty. [13]If a man lies with a male as he lies with a woman, both committed an abomination. They shall be put to death, for they are guilty. [14]If a man marries a woman and her mother, it is wickedness. They shall be burned with fire, both he and they, that there may be no wickedness among you. [15]If a man mates with an animal, he shall surely be put to death, and you shall kill the animal. [16]If a woman approaches any animal and mates with it, you shall kill the woman and the animal. They shall surely be put to death, for they are guilty.

utterly destroyed from among their people. [19]You shall not uncover the nakedness of your father's sister, nor your mother's sister, for that would uncover his near of kin. They shall bear their guilt. [20]If a man lies with his close relative, he has uncovered his relative's nakedness. They shall die childless. [21]If a man takes his brother's wife, it is uncleanness. He has uncovered his brother's nakedness. They shall be childless.

[22]'You shall therefore keep all My ordinances and all My judgments and perform them, that the land to which I am bringing you to dwell in not be provoked at you. [23]Also, you shall not walk in the ordinances of the nations I am casting out before you; for they commit all these things, and therefore I abhor them. [24]But I said to you, "You shall inherit their land, and I will give it to you to possess, a land flowing with milk and honey." I am the Lord your God, who separated you from all peoples. [25]You shall therefore distinguish between clean animals and unclean, between unclean birds and clean, and you shall not make your souls abominable by animals or birds, or by any kind of living thing that creeps on the ground, which I separated from you as unclean. [26]You shall be holy to Me, for I, the Lord your God, who separated you from all peoples for Myself, am holy.

[27]'A man or a woman who is a ventriloquist or a charmer shall surely be put to death; they shall stone them with stones, for they are guilty.' "

Leviticus 21

Conduct for Priests

[1]Now the Lord said to Moses, "Speak to the priests, the sons of Aaron, and say to them, 'They shall not be defiled by the dead among their people, [2]except for their nearest relatives: their father, mother, sons, daughters, brother, [3]and virgin sister near to him and having no husband; for these he may be defiled. [4]Otherwise, he shall not be unexpectedly defiled and profaned among his people. [5]You shall not shave a bald spot on your head for the dead, nor shall they shave the edges of their beard, nor make any cuttings on their flesh. [6]They shall be holy to their God, and not defile the name of their God, for they offer the sacrifices of the Lord as the gifts of their God; therefore, they shall be holy. [7]They shall not take a wife who is a prostitute and defiled, nor shall they take a woman divorced from her husband; for a priest is holy to the Lord his God. [8]Therefore you shall sanctify him, for he offers the gifts of the Lord your God. He shall be holy to you, for I the Lord, who sanctifies them, am holy. 9The daughter of any priest, if she defiles herself by playing the harlot, she defiles the name of her father. She shall be burned with fire. 10The high priest who is great among his brethren, on whose head the anointing oil was poured and who was consecrated to wear the garments, shall not uncover his head nor tear his clothes; 11nor shall he go near any soul who died, nor defile himself for his father or mother; 12nor shall he go out of the holy places, nor defile the sanctified place of his God; for the consecration of God's holy anointing oil is upon him: I am the Lord. 13Moreover, he shall take a wife in her virginity. 14But a widow, a divorced woman, a defiled woman, or a prostitute—these he shall not marry; but he shall take a virgin of his own people as wife. 15Nor shall he defile his seed among his people, for I the Lord sanctify him.' "

16Now the Lord spoke to Moses, saying, 17"Speak to Aaron, saying, 'No man of your descendants in succeeding generations who has any defect may approach to offer the gifts of his God. 18For any man who has a defect shall not approach: a man lame or blind, who has a slit nose or ear, 19a man who has a broken hand or foot, 20or is a hunchback or has a defect in his eye, or an inflammation with respect to the eyes, or a man who has a severe itch or a single testicle. 21No man of the seed of Aaron the priest who has a defect shall come near to offer the sacrifices to your God. He has a defect; he shall not come near to offer the gifts of your God. 22The gifts of his God are most holy, and he may eat only the holy things; 23but he shall not go near the veil or approach the altar, because he has a defect, lest he defile the holy place of his God; for I the Lord sanctify them.' " 24Thus Moses told this to Aaron and his sons, and to all the children of Israel.

Leviticus 22

1Then the Lord spoke to Moses, saying, 2"Tell Aaron and his sons to be careful for the holy things of the children of Israel, in what is sanctified to Me, so as not to defile My holy name: I am the Lord. 3Say to them, 'Throughout your generations, whoever of your seed goes near the holy things the children of Israel sanctify to the Lord while his uncleanness is upon him, that soul shall be utterly destroyed by Me: I am the Lord your God. 4Whatever man of the seed of Aaron who is a leper or has an involuntary discharge of semen shall not eat the holy offerings until he is clean. Also whoever touches any impurity of a soul who had an emission of semen while asleep on his bed, [5]or whoever touches any unclean creeping thing by which he would be defiled, or anyone by whom he would be defiled, whatever his uncleanness may be— [6]the soul who has touched any such thing shall be unclean until evening, and shall not eat of the holy things, unless he washes his body with water. [7]Thus when the sun goes down, he shall be clean; and afterward he may eat of the holy things, because it is his food. [8]Whatever dies naturally or is torn by wild animals he shall not eat, to defile himself with it: I am the Lord. [9]They shall therefore keep My ordinances, lest they bear sin for it and die thereby, if they defile these. I the Lord God sanctify them. [10]No foreigner shall eat the holy things; one who sojourns with the priest or a hired servant shall not eat the holy things. [11]But if the priest buys a soul with his money, this one may eat the priest's food; and one who is born in his house may eat his food. [12]If the priest's daughter is married to a foreigner, she may not eat of the holy offerings. [13]But if the priest's daughter is a widow or divorced and has no child, and has returned to her father's house as in her youth, she may eat her father's food; but no foreigner shall eat it. [14]Also, if a man eats the holy things in ignorance, then he shall restore the holy thing to the priest and add one-fifth to it. [15]They shall not defile the holy things of the children of Israel, which they offer to the Lord, [16]or allow them to bear the guilt of trespass when they eat their holy things; for I the Lord sanctify them.' "

Acceptable and Unacceptable Offerings

[17]Again, the Lord spoke to Moses, saying, [18]"Speak to Aaron and his sons, and to all the congregation of Israel, and say to them, 'Whatever man of the children of Israel, or of the resident aliens dwelling among them in Israel, who offers his gifts in accord with any agreed-on offering or any offering of choice which they offer to God as a whole burnt offering— [19]to be acceptable on your behalf, they must be males without blemish from the cattle, the sheep, or the goats. [20]Whatever has a defect, you shall not offer it to the Lord, for it shall not be acceptable on your behalf. [21]And whoever offers a sacrifice of a peace offering to the Lord from the cattle or the sheep, to fulfill his vow, or a freewill offering, or in your feasts, it must be without blemish to be accepted; there shall be no defect in it. [22]Those blind, broken, or with a cut tongue, or afflicted with warts, or having a bad itch or a skin disease, you shall not offer to the Lord, nor make an offering by fire of them on the altar to the Lord. [23]Either a bull or a sheep that has any ears cut off or a shortened tail, you may offer for yourself, but for a vow of yours it shall not be accepted. [24]You shall not offer to the Lord what is castrated by crushing, bruising, tearing, or extracting; nor shall you make any offering of them in your land. [25]Nor from a foreigner's hand shall you offer any of these as the gifts of your God, because their corruption is in them, and defects are in them. They shall not be accepted on your behalf.' "

[26]Again the Lord spoke to Moses, saying, [27]"When a young bull, a sheep, or a goat is born, it shall be seven days with its mother; and from the eighth day and thereafter it shall be accepted as a gift made by fire to the Lord. [28]Whether it is a young bull or a sheep, do not kill both her and her young on the same day. [29]Now if you offer a sacrifice, a vow of rejoicing to the Lord, you shall offer it so as to be acceptable for you. [30]On the same day it shall be eaten; you shall leave none of its flesh until morning: I am the Lord. [31]Therefore you shall keep My commandments and do them. [32]You shall not defile My holy name, but I will be sanctified among the children of Israel. I am the Lord who sanctifies you, [33]who brings you out of the land of Egypt, to be your God: I am the Lord."

The Feasts of the Lord

[1]And the Lord spoke to Moses, saying, [2]"Speak to the children of Israel, and say to them, 'The feasts of the Lord, which you shall proclaim to be holy convocations, these are My feasts. [3]Six days shall work be done, but the seventh day is a Sabbath rest, a holy convocation to the Lord. You shall do no work on it; it is a Sabbath to the Lord in all your dwellings.

Pascha and Unleavened Bread

[4]'These are the feasts to the Lord, holy convocations, which you shall proclaim at their appointed times. [5]On the fourteenth day of the first month at twilight is the Pascha to the Lord. [6]Then on the fifteenth day of the same month is the Feast of Unleavened Bread to the Lord; seven days you shall eat unleavened bread. [7]On the first day you shall have a holy convocation; you shall do no service work on it. [8]But you shall offer a whole burnt offering to the Lord for seven days. The seventh day shall be a holy convocation; you shall do no service work.' "

Harvest

9 Again the Lord spoke to Moses, saying, 10 "Speak to the children of Israel, and say to them, 'When you come into the land I give you and reap its harvest, you shall bring a sheaf of the firstfruits from your harvest to the priest. 11 He shall offer the sheaf before the Lord, to be accepted on your behalf; on the morning after the first day the priest shall offer it. 12 Then you shall offer on that day on which you offer the sheaf a sheep of the first year, without blemish, as a whole burnt offering to the Lord. 13 Its grain offering shall be two-tenths of an ephah of fine flour mixed with oil, a sacrifice to the Lord, for a sweet aroma to the Lord; and its drink offering shall be of wine, one-fourth of a hin. 14 You shall eat neither bread nor roasted fresh ears until the same day you have offered gifts to your God; it shall be an ordinance forever throughout your generations in all your dwellings.

15 'Then you shall count for yourselves from the morning following the Sabbath day, from the day you brought the sheaf of the deposit, seven full weeks. 16 Count fifty days to the day after the seventh Sabbath; then you shall offer a new grain offering to the Lord. 17 You shall bring from your dwellings two deposit loaves of two-tenths of an ephah of fine flour. They shall be baked with leaven. They are firstfruits to the Lord. 18 Then you shall offer with the bread seven lambs of the first year without blemish, one young bull, and two rams without blemish. They shall be a whole burnt offering to the Lord, with their grain offering and drink offerings, a sacrifice for a sweet aroma to the Lord. 19 After this, you shall sacrifice one kid of the goats as a sin offering, and two lambs of the first year as a sacrifice of a peace offering, with the loaves of the firstfruits. 20 The priest shall deposit them with the loaves of the firstfruits as a deposit offering before the Lord, with the two lambs. They shall be holy things to the Lord; and for the priest who presented them, his shall they be. 21 Then you shall proclaim the same day as a holy convocation for you. You shall do no service work on it. It shall be an ordinance forever in all your dwellings throughout your generations. 22 When you reap the harvest of your land, you shall not wholly reap the corners of your field when you reap, nor shall you gather any gleanings from your harvest. You shall leave them for the poor and for the resident alien: I am the Lord your God.' "

Trumpets: The New Year

[23]Again, the Lord spoke to Moses, saying, [24]“Speak to the children of Israel, saying, ‘In the seventh month, on the first day of the month, you shall have a rest, a memorial of trumpets, a holy convocation for you. [25]You shall do no service work on it, and you shall offer a whole burnt offering to the Lord.’ ”

Day of Atonement

[26]Moreover, the Lord spoke to Moses, saying, [27]“Also, the tenth day of this seventh month shall be the Day of Atonement. It shall be a holy convocation for you; you shall humble your souls and offer a whole burnt offering to the Lord. [28]And you shall do no work on that same day, for it is the Day of Atonement, to make atonement for you before the Lord your God. [29]For any soul who is not humbled on that same day shall be utterly destroyed from among his people. [30]Any soul who does any work on that same day, that soul shall be destroyed from among his people. [31]You shall not do any work; this is an ordinance forever throughout your generations in all your dwellings. [32]It shall be a Sabbath of Sabbaths for you, and you shall humble your souls; from the ninth day of the month, from evening to evening, you shall celebrate your Sabbaths.”

Feast of Tabernacles

[33]Again, the Lord spoke to Moses, saying, [34]“Speak to the children of Israel, saying, ‘The fifteenth day of this seventh month shall be the Feast of Tabernacles for seven days to the Lord. [35]On the first day there shall be a holy convocation. You shall do no service work on it. [36]For seven days you shall offer whole burnt offerings to the Lord. Then on the eighth day you shall have a holy convocation, and you shall offer whole burnt offerings to the Lord. It is the final day of the festival for you, and you shall do no service work on it.

[37]‘These are the feasts to the Lord which you shall proclaim to be holy convocations, to offer whole burnt offerings to the Lord, whole burnt offerings and their grain and drink offerings, everything on its day— [38]besides the Sabbaths of the Lord, and besides your gifts, all your vows, and all your freewill offerings which you give to the Lord.

[39]‘Also on the fifteenth day of this seventh month, when you have gathered in the fruit of the land, you shall keep the feast to the Lord for seven days; on the first day there shall be a rest, and on the eighth day a rest. 40And you shall take for yourselves on the first day the ripe fruit of a tree, leaves of palm trees, the branches of leafy trees, and the pure willows of the brook; and you shall rejoice before the Lord your God for seven days. 41You shall keep it as a feast to the Lord for seven days in the year. It shall be an ordinance forever in your generations. You shall celebrate it in the seventh month. 42You shall dwell in booths for seven days. All who are native Israelites shall dwell in booths, 43that your generations may know that I made the children of Israel dwell in booths when I brought them out of the land of Egypt: I am the Lord your God.' "

44So Moses declared to the children of Israel the feasts of the Lord. The Feast of Weeks—Pentecost

Leviticus 24

Caring for the Lamps

1Then the Lord spoke to Moses, saying, 2"Command the children of Israel to bring you pure oil of pressed olives for the light, to make the lamps burn continually. 3Outside the veil in the tabernacle of testimony, Aaron and his sons shall keep it burning from evening until morning before the Lord continually; it shall be an ordinance forever in your generations. 4Upon the pure lampstand, you shall burn the lamps before the Lord until morning.

Preparing the Bread

5"You shall also take fine flour and bake twelve cakes with it. Two-tenths of an ephah shall be in each cake. 6You shall set them as two deposits, six loaves in each deposit, on the pure table before the Lord. 7Then you shall put pure frankincense and salt on each deposit, that it may be on the bread for a memorial offering to the Lord. 8Every Sabbath day it shall be placed before the Lord continually, in the presence of the children of Israel by an everlasting covenant. 9It shall be for Aaron and his sons, and they shall eat these things in a holy place; for this is most holy to him from the things sacrificed to the Lord, as a perpetual ordinance."

Punishment for Sin

10 Now the son of an Israelite woman, whose father was an Egyptian, went out among the children of Israel; and this Israelite woman's son and a man of Israel fought each other in the camp. 11 Then the Israelite woman's son, by pronouncing the Name, cursed; and so they brought him to Moses. (His mother's name was Shelomith the daughter of Dibri, of the tribe of Dan.) 12 Then they placed him in custody, to make a decision regarding him through an ordinance of the Lord. 13 Thus the Lord spoke to Moses, saying, 14 "Take the one who cursed outside the camp; then let all who heard him lay their hands on his head, and let all the congregation stone him. 15 Then you shall speak to the children of Israel, saying, 'Whoever curses God shall bear his guilt. 16 Let him who pronounces the Lord's name be surely put to death. Let all the congregation of Israel stone him with stones, the resident alien as well as the native. Let him die when he pronounces the Lord's name. 17 Whoever strikes a man and he dies, let him surely be put to death. 18 Whoever strikes an animal and it dies, let him compensate life for life. 19 If a man causes disfigurement of his neighbor, as he has done, so shall it be done to him—20 fracture for fracture, eye for eye, tooth for tooth; as he has caused disfigurement of a man, so shall it be done to him. 21 Whoever strikes a man and he dies, let him surely be put to death. 22 You shall have the same judgment for what is right both for the resident alien and the native; for I am the Lord your God.' " 23 Then Moses spoke to the children of Israel; and they took outside the camp him who had cursed, and stoned him with stones. So the children of Israel did as the Lord commanded Moses.

Leviticus 25

The Seventh Year

1 Now the Lord spoke to Moses on Mount Sinai, saying, 2 "Speak to the children of Israel and say to them, 'When you come into the land I give you, then the land shall keep a Sabbath to the Lord. 3 Six years you shall sow your field, and six years you shall prune your vineyard and gather its fruit; 4 but in the seventh year there shall be a Sabbath rest for the land, a Sabbath to the Lord. You shall neither sow your field nor prune your vineyard. 5 What grows by itself in your field you shall not reap, nor gather the grapes of the vines you dedicated, for it is a year of rest for the land. 6 So the products of the land during the Sabbath year shall be food for you: for you, your male and female servants, your hired man, and the alien who dwells with you, [7]and for your cattle and the wild animals in your land—all its produce shall be for food.

The Year of Remission (Jubilee)

[8]‘You shall also count seven years of rest for yourself, seven times seven years; and the time of the seven weeks of years shall be to you forty-nine years. [9]Then you shall sound the trumpet throughout your land on the tenth day of the seventh month; on the Day of Atonement you shall make the trumpet to sound throughout all your land. [10]Then you shall sanctify the fiftieth year, and proclaim remission throughout the land to all its inhabitants. It shall signal the Year of Remission for you; and each of you shall return to his possession, and each of you shall return to his homeland. [11]That fiftieth year shall be the Signal of Remission for you; in it you shall neither sow nor reap what grows by itself, nor gather its sanctified things. [12]For it is the Signal of Remission; it shall be holy to you; you shall eat its produce from the field.

[13]‘In this Year of Remission, each shall return to his possession. [14]Also, if you should make a sale of land to your neighbor or buy it from him, let a man not oppress his neighbor. [15]According to the number of years after the Signal, you shall buy land tenure from your neighbor, and he shall sell tenure to you according to the number of years of crops. [16]According to the increase in years, his acquisition price for tenure should be increased, and according to the fewer number of years his price should be diminished; for he sells to you according to the number of the crops. [17]Therefore, let not a man oppress his neighbor, but you shall fear the Lord your God; for I am the Lord your God.

Food for the Seventh Year

[18]‘So you shall do all My ordinances and keep My judgments, and do them; then you will dwell in the land in confidence. [19]Then the land will yield its produce, and you will eat your fill, and dwell there in confidence. [20]But if you should say, “What shall we eat in this seventh year, since we shall not sow nor gather in our produce?” [21]Then I will command My blessing on you in the sixth year, and it will bring forth produce enough for three years. [22]And you shall sow in the eighth year, and eat from the old produce until the ninth year; until its produce comes in, you shall eat of the old harvest.

Redemption of Property

[23]‘The land shall not be sold in perpetuity, for the land is Mine; for in my sight you are resident aliens and sojourners. [24]According to all the land of your possession, you shall grant a ransom of the land. [25]If your brother with you becomes poor and has sold some of his possession, and his closest relative comes, then he may redeem what his brother sold. [26]Or if the poor man has no close relative to redeem it, but he himself becomes prosperous enough to redeem it, [27]then let him compute the years since its sale and return the remainder to the man to whom he sold it, that he may return to his possession. [28]But if he does not become prosperous enough to return to it himself, then what was sold shall remain in the hand of him who bought it until the Year of Remission; and in the Remission it shall be released, and he shall return to his possession.

[29]‘If a man sells a house in a walled city, then he may redeem it within a whole year after it is sold; within a full year he may redeem it. [30]But if it is not redeemed within the space of a full year, then the house in the walled city shall belong legally to him who bought it, throughout his generations. It shall not be released in the Remission. [31]However, the houses of unwalled villages shall be counted as belonging to the open country. They may be redeemed and released at any time during the Remission. [32]Nevertheless, the cities of the Levites, and the houses in the cities of their possession, the Levites may redeem at any time. [33]Even whoever purchases a house from the Levites, the house that was sold in the city of their possession shall be released in the Remission; for the houses in the cities of the Levites are their possession among the children of Israel. [34]But the fields set apart for their cities may not be sold, for this is their perpetual possession.

Lending to the Poor

[35]‘If your brother becomes poor and weak in strength among you, then you shall help him, like a resident alien or a sojourner, that he may live with you.
[36]Take no usury or interest from him; but fear your God—I am the Lord—that your brother may live with you. [37]You shall not lend him your money for usury, nor lend him your food at a profit. [38]I am the Lord your God, who brings you out of the land of Egypt to give you the land of Canaan, so as to be your God.

Relating to Slaves

[39]‘Now if your brother with you becomes poor and sells himself to you, you shall not compel him to serve as a slave. [40]But as a hired servant or a sojourner he shall be with you, and shall work for you until the Year of Remission. [41]Then in the Remission he shall depart from you—he and his children with him—and shall return to his own family. He shall return to the possession of his fathers. [42]For they are My personal servants, whom I brought out of the land of Egypt; they shall not be sold with the sale of a household servant. [43]You shall not overwork him with labor, but you shall fear the Lord your God. [44]As for the male and female servants you may have from the Gentiles around you, from them you may buy male and female servants. [45]Moreover you may buy some of the children of sojourners dwelling among you, and some of their families with you, which they beget in your land; and they shall become your possession. [46]You may also distribute them as an inheritance for your children after you, to inherit them as a permanent possession. But regarding your brethren, the children of Israel, you shall not overwork him with labor.

[47]‘Now if a resident alien or sojourner with you prospers, and your brother becomes poor and sells himself to the resident alien or sojourner with you, or to a member of the resident alien’s family, [48]after he is sold he may be redeemed again. One of his brothers may redeem him; [49]or his uncle or his uncle’s son may redeem him; or anyone near of kin to him in his family may redeem him; or if he is able he may redeem himself. [50]Thus he shall compute the years with him who bought him: The price of his release shall be according to the number of years from the year that he was sold to him until the Year of Remission; it shall be according to the time he was a hired servant for him. [51]If there are still more years remaining to someone, he shall pay his ransom from the money of his sale. [52]Now if there remain but a few years until the Year of Remission, then he shall compute with him, and according to his years, he shall repay his ransom. [53]He shall be with him as a hired servant year by year, and you shall not allow someone to overwork him with labor in your sight. [54]But if he is not redeemed in these years he shall be released in the Year of Remission—he and his children with him. [55]For the children of Israel are personal servants to Me; they are My servants, whom I brought out of the land of Egypt: I am the Lord your God.

Leviticus 26

Blessing for Obedience

1 ‘Now you shall not make handcrafted objects for yourselves; neither a carved image nor a pillar shall you rear up for yourselves; nor shall you set up a distinctive stone in your land, to worship it; for I am the Lord your God.
2 You shall keep My Sabbaths and reverence My holy things: I am the Lord.

3 ‘If you walk in My ordinances and keep My commandments, and do them, 4 then I will give you rain in its season, the land shall yield its produce, and the trees of the field shall yield their fruit. 5 Your threshing shall last till the time of vintage, and the vintage shall last till the time of sowing; and you shall eat your bread to the full, and dwell in your land safely. 6 War shall not pass through your land, and I will give peace in the land; and you shall lie down, and none will make you afraid; and I will utterly destroy the bad wild animals from the land. 7 You will chase your enemies, and they shall fall by slaughter before you. 8 Five of you shall chase a hundred, and a hundred of you shall put ten thousand to flight; your enemies shall fall by the sword before you. 9 For I will look upon you and make you fruitful, and multiply and establish My covenant with you. 10 You shall eat the old harvest of the past two years, and clear out the old because of the new. 11 I will establish My covenant among you, and My soul shall not abhor you. 12 I will walk among you and be your God, and you shall be My people. 13 I am the Lord your God, who brings you out of the land of Egypt, that you should not be their servants; I broke the bands of your yoke and made you walk with confidence.

Punishment for Disobedience

14 ‘Now if you do not obey Me, neither do all these ordinances, 15 but your soul disobeys them and despises My judgments, so as not to do all My commandments but to shatter My covenant, 16 I also will do thus to you: I will bring difficulty upon you, both the itch, the jaundice, the gangrenous eyes, and the withering away of your life. You shall sow your seed in vain, for your enemies shall eat it. 17 I will set My face against you, and you shall fall before your enemies. Those who hate you shall pursue you, and you shall flee when no one pursues you.

18 ‘Then after all this, if you do not obey Me, I will increase your punishment seven times more for your sins. 19 I will crush your excessive arrogance; I will make your sky like iron and your earth like bronze. 20 Your strength shall be spent in vain; for your land shall not yield its produce, nor shall the trees of the land yield their fruit. [21]Then if after this, you walk contrariwise and are not willing to obey Me, I will bring on you seven times more plagues, according to your sins. [22]I will also send among you the wild animals of the land; and they will eat you, and utterly destroy your cattle, and make you few in number; and your highways shall be desolate.

[23]‘Then if by these things you are not corrected by Me, but walk contrary to Me, [24]then I also will walk in hostility to you, and I will strike you yet seven times for your sins. [25]I will also strike you with the sword, exacting the vengeance of the covenant; and you will flee for refuge to your cities. I will also send forth death among you, and you shall be delivered into the hand of enemies. [26]When you are afflicted by want of bread, ten women shall bake your bread in one oven; and they shall dole out your bread by measure, and you shall eat and still be hungry.

[27]‘Now if after all this, you do not obey Me, but walk contrary to Me, [28]then I also will walk in hostility to you; and I, even I, will chastise you seven times for your sins. [29]Then you shall eat the flesh of your sons and daughters. [30]I will make desolate your pillars, and will utterly destroy your wooden handcrafted objects; and I will put your carcasses on the carcasses of your idols, and My soul shall abhor you. [31]I will lay your cities waste, and bring your holy things to desolation; and I will not smell the odor of your sacrifices. [32]I will bring your land to desolation, and your enemies who dwell in it shall be astonished at it. [33]I will scatter you among the Gentiles, and the sword shall suddenly destroy you. Then your land shall be a desert and your cities deserts. [34]Then the land shall enjoy its Sabbaths as long as it lies desolate, and you are in your enemies’ land. Thus the land shall rest and enjoy its Sabbaths. [35]As long as it lies desolate it shall rest—for the time it did not rest on your Sabbaths when you dwelt in it.

[36]‘Now as for those of you remaining in the land, I will send faintness into their heart in the land of their enemies; and the sound of the shaking leaf shall chase them. Then they shall flee as though fleeing from a battle, and shall fall when no one pursues. [37]Brother shall disregard brother as in warfare though no one is in pursuit; and you will be unable to withstand your enemies. [38]You shall perish among the Gentiles, and the land of your enemies shall devour you. [39]Now those of you who are left shall be destroyed because of their sins, and waste away in their enemies’ land.

[40]‘But if they confess their sins and the sins of their fathers, that they transgressed and disregarded Me and walked contrary to Me, [41]and that I also have walked in hostility to them and destroyed them in the land of their enemies, then their uncircumcised heart will feel ashamed, and they will render satisfaction for their guilt. [42]Then I will remember My covenant with Jacob, and My covenant with Isaac, and My covenant with Abraham I will remember; and I will remember the land. [43]The land also shall be deserted by them; and the land will enjoy its Sabbaths while it lies desolate because of them. Then they must take responsibility for their lawless acts, because they disregarded My judgments, and their soul abhorred My ordinances. [44]Yet for all that, when they were in the land of their enemies, I did not neglect them nor treat them with contempt, so as to utterly destroy them and break My covenant with them; for I am the Lord their God. [45]But I will remember their former covenant when I brought them out of the land of Egypt, out of the house of bondage, in the sight of the Gentiles, to be their God: I am the Lord.' "

[46]These are the judgments, the ordinances, and the law which the Lord made between Himself and the children of Israel on Mount Sinai by the hand of Moses.

Leviticus 27

Laws Concerning Gifts Dedicated to God

[1]Now the Lord spoke to Moses, saying, [2]"Speak to the children of Israel, and say to them, 'When a man vows a vow to the Lord equivalent to the value of his soul, [3]and if your valuation is of a male from twenty years old up to sixty years old, his valuation shall be fifty didrachm of silver, according to the pure measure. [4]But if it is of a female, your valuation shall be thirty didrachm; [5]and if from five years old up to twenty years old, your valuation for a male shall be twenty didrachm, and for a female ten didrachm; [6]and if from a month old up to five years old, your valuation for a male shall be five didrachm of silver, and for a female, three didrachm of silver; [7]and if from sixty years old and above, if it is a male, then your valuation shall be fifteen didrachm, and for a female ten didrachm. [8]But if he is too poor to pay your valuation, he shall present himself before the priest, and the priest shall set a value for him; according to the ability of him who vowed, the priest shall value him. [9]If they bring from the cattle a gift to the Lord, whoever gives from these to the Lord, his gift shall be holy. [10]He shall not change it, good for bad or bad for good; and if he changes it at all, cattle for cattle, then both it and that which is changed shall be holy. [11]But if it is any unclean animal which they do not offer as a gift to the Lord, he shall present the animal before the priest; [12]and the priest shall set a value for it, whether good or bad; and as the priest values it, so it shall stand. [13]But if he wants at all to redeem it, then he must add one-fifth to his valuation. [14]And when a man sanctifies his house to be holy to the Lord, then the priest shall set a value for it, whether good or bad; as the priest values it, so it shall stand. [15]If he who sanctified his house wants to redeem it, he must add one-fifth of the silver of its valuation, and it shall be his. [16]Now if a man sanctifies part of the field of his possession to the Lord, then the valuation shall be according to the seed required for it: a cor of barley for fifty didrachm of silver. [17]If he sanctifies part of his field from the Year of Remission, according to his valuation it shall stand. [18]But if he sanctifies his field subsequently after the Jubilee, the priest shall reckon to him the silver due according to the years that remain till the Year of Remission, and it shall be deducted from his valuation. [19]And if he who sanctifies the field ever wishes to redeem it, he must add one-fifth of the silver to his valuation, and it shall belong to him. [20]But if he does not want to redeem the field, or if he has sold the field to another man, it shall not be redeemed anymore; [21]but the field, when it is released in the Remission, shall be holy to the Lord, as a field set apart; it shall be the possession of the priest. [22]But if a man sanctifies to the Lord part of a field he bought which is not the field of his possession, [23]then the priest shall reckon to him its full assessment from the Year of Remission, and he shall pay its valuation on that day as holy to the Lord. [24]Then in the Year of Remission, the field shall return to the man from whom he bought it, to the one who owned the land as a possession. [25]Now all your valuations shall be according to the pure measures: twenty obols to the didrachm. [26]But the firstborn of your cattle, which shall be the Lord’s firstborn, no man shall sanctify, whether a young calf or sheep; it is the Lord’s. [27]Now if it is an unclean four-footed animal, he shall change it according to his valuation; and he shall add one-fifth to it, and it will be his. But if it is not redeemed, it shall be sold according to his valuation. [28]Nevertheless, any devoted thing a man may devote to the Lord of anything he has, man or animal, or part of the field of his possession, shall not be sold or redeemed; every devoted thing is most holy to the Lord. [29]Furthermore, people devoted to the Lord shall not be redeemed, but shall surely be put to death. [30]Now all the tithe of the land, whether seed of the land or fruit of the tree, is the Lord’s. It is holy to the Lord. [31]If a man wants at all to redeem his tithe, he shall add one-fifth to it, and it will be his. [32]Now concerning the tithe of the oxen or the sheep, of whatever passes in the numbering under the rod, the tenth one shall be holy to the Lord. [33]You shall not change good for bad; but if he changes it at all, both it and that which is changed shall be holy; it shall not be redeemed.’ ”

[34]These are the commandments the Lord commanded Moses for the children of Israel on Mount Sinai.

Annotations for Leviticus

1:2 The statement, If a man among you should offer gifts to the Lord, emphasizes the freewill characteristic of any offering. God never forces anyone to worship Him.

Offering animal sacrifices to the Lord was not new and was well known in antiquity. Both Abel and Abraham offered animal sacrifices to the Lord (Gn 4; 22). What are newly introduced are (1) the specific instructions about the sacrifices, (2) the enumeration of them, and (3) laws governing where, how, and by whom they were to be offered.

God gave these instructions for the benefit of both Israel and those under the new covenant, for their purpose was to lead mankind to Christ. St. Paul says, "Therefore the law was our tutor to bring us to Christ, that we might be justified by faith. But after faith has come, we are no longer under a tutor" (Gal 3:24, 25).

Only domesticated animals could be offered to God—animals dependent on the people, who in turn depended on them. These sacrificial animals were a type of Christ, "the Lamb of God who takes away the sin of the world" (Jn 1:29).

1:3 All such animals were to be without blemish to be acceptable to God. These unblemished animals were types of Christ: "How much more shall the blood of Christ, who through the eternal Spirit offered Himself without spot to God, cleanse your conscience from dead works to serve the living God?" (Heb 9:14).

1:4 In the Levitical liturgy of worship, the people participated in the worship. They were not passive observers who watched while the priests did all the work, for the word liturgy means the work of the people. Both priest and people were actively involved. Similarly, in the new covenant liturgy of worship, both laity and clergy actively participate in the worship.

Here, the worshiper placed his hand on the head of the animal and killed it, and in so doing was united with the offering; for the animal's death became the death of the offerer. Similarly, in baptism, the worshiper is united with Christ, for Christ's death becomes in the mystery of baptism the very death, burial, and resurrection of the one baptized (Rom 6:3, 4).

In the Levitical liturgy of worship, the burnt offering was accepted as an atonement on behalf of the worshiper. Atonement is reconciliation to God. Similarly, in the new covenant liturgy of worship, Christ's offering of Himself is accepted as the worshiper's means of reconciliation to God (Rom 5:10, 11; 2Co 5:18).

1:5 Aaron, the high priest, and his sons were types of the new covenant clergy. Under the new covenant, Jesus Christ is the Great High Priest. As High Priest, He is both the one who offers and the one who is offered as the sacrifice. Prior to the Great Entrance in the Divine Liturgy, the priest prays, "For Thou art He who offers and is offered." Without Him to offer, no offering can be made. Apart from Him, no sacrifice is acceptable to God. This relationship will be seen often throughout Leviticus, and much will be gained by careful observation of Israel's Old Testament service of worship.

A life was given to God and that life was in the blood of the animal offered. It was acceptable to God as atonement for the offerer. Its fulfillment is made known in Heb 9:11–22. Verse 14 clearly shows the role of the blood of Christ in giving people access to the Holy Trinity: "How much more shall the blood of Christ, who through the eternal Spirit offered Himself without spot to God, cleanse your conscience from dead works to serve the living God?"

1:9 The whole burnt offering was totally consumed on the altar—an unmistakable picture of complete commitment to God. The Church displays this spirit of commitment in its responsive prayers: "Let us commend ourselves and each other and all our life unto Christ our God."

The burnt offering was a sweet aroma to the Father. This aroma speaks of the love of Christ in giving Himself as an offering and sacrifice for us, for no aroma is sweeter to the Father than this. When we walk in this love, we, too, are a sweet aroma to Him (Eph 5:2).

Sacrifice

In the Book of Leviticus and detailed further in Deuteronomy 12–26, the Lord commands Moses to institute a comprehensive system of ritual sacrifices to be offered by the priests on behalf of the people of God, thus giving the Hebrews a means to be reconciled with God and to restore harmony amongst themselves, relationships disrupted by sin. The word "sacrifice" means to make holy or sacred. These sacrifices and offerings—offered first at the tabernacle and later in the temple—were basically of two types: animal (cattle, sheep, goats, doves) and vegetable (wheat, barley, olive oil, wine, cereal, frankincense). The offerings were types prefiguring a greater reality to be fulfilled in the coming Incarnation of Christ.

The Old Covenant

In the Old Testament animal sacrifices, the blood shed and poured out represented the life-force of the animal offered to God (Gn 9:4; Lv 17:11; Dt 12:23). The animal was more than simply a substitute for the worshiper. There was also identification between the animal sacrificed and the one on whose behalf it was offered, explaining the emphasis in the Old Testament on the blood of the sacrifice (Ex 12:13; 24:4–8; 29:15–21; 30:1–10; Lv 14:24, 25; Nm 19:1–4). These sacrifices point to the blood of Christ in the New Testament: "My blood of the new covenant, which is shed for many for the remission of sins" (Mt 26:28; see also Acts 20:28; Rom 5:8–10; Col 1:19, 20; Heb 9:11–14; 1Pt 1:17–19; 1Jn 1:7; Rev 1:4–6; 7:13–15).

On the Day of Atonement, the preeminent Old Testament sacrifice was made. It was to atone for all the sins the nation of Israel had committed that year (Lv 16:2–34). The ceremony included (1) animal sacrifices as offerings for sins, and (2) the placing of "all the transgressions of the children of Israel . . . on the head of the living kid"—the scapegoat—which was then driven off into the wilderness (Lv 16:21). This event prefigures the once-for-all self-sacrifice of Christ, our great High Priest (Heb 4:14–5:10; 10:19–22), who takes upon Himself all the sins of all humanity (Is 53:11, 12; Jn 1:29; 2Co 5:21; 1Pt 2:24), tramples down death by His voluntary Death on the cross, and thereby reconciles us to God (Is 53:5; Gal 3:13, 14; Col 1:13, 14; Tts 2:13, 14; 1Pt 3:18).

The New Covenant

Christ's once-for-all offering of Himself is for all people for all time, and supersedes the Mosaic sacrificial system. Accordingly, the mystery of the eucharistic service, accomplished within the Divine Liturgy of the Church, is done "in remembrance" of Christ's sacrifice (Lk 22:19) and is a "reasonable and bloodless sacrifice" to be understood as our sacrifice-offering to God—"a mercy of peace, a sacrifice of praise." In the Divine Liturgy, instead of an animal or grain offering, we offer the Body and Blood of Christ to God. In a mystery known only to God, we thereby participate in the very Body and Blood of Christ offered once for all. And in this substantial union between Christ—the One sacrificed—and the worshiper, we come to more fully understand how we are united to Christ in our baptism and nurtured in our union with Christ by the eucharistic offering. The Church prays, "Thine own of Thine own we offer unto Thee, on behalf of all and for all."

Offering sacrifices never exempted the Hebrews from the duty to live prayerfully and morally (Pr 15:8, 9). Moreover, Old Testament prophets stood against empty ritual and vain sacrifice (1Kg 15:22; Pss 49:7–15; 50:15–17; Is 1:1–20; Hos 6:6; Am 5:9–27; Mic 6:1–8). Hence, the Mosaic sacrificial system not only prefigures Christ's own sacrifice, but also points to the pouring out of ourselves in self-sacrificial service as detailed in Romans 12:1 and 1 Peter 2:5.

2:1 Offerings were gifts in order to gain the grace of the one to whom the gift was offered (Gn 32:13–21). So it was imperative that the offering be acceptable to the one receiving it. Likewise in Leviticus, gifts acceptable to God were carefully prescribed to Israel.

The grain offering of cultivated wheat milled into fine flour was offered as the fruit of the people's labor. As the animals offered were not wild but domestic, so wild grains were not offered. The grain offering pictures Christ as the totally acceptable grain offering to God—He who offers all His works as an acceptable offering to the Father. In Jn 12:24, He says of Himself, "Most assuredly, I say to you, unless a grain of wheat falls into the ground and dies, it remains alone; but if it dies, it produces much grain." Jesus Himself is the grain of wheat that died and rose again as man's true spiritual food—the living bread that came down out of heaven to give life to the world (Jn 6:41–51).

The grain offering also pictures the faithful of the Church who offer to God for His blessing the works of their hands as co-laborers with Him. As St. Paul wrote, "We are God's fellow workers" (1Co 3:9).

Oil added to the flour typifies the work of the Holy Spirit. Christ offered Himself to the Father through the Holy Spirit (Heb 9:14). The Holy Spirit also helps us co-labor with God that our labors might be acceptable to Him (Acts 1:8; Eph 5:18).

Frankincense was also added to the various grain offerings. It typified the prayers of the Church. In Vespers, the Church sings, "Let my prayer arise in Your sight as incense." Co-laboring with God must be accompanied by prayer.

2:2 The priest placed the grain offering on the altar as a memorial. This memorial speaks of Christ when He established the Eucharist on Great and Holy Thursday. He said, "Do this in remembrance of Me" (Lk 22:19). Remembrance of Him is more than the memory of Christ's death on the cross in history. It also includes the sprinkling of His precious blood in heaven when He ascended on high (Heb 9:23, 24). Thus, in partaking of His body and blood in the Eucharist, the Church eats and drinks eternal life, for His flesh is life-giving.

2:4, 5 The grain offering baked in the oven was to be without either leaven or honey (v. 11). As used here, leaven and honey typify sin and its corruption. Thus, concerning leaven, St. Paul writes, "Therefore let us keep the feast, not with old leaven, nor with the leaven of malice and wickedness, but with the unleavened bread of sincerity and truth" (1Co 5:8). Christ was without sin (Jn 8:46; Heb 7:26–28), and we are to cleanse ourselves from all sin; for sin has no place in the Christian way of life.

2:13 Salt, a symbol of an indissoluble covenant, was added to this offering. The oil symbolized the Holy Spirit, and incense was a symbol of prayer. Further, "In Leviticus, every gift, unless it is seasoned with salt, is forbidden to be offered as an oblation to the Lord God. Now the whole spiritual meditation of the Scriptures is given to us as salt which stings in order to benefit, and which disinfects, without which it is impossible for a soul, by means of reason, to be brought to the Almighty; for 'ye are the salt of the earth,' said the Lord to the apostles" (Meth).

3:1 The peace offering was not new, but the laws governing it were new—the how, by whom and where it was to be offered. Gn 31:54 provides background for the peace offering: "Then Jacob offered a sacrifice on the mountain, and called his brethren; and they ate bread and drank and stayed all night on the mountain." They dined together in peace. Lv 7:11–34; 19:5–8; 22:21–25 also provide more details concerning the peace offering. Christ Himself is our peace offering (Eph 2:14; Col 1:20), and through Him we are reconciled to God and one another in peace. Through Him we also offer our entire self—body and soul—to God, with whom we find peace (Rom 5:1, 10).

3:3–5 Portions of the animal were offered as a burnt offering to God, but in the new covenant we are to offer all the members of our body to Him in the service of righteousness and holiness (Rom 6:19; 12:1; GrgTheo; Nic).

3:8 The sacrificial animal was to be killed before the doors of the tabernacle of testimony. The blood was then sprinkled all around on the altar. Both statements show the close connection between the altar and the tabernacle of testimony. The altar speaks of the cross, and the tabernacle speaks of heaven. Thus, the cross is connected to heaven, for after Jesus ascended to the Father, He sprinkled His blood on the heavenly altar (Heb 9:11–24).

The Church worships in heaven, for worship is heaven on earth. Thus, the bread and wine of the Eucharist become in a mystery the body and blood of Christ, His very blood sprinkled on the heavenly altar.

3:16 Anyone eating the fat portions of the offered animal was cut off from his people. The fat was considered the best, and the best was to be reserved for the Lord alone. As to the blood, it was never to be eaten. God's response is strong: "I will set My face against that soul who eats blood and will utterly destroy him from among his people" (17:10). Not only is the life of the flesh in the blood, but the blood has been given by God to make atonement for the soul (17:11; see notes on 17:11).

4:2 The sin offering only covered sins committed involuntarily, that is, sins committed in ignorance of the Law (v. 13). In the Law of Moses, no provision was made for willful sins, which are called sins of arrogance: "But the soul who may do something with a hand of arrogance, whether he is native-born or a resident alien, that one is provoking God; and he shall be utterly destroyed from among His people" (Nm 15:30). Willful sins were sins committed with knowledge of the Law. But in Christ all sins are remitted—voluntary sins, involuntary sins, and sins in thought, word, and deed—if there is appropriate repentance.

4:3 A Levitical priest is called the anointed priest. Anointed is the word from which the name Christ is derived. "Moses was the first to make known the name Christ as being especially august and glorious. When he delivered types and symbols of heavenly things, and mysterious images, in accordance with the oracle which said to him, 'Look that you make all things according to the pattern shown you in the mount,' he consecrated a man high priest of God, in so far as that was possible, and him he called Christ. And thus to this dignity of the high priesthood, which in his opinion surpassed the most honorable position among men, he attached for the sake of honor and glory the name of Christ" (Eusb).

The involuntary sin of some individual may have been detrimental not only to himself but also to others. This was especially true of a priest who sinned. "Wishing to show that sins receive more serious punishment by far when they occur in the case of the priest than in the case of the laity, Moses enjoins as great a sacrifice to be offered for the priest as for the whole people, and this amounts to a proof on his part, that the wounds of the priesthood need more assistance, that is, as great as those of all the people together" (JohnChr). The sins of the priesthood under the new covenant also carry as much guilt as those of the entire Church. The priesthood therefore has the awesome responsibility of living a holy life.

4:6, 17 The blood was also treated differently in the variations of the sin offering—those for the anointed priest, the whole congregation, etc. In the case of the priest and the whole congregation, the blood was sprinkled (1) before the veil in the Holy Place, (2) on the horns of the altar of incense, and (3) at the altar of burnt offering. We see this type fulfilled in Jesus, who went into the very heavenly holy of holies with His own blood, and presents it before God continually (Heb 8:1–6; 9:11–13). No one can get closer to God than that.

4:12, 21 The sin offering for the priest and all the people had to be burned outside the camp. When any blood was taken into the holy place, the remains of the animal of the sin offering had to be completely burned outside the camp. Regarding Jesus, this point is precisely made in Hebrews: "For the bodies of those animals, whose blood is brought into the sanctuary by the high priest for sin, are burned outside the camp. Therefore Jesus also, that He might sanctify the people with His own blood, suffered outside the gate" (Heb 13:11, 12). Jesus said, "For if you believed Moses, you would believe Me; for he wrote about Me" (Jn 5:46). Thus, according to His own words, the sin offering in Leviticus is about Himself.

4:13–21 There is such a thing as corporate sin. Here, the whole congregation of Israel sins (see also Nm 15:22–26). This typified the Church in the new covenant. Why? Because God holds his people accountable—individually and corporately—and even if unknown, sin will still have consequences. When sin becomes known, there must be an offering, because the people of God have a responsibility to represent God to the world. Thus, their failure is a disaster to the world around them. Paul says of Israel, "For 'the name of God is blasphemed among the Gentiles because of you'" (Rom 2:24).

4:22–26 There was a distinction of accountability between a private individual's sin and the sin of the political leader or ruler. And though there may be no awareness of sins committed, consequences remain, and ignorance is not an legitimate excuse. Therefore, it is good to pray for "the president and all civil authorities," a prayer said in most all our church services, for at the day of judgment, they will be accountable before God for their sins and the consequences of them for those they governed. This is equally true for all nations, even for a democracy. As St. Paul indicates, rulers are appointed by God, not by the people: "Let every soul be subject to the governing authorities. For there is no authority except from God, and the authorities that exist are appointed by God. Therefore whoever resists the authority resists the ordinance of God" (Rom 13:1, 2).

4:27–35 Though the common people are less accountable before God for their sins, more is said about their individual offerings than those of priest, the entire congregation together, or a ruler. The sin offerings of the individuals make up the greater part of all sin offerings made. Thus, provision must be made for all, even the poorest (see also Nm 15:27–29).

The type here reveals Christ the sinless One as being the offering for sin: "For He made Him who knew no sin to be sin for us, that we might become the righteousness of God in Him" (2Co 5:21). He is accessible to all as an offering—to priest, congregation, ruler, or any individual. One's station in life or wealth is no issue.

5:2, 3 Under the Law of Moses, to touch any unclean thing—the carcass of an unclean animal, or an animal killed by a wild animal, or unclean carcasses of creeping things, or the unclean carcasses of cattle, or any human uncleanness—was sin. This uncleanness was a type of uncleanness relating to both soul and body. Rom 1:23–32; Gal 5:18–21; Eph 5:3–5 list examples of such uncleanness.

Under the new covenant, to live an unclean life in body and soul is contrary to the teachings of Christ (Eph 4:19, 20). Therefore, we must not touch what is unclean, but if we do, we must cleanse ourselves to be acceptable to the Father (2Co 6:17–7:1).

5:6 Involuntary sin committed contrary to the Mosaic Law—such as failing to give testimony regarding an oath heard (v. 1), any uncleanness (vv. 2, 3), sinning with the tongue (v. 4)—required confession, which includes knowledge of the sin and genuine repentance. Under the new covenant, any sin of thought, word, or deed, whether voluntary or involuntary, is to be confessed to God, and He is faithful and righteous to forgive and cleanse the confessor. If we genuinely confess our known sins, He even forgives and cleanses the unknown ones as we walk in the light (1Jn 1:7–9).

The priest would make atonement for the sinner, that is, reconcile him with God. This speaks of Christ, our Great High Priest, who is now in the heavenly holy of holies reconciling the repentant sinner through His precious blood. He cleanses and remits the sins of the repentant.

5:11 Under the Law of Moses, poverty was no hindrance to attaining the remission of sins. Under the new covenant, Christ became poor for our sakes, for poverty cannot keep a person from Him and His salvation (2Co 8:9). But love of riches does (Mt 6:24).

5:15, 21, 25 The sin offering and the trespass offering were similar in that both were offered for transgressing the Lord's commandments. They were distinct in that the trespass offering also included offerings for transgressions committed against one's neighbor. But no special provisions were made for the poor in their transgressions against a neighbor, as was the case with the sin offering. Everyone, whether rich or poor, was on equal footing in this regard. The poor had no more excuse for infringing on the rights of others than the rich.

In this modern era, some believe the poor have the right to steal from the rich, but poverty is no justification for sinning against a neighbor. Nor do the rich have any excuse for transgressions. But God's law is fulfilled through love of neighbor, whether they are rich or poor.

5:24–26 Full restoration was to be made, with one-fifth more added to it. This restoration evidenced at least two things on the part of the offender. It showed genuine repentance toward God and love toward neighbor. With these two things in place, the trespass offering was then brought and the sin atoned for.

Zacchaeus made full restitution to his neighbors, which showed genuine repentance and love on his part. Thus, the Lord said of him, "Today salvation has come to this house" (Lk 19:9). Jesus also, for His part, made full restitution for sins and trespasses plus one-fifth more, through the cross.

6:9 The fire on the bronze altar was to burn continually. The priests were to be sure the fire never went out. Here it was a type of the perpetual offering of Christ in heaven. For Israel, it was the sign of uninterrupted worship of God, based on an animal offered for a burnt offering. In the new covenant, it is the same—the same open door for uninterrupted worship of God and fellowship with Him—but now based on the sacrifice of Christ for our sins as its fulfilled foundation.

6:12–16 The grain offering to be baked is offered as integral to the burnt offering (see ch. 2). The daily morning and evening offerings—both the burnt and grain offerings—were offered together. This action was a type of the work of our hands being offered and made acceptable to God because of the burnt-offering offered with it. God accepts our works, done in the name of the Holy Spirit and because of the work of Christ—but never apart or disunited from His offering of Himself to God as our "burnt offering."

6:16 The people brought their gifts to God through the priest. The priest often received a portion of what was given by the people to God—in this case the grain offering. The priest did not directly receive from the people what was theirs. He received back something prescribed by God of what had been given to God. Even when the priest eats of the offering, he partakes of something belonging to God.

In the new covenant, this is true of the clergy and of all the people of the Church—themselves members of the royal priesthood—when they partake of the food of God, the eucharistic feast. The bread and the wine are given to God and given back to the people as the body and blood of Christ.

6:17–23 Instructions were given regarding specific parts of the sin offering. These were important (1) as types of aspects of our eucharistic worship, and (2) as types of the sanctity with which the eucharistic gifts themselves are treated. At the Divine Liturgy the celebrant proclaims, "The holy things for the holy." It is the eucharistic gifts—the body and blood of Christ—to which he is referring. In response, the people proclaim, "One is holy, One is the Lord Jesus Christ, to the glory of God the Father. Amen." He is the ultimate holy sacrifice, and all of this is pictured in Leviticus.

How meticulous was the care for holy things—so important if we are to keep a clear sense of the holy. In the offering of Christ in the Divine Liturgy, detailed care is taken with every part of the body of Christ, with every drop of the blood of Christ. If the animal offered in the sin offering of the Old Testament was considered so holy, how much more the offering of the Lord Jesus Christ.

6:18 Touching what is holy affects our holiness—our very sanctification. Here we see a profound biblical concept whereby contact with what is holy offers holiness—and to the unworthy, possible condemnation.

This issue deeply affects our understanding of how one is affected by the holy Eucharist, holy icons, holy water, holy oil, holy bread, and all things holy in the life of the Church. Our participation in these things is not merely a remembrance of an historical event, but in spirit and in truth, God works through them to effect a healing within us—a reconciliation to Him and to our neighbor.

7:12, 13 In thankfulness of heart and spirit, we offer to God a sacrifice of thanksgiving—one made worthy because Jesus is our acceptable offering of thanks to God. The word Eucharist means Thanksgiving. In the Divine Liturgy we sing, "A mercy of peace, a sacrifice of praise."

7:15 The flesh of the peace offering of thanksgiving was to be eaten by the priest. This typified eucharistic Communion, in which the worshiper participates in the sacrifice, the sacrifice being Christ Himself. He invites us to eat of Himself: "Take, eat, this is My body broken for you."

7:16–18 No flesh of the peace offering was allowed to remain beyond the third day. To prevent corruption, anything left was totally burned with fire. But in Jesus there is no fear of corruption, for He is the living bread. Thus, having leaven in the bread of the Eucharist is no longer feared.

7:19–22 Cleansing was an essential condition for eating the sacrifice. In the new covenant, the blood of Christ in the Eucharist cleanses those who walk in the light with God: "If we walk in the light as He is in the light, we have fellowship with one another, and the blood of Jesus Christ His Son cleanses us from all sin" (1Jn 1:7).

7:29, 30 The offerer himself was to offer up the gift from the peace offering. In the new covenant, Christ Himself is both the offerer and the gift offered on behalf of the Church. He also accepts the gift of Himself and distributes it to the faithful in the Eucharist: "For Thou Thyself art He who offers and is offered, who accepts and is distributed" (Prayer of the Cherubic Hymn).

8:2 Aaron did not take this honor to himself to be the high priest, but was called by God (Heb 5:4). "So also Christ did not glorify Himself to become High Priest, but . . . [was] called by God as High Priest 'according to the order of Melchizedek'" (Heb 5:5, 10).

8:6 Moses washed Aaron the high priest with water to prepare him for the high priesthood. This washing was a type of baptism. However, Jesus was not baptized because He needed it, but "to fulfill all righteousness" (Mt 3:15), for He fulfilled the righteousness required by the Mosaic Law. Therefore, He was baptized for our sake, "that we might become the righteousness of God in Him" (2Co 5:21).

8:7–9 Vestments were made for Aaron "for honor and glory" (Ex 28:2). For they were patterned after the Great High Priest in His heavenly honor and glory (Ex 25:40; Heb 8:5). Similarly, vestments are essential to worship under the new covenant, for they speak of the Great High Priest in His glory. This is why the vestments of the priest are so grand and beautiful, for they refer to our Great High Priest ministering on our behalf at the heavenly altar.

8:12 Moses anointed the head of Aaron with oil to sanctify him for the high priesthood. This oil typified the Holy Spirit under the new covenant. However, Jesus did not need the anointing of the Holy Spirit to qualify Him as the Great High Priest, for He Himself anoints others with the Holy Spirit. Then why was He anointed with the Holy Spirit at His baptism (Mt 3:16)? First, to identify the Holy Spirit as One of the Holy Trinity, and second, for our sakes, that He might anoint us with the Holy Spirit when we are baptized.

8:14, 18, 22 Aaron and his sons laid their hands on the heads of these offerings. This typified Christ, the Great High Priest, who both offered and was offered for our reconciliation with God (Heb 10:12). For since He is God, He offered Himself. He was also offered by the Father (Heb 9:28) and by the Holy Spirit (Heb 9:14). Therefore, although Christ alone was the sacrifice, the Holy Trinity was involved in the reconciliation of man.

8:15, 19, 23, 24 The blood of the sacrifices was connected with the altar of whole burnt offering and the priests themselves. This typified the Great High Priest, who took His own blood into the heavenly sanctuary to sanctify it for our salvation (Heb 9:23, 24).

8:26 The unleavened bread speaks of Christ as our sinless sacrifice (Heb 7:26). But since He is sinless, in what sense was He made sin for us (2Co 5:21), made a curse (Gal 3:13), forsaken by the Father (Mt 27:46), and made subject to Him (1Co 15:28)? By appropriation and in a relative sense. "For neither as God nor as Man was He ever forsaken by the Father; neither was He made sin or a curse, nor did He need to be subject to the Father. For as God He is equal to the Father and in no way at variance with Him or subject to Him, while as Man He was never at any time so deaf to His Begetter that He should stand in need of subjection. So it was in appropriating our appearance and classing Himself with us that He said these things. For it was we who were subject to sin and curse, because we were disobedient and unhearing and thus forsaken" (JohnDm).

8:30 The anointing oil and the blood were sprinkled on the vestments of Aaron and his sons. This typified the connection between the blood of the Incarnate Son and the Holy Spirit. The entire work of the Holy Spirit is accomplished in and through the Incarnation, for He never bypasses the Incarnation in His workings. Moreover, both the works of Christ in His Incarnation and the works of the Holy Spirit are in the sacraments of the Church. This is why the sacraments save us.

9:2–21 Four offerings were prescribed by the Lord to initiate the tabernacle service: a sin offering, a whole burnt offering, a grain offering, and a peace offering, all in that order. The sin offering speaks of reconciliation with God (Rom 5:10); the whole burnt offering, of the full surrender of a life to God (Rom 12:1, 2); the grain offering, of the works of our hands (Jn 14:12); and the peace offering, of intimate communion with God in which we eat and drink the body and blood of Christ (Jn 6:53–58).

9:16 Worship in the old covenant was to be done according to the prescribed manner. No creativity whatsoever with regard to sacrifice was allowed. Nothing was to be done haphazardly. Quite to the contrary, creativity was prohibited and even punished, as seen in the next chapter. God, not man, set the rules for worship. Communion with God was approached on His terms, not man's. Thus, a priesthood was initiated in Israel, and only those ordained were to officiate at an altar, and not just any willing and able Israelite.

So too in the new covenant. The worship is to be accomplished "decently and in order" (1Co 14:40). Priests (clergy) are to be ordained to officiate at the altar. But amazingly, we live in a day when many professing Christians, claiming to be guided by the Bible, spurn order, even mock it, as though it were ungodly. They even call an order of worship dead. Spontaneity and creativity are exalted as if they were truly life. However, there is no biblical basis for such worship, for this kind of worship is dead in the eyes of the true God.

9:22 Aaron blessed the people using his hand. Priests in the new covenant also bless the people with their hand, using a motion in the form of the cross, for they bless them in Christ's name.

9:23, 24 The glory of the Lord appeared to all the people, and fire came out from the Lord. Therefore, liturgical worship was not a dead worship, for the Lord's glory and fire were seen. Neither is liturgical worship in the new covenant dead. Only people are dead, if they are in sin. But if they are alive in Christ, liturgical worship as prescribed by the Church fills them with the Lord's glory and fire.

10:1, 2 Nadab and Abihu died because they offered strange fire before the Lord, which He had not commanded them. Offerings not prescribed by the Lord are considered by Him to be worthy of death.

"Wherefore it is incumbent to obey the priests who are in the Church, those who, as I have shown, possess the succession of the episcopate, have received the certain gift of truth, according to the good pleasure of the Father. But it is also incumbent to hold in suspicion others who depart from the primitive succession, and assemble themselves together in any place whatsoever, looking upon them either as heretics of perverse minds, or as schismatics puffed up and self-pleasing, or again as hypocrites, acting thus for the sake of lucre and vainglory. For all these have fallen from the truth. And the heretics, indeed, who bring strange fire to the altar of God—namely, strange doctrines—shall be burned up by the fire from heaven, as were Nadab and Abihu" (Iren).

11:2–4, 47 At least two issues relate to the animals: the nature of animals and eating only clean animals. The nature of all animals is good in itself because the Creator is good. He did not create anything evil in itself. This also applies to man, whose nature is good in itself. As Gn 1:31 says, "Then God saw everything He made, and indeed, it was very good."

The Lawgiver said that foods going into the stomach cannot defile a man; rather, the evil proceeding from his heart defiles him (Mk 7:15–23). He said this when the Law of Moses was still in effect. Why then did He declare through Moses that certain animals were clean and others were unclean, and only the clean ones were to be eaten? Whatever various answers may be given, one seems to stand out as especially important: the eating of clean animals forecasts the cleansing of both Jews and Gentiles in baptism to form them into one body, the Church.

Peter's vision in Acts 10:9–16 indicates the inclusion of Gentiles into the Church through baptism: "The earth, then, this is what the linen sheet denotes, and the wild animals in it are those among the Gentiles, and the command: 'Kill and eat,' denotes that Peter must go to them also; and the linen sheet being let down three times denotes baptism" (JohnChr).

12:1–3 Marriage, conception, and birth are honorable in every way: "Marriage is honorable among all, and the bed undefiled" (Heb 13:4). Since these things are true, in what sense do conception and birth relate to uncleanness in the Mosaic Law?

They were symbolic of the meaning of baptism. The water of baptism is the womb into which the old life of sins is buried, as indicated by the seven days (v. 2). The eighth day (v. 3) speaks of the renewal of man's nature in baptism by the Holy Spirit into the world to come. Circumcision on this day is typical of the cutting away of sins by the circumcision of Christ, effected in baptism (Col 2:11, 12).

13:2 Leprosy was the primary type, or symbol, of sin in the Old Testament. Sin does to the soul what leprosy does to the body. As leprosy defiles the body, so similarly, sin defiles the conscience with dead works.

13:3 A person with leprosy was pronounced unclean. Similarly, all sin is unclean in the eyes of God. "God did not call us to uncleanness, but to holiness" (1Th 4:7).

13:9, 10 A person with a leprous infection was brought to the priest for examination. This examination could only determine whether or not he had the disease of leprosy; the priest could not effect a cure. Christ, our Great High Priest, not only examines our uncleanness, but also provides the cure: "There is no creature hidden from His sight, but all things are naked and open to the eyes of Him to whom we must give account" (Heb 4:13), and, "How much more shall the blood of Christ, who through the eternal Spirit offered Himself without spot to God, cleanse your conscience from dead works to serve the living God?" (Heb 9:14).

13:46 Leprosy forced the leper into a way of life outside the camp. This way became a camp to itself. Similarly, the fallen world is a camp to itself, with its own way of life. This way of life is described as the "old man" (Rom 6:6). This old man was crucified with Christ in baptism, and the one baptized is raised up with Christ to walk in newness of life (Rom 6:3, 4). "Newness of life" is described in Eph 4:24 as "the new man which was created according to God, in true righteousness and holiness."

13:52 Just a little spot of contamination on a garment necessarily caused the whole of the garment to be destroyed. Radical action had to be taken with respect to leprosy. The same is to be said of anything contaminated by sin. Jude, the Lord's brother, writes, "And on some have compassion, making a distinction; but others save with fear, pulling them out of the fire, hating even the garment defiled by the flesh" (Jude 22, 23). He seems to have the matter of leprosy in mind, but applies it to sin and its contagion.

14:3 The person desiring cleansing from his leprosy cannot come to the priest. The priest must go outside the camp to the one so diseased and sick. So too, Christ went outside the camp for us: "Therefore Jesus also, that He might sanctify the people with His own blood, suffered outside the gate" (Heb 13:12).

14:6, 7 This was to be done for the one to be cleansed of leprosy. Leprosy may be what King David had in mind when he prayed, "Sprinkle me with hyssop, and I will be cleansed." David was praying for purification from his sin. Perhaps he understood leprosy as a type of sin, as one possible explanation of the reference to the hyssop in Ps 50.

14:10 The cleansing of the leper—his restoration to fellowship with God and the people—was completed on the eighth day. On that day for the cleansed leper, many of the offerings previously prescribed in Leviticus were offered. Here again is a type of Christ—our perfect offering—who bore our infirmities and was raised from the dead on the eighth day. For the leper, Christ is the fulfillment of all that was done and offered on that day. Christ is the one who cleanses all mankind—if man is willing—from the leprosy of sin and all its effects.

14:48 Note that nonliving matter could be redeemed, for atonement could be made for it. Consider again the power of Christ's victory over sin: "the creation itself also will be delivered from the bondage of corruption into the glorious liberty of the children of God" (Rom 8:21).

14:54–57 This summarizes chapters 13 and 14. Note here the critical issue in separating what was infected—person or object—from the rest of the people. Obviously this had to do with protecting the people from the disease.

Leprosy as a type of sin—and its noted consequences—must not escape us. There is good cause for being separated from those who live in willful sin: "A little leaven leavens the whole lump" (1Co 5:6). Clearly, if one chooses to get really close to sin, to tolerate or ignore it, and acts as if it isn't there, one may "catch" it. Though leprosy is not the most contagious of diseases, what a disease with which to gamble!

15:13, 14, 28, 29 Cleansing from emissions seven days after the cessation of the discharge came with the washing with water. On the eighth day, an offering was brought to the Lord. Here again was a type of the washing of water in baptism and the offering of Christ—raised from the dead on the eighth day. In Christ, there is cleansing. And in Christ, the curse of death is overcome. On the eighth day, He trampled down death by death, upon those in the tombs bestowing life.

15:25–30 In light of this passage, consider the account of the woman with the issue of blood, who, though unclean—but because of her faith in Christ—dared to touch the Lord as He allowed it (Mk 5:25–34).

15:31 The tabernacle was the abode of God. No impurity would be tolerated there. Similarly, we are cleansed of sin's impurity by the blood of Christ so as to worship God in the heavenly holy of holies.

16:1 The Day of Atonement was inaugurated, as the text says, after the deaths of the priests Nadab and Abihu (ch. 10). After the sin of these two sons of Aaron, the people had a great need to see God's provision for forgiveness displayed before them.

16:2 This description seems to be the reason Nadab and Abihu died.

16:3 Here begins the description of the annual Day of Atonement, the single most important day in the calendar of ancient Israel. Virtually every detail of this day was a type of the work of Christ and His atonement for our sins. It is rewarding to give careful attention to the specific details of this day.

16:4 Aaron was to thoroughly wash himself in water. Here was not only a type of baptism in general, but also of the baptism of Christ by John the Baptist in the Jordan River. Jesus said to John the Baptist, "Permit it to be so now, for thus it is fitting for us to fulfill all righteousness" (Mt 3:15). The true High Priest was preparing to go into the holy of holies for the sins of the whole world. He only is without sin, so it was not for His own sins that He was baptized, but for the uncleanness of the people for whom He would suffer.

16:5 Five animals were offered on this day, a bull for a sin offering for himself, a ram for a burnt offering, two male goats as a sin offering, and a ram for a burnt offering. Each animal offered provided types of the work of Christ.

16:6 An offering must be made for the priest and his household before he could carry out his duties of the day. So too, the clergy of the Church should never assume they do not need cleansing, for they too—and their households—sin as do others. The role of the clergy is unique, but they are still sinners in need of a sacrifice. It is not only the people who confess themselves to be chief of sinners at every Divine Liturgy—the clergy do as well.

16:8 Both goats together are one sin offering. Aaron cast lots over the two goats. The one on which the lot fell was for the Lord, and was to be slain. The other would be the scapegoat, to be let go into the wilderness. It takes both goats to make clear as one picture what was happening.

Theodoret writes regarding these two goats, "I will however mention the sacrifice in which two goats were offered, the one being slain, and the other let go. In these two goats there is an anticipative image of the two natures of the Savior; in the one let go, of the impassible Godhead, and in the one slain, of the passible manhood."

16:16 Blood from the young bull was sprinkled seven times on the east side of the mercy seat—the symbol of completion. This was to cleanse the holy of holies—to make atonement for the holy of holies itself, because of the impurities of the sons of Israel. Similarly, Christ sprinkled His own blood in the heavenly holy of holies so we might enter there in worship (Heb 9:23, 24).

16:21 The high priest laid his hands on the head of the live goat. In doing so, he laid the sins and transgressions of the sons of Israel on the head of that goat. The goat, an innocent victim, bore on itself all the iniquities of the people. The goat, taken by a designated person, was then sent off into the wilderness.

The picture is clear. As the goat goes into the wilderness, so do the sins and transgressions of the people—never to be seen again. This reminds us of the Psalmist's words, "As far as the east is from the west, / So He removes our transgressions from us" (Ps 102:12). This marvelous reality is part of the foundation of what the Orthodox priest says in the Sacrament of Confession: "And now, having no further care for the sins you have confessed, go in peace."

16:27 The bull of the sin offering and the goat, the blood of which was taken into the holy of holies, both were taken outside the camp and burned. Another type of Christ: "For the bodies of those animals, whose blood is brought into the sanctuary by the high priest for sin, are burned outside the camp. Therefore Jesus also, that He might sanctify the people with His own blood, suffered outside the gate. Therefore let us go forth to Him, outside the camp, bearing His reproach" (Heb 13:11–13).

16:33 The atonement granted this day to the people of Israel could picture only in a limited way—as is true of all types—what Christ would do in His suffering and death. This old covenant offering could not make the conscience of the worshiper perfect (Heb 9:8, 9), though it did cleanse from all sin.

But our Great High Priest, Jesus Christ, entered the heavenly holy of holies, where He sprinkled His sacrificial blood to deal fully with our sins. Today is the Day of Atonement. Today is the eighth day—the day after which there are no more days. In the old covenant, the high priest went into the holy of holies once every year, and necessarily came back out immediately. Not so of Christ. He went into the heavenly holy of holies with His own blood to atone for our sins, and thus to reconcile us with God.

17:1–8 Why this strict law regarding the slaying of domestic animals? It was to prevent Israel from succumbing to the idolatry of the peoples around them—to keep them holy and separate from idolatry. It was quite common among ancient people to offer animal sacrifices to their idols. But Israel was a nation set apart for God alone. Her people were to be a holy people living in fellowship with the true and living God. Idolatry, more quickly than any other cause, would turn them away from God. There was and is but one true God, and He revealed Himself to Israel and gave them instruction regarding their relationship to Him.

Here also is a type of the uniqueness of Christ. At Matins, Orthodox Christians sing, "God is the Lord and has revealed Himself to us. Blessed is He who comes in the name of the Lord." That revelation is Christ Himself. He alone is the atonement for our sins, reconciling us to God. He alone is the Savior. Israel was a type of the Church—the new people of God—and this type expresses how the Church is to be separate from the world.

17:7 Israel had a history of habitually straying into the worship of idols, often labeled by the prophets as spiritual fornication, showing their unfaithfulness to God.

Here is a type of the faithfulness Christians are to have to Christ. The Church is the Bride of Christ. Jesus is the Groom—so noted on Great and Holy Thursday—to whom the Church sings, "The Groom of the Church is fastened with nails . . ." To turn from the Groom to seek union or communion with anyone or anything else is spiritual fornication.

17:8, 9 Any Israelite who refused to bring his sacrifice to the tabernacle of testimony to offer it there would bring about his own destruction. Likewise, anyone who refuses to worship the Word made flesh—for He tabernacled in the flesh—destroys himself. For we worship His holy body (AthanG).

17:11 Because of the supreme importance of blood in atonement for sin, it was imperative that blood be treated with unique respect. According to this passage, the life was in the blood. If blood was shed, a life was given, and the sacrifice was genuine. Not that blood has inherent power to forgive. Rather the blood, with its inherent life, is God's gift to mankind to make atonement for sin. The necessity for atonement was the sacrifice of the innocent life of an animal.

But what was important—lest Israel should become careless about atonement—was not only the blood of the innocent animals sacrificed, but that all animal blood be regarded with respect. All life was sacred and to be respected.

Of course, this understanding concerning blood in the old covenant was but a type of the blood of Christ, which initiated the new covenant. On the night of the Last Supper, Jesus said, "This cup is the new covenant in My blood, which is shed for you" (Lk 22:20). St. Paul says, "In Him we have redemption through His blood, the forgiveness of sins, according to the riches of His grace" (Eph 1:7). Also St. John says, "But if we walk in the light as He is in the light, we have fellowship with one another, and the blood of Jesus Christ His Son cleanses us from all sin" (1Jn 1:7).

17:13, 14 Game animals were another story. They could be killed and eaten anywhere, but still the blood was not to be eaten.

18:1–3 Israel was commanded not to live according to the way of life of Egypt and Canaan, nor to walk in their ordinances. The way of life in Egypt and Canaan was fallen, characterized by sinful passions, especially idolatry. The Scriptures describe this way of life as the "old man" (Rom 6:6), and for the Church, this way of life was crucified with Christ in baptism.

Nor was Israel to walk in their ordinances, for many of these were unjust and ungodly. Examples of these are given in vv. 19–30, for instance the perversion of homosexuality (v. 22) and sodomy (v. 23). In our modern era, laws are being passed favoring homosexuality and abortion. But laws of this kind are an abomination to God (v. 30).

18:4 Israel was to walk in the ordinances of the Mosaic Law. The Church, on the other hand, is to walk in the Law of Christ, a higher standard than the Mosaic (Rom 8:1–4).

18:5 Israel was to keep all the ordinances of the Law of Moses. In so doing they would attain to righteousness, but if they should offend in one point, they would be guilty of breaking the whole of it (Jam 2:10). There was no other way of attaining righteousness under this Law than by fulfilling the whole of it. However, they failed to attain the righteousness required by the Law (Rom 9:31), for such an attainment was an impossibility (Acts 15:10). Their failure required atonement for sins and reconciliation with God.

Christ atoned for their sins and those of the entire world. Through His death and Resurrection He made possible the attainment of righteousness by faith in Him. "Moses showed us the righteousness required by the Law, what kind it is. So what kind is it and in what does it consist? 'The man who does these things shall live by them,' Moses said. There was no other way of becoming righteous in the Law except by fulfilling the whole of it. But this was not possible for anyone, and therefore this righteousness failed them. . . . For that required the fulfillment of all things (for when you do all, then you shall live); but the righteousness of faith does not say this, but what does it say? 'If you confess with your mouth the Lord Jesus, and believe in your heart God raised Him from the dead, you shall be saved, for with the heart one believes unto righteousness, and with the mouth confession is made unto salvation' (Rom 10:9, 10). . . . There is no long journey to go on, no seas to sail over, no mountains to pass, to get saved. But if you be not minded to cross so much as the threshold, you may even while you sit at home be saved. For 'in your mouth and in your heart' is the source of salvation" (JohnChr).

18:6–18 As with most of Leviticus, there are two levels of interpretation to this passage. First, there is the immediate meaning for the people of Israel. Second, there is the type presented in the matter at hand, to be fulfilled later. First then, there were the laws regarding unlawful sexual intercourse (uncover nakedness). The immediate meaning relates to family integrity—the thread on which family members are strung, as jewels, in the relationship of husband and wife as "one flesh" (Gn. 1:24). The laws set forth here were not arbitrary. They clearly reflected the essential created character of marriage and family relationships.

Secondly, at least two types are made clear in looking toward the new covenant. One is that Israel is understood as the wife of God and thus as a type of the Church—as the bride of Christ. The second is that the earthly husband and wife were also a type of Christ and the Church. The relationship between Christ and his people is a substantial union—a union of our human nature with His resurrected and glorified human nature. This is not merely a moral union, a kind of pleasant fellowship with Christ. Baptism into Christ produces a dynamic union of substance with Him. This relationship must be guarded and nurtured with the utmost care. The union must not be corrupted by adding to it that which is foreign. One cannot have a commitment to union with both God and the world and its attachments, as Christ said: "You cannot serve God and mammon" (Mt 6:24). Nothing should be introduced into the relationship of oneness that would in any way profane it or make it common.

19:1–3 The repeated formula, You shall be holy, for I the Lord your God am holy, is of vital importance. First, this is the point of this whole Law. That God is holy does not mean He is a rule-keeper or enforcer. There is no legalism with God. Israel was to be what He is. His people were to be holy as He is. Rule-keeping was not the end in view; being like God was.

This is also the goal of the new covenant. However, in the new covenant things are seen more clearly, because Jesus Christ is the supreme definition of holiness. This huge difference in the understanding of the Law was the source of great conflict between the scribes and Pharisees and Jesus. He was holy. They were rule-keepers who had lost the Rule-giver, and thereby lost their holiness.

The expression, "I am the Lord," "I am the Lord your God," or "I am the Lord their God," appears approximately fifty times in Leviticus. The "I Am" is of critical importance. It is the absolute foundation of the covenant treaty formula used here. Everything in the relationship between God and Israel depended on it. It identified the old covenant Maker. The "I Am" identified Him uniquely as God. At the burning bush, the Lord introduced Himself to Moses as the "I Am" (Ex 3:6, 14).

In Jn 8:58, the identity of the Speaker in Leviticus is made known to be Jesus, who says to the Jews, "Most assuredly, I say to you, before Abraham was, I AM." He is the Son and Word of God, one of the three Persons of the All-Holy Trinity.

19:18 The exhortation, you shall love your neighbor as yourself, here makes its first appearance in the Bible and its only appearance in the Old Testament. It is a summary of what was required in the Law of Moses.

In the time of Jesus, the religious Jews understood this statement to be crucial to understanding the Law. Lk 10:25–37 shows this. A lawyer questioned Jesus about the means of acquiring eternal life. Jesus asked him what was his reading of the Law. The lawyer replied, "'You shall love the LORD your God with all your heart, with all your soul, with all your strength, and with all your mind,' and 'your neighbor as yourself'" (v. 27). The lawyer further asked, "Who is my neighbor?" Jesus answered with the parable of the Good Samaritan, giving us an understanding of this passage in Leviticus.

20:1, 23 The material in this chapter deals with penalties for sins approved by the Canaanites but which God considered abominable—human sacrifice, psychic practices, cursing of parents, unlawful sexual relationships, as well as other matters. Verse 23 gives us the key to understanding this: You shall not walk in the ordinances of the nations I am casting out before you; for they commit all these things, and therefore I abhor them.

20:2–5 Idolatry was the single greatest danger to the people of God. The first of the Ten Commandments is, "You shall have no other gods before Me." Idolatry was often the downfall of Israel.

20:3, 7 God's holy things must not be profaned, for this profanes His name. With this in mind, we pray in the Lord's Prayer, "Hallowed by Thy name." St. Cyprian writes, "After this, we say: 'Hallowed be Thy name,' not that we wish for God to be hallowed by our prayers, but to beseech Him that His name be hallowed in us. But by whom is God sanctified, since He Himself sanctifies? Well, because He says: 'Be ye holy, even as I am holy,' we ask and entreat, that we who were sanctified in baptism may continue in that which we have begun to be."

20:9, 11, 12, 16, 17, 19, 27 The Law of Moses taught that man is only guilty before God by free choice, but not by nature. For man is good by nature; otherwise, we would be imputing guilt to God (Gn 1:31). Thus, man does not possess a sinful nature, for all sins are committed by personal choice. No one can claim he sins out of necessity. All sins therefore are contrary both to God and to nature. The Law also refuted the false notion that man is guilty before God because of Adam's sin. Adam was guilty of his own transgression, as is true of any and all.

20:24 The heart of the issue in all of these laws was the sanctification of the people of God, in distinction to those around them. Why? Because God is the Lord their God, their King. Israel was to be a theocratic kingdom—one ruled over by a gracious and loving God who knew perfectly what was best for His subjects. This is why Israel was to be so separate from all the kingdoms around her and why idolatry was punishable by death, for it was high treason against the kingdom of God.

20:25, 26 The violations of God's law here were (a) against God, (b) against the nation—the theocracy, and (c) against the units that made up the theocracy, namely the family, which included marriage. The nation and the family were God-given, for people to live by and in. If they should turn from God's ways, the inhabitants would suffer greatly. These laws are contrary to the current direction of ideas and legislation regarding the family.

21:1 Jesus Christ holds the offices of prophet, priest, and king, at the same time and forever. The Old Testament is filled with types of Christ with respect to these three aspects of His ministry. In this chapter sundry rules for the Aaronic priesthood are given, along with instructions for the high priesthood. Types of Christ abound throughout, and the priest was a type of Him. Therefore, a higher standard was set for him than for the laity.

21:1–3 The defilement referred to here was the ceremonial defilement of a person resulting from contact with a dead body. The priest was permitted to touch the dead bodies only of certain of his immediate kin. The priest, as a type of Christ, must not be unduly affected by death, since Christ is the One who overcame death. Jesus wept at Lazarus' tomb, but He is the One who overcame the death of Lazarus and who overcame death for all in His Resurrection.

21:14 The high priest was allowed to marry only a virgin, and she had to be from his own people—an Israelite woman. He serves as a significant type of Christ, who is the Groom of the Church. The Church is forever His virgin bride. Christ and the Church form the perfect marriage; thus the types in the Old Testament foreshadow that perfection.

21:17 To serve in the priesthood, one had to be free of physical defects. This was a type of the ultimate offerer, the sinless and spotless Jesus, who Himself is the sinless and spotless offering. Thus, the animal to be offered was to be without spot or blemish. The physical was a type and symbol of the spiritual, and both are important. And lest it be considered cruel or unfair that the deformed were not allowed to offer the gifts of his God, to serve at the altar, let it be understood, quite to the contrary, that hope is given here for all. The priesthood in the Church in the age to come will be open to all in Christ. No one will be deformed, for any deformed in this life will be made completely whole in the world to come. All will participate in the priesthood forever. "To Him who loved us and washed us from our sins in His own blood, and has made us kings and priests to His God and Father, to Him be glory and dominion forever and ever. Amen" (Rev 1:5, 6).

22:1–16 Rules regarding the priests eating certain portions of some of the offerings may appear stringent to the casual reader. However, when the sacrifices mentioned here are recognized as types of Christ, the One who is the perfect sacrifice and makes Himself available to be eaten, these rules make perfect sense.

They offer significant insight into the work of Christ. Jesus said, "Most assuredly, I say to you, unless you eat the flesh of the Son of Man and drink His blood, you have no life in you. Whoever eats My flesh and drinks My blood has eternal life, and I will raise him up at the last day. For My flesh is food indeed, and My blood is drink indeed. He who eats My flesh and drinks My blood abides in Me, and I in him" (Jn 6:53–56). This eating of the sacrifice is not to be done casually or carelessly. Christ is the life and salvation of the world. He is not to be partaken of in any profane manner.

22:17–33 More rules are given for the sacrifice. At every Divine Liturgy in the Church, the priest prays a prayer that includes the following words regarding Christ: "For You Yourself are He who offers and is offered, who accepts and is distributed, O Christ our God." Jesus is not only the perfect priest—as the One who offers—but He is also the perfect sacrifice. Thus, the rules in Leviticus for qualifications of either priests or animals offered to God are important as types of Christ.

The animals offered were types of Christ as the once-for-all perfect sacrifice. John the Baptist spoke of Jesus as "the Lamb of God who takes away the sin of the world" (Jn 1:29). In these Levitical regulations, the people are being tutored ultimately to recognize the Messiah—the Christ—when He would come to be both the offerer and the offered. The rules also speak to the perfection of the sacrifice of Christ. He would be perfect and holy—separated to God alone.

23:1–4 The account that follows is not the entire Jewish calendar. These are the "fixed feasts," where a convocation—a coming together of the people—was required. They focused attention on the Lord by means of the sanctification of time and life. Ex 31:13 says in this regard, "You shall direct the children of Israel, saying, 'See to it that you keep My Sabbaths, for it is a sign between Me and you throughout your generations, that you may know I am the Lord who sanctifies you.'"

23:5 Pascha (or Passover) sanctified Israel's time and life as a sign pointing them to the coming Incarnation of the Lord. In this feast they were to remember Him and what He did for them in delivering them from Egyptian bondage. But more importantly, it pointed them to His coming in the flesh. They were to know Him in the blood of a slain lamb, a sign pointing to Him as the Lamb of God. Yet when He became incarnate as this Lamb, they did not recognize their own Lord who had delivered them from Egypt (Jn 1:11).

Pascha also sanctifies the time and life of the Church each year, but not as a sign. For the Church is sanctified by the fulfillment of the sign. Great Lent, Holy Week, and Easter define this fulfillment, as the Church is sanctified by the death and Resurrection of Christ. Thus, spiritual life is deepened, and God's people come to know the Incarnate Lord more intimately.

23:15–21 The Feast of Pentecost also sanctified the time and life of Israel as a sign pointing to the coming of the Holy Spirit and the harvesting of the Church. It was precisely seven full Sabbaths (forty-nine days) plus one day after Pascha, and marked the completion of the grain harvest. Here, the offering was not a sheaf of grain, but rather baked loaves, signifying the Church.

Thus, Pentecost also sanctifies the time and life of the Church each year, but not as a sign. For Christ is the sheaf, the firstfruit. The loaves are the many from the harvest, those from Christ and in Christ—in the Church. In Jn 12:24 Jesus said, "Most assuredly, I say to you, unless a grain of wheat falls into the ground and dies, it remains alone; but if it dies, it produces much grain." This grain is the Church, harvested by the Holy Spirit. Hence, the ancient Feast of Pentecost prophetically prefigures the birth of the Church through Christ and the Holy Spirit.

At the same time, it also signifies the beginning of the end of the age. On the Day of Pentecost, fifty days after the Resurrection of Christ, the apostle Peter quoted the prophet Joel to explain what was taking place, "'It shall come to pass in the last days, says God, / That I will pour out of My Spirit on all flesh'" (Acts 2:17). The gifts of the Spirit for the age of God's kingdom are given to the people of God while still living in this age, as a foretaste of the world to come.

23:39 There was a feast on the eighth day after Tabernacles began. It was the end date—the leave-taking of the Feast of Tabernacles. It completed the feasts of the seventh month as well. This final day was the consummation, or great high point, of the feast. It was the eighth day—the first day of the season of rest. The day itself was to be a day of complete rest; no work whatever was to be done. The planting, the cultivating, and the harvesting had all been accomplished. Now it was time to rest.

That eighth day was a type of the new creation—the day that never ends—the day "when all our labors and trials are over." It is the day of the establishment of the eternal kingdom of God in its fullness. All is completed. All is renewed. All is at rest. The true New World has begun. It is the fulfillment of the work of Christ for us.

The Feast of Weeks—Pentecost

The Feast of Weeks was the festival celebrated at the beginning of the grain harvest (Ex 34:22). This was the feast at which the Hebrews offered their firstfruits of the harvest to the Lord at the tabernacle. It was one of the three major Jewish feasts, along with the Passover and the Feast of Tabernacles (see Ex 23:14–17; 34:18–23; Dt 16:1–17).

According to Leviticus 23:15, 16, the Feast was celebrated for seven consecutive weeks beginning "the morning following the Sabbath day" of Passover. Thus comes its title, the "Feast of Weeks." Later in the Old Testament this feast became known as "Pentecost" ("fiftieth"), since it was celebrated on the fiftieth day after Passover (see Tb 2:1; 2Mc 12:32).

Pentecost: A Fulfillment of the Jewish Feast

The Jewish Feast of Pentecost was fulfilled as described in Acts 2. On this Day of Pentecost came the outpouring of the Holy Spirit upon the disciples of Christ, as Christ Himself had promised (Jn 14:16, 17). The descent of the Holy Spirit fulfills the Jewish Feast of Pentecost in a number of ways.

1. The reaping of the firstfruits of the grain harvest is fulfilled by the first harvest on the Day of Pentecost, which consisted of the Jews who believed and were baptized. St. John Chrysostom says the Holy Spirit "came down as the keen-edged sickle."
2. The offering of the two "deposit loaves" of leavened bread (Lv 23:17, 18) is prophetic of the ingathering of both Jews and Gentiles (Bede). St. John Cassian says the preaching of the apostles on the Day of Pentecost was "the true bread of the first fruits . . . when five thousand men were filled with the gift of its food" (Acts 4:4).
3. The fiftieth day—seven consecutive weeks following Pascha plus one day—indicates the fullness of time in a mystery, similar to the Christian understanding of the eighth day.
4. The giving of the Law to Moses by the Son of God is brought to completion by the giving of the Spirit (see Rom 8:3–11; Gal 5:3–6; Eph 2:13–18) to the Church.

The Services for Pentecost

The Orthodox services for Pentecost place their emphasis on the descent of the Holy Spirit in all His fullness. His descent means that the Mosaic Law, given by the Lawgiver and honored on the Jewish feast day of Pentecost, is now transcended: "The All-Holy Spirit, who freely distributes gifts to all, has descended and come to earth; not as He formerly had in the Law's dark shadow, shining in the Prophets, but now in very truth, He is bestowed in us through Christ" (Vespers, Thursday after Pentecost).

The worship services for Pentecost repeatedly emphasize how Old Testament prophecies of the Holy Spirit are fulfilled on this day. Two of the greatest of these prophecies are found in the Old Testament readings for this Feast—Ezekiel 36:24–28 and Joel 3:1–5. St. Peter directly quotes the passage from Joel in his exhortation to the Jews on the Day of Pentecost (Acts 2:16–21). A third reading—Numbers 11:16–17, 24–29—relates how the Lord commands Moses to select seventy of the elders of Israel, who, when the Spirit comes upon them, prophesy at the tabernacle. The comment of Moses regarding this event, "Would that all the Lord's people might be prophets when the Lord would put His Spirit upon them" (Nm 11:29), is prophetic of the Day of Pentecost.

A hymn for the Feast of Pentecost declares, "Once, when He descended and confounded the tongues, the Most High divided the nations [Gn 11:1–9]; and when He divided the tongues of fire, He called all men into unity; and with one accord we glorify the All-holy Spirit."

24:1–4 The pure oil was for the golden lampstand that stood in the holy place along with the table of the presence and the altar of incense. Only the priests were to be in the holy place to perform their duties by the light of this lampstand. The pure oil for the lampstand, however, was to be brought by the people. Thus, they and the priests were involved with this light.

Christ is the Light of the world, for He enlightens all. Twice Jesus said He was the light of the world—in Jn 8:12 and 9:5—but He also told His followers they, too, were the light of the world (Mt 5:13).

24:10–15 In the heat of passion, this man reviled and denounced the Lord. "Out of the abundance of the heart the mouth speaks" (Mt 12:34). He reviled the Lord God of Israel and died as the penalty. We must take this situation carefully and seriously to heart. The Lord God of Israel, the Lord Jesus Christ, has a name above every name (Php 2:9, 10). Reviling Him will lead one to much more than physical death. It will lead him to eternal death. Nevertheless, our age is witnessing more and more of this reviling of Jesus as Lord.

25:1 The land was to be left at rest every seventh year. Crops were not to be sown or cultivated. This was a reminder that "man shall not live by bread alone" (Dt 8:3; Mt 4:4).

The person who, without rest, pursues the temporal bread of this life will not pursue the eternal Bread of Life as he or she ought. Jesus taught us to pray, "Give us this day our daily bread," so as to remember that our toil alone does not give us bread. Only with the blessing of God do we partake of daily bread and the Bread of Life, which is eaten in the Eucharist. The land needs rest and man needs rest that he might pursue the true Bread.

25:8 The property a Jew possessed was not his own. It was God's land, given to the individual only as a stewardship (see 25:23). And to preserve this spirit, every fiftieth year the land reverted back to its original owners—rural houses returned to their original families, and people were freed from bondage into which for one reason or another they had come. In this way, no one family could amass great and permanent fortunes in the land, to be passed down from century to century. Everything and everyone belonged to God. The Year of Remission occurred after every seventh sabbatical year, or every fifty years.

The Year of Remission foreshadowed the ultimate fullness of God's kingdom. It was actually the eighth year after the seventh of the sevens, making it the first year of the new cycle. It looked forward to that ultimate "eighth year" after which there is no first again.

Here is the rich foreshadowing of the kingdom of God, wherein all are freed and there is no more bondage. No longer are there any poor or disenfranchised. All are free in Christ. Everyone and all things are at rest. "There remains therefore a rest for the people of God" (Heb 4:9). Some blessings of the coming kingdom are experienced in this age, but all these blessings will be available in the world to come, wherein all things are restored unto the ages of ages (Acts 3:19–21).

25:9 The Year of Remission began on the Day of Atonement when the priest came out of the holy of holies, having sprinkled the blood of the sin offering before the Lord. What a remarkable picture! Restoration and freedom began when atonement was made and the priest came out.

When Jesus our Great High Priest comes forth from the heavenly holy of holies and the last trumpet shall sound at His glorious second coming, then His own will have eternal restoration and freedom from any bondage. Even the earth and all creation shall be renewed. Rev 21:1, 5 says, "Now I saw a new heaven and a new earth, for the first heaven and the first earth had passed away. Also there was no more sea. . . . Then He who sat on the throne said, 'Behold, I make all things new.' And He said to me, 'Write, for these words are true and faithful.'"

26:3 The Law of Moses could only promise blessings pertaining to the comforts of this present life. But the Law of Christ promises in the midst of sufferings on His behalf the blessings of eternal life in the kingdom of God (JohnCas).

27:1 The subject matter of this chapter is quite different from the rest of the book. It deals with voluntary vows made to God not called for in the Law. However, such vows were not prohibited. One could choose to make vows, and if he did, there were terms and conditions governing them.

There is likely little typological value in these vows. Further, no vows are called for in the new covenant. However, some choose to make vows to God. These are not forbidden, though it is important we not imagine that we curry grace with God by making them. Perhaps above all, we must be aware that if we should make a vow to God, we must follow through in keeping it: "When you make a vow to God, do not delay to pay it; / For He has no pleasure in fools. / Pay what you have vowed. / Better not to vow than to vow and not pay" (Ecc 5:4, 5).

The Book of Numbers

Author

Moses is the author of this fourth book of the Pentateuch (Dt 31:9). He kept a list of the stopping places on the journey from Egypt through the wilderness (Dt 33:2).

Date

After the Exodus from Egypt.

Major Theme

God dwells among His people, instructing, sustaining, and guiding them. He never abandons them, in spite of their disobedience. He is setting His chosen people apart from the ungodly nations that surround them.

Background

The journey from Egypt to the promised land was 40 years long. During that time the older people passed away, replaced by a new generation. Though under the able leadership of Moses, they continually grumbled against him. Even his own brother, Aaron, and his sister, Miriam, turned against him. Moses was preparing the Israelites for what they would encounter when they crossed over the Jordan to claim the land God promised them.

First Census of Israel

1 Now the Lord spoke to Moses in the Wilderness of Sinai in the tabernacle of testimony, on the first day of the second month in the second year after they came out of the land of Egypt, saying, 2 "Take a census of all the congregation of the children of Israel, and according to their families by their fathers' houses, and according to the number of names by their head count, every male 3 from twenty years old and above—all who go out with the army of Israel. You and Aaron shall number them by their armies. 4 With you there shall be each man according to the tribe of each ruler and their fathers' houses. 5 These are the names of the men who shall stand with you: from Reuben, Elizur the son of Shedeur; 6 from Simeon, Shelumiel the son of Zurishaddai; 7 from Judah, Nahshon the son of Amminadab; 8 from Issachar, Nethanel the son of Zuar; 9 from Zebulun, Eliab the son of Helon; 10 from the sons of Joseph: from Ephraim, Elishama the son of Ammihud; from Manasseh, Gamaliel the son of Pedahzur; 11 from Benjamin, Abidan the son of Gideoni; 12 from Dan, Ahiezer the son of Ammishaddai; 13 from Asher, Pagiel the son of Ocran; 14 from Gad, Eliasaph the son of Deuel; 15 from Naphtali, Ahira the son of Enan." 16 These were chosen from the congregation, rulers of their fathers' tribes and chiliarchs in Israel.

17 Then Moses and Aaron took these men who had been mentioned by name, 18 and they assembled all the congregation together on the first day of the second month in the second year; and they registered their ancestry by families, by their fathers' houses, according to the number of names, from twenty years old and above, every male according to their head count, 19 in the manner the Lord commanded Moses. So he numbered them in the Wilderness of Sinai.

20 Now there were the children of Reuben, Israel's firstborn son, and their families according to their tribes by their fathers' houses, and according to the number of names by their head count, every male from twenty years old and above—all who were able to go out with the army. 21 Their census from the tribe of Reuben was forty-six thousand five hundred. 22 There were the children of Simeon, and their families according to their tribes by their fathers' houses, and according to the number of names by their head count, every male from twenty years old and above—all who were able to go out with the army. [23]Their census from the tribe of Simeon was fifty-nine thousand three hundred. [24]There were the children of Judah, and their families by their fathers' houses, and according to the number of names by their head count, every male from twenty years old and above—all who were able to go out with the army. [25]Their census from the tribe of Judah was seventy-four thousand six hundred. [26]There were the children of Issachar, and their families by their fathers' houses, according to the number of names by their head count, every male from twenty years old and above—all who were able to go out with the army. [27]Their census from the tribe of Issachar was fifty-four thousand four hundred. [28]There were the children of Zebulun, and their families by their fathers' houses, and according to the number of names by their head count, every male from twenty years old and above—all who were able to go out with the army. [29]Their census from the tribe of Zebulun was fifty-seven thousand four hundred. [30]There were the children of Joseph: the children of Ephraim, and their families by their fathers' houses, and according to the number of names by their head count, every male from twenty years old and above—all who were able to go out with the army. [31]Their census from the tribe of Ephraim was forty thousand five hundred; [32]and the children of Manasseh, and their families by their fathers' houses, and according to the number of names by their head count, every male from twenty years old and above—all who were able to go out with the army. [33]Their census from the tribe of Manasseh was thirty-two thousand two hundred. [34]There were the children of Benjamin, and their families by their fathers' houses, and according to the number of names by their head count, every male from twenty years old and above—all who were able to go out with the army. [35]Their census from the tribe of Benjamin was thirty-five thousand four hundred. [36]There were the children of Gad, and their families by their fathers' houses, and according to the number of names by their head count, every male from twenty years old and above—all who were able to go out with the army. [37]Their census from the tribe of Gad was forty-five thousand six hundred fifty. [38]There were the children of Dan, and their families by their fathers' houses, and according to the number of names by their head count, every male from twenty years old and above—all who were able to go out with the army. [39]Their census from the tribe of Dan was sixty two thousand seven hundred. [40]There were the children of Asher, and their families by their fathers' houses, and according to the number of names by their head count, every male from twenty years old and above—all who were able to go out with the army. 41Their census from the tribe of Asher was forty-one thousand five hundred. 42There were the children of Naphtali, and their families by their fathers' houses, and according to the number of names by their head count, every male from twenty years old and above—all who were able to go out with the army. 43Their census from the tribe of Naphtali was fifty-three thousand four hundred. 44This is the census taken by Moses and Aaron, along with the twelve rulers of Israel and their paternal households, each man according to his tribe. 45So the entire census of the children of Israel, with their armies, and from twenty years old and above—all who were able to go out to war in Israel— 46was six hundred three thousand five hundred fifty.

47But the Levites from their father's tribe were not numbered with the children of Israel, 48for the Lord spoke to Moses, saying, 49"See to it that the tribe of Levi is not numbered, nor take a census of them among the children of Israel; 50but you shall appoint the Levites over the tabernacle of testimony, over all its furnishings, and over all things that belong to it; they shall carry the tabernacle and all its furnishings; they shall minister liturgically in the tabernacle and camp around it. 51When the tabernacle is to move, the Levites shall dismantle it; and when the tabernacle is to make camp, the Levites shall set it up. The foreigner who comes near, let him be put to death. 52But the children of Israel shall make camp with their armies, each man according to his own rank, and each man according to his own regiment. 53However, the Levites shall camp around the tabernacle of testimony in the Lord's presence, so there may be no sin among the children of Israel; and the Levites themselves shall guard the tabernacle of testimony." 54Thus the children of Israel did according to all the Lord commanded Moses and Aaron, so they did.

The Leadership and Tribes in Camp

1Now the Lord spoke to Moses and Aaron, saying, 2"Let the children of Israel—each man according to his division and military standard—camp according to their fathers' houses, around and facing the tabernacle of testimony. 3Those camping first and on the east side shall be the division of Judah with their army; and the ruler of the children of Judah shall be Nahshon the son of Amminadab.” 4His army was numbered at seventy-four thousand six hundred. 5“Those camping next to Judah shall be the tribe of Issachar; and the ruler of the children of Issachar shall be Nethanel the son of Zuar.” 6His army was numbered at fifty-four thousand four hundred. 7“Also camping next to Judah shall be the tribe of Zebulun; and the ruler of the children of Zebulun shall be Eliab the son of Helon.” 8His army was numbered at fifty-seven thousand four hundred. 9“All those numbered in the armies from the camp of Judah were one hundred eighty-six thousand four hundred—these shall break camp first.

10“On the south side shall be the division of the camp of Reuben with their army; and the ruler of the children of Reuben shall be Elizur the son of Shedeur.” 11His army was numbered at forty-six thousand five hundred. 12“Those camping next to Reuben shall be the tribe of Simeon; and the ruler of the children of Simeon shall be Shelumiel the son of Zurishaddai.” 13His army was numbered at fifty-nine thousand three hundred. 14“Also camping next to Reuben shall be the tribe of Gad; and the ruler of the children of Gad shall be Eliasaph the son of Reuel.” 15His army was numbered at forty-five thousand six hundred fifty. 16“All those numbered in the armies from the camp of Reuben were one hundred fifty-one thousand four hundred fifty—they shall be the second to break camp. 17Then the tabernacle of testimony shall move out with the camp of the Levites in the middle of the camps; as they camp, so they shall break camp, each one next by regiment.

18“On the west side shall be the division of the camp of Ephraim with their army; and the ruler of the children of Ephraim shall be Elishama the son of Ammihud.” 19His army was numbered at forty thousand five hundred. 20“Those camping next to Ephraim shall be the tribe of Manasseh; and the ruler of the children of Manasseh shall be Gamaliel the son of Pedahzur.” 21His army was numbered at thirty-two thousand two hundred. 22“Also camping next to Ephraim shall be the tribe of Benjamin; and the ruler of the children of Benjamin shall be Abidan the son of Gideoni.” 23His army was numbered at thirty-five thousand four hundred. 24“All those numbered in their armies from the camp of Ephraim were one hundred eight thousand one hundred—they shall be the third to break camp. 25On the north side shall be the division of the camp of Dan with their army; and the ruler of the children of Dan shall be Ahiezer the son of Ammishaddai.” 26His army was numbered at sixty-two thousand seven hundred. 27“Those camping next to Dan shall be the tribe of Asher; and the ruler of the children of Asher shall be Pagiel the son of Ocran.” [28]His army was numbered at forty-one thousand five hundred. [29]“Also camping next to Dan shall be the tribe of Naphtali; and the ruler of the children of Naphtali shall be Ahira the son of Enan.” [30]His army was numbered at fifty-three thousand four hundred. [31]“All those numbered in the armies with Dan were one hundred and fifty-seven thousand six hundred—they shall break camp last, with their divisions.”

[32]This numbering of the children of Israel was according to their fathers’ houses. All the numbering of the camps with their armies was six hundred three thousand five hundred fifty. [33]But the Levites were not numbered with them, as the Lord commanded Moses. [34]Thus the children of Israel did all the Lord commanded Moses; so they camped according to their divisions. Thus they broke camp, each one by his family, according to their fathers’ houses.

Numbers 3

Sons of Aaron

[1]Now these are the genealogies of Aaron and Moses when the Lord spoke with Moses on Mount Sinai. [2]These are the names of the sons of Aaron: Nadab, the firstborn, and Abihu, Eleazar, and Ithamar. [3]These are the names of the sons of Aaron, the anointed priests, whom he consecrated to minister as priests. [4]Nadab and Abihu had died before the Lord when they offered strange fire before the Lord in the Wilderness of Sinai; and they had no children. So Eleazar and Ithamar ministered as priests with Aaron their father.

Levites Serve in the Tabernacle

[5]Again, the Lord spoke to Moses, saying, [6]“Bring the tribe of Levi near, and present them before Aaron the priest, so they may minister liturgically with him. [7]They shall perform duties for him and for the children of Israel before the tabernacle of testimony, according to all the works of the tabernacle. [8]They shall also perform duties for all the furnishings of the tabernacle of testimony, and for all the children of Israel, according to all the works of the tabernacle. [9]Thus you shall assign the Levites to Aaron and his sons the priests; they are given entirely to Me from the children of Israel. [10]And you shall appoint Aaron and his sons over the tabernacle of testimony, and they shall guard their priesthood and all the things related to the altar and within the veil; but the foreigner who touches these things shall be put to death."

[11]Moreover, the Lord spoke to Moses, saying, [12]"Now behold, I Myself have taken the Levites from among the children of Israel instead of every firstborn who opens the womb among the children of Israel. The Levites shall be a ransom from them; therefore, they shall be Mine, [13]because all the firstborn are Mine. On the day I struck all the firstborn in the land of Egypt, I sanctified to Myself all the firstborn in Israel, from man to cattle. They shall be Mine; I am the Lord."

Census of the Levites

[14]Furthermore, the Lord spoke to Moses in the Wilderness of Sinai, saying, [15]"Number the children of Levi by their fathers' houses, by their tribes, and by their families; you shall number every male from a month old and above." [16]So Moses and Aaron numbered them according to the voice of the Lord, in the manner the Lord commanded them. [17]These are the sons of Levi by their names: Gershon, Kohath, and Merari. [18]These are the names of the sons of Gershon by their tribes: Libni and Shimei; [19]and the sons of Kohath by their families: Amram, Izehar, Hebron, and Uzziel; [20]and the sons of Merari by their families: Mahli and Mushi. These are the tribes of the Levites by their fathers' houses.

[21]From Gershon came the tribe of the Libnites and the Shimites; these are the families of the Gershonites. [22]Their census, according to the number of all the males from a month old and above, was seven thousand five hundred. [23]The children of the Gershonites were to camp behind the tabernacle along the west side, [24]and the ruler of the father's house of the tribe of Gershon was Eliasaph the son of Lael. [25]The charge of the children of Gershon in the tabernacle of testimony included the overall covering of the tabernacle and the screen for the door of the tabernacle of testimony, [26]and the curtains of the court, and the screen for the gate of the court by the tabernacle, and the rest of all its works.

[27]From Kohath came the tribes of the Amramites, the Izharites, the Hebronites, and the Uzzielites; these are the tribes of the Kohathites. [28]Their census, according to the number of all the males from a month old and above, was eight thousand six hundred, keeping charge of the holy things. [29]The tribes of the children of Kohath were to camp along the south side of the tabernacle, [30]and the ruler of the house of the families of the Kohathite tribes was Elizaphan the son of Uzziel. [31]Their charge included the ark, the table, the lampstand, the altars, the utensils of the holy place with which they ministered liturgically, the screen, and all their works. [32]Now the ruler over the rulers of the Levites was Eleazar, the son of Aaron the priest. He was appointed to be in charge of those responsible for the holy things.

[33]From Merari came the tribe of the Mahlites and the tribe of the Mushites; these were the tribes of Merari. [34]Their census, according to the number of all the males from a month old and above, was six thousand five hundred, [35]and the ruler of the house of the families of the Merari tribe was Zuriel the son of Abihail. These were to camp on the north side of the tabernacle. [36]The appointed duty of the children of Merari included the pillars of the tabernacle, and the bars, the columns, and the bases, and all their furnishings and works, [37]and the pillars of the court all around, with their bases, pegs, and cords.

[38]Those camped in front of the tabernacle of testimony on the east were Moses, Aaron, and his sons, performing the guard duties of the holy place on behalf of the children of Israel; but the foreigner who touches these things shall be put to death.

[39]The entire census of the Levites whom Moses and Aaron numbered by the voice of the Lord, by their tribes, all the males from a month old and above, was twenty-two thousand.

Levites Dedicated, Replacing the Firstborn

[40]Again, the Lord said to Moses, “Take a census of all the firstborn males of the children of Israel from a month old and above, and take the number of their names. [41]You shall take the Levites for Me—I am the Lord—instead of all the firstborn among the children of Israel, and the cattle of the Levites instead of all the firstborn cattle among the children of Israel.” [42]So Moses took a census of all the firstborn among the children of Israel, in the manner the Lord commanded him. [43]Thus all the firstborn males, according to the number of names from a month old and above from the census, were twenty-two thousand two hundred seventy-three.

[44]Then the Lord spoke to Moses, saying, [45]“Take the Levites instead of all the firstborn among the children of Israel, and the cattle of the Levites instead of their cattle. The Levites shall be Mine: I am the Lord. [46]But for the redemption of the two hundred and seventy-three firstborn from the children of Israel who are more in number than the Levites, [47]you shall take five shekels for each one individually; you shall take them according to the holy didrachm, the twenty obols of the shekel. [48]Then you shall give the silver with which the excess number of them is redeemed to Aaron and his sons." [49]So Moses took the silver, the redemption of those who exceeded the number, for the redemption of the Levites. [50]From the firstborn of the children of Israel he took the silver, one thousand three hundred and sixty-five shekels, according to the holy shekel. [51]Then Moses gave their redemption money for those in excess to Aaron and his sons, according to the voice of the Lord, in the manner the Lord commanded Moses. Typology

The Service of the Sons of Kohath

[1]Then the Lord spoke to Moses and Aaron, saying, [2]"Take a sum total of the sons of Kohath from among the children of Levi, by their tribes and the houses of their families, [3]from twenty-five years old and above, even to fifty years old, all who enter liturgical service to do all the works in the tabernacle of testimony. [4]These are the works, the most holy things, of the sons of Kohath in the tabernacle of testimony: [5]When the camp prepares to journey, Aaron and his sons shall enter, and take down the overshadowing veil and cover the ark of the testimony with it. [6]Then they shall put on it a blue leather covering; and on top of this they shall spread an entirely blue cloth, and then insert the carrying-poles. [7]On the table of presentation they shall spread a cloth all of purple and put on it the dishes, the censers, the cups, and the bowls for pouring the drink-offerings; and the perpetual loaves shall be on it. [8]They shall spread over it a scarlet cloth; and they shall cover it with a blue leather covering and then insert its carrying-poles. [9]Then they shall take a blue cloth and cover the lampstand of the light with its lamps, its wick-trimmers, its funnels, and all its oil vessels with which they minister liturgically. [10]Then they shall put it with all its vessels in a covering of blue leather, and put it on a carrying-pole. [11]Over the golden altar they shall spread a blue cloth; and they shall cover it with a covering of blue leather and then insert its carrying-poles. [12]Then they shall take all the vessels for liturgical service with which they minister liturgically in the holy things, put them in a blue cloth, cover them with blue leather covering, and put them on carrying-poles. [13]Also they shall put the covering on the altar and spread a cloth entirely of purple over it. [14]They shall put on it all its vessels with which they minister liturgically there—the fire pans, the forks, the bowls, the cover, and all the vessels of the altar—and they shall spread on it a covering of blue leather and insert its carrying-poles. Then they shall spread on it a blue leather cover, and insert its carrying-poles. After this, they shall take a purple cloth to cover the laver and its base, and put them into a blue leather cover, and then put them on carrying-poles. [15]Then after Aaron and his sons finish covering the holy things and all the holy vessels, when the camp is set to go, then the sons of Kohath shall enter to carry them; but they shall not touch the holy things, lest they die. These are the things in the tabernacle of testimony the sons of Kohath are to carry: [16](the overseer is Eleazar the son of Aaron the priest) the oil for the light, the incense compound, the daily grain offering, the anointing oil, the oversight of all the tabernacle, and whatever is in it, in the holy place with all its works." [17]Then the Lord spoke to Moses and Aaron, saying, [18]"Do not destroy the tribe of the Kohathite families from among the Levites; [19]but do this in regard to them, so they may live and not die when they approach the most holy things: Aaron and his sons shall go in and appoint each of them according to his transport duty. [20]But they shall not go in unexpectedly to watch the holy things, lest they die."

Service of the Sons of Gershon

[21]Then the Lord spoke to Moses, saying, [22]"Also take a census of the sons of Gershon, by their fathers' houses according to their tribes. [23]From twenty-five years old and above, even to fifty years old, you shall take a census of them, all who enter to minister liturgically, to do its works in the tabernacle of testimony. [24]This is the liturgical service of the tribe of the Gershonites, in serving liturgically and in carrying: [25]They shall carry the curtains of the tabernacle and the tabernacle of testimony with its covering, the covering of blue leather over it, the screen for the door of the tabernacle of testimony, [26]the curtains of the court, which are around the tabernacle of testimony, and all the abundance of liturgical vessels, with which they minister liturgically: so shall they do. [27]Aaron and his sons shall assign all the liturgical service of the sons of the Gershonites, according to all their liturgical service and all the things to be carried by them. You shall assign them by name with all the matters to be carried by them. [28]This is the liturgical service of the sons of Gershon in the tabernacle of testimony, and their duties shall be under the authority of Ithamar the son of Aaron the priest.

Service of the Sons of Merari

29 “As for the sons of Merari, you shall number them by their tribes and their fathers’ houses. 30 From twenty-five years old and above, even to fifty years old, you shall number them, everyone who enters the liturgical service to do the work of the tabernacle of testimony. 31 These things to be carried by them are their duties relative to all their works in the tabernacle of testimony:
the capitals of the tabernacle, and its bars, pillars, bases, and the screen. They shall also carry the bases, the pillars, and the screen of the door of the tabernacle, 32 and the pillars around the court with their bases, and the pillars of the screen of the courtyard gate, and their bases, pegs, and cords, with all their vessels and liturgical things; and you shall assign them by name all the vessels they are responsible to carry. 33 This is the liturgical service of the tribe of the sons of Merari, in all their works for the tabernacle of testimony, under the authority of Ithamar the son of Aaron the priest.”

Census of the Levites

34 Thus Moses, Aaron, and the rulers of the congregation took a census of the sons of the Kohathites by their tribes and their fathers’ houses, 35 from twenty-five years old and above, even to fifty years old, everyone who entered the liturgical service for work in the tabernacle of testimony. 36 Their numbering according to their tribes was two thousand seven hundred fifty.
37 This is the numbering of the tribe of the Kohathites, all who were serving liturgically in the tabernacle of testimony, whom Moses and Aaron numbered by the voice of the Lord by the hand of Moses.

38 Those numbered of the sons of Gershon, by their tribes and their fathers’ houses, 39 from twenty-five years old and above, even to fifty years old, everyone entering the liturgical service to do the works in the tabernacle of testimony— 40 those numbered by their tribes and their fathers’ houses, were two thousand six hundred thirty. 41 This was the census of the tribe of the sons of Gershon, everyone serving in the tabernacle of testimony, whom Moses and Aaron numbered by the voice of the Lord by the hand of Moses.

42 Those numbered of the tribe of the sons of Merari, who were numbered by their tribes and their fathers’ houses, 43 from twenty-five years old and above, even to fifty years old, everyone entering the liturgical service for the works in the tabernacle of testimony— 44 those numbered by their tribes and their fathers’ houses were three thousand two hundred. 45 This was the census of the tribe of the sons of Merari, whom Moses and Aaron numbered by the voice of the Lord by the hand of Moses.

46All who were numbered of the Levites, whom Moses, Aaron, and the rulers of Israel numbered, by their tribes and their fathers' houses, 47from twenty-five years old and above, even to fifty years old, everyone entering for the task of works and the works of carrying the things in the tabernacle of testimony— 48those numbered were eight thousand five hundred eighty. 49By the voice of the Lord by the hand of Moses they were numbered, each man according to his works and according to his task; thus were they numbered by him, in the manner the Lord commanded Moses.

The Unclean Are Isolated

1Now the Lord spoke to Moses, saying, 2"Command the children of Israel to put out of the camp every leper, everyone who has an involuntary discharge of semen, and whoever becomes defiled by a corpse. 3You shall put out both male and female; you shall put them outside the camp, so they may not defile their camps, in the midst of which I dwell." 4So the children of Israel did so, and sent them outside the camp; as the Lord spoke to Moses, so the children of Israel did.

Confession and Restitution

5Again the Lord spoke to Moses, saying, 6"Speak to the children of Israel, saying, 'When a man or woman commits one of the sins that humans commit, and actually disregards a neighbor, that soul has committed a trespass. 7Then he shall confess openly the sin he committed. He shall make restitution for his trespass in the capital amount, plus one-fifth of it, and repay the one he wronged. 8But if the man has no close relative to make restitution on his behalf for the trespass, the restitution for the wrong shall go to the Lord for the priest, in addition to the ram of the atonement with which atonement is made for him. 9Every offering that is sanctified among the children of Israel, which they bring to the Lord for the priest, shall be his. 10So the sanctified offerings of each man shall be his; whatever any man gives the priest shall be his.' "

Unfaithful Wives

[11]Moreover the Lord spoke to Moses, saying, [12]“Speak to the children of Israel, and say to them, ‘If any man’s wife commits transgression and disregards and despises him, [13]and someone has sexual intercourse with her, and she conceals it from her husband and keeps it hidden, but she is defiled, and there was no witness against her, nor was she caught— [14]and if a spirit of jealousy comes upon him, and he becomes jealous of his wife, who is defiled; or if a spirit of jealousy comes upon him, and he becomes jealous of his wife, although she is not defiled— [15]then the man shall bring his wife to the priest. He shall bring the gift required for her, one-tenth of an ephah of barley meal; he shall pour no oil on it, and put no frankincense on it, because it is a grain offering of jealousy, an offering for remembering, for bringing sin to remembrance.

[16]‘Then the priest shall bring her near and set her before the Lord. [17]The priest shall take clean running water in an earthen vessel, and take some of the dust on the floor of the tabernacle of testimony and throw it into the water. [18]Then the priest shall stand the woman before the Lord, uncover the woman’s head, and put the sacrifice for remembering in her hands, which is the grain offering of jealousy; and the priest shall have in his hand the water of conviction that brings a curse. [19]Then the priest shall put her under oath, and say to the woman, “If no man has lain with you, and if you have not committed transgression to be defiled while under your husband’s jurisdiction, be innocent from this water of conviction that brings a curse. [20]But if you committed transgression and defiled yourself under your husband’s jurisdiction, and some man other than your husband had sexual relations with you”— [21]then the priest shall put the woman under oath by the words of the oath of this curse; and the priest shall say to the woman, “the Lord make you a curse and an oath among your people, when the Lord makes your thigh rot and your belly swell; [22]and may this water that causes this curse go into your stomach, and make your belly swell and your thigh rot.” Then the woman shall say, “May it be so.”

[23]‘Then the priest shall write these curses in a book, and wipe them off into the water of conviction that brings a curse. [24]Then he shall give the woman a drink of this water of conviction that brings a curse, and it shall enter her. [25]Then the priest shall take the grain offering of jealousy from the woman’s hand, put the sacrifice before the Lord, and bring it to the altar; [26]and the priest shall take a handful of the sacrifice as its memorial portion, offer it on the altar, and afterward give the woman the water to drink. [27]So it shall be, if she is defiled but kept it hidden from her husband, then the water of conviction that brings a curse will enter her, and her belly will swell, her thigh will rot, and the woman will become a curse among her people. [28]But if the woman is not defiled, but is clean, then she shall be innocent and may conceive children.

[29]‘This is the law of jealousy, when a wife, while under her husband’s jurisdiction, transgresses and defiles herself, [30]or when the spirit of jealousy comes upon a man, and he becomes jealous of his wife; then he shall stand the woman before the Lord, and the priest shall execute all this law upon her. [31]Then the man shall be innocent of guilt, but that woman shall bear her guilt.’ ”

Law Concerning Vows

[1]Now the Lord spoke to Moses, saying, [2]“Speak to the children of Israel, and say to them, ‘When either a man or woman vows an extraordinary vow to sanctify himself as one of purity to the Lord, [3]he shall separate himself from wine and intoxicants, and shall not drink any wine and vinegar made from wine, and any vinegar made from intoxicants; neither shall he drink anything made from grapes, nor eat fresh grapes or raisins. [4]All the days of his separation he shall eat nothing that is produced by the grapevine, from seed to skin. [5]All the days of his vow of purification no razor shall come upon his head; until the days are fulfilled for which he vowed to the Lord; he shall be holy. Then he shall let the locks of the hair of his head grow. [6]All the days of his vow to the Lord he shall not go near a dead body. [7]He shall not defile himself even for his father or his mother, for his brother or his sister, when they die, because the vow of his God is on his head. [8]All the days of his vow he shall be holy to the Lord. [9]But if anyone dies very suddenly near him on the spot, the head of his vow shall be defiled; and he shall shave his head on the day of his cleansing; on the seventh day he shall shave it. [10]Then on the eighth day he shall bring two turtledoves or two young pigeons to the priest, to the door of the tabernacle of testimony. [11]Then the priest shall make one a sin offering and the other a whole burnt offering and make atonement for him, concerning which he sinned in regard to the corpse; and he shall sanctify his head that day. [12]He shall sanctify to the Lord the days of his vow, and bring a male lamb in its first year as a trespass offering; but the former days shall be null and void, because the head of his vow was defiled.

[13]‘Now this is the law of vowing: When the days of his vow are fulfilled, he shall be brought to the doors of the tabernacle of testimony. [14]Then he shall offer his gift to the Lord: one male lamb in its first year without blemish as a whole burnt offering, one ewe lamb in its first year without blemish as a sin offering, one ram without blemish as a peace offering, [15]a basket of unleavened bread of fine flour, prepared with oil, and unleavened cakes mixed with oil, and their grain offering with their drink offering. [16]Then the priest shall bring these things before the Lord and offer his sin offering and his whole burnt offering; [17]and he shall offer the ram as a sacrifice of peace offering to the Lord, with the basket of unleavened bread; the priest shall also offer his grain offering and his drink offering. [18]Then the one vowing shall shave the head of his vow at the doors of the tabernacle of testimony; and he shall put his hair on the fire, which is under the sacrifice of the peace offering. [19]Then the priest shall take the boiled shoulder of the ram, one unleavened loaf from the basket, and one unleavened cake, and put these upon the hands of the one vowing after he has shaved the head of his vow; [20]and the priest shall bring these things as a deposit offering before the Lord; they are holy for the priest, together with the breast of the deposit offering and the thigh of the choice portion. After that, the one vowing may drink wine.’ [21]This is the law of the one vowing, who vows to the Lord his gift to the Lord concerning his vow; and the force of his vow is not limited to what he could afford regarding his vow, which he vows according to the law of purity.”

The Priest’s Blessing

[22]Again the Lord spoke to Moses, saying, [23]“Speak to Aaron and his sons, saying, ‘This is the way you shall bless the children of Israel. Say to them (My name shall be put on the children of Israel, and I the Lord shall bless them):

[24]“The Lord bless you and keep you;
[25]the Lord make His face shine upon you, and be merciful to you;
[26]the Lord lift up His countenance upon you, and give you peace.” ’ ”

Numbers 7

The Leaders’ Offerings

[1]Now it came to pass, on the day Moses finished setting up the tabernacle, he anointed and sanctified it and all its vessels, and the altar and all its vessels; thus he anointed and sanctified these things. [2]Then the rulers of Israel, the twelve rulers of their fathers’ houses who were the rulers of the tribes and were in charge of the census, brought gifts. [3]They brought their gifts before the Lord: six covered carts and twelve oxen, a cart for every two of the rulers, and for each one a young bull; and they presented them before the tabernacle. [4]Then the Lord spoke to Moses, saying, [5]“Receive these things from them so they may be used in doing the works of liturgical service in the tabernacle of testimony; and you shall give these things to the Levites, to every man according to his liturgical service.” [6]Thus Moses took the carts and the oxen and gave these things to the Levites. [7]Two carts and four oxen he gave to the sons of Gershon, according to their liturgical service; [8]and four carts and eight oxen he gave to the sons of Merari, according to their liturgical service, under the authority of Ithamar the son of Aaron the priest. [9]But to the sons of Kohath he gave none, because their liturgical service had to do with the holy place, which they carried on their shoulders.

Numbers 8

Arranging the Lamps

1Now the Lord spoke to Moses, saying, 2"Speak to Aaron, and say to him, 'When you arrange the lamps, the seven lamps shall give light in front of the lampstand.' " 3Aaron did so; he arranged the lamps to face toward the front of the lampstand, and lit its lamps, as the Lord commanded Moses. 4Now this construction of the lampstand was solid gold; its stem and corolla were solid throughout, according to the form the Lord showed Moses; thus he made the lampstand.

Cleansing and Consecrating the Levites

5Again the Lord spoke to Moses, saying, 6"Take the Levites from among the children of Israel and consecrate them. 7Thus you shall do to them for their purification: Sprinkle water of purification on them, and a razor shall shave all their body; and they shall wash their clothes; then they shall be clean. 8After this, they shall take a young bull from the oxen, with its grain offering of fine flour prepared with oil, and you shall take a young bull one year old from the oxen for a sin offering. [9]Then you shall bring the Levites before the tabernacle of testimony, and gather together the whole congregation of the children of Israel. [10]So you shall bring the Levites before the Lord, and the children of Israel shall put their hands on the Levites; [11]and Aaron shall set apart the Levites before the Lord as a restitution offering from among the children of Israel, so they may do the works of the Lord. [12]Then the Levites shall put their hands on the heads of the young bulls, and you shall offer one for a sin offering and the other for a whole burnt offering to the Lord, to make atonement for them.

[13]"Then you shall stand the Levites before the Lord and before Aaron and his sons, and offer them as a restitution offering to the Lord. [14]Thus you shall separate the Levites from among the children of Israel, and they shall be Mine. [15]After that, the Levites shall go in to do the works of the tabernacle of testimony. Thus you shall cleanse them and offer them as a restitution offering before the Lord. [16]For they are Mine as a restitution offering from among the children of Israel; I have taken them for Myself instead of all who open the womb, the firstborn from all the children of Israel. [17]For all the firstborn among the children of Israel are Mine, from man to cattle; on the day I struck all the firstborn in the land of Egypt, I sanctified them to Myself. [18]I have taken the Levites instead of all the firstborn among the children of Israel. [19]I have also given the Levites as a restitution offering to Aaron and his sons from among the children of Israel, to do the works of the children of Israel in the tabernacle of testimony, and to make atonement for the children of Israel. Thus there shall be no drawing near of the holy things among the children of Israel."

[20]So Moses and Aaron and all the congregation of the children of Israel did to the Levites as the Lord commanded Moses concerning the Levites; thus the children of Israel did to them. [21]Then the Levites sanctified themselves and washed their clothes; and Aaron presented them before the Lord as a restitution offering; and Aaron made atonement for them to consecrate them. [22]After that, the Levites went in to minister in their liturgical service in the tabernacle of testimony before Aaron and his sons; as the Lord commanded Moses concerning the Levites, so they did to them.

[23]Moreover, the Lord spoke to Moses, saying, [24]"This is what pertains to the Levites: From twenty-five years old and above they shall enter to work in the tabernacle of testimony; [25]and at the age of fifty years they shall cease doing liturgical service. They shall work no more. [26]His brother shall minister liturgically in the tabernacle of testimony, to do guard duties, but he shall not do the works. Thus you shall do to the Levites regarding their duties.”

The Second Passover

[1]Now the Lord spoke to Moses in the Sinai Desert, in the first month of the second year, after they came out of the land of Egypt, saying, [2]“Speak, and let the children of Israel keep Pascha at its appointed time. [3]On the fourteenth day of this month, at eventide, you shall keep it at its appointed time. According to its rule and practice you shall keep it.” [4]So Moses told the children of Israel to keep Pascha. [5]Thus they kept Pascha beginning on the fourteenth day of the first month, in the Sinai Desert; as the Lord commanded Moses, so the children of Israel did.

[6]Now there were men who were unclean on account of a dead man, and so were unable to keep Pascha on that day; therefore, they came before Moses and Aaron that day. [7]So those men said to him, “We are unclean on account of a dead man. Why then are we prevented from presenting the Lord’s gift at its appointed time among the children of Israel?” [8]Moses then said to them, “Stand here, and I will hear what the Lord commands concerning you.” [9]Then the Lord spoke to Moses, saying, [10]“Speak to the children of Israel, saying, ‘If anyone of you becomes unclean on account of a dead man, or is on a distant journey, or is among your families, he shall keep the Lord’s Pascha. [11]On the fourteenth day of the second month, at eventide, they shall keep it. They shall eat it with unleavened bread and bitter herbs. [12]They shall leave none of it until morning, nor break one of its bones. According to all the rule of Pascha, they shall keep it. [13]But the man who is clean and is not on a distant journey, but fails to keep Pascha, that soul shall be utterly destroyed from among his people, because he did not bring his gift to the Lord at its appointed time; that man shall bear his guilt. [14]But if a resident alien dwells with you in your land, he shall also keep the Lord’s Pascha, according to the rule and regulation of Pascha; you shall have one rule, both for the resident alien and the native of the land.’ ”

The Cloud and Fire

15 Now on the day the tabernacle was raised up, the cloud covered the tabernacle, the house of the testimony; from eventide until morning it was on the tabernacle, like the form of fire. 16 So it was always: the cloud covered it by day and the form of fire by night. 17 Whenever the cloud ascended from the tabernacle, after that the children of Israel broke camp; and in the place where the cloud stood, there the children of Israel made camp. 18 At the command of the Lord the children of Israel would make camp, and at the command of the Lord they would break camp. All the days the cloud overshadowed the tabernacle, the children of Israel would encamp. 19 Even when the cloud would continue many days on the tabernacle, the children of Israel would obey God's orders, and not break camp. 20 So it would be, whenever the cloud would overshadow the tabernacle a number of days, at the voice of the Lord they would encamp, and at the command of the Lord they would break camp. 21 So it would be, when the cloud would continue from eventide until morning, and the cloud would ascend in the morning, then they would break camp; and if the cloud would continue a day or a night, 22 or a month, or an abundance of days overshadowing it, the children of Israel would encamp and not break camp. 23 At the command of the Lord they would break camp, and at the command of the Lord by the hand of Moses they would obey the Lord's orders.

Numbers 10

The Two Silver Trumpets

1 Now the Lord spoke to Moses, saying, 2 "Make two silver trumpets for yourself; you shall make them of hammered work; you shall use them to call the congregation and to break the camps. 3 You shall blow the trumpets among them, and all the congregation shall be gathered at the door of the tabernacle of testimony. 4 But if they blow one trumpet, all the rulers, the heads of the divisions of Israel, shall gather to you. 5 Then you shall blow the trumpet signal, and the camps camping on the east side shall break camp.
6 Again, you shall blow the trumpet signal a second time, and the camps camping on the south side shall break camp; and you shall blow the trumpet signal a third time, and the camps camping on the west side shall break camp;
and you shall blow the trumpet signal a fourth time, and the camps camping on the north side shall break camp. They shall blow the trumpet signal when they break camp. [7]Then when you have gathered the congregation together, you shall blow the trumpet, but not the trumpet signal. [8]The sons of Aaron, the priests, shall blow the trumpets; and this shall be your custom perpetually throughout your generations. [9]If you should go to war in your land against the enemy who oppresses you, you shall sound the trumpet signal, and you will be remembered before the Lord, and you will be saved from your enemies. [10]Also in the days of your gladness, and in your feasts, and at the beginning of your months, you shall blow the trumpets over your whole burnt offerings and the sacrifices of your peace offerings; and they shall be a remembrance for you before your God: I am the Lord your God."

Moving On from the Camp

[11]Now it came to pass on the twentieth day of the second month, in the second year, that the cloud ascended from the tabernacle of the testimony. [12]Then the children of Israel broke camp with their household goods in the Sinai Desert; and the cloud stood in the Desert of Paran. [13]So the first ones broke camp at the Lord's voice by the hand of Moses. [14]The division of the camp of the children of Judah was the first to break camp with their army; and over their army was Nahshon the son of Amminadab. [15]Over the army of the tribe of the children of Issachar was Nethanel the son of Zuar. [16]Over the army of the tribe of the children of Zebulun was Eliab the son of Helon. [17]Then the sons of Gershon and the sons of Merari took down the tabernacle and broke camp, carrying the tabernacle. [18]After this, the division of the camp of Reuben broke camp with their army; and over their army was Elizur the son of Shedeur. [19]Over the army of the tribe of the children of Simeon was Shelumiel the son of Zurishaddai. [20]Over the army of the tribe of the children of Gad was Eliasaph the son of Deuel. [21]Then the sons of Kohath broke camp, carrying the holy things (and they would set up the tabernacle, before their arrival). [22]After this, the division of the camp of the children of Ephraim broke camp with their army; and over their army was Elishama the son of Ammihud. [23]Over the army of the tribe of the children of Manasseh was Gamaliel the son of Pedahzur. [24]Over the army of the tribe of the children of Benjamin was Abidan the son of Gideoni. [25]Then the division of the camp of the children of Dan (the last of all the camps with their army) broke camp; and over their army was Ahiezer the son of Ammishaddai. [26]Over the army of the tribe of the children of Asher was Pagiel the son of Ocran. [27]Over the army of the tribe of the children of Naphtali was Ahira the son of Enan. [28]These were the armies of the children of Israel, and they broke camp with their army.

[29]Now Moses said to Hobab the son of Reuel the Midianite, Moses' father-in-law, "We are breaking camp for the place the Lord spoke of, saying, 'I will give it to you.' Come with us, and we will treat you well; for the Lord spoke good things concerning Israel." [30]However, he said to him, "I will not go, but I will depart to my land and to my relatives." [31]But he replied, "Do not leave us, because you were with us in the desert, and you would be an elder among us. [32]It would also be, if you should go with us, that the good things whatsoever the Lord will do for us, the same we will do for you."

[33]So they broke camp at the mountain of the Lord for a journey of three days; and the ark of the covenant of the Lord went before them for the three days' journey, to search out a resting place for them. [34]Now it came to pass that when they broke camp with the ark, Moses said, "Rise up, O Lord! Let Your enemies be scattered, and let all who hate You flee." [35]And when the ark rested, he said, "Return, O Lord, to the many thousands in Israel!" [36]The cloud also overshadowed them by day when they broke camp.

Numbers 11

The People Grumble

[1]Now the people were grumbling evilly before the Lord, and the Lord heard them and was provoked to anger. So the fire of the Lord burned among them and utterly destroyed part of the camp. [2]Then the people cried out to Moses, and Moses prayed to the Lord; and the fire was quenched. [3]So he called the name of the place Burning, because fire from the Lord burned among them.

[4]Now the mixed multitude among them hungered exceedingly; and sitting down, the children of Israel were also weeping, and said, "Who will give us meat to eat? [5]We remember the fish we ate freely in Egypt, and the cucumbers, the melons, the leeks, the onions, and the garlic; [6]but now our soul is dried up; there is nothing before our eyes except this manna." [7]Now the manna is like coriander seed, and its form is like the form of ice pellets. [8]The people would go about and gather it, and grind it on millstones or beat it in the mortar, then cook it in pots, and make cakes of it; and its flavor was like the taste of a pastry prepared with oil and honey. [9]And when the dew descended on the camp in the night, the manna descended upon it.

Seventy Elders

10 Then Moses heard the people weeping throughout their tribes, everyone at his door; and the anger of the Lord was greatly aroused; Moses also was displeased. 11 So Moses said to the Lord, “Why have You maltreated Your servant? Why have I not found grace in Your sight, that You lay the wrath of this people on me? 12 Did I conceive all these people? Did I beget them, that You should say to me, ‘Carry them in your bosom, as a guardian carries a nursing child,’ to the land You swore to their fathers? 13 Where am I to get meat to give to all these people? For they weep all over me, saying, ‘Give us meat, that we may eat.’ 14 I am not able to bear this people alone, because the burden is too heavy for me. 15 If You treat me like this, kill me here and now
—if I find mercy in Your sight—and do not let me see my maltreatment.”

16 So the Lord said to Moses, “Gather to Me seventy men from the elders of Israel, whom you yourself know to be the elders of the people and officers over them; bring them to the tabernacle of testimony, so they may stand there with you. 17 Then I will descend and talk with you there. I will take of the Spirit upon you and put Him upon them; and they shall help you bear the wrath of the people, that you yourself may not bear them alone. 18 Then you shall say to the people, ‘Sanctify yourselves for tomorrow, and you shall eat meat; for you have wept before the Lord, saying, “Who will give us meat to eat? For it was well with us in Egypt.” Therefore the Lord will give you meat to eat, and you shall eat. 19 You shall eat, not one day, nor two days, nor five days, nor ten days, nor twenty days, 20 but for a whole month you shall eat, until it comes out of your nostrils and becomes loathsome to you, because you disobeyed the Lord, who is among you, and have wept before Him, saying, “Why did we ever come up out of Egypt?” ’ ”

21 Then Moses said, “The people I am among are six hundred thousand men on foot; yet You are saying, ‘I will give them meat, so they may eat for a whole month.’ 22 Shall sheep and oxen be slaughtered for them, to provide enough for them? Or shall all the fish of the sea be gathered together for them, to provide enough for them?”

23 Then the Lord said to Moses, “Is the Lord’s hand unable to provide for them? Now you shall know whether or not My word will overtake you.” 24 So Moses went out and told the people the words of the Lord; and he gathered the seventy men of the elders of the people and placed them around the tabernacle. 25 Then the Lord descended in the cloud and spoke to him, and took of the Spirit upon him, and put Him upon the seventy men of the elders; and when the Spirit rested upon them, they prophesied, although they never did so again. [26]But two men remained in the camp: the name of one was Eldad, and the name of the other, Medad, and the Spirit rested upon them. Now they were among those registered, but had not come to the tabernacle; yet they prophesied in the camp. [27]So a young man ran and told Moses, and said, “Eldad and Medad are prophesying in the camp.” [28]Then Joshua the son of Nun, who was near Moses, one of his choice men, answered and said, “Lord Moses, forbid them.” [29]Then Moses said to him, “Are you jealous for my sake? Would that all the Lord’s people might be prophets, when the Lord would put His Spirit upon them.” [30]So Moses returned to the camp, both he and the elders of Israel.

The Quail

[31]Now a wind went out from the Lord and brought birds from the sea that migrate together with quail, and cast them upon the camp, about a day’s journey on this side and about a day’s journey on the other side, all around the camp, and about two cubits above the surface of the ground. [32]Then the people stayed up all that day, all night, and all the next day, and gathered the birds (he who gathered least gathered ten cors); and they spread the meat out to dry for themselves all around the camp. [33]But while the meat was still between their teeth, before it was chewed, the Lord’s anger was aroused against the people, and the Lord struck the people with a very great plague. [34]So he called the name of that place Graves of Lust, because there they buried the people who lusted. [35]Then the people broke camp to go to Hazeroth, and they camped at Hazeroth.

Numbers 12

Miriam Is Disciplined

[1]Now Miriam and Aaron spoke against Moses because of the Ethiopian woman whom he married; for he married an Ethiopian woman. [2]So they said, “Has the Lord indeed spoken only through Moses? Has He not spoken through us also?” But the Lord heard it. [3](Now the man Moses was very meek, more than all men on the face of the earth.) [4]Suddenly the Lord said to Moses, Aaron, and Miriam, “Come out, you three, to the tabernacle of testimony.” So the three came out to the tabernacle of testimony. [5]Then the Lord descended in the pillar of cloud, and stood upon the door of the tabernacle of testimony; and He called Aaron and Miriam, and both went forward. 6Then He said, “Hear now My words: Should a prophet of yours belong to the Lord, I would make Myself known to him in a vision; I would speak to him in a dream. 7Not so with My servant Moses; He is faithful in all My house. 8I speak with him face to face, even in visible form, and not in obscure sayings; and he saw the Lord’s glory. Why then were you not afraid to speak against My servant Moses?” 9So the Lord’s anger was aroused against them, and He departed.

10But when the cloud departed from the tabernacle, suddenly Miriam became leprous, as white as snow. Then Aaron turned toward Miriam, and there she was, a leper. 11So Aaron said to Moses, “Oh, my lord, I beg you, do not lay an extra charge of sin on us, because we were ignorant, and did not know we sinned. 12Do not let her be as one dead, like a miscarriage with its flesh half consumed.” 13So Moses cried out to the Lord, saying, “Heal her, I beg you, O God.” 14Then the Lord said to Moses, “If her father had but spit in her face, would she not be shamed seven days? Let her be shut out of the camp seven days, and afterward let her enter.” 15So Miriam was shut out of the camp seven days, and the people did not break camp till Miriam was cleansed.

16After this, the people broke camp at Hazeroth, and camped in the Desert of Paran.

The Spies

1Now the Lord spoke to Moses, saying, 2“Send men to spy out the land of Canaan, which I am giving to the children of Israel; from each tribe of their fathers you shall send a man, every one a ruler among them.” 3So Moses sent them from the Desert of Paran at the Lord’s voice, and all the men were rulers of the children of Israel. 4Now these were their names: from the tribe of Reuben, Shammua the son of Zaccur; 5from the tribe of Simeon, Shaphat the son of Hori; 6from the tribe of Judah, Caleb the son of Jephunneh; 7from the tribe of Issachar, Igal the son of Joseph; 8from the tribe of Ephraim, Hoshea the son of Nun; 9from the tribe of Benjamin, Palti the son of Raphu; 10from the tribe of Zebulun, Gaddiel the son of Sodi; 11from the tribe of

Joseph, that is, from the tribe of Manasseh, Gaddi the son of Susi; 12from the tribe of Dan, Ammiel the son of Gemalli; 13from the tribe of Asher, Sethur the son of Michael; 14from the tribe of Naphtali, Nahbi the son of Vophsi; 15from the tribe of Gad, Geuel the son of Machi. 16These are the names of the men Moses sent to spy out the land. Now Moses called Hoshea, the son of Nun, Joshua.

17Then Moses sent them to spy out the land of Canaan and said to them, "Go up to this desert, and go up to the mountain; 18and you will see the land, and the people who dwell upon it. What are they? Are they strong or weak, few or many? 19Also, what is the land they dwell in? Is it good or bad? Then too, what about the cities they inhabit? Are they walled or unwalled? 20Then again, what about the ground? Is it fertile or neglected? Are there trees on it? Persevere, and you shall receive some of the fruits of the land." Now the days were the days of spring, the forerunner of the grapes. 21So they went up and spied out the land from the Desert of Zin as far as Rehob, near the entrance of Hamath. 22Then they went up through the desert and came to Hebron; Ahiman, Sheshai, and Talmai, the descendants of Anak, were there. (Now Hebron was built seven years before Zoan in Egypt.) 23Then they came to the Valley of Eshcol and surveyed it, and cut down a branch there with one cluster of grapes; they carried it between two of them on a pole. They also brought some of the pomegranates and figs. 24The place was called the Valley of Eshcol because of the cluster the sons of Israel cut down there.

25Then they returned from spying out the land after forty days. 26Now they departed and came back to Moses and Aaron and to all the congregation of the children of Israel in the Desert of Paran, at Kadesh; they brought back word to them and to all the congregation, and showed them the fruit of the land. 27Then they told him and said, "We went to the land where you sent us. It truly flows with milk and honey, and this is its fruit. 28Nevertheless, the people who dwell in the land are strong; the cities are fortified and very large; moreover we saw the descendants of Anak there. 29The Amalekites dwell in the land toward the south; the Hittites, the Evites, the Jebusites, and the Amorites dwell in the mountains; and the Canaanites dwell by the sea and along the banks of the Jordan." 30Then Caleb quieted the people towards Moses, and said to him, "No, but let us go up at once and take possession of it, for we are well able to overcome them." 31But the men who went up with him said, "We are not going up, for we are unable to go up against them, because they are stronger than we." 32So they instilled a terror for the land which they spied out among the children of Israel, saying, “The land through which we went as spies is a land that devours its inhabitants, and all the people we saw in it are men of great stature. 33There we saw the giants; and we seemed like grasshoppers to them, but so we actually were.”

The People Murmur

1Now all the congregation lifted up their voices and cried, and the people wept that night. 2All the children of Israel were murmuring against Moses and Aaron, and the whole congregation said to them, “Would we had died in the land of Egypt, or in this desert. 3Why did the Lord bring us to this land to fall in war? Our wives and children shall be plundered. It is better for us to return to Egypt.” 4So they said to one another, “Let us select a ruler and return to Egypt.”

5Then Moses and Aaron fell on their faces before all the congregation of the children of Israel. 6But Joshua the son of Nun and Caleb the son of Jephunneh, who were among those who spied out the land, tore their clothes; 7and they spoke to all the congregation of the children of Israel, saying, “The land we passed through to spy out is an extremely good land. 8Since the Lord chooses us, He will bring us into this land and give it to us, ‘a land that flows with milk and honey.’ 9But do not apostatize from the Lord, nor fear the people of the land, for they are our food; their time has come and gone, but the Lord is with us. Do not fear them.” 10Then all the congregation said to stone them with stones. Now the glory of the Lord appeared in the cloud upon the tabernacle of testimony before all the children of Israel.

Moses Intercedes

11Then the Lord said to Moses, “How long will these people provoke Me? How long will they not believe Me, with all the signs I performed among them? 12I will strike them with death and destroy them, and I will make you and your father’s house into a great and more numerous nation than this one.” 13Then Moses said to the Lord, “But the Egyptians will hear it for by Your might You brought these people up from among them, 14and all the inhabitants of this land heard that You are the Lord among these people, who is seen plainly with the eyes, O Lord; and Your cloud stands upon them, and

You go before them in a pillar of cloud by day and in a pillar of fire by night.
15Now You would wipe out this people as one man, and the nations that heard Your name will speak, saying, 16‘Because the Lord was not able to bring this people into the land which He swore to give them, therefore He spread them out in the desert.’ 17Now then, let Your strength, O Lord, be exalted in the manner You spoke, saying, 18‘The Lord is longsuffering and abundant in mercy and truth, taking away lawlessness, wrongdoings, and sins; but He would not cleanse the guilty by repaying the sins of the fathers on the children to the third and fourth generation.’ 19Remit the sin of this people according to Your great mercy, as You were merciful to them from Egypt even until now.”

20Again the Lord said to Moses, “I am merciful to them according to your word; 21but truly, as I live, and My name lives, and all the earth shall be filled with the glory of the Lord; 22assuredly, all the men who are seeing My glory and signs, which I did in Egypt and in this desert, and put Me to the test now these ten times, and did not heed My voice, 23they certainly shall not see the land I swore to their fathers; but their children who are here with Me and do not know good nor evil, every inexperienced youngster, to these I shall give the land; however, all those who provoked Me shall not see it. 24Now My servant Caleb, because he has a different spirit in him and followed Me fully,
I will bring him into the land where he went, and his seed shall inherit it.
25Now the Amalekites and the Canaanites dwell in the valley; tomorrow, turn and depart for the desert by the way of the Red Sea.”

The Murmurers Are Punished

26Moreover the Lord spoke to Moses and Aaron, saying, 27“How long shall I bear with this evil congregation who murmur against Me? I heard the murmuring the children of Israel make against Me. 28Say to them, ‘As I live, says the Lord, surely in the manner you spoke in My hearing, so I will do to you: 29your bodies shall fall in this desert, and all your census, who were numbered from twenty years old and above, as many as murmured against Me; 30and you shall not enter the land upon which I stretched out My hand that you might settle upon it, except for Caleb the son of Jephunneh and Joshua the son of Nun; 31but your children, whom you said would be plunder,
I will bring them into the land, and they shall inherit the land from which you apostatized. 32But your bodies shall fall in this desert; 33however, your sons shall be shepherds in the desert forty years, and shall bear your fornication until your bodies are consumed in the desert. [34]According to the number of the days you spied out the land, forty days, for each day you shall bear your guilt one year, namely forty years, and you shall know My fierce anger. [35]I the Lord have spoken; surely I will do so to all this evil congregation gathered together against Me. In this desert they shall be utterly destroyed, and there they shall die.' " [36]Now the men Moses sent to spy out the land, and who when they returned murmured against him to the congregation by bringing an evil report of the land, [37]those very men who spoke evil words against the land died by the plague before the Lord. [38]But Joshua the son of Nun and Caleb the son of Jephunneh remained alive, of the men who went to spy out the land.

The First Invasion Fails

[39]Then Moses told these words to all the children of Israel, and the people mourned exceedingly. [40]But they rose early in the morning and went up to the top of the mountain, saying, "Here we are, and we will go up to the place the Lord spoke about, for we sinned." [41]So Moses said, "Now why do you transgress the word of the Lord? For this will not be easy for you. [42]Do not go up, for the Lord is not with you, and you shall fall before the face of your enemies. [43]For the Amalekites and the Canaanites are there before you, and you shall fall by the sword; because you have turned away from and disobeyed the Lord, the Lord will not be among you." [44]But they rebelled and went up to the mountaintop; nevertheless, neither the ark of the covenant of the Lord nor Moses moved from the camp. [45]Then the Amalekites and the Canaanites who dwelt in that mountain came down and attacked them, and turned them back and cut them down as far as Hormah. Then they returned to the camp.

Numbers 15

Laws Surrounding Grain and Drink Offerings

[1]Now the Lord spoke to Moses, saying, [2]"Speak to the children of Israel and say to them, 'When you come into the land you are to inhabit, which I am giving to you, [3]and you make a whole burnt offering to the Lord, a whole burnt offering or a sacrifice, to make a great vow or a freewill offering, or in your feasts, to make a sweet aroma to the Lord, from the oxen or the sheep,

4then he who brings his gifts to the Lord shall bring a grain offering of one-tenth of an ephah of fine flour prepared with one-fourth of a hin of oil; 5and one-fourth of a hin of wine as a drink offering you shall offer with the whole burnt offering or the sacrifice, and for each male lamb you shall offer the same amounts, a burnt offering as a sweet aroma to the Lord. 6Or for a ram, when you offer it either as a whole burnt offering or a sacrifice, you shall offer with it a grain offering of two-tenths of an ephah of fine flour prepared with one-third of a hin of oil; 7and as a drink offering you shall offer one-third of a hin of wine as a sweet aroma to the Lord. 8Now if from the oxen you offer a whole burnt offering or a sacrifice, to make a great vow or a peace offering to the Lord, 9then one shall offer with the young bull a grain offering of three-tenths of an ephah of fine flour, prepared with half a hin of oil; 10and you shall bring as the drink offering half a hin of wine as a burnt offering, a sweet aroma to the Lord.

17Again the Lord spoke to Moses, saying, 18“Speak to the children of Israel, and say to them, ‘When you come into the land into which I bring you, 19then it will be, when you eat from the bread of the land, that you shall take away the choice portion for the Lord. 20You shall separate the choice portion of your bread as the firstfruits of the dough, as a choice portion from the threshing floor; thus you shall separate it 21as the firstfruits of your dough, and you shall give to the Lord the choice portion throughout your generations.

Laws for Unintentional Sin

22‘Now when you utterly fail, and do not do all these commandments the Lord spoke to Moses— [23]as the Lord ordered you by the hand of Moses, from the day the Lord ordered you and onward throughout your generations — [24]then it will be, if it happened involuntarily out of sight of the congregation, the whole congregation shall offer one young bull without blemish from the oxen for a whole burnt offering, for a sweet aroma to the Lord, with its grain offering and its drink offering, according to the ordinance, and one male kid from the goats for a sin offering. [25]So the priest shall make atonement for the whole congregation of the children of Israel, and it shall be remitted them, for it was involuntary; they shall bring their gift, a burnt offering to the Lord, as their sin offering before the Lord concerning their involuntary sin. [26]So it shall be remitted for the whole congregation of the children of Israel and the resident alien who dwells among them, because all the people did it involuntarily. [27]Now if a soul should sin involuntarily, he shall bring a female goat in its first year for a sin offering. [28]So the priest shall make atonement for the soul who acts involuntarily and sins involuntarily before the Lord, to make atonement for him. [29]As for anyone who may have acted involuntarily, there shall be one law both for the native-born among the children of Israel and for the resident alien who dwells among them.

[30]‘But the soul who may do something with a hand of arrogance, whether he is native-born or a resident alien, that one is provoking God; and he shall be utterly destroyed from among His people. [31]Because he despised the word of the Lord and broke His commandments, that soul shall be destroyed; his guilt shall be upon him.’ ”

Penalty for Sabbath-breaking

[32]Now while the children of Israel were in the desert, they found a man gathering wood on the Sabbath day. [33]So those who found him gathering wood on the Sabbath day brought him to Moses and Aaron, and to all the congregation of the children of Israel. [34]They put him under guard because they had not decided what to do with him. [35]Then the Lord spoke to Moses, saying, “Let the man be surely put to death; all the congregation shall stone him with stones.” [36]So, as the Lord ordered Moses, all the congregation brought him outside the camp and stoned him with stones.

Tassels on Vestments

[37]Again the Lord spoke to Moses, saying, [38]“Speak to the children of Israel, and tell them to make tassels for themselves on the corners of their garments throughout their generations, and to put a blue thread in the tassels of the corners. [39]Then it shall be, you shall have the tassels; and you shall look upon these, and remember all the commandments of the Lord and do them; and you shall not turn aside after your minds and your eyes by which you prostitute yourselves, [40]and may remember and do all My commandments, and be holy for your God. [41]I am the Lord your God, who brings you out of the land of Egypt, to be your God: I am the Lord your God."

Rebellion against Moses and Aaron

[1]Now Korah the son of Izhar, the son of Kohath, the son of Levi, and Dathan and Abiram the sons of Eliab, and On the son of Peleth, sons of Reuben, spoke; [2]and they rose up before Moses with some of the children of Israel, two hundred fifty men of the children of Israel, rulers of the congregation, chosen members of the council and men of note. [3]They gathered together against Moses and Aaron and said to them, "Let it be understood by you that all the congregation are holy ones, and the Lord is in them. Why then do you exalt yourselves above the congregation of the Lord?"

[4]So when Moses heard this, he fell on his face; [5]and he spoke to Korah and all his company, saying, "God examines and knows those who are His and who are His holy ones, and He brings them to Himself; and those He chooses for Himself He brings to Himself. [6]Do this: Take censers, Korah and all his company; [7]put fire and incense in them before the Lord tomorrow, and it shall be that the man the Lord chooses, this is the holy one; and let this be sufficient for you, O sons of Levi."

[8]Then Moses said to Korah, "Hear me, you sons of Levi: [9]Is this a small thing to you, that the God of Israel separated you from the congregation of Israel to bring you near to Himself, to serve the liturgies of the Lord's tabernacle and to stand before the congregation to serve them; [10]and that He brought you near, you and all your brethren, the sons of Levi with you? Are you seeking the priesthood also? [11]Thus you and all your company brought together are against God. Furthermore, who is Aaron, that you murmur against him?" [12]Then Moses sent to call Dathan and Abiram the sons of Eliab, but they said, “We will not come up. 13Is this a small thing, that you brought us up out of a land flowing with milk and honey to kill us in the desert, and set yourself over us as a ruler? 14Even if you should bring us into a land flowing with milk and honey, and give us an inheritance of field and vineyards, you would put out the eyes of these men. We will not come up.” 15Then Moses was very heavy of spirit and said to the Lord, “May You pay no attention to their sacrifice. I have not taken a desirable object from any of them, nor have I harmed any of them.” 16Then Moses said to Korah, “Sanctify your company and be ready tomorrow before the Lord, you and they, as well as Aaron. 17Let each take his censer, put incense in it, and bring his censer before the Lord, two hundred fifty censers; both you and Aaron, each with his censer.” 18So every man took his censer, put fire in it, laid incense on it, and stood at the doors of the tabernacle of testimony with Moses and Aaron. 19Thus Korah gathered all his company against them at the door of the tabernacle of testimony. Then the glory of the Lord appeared to all the congregation.

20The Lord then spoke to Moses and Aaron, saying, 21“Separate yourselves from among this congregation, and I will utterly destroy them at once.” 22Then they fell on their faces, and said, “O God, the God of the spirits of all flesh, if one man sinned, will the Lord’s anger be on all the congregation?” 23Then the Lord spoke to Moses, saying, 24“Speak to the congregation, saying, ‘Withdraw from around Korah’s company.’ ” 25Moses then rose and went to Dathan and Abiram, and the elders of Israel went together with him.
26Then he spoke to the congregation, saying, “Get away from the tents of these callous men. Touch nothing of theirs, lest you perish together with them in all their sin.” 27So they got away from around Korah’s tent; and Dathan and Abiram went and stood at the doors of their tents, with their wives, their children, and their little ones. 28Then Moses said, “By this you shall know the Lord sent me to do all these works, and they are not from myself. 29If these men should die naturally like all men, or if they are visited by the common visitation of all men, then the Lord has not sent me. 30But the Lord will show by a sign from heaven that opening its mouth the earth shall swallow them down with their houses, their tents, and everything belonging to them; and they shall go down alive into Hades. Then you shall know these men provoked the Lord.”
31Now as he finished speaking all these words, the ground split apart under them, 32and the earth opened and swallowed them down with their houses, and all the men with Korah, and all their tents. 33So they and all with them went down alive into Hades, and the earth covered them; and they perished from the midst of the congregation. 34Then all Israel around them fled at their cry, for they were saying, “Lest the earth also swallow us down.” 35Fire also came out from the Lord and consumed the two hundred fifty men offering incense.

Numbers 17

The Copper Censers

1Now the Lord spoke to Moses 2and to Eleazar, the son of Aaron the priest, “Take up the copper censers out of the midst of those burned up, and scatter the strange fire there, so as to sanctify 3the censers of those sinners—even the censers of the men who sinned at the cost of their lives—and make them into beaten plates, as a covering for the altar; so they might be brought before the Lord and sanctified, to become a sign to the children of Israel.” 4And Eleazar the son of Aaron the priest took the copper censers which those burned up had brought, and they added these as a covering for the altar, 5as a memorial to the children of Israel, that no outsider who is not of Aaron’s seed should put incense before the Lord and be like Korah and his insurrection, as the Lord said by the hand of Moses.

6The next day the children of Israel murmured against Moses and Aaron, saying, “You killed the people of the Lord.” 7Now it happened, when the congregation regrouped itself against Moses and Aaron, they hastened to the tabernacle of testimony; and the cloud covered it, and the Lord’s glory was seen. 8Then Moses and Aaron entered the front of the tabernacle of testimony, 9and the Lord spoke to Moses and Aaron, saying, 10“Get away from the midst of this congregation, and I will utterly destroy them at once.”
So they fell on their faces. 11Then Moses said to Aaron, “Take the censer, put fire in it from the altar, throw incense on it, and carry it quickly to the camp, and make atonement for them; for wrath has gone out from the Lord’s face, and is beginning to strike the people.” 12So Aaron took it as Moses told him, and ran into the assembly; and already the plague had begun among the people. So he threw in the incense, and made atonement for the people; 13and he stood between the dead and the living; so the plague ceased. 14Now those who died in the plague were fourteen thousand seven hundred, besides those who died because of Korah. 15Then Aaron returned to Moses at the door of the tabernacle of testimony, and the plague ceased.

Aaron's Rod That Budded

16After this, the Lord spoke to Moses, saying, 17"Speak to the children of Israel and get a rod from them, a rod from each of their fathers' houses, from all their rulers according to their fathers' houses—twelve rods. Write each man's name on his rod. 18You shall also write Aaron's name on the rod of Levi, for there is one rod that shall be given according to the tribe of their fathers' houses. 19Then you shall put them in the tabernacle of testimony before the ark of the testimony, where I will be known to you. 20So it shall be, the man I choose, his rod will blossom; thus I will remove the murmurings of the children of Israel which they murmur against you."

21Then Moses spoke to the children of Israel, and each of their rulers gave him a rod apiece, for each ruler according to their fathers' houses, twelve rods; and Aaron's rod was in the midst of their rods. 22Moses then put the rods before the Lord in the tabernacle of testimony. 23Now it came to pass on the next day, Moses entered the tabernacle of testimony, and behold, Aaron's rod for the house of Levi had sprouted and put forth buds, and had produced blossoms and yielded ripe almonds. 24Then Moses brought out all the rods from before the Lord to all the children of Israel; and they looked, and each man took his rod. 25The Lord then said to Moses, "Bring Aaron's rod back before the testimonies, as a sign to the sons of the disobedient, and let their murmurings cease from before Me, lest they die." 26Thus did Moses; as the Lord ordered him, so he did.

27So the children of Israel spoke to Moses, saying, "Behold, we are utterly destroyed, we are ruined, we are consumed. 28Whoever touches the tabernacle of the Lord dies. Shall we utterly die?"

Numbers 18

Duties of Priests and Levites

1Now the Lord spoke to Aaron, saying, "You and your sons and your father's house with you shall bear the sins of the holy things, and you and your sons with you shall bear the sins of your priesthood. 2You shall also bring your brethren, the tribe of Levi, the tribe of your father, to yourself, and they shall be joined and added to you, and minister liturgically with you and your sons with you before the tabernacle of testimony. [3]They shall perform your guard duties and the duties of the tabernacle, but they shall not come near the holy vessels and the altar, lest they die—they and you also. [4]They shall be joined to you and perform the guard duties of the tabernacle of testimony, and all the liturgical services of the tabernacle; but an outsider shall not come near you. [5]Thus you shall perform the guard duties of the holy things and the altar, so there may be no more wrath on the children of Israel. [6]Behold, I took your brethren the Levites from the midst of the children of Israel, as a gift given to the Lord, to minister liturgically in the tabernacle of testimony. [7]Therefore you and your sons with you shall take care of your priesthood according to all the manner of the altar and within the veil; and you shall minister liturgically as the gift of your priesthood; but the outsider who comes near shall be put to death."

Offerings to Support the Priests

[8]Again the Lord spoke to Aaron, "I give you charge over the firstfruits from all the things sanctified to Me by the children of Israel; and I give these things to you and your sons with you as your share. This shall be an eternal ordinance. [9]So let this be yours from the sanctified holy things of the offerings: from all their gifts, from all their sacrifices, from all their trespass offerings, and from all their sin offerings, and from whatever they return to Me—let all these holy things belong to you and your sons. [10]In a most holy place you shall eat these things; every male shall eat these things. It shall be holy to you.

[11]"This also shall be a firstfruit for you from their gifts—from all the deposit offerings of the children of Israel—I give these things to you, and to your sons and daughters with you. This shall be an eternal ordinance. Everyone who is clean in your house shall eat these things. [12]The firstfruits of oil, wine, and grain, all their firstfruits, whatever they may offer to the Lord, I give these things to you. [13]Whatever first ripe fruit is in their land which they bring to the Lord shall be yours. Everyone who is clean in your house shall eat these things. [14]Every devoted thing in Israel shall be yours.

[15]"Everything that first opens the womb of all flesh which they bring to the Lord, from man to cattle, shall be yours; nevertheless, the firstborn of men you shall redeem, and the firstborn of unclean cattle you shall redeem. [16]Now as for its redemption at the age of one month, the rate is five shekels

according to the holy shekel (that is, twenty obols). [17]But the firstborn of young bulls, the firstborn of sheep, or the firstborn of goats you shall not redeem; they are holy. You shall pour out their blood towards the altar, and offer their fat as a burnt offering for a sweet aroma to the Lord. [18]Their meat shall also be yours, just as the breast of the deposit offering and the right shoulder are yours. [19]Every choice part of the holy things which the children of Israel offer to the Lord, I give to you and your sons and daughters with you as an eternal ordinance; it is an eternal covenant of salt before the Lord with you and your seed with you."

Tithes to Support the Levites

[20]Moreover the Lord said to Aaron, "You shall have no inheritance in their land, nor shall you have any portion among them; I am your portion and your inheritance in the midst of the children of Israel. [21]Behold, I give the children of Levi all the tithes in Israel as an inheritance in return for their liturgical service, whatever they minister liturgically in the tabernacle of testimony. [22]Hereafter the children of Israel shall not come near the tabernacle of testimony, lest they bear guilt and die. [23]But the Levite himself shall minister liturgically in the tabernacle of testimony, and they shall bear their sins; it shall be an eternal ordinance throughout your generations, that in the midst of the children of Israel they shall have no inheritance. [24]For the tithes of the children of Israel, whatever they may offer as a choice portion to the Lord, I give to the Levites as an inheritance; therefore I say to them, 'In the midst of the children of Israel they shall have no inheritance.' "

The Levites' Tithe

[25]Then the Lord spoke to Moses, saying, [26]"Speak thus to the Levites and say to them, 'If you receive from the children of Israel the tithe which I give you from them as your inheritance, then you shall remove from it the Lord's choice portion, a tenth of the tithe. [27]Now your choice portions shall be reckoned to you as the grain from the threshing floor and as the choice portion of the winepress. [28]Thus you shall then remove the Lord's choice portions from all your tithes, whatever you might receive from the children of Israel, and you shall give from them the Lord's choice portion to Aaron the priest. [29]From all your gifts you shall remove the choice portion for the Lord, or from all the firstfruits that which is sanctified from it.' [30]Therefore you shall say to them, 'When you remove the firstfruit from it, then all the rest shall be accounted to the Levites as the produce of the threshing floor and as the produce of the winepress. 31You may eat it in any place, you and your households, for it is your reward for your liturgical service in the tabernacle of testimony. 32Now you shall bear no guilt because of it, for you removed the firstfruit from it. But you shall not defile the holy things of the children of Israel, lest you die.' "

Numbers 19

Laws Concerning Purification

1Now the Lord spoke to Moses and Aaron, saying, 2"This is the injunction of the law, whatever the Lord ordered, saying, 'Speak to the children of Israel, and let them bring you a red heifer without blemish, in which there is no defect and upon which a yoke has never been placed. 3You shall give it to Eleazar the priest, and he shall take it outside the camp to a clean place, and they shall slaughter it before him; 4and Eleazar the priest shall take some of its blood and sprinkle it seven times directly in front of the tabernacle of testimony. 5Then it shall be burned in his sight: its hide, its flesh, and its blood with its dung shall be burned. 6The priest shall then take cedar wood and hyssop and scarlet, and cast them into the midst of the fire burning the red heifer. 7After this, the priest shall wash his clothes, bathe his body in water, and come into the camp; the priest shall be unclean until evening. 8Also the one who burns it shall wash his clothes in water, bathe his body in water, and be unclean until evening. 9Then a man who is clean shall gather up the ashes of the red heifer and put them away outside the camp in a clean place; and they shall be kept in reserve for the congregation of the children of Israel for a water of sprinkling; it is for purification. 10Then the one who gathers the ashes of the red heifer shall wash his clothes and be unclean until evening. It shall be an eternal ordinance to the children of Israel and to the resident alien who dwells among them.

11'He who touches the dead body of any person shall be unclean seven days. 12He shall cleanse himself on the third day and on the seventh day; then he will be clean. But if he does not purify himself on the third day and on the seventh day, he will not be clean. 13Whoever touches the dead body of any person who has died and does not purify himself defiles the tabernacle of the Lord. That soul shall be destroyed from Israel. He shall be unclean, because the water of sprinkling was not sprinkled on him; his uncleanness is still on him.

14‘Now this is the law if a man dies in a house: Everyone who comes into the house and whoever is in the house shall be unclean seven days; 15and every open vessel which has no cover fastened on it is unclean. 16Whoever in the open field touches one who is slain by a sword or who has died a natural death, or a bone of a man, or a grave, shall be unclean seven days. 17So for the unclean, they shall take some of the ashes of the burnt offering of purification, put them in a vessel, and pour running water on them. 18Then a clean man shall take hyssop and dip it in the water, and sprinkle it upon the house and upon all the vessels and the souls who were there, and upon the one who touched the human bone, or the one slain by the sword, or the one who died a natural death, or the grave. 19The clean shall sprinkle the unclean on the third day and on the seventh day; and on the seventh day he shall purify himself, wash his clothes, and bathe in water; and he shall be unclean until evening. 20But the man who is unclean and does not purify himself, that soul shall be utterly destroyed from among the congregation, because he defiled the holy things of the Lord, and the water of purification was not sprinkled on him; he is unclean. 21This shall be an eternal ordinance for you: He who sprinkles the water of purification shall wash his clothes; and he who touches the water of purification shall be unclean until evening; 22and whatever the unclean one touches shall be unclean; and the soul who touches it shall be unclean until evening.’ ”

Numbers 20

Contention at Kadesh

1Now the children of Israel, the whole congregation, came into the Desert of Sin in the first month, and the people stayed in Kadesh; and Miriam died and was buried there. 2But there was no water for the congregation; so they gathered together against Moses and Aaron. 3So the people scoffed at Moses and spoke, saying, “Would we had died in the destruction of our brethren before the Lord. 4Why have you brought up the Lord’s congregation into this desert to kill us and our cattle? 5Why did you also bring us up out of Egypt, to bring us to this evil place?—a place where nothing is sown, neither figs nor vines nor pomegranates; nor is there any water to drink.” 6So Moses and

Aaron went from the presence of the congregation to the door of the tabernacle of testimony and fell on their faces. Then the glory of the Lord appeared to them.

7 The Lord then spoke to Moses, saying, 8 "Take the rod; and you and your brother Aaron gather the congregation together. Speak to the rock before them, and it will give its waters; thus you shall bring them water out of the rock, and give drink to the congregation and their cattle." 9 So Moses took the rod from before the Lord as the Lord ordered him. 10 Then Moses and Aaron gathered the congregation together before the rock; and he said to them, "Hear me, you disobedient ones. Must we bring water for you out of this rock?" 11 Moses then lifted his hand and struck the rock twice with his rod; and water came out abundantly, and the congregation and their cattle drank. 12 But the Lord spoke to Moses and Aaron, "Because you did not believe Me, to sanctify Me before the children of Israel, therefore you shall not bring this congregation into the land I am giving them." 13 This was the Water of Contention, because the children of Israel scoffed before the Lord, and He was sanctified among them.

Rejection at Edom

14 Now Moses sent messengers from Kadesh to the king of Edom, saying, "Thus says your brother Israel, 'You know all the hardship that befell us, 15 how our fathers went down to Egypt, and we dwelt in Egypt a long time, and the Egyptians afflicted us and our fathers. 16 But we cried out to the Lord; and the Lord heard our voice, and sent His Angel and brought us up out of Egypt; now here we are in Kadesh, a city just outside your borders. 17 Let us pass through your country. We will not pass through fields or vineyards, nor will we drink water from wells; we will go along the King's Highway; we will not turn aside to the right hand or to the left until we pass through your borders.' " 18 Then Edom said to him, "You shall not pass through me, lest I come out against you in war." 19 So the children of Israel said to him, "We would go along the mountainous area, but if I or my cattle should drink any of your water, I would pay you. But the matter is nothing; let us pass along the mountainous area." 20 But he replied, "You shall not pass through me." So Edom came out against him with a heavily armed multitude and with a strong hand. 21 Thus Edom refused to give Israel passage through his borders; and Israel turned away from him.

The Death of Aaron

22So the children of Israel, the whole congregation, journeyed from Kadesh and came to Mount Hor. 23Then the Lord spoke to Moses and Aaron in Mount Hor by the borders of the land of Edom, saying, 24"Let Aaron be added to his people, for he shall not enter the land I am giving to the children of Israel, because you provoked Me at the Water of Controversy. 25Take Aaron and Eleazar his son, and bring them up to Mount Hor before all the congregation; 26and strip Aaron of his robe, and put it on Eleazar his son; and let Aaron die there and be added to his people." 27So Moses did as the Lord ordered, and took him up to Mount Hor before all the congregation. 28Then Moses stripped Aaron of his garments, and put them on Eleazar his son; and Aaron died there on the top of the mountain, and afterward Moses and Eleazar came down from the mountain. 29Now all the congregation saw Aaron was dead, and all the house of Israel mourned for Aaron thirty days.

Numbers 21

Defeating the Canaanites

1Now the Canaanite king of Arad, who was dwelling in the desert, heard the news—for Israel came by way of Atharim—therefore, he made war against Israel; and they carried off captives from them as booty. 2Then Israel made a vow to the Lord, and said, "If You will indeed deliver this people into my hand, I will anathematize him and his cities." 3So the Lord listened to the voice of Israel and delivered up the Canaanites; and they anathematized him and his cities. Therefore, they called the name of that place Anathema.

The Copper Serpent

4Then they departed from Mount Hor by the Way of the Red Sea; and they went around the land of Edom, and the people became discouraged on the way. 5So the people spoke against God and against Moses, "Why did you bring us up out of Egypt to kill us in the desert? For there is no bread nor water, and our soul is weary of this worthless bread." 6So the Lord sent venomous serpents among the people, and they bit the people; and many of the children of Israel died. 7Then the people came to Moses, and were saying,
"We sinned, for we spoke against the Lord and against you; therefore, pray to the Lord, and let Him take away the serpent from us." So Moses prayed for the people. [8]Then the Lord said to Moses, "Make a serpent for yourself and put it on a signal pole; and it shall be, if a serpent should bite someone, when the one bitten looks at it, he shall live." [9]So Moses made a copper serpent and put it on a signal pole; and it happened, when a serpent bit anyone, and he looked at the copper serpent, he lived.

From Mount Hor to Moab

[10]After this the children of Israel broke camp and camped in Oboth. From there they broke camp and camped on the other side of the Ar Oboth. [11]Then they broke camp at Oboth and camped at Ije Abarim, which is on the other side in the desert, that is, over against Moab, toward the sunrise. [12]From there they broke camp and camped in the Valley of Zered. [13]From there they broke camp and camped on the other side of the Arnon, in the desert which runs along the border of the Amorites; for the Arnon is the border of Moab, between Moab and the Amorites. [14]Therefore it is said in the book:

"The War of the Lord:
He set on fire Zoob and the brooks of the Arnon,
[15]And He established the brooks
For Er to inhabit near the borders of Moab."

[16]Then from there they went to the Well, which is the well where the Lord said to Moses, "Gather the people together, and I will give them water to drink." [17]Then Israel sang this song about the well:

"Begin the song—
[18]As for the well, rulers dug it;
Kings of nations hewed it in stone,
In their kingly rule, when they were the lords."

Then from the Well they went to Mattanah, [19]and from Mattanah to Nahaliel, from Nahaliel to Bamoth, [20]and from Bamoth to the valley, that is, the plain of Moab, which, from the top of the quarried rock, looks out over against the desert.

Defeat of King Sihon and King Og

[21]Then Moses sent ambassadors to Sihon king of the Amorites with peaceful words, saying, [22]“Let us pass through your land. We will journey on the road, and not turn aside either into a field or a vineyard; we will not drink water from your well. We will journey on the King’s Highway until we pass beyond your borders.” [23]But Sihon would not allow Israel to pass through his borders. So Sihon gathered all his people together and went out to engage Israel in battle in the desert; so he came to Jahaz and engaged Israel in battle. [24]Then Israel struck him with slaughter by the sword and gained dominion over his land, from the Arnon to the Jabbok, as far as the sons of Ammon; for Jazer is the border of the sons of Ammon. [25]So Israel took all these cities, and Israel dwelt in all the cities of the Amorites, in Heshbon and in all its villages. [26]For Heshbon was the city of Sihon king of the Amorites, who fought against the former king of Moab and took all his land from Aroer to the Arnon. [27]Therefore those who speak in riddles say:

> “Come to Heshbon,
> So the city of Sihon may be built and made ready.
> [28]For fire went out from Heshbon,
> A flame from the city of Sihon;
> It consumed as far as Moab,
> And swallowed up the pillars of the Arnon.
> [29]Woe to you, Moab! You were destroyed,
> O people of Chemosh!
> Their sons were sold to be kept alive,
> And their daughters are captives to Sihon king of the Amorites.
> [30]Their seed shall perish from Heshbon to Dibon,
> And their women again stirred up fire over Moab.”

[31]Now Israel dwelt in all the cities of the Amorites. [32]Then Moses sent to spy out Jazer; and they took it and its villages, and cast out the Amorites dwelling there. [33]After this, they turned and went up the road to Bashan. So Og king of Bashan and all his people came to meet them in battle at Edrei. [34]Then the Lord said to Moses, “Do not fear him, for I have delivered him into your hand, with all his people and his land; and you shall do to him as you did to Sihon king of the Amorites, who dwelt in Heshbon.” [35]So they struck him, his sons, and all his people until there was no survivor left him; and they inherited their land.

Numbers 22

Balak Seeks Out Balaam

[1]Now the children of Israel broke camp and camped west of Moab, by the Jordan across from Jericho. [2]So when Balak the son of Zippor saw all that Israel did to the Amorites, [3]and Moab was exceedingly afraid of the people, because they were many, and Moab was irritated because of the children of Israel, [4]then Moab said to the elders of Midian, “Now this congregation will lick up everything around us, as a young bull licks up the grass of the field.”
Now Balak the son of Zippor was king of the Moabites at that time. [5]Then he sent ambassadors to Balaam the son of Beor at Pethor, which is near the river in the land of the sons of his people, to call him, saying, “Look, a people came from Egypt. See, they cover the face of the earth and are settling next to me. [6]Therefore, come at once, and curse this people for me, for they are stronger than we. If we would be able to strike some of them, then I could drive them out of the land, for I know he whom you bless is blessed, and he whom you curse is cursed.”

[7]So the elders of Moab and the elders of Midian departed with their divinations in their hand; and they came to Balaam and spoke to him the words of Balak. [8]Then he said to them, “Lodge here tonight, and I will bring back to you whatever words the Lord may speak to me.” So the princes of Moab stayed with Balaam. [9]God then came to Balaam and said to him, “Who are these men with you?” [10]So Balaam said to God, “Balak the son of Zippor, king of Moab, sent to me, saying, [11]‘Look, a people came out of Egypt, and they cover the face of the earth and are settling next to me. Therefore, come at once, and curse them for me; perhaps I shall be able to strike them and drive them from the land.’ ” [12]Then God said to Balaam, “You shall not go with them; neither shall you curse the people, for they are blessed.” [13]So Balaam rose in the morning and said to the rulers of Balak, “Return to your lord, for God is not allowing me to go with you.” [14]Therefore, the rulers of Moab rose and went to Balak and said, “Balaam is unwilling to come with us.”

[15]Balak yet again sent rulers, more numerous and more honorable than these. [16]When they came to Balaam, they said to him, “Thus says Balak the son of Zippor, ‘I beg of you not to hesitate in coming to me; [17]for I will certainly honor you greatly, and I will do whatever you say. Therefore come and curse this people for me.’ ” [18]Then Balaam answered and said to the rulers of Balak, “Though Balak were to give me his house full of silver and gold, I could not go beyond the word of the Lord God, to make it little or great in my mind. [19]Now therefore, stay here tonight, so I may know what more the Lord will say to me.”

Balaam and His Donkey

[20]Thus God came to Balaam at night and said to him, “If these men are present to summon you, rise and follow them; but the word I speak to you—that you shall do.” [21]So Balaam rose in the morning, saddled his donkey, and went with the rulers of Moab. [22]Then God was very angry because he went, and the Angel of God stationed Himself to divert him from his purpose. Now he was riding on his donkey, and his two servants were with him. [23]When the donkey saw the Angel of God standing in the way with His drawn sword in His hand, the donkey turned aside out of the way, and went into the field. So Balaam struck the donkey with his staff to turn her back onto the road. [24]Then the Angel of God stood in a narrow path between the vineyards, with a wall on this side and a wall on that side. [25]Now when the donkey saw the Angel of God, she pushed herself against the wall, and crushed Balaam’s foot; so he struck her again. [26]Then the Angel of God went and stood in a narrow place, where there was no way to turn either to the right hand or to the left. [27]So when the donkey saw the Angel of God, she lay down under Balaam; and Balaam became angry, and struck the donkey with his staff. [28]Then God opened the mouth of the donkey, and she said to Balaam, “What have I done to you, that you struck me this third time?”

[29]Balaam then said to the donkey, “Because you abused me. I wish there were a sword in my hand, for now I would kill you!” [30]So the donkey said to Balaam, “Am I not your donkey, on which you rode from your youth to this very day? Did I ever show such utter disregard for you?” He replied, “No.”

[31]Then God opened Balaam’s eyes, and he saw the Angel of the Lord standing in the way with His drawn sword in His hand; and he bowed and worshiped. [32]The Angel of God then said to him, “Why did you strike your donkey a third time? Behold, I came out as your adversary, because your way was not acceptable before Me. [33]So when the donkey saw Me, she turned aside from Me this third time. If she had not turned aside from Me, surely I would have killed you by now, and let her live.” [34]Then Balaam said to the Angel of the Lord, “I sinned, for I did not know You met me as an adversary on the road. Now therefore, if my way is not acceptable to You, I will turn back." [35]The Angel of God then said to Balaam, "Go with the men, but only the word I may speak to you, this you must be careful to speak." So Balaam went with the rulers of Balak.

Balak Receives Balaam

[36]Now when Balak heard Balaam was coming, he went out to meet him at the city of Moab, which is on the borders of the Arnon, the boundaries of his territory. [37]Then Balak said to Balaam, "Did I not earnestly send to summon you? Why did you not come to me? Am I not actually able to honor you?" [38]Balaam then said to Balak, "Look, I did come to you. Shall I now be able to say anything? Whatever word God may put in my mouth, this I must speak." [39]So Balaam went with Balak, and they came to unwalled encampments. [40]Then Balak sacrificed sheep and young bulls, and he sent some to Balaam and to the rulers with him.

Balaam's First Prophecy

[41]When morning came, Balak took Balaam and brought him up to the pillar of Baal; and he showed him part of the people from there.

Numbers 23

[1]Now Balaam said to Balak, "Build seven altars for me here, and prepare for me here seven young bulls and seven rams." [2]So Balak did just as Balaam had spoken, and he offered a young bull and a ram on each altar. [3]Then Balaam said to Balak, "Stand alongside your sacrifice, and I will go; perhaps God will reveal Himself to me in a meeting, and I will tell you whatever word He shows me." So Balak stood alongside his sacrifice, and Balaam went on a direct road to inquire of God. [4]Thus God revealed Himself to Balaam, and Balaam said to Him, "I prepared seven altars, and offered on each altar a young bull and a ram." [5]Then God put a word in Balaam's mouth, and said, "Return to Balak, and thus you shall speak." [6]So he returned to him, and there he was, standing alongside his burnt offerings, he and all the rulers of Moab with him. [7]Then the Spirit of God came upon him, and he took up his parable and said:

“Balak the king of Moab summoned me from Mesopotamia,
From the mountains of the east, saying,
Come, curse Jacob for me, and come,
Call down a curse upon Israel.
8How shall I curse whom the Lord did not curse?
Or how shall I call down a curse upon whom God did not curse?
9For from the top of the mountains I see him,
And from the hills I envision him.
Behold, the people shall dwell alone,
And they shall not be reckoned among the nations.
10Who can examine accurately the seed of Jacob,
And number the tribes of Israel?
May my soul die with the souls of the righteous,
And may my seed be as their seed.”

11But Balak said to Balaam, “What have you done to me? I summoned you to curse my enemies, and look, you have blessed them bountifully.” 12Then Balaam said to Balak, “Should I not be careful to speak whatever God may put into my mouth?”

Balaam’s Second Prophecy

13So Balak said to him, “Yet come with me to another place, from which vantage points you may not see him. You will see only a part, but not all, of him; then curse him for me from there.” 14Then he took him along to a lookout point over the land, upon the summit of a hewn rock, and built seven altars there; and he offered a young bull and a ram on each altar. 15Balaam then said to Balak, “Stand alongside your sacrifice, while I go and enquire of God.” 16Then God met Balaam and put a word in his mouth, and said, “Return to Balak, and thus you shall speak.” 17So he returned to him, and there he was, standing alongside his whole burnt offering, and all the rulers of Moab were with him. Balak then said to him, “What did the Lord say?” 18Then he took up his parable and said:

“Rise up, Balak, and hear.
Give ear as a witness, son of Zippor.
19God is not like a man, to be deceived,
Nor like a son of man, to be threatened.

Would He, having spoken, not act?
Or shall He speak, and not stand by it?
20Behold, I receive to bless,
And I shall bless, and not reverse it.
21There shall be no trouble in Jacob,
Nor shall distress be seen in Israel,
For the Lord his God is with him,
And the glorious acts of rulers are in him.
22God brings them out of Egypt,
Like the glory of the unicorn for him.
23For there is no portent in Jacob,
Nor any divination in Israel.
In due time it will be told to Jacob
And Israel what God will accomplish.
24Behold, a people like a lion's cub will rise up
And will exult like a lion.
It shall not lie down until it eats the prey
And drinks the blood of the slain."

25Then Balak said to Balaam, "Neither curse him with curses for me, nor actually bless him." 26So Balaam answered and said to Balak, "Did I not tell you, saying, 'The word God may speak, that I shall do'?"

Balaam's Third Prophecy

27Then Balak said to Balaam, "Come, I will take you along to another place, if it will please God to curse him for me from there." 28So Balak took Balaam along to the top of Peor, which extends into the desert. 29Then Balaam said to Balak, "Build seven altars for me here, and prepare for me here seven young bulls and seven rams." 30So Balak did as Balaam told him, and he offered a bull and a ram on each altar.

Numbers 24

1Now when Balaam saw it was good before the Lord to bless Israel, he did not go as he was accustomed to do, to seek and find omens; but he turned and set his face toward the desert. 2Then Balaam raised his eyes and saw Israel encamped according to their tribes; and the Spirit of God came upon him.

3Then he took up his parable and said:

"Balaam the son of Beor declares;
The man who truly sees declares;
4The one who hears the sayings of God declares;
The one who saw the vision of God in a dream,
A revelation seen by him:
5How beautiful are your dwellings, O Jacob,
Your tents, O Israel.
6Like wooded valleys offering shade,
And like gardens by the rivers,
Like tents the Lord pitched,
Like cedars beside the waters.
7A Man shall come forth from his seed,
And He shall rule many nations;
And His kingdom shall be more exalted than Gog,
And His kingdom shall increase.
8God led Him out of Egypt,
And He has the glorious appearance of a unicorn.
He shall consume the nations of his enemies
And deprive them of their strength.
He shall shoot the enemy with His missiles.
9He lies down and rests like a lion,
And like a lion's cub, who shall rouse Him?
Those who bless You are blessed,
And those who curse You are cursed."

10Then Balak was angry with Balaam, and he struck his hands together; and Balak said to Balaam, "I summoned you to curse my enemy, and look, you actually blessed him for a third time. 11Now therefore, flee to your place. I said I would honor you, but in fact, the Lord deprived you of glory." 12So Balaam said to Balak, "Did I not also tell your messengers whom you sent to me, saying, 13'If Balak were to give me his house full of silver and gold, I could not go beyond the Lord's word, to do good or evil of my own will. Whatever the Lord may say, this I shall speak'? 14So now, indeed, I am going to my place. Come, I will counsel you as to what this people will do to your people in the latter days."

Balaam's Fourth Prophecy

15 So he took up his parable and said:

"Balaam the son of Beor declares;
The man who truly sees declares;
16 The one who hears the sayings of God declares;
And the one who knows the knowledge of the Most High,
And who saw the vision of God in a dream, a revelation seen by him:
17 I will show Him, but not now;
I bless Him, but He is not near.
A Star shall rise out of Jacob;
And a Man shall rise out of Israel.
He shall break in pieces the rulers of Moab
And plunder all the sons of Seth.
18 Edom shall be His inheritance,
And also His enemy shall be His inheritance;
But Israel acts with strength.
19 He shall rise up out of Jacob,
And destroy the survivors of the city."

20 Then seeing Amalek, he took up his parable and said:

"Amalek was first of the nations,
But their seed shall perish."

21 Then seeing the Kenites, he took up his parable and said:

"Your dwelling is strong;
And if you should put your nest in a rock,
22 And become dwellings of craftiness for Beor, Nevertheless the Assyrians shall take you captive."

23 Then seeing Og, he took up his parable and said:

"Oh! Oh! Who shall live whenever God may bring these things to pass?
24 Now these things shall come to pass from the hand of the Kittians,

And they shall also maltreat Asshur and the Hebrews,
But they themselves with one accord shall perish."

25So Balaam rose and departed and returned to his place; Balak also went to his own place.

Numbers 25

Israel's Sin at Moab

1Now Israel remained in Sattin, and the people were defiled by committing fornication with the daughters of Moab. 2They invited them to the sacrifices of their idols; and the people ate their sacrifices and worshiped their idols. 3So Israel consecrated themselves to Baal of Peor; and the Lord was very angry with Israel. 4Then the Lord said to Moses, "Take all the rulers of the people and make a public example of them for the Lord, that the anger of the Lord's wrath may be turned away from Israel." 5So Moses said to the tribes of Israel, "Each one of you kill any member of his household who was consecrated to Baal of Peor."

10Then the Lord spoke to Moses, saying, 11"Phinehas the son of Eleazar, the son of Aaron the priest, stopped My wrath from among the children of Israel when he was zealous with My zeal among them. So I did not utterly destroy the children of Israel in My zeal. 12Therefore say, 'Behold, I give to him My covenant of peace; 13and there shall be to him and his seed after him a covenant of an eternal priesthood; because he was zealous for his God and made atonement for the children of Israel.' " 14Now the name of the man of Israel who was struck down together with the Midianite woman was Zimri

the son of Salu, the ruler of a house of a Simeonite family. 15The name of the Midianite woman who was struck down was Cozbi the daughter of Zur, the ruler of the nation of Ommoth, of the house of a Midianite family.

16Then the Lord spoke to Moses, saying, 17"Be at enmity with the Midianites and strike them; 18for they themselves are at enmity with you in their deceit, inasmuch as they dealt treacherously with you in the matter of Peor and in the matter of Cozbi, the daughter of a ruler of Midian, their sister, who was struck down in the day of the plague because of Peor."

Numbers 26

The Second Census of Israel

1Now it came to pass after the plague that the Lord spoke to Moses and Eleazar, the son of Aaron the priest, saying, 2"Take a census of all the congregation of the sons of Israel from twenty years old and above, by their fathers' houses, all able to go to war in Israel." 3So Moses and Eleazar the priest spoke with them in the Araboth of Moab by the Jordan, across from Jericho, saying, 4"Take a census from twenty years old and above, in the manner the Lord commanded Moses." Now the sons of Israel who came out of Egypt were:

5Reuben the firstborn of Israel. The sons of Reuben were Enoch and the tribe of Enochites; Pallu and the tribe of the Palluites; 6Hezron and the tribe of the Hezronites; Carmi and the tribe of the Carmiites. 7These are the tribes of Reuben, and their census was forty-three thousand seven hundred thirty. 8Now the son of Pallu was Eliab. 9The sons of Eliab were Nemuel, Dathan, and Abiram. These were the ones chosen by the congregation to form a coalition against Moses and Aaron in the company of Korah, in their revolt against the Lord; 10and the earth opening its mouth swallowed them and Korah in the death of his company, when fire devoured two hundred fifty men; and they became a sign. 11But the sons of Korah did not die.

12The sons of Simeon and the tribe of the sons of Simeon were: Nemuel and the tribe of the Nemuelites; and Jamin and the tribe of the Jaminites; and Jachin and the tribe of the Jachinites; 13and Zerah and the tribe of the Zerahites; and Shaul, the tribe of the Shaulites. 14These are the tribes of the Simeonites, and their census was twenty-two thousand two hundred.

15The sons of Judah were Er and Onan; but Er and Onan died in the land of Canaan. [16]After these, Judah's sons according to their tribes were Shelah and the tribe of the Shelahites; and Perez and the tribe of the Perezites; and Zerah and the tribe of the Zerahites. [17]Now the sons of Perez were Hezron and the tribe of the Hezronites; and Hamul and the tribe of the Hamulites. [18]These are the tribes of Judah according to their census: seventy-six thousand five hundred.

[19]The sons of Issachar according to their tribes were: Tola and the tribe of the Tolaites; and Puah and the tribe of the Puahites; [20]and Jashub and the tribe of the Jashubites; and Shimron and the tribe of the Shimronites. [21]These are the tribes of Issachar from their census: sixty-four thousand three hundred.

[22]The sons of Zebulun according to their tribes were: Sered and the tribe of the Seredites; and Elon and the tribe of the Elonites; and Jahleel and the tribe of the Jahleelites. [23]These are the tribes of Zebulun from their census: sixty thousand five hundred.

[24]The sons of Gad according to their tribes were Zephon and the tribe of the Zephonites; and Haggi and the tribe of the Haggiites; and Shuni and the tribe of the Shuniites; [25]and Ozni and the tribe of the Ozniites; and Addi and the tribe of the Addiites; [26]and Arod and the tribe of the Arodites; and Areli and the tribe of the Areliites. [27]These are the tribes of the sons of Gad from their census: forty thousand five hundred.

[28]The sons of Asher according to their tribes were Jimna and the tribe of the Jimnaites; Jesui and the tribe of the Jesuiites; and Beriah and the tribe of the Beriahites; [29]and Heber and the tribe of the Heberites; and Malchiel and the tribe of the Malchielites. [30]Now the name of Asher's daughter was Sara. [31]These are the tribes of Asher from their census: fifty-three thousand four hundred.

[32]The sons of Joseph according to their tribes were Manasseh and Ephraim. [33]The son of Manasseh was Machir and the tribe of the Machirites; and Machir begot Gilead and by Gilead the tribe of the Gileadites. [34]Now these are the sons of Gilead: Jeezer and the tribe of the Jeezerites; and Helek and the family of the Helekites; [35]and Asriel and the tribe of the Asrielites; and Shechem and the tribe of the Shechemites; [36]and Shemida and the tribe of the Shemidaites; and Hepher and the tribe of the Hepherites. [37]Now Zelophehad the son of Hepher had no sons, but daughters; and the names of the daughters of Zelophehad were Mahlah, Noah, Hoglah, Milcah, and Tirzah. [38]These are the tribes of Manasseh from their census: fifty-two thousand seven hundred.

[39]Now these are the sons of Ephraim: Shuthelah and the tribe of the Shuthelahites; and Tahan and the tribe of the Tahanites. [40]Now these are the sons of Shuthelah: Eran and the tribe of the Eranites. [41]These are the tribes of the of sons of Ephraim from their census: thirty-two thousand five hundred. These tribes are the sons of Joseph according to their tribes.

[42]The sons of Benjamin according to their tribes were: Bela and the tribe of the Belaites; and Ashbel and the tribe of the Ashbelites; and Ahiram and the family of the Ahiramites; [43]and Shupham and the tribe of the Shuphamites. [44]Now the sons of Bela were Ard and Naaman: Ard and the tribe of the Ardites; and Naaman and the tribe of the Naamanites. [45]These are the sons of Benjamin according to their tribes from their census: forty-five thousand six hundred.

[46]This is the son of Dan according to his tribe: Shuham and the tribe of the Shuhamites. This is the tribe of Dan according to Shuham's tribe. [47]The entire tribe of the Shuhamites from their census was sixty-four thousand four hundred.

[48]The sons of Naphtali according to their tribes were: Jahzeel and the tribe of the Jahzeelites; and Guni and the tribe of the Guniites; [49]and Jezer and the tribe of the Jezerites; and Shillem and the family of the Shillemites. [50]These are the tribes of Naphtali from their census: forty-five thousand four hundred.

[52]Then the Lord spoke to Moses, saying, [53]"To these the land shall be divided as an inheritance based on the number of names. [54]To a large tribe you shall give a larger inheritance, and to a small tribe you shall give a smaller inheritance. Each shall be given its inheritance based on its census. [55]But the land shall be divided by lot; they shall inherit according to the names of the tribes of their fathers. [56]By allotment their inheritance shall be divided between the larger and the smaller."

[57]Now the sons of Levi according to their tribes were: Gershon and the tribe of the Gershonites; and Kohath and the tribe of the Kohathites; and Merari and the tribe of the Merariites. [58]These are the tribes of the sons of Levi: the tribe of the Libniites, the tribe of the Hebronites, the tribe of the Korahites, and the tribe of the Mushites. Now Kohath begot Amram. [59]The name of Amram's wife was Jochebed the daughter of Levi, who was born to Levi in Egypt; and to Amram she bore Aaron and Moses and their sister

Miriam. [60]To Aaron were born Nadab and Abihu, Eleazar and Ithamar. [61]But Nadab and Abihu died when they offered strange fire before the Lord in the Sinai Desert. [62]Now based on their census they numbered twenty-three thousand, every male from a month old and above; for a census was not taken of them among the other sons of Israel, because there was no allotment given to them among the sons of Israel.

[63]This is the census of Moses and Eleazar the priest, who numbered the sons of Israel in Araboth of Moab by the Jordan, across from Jericho. [64]But among these, there was not a man numbered by Moses and Aaron the priest when they took a census of the sons of Israel in the Sinai Desert. [65]For the Lord said of them, “They shall surely die in the desert.” So there was not left a man of them, except Caleb the son of Jephunneh and Joshua the son of Nun.

Numbers 27

Laws of Inheritance

[1]Now came the daughters of Zelophehad the son of Hepher, the son of Gilead, the son of Machir, the son of Manasseh, from the tribe of Manasseh the son of Joseph; and these were the names of his daughters: Mahlah, Noah, Hoglah, Milcah, and Tirzah. [2]So they stood before Moses, before Eleazar the priest, and before the rulers and all the congregation by the door of the tabernacle of testimony, saying, [3]“Our father died in the desert; but he was not in the company of those who gathered together against the Lord, in company with Korah, but he died in his own sin, and had no sons. [4]Do not let the name of our father be wiped out from among his tribe, because he had no son. Give us a possession among our father’s brothers.” [5]So Moses brought their case before the Lord. [6]Then the Lord spoke to Moses, saying, [7]“The daughters of Zelophehad speak correctly; you shall surely give them a possession of inheritance among their father’s brothers, and assign the allotment of their father to them. [8]Then you shall speak to the children of Israel, saying, ‘If a man dies and has no son, you shall assign his inheritance to his daughter. [9]But if he has no daughter, you shall give the inheritance to his brother. [10]But if he has no brothers, you shall give his inheritance to his father’s brother. [11]But if his father has no brothers, you shall give his inheritance to the relative closest to him in his tribe; and he shall inherit his possessions.’ ” So this shall be an ordinance of judgment to the children of Israel, as the Lord ordered Moses.

Joshua Succeeds Moses

12 Now the Lord said to Moses, “Go up into the mountain beyond the Jordan (this is Mount Nebo), and see the land of Canaan, which I give to the children of Israel for a possession. 13 Then you shall see it and be added to your people, even you, as Aaron your brother was added on Mount Hor, 14 because you transgressed My word in the Desert of Sin, when the congregation was failing to sanctify Me, you did not sanctify Me before them.” (This was the Water of Contention, at Kadesh in the Desert of Sin.) 15 Then Moses spoke to the Lord, saying, 16 “Let the Lord, the God of the spirits of all flesh, appoint a man over the congregation, 17 who will go in and out before their face, and lead them out and bring them in; then the congregation of the Lord will not be like sheep without a shepherd.” 18 Then the Lord spoke to Moses, saying, “Take Joshua the son of Nun with you, a man who has the Spirit in himself, and put your hand on him; 19 and stand him before Eleazar the priest and give orders to him before all the congregation, and give orders concerning him before them. 20 You shall then give some of your glory to him, that the children of Israel may obey him.
21 So he shall stand before Eleazar the priest, and they shall inquire before the Lord for him by the judgment of the Urim. At his word they shall go out, and at his word they shall come in, he and all the children of Israel in one accord, even all the congregation.” 22 So Moses did as the Lord commanded him, and taking Joshua, he stood him before Eleazar the priest and before all the congregation. 23 Then he put his hands on him and appointed him, as the Lord commanded Moses.

Numbers 28

Daily Offerings

1 Now the Lord spoke to Moses, saying, 2 “Command the children of Israel and say to them, ‘My gifts, My presents, My burnt offerings, you shall take care to offer to Me as a sweet aroma in My feasts.’ 3 So you shall say to them, ‘These are My burnt offerings you shall offer daily to the Lord: two unblemished male lambs in their first year, as a whole burnt offering perpetually. [4]The one male lamb you shall offer in the morning, and the other male lamb you shall offer in the evening; [5]and you shall offer one-tenth of an ephah of fine flour as a grain offering, mixed with one-fourth of a hin of oil. [6]This shall be a perpetual whole burnt offering, which came into being at Mount Sinai, as a sweet aroma to the Lord. [7]Its drink offering shall be one-fourth of a hin for each male lamb; in the holy place you shall pour out the intoxicant as a drink offering to the Lord.

[8]The second male lamb you shall offer toward evening; and you shall offer it according to its grain offering and drink offering, as a sweet aroma to the Lord.

Sabbath Offerings

[9]‘Then on the Sabbath day you shall offer two unblemished male lambs in their first year, and two-tenths of an ephah of fine flour mixed with oil for a grain offering, with its drink offering. [10]This is the whole burnt offering for each and every Sabbath, in addition to the regular whole burnt offering with its drink offering.

Monthly Offerings

[11]‘On the first of every month, you shall offer a whole burnt offering to the Lord: two young bulls from the oxen, one ram, and seven unblemished male lambs in their first year, [12]and a grain offering of three-tenths of an ephah of fine flour mixed with oil for each young bull, and a grain offering of two-tenths of an ephah of fine flour mixed with oil for the one ram, [13]and a grain offering of one-tenth of an ephah of fine flour mixed with oil for each male lamb, as a burnt offering of sweet aroma to the Lord. [14]Their drink offering shall be half a hin of wine for each young bull, one-third of a hin for the one ram, and one-fourth of a hin for each male lamb. This is the whole burnt offering for the first of every month throughout the months of each year. [15]Also one young male of the goats as a sin offering to the Lord shall be offered, in addition to the regular whole burnt offering with its drink offering.

Paschal Offerings

[16]‘Then on the fourteenth day of the first month is the Lord’s Pascha. [17]Then on the fifteenth day of this month is a feast: unleavened bread shall be eaten for seven days; [18]and the first day there shall be a holy convocation.

You shall do no service work. [19]So you shall offer whole burnt offerings: two young bulls from the oxen, one ram, and seven male lambs—be sure they are unblemished—as burnt offerings to the Lord. [20]Now you shall offer their grain offering of fine flour, mixed with oil: three-tenths of an ephah for each bull, two-tenths for the one ram, [21]and one-tenth for each of the seven male lambs. [22]You shall also offer one young male goat as a sin offering, to make atonement for you. [23]You shall offer these in addition to the regular whole burnt offering of the morning, which is the perpetual whole burnt offering. [24]You shall make these offerings according to these directions each day for seven days, as a gift and as a burnt offering for a sweet aroma to the Lord; and in addition to the regular whole burnt offering you shall offer its drink offering. [25]Then on the seventh day you shall have a holy convocation. You shall do no service work on it.

Feast of Weeks Offerings

[26]‘Then on the day of new grain, when you bring a new grain offering to the Lord at your Feast of Weeks, you shall have a holy convocation. You shall do no service work. [27]You shall offer whole burnt offerings as a sweet aroma to the Lord: two young bulls from the oxen, one ram, and seven unblemished male lambs in their first year, [28]with their grain offering of fine flour mixed with oil: three-tenths of an ephah for each bull, two-tenths for the one ram, [29]and one-tenth for each of the seven male lambs; [30]also one young male of the goats, to make atonement for you. [31]In addition to the regular whole burnt offering—be sure they are unblemished—you shall offer to Me their grain offering with their drink offerings.

Laws Concerning Vows

[1]Now Moses told the children of Israel everything, as the Lord commanded Moses.

[2]Then Moses spoke to the rulers of the tribes of Israel, saying, “This is the word the Lord commanded: [3]If any man should vow a vow to the Lord, or swear an oath to bind his soul with an obligation, he may not defile his word; he shall do everything that proceeds out of his mouth. [4]But if a woman should vow a vow to the Lord and bind herself with an obligation while in her father’s house in her youth, [5]and her father should hear her vows and obligations with which she bound her soul, and her father should pass over it in silence, then all her vows and every obligation with which she bound her soul shall stand, and remain in force for her. [6]But if on the day her father should hear and disapprove all her vows and obligations with which she bound her soul, then her vows shall not stand; therefore the Lord will consider her blameless, because her father disapproved.

[7]“But if she should actually be married, and she binds her soul with vows made by an explicit statement of her own lips, [8]and her husband should hear and pass over it in silence the day he hears, then all her vows and obligations with which she bound her soul shall stand. [9]But if her husband should disapprove on the day he hears, then all her vows and obligations with which she bound her soul shall not remain in force, because her husband disapproved of her; therefore the Lord will consider her blameless. [10]Also any vow of a widow or a divorced woman, whatever she should vow concerning her soul, shall remain in force for her. [11]But if her vow should be made in her husband’s house, or if her obligation concerning her soul should be made with an oath, [12]and her husband should hear and pass over it in silence and not disapprove her, then all her vows shall stand, and every obligation with which she bound her soul shall stand. [13]But if her husband should cancel them on the day he hears, then whatever proceeded from her lips concerning her vows or obligations binding her soul, they shall not remain in force; for her husband canceled them; therefore the Lord will consider her blameless. [14]Every vow and binding oath to afflict her soul, her husband shall establish, or her husband shall cancel. [15]But if her husband should remain silent for more than a single day, then he shall establish all her vows for her; and he shall establish for her the obligations binding her, because he remained silent regarding her on the day he heard them. [16]But if he should cancel them the day after he heard them, then he shall bear her guilt." [17]These are the ordinances the Lord commanded Moses between a husband and his wife, and between a father and his daughter in her youth in her father's house.

The War against the Midianites

[1]Now the Lord spoke to Moses, saying, [2]"Exact vengeance from the Midianites for the children of Israel. Afterward you shall be added to your people." [3]So Moses spoke to the people, saying, "Arm some of your men to stand in battle array before the Lord against Midian, to repay vengeance from the Lord on Midian. [4]From all the tribes of Israel you shall send a thousand from each tribe to stand in battle array."

[5]So from the thousands of Israel they counted a thousand from each tribe, twelve thousand armed for the battle line. [6]Then Moses sent them, a thousand from each tribe with their army, and Phinehas the son of Eleazar the priest with the holy vessels and the trumpets for signaling in his hands. [7]So they arrayed themselves in battle against Midian, as the Lord commanded Moses, and they killed every male. [8]They killed the kings of Midian, together with their slain people: Evi, Zur, Rekem, Hur, and Reba, the five kings of Midian. They also killed Balaam the son of Beor with the sword, along with their slain people. [9]They also took as plunder the women of Midian, with their households, their cattle, all their possessions; and they plundered their army. [10]They also set on fire all the cities where they dwelt and all their unwalled villages. [11]They took as well all their booty and spoils from man to cattle. [12]Then they brought the captives, the spoils, and the booty to Moses, to Eleazar the priest, and to all the congregation of the children of Israel, to the camp in the Araboth of Moab by the Jordan, across from Jericho.

The Winning Army Returns

[13]Then Moses, Eleazar the priest, and all the rulers of the congregation went to meet them outside the camp. [14]But Moses was angry with the overseers of the army, with the captains over thousands and rulers over hundreds, who were coming from the battle line of the war. 15So Moses said to them, “Why did you take every female alive? 16For on account of Balaam’s counsel, they were with the sons of Israel and caused them to depart from and despise the Lord’s word in the incident at Peor, when there was a plague among the congregation of the Lord. 17Now therefore, kill every male among all the little ones, and every woman who slept with a man. 18But keep alive for yourselves all the young girls who have not slept with a man. 19But you remain outside the camp seven days, and everyone who killed or touched someone killed, both you and your captives, shall be purified on the third day and the seventh day. 20Purify every garment, everything made of leather, everything woven of goats’ hair, and everything made of wood.”

21Then Eleazar the priest said to the men in the army who came from the battle lines of the war, “This is the ordinance of the law, which the Lord commanded Moses: 22Besides the gold, the silver, the brass, the iron, the lead, and the tin, 23everything that can pass through fire shall be purified; otherwise, it shall be purified with the water of purification. Therefore whatever cannot pass through the fire shall pass through the water. 24You shall also wash your clothes on the seventh day and be clean, and afterward you may come into the camp.”

Division of the Spoils

25Again the Lord spoke to Moses, saying, 26“Take the sum of the spoils of the captives, from man to cattle, you and Eleazar the priest and the rulers of the families in the congregation; 27and divide the spoils between the warriors who went out into the battle lines and all the congregation. 28And levy a tribute for the Lord on the men of war who went out to the battle lines, one soul of every five hundred men, and of the cattle, the oxen, the sheep, and the goats. 29Then you shall take their tribute and give it to Eleazar the priest as a firstfruits to the Lord. 30But from the children of Israel’s half you shall take one of every fifty of the men, the oxen, the sheep, the donkeys, and from all the cattle, and give them to the Levites who keep charge in the tabernacle of the Lord.” 31So Moses and Eleazar the priest did as the Lord commanded Moses.

those who had gone out to war, was in number three hundred thirty-seven thousand five hundred sheep; [37]and the Lord's tribute of the sheep was six hundred seventy-five. [38]The oxen were thirty-six thousand, of which the Lord's tribute was seventy-two. [39]The donkeys were thirty thousand five hundred, of which the Lord's tribute was sixty-one. [40]The human souls were sixteen thousand, of which the Lord's tribute was thirty-two souls. [41]So Moses gave the Lord's tribute, God's choice portion, to Eleazar the priest, as the Lord commanded Moses. [42]Then from the children of Israel's half, which Moses divided from the men of war— [43]that is, the half belonging to the congregation, was three hundred thirty-seven thousand five hundred sheep, [44]thirty-six thousand oxen, [45]thirty thousand five hundred donkeys, [46]and sixteen thousand human souls— [47]and from the children of Israel's half Moses took one of every fifty, from men to cattle, and gave them to the Levites who kept charge of the tabernacle of the Lord, in the manner the Lord commanded Moses.

[48]Then all those established in positions as commanders in the army, the captains over thousands and rulers over hundreds, came near to Moses; [49]and they said to Moses, "Your servants took the sum of the men of war with us, and not a man of us is missing. [50]Therefore we have brought a gift to the Lord, what every man found of articles of gold: bracelets, rings, armlets, and hair-clasps, to make atonement for us before the Lord." [51]So Moses and Eleazar the priest took the gold from them, every crafted article. [52]So every choice portion of gold which they dedicated to the Lord, from the captains over thousands and rulers over hundreds, was sixteen thousand seven hundred fifty shekels. [53](Now each of the men of war had taken plunder for himself.) [54]So Moses and Eleazar the priest took the gold from the captains over thousands and rulers over hundreds and brought these into the tabernacle of testimony, as a memorial for the children of Israel before the Lord.

The Tribes East of the Jordan River

[1]Now the sons of Reuben and the sons of Gad had a very great multitude of cattle, and they saw the land of Jazer and the land of Gilead; and they saw the place was a place for cattle. [2]So the sons of Reuben and the sons of Gad came and spoke to Moses, to Eleazar the priest, and to the rulers of the congregation, saying, [3]"Ataroth, Dibon, Jazer, Nimrah, Heshbon, Elealeh, Shebam, Nebo, and Beon, [4]the country the Lord delivered over to the children of Israel, is a land appropriate for feeding cattle; and your servants have cattle." [5]Therefore they said, "If we have found grace in your sight, let this land be given to your servants as a possession. Do not make us cross over the Jordan." [6]Then Moses said to the sons of Gad and to the sons of Reuben, "Your brothers go to war, and shall you sit here? [7]Now why do you pervert the minds of the children of Israel from crossing over into the land the Lord gives to them? [8]Did not your fathers act in this way when I sent them away from Kadesh Barnea to spy out the land? [9]For they went up to the Valley of Eshcol and spied out the land; and they turned aside the heart of the children of Israel so they would not enter the land the Lord gave them. [10]So the Lord was very angry that day, and swore an oath, saying, [11]'Surely these men who came up from Egypt, from twenty years old and above and who know good and evil, shall not see the land I swore to Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob; for they did not follow after Me, [12]except Caleb the son of Jephunneh, who separated himself, and Joshua the son of Nun; for they followed after the Lord.' [13]So the Lord was very angry with Israel; and He made them wander in the desert forty years, until all the generation that did evil before the Lord was utterly destroyed. [14]Behold, You rose up in your fathers' place, a body of sinful men, to increase still more the fierce anger of the Lord against Israel. [15]For you will turn away from Him by again leaving Him in the desert, and you will act lawlessly against this entire congregation."

[16]They came to Moses and said, "We will build sheepfolds here for our cattle, and cities for our children; [17]but we will arm ourselves as the advance guard before the sons of Israel until we bring them to their own place; and our children will dwell in the fortified cities because of the land's inhabitants. [18]Let us not return to our homes until each of the sons of Israel should be distributed to his inheritance. [19]Therefore, let us not inherit with them on the other side of the Jordan and beyond, because we are receiving in full our portions on this eastern side of the Jordan."

[20]Then Moses said to them, "If you do according to this word, if you arm yourselves before the Lord for the war, [21]and all your armed men cross over the Jordan before the Lord until His enemy is destroyed before His face; [22]and the land is subdued before the Lord, then afterward you shall return, and be blameless before the Lord and before Israel; and this land shall be your possession before the Lord. [23]But if you should not do so, you shall be guilty before the Lord; and you will know your sin when evils overtake you.

[24]So you shall build cities for yourselves and for your children, and walled enclosures for your cattle, and do what proceeded out of your mouth." [25]Then the sons of Gad and the sons of Reuben spoke to Moses, saying, "Your servants will do as our Lord commands. [26]Our children, our wives, and all our cattle will be there in the cities of Gilead; [27]but your servants will cross over, all armed and arrayed for battle before the Lord into the war, in the manner our lord says."

[28]So Moses appointed for them Eleazar the priest, Joshua the son of Nun, and rulers of families in the tribes of Israel. [29]Again Moses said to them, "If the sons of Gad and the sons of Reuben cross over the Jordan with you, every man armed for war before the Lord, and you subdue the land before you, then you shall give them the land of Gilead as a possession. [30]But if they do not cross over with you armed for war, you shall carry across their children, their wives, and their cattle before you into the land of Canaan." [31]Then the sons of Gad and the sons of Reuben answered, saying, "Whatever our Lord says to your servants, so we will do. [32]We will cross over armed before the Lord into the land of Canaan, but you shall give us our possession on the other side of the Jordan." [33]So Moses gave to the sons of Gad, the sons of Reuben, and the half-tribe of Manasseh, the son of Joseph, the kingdom of Sihon king of the Amorites and the kingdom of Og king of Bashan, the land and its cities with its borders, the cities of the surrounding country.

[34]Then the sons of Gad built Dibon, Ataroth, Aroer, [35]Shophan, and Jazer, which they raised up, [36]along with Beth Nimrah and Beth Haran, fortified cities and walled enclosures for sheep. [37]The sons of Reuben built Heshbon, Elealeh, Kirjathaim, [38]and Baal Meon, encircled with walls, and Shibmah; and they named the cities they built after their names. [39]Then the son of Machir the son of Manasseh went to Gilead and took it, and destroyed the Amorites dwelling in it. [40]So Moses gave Gilead to Machir the son of Manasseh, and he dwelt there. [41]Also Jair the son of Manasseh went and took their farming villages, and named them Havoth Jair. [42]Then Nobah went and took Kenath and its villages, and he named them Nobah, after his own name.

Israel's Journey from Egypt to Moab

[1]Now these are the stages in the journeys of the children of Israel who went out from the land of Egypt by their armies under the hand of Moses and Aaron. [2]So Moses wrote their departures and the stages in their journeys by the word of the Lord.

[3]They departed from Rameses in the first month, on the fifteenth day of the first month; on the day after Pascha, the children of Israel went out with a high hand before all the Egyptians. [4]But the Egyptians were burying from among themselves all who died, whom the Lord struck down, every firstborn in the land of Egypt; and the Lord executed vengeance on their gods. [5]Then the children of Israel departed from Rameses and camped in Succoth. [6]They departed from Succoth and camped in Etham, which is part of the desert.
[7]They departed from Etham and camped at the mouth of Hahiroth, which is opposite Baal Zephon; and they camped opposite Migdol. [8]They departed opposite Hahiroth and passed through the midst of the sea into the desert; and they went three days' journey through the desert and camped at Marah. [9]They departed from Marah and came to Elim. At Elim there were twelve springs of water and seventy palm trees; so they camped there by the water. [10]They departed from Elim and camped by the Red Sea. [11]They departed from the Red Sea and camped in the Desert of Sin. [12]They departed from the Desert of Sin and camped at Dophkah. [13]They departed from Dophkah and camped at Alush. [14]They departed from Alush and camped at Rephidim, where there was no water for the people to drink.

[15]They departed from Rephidim and camped in the Sinai Desert. [16]They moved from the Sinai Desert and camped at Graves of Lust. [17]They departed from Graves of Lust and camped at Hazeroth. [18]They departed from Hazeroth and camped at Rithmah. [19]They departed from Rithmah and camped at Rimmon Perez. [20]They departed from Rimmon Perez and camped at Libnah.
[21]They departed from Libnah and camped at Rissah. [22]They departed from Rissah and camped at Kehelathah. [23]They departed from Kehelathah and camped at Shepher. [24]They departed from Shepher and camped at Haradah.
[25]They departed from Haradah and camped at Makheloth. [26]They departed from Makheloth and camped at Tahath. [27]They departed from Tahath and camped at Terah. [28]They departed from Terah and camped at Mithkah. [29]They departed from Mithkah and camped at Hashmonah. [30]They departed from Hashmonah and camped at Moseroth. [31]They departed from Moseroth and camped at Bene Jaakan. [32]They departed from Bene Jaakan and camped at Hor Hagidgad. [33]They departed from Hor Hagidgad and camped at Jotbathah. [34]They departed from Jotbathah and camped at Abronah. [35]They departed from Abronah and camped at Ezion Geber. [36]They departed from Ezion Geber and camped in the Desert of Sin; and they departed from the Desert of Sin and camped in the Desert of Paran (this is Kadesh). [37]They departed from Kadesh and camped at Mount Hor, near the land of Edom.

[38]Then Aaron the priest went up at the command of the Lord and died there, in the fortieth year of the exodus of the children of Israel out of the land of Egypt, in the fifth month, on the first day of the month. [39]Aaron was one hundred and twenty-three years old when he died on Mount Hor. [40]Now this was the time when the Canaanite king of Arad (and this man dwelt in the land of Canaan) heard the children of Israel were coming.

[41]Then they departed from Mount Hor and camped at Zalmonah. [42]They departed from Zalmonah and camped at Punon. [43]They departed from Punon and camped at Oboth. [44]They departed from Oboth and camped at Ije Abarim, at the borders of Moab. [45]They departed from Ije Abarim and camped at Dibon Gad. [46]They departed from Dibon Gad and camped at Almon Diblathaim. [47]They departed from Almon Diblathaim and camped in the mountains of Abarim, before Nebo. [48]They departed from the mountains of Abarim and camped west of Moab by the Jordan opposite Jericho. [49]They camped by the Jordan between Beth Jesimoth as far as the Abel Acacia Grove, west of Moab.

Instructions on Crossing the Jordan, Entering Canaan

[50]Now the Lord spoke to Moses west of Moab by the Jordan opposite Jericho, saying, [51]“Speak to the children of Israel and say to them, ‘You are crossing over the Jordan into the land of Canaan. [52]Then you shall destroy all the inhabitants of the land before your face; and you shall remove their high places, and as for all their molten idols, you shall destroy these; and you shall remove all their pillars. [53]You shall also destroy all the inhabitants of the land and dwell in it, for I give you their land as an inheritance. [54]Therefore you shall inherit their land by lot among your tribes; to the larger you shall give a larger inheritance, and to the smaller you shall give a smaller inheritance; there everyone's inheritance shall be whatever falls to him by lot. You shall inherit according to the tribes of your fathers. 55But if you do not destroy the inhabitants of the land from before your face, it shall be that those whom you let remain shall be thorns in your eyes and arrows in your sides; and they shall be at enmity with you in the land where you dwell. 56Moreover, it shall be that I will do to you as I thought to do to them.' "

Numbers 34

The Boundaries of Canaan

1Now the Lord spoke to Moses, saying, 2"Command the children of Israel and say to them, 'You shall come into the land of Canaan, and it shall be your inheritance, the land of Canaan with its borders.

6'As for the western borders, you shall have the Great Sea for a border; this shall be your western border.

7'Now this shall be your northern border: from the Great Sea you shall measure your border along the mountain range; 8and from the mountain range you shall measure your border to Hamath; and its termination shall be the borders of Zedad; 9and the border shall proceed to Ziphron, and its termination shall be Hazar Enan. This shall be your northern border.

10'You shall measure your eastern borders from Hazar Enan to Shepham; 11and the borders shall go down from Shepham to Riblah on the east side of Ain; and the borders shall go down to Bela behind the Sea of Chinnereth from the east; 12and the borders shall go down along the Jordan, and its termination shall be the Salt Sea. This shall be your land with its surrounding borders.' " 13Then Moses commanded the children of Israel, saying, "This is the land you shall inherit by lot, in the manner the Lord ordered Moses to give it to the nine tribes and to the half-tribe of Manasseh. 14For the tribe of the sons of Reuben and the tribe of the sons of Gad according to the houses of their fathers and the half-tribe of Manasseh received their allotments. 15The two tribes and the half-tribe received their allotments beyond the Jordan, opposite Jericho from the south towards the east.”

The Leaders Divide the Land

16Again the Lord spoke to Moses, saying, 17“These are the names of the men who shall divide the land among you as an inheritance: Eleazar the priest and Joshua the son of Nun. 18You shall take rulers, one from every tribe, to divide the land for the inheritance. 19Now these are the names of the men: from the tribe of Judah, Caleb the son of Jephunneh; 20from the tribe of Simeon, Shemuel the son of Ammihud; 21from the tribe of Benjamin, Elidad the son of Chislon; 22from the tribe of Dan a ruler, Bukki the son of Jogli; 23from the sons of Joseph’s tribe: a ruler from the tribe of the children of Manasseh, Hanniel the son of Ephod, 24a ruler from the tribe of the sons of Ephraim, Kemuel the son of Shiphtan; 25a ruler from the tribe of Zebulun, Elizaphan the son of Parnach; 26a ruler from the tribe of the sons of Issachar, Paltiel the son of Azzan; 27a ruler from the tribe of the sons of Asher, Ahihud the son of Shelomi; 28a ruler from the tribe of Naphtali, Pedahel the son of Ammihud.” 29These are the ones the Lord commanded to divide the inheritance among the children of Israel in the land of Canaan.

Cities Assigned to the Levites

1Now the Lord spoke to Moses west of Moab by the Jordan opposite Jericho, saying, 2“Order the children of Israel to give the Levites cities to dwell in from the allotment of their possession, and to give the Levites the grazing lands around their cities. 3They shall have cities to dwell in and grazing lands for their cattle and for all their four-footed animals. 4The grazing lands of the cities which you shall give the Levites shall extend from the walls of the city outward two thousand cubits all around. 5So you shall measure outside the city: on the east side two thousand cubits, on the south side two thousand cubits, on the west side two thousand cubits, and on the north side two thousand cubits; and the city in the middle of this shall be for you, and the contiguous areas of the cities. [6]You shall also give the Levites six cities of refuge, which you will give them for a manslayer to flee there; and you shall also give them forty-two cities in addition to these. [7]So all the cities you shall give the Levites shall be forty-eight, along with their grazing lands. [8]Now concerning the cities you shall give the Levites from the possession of the children of Israel: from the larger tribes you shall give many cities, and from the smaller ones you shall give fewer. In proportion to its inheritance, each tribe shall give from its inheritance some of its cities to the Levites."

Cities of Refuge

[9]Again the Lord spoke to Moses, saying, [10]"Speak to the children of Israel, and say to them, 'You shall cross the Jordan into the land of Canaan, [11]and you shall separate cities for yourselves to be cities of refuge, for any manslayer who kills someone involuntarily to flee there. [12]These shall be cities of refuge for you from the avenger of blood, that the manslayer may not die until he stands before the congregation for judgment. [13]So the cities you give shall be six cities of refuge for you. [14]You shall designate three cities beyond the Jordan and three cities in the land of Canaan. [15]These cities shall be places of refuge for the children of Israel, and for the resident alien and the sojourner among you, that anyone who kills someone involuntarily may flee there as a place of refuge. [16]But if anyone should strike someone with an iron tool, and that one dies, he is a murderer; so let the murderer be put to death. [17]Also if anyone should strike someone with a stone from his hand by which that one could die, and that one does die, he is a murderer; so let the murderer be put to death. [18]Or if anyone should strike someone with a wooden tool by which that one could die, and that one does die, he is a murderer; so let the murderer be put to death. [19]The avenger of blood himself shall kill the murderer; and whenever he meets him, he shall kill him. [20]Or if anyone should shove someone because of enmity, or should throw any tool at him from an ambush, and that one dies, [21]or if anyone should strike someone in anger with his hand, and that one dies, let the one who killed him be put to death. He is a murderer. So let the murderer be put to death. The avenger of blood shall kill the murderer when he meets him.

[22]'However, if anyone should shove someone unexpectedly, but not because of enmity, or throw any tool at him, but not from an ambush, [23]or is working with any stone by which that one could die, and he threw it at him unknowingly, and that one dies, but he was not his enemy, nor was he seeking to harm him, [24]then the congregation shall judge between the manslayer and the avenger of blood based on these judgments. [25]So the congregation shall deliver the manslayer from the avenger of blood, and the congregation shall return him to the city of refuge where he fled; and he shall live there until the high priest whom they anointed with the holy oil should die. [26]But if the manslayer should go outside the boundaries of the city where he fled, [27]and the avenger of blood should find him outside the boundaries of his city of refuge, and the avenger of blood kills the manslayer, he is not liable. [28]So let him live in his city of refuge until the high priest should die; then after the death of the high priest the manslayer shall return to the land of his possession. [29]So these things shall be ordinances of judgment for you throughout your generations in all your dwelling places.

[30]'Whoever takes a life, the murderer shall be put to death on the testimony of witnesses; but a single witness is not sufficient testimony for the death penalty. [31]Moreover, you shall accept no ransom for the life of a murderer subject to the death penalty, for he shall be put to death. [32]Also you shall accept no ransom from one who fled to one of the cities of refuge, that he may again return to dwell in the land before the death of the high priest. [33]So you shall not defile with murder the land in which you dwell; for blood defiles the land, and there is no atonement for the land from the blood shed on it, except by the blood of him who shed it. [34]Therefore do not defile the land on which you dwell and on which I shall pitch My tabernacle among you; for I am the Lord who tabernacles among the children of Israel.' "

Inheritance Laws for Women

[1]Now the rulers from the tribe of the sons of Gilead, the son of Machir, the son of Manasseh, from the tribe of the sons of Joseph, came near and spoke before Moses and Eleazar the priest and before the rulers of the paternal houses of the children of Israel. [2]So they said, "The Lord commanded our lord to give the land of the inheritance by lot to the sons of Israel, and the Lord ordered our lord to give the inheritance of our brother Zelophehad to his daughters. [3]Now if they should marry someone from the tribes of the sons of Israel, their allotment would be taken from the possession of our fathers, and be added to the inheritance of the tribe into which they marry; so it would be taken from the portion of our inheritance. [4]But if the Remission of the children of Israel should come, their inheritance would be added to the inheritance of the tribe into which they marry; and their inheritance would be taken away from the inheritance of our father's tribe."

[5]Then Moses commanded the children of Israel through the ordinance of the Lord, saying, "Thus speaks the tribe of the sons of Joseph. [6]This is the word the Lord orders concerning the daughters of Zelophehad, saying, 'Let them marry whom they think best, but they may marry only within their father's tribe.' [7]So the inheritance for the children of Israel shall not go around from tribe to tribe, because each of the sons of Israel shall be attached to the inheritance of his father's tribe. [8]And every daughter who enters upon an inheritance in any tribe of the children of Israel shall marry someone from her father's tribe, that each of the sons of Israel may possess his paternal inheritance. [9]Thus no inheritance shall go around from one tribe to another, but each of the sons of Israel shall be attached to his own inheritance." [10]So in the manner the Lord ordered Moses, the daughters of Zelophehad did; [11]and Tirzah, Hoglah, Milcah, Noah, and Mahlah, the daughters of Zelophehad, married their cousins. [12]They were married into the tribe of Manasseh the son of Joseph, and their inheritance remained in the tribe of their father's family.

[13]These are the commandments, the ordinances, and the judgments the Lord commanded by the hand of Moses, west of Moab by the Jordan opposite Jericho.

Annotations for Numbers

1:1 The Lord who conversed with Moses in the tabernacle was the Word and Son of God, for He was the Lawgiver. Moses, in turn, gave His laws to Israel. The tabernacle was a type of the flesh the Son assumed in the womb of the Mother of God when He became incarnate (Jn 1:14). After His Incarnation, He also conversed with Moses on the Mount of Transfiguration (Mt 17:4). This conversation on the Mount calls to mind the talks between the two in the tabernacle. Although the Jews claimed He taught and worked contrary to the Law (Jn 8:5, 6; 9:29), the presence of Moses with Him on the Mount refutes this charge.

1:2, 3 The Lord commanded a census to be taken in Israel to draft an army for war. This census shows the militant nature of Israel in warfare. Israel was a type of the Church, "the Israel of God" (Gal 6:16; see Rom 2:28, 29), and the Church is also militant. However, the warfare of the Church is spiritual and evangelistic in nature (Eph 6:10–20). The spiritual enemies are the sinful passions, death, and the devil. Evangelism is to bring as many as will come into the kingdom of God and is to continue up to the end, when the kingdom will be fully established (Mt 24:14).

1:47–49 The ministry of the Levites also shows the militant nature of Israel in worship, for they were Israel's "clergy." All other Israelites were "laity." However, both were to be militant in worship, for no one was excused from worshiping the true God. The Levites had their assigned responsibilities in the worship, as did the people. The various responsibilities of both are described in Exodus, Leviticus, Numbers, and Deuteronomy.

The Church also has ordained clergy, and both clergy and laity are to be militant in worship, for no one is excused from worshiping the true God. The clergy have their assigned duties, and the laity as well. The various responsibilities of both are described throughout the Holy Tradition of the Church.

1:50 The Levites were ordained to minister liturgically, for divine worship is liturgical in nature; this liturgical nature is mentioned about forty-five times throughout Numbers. The word liturgy means "the work of the people." In Israel, this included the Levites and the twelve tribes, that is, all "the children of Israel" (v. 49), with the Levites having their special liturgical service in the tabernacle.

The worship of the Church is also liturgical in nature and includes both clergy and laity. The apostles were ministering liturgically in Acts 13:2 when the Holy Spirit spoke to them. The same word is used here as in the Book of Numbers. This same word is also used numerous times in Hebrews to describe the liturgical worship of the Church as the fulfillment of Israel's liturgical worship (Heb 1:7, 14; 8:2, 6; 9:21; 10:11).

1:53 The Lord was present in the midst of Israel's liturgical worship, as He is in the Divine Liturgy of His Holy Church. Spontaneity in worship has no biblical precedent.

2:2 The twelve tribes camped around the four sides of the tabernacle, facing it, in groups of three tribes; the Levites camped around the tabernacle proper (v. 17), for they were its caretakers and guards. So the Lord and His worship were to be the central focus of every Israelite's life. The Son of God became incarnate and is the central focus of the Church. Thus, at the end of the Great Litany, the Church prays, "Let us commend ourselves and each other and all our life unto Christ our God."

2:3 The tribe of Judah camped on the east side of the tabernacle, and Christ would come from that tribe (Heb 7:14). The word east is a synonym of the word orient, from which the word orientation is derived. The prophet Zechariah prophesied that Christ would be called "the East" or "the Orient" (Zec 3:9). The prophet Malachi said He would rise up from the east, and thus, calls Him "the Sun of Righteousness" (Mal 4:2). Therefore, every Israelite was to orient his life around Christ, the Orient.

Likewise, every Church member is to orient his life around Christ; otherwise, he will become "disoriented." The Church whenever possible worships toward the east, "looking unto Jesus, the author and finisher of our faith" (Heb 12:2).

3:6–9 The tribe of Levi was presented to Aaron and his sons to minister liturgically with them. The service of the priests and the Levites was on behalf of the children of Israel. Aaron's sons were priests, but Aaron himself was the high priest. The other Levites assisted in the liturgical worship.

The liturgical service of the priests and Levites was a type of liturgical service in the Church. The high priest was a type of Christ, our Great High Priest and "the Shepherd and Overseer [Bishop] of our souls" (1Pt 2:25). The bishops are living icons of Christ, the high priests of the Church. Similarly, the priests in the Church are also icons of Christ and serve liturgically with the bishop under whom they are assigned as his spiritual sons.

The Levites served liturgically with Aaron and his sons, as their assistants. They were types of the deacons, who assist the bishop in the liturgical worship; and when the bishop is not present, they assist the priest.

3:11–13, 40–51 The Lord ransomed the firstborn sons of Israel in Egypt with the blood of a lamb; therefore, the firstborn sons belonged to Him. Fourteen months later in the Wilderness of Sinai (1:1), He accepted the males in the tribe of Levi (a month old and above—22,000 in number) as a ransom payment for the firstborn of the twelve tribes. Thus an exchange took place in which the Levites became the Lord's liturgical ministers of the tabernacle. However, the census among the firstborn of the twelve tribes revealed the number of Israel's firstborn sons to be 22,273. Therefore, a ransom payment was owed to the Lord for this excess number of 273 of Israel's firstborn males. These males were required to ransom themselves by paying the Levites a redemption tax which totaled 1365 shekels (v. 50). This redemption tax became a tradition in Israel. The firstborn males were required to pay this tax in their hometowns.

Jesus' hometown in His adulthood was Capernaum. So on one occasion in Capernaum, Peter was asked if his teacher paid this tax (Mt 17:24–27). Peter replied, "Yes." However, Jesus had no obligation to pay the tax because He is the Son of the King, the heavenly Father, and Jesus, too, is King. Kings exact tax payments from their subjects, not from their sons. Nevertheless, to avoid offense, Jesus told Peter to catch a fish, and it would have money in its mouth to pay the tax—not only for Himself, but also for Peter. For Peter, too, was a firstborn son. So this tax payment from the mouth of the fish demonstrated Jesus to be the Lord and King over creation and the eternal Son of the heavenly King, the Father (JohnChr). This also demonstrated it was the Son of God, the King Himself, who ordered the redemption tax to be paid when Israel was in the Wilderness of Sinai.

Typology

Typology is the interpretation of certain historical events occurring in the Old Testament as "types" that prefigure events to be fulfilled through the Incarnation of the Son of God, and in His life and ministry as confirmed in the New Testament. In each case, the type—the first event—is linked to its corresponding future event, called the "antitype." It is a relationship that begins with a promise and ends with a fulfillment in Christ.

St. John Chrysostom explains, "The types, like patterns, anticipated and sketched out beforehand the dispensations [the order of things] which would be accomplished under the new covenant." Types are in action what prophecy is in words: through them both, truths about Christ, His Mother, the Church, the Sacraments, and the Kingdom of Heaven are revealed.

The Old Testament, Looking Forward

Typology was the primary lens used by the Church through which the Old Testament was read and interpreted. St. Irenaeus writes concerning the Old Testament, "If anyone, therefore, reads the Scriptures with attention, he will find in them an account of Christ, and a foreshadowing of the new calling. . . . The treasure hidden in the Scriptures is Christ, since He was pointed out by means of types and prophecies." Christ indeed came to fulfill in reality what had been in the Old Testament but "a shadow of the good things to come" (Heb 10:1). Jesus told His apostles, "All things must be fulfilled which were written in the Law of Moses and the Prophets and the Psalms concerning Me" (Lk 24:44, 45; see also 24:27; Jn 5:38, 46).

Sometimes Old Testament prophecies refer to past events as types—for example, the reference in Psalm 109:4 to Melchizedek, and in Jeremiah 38:31–34 to the Old Covenant. Yet it is the New Testament which confirms typology as the key to understanding the Old Testament. This is evident in the famous exclamation by St. John the Baptist when Jesus approached him at the Jordan: "Behold! The Lamb of God who takes away the sin of the world!" (Jn 1:29). Here John not only is asserting that Jesus is the fulfillment of prophecy (Is 53:7), but he is also making the first recorded public declaration linking the Person of Jesus with an Old Testament event—the sacrifice of the lamb at Passover (Ex 12:1–11; see also 1Co 5:7; 1Pt 1:18, 19). The ultimate sacrifice of the Only Begotten Son of God was also foreshadowed in type by Abraham's offering of his son, Isaac (Gn 22:1–14).

The New Testament, Looking Back

In the Gospels, Christ sometimes refers to Old Testament events that typologically pointed forward to Himself, such as the serpent in the wilderness (Nm 21:4–9; Jn 3:14, 15), the manna in the wilderness (Ex 16:11–36; Jn 6:30–35, 47–51), and Jonah's three days and nights in the belly of the great fish (Jon 2:1–11; Mt 12:39, 40). Saints Paul and Peter, writing under the inspiration of the Holy Spirit, also reveal truths found in Old Testament types, such as Adam/Christ (Gn 2:7–9, 15–17; 1Co 15:20–22), Melchizedek/Christ (Gn 14:18–20; Heb 6:19, 20) and Noah and the Flood/Baptism (Gn 7:1–8:19; 1Pt 3:20, 21).

Typological revelation further plays an important role in the hymns of the Church. For example:

> The bush on the mountain that was not consumed by fire (Ex 3:1–6), and the Chaldean furnace that brought refreshment as the dew (Dan 3:19–50), plainly prefigured thee, O Bride of God. For in a material womb, unconsumed thou hast received the divine and immaterial Fire (Matins, Nativity of the Theotokos).

With the Old Testament looking forward to the New through types, theophanies, and prophecies, and the New, in antitypes and fulfillment, pointing back to the Old, the essential unity of the two Testaments within one comprehensive Testament is revealed. As St. Maximus observes, "The Old and New Testaments together form a single mystery."

4:1, 16, 29 Gershom, Kohath, and Merari were the sons of Levi (Ex 6:16). Their lineage, in turn, would be assigned as the liturgical ministers of the tabernacle. The Scripture refers to the tabernacle and its liturgical service of worship by various words, all of which show the temporal nature of this worship. These Scripture passages are as follows:

Ex 25:40 (also quoted in Heb 8:5): "See to it that you make [all things] according to the pattern shown you on the mountain." Heb 8:5: "[The priests] serve the copy and shadow of the heavenly things." Heb 9:23: "Therefore it was necessary that the copies of the things in the heavens should be purified with these." Heb 9:9: "It was symbolic for the present time in which both gifts and sacrifices are offered." Heb 9:24: "For Christ has not entered the holy places made with hands, which are copies of the true, but into heaven itself, now to appear in the presence of God for us." Heb 10:1: "For the law, having a shadow of the good things to come . . ." Heb 11:19: ". . . from which [Abraham] also received [Isaac] in a figurative sense."

The various words therefore are “pattern,” “copy,” “shadow,” “figure,” and “symbol,” all of which carry the same meaning, namely, one level of reality that represents and is fulfilled in another and greater level. Therefore, the Old Testament liturgical service of worship was temporal in nature, and is fulfilled in the greater reality of the Church’s liturgical worship. Liturgical worship in the Church is called “heaven on earth,” for it fulfills the types.

4:5 The overshadowing veil was a type of the life-giving flesh of Christ (Heb 10:20). For Christ is God in the flesh; therefore, His holy body and blood give eternal life to those joined in union and communion with Him. In the Divine Liturgy, the Church offers up the bread and wine of the offertory to Him, and He gives these back to the Church as His precious body and blood.

4:7 The table of presentation was located in the holy place of the tabernacle. Among its furnishings were the bowls for pouring the drink-offerings of wine (see 15:5, 7, 10) and the perpetual loaves of bread.

The bread and the wine on the table of presentation were types of Christ’s body and blood in the Eucharist. (A type is one level of reality that represents and is fulfilled in another and greater level, which is called the antitype.) Thus, the bread and wine on the table of presentation represented and are fulfilled in Christ’s body and blood in the Eucharist.

5:2–4 Leprosy was a type of sin. Jesus went out of the camp and became a leper on our behalf. He Himself was not a leper, for He knew no sin, but He took pity on us lepers and became a disgrace for our sakes.

5:7 Confession of wrongs to a neighbor must be accompanied by restitution. Zacchaeus went beyond this law and made restitution fourfold, plus he gave half his goods to the poor. Thus, he “bore fruits worthy of repentance” (Mt 3:8). So Jesus said to him, “Today salvation has come to this house” (Lk 19:9).

6:2 An extraordinary vow was a vow not required by the Law of Moses. It was strictly voluntary, and when such a vow was made, the one making it was held accountable to fulfill it (Ps 49:14; Ecc 5:4).

🕮 6:22–26 These verses describe the blessings by the priests upon the people: the purpose is to put the Lord’s name on them. The blessing itself is contained in vv. 24–26. Bishops and priests in the Church also put the Lord’s name on people when they bless them with their hands in the form of the cross.

7:2–5, 84 The twelve rulers brought gifts, including sacrificial animals, to the Lord for the dedication of the altar of whole burnt offering. These gifts would be used in the liturgical service of the Levites in the tabernacle. In the new covenant liturgical service of worship, we are to offer our whole lives as whole burnt offerings to God. Rom 12:1, 2 describes this offering: “I beseech you therefore, brethren, by the mercies of God, that you present your bodies a living sacrifice, holy, acceptable to God, which is your reasonable service. And do not be conformed to this world, but be transformed by the renewing of your mind, that you may prove what is that good and acceptable and perfect will of God.”

8:6, 7, 19 In the liturgical service of worship, the children of Israel could not draw near the holy things, for their bodies were not purified by the water of purification, as were the Levites. Under the new covenant, the Levites are the clergy of the Church who officiate at the altar. However, in the liturgical service of worship, both clergy and laity draw near the heavenly holy of holies by the blood of Jesus. The conditions for entering the heavenly holy of holies are “a true heart in full assurance of faith, having our hearts sprinkled from an evil conscience and our bodies washed with pure water” (Heb 10:22).

9:3 Pascha, or Passover, was to be kept according to its rule and practice. Its “rule and practice” refers to its liturgical order of service and worship. This was spelled out very carefully in the Law of Moses. In the Church, the rule and practice of Pascha is also carefully spelled out in Holy Tradition as the Church moves through its liturgical order of service and worship in Great Lent, Holy Week, and the Easter season.

9:6–9 The Law of Moses could not cover every situation that might arise regarding Pascha. For this law did not exist in a vacuum to itself. Rather, it was ever united to the Lawgiver, the Son of God, who speaks to His people. Similarly, the Holy Tradition of the Church cannot cover every situation that might arise. The Good Shepherd speaks to His Church, and those who have ears to hear follow Him (Jn 10:27).

9:21 When the cloud ascended from the tabernacle, Israel would break camp and move toward the promised land. Therefore, their liturgical worship was to be dynamic and not static. They had an objective to achieve. Psalms 120–133 are called "Odes of Ascent." These odes reveal aspects of the dynamic and living nature of liturgical worship.

Similarly, the Lord ascended into heaven to teach the Church the dynamic and living nature of worship. For liturgical worship is like an ascent in which the worshipers draw near and enter the heavenly holy of holies. The final objective is "the resurrection from the dead and the life of the world to come" (Creed).

10:10 The Son of God is the I Am, the Lord God of Israel (Jn 8:58; Ex 3:14). He is one of the three Persons of the Holy Trinity.

10:29 Moses informed his brother-in-law of the purpose for breaking camp. It was to head for the place the Lord spoke of. This place was Canaan, the land of promise. For the Church, the land of promise is the kingdom of God, the fullness of which will be realized in the world to come. As the Church passes through this present world, she partakes of the kingdom to the extent of the grace she experiences and expresses. In this sense, the Church is God's kingdom in this world, and she will be His kingdom in the fullest sense in the new world.

10:33–36 Rise up, O Lord was a foreshadowing of Christ's Resurrection, and return, O Lord, of His second coming.

11:1–3 This place was called Burning (v. 3) because the Lord hates grumbling, which is an expression of ingratitude. This was written to admonish us not to grumble, complain, and murmur about things we may not like (1Co 10:10, 11). Grumbling is one of the sins that undermines spiritual stability: "Therefore let him who thinks he stands take heed lest he fall" (1Co 10:12). We are to do all things without grumbling; otherwise, our lights will not shine in the midst of the fallen world (Php 2:14, 15).

11:4–34 This place was called Graves of Lust (v. 34) because the desires of the people were out of control (hungered exceedingly, v. 4). Thus, many of them died.

In itself, desire is a blameless passion. But if it is not controlled, it can go astray and become a sinful passion—for example, gluttony. Now the children of Israel and the Gentiles who came with them out of Egypt were grumbling about food, which, in turn, caused them to lose control of their desires. This resulted in gluttony (v. 32). Their belly became their god (Php 3:19). Grumbling and gluttony are an evil combination.

📖 11:16, 17, 24–29 This passage is read at Vespers of the Feast of Pentecost.

11:17, 25, 26, 29 The Spirit is the Holy Spirit, one of the three Persons in the Holy Trinity. Therefore, Moses believed in the Trinity, and those who claim him as a forefather should also embrace his faith.

12:5–7 The Lord who descended is the Son of God. He is over the house, whereas Moses was a faithful servant within His house (v. 7; Heb 3:1–6).

12:10 Miriam's contentious and bitter spirit caused her to become leprous. Leprosy was a type of sin, and sins, such as a contentious spirit, eat away at the soul.

13:1–3 The pre-incarnate Lord spoke to Moses and commanded that twelve spies, one leader from each tribe, be sent to spy out the land of Canaan, for the Word was the Commander and Moses the obedient servant. The Lord promised to give them this land, for the world belongs to Him and He gives it to whom He wills, when He wills, for as long as He wills. He is the sovereign Lord of all.

13:4–16 The names of twelve men are given, two of whom were Caleb (v. 6) and Hoshea (v. 8), whose name Moses changed to Joshua (v. 16). Caleb's name means "bold," or "confident," and Joshua's, "savior." Both names together signify two aspects of faith—confident faith and saving faith. Both men knew the Lord, and their faith in Him was of both aspects.

13:17–25 The twelve men spied out the land for forty days (v. 25), all the way up to Rehob, near the Valley of Hamath (v. 21). In their journey, Hebron (v. 22) is singled out for notice. Here, in the Valley of Eshcol, the spies cut a cluster of grapes and named the place Valley of Eshcol—or "Cluster." This cluster confirmed the Lord's word that the promised land was one of milk and honey.

This cluster of grapes was a type of the Mother of God, for God the Word derived His body and blood from her. Moreover, in the Eucharist, the wine of the grapes becomes, in a mystery, His body and blood. The Church's participation in this mystery is a foretaste of the land of promise—the world to come, the eternal kingdom of God.

13:26–33 The spies returned to Israel and showed them the fruit of a land flowing with milk and honey (vv. 26, 27). But there was a barrier—there were well-armed and strategically prepared people in the land: the Amalekites, the Hittites, the Jebusites, the Amorites, and the Canaanites, along with the descendants of Anak, who were giants (vv. 28, 29, 33). This problem overcame the seeing-is-believing kind of faith, as ten out of the twelve spies gave a bad-news report (vv. 30, 31). Yes, the land flowed with milk and honey, but using only human reason, they concluded that victory against such obstacles was impossible. Thus, their faulty reasoning and unnatural fear destroyed what little faith they possessed. But Joshua and Caleb possessed a bold and saving faith in the Lord, for their faith was beyond the seeing-is-believing kind. They saw Him who is invisible.

The various tribes of Gentiles listed here are types of the sinful passions, which at times seem impossible to overcome. But those possessing a boldly confident and saving faith will be zealous like Joshua and Caleb, knowing the Lord Jesus Christ is able to help them overcome their temptations and sins. Such faith propels them toward the land of promise—the world to come.

14:1–4 Unbelief produced vices in the congregation. They were depressed and melancholy (cried and wept that night, v. 1). They rebelled against their godly leadership (against Moses and Aaron, v. 2). They were cowards (fall in war, v. 3). Their thinking was irrational (wives and children shall be plundered; return to Egypt, v. 3). They made an irrational choice (select a ruler and return to Egypt, v. 4). Unbelief toward the Lord produces many vices—especially irrational choices, for unbelief is contrary to a rational mind.

14:6–9 But Joshua and Caleb were strong in faith, which produced virtues in them. They desired the land of promise (extremely good land, v. 7). They believed the Lord was with them in the fight (bring us into this land, v. 8). They stood against unbelief (do not apostatize, v. 9). They were willing to be martyrs (stone them with stones, v. 10). The Son of God stood with them (appeared in the cloud, v. 10).

14:11 The Lord asked two questions to show us His opposition to unbelief. Even the miracles He performed could not bring the people to faith. Neither did the miracles He performed after His Incarnation win them over (Jn 10:38). Nevertheless, out of His love for them, He gave them every opportunity to believe. Unbelief is a deep-seated evil.

14:12 Unbelief leads to death and self-destruction. For there is no remedy for unbelief. It ultimately led them to the loss of God's kingdom (Mt 21:43), as it does for all (Rom 11:22).

14:13–20 Moses' major concern was the Lord's name, for he loved Him with all his heart. He also loved his neighbor as himself, for he was also concerned for the people. The Lord revealed Moses' virtues as an example of true faith for all to see.

14:21 The earth will be part of the world to come, for it shall be filled with the glory of the Lord.

14:22–38 Just as unbelief kept the children of Israel from the land of promise, so it will keep us from the promise of the world to come if we fail to live by faith (Heb 3; 4).

14:39–45 Their confession of sin was empty, for they did not amend their ways. Their confession did not lead to obedience, for unbelief ruled them (you transgress the word of the Lord, v. 41).

15:1, 2 The Lord's word would not fail, for Israel would inherit the land of promise, but without the unbelievers. Even their unbelief could not nullify the promises of God (Rom 3:3, 4).

15:3–16 Once in the land of promise, Israel was to offer two additional sacrifices together with their whole burnt offerings (vv. 3–12). One was to consist of fine flour mixed with oil, and the other of wine as a drink offering.

The fine flour was a type of the bread in the Eucharist. And fine speaks of Christ's body as being pure. The fine flour, when mingled with oil, was a type of the Holy Spirit, who is called down at the epiclesis in the Divine Liturgy. The wine of the drink offering was a type of the blood of Christ in the Eucharist. These types were fulfilled by the Lord on Great and Holy Thursday when He established the Eucharist with His disciples.

In Israel, the same sacrificial laws governing the native-born Jews also applied to the resident aliens, who were Gentiles (vv. 13–16). This reveals the Eucharist in the new covenant would be both for Jews and Gentiles.

16:1, 2 Korah rose up before Moses. Scripture calls this "the rebellion of Korah" (Jude 11). He was a Levite, and therefore a member of the "clergy." He also influenced two hundred fifty "laity," who were rulers of the congregation, chosen members of the council and men of note. This was no small-time rebellion.

16:3, 4 The rebels accused Moses and Aaron of self-exaltation, the very sin of which they themselves were guilty. Self-exaltation is vainglory, the root of all sins. Moses, on the other hand, fell on his face, for he was the most humble man in all the earth.

It is fine to be praised by another, but not by oneself: "Let your neighbor praise you, and not your own mouth, / A stranger, and not your own lips" (Pr 27:2). However, one is tested when praised by others: "But a man is tested by the mouth of those who praise him" (Pr 27:22). Korah, however, failed this test, for he "loved the praise of men more than the praise of God" (Jn 12:43).

16:22–24 Moses raised a crucial question before the Lord: "If one man sinned, will the Lord's anger be on all the congregation?" The Lord's answer was clear: "Withdraw from around Korah's company." In other words, the Lord's answer was, "No." Furthermore, Korah's sons were not guilty because of their father's sin, for they did not perish with him (26:11).

Moses' question, the Lord's answer, and the longevity of Korah's sons refute the false doctrine of original sin. This evil doctrine teaches that Adam's offspring (all mankind) are guilty before God because of their father's transgression. This teaching is false, because each man is guilty before God for his own transgressions.

17:2 Strange fire was unauthorized worship. Korah was a Levite but not a priest, and only priests of the Aaronic priesthood were authorized to offer worship on behalf of Israel. Nor were the two hundred fifty "laity" so authorized.

The priests and bishops of the Melchizedek priesthood in the Church are the only ones authorized to offer up the holy gifts in the Divine Liturgy on behalf of the Church. These holy gifts become the body and blood of Christ in a mystery.

17:3–5 The two hundred fifty copper censers were beaten into plates and sanctified by the altar of whole burnt offering to which they were attached. They were fastened there as a sign and a memorial for the children of Israel. A sign is a visible seal of some truth revealed in a memorial. In this case, the copper plates fastened to the altar were the sign, and the memorial was the truth revealed in the sign. Thus, the memorial in this sign was that no outsider who is not of Aaron's seed should put incense before the Lord and be like Korah and his insurrection.

Israel had a short memory, for the next day after the copper plates were fastened to the altar, they rebelled again (v. 6).

17:6–15 The high priest Aaron took his censer, put hot coals in it, threw incense on the coals, then censed the people. This action made atonement for them, and the plague ceased. Christ our Great High Priest offered His life-giving body on the cross (the hot coals from the altar). The smoke of incense ascends, and Christ the Great High Priest ascended into the heavenly holy of holies, and sprinkled the life-giving blood of His cross on the heavenly altar.

17:16–26 The Lord gave Israel another sign (v. 25) to cure their rebellion. Aaron's rod sprouted and put forth buds, and had produced blossoms and yielded ripe almonds (v. 23). These buds, blossoms, and almonds speak of life and fruits. The life-giving rod was a type of the life-giving cross.

19:1, 2 The Son of God, the Lord, spoke both to Moses and Aaron. He spoke of the injunction of the law, whatever the Lord ordered. Therefore, the Son of God and His law must always be seen as being connected. They should never be thought of as disconnected, which is legalism, the disconnection between the law and the Lawgiver.

19:9, 17 The ashes of the burnt offering of purification were placed in a vessel, and running water was poured over them. Thus, the ashes and the water were mixed together, and this became water of purification, a type of the Sacrament of Baptism.

20:1–5 The Desert of Sin was characterized as a place where nothing is sown, neither figs nor vines nor pomegranates; nor is there any water to drink (v. 5). The people had the opportunity to respond in one of two ways: be thankful or be frustrated. They chose frustration.

20:11, 12 Moses struck the rock in unbelief, and this action would keep him from leading Israel into the land of promise. It is unbelief to disobey the Lord's direction, for He told Moses to take the rod and speak to the rock (v. 8). However, he struck the rock twice. So he violated the type.

This rock represented the spiritual Rock, Christ Himself, for it was He who ordered Moses to speak to the rock (1Co 10:4). After His Incarnation, He would be smitten once, not twice, for the sins of the world (Rom 6:10). From His life-giving cross would come the waters of life, "springing up into everlasting life" (Jn 4:14).

20:13 This event in vv. 1–12 was called the Water of Contention for two reasons: first, because of Israel's scoffing, and second, because the Lord was sanctified among them. In spite of Israel's scoffing, Christ in His power gave them water to drink.

20:16 His Angel is the Word and Son of God, for it was He who brought Israel up out of Egypt with His almighty power.

20:28 Aaron's death revealed the weakness and temporary nature of the Aaronic priesthood, for it could not overcome death. But Christ destroyed death by His death; therefore, His priesthood continues unto ages of ages (Heb 7:23–25).

21:9 The people who looked on the copper serpent on the signal pole lived. They lived because the motionless copper serpent signaled that the power of the venom in them was now dead.

The serpent bit Adam in the Garden of Eden, and his venom eventually caused him to die physically and decay in the grave: "So all the days Adam lived were nine hundred and thirty years, and he died" (Gn 5:5). Death also came into the world through him (Rom 5:12).

When Christ hung motionless on the cross (Jn 3:14), His dead body signaled the end of death's reign over man's body, for "He trampled down death by His death, upon those in the tombs bestowing life" (sung by the Church at Easter). The copper serpent "saved those who looked upon it, not because it lived, but because it was killed, and killed with it the powers that were subject to it, being destroyed as it deserved. And what is the fitting epitaph for it from us? 'O death, where is your sting? O grave, where is your victory' (1Co 15:55). You are overthrown by the cross; you are slain by Him who is the Giver of life; you are without breath, dead, without motion, even though you keep the form of a serpent lifted up on high on a pole" (GrgTheo).

22:22–38 The Angel is the Word and Son of God. He warned Balaam to speak only what He told him to speak: "Only the word I may speak to you, this you must be careful to speak" (v. 35). Later, Balaam told Balak he could only speak whatever word God may put in my mouth, this I must speak (v. 38). Thus, Balaam called the Angel "God."

22:22–27 The donkey knew his Master and Creator, for she saw Him. However, Balaam could not see Him because of his darkened heart. Likewise, when this Angel, who is the Word, became flesh, neither Israel nor the world at large knew Him (Jn 1:10, 11), but the donkey and the ox knew Him at His birth in the cave.

In the Christmas icon, the donkey stands nearest Christ in the cave, and next to it the ox, for they knew their Master and Creator, but Israel did not know Him, as Isaiah prophesied (Is 1:3, 4).

23:5 God the Word put a word in Balaam's mouth, just as He said He would in 22:35.

23:7 The Spirit is the Holy Spirit, and God is God the Father. The Holy Spirit spoke by the prophet Balaam ("the Holy Spirit . . . who spoke by the prophets"—Creed). Therefore, the Holy Trinity is revealed in vv. 5 and 7, for where One of the Persons is present, present also are the other Two.

23:10 Speaking by the Spirit of God, Balaam could wish the greatest possible good for himself, namely, for his soul to die with the souls of the righteous, for in this wish there is no fear of death. For he who dies in Christ is made a partaker of His righteousness in baptism. (AmbM)

🕮 24:2, 3, 5–9, 17, 18 This passage is read at Vespers of the Feast of the Nativity of the Lord.

24:7 The Man is the Word become flesh (Jn 1:14). He is true Man and true God. He became Man to bring man into His kingdom, if they willingly follow Him there.

24:9 In His burial, this Man was like a lion resting in a cave. Those who bless this Man are blessed, but those who curse Him bring a curse on themselves.

24:17 Christ is the Star (Mt 2:2) and the Man who rose from the dead (rise out of Jacob and out of Israel). The three wise men of the East knew this prophecy, and when they saw His star, they followed it to the cave where He was born.

24:25 Balaam taught Balak "to put a stumbling block before the children of Israel, to eat things sacrificed to idols" (Rev 2:14; see Nm 31:16). Soon afterward, the Israelites killed Balaam with the sword when they killed the kings of Midian (31:8; Jos 13:22).

25:1, 2 Balaam counseled Israel through Balak to commit fornication and to worship idols (31:16; Rev 2:14). For he perceived the weakness in the souls of the Israelites. What was that weakness? Their souls were subject to their desires, rather than the opposite. For when desires control the soul, it easily falls into fornication and idolatry (JohnCas).

25:7, 8 The spear speaks of baptism, which kills corrupt desires in those who walk in their newness of life. "When we are aware of the devil's attacks, we should repeat to ourselves the apostolic words: 'As many of us as were baptized into Christ were baptized into His death' (Rom 6:3). Now if we have been conformed to His death, sin henceforth in us is surely a corpse, pierced through by the spear of baptism, as that fornicator was thrust through by the zealous Phinehas" (GrgNy).

26:64, 65 The first census of the men of war was 603,550 (1:46). From this massive number, only two survived to enter the land of promise! Why? Because they always went astray in their heart and did not know the Lord's ways (Ps 94:10; Heb 3:10). Their hearts were blinded by rebellion against the Lord, who said of them, "They shall surely die in the desert." Therefore, we, too, are admonished, "Beware, brethren, lest there be in any of you an evil heart of unbelief in departing from the living God" (Heb 3:12). This evil heart of unbelief is equated with the sin of rebellion, which is inexcusable.

27:5–7 The daughters of Zelophehad would have their share in the inheritance when Israel entered the land of promise. Therefore, Christ saw these faithful women as coequal with the men. They were not, so to speak, "second-class citizens" in His sight. Equality in Christ also holds true in the Church, for both men and women are "heirs together of the grace of life" (1Pt 3:7).

27:12 Moses would see the land of promise, but he could not possess it. But this was no great loss to him compared to his true vision. For he saw "the resurrection of the dead and the life of the world to come" (Creed; see Heb 11:26). He waited eagerly to possess this inheritance.

27:14 Moses' failure to sanctify the Lord at the Water of Contention did not disqualify him from his true inheritance. In spite of his sin, he was the most humble man on the earth, and humility is "the beginning and the end of salvation" (JohnChr).

27:16 Moses acknowledged Christ as the God of the spirits of all flesh, and therefore, so are the Father and the Holy Spirit. For the three Persons are one in essence and undivided.

27:17 Joshua was the new shepherd of Israel. Both he and Moses were types of Christ, "the great Shepherd of the sheep" (Heb 13:20). For as they were over the house of Israel, so He is over the Church. However, there are multitudes without this Shepherd; therefore, He commanded us to pray that He "send out laborers into the harvest" (Mt 9:36–38).

27:18 The Spirit is the Holy Spirit. Truly, Moses believed the one God to be the Father, the Son, and the Holy Spirit.

28:1—29:39 The Son of God spoke to Moses, and the things He spoke on this occasion cover chs. 28 and 29. These two chapters form a comprehensive, complete, and well-ordered arrangement of Israel's liturgical worship in any given calendar year. These liturgics, given in various places in Exodus, Leviticus and Numbers, are here brought together as one unified whole. And once Israel completed their conquest of Canaan, these could be put into effect.

Israel's liturgical worship existed for the sanctification of the time and life of every Israelite. It sanctified time and life, because it was arranged around the number seven. Its beginning point and center was in the seventh day of the week—the Sabbath day. And the number seven was regulated according to the divisions of time established at Creation (Gn 1–11)—into days, weeks, months, years, and periods of years.

Thus, the liturgical worship ascended from (1) the daily offerings (Ex 29:38–42; Nm 28:3–8), to (2) the weekly offerings (Ex 20:8–11; Lv 23:3; Nm 28:9, 10), to (3) the monthly offerings (Nm 28:11–15), to (4) the yearly offerings (Ex 12:1–20; 23:15, 16; 34:22; Lv 16:1–34; 23:1–44; Nm 28:16–29:38), to (5) the sabbatical year (Ex 23:10, 11; Lv 25:1–7), and eventually to (6) the Year of Remission (Lv 25:8–55; 27:17–25).

Israel's liturgical worship was designed to sanctify time and all life. This sanctification would make the offerings to be a sweet aroma to the Lord (28:2). For the Lord was well-pleased when the Israelites were sanctified to the extent possible under Old Testament worship.

28:2 When Israel offered what the Lord commanded, they were only returning to Him what was His in the first place. The same is true of our offerings in the Church. "When we make a return we give nothing of our own, but those things which we have before received from Christ, this being especially of His grace, that He should require, as from us, His own gifts. He bears witness to this in Numbers when He says: 'My gifts, My presents, My burnt offerings, you shall take care to offer Me as a sweet aroma in my feasts.' That is, those things you give Me are yours, as having received them from Me, but they are the gifts of God. Let us offer to the Lord every virtue, and that true holiness which is in Him, and in piety let us keep the feast to Him with those things He hallowed for us" (AthanG).

30:1 Moses' greatness lay in the fact that he passed on to Israel everything the Son of God—the Lord—commanded. For He was "over His own house," whereas Moses was His faithful servant "in all His house" (Heb 3:5, 6). We also are in His house, "if we hold fast the confidence and the rejoicing of the hope firm to the end" (Heb 3:6).

31:8, 16 Balaam had prophesied in the Lord's name (chs. 22–24), but he caused Israel to worship idols and commit fornication (25:1–3; Rev 2:14). He became a false prophet and in the end was killed for his actions, because he despised the Lord's word and taught Israel to do the same. He replaced love for the true God with love for money. His false love then led him to worship Baal and to commit fornication. As St. Paul said, "The love of money is a root of all kinds of evil" (1Ti 6:10). Money in itself is not the root of all evil. The love of money is, for as the Lord said, "You cannot serve God and mammon [riches]" (Mt 6:24). The love of money is idolatry (Col 3:5).

Today, "many false prophets have gone out into the world" (1Jn 4:1). They "run greedily in the error of Balaam for profit" (Jude 11). "They have forsaken the right way and gone astray, following the way of Balaam the son of Beor, who loved the wages of unrighteousness" (2Pt 2:15). Like Balaam, they have "eyes full of adultery and that cannot cease from sin, enticing unstable souls. They have a heart trained in covetous practices, and are accursed children" (2Pt 2:14). They "secretly bring in destructive heresies, even denying the Lord who bought them, and bring on themselves swift destruction" (2Pt 2:1).

31:21–24 The Midianites were corrupted by the love of money, idolatry, and fornication; therefore, everything taken from them had to be purified either by fire or water. Fire speaks of the Holy Spirit, and the water of purification foreshadows the waters of baptism. For in the baptismal waters, the Holy Spirit cleanses us with His fire, and we are born anew in union with Christ in His death, burial, and Resurrection. The old man of covetousness, idolatry, and fornication is crucified with Christ, and the new man is renewed to live in virtue and holiness (Rom 6:3–5; Jn 3:3–5; Mt 3:11).

32:5–7 The armies of Israel secured the lands east of the Jordan, which were suitable for cattle. The sons of Reuben and Gad requested these lands as their inheritance, without the necessity of crossing the Jordan to help their brothers fight for theirs. So they appealed to Moses as the arbitrator and judge. But Moses called these sons "a body of sinful men" (v. 14). They coveted what they saw at the expense of their brothers. This covetous spirit eventually led them into idolatry and into captivity in Assyria (1Ch 5:25, 26).

A man from the crowd asked Jesus to make his brother divide the inheritance with him, but Jesus declined, because He did not come to be a judge or arbitrator like Moses. Then

He went on to say to this man, “Take heed and beware of covetousness, for one’s life does not consist in the abundance of the things he possesses” (Lk 12:15). Jesus came to save the world, but we cannot be saved if we are covetous.

33:1 A stage was a particular place Israel camped during their forty-year journey from Egypt through the wilderness to Canaan. Thirty-eight stages are mentioned in this chapter. At the thirty-eighth stage, they “camped west of Moab by the Jordan opposite Jericho” (v. 48). From this location, they would soon cross over the Jordan for their conquest of Canaan, the land of promise. Life is a journey from this fallen world (Egypt and the wilderness) to the kingdom of God (the land of promise).

33:2 The Lord led Israel the entire way in their journey. He tested them with harsh experiences “to know what was in their heart” (Dt 8:2, 15; see also 29:4; 32:12, 16; Ps 76:21; 77:14, 52, 53; 106:7).

God’s people are tested with harsh experiences, which bring out what is in the heart. These tests reveal whether we truly love God or not. If we pass them, they help prepare us for entrance into the kingdom of God (1Pt 1:3–7).

33:8 Many things that happened to Israel serve as types for us and for our instruction and learning (Rom 15:4; 1Co 10:6, 11). For example, Israel’s passage through the Red Sea was a type of baptism (1Co 10:1, 2).

33:14 Israel was tested at Rephidim, but they abused Moses and tempted the Lord (Ex 17:1–7). They failed this test, which proved they did not love God. Someone may say, “I love God,” but testing will prove whether or not his statement is true.

34:6 The Great Sea is the Mediterranean Sea.

35:1–8 The tribe of Levi was to be supported by the twelve tribes. These gifts enumerated here would teach love to the twelve, for Levi served them in the liturgical service of the tabernacle. Therefore, it was only fitting the twelve should show loving support to Levi with money and possessions. On the other hand, their love would teach the Levites lowliness of mind, so their liturgical service might not puff up the Levites with arrogance, as being above “the laity.”

Likewise, in the New Testament, “the Lord commanded that those who preach the gospel should live from the gospel” (1Co 9:14). The case regarding the Levites laid a foundation for this. For since the dignity of a teacher sometimes elates him, the necessity of requiring monetary aid from those to whom he ministers helps keep him humble. On the other hand, those who show this love to their teacher also learn to love others as well. Humility, love, and gentleness are engendered on both sides (JohnChr).

The Book of Deuteronomy

Author

Moses is the author, by the testimony of the book itself (1:5; 31:9, 22, 24) and by the tradition and consensus of Israel and the Church.

Date

This book is dated near the end of Moses' life, before the entrance into Canaan.

Major Theme

Loving God with all our heart and strength (see 6:5). This is a call to commitment to the Lord in worship and obedience. Moses' second address (chs. 4–26) is the heart of this message. Another emphasis that is first introduced in this book is the specific location, Jerusalem, in which worship of the Lord is to take place. Moses frequently repeats the theme of reward for keeping the covenant and punishment for ignoring it.

Background

The book was written in the territory of Moab where the Jordan River flows into the Dead Sea. The end of Moses' life is imminent. He has given his final addresses, transferred his authority to Joshua, and is sending the Israelites into the promised land. Their nomadic lifestyle is about to end, and Moses has prepared them for life in Canaan. The narrative of Moses to the people of Israel has a different tenor now; the Book of Deuteronomy, which means the "second lawgiving," comes from Moses' heart in a warm, personal, homiletic form as compared to his other books.

Deuteronomy 1

Moses' Instructions

1 Now these are the words Moses spoke to all Israel beyond the Jordan in the desert, in the plain opposite Suph, between Paran, Tophel, Laban, Hazeroth, and Dizahab. 2 It is eleven days' journey from Horeb by way of Mount Seir to Kadesh Barnea.

3 Now it came to pass in the fortieth year, in the eleventh month, on the first day of the month, Moses spoke to the sons of Israel according to all the Lord gave him as commandments to them, 4 after he killed Sihon king of the Amorites, who dwelt in Heshbon, and Og king of Bashan, who dwelt at Ashtaroth in Edrei. 5 Beyond the Jordan in the land of Moab, Moses began to explain this law, saying, 6 "The Lord our God spoke to us in Horeb, saying,
'You have dwelt long enough at this mountain. 7 Turn and take your journey and go to the mountain of the Amorites, to all the neighboring places in the Arabah, in the mountains and in the plain, to the south and on the seacoast, to the land of the Canaanites, and to Lebanon, as far as the great river, the River Euphrates. 8 Behold, I am delivering the land in your presence; go in and inherit the land I swore to your fathers—to Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob—to give it to them and their seed after them.'

Judges Appointed

9 "So I spoke to you at that time, saying, 'I alone am not able to bear you.
10 The Lord your God multiplied you, and here you are today, as the stars of heaven in multitude. 11 May the Lord God of your fathers make you a thousand times more numerous than you are, and bless you, just as He said.
12 How can I alone bear your labors, your burdens, and your lawsuits?
13 Choose wise, understanding, and knowledgeable men from among your tribes, and I will make them leaders over you.'

14 "Then you answered me and said, 'The thing you told us to do is good.'
15 So I took from you wise, understanding, and knowledgeable men and made them leaders over you: leaders of thousands, of hundreds, of fifties, and of tens; judges to interpret the law for you.

16 "Then I commanded your judges at that time, saying, 'Hear the cases between your brethren, and judge righteously between a man and his brother or the resident alien with him. [17]You shall not show partiality in judgment; you shall judge the small and the great; you shall not shrink before any man's presence, for the judgment is God's. The case too hard for you, bring to me, and I will hear it.' [18]So I commanded you at that time all the words you should do.

Spies Sent Out

[19]"So we departed from Horeb, and went through all that great and fearful desert you saw on the way to the mountains of the Amorite, as the Lord our God commanded us. Then we came to Kadesh Barnea. [20]Then I said to you, 'You have come to the mountains of the Amorite, which the Lord our God is giving us. [21]Behold, the Lord your God is delivering the land to you in your presence; go up and take it as an inheritance, in the manner the Lord God of your fathers spoke to you; do not fear or be afraid.' [22]Then every one of you came near me and said, 'Let us send men before us, and let them spy out the land for us and report back to us the way we should go up in it, and the cities into which we should come.'

[23]"The plan pleased me well; so I took twelve of your men, one man from each tribe. [24]Then they departed and went up into the mountain, and came to the Valley of Eshcol, and surveyed it. [25]They also took some of the fruit of the land in their hands and brought it down to us; and said, 'The land the Lord our God gives us is good.'

[26]"Nevertheless you would not go up, but disobeyed the word of the Lord your God; [27]and you murmured in your tents, and said, 'Because the Lord hates us, He brought us out of the land of Egypt to deliver us into the hands of the Amorites, to destroy us. [28]Where can we go up? Our brethren caused our heart to revolt, saying, "The people are great and tall and stronger than we; and the cities are great and fortified up to heaven; moreover, we saw the sons of giants there." '

[29]"Then I said to you, 'Do not be terrified or afraid of them. [30]The Lord your God, who goes before your face, He will fight them with you in all things, as He did for you in Egypt [31]and in this desert, where you saw how the Lord your God carried you, as a man carries his son, in all the way you went until you came to this place.' [32]Yet, in all this matter, you did not believe the Lord your God, [33]who went in the way before you to choose a place for you, leading you with the fire by night and the cloud by day and showing you the road, that you might travel it.

Israel's Rebellion Is Punished

34"So the Lord heard the sound of your words and was provoked to wrath, and took an oath, saying, 35'Not one of these men shall see this good land I swore to give their fathers 36except Caleb the son of Jephunneh; he will see it, and to him and his sons I give the land on which he walked, because he is attached to the things of the Lord.' 37The Lord was also angry with me for your sakes, saying, 'Even you shall not enter there. 38Joshua the son of Nun, who stands before you, he will enter there. Encourage him, for he will cause Israel to inherit it. 39Thus every young child who today has no knowledge of good or evil, they will enter there; to them I will give it, and they will have it as an inheritance. 40But as for you, turn and camp in the desert road towards the Red Sea.'

41"Then you answered and said to me, 'We sinned before the Lord our God; we will go up and fight, just as the Lord our God commanded us.' So when every one of you girded on his weapons of war and assembled together, you went up into the mountain.

42"Then the Lord said to me, 'Tell them, "Do not go up or fight, for I am not with you; lest you be crushed before your enemies." ' 43So I spoke to you; yet you would not listen, but transgressed the word of the Lord and presumptuously went up into the mountain. 44Then the Amorite who dwelt in that mountain came out against you, and chased you as bees do, and wounded you from Seir to Hormah. 45Then you sat down and wept before the Lord, but the Lord would not listen to your voice nor pay attention to you. 46So you encamped in Kadesh many days, according to the days you spent there.

Deuteronomy 2

The Years in the Desert

1"So we turned and journeyed on the desert road along the Red Sea, as the Lord spoke to me, and we encircled Mount Seir for many days. 2Then the Lord spoke to me, saying, 3'Let your encircling of this mountain be sufficient; therefore, turn northward. 4Also command the people, saying,
"You are about to pass through the boundaries of your brethren, the sons of Esau, who live in Seir; and they will be afraid of you and will be in exceeding dread of you. 5Do not engage them in war, for I will not give you any of their land, no, not so much as one footstep, because I gave Mount Seir to the sons of Esau as an inheritance. 6You shall buy food from them with money, that you may eat; and you shall also buy water by the measure from them with money, that you may drink. 7For the Lord your God blessed you in all the work of your hands. Consider how you crossed that great and fearful desert. Behold, these forty years the Lord your God was with you, and you lacked nothing.” ’

8“Then we passed beyond our brethren the sons of Esau, who dwell in Seir, along the road of the Arabah from Elath and Ezion Geber; and we turned and passed along the desert road toward Moab. 9Then the Lord said to me, ‘Do not be at enmity with Moab, or wage war with them, for I will not give you any of their land as an inheritance, because I gave Ar to the sons of Lot to inherit.’ ” 10(The Emim dwelt there in times past, a people as great and numerous and strong as the Anakim. 11They were also regarded as Raphain, like the Anakim, but the Moabites call them Emim. 12The Horite formerly dwelt in Seir, but the sons of Esau rooted them out and destroyed them from before their face, and dwelt in their place, in the manner Israel did in the land of their inheritance, which the Lord gave them.) 13“ ‘Now rise, break camp and cross over the Valley of Zered.’ So we crossed over the Valley of Zered. 14So the days we took to come from Kadesh Barnea until we crossed over the Valley of Zered were thirty-eight years, until all the generation of the men of war died out of the camp, as the Lord swore to them. 15For the hand of the Lord was on them, to destroy them out of the camp until they were consumed.

16“So it was, when all the men of war died from the midst of the people, 17then the Lord spoke to me, saying, 18‘Today you shall pass by the borders of Moab at Seir, 19and you shall draw near the sons of Ammon, but do not be at enmity with them or wage war with them, for I will not give you any land of the sons of Ammon as an inheritance, because I gave it to the sons of Lot as an inheritance.’ ” 20(Formerly, it was also regarded as the land of the Raphain, for the Raphain dwelt upon it. But the Ammonites call them Zamzummim, 21a people great and numerous and stronger than you, just as the Anakim. But the Lord destroyed them before their face; and they dispossessed them and dwelt in their place to this day; 22just as they did for the sons of Esau, who dwelt in Seir, when they destroyed the Horites from before their face. They dispossessed them and dwelt in their place to this day. 23Also the Avim, who dwelt in villages as far as Gaza—the Cappadocians, who came from Cappadocia, destroyed them and dwelt in their place.)

24“ ‘Now therefore, rise, break camp, and travel along the Arnon Valley. Behold, I give into your hands Sihon the Amorite, king of Heshbon, and his land. Enter your inheritance and engage him in war. 25On this day, begin to put the dread and fear of you upon the face of all nations under heaven, who when they hear the report of you, they will tremble and be in anguish because of your presence.’

Israel Victorious over King Sihon

26“So I sent ambassadors from the Kedemoth Desert to Sihon king of Heshbon with words of peace, saying, 27‘Let me pass through your land; I will keep strictly to the road, and I will turn neither to the right nor to the left. 28You shall sell me food for money so I may eat, and sell me water for money so I may drink; only let me pass through on foot, 29just as the sons of Esau, who dwell in Seir, and the Moabites, who dwell in Ar, did for me, until I cross the Jordan to the land the Lord our God is giving us.’ 30But Sihon king of Heshbon would not let us pass through, for the Lord our God hardened his spirit and made his heart stubborn, that He might deliver him into your hands, as on this day. 31Then the Lord said to me, ‘Behold, I have begun to give Sihon and his land over to you. Begin to inherit his land.’ 32So Sihon and all his people came out to engage us in war at Jahaz. 33But the Lord our God delivered him over to us; so we defeated him, his sons, and all his people. 34We conquered all his cities at that time, and we utterly destroyed every city, one after the other, and we did not leave their women and children alive. 35We took only the cattle as plunder for ourselves, along with the spoil of the cities. 36From Aroer on the bank of the Arnon River, and from the city in the ravine, as far as the mountain of Gilead, there was not one city that escaped us; the Lord our God delivered them all into our hands. 37Only we did not go into the land of the sons of Ammon—anywhere along the Jabbok River, or to the cities of the mountains, as the Lord our God commanded us.

Deuteronomy 3

Israel Defeats King Og

1“Then we turned and went up the road to Bashan; and Og king of Bashan came out against us, he and all his people, to battle at Edrei. [2]And the Lord said to me, ‘Do not fear him, for I delivered him and all his people and all his land into your hands; you shall do to him as you did to Sihon king of the Amorites, who dwelt at Heshbon.’ [3]So the Lord our God delivered Og king of Bashan into our hands and all his people, and we struck him until none of his seed remained. [4]Also at that time we conquered all his cities; there was not a city we did not take from them: sixty cities, all the region of Argob, the kingdom of Og in Bashan. [5]All these cities were fortified with high walls, gates, and bars, besides a great many cities of the Perizzites. [6]We utterly destroyed them, as we did Sihon king of Heshbon, utterly destroying every city, one after the other, and the women and children. [7]But all the cattle and spoil of the cities we took as booty for ourselves.

[8]“At that time we also took the land from the hands of the two kings of the Amorites beyond the Jordan, from the Arnon River to Mount Hermon [9](the Sidonians call Hermon Sirion, and the Amorite calls it Senir); [10]all the cities of the plain, all Gilead, and all Bashan, as far as Salcah and Edrei, cities of the kingdom of Og in Bashan. [11]For only Og king of Bashan remained of the Rephaim. Indeed his bedstead was an iron bedstead. Behold, it is in the citadel of the sons of Ammon. Nine cubits is its length and four cubits its width, measured by the forearm of a man.

The Tribes East of Jordan

[12]“So we inherited this land at that time, from Aroer, by the Arnon River, and half the mountain of Gilead; and I gave his cities to Reuben and Gad. [13]The rest of Gilead and all Bashan, the kingdom of Og, I gave to half the tribe of Manasseh. (All the region of Argob, all that Bashan, will be reckoned as the land of the Rephaim. [14]Jair the son of Manasseh took all the region of Argob, as far as the borders of the Geshurites and the Maachathites, and called Bashan after his own name, Havoth Jair, to this day.)

[15]“Also I gave Gilead to Machir. [16]Now to Reuben and Gad I gave from Gilead as far as the Arnon River, the middle of the river as the border, and as far as the Jabbok River, the border of the sons of Ammon; [17]and the Arabah and the Jordan are the border stretching from Machanarath down to the Sea of the Arabah, the Salt Sea, to Pisgah in the east.

[18]“Then I commanded you at that time, saying, ‘The Lord your God gave you this land as an inheritance. All you men of valor shall cross over armed before your brethren, the sons of Israel. [19]But your wives, your children, and your cattle (I know you have much cattle) will stay in the cities I gave you, 20until the Lord your God gives rest to your brethren as to you, and they also inherit the land the Lord our God is giving them beyond the Jordan. Then each may return to the inheritance I gave you.'

Moses Cannot Enter the Land

21"Then I commanded Joshua at that time, saying, 'Your eyes saw all the Lord our God did to these two kings; so will the Lord our God do to all the kingdoms through which you pass. 22You must not fear them, for the Lord our God Himself fights for you.' 23Then I pleaded with the Lord at that time, saying, 24'O Lord, O Lord, You have begun to show Your servant Your strength and power and Your mighty hand and outstretched arm, for what god is there in heaven or on earth who can do anything like Your works and Your mighty deeds? 25Let me cross over and see this good land, this good mountain, and Antilebanon.'

26"But the Lord disregarded me on your account, and would not listen to me. So the Lord said to me, 'Enough of that. Speak no more to Me of this matter. 27Go up to the top of the stony mountain and lift your eyes toward the sea, the north wind, the south wind, and the sunrise; behold it with your eyes, for you will not cross over this Jordan. 28But command Joshua, strengthen him and encourage him; for he will go over before this people, and he will cause them to inherit the land you see.' 29So we stayed in the valley opposite Beth Peor.

Moses Urges Israel to Obey

1"Now, O Israel, listen to the ordinances and judgments I teach you today to observe, that you may live and become numerous and inherit the land the Lord God of your fathers is giving you. 2You shall not add to the word I command you, nor take from it, that you may keep the commandments of the Lord your God, all that I command you today. 3Your eyes saw all the things the Lord our God did at Baal Peor; for the Lord your God destroyed from among you all the men who followed Baal of Peor. 4But you who held fast to the Lord your God are alive today, every one of you.

5"Surely I taught you ordinances and judgments, as the Lord commanded me, that you should act according to them in the land you go to inherit. 6Therefore be careful to observe them; for this is your wisdom and your understanding in the sight of the Gentiles, who will hear all these ordinances and say, ‘Surely this great nation is a wise and understanding people.’ 7For what great nation is there that has God so near to it, as the Lord our God is to us, for whatever reason we may call upon Him?

8“Also, what great nation is there that has such ordinances and righteous judgments as are in all this law I set before you today? 9Only take heed to yourself and diligently guard your soul, lest you forget all the things your eyes saw, and lest they depart from your heart all the days of your life; and you shall teach them to your sons and the sons of your sons, 10especially concerning the day you stood before the Lord your God in Horeb on the day of assembly, when the Lord said to me, ‘Gather the people to Me and let them hear My words, so they may learn to fear Me all the days they live on the earth, and may teach their sons.’ 11Then you came near and stood at the foot of the mountain, and the mountain burned with fire to the midst of heaven, with darkness, gloom, storm, and a great voice. 12The Lord spoke to you from the midst of the fire. You heard the sound of the words, but saw no form; you only heard a voice. 13So He declared to you His covenant, the Ten Commandments, which He commanded you to perform; and He wrote them on two tablets of stone.

Avoid Idolatry

14“Then the Lord commanded me at that time to teach you ordinances and judgments, so you might observe them in the land you are crossing over to inherit. 15So be careful to guard your souls, for you saw no form when the Lord spoke to you at Horeb on the mountain from the midst of the fire. 16Do not act lawlessly and make for yourselves a carved form of any image: the likeness of male or female, 17the likeness of any cattle on the earth, or the likeness of any winged bird that flies under heaven, 18the likeness of anything that creeps on the ground, or the likeness of any fish in the waters beneath the earth.

19“Also do not act lawlessly when you lift your eyes to heaven and see the sun, the moon, and the stars, all the adornment of heaven, and you thus go astray and worship and serve them, which the Lord your God assigned to all the nations under heaven. 20But the Lord took you and brought you out of the iron furnace, from Egypt, to be His people, an inheritance, as you are this day. [21]Furthermore, the Lord was angry with me about what you said, and swore I would not cross over the Jordan and enter the land the Lord your God is giving you as an inheritance. [22]But I am going to die in this land, thus I am not going to cross over this Jordan; but you will cross over and inherit this good land. [23]Take heed to yourselves, lest you forget the covenant the Lord your God made with you and make for yourselves a carved form of anything, concerning which the Lord your God forbade you. [24]For the Lord your God is a consuming fire, a jealous God.

[25]"If you beget sons and the sons of sons and dwell a long time in the land, and act lawlessly and make a carved form of anything, and do evil in the sight of the Lord your God to provoke Him to anger, [26]I call heaven and earth to witness to you today that you will be utterly destroyed from the land you are crossing over the Jordan to inherit. You will not live long on it, but will be utterly annihilated. [27]Then the Lord will scatter you among all the nations, and you will be left few in number among the nations where the Lord will bring you. [28]There you will serve different gods, the works of men's hands, wood and stone, which neither see, hear, eat, nor smell. [29]But from there you will seek the Lord your God, and you will find Him when you seek Him with all your heart and with all your soul in your tribulation; [30]and all these words will find you at the end of days, when you turn to the Lord your God and obey His voice; [31]for the Lord your God is a merciful God. He will not forsake you nor annihilate you, nor forget the covenant of your fathers, which He swore to them.

[32]"For ask now concerning former days, before your day, in which God created man on the earth, and ask from one end of heaven to the other whether any great thing like this has happened, or anything like it has been heard. [33]Did any people ever hear the voice of the living God speaking from the midst of the fire, in the manner you heard, and live? [34]Or did God ever try to go and take for Himself a nation from the midst of another nation, in testing, signs, wonders, and war, and by a mighty hand and outstretched arm, and by great visions, according to all the Lord your God did for you in Egypt before your eyes? [35]To you it was shown that you might know the Lord your God is God; there is none other besides Him. [36]Out of heaven He let you hear His voice, that He might instruct you; and on earth He showed you His great fire, and you heard His words from the midst of the fire. [37]Because He loved your fathers, therefore, He chose you their seed after them; and He brought you out of Egypt with His great strength, [38]destroying from before your face nations greater and mightier than you, to bring you in, to give you their land as an inheritance, as you have it today. [39]Therefore know today and bear in mind, the Lord your God, this God, is in heaven above and on the earth beneath; there is no other besides Him. [40]You shall therefore guard His ordinances and His commandments I command you today that it may be well with you and with your sons after you, and may prolong your days in the land the Lord your God is giving you to guard all the time."

Cities of Refuge

[41]Then Moses set apart three cities beyond the Jordan, toward the rising of the sun, [42]so the manslayer who kills his neighbor without foreknowledge, without hating him previously, might flee into one of these cities and live there: [43]Bezer in the desert on the plateau for Reuben, Ramoth in Gilead for Gad, and Golan in Bashan for Manasseh.

The Law of Moses

[44]Now this is the law Moses set before the sons of Israel. [45]These are the testimonies, the ordinances, and the judgments Moses spoke to the sons of Israel in the desert after they came out of Egypt, [46]beyond the Jordan, in the valley near Beth Peor, in the land of Sihon king of the Amorites, who dwelt in Heshbon, whom Moses and the children of Israel defeated after they came out of Egypt. [47]So they inherited his land and the land of Og king of Bashan, two kings of the Amorites, beyond the Jordan toward the rising of the sun, [48]from Aroer, which is on the bank of the Arnon River, even to Mount Sion (that is, Hermon), [49]and all the Arabah beyond the Jordan toward the rising of the sun, below Asedoth hewn in the rock.

Deuteronomy 5

The Ten Commandments

[1]Now Moses called all Israel, and said to them, "Hear, O Israel, the ordinances and the judgments I speak in your hearing on this day, and you shall learn them and be careful to do them. [2]The Lord our God made a covenant with you in Horeb. [3]The Lord did not make this covenant with your fathers, but with you, all of you alive here today. [4]The Lord spoke to you face to face on the mountain from the midst of the fire. [5]I stood between the Lord and you at that time to declare to you the words of the Lord; for you were afraid because of the fire, and you did not go up the mountain. And He said,

[6]‘I am the Lord your God who brings you from the land of Egypt, out of the house of bondage. [7]There shall be no different gods before My face. [8]You shall not make for yourself an image, neither any likeness of anything in heaven above, or in the earth beneath, or in the waters under the earth; [9]you shall not bow down to them nor serve them, because I am the Lord your God, a jealous God, repaying the sins of the fathers upon the children to the third and fourth generation of those who hate Me, [10]but showing mercy to thousands who love Me and keep My commandments.

[11]‘You shall not take the name of the Lord your God in vain, for the Lord will not cleanse him who takes His name in vain.

[12]‘Observe the Sabbath day to keep it holy, as the Lord your God commanded you. [13]Six days you shall labor and do all your works, [14]but the seventh day is the Sabbath to the Lord your God. In it you shall do no work—you, your son and your daughter, your male servant, your female servant, your ox, your donkey, and all of your cattle, and your resident alien dwelling among you; that your male servant and your female servant may rest as well as you. [15]Remember, you were a servant in the land of Egypt, and the Lord your God brought you out from there by a mighty hand and by an outstretched arm; therefore, the Lord your God ordered you to guard the Sabbath day and to sanctify it.

[16]‘Honor your father and mother in the manner the Lord your God commanded you, that it may be well with you, and you may be a long time in the land the Lord your God is giving you.

[17]‘You shall not murder.

[18]‘You shall not commit adultery.

[19]‘You shall not steal.

[20]‘You shall not bear false witness against your neighbor.

[21]‘You shall not covet your neighbor’s wife; and you shall not covet your neighbor’s house, neither his field, his male servant, his female servant, his ox, his donkey, or his cattle, or anything belonging to your neighbor.’

The People Fear God’s Presence

[22]“The Lord spoke these words to all your assembly in the mountain from the midst of the fire; there was darkness, gloom, storm, and a loud voice, and

He added no more. Then He wrote them on two tablets of stone, and gave them to me. [23]So it was, when you heard the voice from the midst of the fire, while the mountain was burning with fire, you came near me, all the leaders of your tribes and your elders. [24]Then you said, ‘Surely the Lord our God showed us His glory and His greatness, and we heard His voice from the midst of the fire. We saw this day that God speaks with man; yet he still lives. [25]Now therefore, let us not die, because this great fire will destroy us; and if we continue to hear the voice of the Lord our God any more, we shall die. [26]For who of flesh heard the voice of the living God speaking from the midst of the fire, as we have, and lived? [27]You go near and hear whatever the Lord our God may say, and tell us whatever the Lord our God says to you, and we will hear and do it.’

[28]“Then the Lord heard the voice of your words when you spoke to me, and the Lord said to me, ‘I heard the voice of this people, whatever words they spoke to you. They are right in whatever they said. [29]Would they had such a heart in them so as to fear Me and guard My commandments all the time, that it might be well with them and their sons forever. [30]Go and say to them, “Return to your houses.” [31]But as for you, stand here by Me, and I will speak to you all the commandments, the ordinances, and the judgments you are to teach them, so they may do them in the land I give them as an inheritance.’ [32]Therefore you shall be careful to do in the manner the Lord your God commanded you; you shall not turn aside to the right hand or to the left. [33]You shall walk in every way the Lord your God commanded you, that He may give you rest, and it be well with you, and you prolong your days in the land you are to inherit. The Sabbath Day, Sunday, and the Eighth Day

The Great Commandment

[1]“Now these are the commandments, the ordinances, and the judgments the Lord our God commanded to teach you, that you may do them in the land you are crossing over to inherit, [2]and may fear the Lord your God, to keep all His ordinances and commandments I command you today, you and your sons and the sons of your sons, all the days of your life, so your days may be prolonged. [3]Therefore hear, O Israel, and be careful to do it, that it may be well with you, and you may multiply greatly as the Lord God of your fathers told you—‘to give you a land flowing with milk and honey.’ ”

4These are the ordinances and the judgments the Lord commanded the children of Israel in the desert, when they came from the land of Egypt: “Hear, O Israel, the Lord our God is one Lord. 5You shall love the Lord your God from your whole heart, from your whole soul, and from your whole power. 6So these words I command you today shall be in your heart and in your soul. 7You shall teach them to your sons, and shall talk of them when you sit in your house, when you walk by the way, when you lie down, and when you rise up. 8You shall bind them as a sign on your hand, and it shall be immovable before your eyes; 9and you shall write them on the doorposts of your houses and on your gates.

Do Not Disobey

10“So it shall be, when the Lord your God brings you into the land He swore to your fathers, to Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, to give you large and beautiful cities you did not build, 11and houses full of all good things you did not fill, and hewn-out wells you did not dig, and vineyards and olive groves you did not plant—and when you have eaten and are full— 12then beware, lest you forget the Lord who brings you from the land of Egypt, out of the house of bondage. 13You shall fear the Lord your God and serve Him, and you shall cling to Him and take oaths in His name. 14You shall not go after different gods, the gods of the nations around you, 15because the Lord your God is a jealous God among you, lest the anger of the Lord your God be aroused against you and destroy you from the face of the earth.

16“You shall not tempt the Lord your God, as you tempted Him in the Temptation. 17You shall diligently keep the commandments of the Lord your God, His testimonies, and the ordinances He commanded you. 18So you shall do what is pleasing and good before the Lord your God, that it may be well with you, and you may go in and inherit the good land the Lord swore to your fathers, 19to chase out all your enemies from before your face, as He said.

20“Then it shall be when your son asks you tomorrow, saying, ‘What are the testimonies, the ordinances, and the judgments the Lord our God commanded you?’ 21you shall say to your son, ‘We were servants of Pharaoh in Egypt, and the Lord brought us out of Egypt with a mighty hand and an outstretched arm; 22and the Lord set great and evil signs affecting Egypt, Pharaoh, and his house before us. 23Then He brought us out from there, that He might bring us in to give us this land He swore to give our fathers. 24So

the Lord commanded us to do all these ordinances, to fear the Lord our God, that it may be well with us all our days, and we may live as today. 25Then we shall have mercy, if we are careful to do all these commandments before the Lord our God, as the Lord commanded us.'

Deuteronomy 7

The Chosen People

1"Now if the Lord your God brings you into the land you go to inherit, and casts out great nations before your face, the Hittites, the Girgashites, the Amorites, the Canaanites, the Perizzites, the Hivites and the Jebusites, seven nations greater and mightier than you, 2and the Lord your God delivers them into your hands, you shall strike and utterly destroy them. You shall make no covenant with them nor show them mercy. 3Nor shall you make marriages with them. You shall not give your daughter to his son, nor take his daughter for your son. 4For she will turn your son away from Me, and he will serve other gods; so the Lord will be very angry with you and destroy you suddenly. 5But thus you shall deal with them: you shall destroy their altars, and break down their pillars, and cut down their groves, and burn the carved images of their gods with fire.

6"For you are a holy people to the Lord your God; the Lord your God chose you to be a people for Himself, special above all the nations on the face of the earth. 7The Lord did not prefer nor choose you because you were more in number than all the nations, for you are the least of all the nations; 8but because the Lord loves you, and because He would keep the oath He swore to your fathers, the Lord brought you out with a mighty hand and redeemed you from the house of bondage, from the hand of Pharaoh king of Egypt. 9Therefore know, the Lord your God, this God, is a faithful God, who keeps covenant and mercy for a thousand generations with those who love Him and keep His commandments; 10and He repays those who hate Him to their face, to destroy them. He will not be slack with those who hate Him; He will repay them to their face. 11Therefore, you shall keep the commandments, the ordinances, and these judgments I command you today to do them.

Obedience Brings Blessing

12"Then it shall come to pass, when you listen to all these ordinances and keep and do them, the Lord your God will keep with you the covenant and the mercy He swore to your fathers; [13]and He will love you and bless and multiply you; He will also bless the offspring of your womb, and the fruit of your land: your grain, wine, and olive oil, and the herds of your oxen, and the flocks of your sheep, in the land the Lord swore to your fathers to give you. [14]You shall be blessed more than all the nations; there shall not be a childless male or a barren female among you or your cattle. [15]And the Lord will take away from you all sickness, and He will not put on you the evil diseases you saw and knew in Egypt, but will put them on all who hate you. [16]Also you shall eat all the spoils of the nations the Lord your God gives you; your eye shall have no pity on them; nor shall you serve their gods, for that would be a snare to you.

[17]"If you should say in your mind, 'This nation is greater than I; how will I be able to destroy them?' [18]you shall not be afraid of them, but shall remember well what the Lord your God did to Pharaoh and to all the Egyptians: [19]the great trials your eyes saw, those great signs and wonders, the mighty hand and outstretched arm by which the Lord your God brought you out. So shall the Lord our God do to all the nations of whose face you are afraid. [20]Moreover the Lord your God will send hornets among them, until those who are left, who hide themselves from you, are destroyed. [21]You shall not be terrified of their face; for the Lord your God is among you, a great and powerful God; [22]and the Lord your God will consume those nations before you little by little; you will be unable to destroy them at once, lest the land become a desert and the wild animals increase against you. [23]But the Lord your God will deliver them into your hands and destroy them with a great destruction, until they are destroyed. [24]So He will deliver their kings into your hands, and will destroy their name from that place; no one shall be able to stand against your presence until you destroy them. [25]You shall burn the carved images of their gods with fire; you shall not desire the silver or gold of theirs, nor take it for yourselves, lest you stumble because of it; for it is an abomination to the Lord your God. [26]Nor shall you bring an abomination into your house, lest you be doomed to destruction like it. You shall utterly detest it and utterly abhor it, for it is an accursed thing.

Deuteronomy 8

Keeping the Commandments

1 “Every commandment I command you today you must be careful to do, that you may live and multiply, and go in and inherit the land the Lord swore to your fathers. 2 Now you shall remember the whole way the Lord your God led you in the desert, to deal harshly with you and test you, to know what was in your heart, whether you would keep His commandments or not. 3 So He dealt harshly with you and weakened you with hunger, and fed you with manna, which your fathers did not know, that He might make you know that man shall not live by bread alone, but by every word proceeding from the mouth of God man shall live. 4 Your garments did not wear out on you, nor did your feet become callused these forty years. 5 You should know in your heart that as a man chastens his son, so the Lord your God chastens you. 6 Therefore, you shall keep the commandments of the Lord your God to walk in His ways and to fear Him. 7 For the Lord your God is bringing you into a good and great land, where torrents of waters and springs of bottomless depths flow through the plains and through the mountains; 8 a land of wheat and barley, of vines, fig trees, and pomegranates, a land of olive oil and honey; 9 a land where you will not eat your bread in poverty, and in which you will lack nothing; a land whose stones are iron and from whose hills you can dig copper. 10 Thus you shall eat and be full and bless the Lord your God for the good land He gave you.

11 “Watch yourself, that you do not forget the Lord your God by not keeping His commandments, judgments, and ordinances I command you today, 12 lest—when you have eaten and are full, and have built beautiful houses and dwell in them, 13 and when your cattle and sheep multiply, and your silver and gold are multiplied, and all you have is multiplied, 14 when your heart is lifted up and you forget the Lord your God who brought you from the land of Egypt, out of the house of bondage, 15 who led you through that great and fearful desert, with its biting serpent and scorpion and thirst, where there was no water, who brought a spring of water for you out of the sharp-edged rock, 16 who fed you in the desert with manna your fathers did not know, that He might deal harshly with you and might test you, to do you good in the end of your days— 17 then do not say in your heart, ‘My strength and the might of my hand gained me this great power.’ 18 Then you shall remember the Lord your God, for He it is who gives you strength, that you may gain power, and He may establish His covenant the Lord swore to your fathers, as it is today. 19 Thus it shall be, if you forget the Lord your God, and follow after different gods and serve and worship them, I testify against you today, you shall surely perish. 20As the remaining nations the Lord destroys before your face, so you shall perish, because you would not be obedient to the voice of the Lord your God.

Deuteronomy 9

Israel's Rebellion

1"Hear, O Israel, You are to cross over the Jordan today and go in to inherit nations greater and mightier than yourself, cities great and fortified up to heaven, 2a people, great and large and tall, the sons of Anak, whom you know and of whom you heard it said, 'Who can stand against the face of the sons of Anak?' 3Therefore understand today, the Lord your God is He who goes over before you as a consuming fire. He will destroy them and turn them from your face; and you will destroy them, as the Lord said to you. 4Do not say in your heart, after the Lord your God consumes these nations before you, saying, 'Because of my righteousness the Lord brought me in to inherit this good land'; but because of the ungodliness of these nations, the Lord will destroy them before your face. 5It is not because of your righteousness or the uprightness of your heart that you are going in to inherit their land, but because of the ungodliness of these nations, the Lord will destroy them before your face, that He may establish His covenant He swore to your fathers, to Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob. 6Thus you will know today, the Lord your God is not giving you this good land to inherit because of your righteousness, for you are a stiff-necked people. 7Remember, do not forget how you provoked the Lord your God to wrath in the desert. From the day you came out of Egypt until you came into this land, you continued being disobedient to the Lord. 8Also in Horeb you provoked the Lord, and the Lord was angry enough with you to destroy you, 9when I went up into the mountain to receive the tablets of stone, the tablets of the covenant the Lord established with you; and I stayed on the mountain forty days and forty nights. I neither ate bread nor drank water. 10Then the Lord delivered two tablets of stone to me, written with the finger of God, and on them were all the words the Lord spoke to you on the mountain, in the day of the assembly. 11And it came to pass, at the end of forty days and forty nights, the Lord gave me the two tablets of stone, the tablets of the covenant.

12"Then the Lord said to me, 'Arise, go down quickly from here, for your people you brought out of Egypt have acted lawlessly; they turned aside quickly from the way I commanded them; they made themselves a molten image.’ [13]Furthermore, the Lord spoke to me, saying, ‘I told you once and twice, I see this people, and indeed they are a stiff-necked people. [14]Let Me destroy them and blot out their name from under heaven; and I will make of you a nation greater and stronger and larger than they.’

[15]“So I turned and came down from the mountain, and the mountain burned with fire; and the two tablets were in my two hands. [16]Then I looked, and you had sinned against the Lord your God and made for yourselves a molten image. You turned aside quickly from the way the Lord commanded you. [17]Then I took the two tablets and threw them down with my two hands, and broke them before you. [18]And I prayed before the Lord a second time, as at the first, forty days and forty nights; I neither ate bread nor drank water, because of all your sins you committed in doing wickedly in the sight of the Lord your God to provoke Him. [19]For I was afraid because of the anger and the wrath, for the Lord was provoked by you to destroy you. But the Lord listened to me at this time also. [20]The Lord was also very angry with Aaron and would have destroyed him; so I also prayed for Aaron at that time. [21]Then I took the sin you committed, the calf you made, and burned it with fire, and crushed it, and ground it very small until it was as fine as dust; and I threw its dust into the brook that descended from the mountain.

[22]“Also at the Burning and the Temptation and the Graves of Lust, you provoked the Lord your God to wrath. [23]Likewise, when the Lord sent you from Kadesh Barnea, saying, ‘Go up and inherit the land I give you,’ then you disobeyed the word of the Lord your God, and you did not believe Him nor listen to His voice. [24]You were disobedient to the Lord from the day He became known to you.

[25]“Thus I prayed before the Lord; forty days and forty nights I kept praying, because the Lord said He would destroy you. [26]Therefore, I prayed to God, and said, ‘O Lord, O Lord, O King of the gods, do not destroy Your people and Your portion You redeemed through Your great strength, whom You brought from the land of Egypt with Your great strength, Your mighty hand and Your outstretched arm. [27]Remember Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob Your servants, to whom You swore by Yourself; do not look on the hardness of this people, or on their wickedness or their sins, [28]lest those who inhabit the land You brought us from should say, “Because the Lord was unable to bring them to the land He promised them, and because He hated them, He brought them out to kill them in the desert.” [29]Yet they are Your people and Your inheritance, whom You brought out by Your mighty power and outstretched arm.’

Deuteronomy 10

The Second Set of Tablets

[1]“At that time the Lord said to me, ‘Hew for yourself two tablets of stone like the first, and come up to Me on the mountain, and make yourself an ark of wood. [2]And I will write on these tablets the words of the first tablets you broke; and you shall put them in the ark.’ [3]So I made an ark of wood not liable to decay, and hewed two tablets of stone like the first, and went up the mountain, with the two tablets in my hands. [4]Then He wrote the Ten Commandments on the tablets according to the first writing which the Lord spoke to you in the mountain, from the midst of the fire; and the Lord gave them to me. [5]Then I turned and came down from the mountain and put the tablets in the ark I made; and they were there, as the Lord commanded me.”

[6](Now the children of Israel journeyed from the wells of Bene Jaakan to Moserah, where Aaron died and was buried; and Eleazar his son ministered as priest in his stead. [7]From there they journeyed to Gudgodah, and from Gudgodah to Jotbathah, a land with rivers of water. [8]At that time, the Lord separated the tribe of Levi to bear the ark of the covenant of the Lord, to stand before the Lord, to minister to Him, and to bless in His name, to this day. [9]Therefore Levi has no portion nor inheritance with his brethren; the Lord is his inheritance, as He said to him.) [10]“I stayed in the mountain forty days and forty nights; the Lord also heard me at that time, and the Lord chose not to destroy you. [11]Then the Lord said to me, ‘Go, and lead this people, so they may go in and inherit the land I swore to their fathers to give them.’

The Lord’s Requirements

[12]“So now, O Israel, what does the Lord your God require of you, but to fear the Lord your God, to walk in all His ways, to love Him, to serve the Lord your God with all your heart and with all your soul, [13]and to keep the commandments of the Lord your God and His ordinances I command you today for your good? [14]Indeed, heaven and heaven of heaven belong to the Lord your God, also the earth and everything in it. [15]The Lord chose your fathers to love them; and He chose their seed after them, you above all nations, as it is this day. [16]Therefore circumcise the foreskin of your heart, and do not be stiff-necked any longer. [17]For the Lord your God is God of gods, and Lord of lords, the great God, mighty and awesome, who shows no partiality nor takes a bribe. [18]He administers justice for the resident alien, the fatherless, and the widow, and loves the resident alien, giving him food and clothing. [19]Therefore, love the resident aliens, for you were resident aliens in the land of Egypt. [20]You shall fear the Lord your God; you shall serve Him, and hold fast to Him, and take oaths in His name. [21]He is your boast and your God, who did these great and glorious things for you, the things you saw with your own eyes. [22]Your fathers went down to Egypt with seventy-five souls, and now, the Lord your God made you as the stars of heaven in multitude.

God's Greatness

[1]"Therefore, you shall love the Lord your God, and always keep His commandments, His ordinances, and His judgments. [2]Know today, I do not speak with your children, who have not known and seen the chastening of the Lord your God, nor His greatness and mighty hand and outstretched arm— [3]the signs and wonders He did in the midst of Egypt, to Pharaoh king of Egypt, and to all his land; [4]what He did to the army of Egypt, to their horse and chariots; how He made the water of the Red Sea overflow them as they pursued you, and how the Lord destroyed them to this day; [5]what He did for you in the desert until you came to this place; [6]and what He did to Dathan and Abiram, the sons of Eliab, the son of Reuben: how the earth opened its mouth and swallowed them up in the midst of Israel, along with their households, tents, and all the substance in their possession— [7]but your eyes saw all the great works the Lord did for you today.

Inherit the Land

[8]"Therefore, you shall keep all His commandments I command you today, that you may live and increase and go in and inherit the land you are crossing the Jordan to inherit, [9]and may prolong your days in the land the Lord swore to give your fathers, to them and their seed after them, 'a land flowing with milk and honey.' [10]For the land you go to inherit is not like the land of Egypt from which you came, where you sowed your seed and watered it by foot, as a vegetable garden; [11]but the land you are crossing over to inherit is a land of hills and plains, which drinks water from the rain of heaven, [12]a land the Lord your God looks upon; the eyes of the Lord your God are always on it, from the beginning of the year to the very end of the year.

[13]"So if you earnestly obey all His commandments I command you today, to love the Lord your God and serve Him with all your heart and with all your soul, [14]then He will give you rain for your land in its season, the early rain and the latter rain, that you may gather in your grain, wine, and olive oil. [15]I will also send grass in your fields for your cattle, that you may eat and be filled. [16]Take heed to yourselves, lest your heart be deceived, and you transgress and serve other gods and worship them, [17]lest the Lord's anger be aroused against you and He shut up heaven, so there may be no rain, and the land yield no produce, and you perish quickly from the good land the Lord gave you.

[18]"Therefore, you shall lay up these words of mine in your heart and in your soul, and bind them as a sign on your hand, and they shall be immovable before your eyes. [19]You shall teach them to your children, speaking of them when you sit in your house and walk by the way, when you lie down and rise up. [20]You shall also write them on the doorposts of your house and your gates, [21]that your days and the days of your sons may be multiplied in the land the Lord swore to give your fathers, like days of heaven on earth. [22]For if you carefully keep all these commandments I command you today—to love the Lord your God, to walk in all His ways, and to hold fast to Him— [23]then the Lord will cast out all these nations from before your face, and you will inherit greater and mightier nations than yourselves. [24]Every place the sole of your foot treads shall be yours: from the desert and Antilebanon, and from the great Euphrates River, even to the Western Sea, shall be your territory. [25]No man shall be able to stand against your face; the Lord your God will put the dread and the fear of you upon all the land where you tread, in the manner the Lord said to you.

[26]"Behold, I set before you today a blessing and a curse: [27]the blessing, if you obey the commandments of the Lord your God I command you today; [28]and the curse, if you do not obey the commandments of the Lord your God, but go astray from the way I command you today, to go after different gods you have not known. [29]Now it shall be, when the Lord your God brings you into the land you are to inherit, you shall put the blessing on Mount Gerizim and the curse on Mount Ebal. [30]Indeed are they not on the other side of the Jordan, toward the setting sun, in the land of Canaan, the area that lies to the west near Gilgal, beside the lofty oak? [31]For you will cross over the Jordan and go in to inherit the land the Lord your God is giving you; and you will inherit it all your days and dwell in it. [32]Therefore, you shall be careful to do all the ordinances and judgments I set before you today.

Deuteronomy 12

The Place of Worship

[1]"These are the ordinances and judgments you shall be careful to observe in the land the Lord God of your fathers is giving you to inherit, all the days you live on the earth. [2]You shall utterly destroy all the places the nations you will inherit served their gods: on the high mountains, on the hills, and under the tree of the grove. [3]So you shall destroy their altars, break their pillars, cut down their groves, burn the carved images of their gods with fire, and destroy their name from that place. [4]You shall not do thus with the Lord your God. [5]But you shall seek the place the Lord your God chooses, out of all your tribes, to put His name and to be called on there; and you shall go and seek Him there. [6]There you shall bring your whole burnt offerings, sacrifices, firstfruits, prayers, voluntary offerings, and the firstborn of your oxen and sheep. [7]There you shall eat before the Lord your God, and you shall rejoice in all to which you put your hand, you and your households, as the Lord your God blessed you.

[8]"You shall not at all do as we are doing here today—every man doing whatever is right in his own eyes— [9]for as yet, you have not come to the rest and the inheritance the Lord your God gives you. [10]But when you cross over the Jordan and dwell in the land the Lord your God is giving you to inherit, and He gives you rest from all your enemies round about, and you dwell in safety, [11]then there will be the place the Lord your God chooses to make His name abide. There you shall bring all I command you today: your whole burnt offerings, sacrifices, tithes, the first fruits of your hands, and all your gifts and all your choice gifts you vow to the Lord. [12]And you shall rejoice before the Lord your God, you, your sons and daughters, your male and female servants, and the Levite within your gates, since he has no portion nor inheritance with you. [13]Take heed to yourself, do not offer your whole burnt offerings in every place you see; [14]but in the place the Lord chooses, in one of your tribes; there you shall offer your whole burnt offerings, and there you shall do all I command you today.

[15]"However, according to your every desire, you may slaughter and eat meat, according to the blessing the Lord your God gave you in each city; the unclean and the clean may eat of it, of the gazelle and the deer alike. [16]Only you shall not eat the blood; you shall pour it on the earth like water. [17]You may not eat the tithe in your cities: of your grain, wine, or olive oil, of the firstborn of your oxen or sheep, of any of your offerings you vow, of your agreements, or of the firstfruits of your hands. [18]But you must eat them before the Lord your God in the place the Lord your God chooses, you and your son and daughter, your male and female servant, and the resident alien in your cities; and you shall rejoice before the Lord your God in all to which you put your hand. [19]Take heed to yourself, do not forsake the Levite as long as you live in your land.

[20]"Now if the Lord your God enlarges your borders, as He told you, and you say, 'I will eat meat,' because you desire to eat meat, you may eat as much meat as your soul desires. [21]But if the place the Lord your God chooses to put His name is too far from you, then you may slaughter from your oxen and sheep the Lord gave you in the manner I commanded you, and may eat in your cities according to your soul's desire. [22]Just as the gazelle and the deer are eaten, so you may eat them; the unclean and the clean alike may eat them. [23]Only be sure not to eat the blood, for the blood is the life; the life will not be eaten with the meat. [24]You shall not eat it; you shall pour it on the earth like water. [25]You shall not eat it, that it may go well with you and your sons after you, if you do what is good and pleasing before the Lord your God. [26]Only the holy things you have and your vowed offerings you shall take and go to the place the Lord your God chooses for His name to be called upon there. [27]You shall offer your whole burnt offerings; you shall offer the meat upon the altar of the Lord your God; and the blood of your sacrifices shall be poured out on the altar of the Lord your God; and you shall eat the meat. [28]Keep, obey, and do all these words I command you, that it may go well with you and your sons forever, if you do what is good and pleasing in the sight of the Lord your God.

Beware of Idolatry

[29]"If the Lord your God destroys before your face the nations whose land you go to inherit, and you inherit them and dwell in their land, [30]take heed to yourself that you not seek to follow them after they are destroyed from before your face, and do not inquire after their gods, saying, ‘How did these nations serve their gods? I also will do likewise.’ [31]You shall not do thus with the Lord your God; for every abomination the Lord hates they have done with their gods; for they burn even their sons and daughters in the fire to their gods.

Deuteronomy 13

[1]“Every word I command you today, be careful to observe; you shall not add to it nor take away from it.

[2]“If a prophet or a dreamer of dreams arises among you, and he gives you a sign or a wonder today, [3]and the sign or the wonder he spoke to you comes to pass, saying, ‘Let us go and serve other gods’ you have not known, [4]you shall not listen to the words of that prophet or dreamer of dreams; for the Lord your God is testing you to know whether you love the Lord your God with all your heart and with all your soul. [5]You shall walk after the Lord your God and fear Him, and keep His commandments and obey His voice; you shall hold fast to Him. [6]But that prophet or dreamer of dreams shall be put to death, because he has spoken to lead you astray from the Lord your God who brought you out of the land of Egypt and redeemed you from bondage, to entice you from the way the Lord your God commanded you to walk. So you shall put away the evil from your midst.

[7]“If your brother, the son of your father or mother, your son or your daughter, the wife of your bosom, or your friend who is as your own soul secretly entices you, saying, ‘Let us go and serve different gods’ you have not known, neither you nor your fathers, [8]of the gods of the nations around you, near to you or far off from you, from one end of the earth to the other end of the earth, [9]you shall not consent to him nor listen to him, nor shall your eye pity him, nor shall you spare him or conceal him; [10]but you shall make a report about him; your hands shall be first against him to put him to death, and afterward the hands of all the people. [11]So they shall stone him with stones until he dies, because he sought to turn you away from the Lord your God, who brought you out of the land of Egypt, from the house of bondage. [12]So all Israel will hear and fear, and not again continue to do according to the word of this evil among you.

13“If you hear someone in one of your cities the Lord your God gives you to dwell in saying, 14‘Lawless men have gone out from among you and enticed the inhabitants of their city, saying, “Let us go and serve different gods” ’ you have not known, 15then you shall inquire and search diligently.
So if the report is indeed true and certain that this abomination was committed among you, 16you shall surely strike all the inhabitants of that city with the edge of the sword, utterly destroying it and everything therein.
17You shall gather all its plunder into the middle of the street, and completely burn the city and all its plunder with fire before the Lord your God. It shall be uninhabited forever; it shall never be built again. 18Thus none of the accursed things shall remain in your hand, so the Lord may turn from the fierceness of His anger and show you mercy, and have compassion on you and multiply you in the manner the Lord swore to your fathers, 19if you listen to the voice of the Lord your God to keep all His commandments I command you today, to do what is good and pleasing before the Lord your God.

Deuteronomy 14

A Holy People

1“You are the children of the Lord your God; you shall not engage in purificatory rites, nor shave your head between your eyes for the dead. 2For you are a holy people to the Lord your God, and the Lord chose you to be a people for Himself, a special people above all the nations on the face of the earth.

Clean and Unclean Meat

3“You shall not eat any abomination. 4These are the cattle you may eat: the young bull of the oxen, the male lamb of the sheep, and the young male of the goats; 5and you may also eat the deer, the gazelle, the antelope, the wild goat, the mountain goat, the gazelle, and the mountain sheep. 6You may also eat every animal with cloven hooves, having the hoof split into two parts, and that chews the cud among the animals. 7Nevertheless, of those that chew the cud or have cloven hooves, you shall not eat such as these: the camel, the hare, and the rabbit; for they chew the cud but do not have cloven hooves; they are unclean for you. 8Also the swine is unclean for you, because it has cloven hooves, yet does not chew the cud; you shall not eat their flesh or touch their dead carcasses.

9"These you may eat of all in the waters: you may eat all that have fins and scales. 10But whatever does not have fins and scales you shall not eat; it is unclean for you. 11All clean birds you may eat. 12But these you shall not eat:
the eagle, the vulture, the buzzard, 13the red kite, the falcon, and the kite after their kinds; 14every raven after its kind; 15the ostrich, the short-eared owl, the seagull, and the hawk after their kinds; 16the heron, the swan, and the ibis; 17the cormorant, the hawk, the hoopoe, and the owl; 18the pelican, the plover after their kind, and the purple coot and the bat. 19Also every creeping thing that flies is unclean for you; they shall not be eaten. 20You may eat all clean birds. 21You shall not eat anything that dies of itself; you may give it to the alien in your cities that he may eat it, or you may sell it to a foreigner; for you are a holy people to the Lord your God. You shall not boil a lamb in its mother's milk.

Tithing

22"You shall tithe all the increase of your grain the field produces year by year. 23You shall eat before the Lord your God in the place He chooses to have His name called upon there; you will bring in the tithe of your grain, wine, and olive oil, of the firstborn of your oxen and sheep, that you may learn to fear the Lord your God all your days. 24But if the journey is too long for you, so you are not able to carry the tithe, or if the place the Lord your God chooses to put His name is too far from you, when the Lord your God has blessed you, 25then you shall exchange it for money, take the money in your hands, and go to the place the Lord your God chooses. 26Then you shall spend that money for whatever your soul desires; for oxen or sheep, for wine or strong drink, for whatever your soul desires; you shall eat there before the Lord your God, and you shall rejoice, you and your household, 27and the Levite who is within your cities, for he has no part or inheritance with you.

28"At the end of every third year you shall bring out the tithe of your produce. 29Then the Levite, because he has no portion or inheritance with you, and the resident alien and the fatherless and the widow who are within your cities may come and eat and be satisfied, so the Lord your God may bless you in all the works you do.

Deuteronomy 15

Debts Released after Seven Years

[1]"At the end of every seven years you shall grant a remission of debts. [2]So the order of the remission is as follows: every debt your neighbor owes you, you shall remit; you shall not demand it back from your brother, because a remission is proclaimed for the Lord your God. [3]You may demand it back from a foreigner, but you shall grant remission of your brother's debt, [4]except when there may be no poor among you; for the Lord your God will greatly bless you in the land the Lord your God is giving you to possess as an inheritance— [5]only if you carefully obey the voice of the Lord your God, to observe with care all these commandments I command you today. [6]For the Lord your God blessed you in the manner He told you; you shall lend to many nations, but you shall not borrow; you shall rule over many nations, but they shall not rule over you.

Care for the Poor

[7]"If there is among you a poor man of your brethren within any of the cities in your land the Lord your God is giving you, you shall not harden your heart, nor shut your hand from your poor brother; [8]but you shall surely open your hands to him and willingly lend him sufficient for his need, whatever he needs. [9]Beware lest there be a hidden thought in your heart, a transgression of the law, saying, 'The seventh year, the year of remission, is at hand,' and your eye be evil against your poor brother, and you give him nothing, and he cry out to the Lord against you, and it be a great sin among you. [10]You shall surely give him and loan him as much as he needs, and your heart should not be grieved when you give to him, because for this thing the Lord your God will bless you in all your works and in everything to which you put your hand. [11]For the poor will never cease from the land; therefore, I command you to do this word which says, 'You shall surely open your hands to your brother, to your poor and needy in your land.'

Bondservants

[12]"If your brother, a Hebrew man or a Hebrew woman, is sold to you and serves you six years, then in the seventh year you shall let him go free from you. [13]But when you send him away free from you, you shall not let him go away empty-handed; [14]you shall supply him liberally from your sheep, wheat, and winepress. From what the Lord has blessed you with you shall give to him. [15]For you shall remember you were a servant in the land of Egypt, and the Lord your God redeemed you from that place; therefore, I command you this thing. [16]But if he says to you, ‘I will not go away from you,’ because he loves you and your house, because he is well off with you, [17]then you shall take a small awl and pierce his ear at the door, and he shall be your servant forever. Also to your female servant you shall do likewise. [18]It shall not seem hard to you when you send him away free from you; for he has worked the yearly wage of a hired servant in serving you six years. Then the Lord your God will bless you in all you do.

Firstborn Animals

[19]“All the firstborn males that come from your oxen and sheep you shall sanctify to the Lord your God; you shall do no work with the firstborn young bull, nor shear the firstborn of your sheep. [20]You and your household shall eat it before the Lord year by year in the place the Lord your God chooses. [21]But if there is a defect in it, if it is lame or blind or has any serious defect, you shall not sacrifice it to the Lord your God. [22]You may eat it within your cities; the unclean and the clean person alike may eat it, as if it were a gazelle or a deer. [23]Only you shall not eat its blood; you shall pour it on the ground like water.

Deuteronomy 16

Pascha

[1]“Observe the month of new corn, and keep Pascha to the Lord your God, for in the month of new corn He brought you out of Egypt by night. [2]Therefore you shall sacrifice Pascha to the Lord your God from the sheep and oxen, in the place the Lord chooses for His name to be called upon there. [3]You shall eat no leavened bread with it; seven days you shall eat unleavened bread with it, that is, the bread of affliction (for you came out of the land of Egypt in haste), that you may remember the day you came out of the land of Egypt all the days of your life. [4]And no leaven shall be seen among you in all your borders for seven days, nor shall any of the meat you sacrifice the first day at twilight remain until morning. [5]You may not sacrifice Pascha within any of your cities the Lord your God gives you; [6]but at the place the Lord your God chooses for His name to be called upon there, there you shall sacrifice Pascha at twilight, at the going down of the sun, at the time you came out of Egypt. 7You shall roast and eat it in the place the Lord your God chooses, and in the morning you shall turn and go to your houses. 8Six days you shall eat unleavened bread, and on the seventh and final day, there shall be a feast to the Lord your God. You shall do no work on it except what must be done for life.

The Feast of Weeks

9"You shall count seven complete weeks for yourself; begin to count the seven weeks from the time you begin to put the sickle to the grain. 10Then you shall keep the Feast of Weeks to the Lord your God, and according to your ability you may offer whatever you wish, as the Lord your God blessed you. 11You shall rejoice before the Lord your God, you and your son and daughter, your male servant and female servant, the Levite who is within your cities, the resident alien and the fatherless and the widow who are among you, at the place where the Lord your God chooses for His name to be called upon there. 12And you shall remember you were a servant in the land of Egypt, and you shall be careful to observe these commandments.

The Feast of Tabernacles

13"You shall observe the Feast of Tabernacles seven days, when you have gathered from your threshing floor and winepress. 14You shall rejoice in your feast, you and your son and daughter, your male servant and female servant, the Levite, the resident alien, the fatherless and the widow who are within your cities. 15Seven days you shall keep a feast to the Lord your God in the place the Lord your God chooses for Himself, and if the Lord your God should bless you in all your produce and in all the work of your hands, you will be rejoicing. 16Three times a year all your males shall appear before the Lord your God in the place the Lord chooses; at the Feast of Unleavened Bread, at the Feast of Weeks, and at the Feast of Tabernacles; and they shall not appear before the Lord your God empty-handed. 17Every man shall give as he is able, according to the blessing the Lord your God gave you.

Appointing Judges

18"You shall appoint judges and teachers in all the cities the Lord your God gives you, according to your tribes, and they shall judge the people with just judgment. 19They shall not pervert judgment; they shall not show partiality, nor take a bribe; for a bribe blinds the eyes of the wise and twists the words of the righteous. 20You shall pursue what is altogether just, that you may live and go in and inherit the land the Lord your God gives you.

21"You shall not plant for yourself any grove or any tree near the altar of the Lord your God which you build for yourself. 22You shall not set up a pillar the Lord your God hates.

Deuteronomy 17

1"You shall not sacrifice to the Lord your God a young bull or sheep having any blemish or defect, for that is an abomination to the Lord your God.

2"If there is found among you, within any of your cities the Lord your God gives you, a man or a woman who does evil before the Lord your God in transgressing His covenant, 3and who went and served and worshiped different gods, either the sun, moon, or any ornamentation of heaven, which He did not command, 4and it is told you, then you shall inquire diligently; and if it is indeed true that such an abomination happened in Israel, 5then you shall bring out that man or woman; and you shall stone to death that man or woman with stones. 6Whoever is deserving of death shall be put to death on the testimony of two or three witnesses; he shall not be put to death on the testimony of one witness. 7The hand of the witnesses shall be the first against him to put him to death, and afterward the hand of all the people. So you shall put away their evil from among you.

8"If there is some matter you are unable to judge, between degrees of guilt for bloodshed, between one judgment or another, or between one punishment or another, matters of controversy in your cities, then you shall arise and go up to the place the Lord your God chooses for His name to be called upon there. 9So you shall come to the priests, the Levites, and to the judge there in those days and inquire of them; and they shall pronounce the judgment for you. 10You shall do according to the sentence they pronounce upon you in that place the Lord your God chooses for His name to be called upon there. Thus you shall be very careful to do according to all they order you. 11According to the law and the judgment in which they instruct you, you shall do; you shall not turn aside to the right hand or to the left from the sentence they pronounce upon you. 12Now the man who acts arrogantly and will not obey the priest or the judge who may be there in those days, and who stands to minister in the name of the Lord your God, that man shall die. So you shall put away the evil from Israel. 13Then all the people shall hear and fear, and no longer act impiously.

Setting Up Rulers

14"If you enter the land the Lord your God is giving you as an inheritance, and you inherit it and dwell in it, and say, 'I will set a ruler over me like the remaining nations around me,' 15you shall surely set a ruler over you whom the Lord your God chooses; one from among your brethren you shall set as a ruler over yourself; you cannot set a foreigner over yourself, because he is not your brother. 16Wherefore he shall not multiply a cavalry for himself, nor cause the people to return to Egypt; for the Lord said to you, 'You shall not return that way again.' 17Neither shall he multiply wives for himself, lest his heart be changed; nor shall he greatly multiply silver and gold for himself. 18Also it shall be, when he sits on the throne of his rule, that he shall write for himself a copy of this second law in a book, from the one before the priests, the Levites. 19It shall be with him, and he shall read it all the days of his life, that he may learn to fear the Lord his God and be careful to observe all these commandments and ordinances, 20that his heart may not be lifted above his brethren, that he may not turn aside from the commandment to the right hand or to the left and may prolong his rule, he and his sons among the sons of Israel.

Deuteronomy 18

Caring for the Priests

1"The priests, the Levites—all the tribe of Levi—shall have no part nor inheritance with Israel; the burnt offerings of the Lord shall be their portion; these they shall eat. 2Therefore they shall have no inheritance among their brethren; the Lord is their inheritance, as He said to them. 3Now this shall be the judgment concerning the priests from the people, from those who offer sacrifices, whether it is a young bull or sheep: one shall give to the priest the shoulder, the cheeks, and the stomach. 4The firstfruits of your grain, wine, and olive oil, and the firstfruit of the sheep's fleece you shall give to him. 5For the Lord your God chose him out of all your tribes to stand before the Lord your God, to minister and to bless in His name, he and his sons forever

among the children of Israel. [6]So if a Levite comes from one of your cities, from where he dwells among all the children of Israel, as his soul desires, to the place the Lord chooses, [7]then he may minister in the name of the Lord his God, as do all his brethren the Levites who stand before the Lord. [8]They shall have equal portions to eat, besides what comes from the sale of his paternal inheritance.

Avoiding Wickedness

[9]"Now if you enter the land the Lord your God gives you, you shall not learn to do the abominations of those nations. [10]There shall not be found among you anyone who purifies his son or daughter in the fire, or one who practices divination, or a soothsayer, or one who interprets omens, or a sorcerer, [11]or one who conjures spells, or a medium, or a spiritist, or one who calls up the dead. [12]For all who do these things are an abomination to the Lord your God, and because of these abominations the Lord your God will destroy them before you. [13]You shall be perfect before the Lord your God. [14]For all these nations which you will dispossess listened to soothsayers and diviners; but as for you, the Lord your God has not appointed such for you.

The Promise of a Prophet

[15]"The Lord your God will raise up for you a Prophet like me from your brethren. Him you shall hear, [16]according to all you asked from the Lord your God in Horeb in the day of the assembly, saying, 'Let us not hear again the voice of the Lord our God, nor let us see this great fire any more, lest we die.' [17]Then the Lord said to me, 'What they have spoken is good. [18]I will raise up for them a Prophet like you from among their brethren, and I will put My word in His mouth, and He shall speak to them all I command Him. [19]Therefore, whatever man will not listen to whatever the Prophet speaks in My name, I will require it of him. [20]But whatever prophet speaks impiously in My name a word I have not ordered him to speak, or who speaks in the name of different gods, that prophet shall die.' [21]Now if you should say in your heart, 'How shall we know the word the Lord has not spoken?'— [22]whatever word a prophet speaks in the name of the Lord, if the thing does not happen or come to pass, that is the thing the Lord has not spoken; the prophet spoke that word impiously; you shall stay away from him. Jesus Christ: Prophet, Priest, and King

Deuteronomy 19

Cities of Refuge

[1]“Now if the Lord your God removes the nations whose land the Lord your God is giving you, and you inherit them and dwell in their cities and in their houses, [2]you shall separate three cities for yourself in the midst of the land the Lord your God gives you. [3]You shall prepare roads for yourself, and divide into three parts the boundaries of your land the Lord your God divides into sections for you, that any manslayer may flee there. [4]Now this shall be the ordinance of the manslayer who flees there, that he may live: Whoever strikes his neighbor involuntarily, not having hated him hitherto up until now — [5]as when a man goes to the woods with his neighbor to cut timber, and his hand swings a stroke with the ax to cut down the tree, and the head slips from the handle and strikes his neighbor, that he dies—he shall flee to one of these cities and live; [6]lest the avenger of blood, while his anger is hot, pursue the manslayer and overtake him, because the way is long, and strikes this soul, and he dies, though there was no judgment rendered that he should die, because he had not hated the victim hitherto up until now. [7]Therefore I command you this word, saying, ‘You shall separate three cities for yourself.’

[8]“But if the Lord your God enlarges your territory in the manner He swore to your fathers, and the Lord gives you the land He promised to give to your fathers, [9]and if you hear and do all these commandments I command you today, to love the Lord your God and walk in all His ways all your days, then you shall add three more cities for yourself besides these three, [10]lest innocent blood be shed in the midst of your land the Lord your God is giving you as an inheritance, and thus the guilt of bloodshed be upon you. [11]But if there should be a man that hates his neighbor, and lies in wait for him, and rises against him, and strikes this soul, and he dies, and then this man flees to one of these cities, [12]then the elders of his city shall send and bring him from there, and deliver him over to the hands of the avenger of blood, that he may die. [13]Your eye shall not pity him, but you shall cleanse the guilt of innocent blood from Israel, that it may be well with you.

Property Lines

[14]“You shall not remove your neighbor’s boundaries your fathers established in your inheritance, which you will inherit in the land the Lord your God gives you as an inheritance.

Witnesses

15 “One witness shall not rise against a man about any injustice or offense or sin concerning which he may be guilty; by the mouth of two or three witnesses the matter shall be established. 16 If an unjust witness rises against any man accusing him of impiety, 17 then both men in the controversy shall stand before the Lord, before the priests and the judges who serve in those days. 18 Thus the judges shall make careful inquiry, and indeed, if the witness is an unjust witness who has testified unjustly against his brother, 19 then you shall do to him in the manner he maliciously intended to do to his brother; so you shall put away the evil from among you. 20 Then those who remain shall hear and be afraid, and hereafter they shall not again commit such evil among you. 21 Your eye shall not pity him: life shall be for life, eye for eye, tooth for tooth, hand for hand, foot for foot.

Deuteronomy 20

Concerning Warfare

1 “Now if you go out to war against your enemies and see horse and rider and a people more numerous than you, do not be afraid of them; for the Lord your God is with you who brought you up from the land of Egypt. 2 So it shall be, when you are on the verge of battle, the priest shall approach and speak to the people, 3 and he shall say to them, ‘Hear, O Israel, today you are going out to war against your enemies. Do not let your heart faint, do not be afraid, and do not tremble or be terrified because of their face; 4 for the Lord your God is He who goes with you to fight for you against your enemies, to save you.’ 5 Then the scribes shall speak to the people, saying, ‘What man is there who built a new house, but has not consecrated it? Let him go and return to his house, lest he die in the war, and a different man consecrate it. 6 Also what man is there who planted a vineyard, but has not enjoyed it? Let him go and return to his house, lest he die in the war, and a different man enjoy it. 7 Then too, what man is there who is betrothed to a woman, but has not married her? Let him go and return to his house, lest he die in the war, and a different man marry her.’ 8 Now the scribes shall speak further to the people and say, ‘What man is there who is fearful and fainthearted? Let him go and return to his house, lest the heart of his brethren faint like his heart.’ [9]So it shall be, when the scribes finish speaking to the people, they shall establish rulers of the army to lead the people.

[10]“If you go near a city to fight against it, then proclaim an offer of peace to it. [11]If indeed they accept your offer of peace and open to you, then all the people who are found in it shall be placed under tribute to you and obey you. [12]But if the city will not make peace with you, but makes war against you, then you shall besiege it. [13]Then the Lord your God will deliver it into your hands, and you shall strike every male in it with the edge of the sword. [14]Besides the women, the household, all the cattle, and whatever is in the city, and all its spoil, you shall capture for yourself; and you shall eat all your enemies’ booty, which the Lord your God gives you. [15]Thus you shall do to all the cities very far from you, which are not of the cities of these nations. [16]But indeed, of the cities of these nations which the Lord your God gives you to inherit their land, you shall let nothing that breathes remain alive; [17]but you shall utterly destroy them: the Hittite, the Amorite, the Canaanite, the Perizzite, the Hivite, the Jebusite, and the Girgashite, in the manner the Lord your God commanded you; [18]lest they teach you to do all the abominations they did for their gods; and you sin against the Lord your God.

[19]“Now if you besiege a city for many days to make war against it to take it, you shall not destroy its trees by wielding an ax against them; but if you can eat from it, do not cut it down. Should a man use this tree in the field to go before you as a battering ram? [20]But the tree you know is not a tree for food, this you may destroy and cut down to build a bulwark against the city that makes war with you, until it is delivered over.

Deuteronomy 21

Unsolved Murders

[1]“If anyone is found slain in the land the Lord your God gives you to inherit, and is fallen in the open field, and it is not known who killed him, [2]then your elders and your judges shall go out and measure the distance from the slain man to the surrounding cities. [3]Then it shall be the elder of the city nearest to the slain man will take a heifer from the oxen which has not been worked and pulled with a yoke. [4]The elders of that city shall bring the heifer down to a rocky valley, neither plowed nor sown, and they shall hamstring the heifer

there in the valley. [5]Then the priests, the Levites, shall come near, for the Lord your God chose them to be present for Him and to bless in His name; by their word every controversy and every assault shall be settled. [6]After this, all the elders of that city nearest to the slain man shall wash their hands over the heifer which was hamstrung in the valley. [7]Then they shall answer and say, ‘Our hands have not shed this blood, nor have our eyes seen it. [8]Be merciful, O Lord, to Your people Israel, whom You redeemed from the land of Egypt, so there may be no bloodguiltiness among Your people Israel.’ Thus the blood shall atone for them. [9]And you shall put away the guilt of their innocent blood from among you, if you do what is good and pleasing before the Lord your God.

Women Captives

[10]“Now if you go out to war against your enemies, and the Lord your God delivers them into your hands, and you take them captive, [11]and you see among the captives a beautiful woman, and desire her and would take her for your wife, [12]then you shall bring her home to your house, and you shall shave her head and trim her nails. [13]You shall take the clothes of her captivity from her; and she shall remain in your house and mourn her father and mother a full month; after that you may go in to her and dwell with her, and she shall be your wife. [14]But it shall be, if you do not want her, then you shall send her away free, but you certainly shall not sell her for money; you shall not treat her brutally, because you humbled her.

Firstborn Rights of Inheritance

[15]“Now if a man is married to two wives, one loved and the other hated, and they have borne him children, both the loved and the hated, and the firstborn son is of her who is hated, [16]then it shall be, on the day he bequeaths his possessions to his sons, he must not bestow firstborn status on the son of the loved wife in preference to the son of the unloved, the true firstborn. [17]But he shall acknowledge the son of the unloved wife as the firstborn by giving him a double portion of all he has, for he is the beginning of his strength; the right of the firstborn is his.

A Rebellious Son

[18]“Now if a man should have a disobedient and rebellious son who will not obey the voice of his father or the voice of his mother, and who, when they

chastened him, will not heed them, [19]then his father and mother shall take hold of him and bring him out to the elders of his city, to the gate of his city. [20]So they shall say to the men of his city, ‘This son of ours is disobedient and rebellious; he will not obey our voice; he is a glutton and a drunkard.’ [21]Then all the men of his city shall stone him to death with stones, and he shall die; so you shall put away the evil from among you, and the rest shall hear and be afraid.

[22]“Now if a man committed a crime under the sentence of death, and he is put to death, and you hang him on a tree, [23]his body shall not remain overnight on the tree, but you shall surely bury him that day; for he who is hanged on a tree is accursed of God; that you do not defile the land the Lord your God gives you as an inheritance.

Deuteronomy 22

[1]“When you see your brother’s young bull or his sheep wandering on the road, you should not ignore them; you shall certainly return them to your brother and restore them to him. [2]But if your brother is not near you, or if you do not know him, then you shall bring them to your own house, and they shall remain with you until your brother seeks them; then you shall restore them to him. [3]You shall do the same with his donkey, or with his garment, or with any lost thing of your brother’s which he lost and you found; you should not ignore them. [4]You shall not see your brother’s donkey or his young bull fall down on the road, and ignore them; you shall surely help him lift them up again.

[5]“A woman shall not wear a man’s clothing, nor shall a man put on a woman’s garment, for all who do so are an abomination to the Lord your God.

[6]“If a bird’s nest happens to be before you along the way, in any tree or on the ground, with young ones or eggs, with the mother sitting on the young or on the eggs, you shall not take the mother with the young; [7]you shall surely let the mother go and take the young for yourself, that it may be well with you and you prolong your days.

[8]“If you should build a new house, then you shall make a railing for your house, that you may not be guilty of manslaughter in your own house, if anyone happen to fall from it.

[9]“You shall not sow your vineyard with different kinds of seed, lest the yield and the seed you sow and the fruit of your vineyard become unholy.

10 You shall not plow with a young bull and a donkey together. 11 You shall not wear a garment of different sorts, such as wool and linen mixed together.
12 "You shall make tassels on the corners of the clothing with which you cover yourself.

Maintaining Sexual Purity

13 "If any man takes a wife and dwells with her, and hates her, 14 and lays reproachful words upon her, and brings a bad name on her, and says, 'I took this woman, and when I came to her, I found she was not a virgin,' 15 then the father and mother of the young woman shall take and bring out the evidence of the young woman's virginity to the elders at the gate. 16 So the young woman's father shall say to the elders, 'I gave my daughter to this man as wife, and he hates her. 17 Now he is laying reproachful words upon her, saying, "I found your daughter was not a virgin," and yet these are the evidences of my daughter's virginity.' And they shall spread the cloth before the elders of the city. 18 Then the elders of that city shall take that man and discipline him; 19 and they shall fine him one hundred shekels of silver and give them to the father of the young woman, because he brought a bad name on a virgin of Israel; and she shall be his wife; he cannot divorce her all his days. 20 But if his word is true, and evidences of virginity are not found for the young woman, 21 then they shall bring out the young woman to the doors of her father's house, and the men of her city shall stone her to death with stones, and she shall die, because she did a foolish thing among the children of Israel, to commit fornication in her father's house. So you shall put away the evil from among you.
22 "If a man is found lying with a married woman, then you shall kill both of them—the man that lay with the woman and the woman; so you shall put away the evil from Israel.
23 "If a young woman who is a virgin is betrothed to a husband, and a man finds her in the city and lies with her, 24 then you shall bring them both out to the gate of that city, and you shall stone them to death with stones, the young woman because she did not cry out in the city, and the man because he humbled his neighbor's wife; so you shall put away the evil from among you.
25 But if a man finds a betrothed young woman in the countryside, and the man forces her and lies with her, then you shall kill only the man who lay with her. 26 But you shall do nothing to the young woman; there is in the young woman no sin deserving of death; for just as when a man rises against his neighbor and murders him, even so is this matter. 27For he found her in the countryside, and the betrothed young woman cried out, but there was no one to come to her aid.

28"If a man finds a young woman who is a virgin who is not betrothed, and seizes her and lies with her, and they are found out, 29then the man who lay with her shall give to the young woman's father fifty silver two-drachma coins, and she shall be his wife, because he humbled her; he shall not be permitted to divorce her all his days.

Deuteronomy 23

Exclusion from God's People

1"A man shall not take his father's wife, nor uncover what is covered of his father's.

2"The eunuch and the castrated man shall not enter the assembly of the Lord. 3The child of a prostitute shall not enter the assembly of the Lord.

4"An Ammonite or Moabite shall not enter the assembly of the Lord; even to the tenth generation none of his descendants shall enter the assembly of the Lord forever, 5because they did not meet you with bread and water when you came out of Egypt, and because they hired against you Balaam the son of Beor from Mesopotamia to curse you. 6Nevertheless, the Lord your God would not listen to Balaam, but the Lord your God turned the curse into a blessing for you, because the Lord your God loved you. 7You shall not address them with peaceful words and good wishes all your days forever. 8You shall not abhor an Edomite, for he is your brother. You shall not abhor an Egyptian, because you were an alien in his land. 9The sons of the third generation born to them may enter the assembly of the Lord.

Guarding the Campsite

10"If you should go out to encamp against your enemies, then keep yourself from every evil thing. 11If there should be any man among you who is not clean from a flow in the night, then he shall go outside the camp; he shall not come inside the camp. 12But it shall be, when evening comes, he shall wash his body with water; and when the sun sets, he may come into the camp. 13Also there shall be a place outside the camp, and you shall defecate

there; [14]and you shall have a spike on your belt, and when you defecate outside, you shall dig with it and turn and cover your excrement. [15]For the Lord your God walks about in the midst of your camp to save you and to deliver up your enemy to you; therefore, your camp shall be holy, and no shameful matter shall be seen among you, and He turn away from you.

Other Laws

[16]"You shall not deliver to his lord the slave who fled from his lord to you. [17]He may dwell with you in the very place pleasing to him; you shall not afflict him. [18]There shall be no female prostitute among the daughters of Israel, or a male prostitute among the sons of Israel; there shall be no female temple prostitute among the daughters of Israel, and there shall be no male temple prostitute among the sons of Israel. [19]You shall not bring the wages of a prostitute or the price of a dog into the house of the Lord your God for any vowed offering, for both are an abomination to the Lord your God.

[20]"You shall not charge interest to your brother—interest on money or food or anything you lend out. [21]You may charge interest to a foreigner, but you shall not charge interest to your brother, that the Lord your God may bless you in all your works in the land you are entering to inherit.

[22]"If you should make a vow to the Lord your God, you shall not delay to pay it; for the Lord your God will surely require it of you, and it would be sin to you. [23]But if you should abstain from vowing, it is not a sin to you. [24]That which proceeds from your lips you shall keep and do in the manner you vowed your gift to the Lord your God; that which you spoke with your mouth.

[25]"If you enter into your neighbor's standing grain, you may pluck the heads with your hands, but you shall not use a sickle on your neighbor's standing grain. [26]Now if you enter into your neighbor's vineyard, you may eat your fill of grapes at your pleasure, but you shall not put any in your container.

Deuteronomy 24

Divorce and Remarriage

[1]"If a man takes a wife and marries her, and it should be she finds no favor before him, because he found something shameful in her, and he writes her a certificate of divorce, puts it in her hands, and sends her out of his house, 2 and she departs from his house and marries a different man,

3 and the latter man hates her and writes her a certificate of divorce, and puts it in her hands, and sends her out of his house, or the latter man dies who took her as his wife,
4 then her former husband who divorced her cannot take her back to be his wife after she was defiled; because that is an abomination before the Lord your God; and you shall not defile the land the Lord your God is giving you as an inheritance.

Other Laws

5 "If a man should take a new wife, he shall not go out to war or be charged with any business; he shall be free at home one year and bring happiness to his wife whom he took.

6 "No man shall take the lower or the upper millstone in pledge, for he takes one's living in pledge.

7 "If a man should kidnap any of his brethren of the sons of Israel and mistreats him or sells him, then that kidnapper shall die; and you shall put away the evil from among you.

8 "Take heed to yourself in an outbreak of leprosy that you carefully keep and do according to all the law, whatever the priests and Levites may proclaim to you, in the manner I commanded them; so you shall keep and do.
9 Remember what the Lord your God did to Miriam on the way when you proceeded out of Egypt.

10 "If you should lend your neighbor anything, you shall not enter his house to get his pledge.
11 You shall stand outside, and the man to whom you lend shall bring the pledge out to you.
12 Now if the man is poor, you shall not keep his pledge overnight.
13 You shall return the pledge to him again when the sun goes down, that he may sleep in his own garment and bless you; and it shall be for you an alms before the Lord your God.

14 "You shall not withhold wrongfully the wage of the poor and needy, whether one of your brethren or one of the resident aliens in your cities.
15 Each day you shall pay him his wage and not let the sun go down on it, for he is poor and has set his hope on it; lest he cry out against you to the Lord, and it be sin to you.

16 "Fathers shall not be put to death for their sons, nor shall sons be put to death for their fathers; each shall be put to death for his own sin.

17 "You shall not pervert judgment due the stranger and the fatherless and the widow, nor take a widow's garment as a pledge. 18But you shall remember you were a servant in Egypt, and the Lord your God redeemed you from there; therefore, I command you to do this thing.

19"If you should reap your harvest in your field and forget a sheaf in the field, you shall not go back to get it; it shall be for the poor and the resident alien and the fatherless and the widow, that the Lord your God may bless you in all the works of your hands. 20If you pick olives, you shall not go back to glean what you left behind you; it shall be for the resident alien, the fatherless, and the widow; and remember, you were a servant in Egypt; therefore, I command you to do this. 21Now if you should gather the grapes of your vineyard, you shall not glean it afterward; it shall be for the resident alien, the fatherless, and the widow. 22So remember, you were a servant in the land of Egypt; therefore, I command you to do this thing.

Deuteronomy 25

1"Now if there should be a dispute between men, and they come to judgment, and they judge and justify the one in the right but condemn the impious one, 2then it shall be, if the impious man should deserve to be beaten, you shall set him before the judges, and one shall beat him before them, according to his impiety, with a certain number of blows. 3Forty blows he may give him and no more, lest he should exceed this and beat him with many blows above these, and your brother be disgraced before you.

4"You shall not muzzle an ox while it treads out the grain.

A Departed Brother

5"If brothers dwell together, and one of them dies and has no son, the widow of the dead man shall not be married to a stranger outside the family; her husband's brother shall go in to her, take her as his wife, and dwell with her. 6Then it shall be, the firstborn son she bears shall be named by the name of his dead brother, that his name may not be blotted out of Israel. 7But if the man does not want to take his brother's wife, then let his brother's wife go up to the gate to the elders, and say, 'My husband's brother does not want to raise up the name of his brother in Israel; my husband's brother did not wish to do so.' 8Then the elders of his city shall call him and speak to him. But if he stands firm and says, 'I do not want to take her,' 9then his brother's wife shall come before the elders, remove his brother's sandal from his foot, spit in his face, and answer and say, 'So they shall do to the man who will not build up his brother's house.' [10]And his name shall be called in Israel, 'The house of him who had his sandal removed.'

The Enemy Amalek

[11]"If two men fight together, a man with his brother, and the wife of one draws near to rescue her husband from the hand of the one attacking him and puts out her hand and seizes him by the genitals, [12]then you shall cut off her hand; your eye shall not pity her.

[13]"You shall not have in your bag differing weights, a heavy and a light. [14]You shall not have in your house differing measures, a large and a small. [15]You shall have a true and just weight and a true and just measure, that your days may be lengthened in the land the Lord your God is giving you as an inheritance. [16]For all who do such things, all who behave unjustly, are an abomination to the Lord your God.

[17]"Remember what Amalek did to you on the way as you were coming out of Egypt, [18]how he met you on the way and cut off your rear guard, all the stragglers at your rear, when you were tired and weary; and he did not fear God. [19]Therefore it shall be, when the Lord your God gives you rest from your enemies all around in the land the Lord your God is giving you to possess as an inheritance, you will blot out the name of Amalek from under heaven. You shall not forget.

Deuteronomy 26

Offerings at Harvest

[1]"And it shall be, when you come into the land the Lord your God gives you as an inheritance, and you inherit it and dwell in it, [2]you shall take some of the first of all the produce of your land which the Lord your God gives you and put it in a basket, and go to the place the Lord your God will choose for His name to be called upon there. [3]Then you shall go to the one who is priest in those days and say to him, 'I declare today to the Lord my God, I have come to the country the Lord swore to our fathers to give us.' [4]Then the priest shall take the basket out of your hands and set it down before the altar of the Lord your God. [5]So you shall answer and say before the Lord your God, 'My father left Syria, and he went down to Egypt and dwelt there, few in number; and there he became a nation, great, mighty, and populous. [6]But the Egyptians maltreated us, humbled us, and laid hard tasks on us. [7]Then we cried out to the Lord God of our fathers, and the Lord heard our voice and looked on our humility, our labor and our affliction. [8]So the Lord brought us out of Egypt with a mighty hand and with an outstretched arm, with great spectacles and with signs and wonders. [9]He brought us to this place and gave us this land, "a land flowing with milk and honey"; [10]and now, behold, I brought the firstfruits of the produce of the land You, O Lord, gave me.' Then you shall set it before the Lord your God and worship there before the Lord your God. [11]So you shall rejoice in every good thing the Lord your God gave you and your house, you and the Levite and the resident alien among you.

[12]"Now if you should finish tithing all the tithe of the produce of your land in the third year, you shall give the second tithe to the Levite, the resident alien, the fatherless, and the widow; and they shall eat within your cities and be filled. [13]Then you shall say before the Lord your God, 'I cleared out the holy things from my house and also gave them to the Levite, the resident alien, the fatherless, and the widow, according to all Your commandments You commanded me; I have not transgressed Your commandments, nor have I forgotten them. [14]I have not eaten any of them when in mourning, nor have I cleared out any of them for an unclean use, nor given any of them for the dead. I obeyed the voice of the Lord my God, and did according to all You commanded me. [15]Look down from Your holy habitation from heaven, and bless Your people Israel and the land You gave them, just as You swore to give our fathers, "a land flowing with milk and honey." '

The People of God

[16]"This day the Lord your God commands you to observe these ordinances and judgments; therefore, you shall be careful to do them with all your heart and with all your soul. [17]Today, you proclaimed God to be your God, and to walk in His ways, to keep His ordinances and judgments, and to obey His voice. [18]Also today, the Lord proclaimed you to be His special people, just as He said to you, that you should keep all His commandments, [19]and to set you high over all the nations; how He made you a name, a pride, and glorious, that you might be a holy people to the Lord your God, just as He said."

Deuteronomy 27

Commandments Set in Stone

[1]Now Moses with the elders of Israel ordered the people, saying, “Keep all these commandments I command you today. [2]Then it shall be, on the day you cross over the Jordan to the land the Lord your God gives you, you shall set up for yourselves large stones and plaster them with lime. [3]You shall write on the stones all the words of this law when you cross over the Jordan, at the time you enter the land the Lord God of your fathers is giving you, ‘a land flowing with milk and honey,’ in the manner the Lord God of your fathers told you. [4]Therefore it shall be, when you cross over the Jordan, you shall set up these stones on Mount Ebal, which I command you today, and you shall plaster them with lime. [5]Now there you shall build an altar to the Lord your God, an altar of stones; you shall not use an iron tool on them. [6]You shall build with whole stones the altar of the Lord your God, and offer whole burnt offerings on it to the Lord your God. [7]You shall sacrifice peace offerings there, and shall eat and be filled and rejoice before the Lord your God. [8]Then you shall write very plainly on the stones all the words of this law.”

[9]Then Moses and the priests, the Levites, spoke to all Israel, saying, “Be silent and listen, O Israel: This day you became the people of the Lord your God. [10]Therefore you shall obey the voice of the Lord your God, and do all His commandments and ordinances I command you today.”

Curses on Disobedience

[11]Then Moses commanded the people on that day, saying, [12]“These shall stand on Mount Gerizim to bless the people when you cross over the Jordan: Simeon, Levi, Judah, Issachar, Joseph, and Benjamin; [13]and these shall stand on Mount Ebal to curse: Reuben, Gad, Asher, Zebulun, Dan, and Naphtali.

[14]Then the Levites shall speak with a loud voice and say to all Israel:

[15]‘Cursed is the man who makes a carved or molten image, an abomination to the Lord, the work of the hands of the craftsman, and sets it up in secret.’ Then all the people shall answer and say, ‘Amen!’

[16]‘Cursed is he who dishonors his father or mother.’ Then all the people shall say, ‘Amen!’

[17]‘Cursed is he who changes his neighbor’s boundaries.’ Then all the people shall say, ‘Amen!’

18‘Cursed is he who makes the blind wander on a road.’ Then all the people shall say, ‘Amen!’
19‘Cursed is he who perverts the judgment of a resident alien, the fatherless, and the widow.’ Then all the people shall say, ‘Amen!’ 20‘Cursed is he who lies with his father’s wife, because he uncovered what is covered of his father’s.’ Then all the people shall say, ‘Amen!’
21‘Cursed is he who lies with any cattle.’ Then all the people shall say, ‘Amen!’
22‘Cursed is he who lies with his sister, the daughter of his father or the daughter of his mother.’ Then all the people shall say, ‘Amen!’ 23‘Cursed is he who lies with his mother-in-law.’ Then all the people shall say, ‘Amen!’ ‘Cursed is he who lies with the sister of his wife.’ Then all the people shall say, ‘Amen!’
24‘Cursed is he who strikes his neighbor deceitfully.’ Then all the people shall say, ‘Amen!’
25‘Cursed is he who takes a bribe to slay the innocent blood of a soul.’
Then all the people shall say, ‘Amen!’
26‘Cursed is every man who does not abide in all the words of this law to do them.’ Then all the people shall say, ‘Amen!’

Deuteronomy 28

The Blessings of Obedience

1“Now it shall come to pass, as you cross the Jordan to the land the Lord your God gives you, if you diligently obey the voice of the Lord your God to be careful and do all His commandments I command you today, then the Lord your God will set you high over all nations of the earth. 2Then all these blessings shall come upon you and find you, because you obey the voice of the Lord your God: 3Blessed shall you be in the city, and blessed shall you be in the country. 4Blessed shall be the offspring of your womb, the produce of your ground and the herds of your oxen, and the flocks of your sheep.
5Blessed shall be your storehouses and your reserves. 6Blessed shall you be when you come in, and blessed shall you be when you go out. 7May the Lord your God deliver your enemies who rise against you to be defeated before your face; they shall come out against you one way and flee before you seven ways. 8The Lord will command the blessing on you in your storehouses and in all to which you set your hand in the land the Lord your God gives you.

9“The Lord your God will establish you as a holy people to Himself, in the manner He swore to your fathers, if you obey the voice of the Lord your God, and walk in His ways. 10Then all nations of the earth shall see you are called by the name of the Lord, and they shall be afraid of you. 11So the Lord your God shall increase you in good things: in the fruit of your womb, in the produce of your ground, and in the offspring of your cattle in the land the Lord swore to your fathers to give you. 12The Lord will open to you His good treasure, the heaven, to give the rain to your land in its season and to bless all the works of your hands. You shall lend to many nations, but you shall not borrow; and you shall rule over many nations, and they shall not rule over you. 13So the Lord your God will make you the head and not the tail; you shall be above only and not beneath, if you heed the commandments of the Lord your God I command you today to keep and do them. 14You shall not transgress any of the words I command you this day to the right or the left, to go after different gods to serve them.

15“But it shall be, if you do not obey the voice of the Lord your God to keep and do all His commandments I command you today, all these curses will come upon you and overtake you: 16Cursed shall you be in the city, and cursed shall you be in the country. 17Cursed shall be your storehouses and your reserves. 18Cursed shall be the fruit of your womb and the produce of your land, and the herds of your oxen and the flocks of your sheep. 19Cursed shall you be when you go out, and cursed shall you be when you come in.

20“The Lord will send on you poverty, hunger, and consumption in all you set your hand to do, until He destroys you and lays you waste quickly, because of your evil habits in which you forsook Me. 21The Lord will make death cling to you, until He consumes you from the land to which you are going as an inheritance. 22The Lord will strike you with perplexity, fever, shivering, irritation, murder, blight, and mildew; these things shall pursue you until you perish. 23The heaven over your head shall be brass, and the earth under you shall be iron. 24May the Lord give dust as the rain of your land; and from heaven dirt shall come down on you until it wears you out and destroys you.

25“May the Lord give you over to slaughter before your enemies; you shall go out one way against them, and flee seven ways before them; and you shall be in dispersion among all the kingdoms of the earth. 26Your carcasses shall be food for all the birds of heaven and the beasts of the earth, and no one shall frighten them away. [27]The Lord will strike you with the sores of Egypt on the buttocks, with furious itching and scratching from which you cannot be healed. [28]The Lord will strike you with madness, blindness, and confusion of mind. [29]You shall grope at noonday as a blind man gropes in darkness; you shall not prosper in your ways; you shall be only oppressed and plundered all your days, and no one shall help you.

[30]"You shall take a wife, but a different man shall have her; you shall build a house, but you shall not dwell in it; you shall plant a vineyard, but shall not gather its grapes. [31]Your young bull shall be slaughtered before you, but you shall not eat of it; your donkey shall be violently taken away from before you, and shall not be restored to you; your sheep shall be given to your enemies, and you shall have no one to help you. [32]Your sons and your daughters shall be given to a different nation, and your eyes shall look and fail with longing for them all day long; and there shall be no strength in your hand. [33]A nation whom you have not known shall eat the fruit of your land and the produce of your labor, and you shall be oppressed and crushed all the days. [34]So you shall be driven mad because of the sight which your eyes see. [35]The Lord will strike you in the knees and on the legs with severe sores which cannot be healed, and from the sole of your foot to the top of your head.

[36]"The Lord will bring you and the rulers whom you set over you to a nation neither you nor your fathers knew, and there you shall serve different gods of wood and stone. [37]There you shall become an obscure saying, a proverb, and a tale among all nations where the Lord will bring you.

[38]"You shall carry much seed out to the field but gather little in, for the locust shall consume it. [39]You shall plant vineyards and tend them, but you shall neither drink of the wine nor enjoy it; for the worm shall eat it. [40]You shall have olive trees throughout all your borders, but you shall not anoint yourself with the oil; for your olives shall drop off. [41]You shall beget sons and daughters, but they shall not be yours; for they shall go into captivity. [42]Blight shall consume all your trees and the produce of your land. [43]The resident alien among you shall rise higher and higher above you, and you shall come down lower and lower. [44]He shall lend to you, but you shall not lend to him; he shall be the head, and you shall be the tail.

[45]"Moreover all these curses shall come upon and pursue you and overtake you until you are destroyed and wasted, because you did not obey the voice of the Lord your God, to keep His commandments and ordinances which He commanded you. [46]So they shall be upon you as signs and wonders, and among your seed forever. [47]Because you did not serve the Lord your God with joy and a good heart, for the abundance of everything; [48]therefore, you shall serve your enemies whom the Lord will send against you in hunger, in thirst, in nakedness, and in need of everything; and He will put a yoke of iron on your neck until He destroys you. [49]The Lord will bring a nation against you from afar, from the end of the earth, as swift as the eagle flies, a nation whose language you will not understand, [50]a nation ruthless in appearance which does not respect the elderly, nor is merciful to the young. [51]They shall eat the offspring of your cattle and the produce of your land; so as not to leave you grain, wine, or olive oil, or the herds of your oxen, or the flocks of your sheep, until they destroy you [52]and wipe you out in all your cities, until your high and fortified walls in which you trust come down throughout all your land; and He will afflict you in all your cities the Lord your God gave you.

[53]"You shall eat the offspring of your womb, the flesh of your sons and your daughters the Lord your God gave you, in the distress and desperate straits in which your enemy shall distress you. [54]The tender and very refined man among you will turn a grudging eye toward his brother, toward the wife of his bosom, and toward the rest of his children whom he leaves behind, [55]so as not to give any of them the flesh of his children whom he will eat, because he has nothing left in your siege and desperate straits in which your enemies shall distress you in all your cities. [56]The tender and delicate woman among you, who would not venture to set the sole of her foot on the ground because of her delicateness and sensitivity, will turn a grudging eye toward the husband in her bosom, and upon her son and daughter, [57]and toward her placenta which came out from between her thighs and her child whom she might bear; for she will eat these secretly for lack of everything in the siege and desperate straits in which your enemy shall distress you in all your cities.

[58]"If you do not carefully observe all the words of this law written in this book, to fear this glorious and awesome name, the Lord your God, [59]then the Lord will bring upon you and your seed extraordinary plagues—great and marvelous plagues—and evil and chronic diseases. [60]Moreover He will bring back on you all the evil pain of Egypt of which you were in dread, and they shall cling to you. [61]Also every sickness and every plague not written in this book of the law will the Lord bring upon you, until He destroys you. [62]You shall be left few in number, whereas you were as the stars of heaven in multitude, because you would not obey the voice of the Lord your God.

63“Thus it shall be, in the manner the Lord rejoiced over you to do you good and multiply you, so the Lord will rejoice over you to destroy you and bring you to nothing; and you shall be taken from off the land you go to inherit. 64Then the Lord your God will scatter you among all the nations, from one end of the earth to the other, and there you shall serve different gods of wood and stone, which neither you nor your fathers knew. 65But even among those nations He shall give you no rest, nor shall the sole of your foot have a resting place; but there the Lord will give you a trembling heart, failing eyes, and anguish of soul. 66Your Life shall hang before your eyes;
and you shall fear day and night, and you will not believe in your Life. 67In
the morning you shall say, ‘Oh, that it were evening!’ And at evening you shall say, ‘Oh, that it were morning!’ because of the fear which terrifies your heart, and because of the sight your eyes see. 68Then the Lord will take you back to Egypt in ships, by the way of which I said to you, ‘You shall never see it again.’ There you shall be offered for sale to your enemies as male and female servants, but no one will buy you.”

69These are the words of the covenant the Lord commanded Moses to establish with the sons of Israel in the land of Moab, besides the covenant which He made with them in Horeb.

Deuteronomy 29

The Covenant in Moab

1Now Moses called all the children of Israel and said to them, “You saw all the Lord did before you in the land of Egypt, to Pharaoh and to all his servants and to all his land— 2the great trials your eyes saw, the signs, and those great wonders. 3Yet the Lord your God has not given you a heart to perceive and eyes to see and ears to hear, to this very day. 4He also led you forty years in the desert. Your clothes did not grow old on you, and your sandals did not wear out on your feet. 5You did not eat bread, nor did you drink wine or strong drink, that you may know He is the Lord your God.
6Then you came to this place; and Sihon king of Heshbon and Og king of Bashan came out against us in war, and we struck them. 7We took their land, and gave it as an inheritance to Reuben, to Gad, and to half the tribe of Manasseh. 8Therefore heed all the words of this covenant, to do them, that you may understand all these things you are doing.

9“All of you stand today before the Lord your God: your chiefs, your elders, your judges and your teachers, all the men of Israel, 10your wives and your offspring and the resident alien in your camp, from the one who cuts your wood to the one who draws your water, 11that you may enter into the covenant of the Lord your God and into His oath the Lord your God makes with you today, 12that He may establish you today as a people for Himself and be God to you, in the manner He told you, and in the manner He swore to your fathers, to Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob. 13I make this covenant and this oath, not with you alone, 14but with those with us here today before the Lord your God, as well as with those not with us here today 15(for you know we dwelt in the land of Egypt, and came through the nations you passed by; 16and you saw their abominations and idols among them—wood, stone, silver, and gold).
17“Surely there is not among you man, woman, family, or tribe whose mind turns away today from the Lord our God, to go and serve the gods of these nations? And surely there is not among you a root bearing gall and bitterness? 18So it shall be, if one should hear the words of this curse and flatter himself in his heart, saying, ‘May holy things happen for me, even though I go in the wanderings of my heart’ —lest the sinner destroy the sinless along with him— 19God will not be merciful to him; for then the anger of the Lord and His jealousy will burn against that man, and every curse written in this book will cling to him, and the Lord will blot out his name from under heaven.
20“So the Lord will separate him from all the children of Israel for evils, according to all the curses of the covenant written in this book of this law.
21They will say, that is, the coming generation of your sons who rise up after you, and the foreigner who comes from a far land, and they see the plagues of that land and its diseases which the Lord sent upon it, 22‘The whole land will be brimstone and burning salt; it will not be sown, nor will it bear, nor will any grass grow there, like the overthrow of Sodom and Gomorrah, Admah, and Zeboiim, which the Lord overthrew in His anger and His wrath.’ 23They and all the nations will say, ‘Why has the Lord done so to this land? What does the heat of this great anger mean?’ 24Then they will say, ‘Because they forsook the covenant of the Lord God of their fathers, which He made with their fathers when He brought them out of the land of Egypt; 25for they went and served different gods and worshiped them, which they did not know, nor had He allotted to them. 26Then the Lord was aroused in anger against that land, to bring on it all the curses written in the book of this law; 27and the Lord uprooted them from their land in anger, in wrath, and in great indignation and cast them into another land, as it is this day.’ 28The secret things belong to the Lord our God, but those things revealed belong to us and to our children forever, that we may do all the words of this law.

Deuteronomy 30

The Blessings of Repentance

1“Now it shall be, when all these things come upon you, the blessing and the curse which I set before you, and you will reflect in your heart among all the nations where the Lord your God scatters you, 2and you return to the Lord your God and obey His voice from your whole heart and from your whole soul, according to all I command you today, 3that the Lord will heal your sins, have mercy on you, and gather you again from all the nations where the Lord your God scattered you. 4If any of you are scattered from one end of heaven to the other end, from there the Lord your God will gather you, and from there the Lord your God will bring you. 5Then the Lord your God will bring you to the land your fathers inherited, and you shall have it as an inheritance. He will prosper and multiply you more than your fathers. 6The Lord your God will purify your heart and the heart of your seed to love the Lord your God from your whole heart and from your whole soul, that you may live.

7“Also the Lord your God will put all these curses on your enemies and on those who hate you, who persecuted you. 8As for you, you will once again obey the voice of the Lord your God and do His commandments, whatever I command you today. 9The Lord your God will take great care of you in all the work of your hands, in the offspring of your womb, in the produce of your land, and in the offspring of your cattle. For the Lord will again rejoice over you for good, as He rejoiced over your fathers, 10if you obey the voice of the Lord your God to keep and do all His commandments, ordinances, and judgments written in this book of the law, and if you return to the Lord your God from your whole heart and from your whole soul.

11“For this commandment I command you today is not too burdensome for you, nor is it far off. 12It is not in heaven above, that you should say, ‘Who will ascend into heaven for us and bring it to us, that we may hear and do it?’

13Nor is it beyond the sea, that you should say, ‘Who will go over the sea for us and bring it to us, that we may hear and do it?’ 14But the word is very near you, in your mouth, in your heart, and in your hands, that you may do it.

15“See, I set before you today life and death, good and evil. 16If you hear the commandments of the Lord your God I command you today, to love the Lord your God, to walk in His ways, and to keep His ordinances and judgments, then you shall live and multiply; and the Lord your God will bless you in the land you go to inherit. 17But if your heart turns away and you do not hear, but go astray and worship different gods and serve them, 18I announce to you today, you shall surely perish; you shall not prolong your days in the land the Lord your God is giving you, into which you are crossing over the Jordan to inherit. 19I call heaven and earth as witnesses today against you: I set before you life and death, blessing and cursing. Therefore choose life, that both you and your seed may live 20and love the Lord your God, obey His voice, and cling to Him. For this is your life and the length of your days, that you may dwell in the land the Lord swore to your fathers, to Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, to give them.”

Deuteronomy 31

Joshua Leads the People

1Now Moses finished speaking these words to the children of Israel. 2Then he said to them, “I am one hundred and twenty years old today. I can no longer go out and come in. Also the Lord said to me, ‘You shall not cross over this Jordan.’ 3The Lord your God Himself crosses over before you; He will destroy these nations from before you, and you shall dispossess them. Joshua himself is also crossing over before you, as the Lord said. 4Then the Lord will do to them as He did to Sihon and Og, the two kings of the Amorites who were beyond the Jordan, and their land, when He destroyed them. 5The Lord gave them over to you, and you will do to them as I commanded you. 6Be valiant and strong, do not fear nor be afraid of them, nor be terrified before them; for the Lord your God, He is the One who goes before you and with you and among you. He will not leave you nor forsake you.”

7Then Moses called Joshua and said to him before all Israel, “Be valiant and strong, for you must go before this people to the land the Lord swore to their fathers to give them; and you shall cause them to inherit it. 8But the Lord, He is the One who goes before you. He will be with you, He will not leave you nor forsake you; do not be afraid, nor be terrified."

Read the Law Every Seven Years

9So Moses wrote the words of this law in a book and delivered it to the priests, the sons of Levi who carried the ark of the Lord's covenant, and to the elders of the sons of Israel. 10Then Moses commanded them on that day, saying, "At the end of every seven years, at the appointed time in the Year of Remission, at the Feast of Tabernacles, 11when all Israel comes to appear before the Lord your God in the place the Lord chooses, you shall read this law before all Israel in their hearing. 12Gather the people together, men and women and offspring, and the resident alien within your cities, so they may hear and learn to fear the Lord your God, and may hear and do all the words of this law; 13and their sons who have not known it may hear and learn to fear the Lord your God as long as they live in the land you cross over the Jordan to inherit."

Final Word to Moses

14Then the Lord said to Moses, "Behold, the day of your death is near; call Joshua, and stand at the doors of the tabernacle of testimony, and I shall give him My commandments." So Moses and Joshua went to the tabernacle of testimony and stood at the doors of the tabernacle of testimony. 15Now the Lord came down in a cloud and stood at the doors of the tabernacle of testimony; and the pillar of cloud stood at the doors of the tabernacle. 16Then the Lord said to Moses, "Behold, you will sleep with your fathers; and this people will rise and commit fornication with the gods of the foreigners of the land where they go to be among them; and they will forsake Me and break My covenant I made with them. 17Then I shall be aroused in anger against them in that day; and I will forsake them and turn My face from them. So he shall be a prey, and many evils and troubles shall find him; and he will say in that day, 'These evils found me because the Lord my God is not with me.' 18So I will surely turn My face from them in that day because of all the evil they did, and because they turned to foreign gods.

19"Now therefore, write the words of this ode and teach it to the children of Israel, and put it in their mouths, that this song may be a testimony for Me among the children of Israel. 20For I shall bring them to this good land I swore to their fathers to give them, a land flowing with milk and honey; and they shall eat and be satisfied. Then they will turn to foreign gods and serve them; and they will provoke Me and break My covenant. [21]Then this ode will rise up and testify against them; for it will not be forgotten from their mouth, nor from the mouth of their seed, for I know the wickedness they do today, even before I brought them to the land I swore to give them." [22]Therefore Moses wrote this ode on that day and taught it to the children of Israel. [23]Then Moses commanded Joshua the son of Nun and said, "Be valiant and strong; for you shall bring the sons of Israel into the land the Lord swore to them; and He shall be with you."

[24]So it was, when Moses completed writing all the words of this law in a book, and when they were finished, [25]he commanded the Levites who carry the ark of the covenant of the Lord, saying, [26]"Take the book of this law and put it beside the ark of the covenant of the Lord your God, and it shall be there as a testimony against you; [27]for I know your rebellion and stiff neck. For if while I am yet alive with you today, you have been rebellious against God, then how much more after my death? [28]Gather to me your chiefs, your elders, your judges, and your teachers, that I may speak these words in their hearing and call heaven and earth to testify against them. [29]For I know that after my death you will become utterly lawless and turn aside from the way I commanded you. Then evil shall befall you in the latter days because you will do evil before the Lord, to provoke Him to anger through the works of your hands."

The Song of Moses

[30]So Moses spoke in the hearing of all the assembly of Israel the words of this ode, until they were ended:

Deuteronomy 32

[1]"Take heed, O heaven, and I will speak;
And let the earth hear the words of my mouth.
[2]Let my proverbial saying be awaited as the rain,
And let my words come down
As raindrops on the wild grass,
And as snowfall on the sown grass.
[3]For I invoke the Lord's name:

Ascribe greatness to our God.
4 He is God, His works are true;
And all His ways are judgment,
A faithful God and without injustice;
Righteous and holy is the Lord.

5 "They sinned; the blameworthy children are not His,
A generation twisted and perverse.
6 Is this how you repay the Lord,
O foolish and unwise people?
Is He not your Father, who acquired you?
Has He not made and created you?

7 "Remember the days of old,
Consider the years of many generations.
Ask your father, and he will tell you;
Your elders, and they will tell you:
8 When the Most High divided the nations,
When He scattered the sons of Adam,
He set the boundaries of the nations
By the number of God's angels.
9 For the Lord's portion became the people of Jacob;
The allotment of His inheritance is Israel.

10 "He provided for him in the desert,
In thirst of heat in a waterless place.
He encircled him; He instructed him;
He guarded him carefully as the apple of His eye.
11 As an eagle covers its nest,
Yearns after its young,
Spreading out its wings, taking them up,
Carrying them on its back,
12 So the Lord alone led them,
And there was no foreign god with them.

13 "He raised them on the strength of the land;
He fed them on the produce of the fields;
He suckled them on honey from the rock

And oil from the solid rock, 14Butter of oxen and milk of sheep,
With fat of lambs and goats,
Of sons of bulls and goats,
With the choicest wheat;
And you drank wine, the blood of grapes.

15“So Jacob ate and was filled, and the beloved kicked;
He grew fat, he grew thick, he is obese.
Then he forsook God who made him
And stood back from God his Savior.
16They provoked Me to wrath against foreign gods;
With their abominations they embittered Me.
17They sacrificed to demons, and not to God,
To gods they did not know;
New ones, recent gods arrived,
Which their fathers did not know.
18You abandoned the God who begot you,
And forgot the God who nourished you.

19“So the Lord saw it, and was jealous;
And He was provoked to anger by His sons and daughters.
20Then He said, ‘I will turn My face from them,
And I will make known what their end will be;
For they are a perverse generation,
Sons in whom is no faith.
21They provoked Me to jealousy by what is not God;
They moved Me to anger by their idols;
But I will provoke them to jealousy by those who are not a nation;
I will move them to anger by a foolish nation.
22For a fire is kindled in My anger,
And shall burn to the lowest Hades;
It shall consume the land with its produce
And set on fire the foundations of the mountains.
23‘I will gather evils on them;
I will spend My arrows on them.
24They shall be wasted with hunger,

Devoured by birds and incurable disease;
I will also send against them the teeth of wild animals
With the anger of things crawling on the earth.
25The sword shall make them childless outside,
And fear from the inner chambers,
For the young man and virgin,
The nursing child with the elder of gray hairs.
26I said, “I will scatter them;
I will make their memory cease from among men,” 27But for the wrath of the enemy, lest they live long,
Lest their adversary make a joint attack,
Lest they should say, “Our hand is high;
And it is not the Lord who did all this.” ’

28“For they are a nation void of counsel,
Nor is there understanding in them.
29They were not wise to understand these things;
Let them be concerned for the coming time.
30How could one chase a thousand
And two put ten thousand to flight
Unless God had sold them,
And the Lord delivered them up?
31For our God is not like their gods,
But our enemies are foolish.
32For their vineyard is of the vineyard of Sodom,
And their vine is of Gomorrah;
Their grapes are grapes of gall;
Their clusters are bitter.
33Their wine is the wrath of serpents,
And the incurable wrath of asps.
34‘Behold, is this not laid up in store with Me,
Sealed up among My treasures?
35I shall repay on the day of vengeance;
In time, when their foot shall slip;
For the day of their calamity is at hand,
And is waiting, ready for them.’

36“For the Lord will judge His people,

And have compassion on His servants;
For He sees them disabled
And left in distress and weakened.
37The Lord said,
‘Where are their gods in which they trusted?
38Who ate the fat of their sacrifices,
And drank the wine of their drink offerings?
Let them rise and help you
And be your defender.
39‘Now see, I, even I, am He,
And there is no God besides Me;
I kill and I make alive;
I wound and I heal;
Nor is there any who can deliver from My hands.
40For I raise My hand to heaven,
And I swear by My right hand, and say,

“As I live forever,
41for I whet My sword like lightning;
And My hand takes hold on judgment.
I will render vengeance on My enemies,
And repay those who hate Me.
42I will make My arrows drunk from blood;
And My sword shall devour flesh
From the blood of the slain and the captives,
From the heads of the leaders of the enemy.” ’

43“Rejoice, O Heavens, together with Him,
And worship Him, all the sons of God;
Rejoice, O Gentiles, with His people;
And let all the angels of God be strong with Him;
For He will avenge the blood of His sons
And render vengeance to His adversaries;
And the Lord will purify His people’s land.”

Moses’ Last Instructions

44So Moses wrote this ode on that day and taught it to the children of Israel. Then Moses came with Joshua the son of Nun and spoke all the words of this law in the hearing of the people. 45Now Moses finished speaking to all Israel; 46and he said to them, “Take heed in your heart to all these words I testify among you today, which you shall command your sons to be careful to do—all the words of this law. 47For it is not an empty word for you, because it is your life; and because of this word you shall prolong your days in the land which you are crossing over the Jordan to inherit.”

48Then the Lord spoke to Moses on that day, saying, 49“Go up this mountain of the Abarim, Mount Nebo in the land of Moab, across from Jericho; view the land of Canaan, which I give to the children of Israel as a possession; 50and die on the mountain you ascend and be added to your people, as Aaron your brother died on Mount Hor and was added to his people; 51because you disobeyed My word among the children of Israel during the Water of Contention at Kadesh in the Desert of Sin, and because you did not sanctify Me in the midst of the children of Israel. 52Yet you shall see the land at a distance, though you shall not go there.”

Deuteronomy 33

The Last Blessing of Moses

1Now this is the blessing with which Moses the man of God blessed the sons of Israel before his death. 2Thus he said:

“The Lord came down from Sinai
And appeared to us from Seir;
He hastened from Mount Paran
Along with myriads at Kadesh, angels with Him at His right hand;
3And He spared His people
And all the sanctified ones under Your hands;
And these are under You,
And received the law from His words
4Which Moses commanded us,
A heritage of the congregations of Jacob.
5And there shall be a Ruler among the beloved people
When the rulers of the people are gathered,
Together with the tribes of Israel.

6 “Let Reuben live, and not die,
And let him be many in number.”
7 This he said of Judah:

“Hear, O Lord, the voice of Judah,
And let him visit his people;
His hands will judge for him,
And may You be a help against his enemies.”

8 To Levi he said:

“Give to Levi, to the holy man, his Urim and Thummim,
Him whom they tested with testing,
Whom they reviled at the Water of Contention,
9 Who says to his father and mother, ‘I have not seen you’;
Nor did he know his brothers or his own children;
They guarded Your oracles
And kept Your covenant.
10 They shall manifest Your judgments to Jacob
And Your law to Israel.
They shall lay incense when You are angry Continually on Your altar.
11 Bless his strength, O Lord,
And accept the works of his hands;
Bring down the loins of those who rise against him
And of those who hate him, so they rise not again.”

12 To Benjamin he said:

“Beloved by the Lord, he shall dwell in hope,
And God shall overshadow him all his days;
And he rested between his shoulders.”

13 To Joseph he said:

“Blessed of the Lord is his land,
Of the seasons of heaven, of the dew
And of the deep springs lying beneath,
14 And in due season of the produce of the solar cycle

And of the conjunction of the months,
15 Both from the top of the ancient mountains
And from the top of the everlasting hills;
16 And in due season of the fullness of the land
And the things acceptable to the One revealed in the Bush.
May these things come ‘upon the head of Joseph,
And on the crown of the one glorified among his brothers.’
17 His beauty is like the firstborn of a bull
And his horns like the horns of the unicorn;
With them He will gore nations together
Even to the ends of the earth.
They are the ten thousands of Ephraim,
And they are the thousands of Manasseh.”

18 To Zebulun he said:

“Rejoice, Zebulun, in your going out,
And Issachar in his tents.
19 They shall annihilate nations,
And there you will call upon the Lord
And sacrifice a sacrifice of righteousness,
For the wealth of the sea shall suckle you,
And the trade of those dwelling by the sea.”

20 To Gad he said:

“Blessed is He who enlarges Gad;
He rested as a lion
And crushed the arm and the head.
21 He saw his firstfruit,
Because the land of the rulers was apportioned there,
When the rulers were gathered together
With the rulers of the people.
The Lord administered righteousness
And His judgments with Israel.”

22 To Dan he said:

“Dan is a lion’s cub,

And he shall leap from Bashan.”

23To Naphtali he said:

“Naphtali has an abundance of acceptable things,
And let him be full of blessing from the Lord.
He shall inherit the sea and the south.”

24To Asher he said:

“Blessed is Asher beyond sons,
And let him be acceptable to his brothers.
He shall dip his foot in olive oil.
25His sandals shall be iron and bronze;
And as your days, so shall your strength be.
26There is no one like the God of the Beloved,
Who rides upon heaven and who is your help,
And the Magnificent One of the firmament, 27And the Protection of the rule of God,
And who is under the strength of the everlasting arms.
He will cast out the enemy from before your face, Saying, ‘Destroy.’
28Then Israel shall dwell in hope,
Alone in the land of Jacob,
With grain and wine;
And heaven is cloudy with dew for him.
29Blessed are you, O Israel.
Who is like you, a people saved by the Lord.
Your Helper will defend you as with a shield;
And the sword shall be your boast.
Your enemies shall speak falsely to you,
And you shall tread on their neck.”

Deuteronomy 34

Moses’ Death on Mount Nebo

1Then Moses went up from the plains of Moab to Mount Nebo, to the top of

Pisgah, which is across from Jericho; and the Lord showed him all the land of Gilead as far as Dan, 2and all the land of Naphtali, and all the land of Ephraim and Manasseh, and all the land of Judah as far as the Western Sea, 3and the desert, and the plain of the Valley of Jericho, the city of palm trees, as far as Zoar. 4Then the Lord said to Moses, “This is the land I swore to give Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, saying, ‘I will give it to your seed.’ I show it to your eyes, but you shall not go in there.”

5So Moses the servant of the Lord died there in the land of Moab by the word of the Lord. 6Then He buried him in a valley in the land of Moab, opposite Beth Peor; but no one knows his grave to this day. 7Moses was one hundred and twenty years old when he died. His eyes were not dim nor his natural vigor diminished. 8Then the sons of Israel wept for Moses in the plains of Moab at the Jordan near Jericho thirty days. So the days of weeping and mourning for Moses ended.

9Now Joshua the son of Nun was full of the Spirit of understanding, for Moses had laid his hands on him; so the sons of Israel heeded him and did as the Lord commanded Moses. 10Now there has not arisen in Israel a prophet like Moses, whom the Lord knew face to face, 11in all the signs and wonders the Lord sent him to do in the land of Egypt, before Pharaoh, before all his servants, and in all his land, 12and by all those great wonders and the mighty hand which Moses performed in the sight of all Israel.

Annotations for Deuteronomy

1:1 The statement, these are the words, refers to the words Moses spoke in Exodus, Leviticus, and Numbers. They were spoken in the desert during the thirty-nine–year period after Israel left Egypt.

1:3 In the eleventh month of the fortieth year, Moses spoke the contents of Deuteronomy, "beyond the Jordan in the land of Moab" (v. 5). He spoke the words the Lord gave him to speak. The Lord is the Son of God, "who built the house" (Heb 3:3). Moses was "faithful in all His house as a servant," but the Son is "over His own house" (Heb 3:5, 6).

1:5 In Deuteronomy, Moses began to explain the Law he had already given in the previous three books. The word Deuteronomy means "a second law." The book contains no new set of laws. It is called "a second law" because it especially emphasizes the spirit of the Law, so as to stress the importance of Israel's obedience and thankfulness to God from the heart.

1:13 The chosen leaders were to be wise, understanding, and knowledgeable. These three traits should also characterize leaders in the Church: "Remember those who rule over you, who have spoken the word of God to you, whose faith follow, considering the outcome of their conduct" (Heb 13:7).

1:16, 17 These leaders were to judge righteously by being impartial in their judgments. They were not to be partial to the first testimony they might hear. Impartial judgment means hearing all sides before judging the case. Judgment should be made with "wisdom, understanding, and knowledge" (v. 13); otherwise, the judgment made would be prejudiced.

St. Basil the Great made reference to v. 17 in writing to a certain bishop who had formed a prejudiced judgment against him: "But truly, you have suffered the fate of all who fail to inquire into the nature of the circumstances and into the truth. You showed partiality by forgetting the exhortation: 'You shall not show partiality in judgment.'"

1:26–28 Israel disobeyed the Lord's word because they revolted in their heart and murmured in their tents. The Law was not the problem, nor the cause of their rebellion. An unbelieving heart was the cause (Heb 3:7–11, 19). They judged by outward appearance (we saw the sons of giants there), rather than by faith in the Lord and His word. "For we walk by faith, not by sight" (2Co 5:7).

1:29–33 Their unbelieving heart was not to be cowardly (terrified or afraid). The fear of God produces courage, but the generation that came out of Egypt feared what they saw—taller and physically stronger people, large fortified cities, and even sons of giants (v. 28). Yet the Lord provided abundant evidence to encourage their faith, such as leading them with the fire by night and the cloud by day (v. 33).

The fire and the cloud foreshadowed the Incarnation of the Son. For the cloud speaks of the Mother of God, and the fire of the Son conceived in her womb. The Church believes in the Incarnate Son and in His holy Mother. This faith is the rock on which the Church stands, and against which "the gates of Hades shall not prevail" (Mt 16:18).

1:41–45 The generation that came out of Egypt did not believe the Lord when He said to go up and take the land, nor did they believe Him when He said not to go up. They rejected enlightened faith, but accepted blind faith. Such is the deceitfulness of unbelief.

2:4 Esau was the twin brother of Jacob. Both were sons of Isaac, the son of Abraham. Therefore, the sons of Esau were called Israel's brethren. They were brethren according to the flesh.

Being brethren according to the flesh qualified neither the sons of Israel (Jacob) nor the sons of Esau to be the children of God. "For they are not all Israel who are of Israel, nor are they all children because they are the seed of Abraham" (Rom 9:6, 7). Both Jacob and Esau were the seed of Abraham according to the flesh. But this did not mean they were the children of God.

On what basis are people the children of God? The basis is "the word of promise" (Rom 9:9). The promise was the word of faith given Abraham concerning the birth of Isaac, which word he believed, for he was strong in faith, giving glory to God (Rom 4). But those among the children of Israel or the children of Esau who rejected this faith would not be the children of God.

2:7 The generation that died in the desert had no excuse for not believing the Lord, nor did the new generation about to enter the land of promise. For the Lord blessed them over the forty-year period in spite of their unbelief. They lacked nothing.

God's gracious promise in the Gospel of Christ either saves people or makes them hard and stubborn. Yet this hardness and stubbornness is of their own free will, for He never forces anyone to respond in faith. But He does make them the offer of peace.

3:28 The name Joshua in the Hebrew language of the Old Testament was translated into the Greek language as Jesus. This was true in the Greek Old Testament as well as in the New. This name means, "The Lord is salvation."

Thus, the Jesus or Joshua of the Old Testament was a type of Jesus in the New. He was a type of Jesus in that he will cause them to inherit the land of Canaan. But Joshua was unable to give Israel rest in their souls (Heb 4:8). However, the Lord Jesus said, "Come to Me, all you who labor and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest. Take My yoke upon you and learn from Me, for I am gentle and lowly in heart, and you will find rest for your souls. For My yoke is easy and My burden is light" (Mt 11:28–30). Therefore, the Lord Jesus is salvation.

4:2 This statement by Moses is a commandment regarding God's commandments—a warning not to add to or take from them. This commandment is a warning against the traditions of men. In themselves, traditions are good, but the traditions of men are those that contradict and nullify the teachings of Scripture. Isaiah prophesied about the Jews of Jesus' day, who would "teach as doctrines the commandments of men" (Is 29:13; Mt 15:1–9). Jesus called these "the tradition of men" (Mk 7:8). But the traditions handed down in the Church by Christ and the apostles are to be kept and honored (1Co 11:2; 2Th 2:15; 3:6).

4:5 God's commandments in the Old Testament were to be taught and acted upon. Moses acted upon them, then taught them to others. This is the proper order: first keep them, then teach them. Those taught are then responsible to do them, for learning but not doing contradicts the teachings themselves. The same order holds in the New Testament commandments. For in the Sermon on the Mount, the Lord said that whoever "does and teaches" His commandments "shall be called great in the kingdom of heaven" (Mt 5:19). Therefore, "does and teaches" is the proper order.

4:6 He who "does and teaches" has wisdom and understanding, which will convert the Gentiles to the true God. To teach but not do would be hypocrisy in their sight, and rightly so.

4:7 God was near to Israel, which is proper to say in the relationship between the Creator and the creatures to whom He is near. But such a statement could never be made regarding the Son in relation to the Father. God is never said to be "near Him," for as He said to the apostle Philip, "I am in the Father, and the Father in Me" (Jn 14:10). He is "in," not "near to." Therefore, the Son is not a creature (AthanG). Rather, he is "God of God" and "one in essence with the Father" (Creed). Both His words and His works proved this (Jn 14:11).

4:9 The children of Israel were to diligently guard their soul, lest their hearts should depart from the Lord's commandments. The generation that came out of Egypt let down their guard and fell into unbelief. Consequently, they died in the desert.

The Scripture says, "Today, if you will hear His voice, do not harden your hearts" (Heb 4:7). The word "today" indicates that as long as we are alive, we have the hope of recovering from our fall (JohnChr).

4:12, 15–18 The divine nature has no form; only creatures have form. Therefore, no form was to be made by Israel as representing God's essence. To worship any form that supposedly depicted God's nature would be idolatry. But the nations that surrounded Israel worshiped forms as though they were God.

The Lord did instruct Israel to use certain forms in worship; however, these forms, such as those in the tabernacle, were not objects of worship. They did not depict the divine nature in any sense. Rather, they were honored as holy because they foreshadowed the Incarnation and the Church. Similarly, the Church uses images or icons in worship, but neither do these depict the divine nature. They are not objects of worship. Rather, they speak of the Incarnation and the angels and saints. The honor paid to these images passes to the ones honored.

4:13 The Ten Commandments were written on stone tablets. But now the Holy Spirit writes His commandments on the tablets of our hearts (2Co 3:1–3).

4:19 Nor was Israel to worship the forms in the heavens, such as the sun, the moon, and the stars. For the Lord assigned these to all the nations under heaven for their well-being. These things reveal the glory of God and "His eternal power and Godhead" (Rom 1:20). But the nations turned them into objects of worship, and thus fell away from the truth into all kinds of sin and corruption.

4:24 One meaning of the name God is "burning" (GrgTheo; JohnDm). Thus, He is called a consuming fire (see also Heb 12:29), and He burns up sin and corruption in the repentant. He cleanses them with His purifying fire (AthanG). He also gives them His water of life, which quenches their thirst that once burned with sins, but now yearns for Him and His kingdom (AmbM).

4:26 The witnesses in heaven are the holy angels (AthanG; JohnChr; GrgTheo).

4:35 There is only one God, because there is only one divine essence or nature, which is undivided. For God is a name indicating the divine essence (GrgTheo; JohnDm; AthanG). This undivided essence exists in three Persons—the Father, the Son, and the Holy Spirit. Moses believed this, and so does the Church.

4:39 Since God is in heaven above and on the earth beneath, that is, in all creation, no other god could possibly exist. For He is everywhere present and fills all things. There is no room for another, because He is uncircumscribed. The true God exists outside creation, for nothing can contain Him; rather, He contains all things in Himself, and is present everywhere.

5:5 The Son of God on Mt. Sinai was "a consuming fire" (4:24; Heb 12:29). His divine fire purified Moses from all materialistic attachments; therefore, he was able to go up on the mountain in the midst of this fire. The children of Israel had no access to Him because they were materialistic; that is, they were attached to the physical objects of this world. But when the Son of God became incarnate, all Israelites had easy access to Him. He even ate and drank with sinners (Mt 9:10–13), for He was their friend (Mt 11:19). This contrast between Mt. Sinai and the Incarnation is described in Heb 12:18–29.

5:6, 9 The divine names Lord and God relate to I Am, because this, too, is a divine name: "I AM the Existing One" (Ex 3:14). He is the eternal God, without beginning or end, the Only-begotten of the Father; "true God of true God" (Creed). Thus, Jesus said to the Jews, "Before Abraham was, I AM" (Jn 8:58).

5:9 The statement, repaying the sins of the fathers upon the children to the third and fourth generation of those who hate Me, is not universal in application, but is spoken about certain ones who came out of Egypt. For after they saw the Lord's signs and wonders in Egypt, they committed worse sins than their forefathers who saw none of these things (JohnChr).

5:12 The Law of Moses was given to the children of Israel to check their rebellious spirit and to threaten them with divine vengeance if they persisted: "knowing this: that the law is not made for a righteous person, but for the lawless" (1Ti 1:9). But it was also given to lead them to Christ, "the end of the law" (Rom 10:4; Gal 3:24).

5:29 The Law was not the problem; Moses was not the problem. For he had a heart to fear the Lord and to guard His commandments. The problem among the children of Israel was a heart problem. Their heart was attached to this world, rather than to the Lord. This same problem persists in many today, but the door to the kingdom remains open to those who are willing to be detached from materialism and turn their hearts to Him (2Co 3:16).

The Sabbath Day, Sunday, and the Eighth Day

The Sabbath Day

When the Lord commanded the Hebrews, in the fourth of the Ten Commandments, to "Remember the Sabbath day, to keep it holy," He also gave them the reason: "For in six days the Lord made heaven and earth, the sea, and everything in them, and rested on the seventh day. Therefore, the Lord blessed the Sabbath day and hallowed it" (Ex 20:8, 11; cf. Gn 2:1–3). When Moses restated the Ten Commandments in Deuteronomy 5, he added another reason: "Remember, you were a servant in the land of Egypt, and the Lord your God brought you out from there by a mighty hand and by an outstretched arm; therefore, the Lord your God ordered you to guard the Sabbath day and to sanctify it" (5:15).

The Hebrews were called to "remember" (Ex 20:8), to "keep" (Lv 19:3, 30), and to "hallow" or "sanctify" (Jer 17:19–27; Ezk 20:19, 20; Neh 13:15–22) the Sabbath by resting from almost every kind of work. God provided them this sacred time each week to help them contemplate His awesome work in creation and their miraculous deliverance from Egypt. Stipulating the faithful observance of the Sabbath was one of the main ways God ordained to reinforce the people's covenant with Him (Ex 31:12–17; cf. Lv 24:8). Originally, communal worship was not linked with Sabbath observance; but with the development of the synagogue, probably during the Hebrews' exile in Babylon (sixth century BC), the Sabbath naturally became the day for synagogue worship, as it is for the Jews today.

Sunday, the Day of Worship

At first, early Jewish Christians continued to observe Sabbath regulations and to worship on the Sabbath (Acts 13:13–15, 42–44; 18:1–4). But they also met for the celebration of the Holy Eucharist on Sunday (Acts 20:7; 1Co 16:1–2), called "the Lord's Day" (Rev 1:10), since Jesus rose on a Sunday. St. Ignatius of Antioch, in about AD 107, confirms that Sunday was the main day of worship for the early Church: "They have given up keeping the Sabbath, and now order their lives by the Lord's Day instead —the Day when life first dawned for us, thanks to Him and His death."

St. Constantine the Great, the first Christian emperor, honored the Church's practice of celebrating the Lord's Resurrection every Sunday by decreeing, in AD 321, that every Sunday would be a holy day. For Orthodox Christians, Saturday is still the Sabbath, the day on which the Church especially remembers the departed, since Christ rested in the tomb on Great and Holy Saturday.

Sunday, the Eighth Day

As the day after the seventh day (when God rested from His six days of creation) and as the day of Christ's Resurrection, Sunday early on came to be understood in a mystical way among Christians as the "Eighth Day." It was the day "beyond nature and time" (MaxCon), "the beginning of another world" (Barn). "Whether you call it day, or whether you call it eternity, you express the same idea" (BasilG).

Fittingly, during the week after Pascha (Easter), called Bright Week, the Church celebrates Pascha for eight days, almost as though it were one continuous day. By tradition, babies are named on the eighth day after birth. And from ancient times, Christian baptisteries and fonts have been built with eight sides, indicating the newly baptized are entering the realm of the Eighth Day, the day of eternal rest (Heb 4:1–11) in Christ's Heavenly Kingdom.

6:4 "By Moses saying 'one Lord', we understand the simple, blessed and incomprehensible essence of God" (AthanG). Moses is not saying the one Lord is one solitary person (HilryP). Rather, he is saying He is one undivided essence or nature. For person and nature are not the same thing

(JohnDm). The divine nature exists undividedly in three distinct Persons: the Father, the Son, and the Holy Spirit. The Son is begotten before all time and ages from the essence of the Father, but His begetting does not divide the Father's essence. The Holy Spirit proceeds before all time and ages from the Father, but His procession does not divide the Father's essence. The Persons are distinct or different, but the essence is one and undivided. Therefore, we believe in the Holy Trinity, our one God and Lord.

6:12 Israel's attachment to this world often led them to forget the one true God and to go after other gods. We, too, need to guard our hearts, lest we do the same thing.

6:14 These different gods do not exist, although they are called gods (AthanG).

6:16 The Temptation refers to the incident in Ex 17 (see notes in that chapter).

6:23 The Lord brought them out of Egypt that He might bring them in to the land of promise. Similarly, He brings us out of our attachments to this world and into attachment to the kingdom of God.

7:1–3 The Lord would bring Israel into the land of promise by grace, which was His role in the covenant. Israel's role, in part, was to make no covenant with them (v. 2), nor to intermarry with them. It was within their power not to do these things. Therefore, God's grace does not cancel out free will. "And by this testimony we can clearly see what we ought to ascribe to free will, and what to the design and daily assistance of the Lord, that it belongs to divine grace to give us opportunities of salvation and prosperous undertakings and victory; but that it is ours to follow up the blessings God gives us with either earnestness or indifference" (JohnCas).

7:7, 8 Since they were chosen because of God's love for them and His oath to their fathers, it is obvious they were not chosen because of their own deeds, but by the grace of God. Therefore, they had no basis for boasting in themselves, nor do we (Rom 4:1–8). (JohnChr)

7:8 "The Lord's 'mighty hand' is the Son" (AthanG). As the hand is of the same essence as its body, similarly the Son is the same in essence with the Father. Furthermore, as the Holy Fathers teach, things having the same might also have the same essence. Thus, since the Son's might is the same as the Father's, They are one in essence.

7:21–24 The nations speak of the sinful passions and how we are to war against them. We are to take them on one at a time by the grace of God, until we have gained the victory over all of them. "But when the main purpose of our heart has singled out one passion as the special object of its attack, we shall pray about it more earnestly, and with special anxiety and fervor shall entreat that we may be more especially on our guard against it and so succeed in gaining a speedy victory. For Moses himself in this passage teaches us that we should follow this plan in our conflicts and not trust in our own power" (JohnCas).

8:1 Under the Law of Moses, every commandment was to be kept if the people were to live and prosper in the land of promise. Great care was to be exercised in keeping them. How much more is this true under the Law of Christ in the New Testament. We are responsible through His grace to keep all His commandments.

8:2, 5 The Lord dealt harshly with Israel in the desert as a test, for testing under pressure has a way of revealing what is in the heart. The test in each case reveals obedience or disobedience to His commandments. This revelation was not for the Lord's acquisition of knowledge, for He knows all things before they take place. Instead, it would let each of them know the condition of his own heart. All chastening is for our benefit, that we might partake of the Lord's holiness (Heb 12:5–11).

8:3 The Lord allowed them to go hungry in the desert and fed them with simple food: manna, of which they grew sick. Nevertheless, the Lord was teaching them the road of virtue, namely, that man's primary food is the word of God, and obedience to that word. But they failed to learn this lesson, and many of them died in the desert.

8:4 The clothes on their backs and the shoes on their feet never wore out during those forty years in the desert. This foreshadows the resurrection from the dead (AmbM). It also foreshadows "the life of the world to come" (Creed).

8:15 The biting serpent and scorpion speak of the devil and his angels, whom we are not to fear (JohnChr). For the Lord Jesus Christ, the Rock of living water, is with us (1Co 10:4).

8:17, 18 We should never think that our free will and energy gained us victory over the spiritual enemy, for victory is only by the grace of God (JohnCas).

9:1–3 The sons of Anak were giants, and their physical stature speaks of the sinful passions that seek to wreak havoc in both soul and body. By the Lord's consuming fire we are able to overcome them. "For a servant of the Lord should be diligent and careful, yes, moreover, burning like a flame, so when by a zealous and burning spirit, he destroys all fleshly sin, he may be able to draw near to God, who, according to the expression of the saints, is called 'a consuming fire'" (AthanG).

9:4–6 A stiff-necked people (v. 6) are those who claim their victories over the enemy were based on their own righteousness and upright heart. "To those who have their eyes opened and their ears ready to pay attention, does this not plainly say, 'When your struggle with fleshly faults goes well for you, and you see you are free from the filth of them, and from the fashions of this world, do not be puffed up by the success of the conflict and victory and ascribe it to your own power and wisdom, nor fancy you gained the victory over spiritual wickedness and fleshly sins through your own exertions and energy, and free will'? For there is no doubt in all this you could not possibly have succeeded, unless you were fortified and protected by the help of the Lord" (JohnCas).

9:22 The Burning, the Temptation, and the Graves of Lust are recorded respectively in Nm 11:1–3; Ex 17:1–7; and Nm 11:4–34. See notes at these places.

10:12–15 "God needs nothing we have to give Him, and this especially proves sincere love, when one who needs nothing and is not in any necessity, does everything for the sake of being loved by us. So when He bids you to love Him, He then most of all shows He loves you. For nothing secures our salvation more than loving Him" (JohnChr).

10:20 To serve the Lord means to worship Him. But how can we worship the Father if we, so to speak, sever the Son and the Holy Spirit from Him? "Well, how will you worship Him only, tell me, when you have severed Him from His intimate union with His own Only-begotten and His own Spirit? This worship is simply Jewish" (BasilG).

11:8, 9 The reward for keeping all the Lord's commandments under the Law of Moses was prosperity in the land of Canaan. The Law was not given for the attainment of righteousness before God. The Law could not impart eternal life (Gal 3:21). It was merely a tutor or guardian until the coming of Christ, the Giver of Life, through whom we are made righteous before God (Gal 3:22–25). This righteousness is imparted in baptism (Gal 3:26–29).

12:11, 12 After the Jews settled in their land, they were to go to the city chosen by God to offer their sacrifices; they were not to offer their sacrifices anywhere else. But after the coming of Christ, they were unable to do this, for Jerusalem was destroyed along with the temple. This destruction was proof enough that the Law had come to an end, for it was only a shadow of the kingdom to come (AthanG).

12:13, 14 The whole burnt offering was a type of "the sacrifice of praise to God . . . giving thanks to His name" (Heb 13:15). "Now what is a spiritual whole burnt offering? It is 'the sacrifice of praise.' In what place do we offer it? In the Holy Spirit. Where have we learned this? From the Lord Himself in the words, 'The true worshipers shall worship the Father in spirit and in truth.' This place Jacob saw, and said: 'The Lord is in this place.' It follows that the Spirit is truly the place of the saints, and the saint is the proper place for the Spirit, offering himself as he does for the indwelling of God, and is called God's temple" (BasilG).

13:1–4 The truth does not allow room for human tradition to change it, either by addition or by subtraction. False prophets arise among the people of God, and the Lord permits this in order to allow our free will to operate and to show our love for God (JohnCas). For we are not robots in which the grace of God operates against the devil apart from synergy on our part.

14:1 The Scriptures speak of children in a twofold sense: one in which children are chosen to be children, as in this verse; and the other, in which children are the natural offspring of their parents, such as Isaac of Abraham, Jacob of Isaac, and the twelve patriarchs of Jacob. Which of these two senses relates to the Son of God? The second, for He is the natural Offspring of His Father, and therefore one in essence with Him (AthanG).

14:2 When men choose something for themselves, they choose the best. Similarly, God chooses the holy, for He first makes us holy; then we are to continue to be holy in our manner of life. For one is not saved by faith alone, but by faith plus a holy manner of life (JohnChr). Thus, we must add virtue to our faith (2Pt 1:5–11).

15:1–11 A remission of debts was to be granted to poor brothers in the land every seven years. Debts were to be dismissed and, so to speak, blotted out of the books. The Lord accepted this remission as an act toward Himself (for the Lord your God, v. 2), for He loves the poor. When He became incarnate, He was very poor, for He had "nowhere to lay His head" (Mt 8:20). By this He taught us not to be attached to money and possessions, and to show our love for the poor.

16:1 The month of new corn was a type of becoming new creatures in Christ (2Co 5:17), bearing the good fruits of virtue by casting away all hypocrisy, deceit, and arrogance, and putting on love for God and neighbor through the Holy Spirit (AthanG).

16:8 The seventh and final day of the Feast of Unleavened Bread was a Sabbath on which Israel was to do no work . . . except what must be done for life. Therefore, the Sabbath was not a total cessation of all work; work essential to life might be done.

Jesus cured a paralytic on the Sabbath, and this cure was obviously essential to his life. Yet the Jews accused Him of breaking the Sabbath, and even tried to kill Him (Jn 5:16). But these same Jews would take care of their animals on the Sabbath, even if one should fall into a ditch. So Jesus asked them, "Of how much more value then is a man than a sheep? Therefore it is lawful to do good on the Sabbath" (Mt 12:11, 12). Furthermore, He also said, "The Son of Man is Lord even of the Sabbath" (Mt 12:8), and "The Sabbath was made for man, and not man for the Sabbath" (Mk 2:27).

16:10 On the Day of Pentecost, the bread of the firstfruits was offered before the Lord. This was a type of the preaching of the apostles to the Jews in the Book of Acts, when three thousand believed in the Lord. Thus, these Jews were consecrated to the Lord as the firstfruits of the Resurrection (JohnCas).

17:1 No animal was to be sacrificed having any blemish or defect, for that is an abomination to the Lord your God. These animals were a type of Christ, who "without blemish and without spot" redeemed us by His precious blood (1Pt 1:19). His precious blood applied to our hearts enables us to be offered to God "without blemish" (Eph 5:27). Through His precious blood we are able to live a holy life, but anyone who excuses sinful behavior or advocates such a lifestyle for others "is an abomination to the Lord."

17:7, 12 The statement, "You shall put away their evil from among you," is quoted by St. Paul in 1Co 5:13 in relation to church discipline. This shows the close kinship between the old and new covenants, and one and the same Lord and Lawgiver (JohnChr). The punishments were different, but the objective was the same, namely, a holy people to the Lord.

18:15, 16 The words of the people, "Let us not hear again the voice of the Lord our God, nor let us see this great fire any more, lest we die," were spoken to Moses in Ex 20:19 at the giving of the Ten Commandments from Mt. Sinai. But Moses said nothing at this time about the coming of a Prophet like himself. Rather, his response to the people at that time was, "Be of good courage, for God is come to test you, that His fear may be among you, so you may not sin" (Ex 20:20). Thus, it was first necessary for them to be tested, so as to fear the Lord and not sin, for they were too dull of hearing to hear about another Prophet to come. However, they failed the test and died in the desert, because they would not obey the prophet Moses.

18:17 Forty years later Moses spoke to them of the prophecy concerning the Prophet to come. For at Mt. Sinai the Lord also spoke to him the words recorded in vv. 18–22. The new generation was now ready to hear this prophecy.

18:18 The Prophet to come would be like Moses, in that Moses' short-term prophecies came to pass; therefore, his long-term ones were to be believed. This was the mark of a true prophet (vv. 21, 22), and the same would be true of the Prophet to come.

The Prophet to come would speak all the Father commanded Him. This indicates He is the Word made flesh (Jn 1:14), for no other prophet, including Moses, would ever speak in such a manner. They were mere men, whereas the Prophet to come would be God in the flesh. Thus, the prophet Isaiah prophesied concerning this Prophet that the people would be "taught by God," that is, by God in the flesh (Is 54:13; Jn 6:45).

18:19 The Prophet to come would speak in the Father's name, for no other prophet could speak in such a manner. Why? Because no other prophet could call the Father "My Father" (Jn 5:43; 10:25). Everyone else must address the Father as "Our Father" (Lord's Prayer), for the Son is the Father's Only-begotten. He is God of God and one in essence with the Father (Creed).

Therefore, the Father says He would judge anyone refusing to listen to His Prophet (I will require it of him). St. Peter interprets the words "will require" as meaning "utterly destroy" (Acts 3:22, 23). St. John Chrysostom also interprets "utterly destroy" as meaning the putting away of the Law of Moses: "Do you see how the Law itself showed how it is done away in Christ? For this Prophet, that is, Christ according to the flesh, whom Moses commanded them to hear, made to cease both Sabbath and circumcision and all other things."

When Jesus multiplied the five loaves and the two fish to feed the five thousand men, the people said afterward, "This is truly the Prophet who is to come into the world" (Jn 6:14). A few minutes later these same people "complained about Him" (Jn 6:41) because of what He taught, and consequently deserted Him (Jn 6:66).

Jesus Christ: Prophet, Priest, and King

Throughout the Old Testament, God raised up prophets, priests, and kings from among His chosen people to serve and lead Israel. Not only did these servants minister in their own right, many prefigured the coming of Christ our God, the promised Prophet, Priest, and King.

Prophet

Deuteronomy 18:15–19 foreshadows Christ as the promised Prophet. The Lord speaks to Moses: "I will raise up for them a Prophet like you from among their brethren, and I will put My word in His mouth, and He shall speak to them all I command Him" (v. 18). The words, "like you" and "from among their brethren" speak of the preincarnate Word taking on human nature to become the promised Prophet.

The New Testament reveals several instances when Jesus is recognized and proclaimed as this Prophet of whom Moses wrote. For example, after witnessing Jesus' miracle of feeding the five thousand, those present said, "This is truly the Prophet who is to come into the world" (Jn 6:14; see also Jn 7:40). Later St. Peter, while preaching to the Jews, quotes from Deuteronomy 18:18, 19, showing Jesus Christ as the long-awaited Prophet, the fulfillment of God's promise (Acts 3:22, 23).

Priest

Psalm 109:1–4 foreshadows Christ as the great High Priest: "The Lord said to my Lord . . . 'You are a priest forever according to the order of Melchizedek.'" The Book of Hebrews leaves no doubt as to whom this passage envisions: "Consider the Apostle and High Priest of our confession, Jesus Christ" (Heb 3:1). And, "We have such a High Priest, who is seated at the right hand of the throne of the Majesty in the heavens" (Heb 8:1). This long-awaited High Priest is our Lord Jesus Christ. See also Hebrews 6:20.

A priest is one "appointed to offer both gifts and sacrifices" (Heb 8:3). As our eternal High Priest, Jesus Christ freely offers Himself by willingly dying on the Cross for us. He did so as the perfect sacrifice, fulfilling the requirements of atonement through the remission of sins. By this gift, the promise of resurrection is offered, paradise is reopened, the Comforter is sent, and the hope of eternal life is given. As High Priest, Jesus is both the offerer and the offering.

King

The Prophet Jeremiah records God's promise of a coming King. The Lord says, "Behold, days are coming when I will raise up for David the Righteous Orient, and a King shall reign. He will understand, and bring about judgment and righteousness on the earth" (Jer 23:5).

Isaiah promises His government will be not temporal, but eternal, ruling from the throne of David (Is 9:6, 7). In Zechariah 6:13, a priest on His throne is foreshadowed.

On Palm Sunday, Jesus enters Jerusalem as a humble servant-King on the foal of a donkey (see Zec 9:9 and Mt 21:1–7). He willingly and without hesitation, doubt, or fear accepts the extreme humiliation of the Cross. Above His head is written, "King of the Jews" (Jn 19:12–22).

At His Second Coming, foretold in Old Testament prophecy, Christ will come as the all-conquering King of kings to execute judgment, destroy the forces of evil, and establish an everlasting peace. Psalm 2:6 tells us the Father established His Son over the holy hill of Zion. In Psalm 21:28, the kingdom belongs to the Lord, and He will rule over all nations. Isaiah reveals the Gentiles as being included in His kingdom (Is 62:2, 3). Jesus Himself promised the day when people "see the Son of Man coming in His kingdom" (Mt 16:28). In the apocalyptic vision of the Apostle John, Christ's title is: "KING OF KINGS AND LORD OF LORDS" (Rev 19:16).

We have a Prophet who is the Truth, a Priest whose eternal offering is accepted by the Father and received by us, and a King who will rule and reign forever over His Kingdom.

19:15–19 Based on this law, the false witnesses against Jesus should have been put to death, for they wanted Him to die (Mt 26:59–66).

20:8 This word concerning the fearful and fainthearted is spoken in a mystery concerning those to come under the new covenant, namely, that one cannot fight the Lord's battles with a double heart. For as Jam 1:8 says, "a double-minded man [is] unstable in all his ways." One cannot, so to speak, have one foot in the world and one in the kingdom of God. "No one can serve two masters," that is, "God and mammon" (Mt 6:24).

21:15 In the statement, the firstborn son is of her, the verb is literally means "come into existence." In the fourth century, the heretics applied this verb to the Son of God, for they claimed He had a beginning of existence. But the birth of this son would be from parents who had a beginning of existence; therefore, their offspring would have a beginning. However, the Son of God is the Offspring of the Father, and He is without beginning; therefore, His Son, too, is without beginning. These heretics therefore condemned themselves by their false application of the verb in this verse (AthanG).

21:22, 23 Under the Mosaic Law, there were two kinds of curses. One was the curse of capital punishment by hanging, and the other of being cursed for transgressing the Law (27:26).

The first applied to Christ when He redeemed us by hanging on the cross. St. Paul quoted v. 23 when he said, "Christ has redeemed us from the curse of the law, having become a curse for us (for it is written, 'Cursed is everyone who hangs on a tree')" (Gal 3:13). He was the Innocent One who took the place of us, who were the guilty.

However, the second curse in no way applies to Christ, for He never sinned, as St. Peter also said of Him by quoting Is 53:9: "Who committed no sin, / Nor was deceit found in His mouth" (1Pt 2:22). (JohnChr)

22:1–4 If a brother's young bull or donkey fallen on the road was to be helped, how much more should a man's soul be helped on the road to eternal life (JohnChr).

22:5 The dignity and distinction between male and female were not to be obscured, for in the beginning man was created male and female, and God blessed both (Gn 1:26, 27). To be male is not better than to be female, or vice versa, for God pronounced both "very good" (Gn 1:31). Therefore, a man should not try to be a woman, nor a woman a man.

22:6, 7 The dignity and protection of motherhood, even among birds, was to be maintained. As then, so now as well.

22:8 When a man builds a house, love of neighbor must be in his mind. For love of neighbor is the summary of the Law (Lv 19:18; Rom 13:9). Under the Law one was to love his neighbor "as himself." Under Grace one is to love his neighbor more than himself, for Jesus said, "A new commandment I give to you, that you love one another; as I have loved you, that you also love one another" (Jn 13:34). Jesus loved mankind more than Himself, and He even died for His enemies (Rom 5:6–8).

22:9–11 Each distinct thing God created has its own dignity, for God declared everything He made to be "very good" (Gn 1:31).

22:12 The commandment concerning tassels was first given in Nm 15:37–41. These were constant reminders to keep all the Lord's commandments. For the Israelites, as is true of all men, had a tendency to follow their own mind and will, rather than the will of God (Nm 15:39). The fault was not with the Law of Moses but with their own tendencies.

22:13–28 These laws were designed to protect both virginity and marriage, for both are "very good" in the eyes of God, for He created both (Gn 1:31).

23:4 The Ammonite and the Moabite speak of those heretics who employ subtle and deceitful arguments against the Blessed and Holy Trinity. For they pry into the Son's incomprehensible generation from the Father, and the Holy Spirit's incomprehensible procession from the Father. They try to explain the unexplainable, and twist the truth with their sophistry (GrgTheo).

23:7 There is no peaceful coexistence or good wishes for heretics or heresy.

23:20, 21 Charging interest (usury) was a subtle form of greed, for it used the pretense of relieving a need to gain a profit. This was a subtle device to extort money from a poor brother in the name of doing him good. It relieved poverty to make a gain from poverty. It used another's need as an occasion to become wealthy (JohnChr).

24:1–4 These laws regarding divorce were given to protect the wife from being murdered by the husband, for hate leads to murder; and hardhearted husbands in Israel would kill the wives they hated. Another reason the laws were given was to prevent wife-swapping, which would have destroyed the sanctity of marriage. Therefore, divorce was allowed by the Lawgiver to prevent greater evils from occurring. For hardhearted husbands would not hesitate to murder and commit other atrocities if they thought it was to their advantage (JohnChr).

24:16 Parents could not be punished because of their children's sins, nor vice versa. The prophet Ezekiel also confirmed this: "The word of the Lord came to me, saying, Son of man, what is the meaning of this proverb among the sons of Israel, which says: The fathers have eaten sour grapes, and the children's teeth are set on edge? As I live, says the Lord, you shall no longer use this proverb in Israel. Behold, all souls are Mine; the soul of the father as well as the soul of the son is Mine; the soul who sins shall die" (Ezk 18:1–4). Therefore, each one is accountable for his own sins.

What then is the meaning of 5:9, "repaying the sins of the fathers upon the children to the third and fourth generation of those who hate Me"? This was not meant as a universal saying. It only referred to the children of those who sinned in Egypt, and who committed the same sins as their fathers. Anyone who reads the Scriptures regarding Israel's deliverance from Egypt will find this to be true (JohnChr).

This understanding also refutes the doctrine of original sin, which claims that all mankind is guilty before God for Adam's sin. Adam was guilty for his own transgression. His transgression brought physical death upon all mankind, but not guilt before God (Rom 5:12). Each individual is accountable before God for his own sins.

25:4 The mystery hidden in this statement refers to teachers in the Church (1Ti 5:18; Lk 10:7). Those who labor like an ox in the field are worthy of receiving wages to meet their needs, for the ox worked very hard under great toil and stress. As St. John Chrysostom said concerning teachers in the Church, “Unless he is as the ox treading out the corn, and bearing the yoke, in spite of heat and thorns, and does not cease his labors until he carries the corn into the granary, he is not worthy.”

25:5, 6 This law explains how Joseph (the foster father of Jesus) could have two fathers, as recorded in the two genealogies of Jesus. In Luke’s record of the genealogy, Joseph’s father was Heli (Lk 3:23). Heli was his legal father, for he died childless. Jacob, his brother by the same mother, raised up seed for him. This seed was Joseph, according to Matthew’s genealogy (Mt 1:16). Thus, Jacob was Joseph’s natural father (JohnDm).

25:17–19 Remember Amalek. Do not forget. For he is a coward who does not fear God, and he attacks from behind when you are tired and weary. He is the devil. But overcome him with the sign of the cross, and you will enjoy rest in the Lord Jesus Christ, through whom you will overcome this enemy, even in your weakest moments.

26:16–19 Israel promised to keep the Law of Moses with all their heart and with all their soul. This was a genuine possibility from the standpoint of the Law itself, but it was an impossibility when considering their heart and soul. They simply did not have the heart to follow through, for man’s willpower alone could not fulfill the Law’s requirements. Therefore, the fault for not keeping it made them guilty. Furthermore, the Law itself had an inherent weakness. It could not give them divine power to help their willpower fulfill it. So the Law pointed them to Christ as the solution to their dilemma, for He is “the end of the Law for righteousness to everyone who believes” (Rom 10:4). Those under the Law who believed in this “end” would be made complete by His Incarnation (Heb 11:39, 40).

27:5–8 Aspects of true worship are foreshadowed in these verses. Worship involves an altar (see Heb 13:10). There is no artificiality in genuine worship (whole stones), and silence is part of it (shall not use an iron tool—GrgTheo). In true worship, one’s whole life should be committed to God (whole burnt offerings). In the Eucharist (peace offerings), we eat and drink Christ’s precious body and blood, and are filled with joy before the Lord.

27:26 Under the Law, cursed is every man who does not abide in all the words of this law to do them. But under grace and truth (Jn 1:17), “Come to Me, all you who labor and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest” (Mt 11:28), and, “Christ has redeemed us from the curse of the law, having become a curse for us” (Gal 3:13). (JohnChr)

No one has ever continued in or kept the whole Law of Moses; therefore, we come under the guilt imposed by this curse. But Christ never transgressed the Law, and therefore could not come under such a curse. So He exchanged our curse for the one in 21:23. Since He was crucified on the cross, the curse of being hanged on a tree freed us from our curse for transgressing the Law. An innocent Man’s death delivered us from the curse, for by dying He delivered us who were dying (JohnChr).

28:1–13 Every blessing promised to the obedient in vv. 3–13 relates to life in this present world, for the Law of Moses could not promise eternal life to anyone obeying it. The best it could offer was physical blessings in the land of Canaan. But it could not make one immortal, or righteous, or a child of God, or heir of the kingdom of God in the world to come. For these are spiritual blessings in Christ, as St. Paul said in Eph 1:3: “Blessed be the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, who has blessed us with every spiritual blessing in the heavenly places in Christ” (JohnChr).

28:47 The Law of Moses cannot be blamed for Israel’s failure to serve the Lord. The failure was traceable to the heart of those who did not obey Him with joy and a good heart. Nor were these thankful for the abundance of everything. However, under the new covenant, the faithful serve Him with thanksgiving, even in the midst of suffering and persecution, “giving thanks always for all things to God the Father in the name of our Lord Jesus Christ” (Eph 5:20).

28:58 The beginning of faith is to fear the Lord (IsaacS).

28:66 This is a prophecy concerning the Crucifixion. On the cross, the Lord hung before the eyes of Israel, yet the nation did not believe in Him. They did not believe in their Life, for the cross is life-giving (AthanG). Whereas the Law of Moses cannot give eternal life, the cross does to those who believe. For Christ is God in the flesh; therefore, His death in the flesh gives eternal life to those who obey Him.

29:1–3 The children of Israel saw with their physical eyes the Lord's signs and great wonders He did for them in Egypt. However, they could not see them with the eyes and ears of their heart. Why then did He not give them such eyes and ears? Because they were unwilling to receive illumination. He was willing, but they were not. He would not commit Himself to them, because they would not commit themselves to Him.

29:4 Their clothes and shoes did not wear out during the forty-year period in the desert. This was a type of "the resurrection of the dead and the life of the world to come" (Creed; AmbM).

29:17, 18 Gall and bitterness is likened to a root that springs up and defiles others. It begins when one flatters himself in the deceptions (wanderings) of his own heart. Bitterness of spirit results, and this causes one to "fall short of the grace of God" (Heb 12:15).

29:28 We gladly own whatever things the Lord is pleased to reveal to us in the Holy Scriptures. But we avoid prying into the secret things of the Lord, for this leads to heresies that destroy the soul. Questions are sometimes asked, "How can these things be? How is the Son begotten from the Father before all time and ages? How can the Holy Spirit proceed from the Father? What is the essence of God?" These and other questions of this kind are secrets only known by the Holy Trinity. Therefore, the Creed begins with, "I believe."

30:11 This commandment is the commandment regarding the attainment of righteousness before God through faith. In vv. 11–14, Moses tells us how to become righteous in the eyes of God through faith. To do so is not too burdensome. But the multitude of commandments in the Law of Moses were "too burdensome" for the people to be able to become righteous in God's sight. As St. Peter said, "neither our fathers nor we were able to bear" them (Acts 15:10).

30:11–13 Far off means in heaven or beyond the sea. By describing "far off" in this manner, Moses shows how we attain righteousness before God through faith. We attain it by casting out the questions, "Who will ascend into heaven for us?" and "Who will go over the sea for us?" These questions are another way of asking, "How can these things be?" as Nicodemus asked Jesus (Jn 3:9). These questions raise supposed impossibilities based on human reasoning, but "the things which are impossible with men are possible with God" (Lk 18:27), and, "Is anything impossible with God?" (Gn 18:14). How then are these questions based on human reasoning cast out? Moses gives the answer in v. 14.

30:14 The word is the word concerning the attainment of righteousness before God. It is the word that casts out human reasoning and the supposed impossibilities raised by it. This word is so very near a person that it is in one's very mouth, heart, and hands. One does not need to ascend to heaven to find it, nor cross the sea. It is God's word sown in a believing heart, confessed with the mouth, and worked out with the hands. It is righteousness through faith. It is the faith of Abraham, who cast out all human reasoning and the impossibilities raised by it, and left all to the power and glory of God (Rom 4:19–22).

In Rom 10:6–8, St. Paul refers to vv. 11–14, saying Moses commandment speaks of "the righteousness of faith" and "the word of faith." He also shows it was the Lord Jesus Christ who made this faith possible (Rom 10:9, 10). "What does the phrase mean, 'The word is near you'? It means, 'It is easy.' For in your heart and on your tongue is your salvation. There is no long journey to go on, no seas to sail over, no mountains to climb, to get saved. But if you have such a heart, you may even be saved while you sit at home. For 'in your mouth and heart' is the source of salvation. On another score, Paul also makes the word of faith easy, and says, 'God raised Him from the dead.' For just reflect upon the worthiness of the Worker, and you will no longer see any difficulty in the thing" (JohnChr).

31:6–8 These words inspired the words in Heb 13:5, 6, "Let your conduct be without covetousness; be content with such things as you have. For He Himself has said, 'I will never leave you nor forsake you.' So we may boldly say: 'The LORD is my helper; I will not fear. What can man do to me?'" The Lord will never forsake His people—a faithful and bold promise. Faithfulness and boldness on our part to believe Him will bring about contentment in us, and will deliver us from covetousness and the fear of man.

31:16, 17 Why does the Lord say, "I will forsake them," when He said in vv. 6–8 that He would not forsake them? Because it is customary in Scripture to call God's permission His action. He permits people to forsake Him because man has free will, and virtue is not forced (JohnDm).

32:4 God is faithful because He is trustworthy; we are faithful because we believe and obey Him (AthanG).

32:5 Blameworthy children are not His because they are God's children in name only. True children are blameless, because they are His children in substance as well as in name.

32:6, 18 When the Scriptures wish to signify a son, it uses the term beget, rather than the terms make and create (AthanG). God the Father made man by bringing him from nonexistence into existence, but He begets him as a son by adoption. He adopts him through His Only-begotten Son and His Life-giving Spirit (Jn 1:12–14; Rom 8:14–16; Jam 1:18). But Moses warns God's children not to abandon the God who begot them, nor to forget the God who nourished them.

32:7 We remember the days of old and consider the years of many generations when we search the Scriptures tirelessly. Let us ask God the Father their meaning, and also the Holy Fathers of the Church (your elders). "Wherefore, let us knock at that very fair garden of the Scriptures, so fragrant and sweet and blooming, with its varied sounds of spiritual and divinely-inspired birds ringing all round our ears, laying hold of our hearts, comforting the mourner, pacifying the angry and filling him with joy everlasting, bearing us up to the Only-begotten Son and bringing us through Him to the Father of Lights. But let us not knock carelessly at the door of the Scriptures but rather zealously and constantly, lest knocking we grow weary. For thus it will be opened to us. If we read once or twice and do not understand what we read, let us not grow weary, but let us persist, let us talk much, let us inquire. 'For ask your Father and He will tell you, and your elders and they will tell you.' Let us draw from the fountain of the garden continual and pure waters springing up to eternal life. Here let us be in luxury, let us revel to the full, for the Scriptures possess inexhaustible grace. But if we are able to pluck anything profitable from outside sources, there is nothing to forbid that" (JohnDm).

32:12 Moses does not use the word alone to divide the Son and the Spirit from the Father. Rather, this word is said in relation to any foreign god with them, for the division is between the Lord and false gods (BasilG).

32:13 The rock speaks of Christ, and the oil of the Holy Spirit, and the honey of the spiritual food, for Christ gives us His Holy Spirit (1Co 10:3, 4; Rom 8:9).

32:17 To worship anything but the true God—the Father, the Son, and the Holy Spirit—is to worship demons (BasilG).

32:20 Sons in whom is no faith are children in name only, but true sons are children both in name and in substance. "Now faith is the substance of things hoped for, the evidence of things not seen" (Heb 11:1).

32:21 This is a prophecy concerning the Gentiles who would become God's children through faith in Christ, thus provoking the Jews to jealousy (Rom 10:19). The Speaker in this prophecy (vv. 20, 21) is the Word and Son of God (AthanG; HilryP).

32:30 This is a prophecy concerning warfare against heresy. Thus, how could one chase a thousand, and two put ten thousand to flight? By using David's simple sling against Goliath's boastful arguments of logic. It is no detriment to use our simple and plain statements of truth against the falsehood of logicians. For the truth exhibits Goliath as a headless trunk. It is the task of truth not only to cut off the head of false logic, but also to show that it is indeed cut off (GrgNy).

32:39 This statement could be made not only by the Father, but also by the Son or the Holy Spirit. Each could say, "There is no God besides Me." For the statement is made in contrast to false gods (AthanG; BasilG; HilryP). It is not a contrast between the Persons of the Holy Trinity, our one God.

32:43 This prophecy is quoted in Rom 15:10 and Heb 6:2, to show that both men and angels are to worship God Incarnate, the Son of God, for He is their Maker. Moses also worships Him.

32:49, 50 Moses had no fear of death, but rejoiced to depart to be with the Lord (AthanG).

33:2 The Lord who appeared to Israel was the Son of God. He revealed Himself many times to the prophets throughout the Old Testament. Angels sometimes appeared with Him, as did the two angels in Gn 19:1.

33:3, 4 The Son of God was the Lawgiver who gave Moses His words, and Moses, in turn, gave them to Israel.

33:5 The Ruler is the Lord Jesus Christ.

33:7 The voice of Judah is the Lord Jesus Christ, who visited His people.

33:9 Commitment to the Lord takes precedence over commitment to family (Mt 10:37–39; JohnChr; AmbM).

33:16 The One revealed in the Bush was the Son of God. In this revelation, He foreshadowed His coming Incarnation (JohnDm; HilryP; JohnChr; AthanG).

33:26 The God of the Beloved is the Lord Jesus Christ, and "the Beloved" is His Church.

33:29 A people saved by the Lord are those who call upon His name (Rom 10:12, 13). His name is the Lord Jesus Christ.

34:4 The Lord swore to give the land Moses saw to Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob as an inheritance. Yet they never received it, nor did Moses. Therefore, what is this land, and when will they receive it, and who is the seed? The seed is Christ and those who believe in Him (Gal 3:16). The land is "the world to come" (Creed; Rom 4:13). They, and those of like faith, will receive this world at "the resurrection of the dead" (Creed; Heb 11). The world to come is this present creation redeemed along with the children of God (Rom 8:21, 22).

34:9 The Spirit of understanding is the Holy Spirit, one of the Persons of the Holy Trinity.

34:10 There was no prophet in Israel like Moses, until the coming of Christ, the Prophet. He was like Moses, but Moses was not like Him, for Christ is God in the flesh. The Lord who sent Moses was the Son of God, who is the I AM (Ex 3). He sent Moses to Egypt to deliver Israel.

The Book of Joshua

Author

Traditionally ascribed to Joshua, whose name means “salvation.”

Date

Although the initial writing was done after entering Canaan, likely the work as is comes down to us from sixth-century BC sources.

Major Theme

God is faithful to fulfill His promise to the children of Israel. The Israelites will inherit the land of promise through (1) obedience to God’s Law and His commands, and (2) Joshua’s leadership and God’s intervention. The failures are the result of Israel’s disobedience.

Background

Under Joshua’s leadership, the Israelites are poised to enter the promised land from the east side of the Jordan River, just north of the Dead Sea. Upon entering the land they would meet Canaannites and Amorites, who had settled there some 500 years previously and had an established system of city-states. The geography the Israelites would encounter consisted of both rugged, barren mountains and fertile farmland. The pagan religion of the Canaanites consisted of numerous gods and goddesses.

God's Command to Conquer Canaan

1 After the death of Moses, the Lord spoke to Joshua the son of Nun, the assistant of Moses, saying, 2 "Moses my servant is dead. Now therefore arise, you and all this people, and cross over Jordan into the land I will give them.
3 Every place on which you tread with your feet, I will give it to you, as I said to Moses. 4 Your territories shall be the desert and Lebanon as far as the great river, the Euphrates River; and from the setting of the sun to the farthest sea.
5 No man shall be able to oppose you all the days of your life, and as I was with Moses, thus I will be also with you. I will not forsake you nor disregard you.

6 "Be strong and courageous, for you will divide this land which I swore to your fathers to give them. 7 Be strong, therefore, and courageous to guard yourself and to do as Moses My servant commanded you; then you will not turn away from them, to the right nor to the left. In this way, you will have understanding in whatever you do. 8 The book of this law shall not depart from your mouth, and you shall meditate in it day and night, that you may have the understanding to do all the things written therein. Then you will both prosper, make your ways prosperous, and have understanding. 9 Behold, I have commanded you. Be strong and courageous. Do not be cowardly or fearful, for the Lord your God is with you in all things, wherever you go."

Cross the River Jordan

10 Then Joshua commanded the scribes of the people, saying, 11 "Enter the midst of the people's camp and command the people, saying, 'Prepare the supply of food, for yet three days you shall cross this Jordan and enter the land to possess what the Lord God of your fathers will give you.' " 12 Then to Reuben, Gad, and the half-tribe of Manasseh, Joshua said, 13 "Remember the word of the Lord which Moses the servant of the Lord commanded you, saying, 'The Lord your God has caused you to rest and has given you this land.' 14 Your wives, your children and your cattle shall dwell in the land He has given you; but you shall cross over well-armed before your brethren, everyone who is strong, and you shall fight by their side; 15 until the Lord your God has caused your brethren to rest, and you as well, and they have taken possession of the land which the Lord your God has given them. Then each of you shall depart to his inheritance which Moses gave you beyond the Jordan eastward."

16Then they answered Joshua and said, "We will do all you command us to do, and we will go everywhere you send us. 17We will heed you as we heeded Moses; only let the Lord our God be with you as He was with Moses. 18But whatever man disobeys you and does not heed your words as you command him, let him die; but you be strong and courageous."

Joshua 2

The Two Spies

1After this, Joshua the son of Nun sent out two young men from Acacia Grove to spy out the land, saying, "Go and see the land and Jericho." So the two young men went and entered Jericho; and they went into the house of a harlot named Rahab and lodged there. 2This was reported to the king of Jericho, saying, "Behold, men from the sons of Israel have come to spy on the land." 3So the king of Jericho sent and spoke to Rahab, saying, "Bring out the men who came into your house last night; for they are here to spy on the land."

4But the woman took the men and hid them, and she spoke to them, saying, "The men came to me; 5but as the gate was being shut in the darkness, the men went out. I do not know where they went. Pursue them, if indeed you may overtake them." 6But she led them to the roof and hid them in the stalk of flax she had piled together on the roof.

7So the men searched for them along the road to the Jordan, to the fords, and the gate was closed. Then it came to pass, when the men who pursued them went after them 8and before the spies went to sleep, that she went to them on the roof 9and said, "I know that the Lord gave you the land, for fear of you has fallen upon us. 10For we heard that the Lord God dried up the Red Sea before you when you came out of the land of Egypt, and what you did to the two kings of the Amorites who were beyond the Jordan, to Sihon and to Og, whom you utterly destroyed. 11So when we heard it, we were amazed in our heart, and there was no longer any spirit in any of us because of your presence, for your God is in heaven above and on earth below. 12Now therefore, swear to me by the Lord God that as I showed you mercy, you shall also be merciful to me in my father's house, [13]and capture alive all my house: my father and mother, and my brothers, and everything they have, and deliver my soul from death."

The Oath

[14]Then the men said to her, "Our life for your life, even to death." She then said, "When the Lord shall deliver the city to you, deal with me in mercy and truth." [15]After this, she let them down through the window [16]and said to them, "Go away to the hill country, lest the pursuers happen to find you. Hide there for three days until your pursuers return from their search for you. Afterwards, you shall depart and go your way."

[17]So the men said to her, "We will be without fault regarding this oath of yours. [18]For behold, we will come into a part of the city, and you will set a sign; you shall hang this scarlet cord in the window through which you let us down. Then you shall gather yourself and your father and mother and your brothers into your father's house. [19]Whoever shall go outside the door of your house, his guilt shall be upon him, and we will be free of this oath of yours. But we will be responsible for whoever is with you in your house. [20]But if anyone injures us or reveals these words of ours, we shall be free from this oath of yours." [21]Then she said to them, "Let it be so according to your word." So she sent them away.

[22]They departed and went to the hill country and remained there for three days; and the pursuers searched all the roads, but did not find them. [23]So the two young men returned and came down from the mountain. They crossed over to Joshua the son of Nun and told him everything that happened to them. [24]They said to Joshua, "The Lord will deliver all the land into our hand, for everyone who inhabits that land cowers in fear because of us."

Joshua 3

Crossing the Jordan

[1]Then Joshua rose early in the morning and departed from Acacia Grove; and he came to the Jordan and lodged there before crossing over. [2]After three days, it came to pass that the scribes went through the camp [3]and commanded the people, saying, "When you see the ark of the covenant of the Lord our God, and our priests and Levites who carry it, then you shall depart from your places; and you shall go after it; [4]but there shall be a distance between you and it. You shall stand as much as two thousand cubits from it, and do not come near it, that you may understand the way you are to go; for you have not gone this way before." [5]Joshua then said to the people, "Sanctify yourselves for tomorrow, because tomorrow the Lord will do wonders among you." [6]Joshua also said to the priests, "Take up the ark of the covenant of the Lord and go before the people." So the priests took up the ark of the covenant of the Lord and went before the people.

[7]Then the Lord said to Joshua, "Today I shall begin to exalt you in the sight of all the children of Israel, so they will know that I shall be with you as I was with Moses. [8]Therefore now, command the priests who carry the ark of the covenant, saying, 'As soon as you enter a part of the water of the Jordan, then you shall stand in the Jordan.' " [9]Joshua then said to the children of Israel, "Come here and hear the word of the Lord our God. [10]Hereby you shall know that the living God is among you and will utterly destroy before our face the Canaanites, the Hittites, the Perizzites, the Hivites, the Amorites, the Girgashites, and the Jebusites. [11]Behold the ark of the covenant of the Lord of all the earth is crossing the Jordan. [12]Choose for yourselves twelve men from the sons of Israel, one from each tribe. [13]Then it shall come to pass that when the feet of the priests who carry the ark of the covenant of the Lord of all the earth rest in the water of the Jordan, the water of the Jordan will cease to flow, for the upstream water will stand still."

[14]So the people left their tents to cross over the Jordan, and the priests carried the ark of the covenant of the Lord before the people. [15]Now when the priests who carried the ark of the covenant came to the Jordan, and the feet of the priests who carried the ark of the covenant of the Lord dipped in part of the water of the Jordan (now the Jordan overflowed all its banks about the time of wheat harvest), [16]then the upstream waters stopped flowing downstream, and a solid wall of water formed over a very great distance, as far as the region of Adam. The lower part came down to the Sea of Araba, the Salt Sea, until it came to a complete stop; and the people stood opposite Jericho. [17]So the priests who bore the ark of the covenant of the Lord stood on dry ground in the midst of the Jordan; and all the children of Israel crossed on dry ground, until all the people crossed the Jordan.

Memorial Stones

[1]Now when all the people finished crossing the Jordan, the Lord spoke to Joshua, saying, [2]“Take men from the people, one from each tribe, [3]and command them, saying, ‘Take twelve prepared stones from the midst of the Jordan and carry these together with you. Put them in your encampment where you will set up camp tonight.’ ” [4]So among the sons of Israel, Joshua called twelve men of high repute, one from each tribe. [5]He said to them, “Draw near in front of me in the Lord’s presence into the midst of the Jordan, and let each take up a stone and carry it on his shoulders, according to the number of the twelve tribes of Israel, [6]so these might be an appointed sign for you continually, that when your son asks you tomorrow, saying, ‘What are these stones to you?’ [7]then you will declare to your son, saying, ‘The Jordan River dried up before the ark of the covenant of the Lord of all the earth when it crossed over’; and these stones shall be a memorial for you, for the sons of Israel forever.”

[8]So the sons of Israel did as the Lord commanded Joshua; and they took twelve stones from the midst of the Jordan, as the Lord directed Joshua, when the children of Israel had completely crossed over, and carried these stones with them into the encampment and set them there. [9]Then Joshua also set another twelve stones in the Jordan itself, in the place walked on by the feet of the priests who carried the ark of the covenant of the Lord. They are there to this day. [10]The priests who carried the ark of the covenant stood in the Jordan until Joshua had completed all the Lord commanded him to proclaim to the people; and the people hastened and crossed over.

[11]Then it came to pass, when all the people finished crossing over, that the ark of the covenant of the Lord crossed over, and the stones before them. [12]The sons of Reuben and the sons of Gad and the half-tribe of Manasseh also crossed over, well-armed before the sons of Israel, as Moses commanded them. [13]Forty thousand men armed for war crossed before the Lord for battle against the city of Jericho. [14]On that day, the Lord magnified Joshua before all the nation of Israel, and they feared him as long as he lived, as they did Moses.

[15]Then the Lord spoke to Joshua saying, [16]“Command the priests who bear the ark of the covenant of the testimony of the Lord to come up from the Jordan.” [17]So Joshua commanded the priests, saying, “Go out from the Jordan.” [18]Then it came to pass, when the priests who carried the ark of the covenant of the Lord stepped out from the Jordan and set their feet on land, the water of the Jordan returned to its place, and went as before over all its banks.

19 Now the people went up from the Jordan on the tenth day of the first month, and the children of Israel camped at Gilgal in the region eastward from Jericho. 20 Then Joshua set up at Gilgal the twelve stones he took from the Jordan, 21 saying, “When your children ask you, ‘What are these stones?’ 22 then tell your children that Israel crossed the Jordan on dry land; 23 that the Lord our God dried up the water of the Jordan from before them until they all crossed over, as the Lord our God did to the Red Sea, which the Lord our God dried up before us until we crossed over; 24 that all the nations of the land might know that the power of the Lord is mighty; and that you might worship the Lord your God in every age.”

Joshua 5

1 Then it came to pass, when the kings of the Amorites on the other side of the Jordan and the kings of the Phoenicians near the sea heard that the Lord God had dried up the Jordan River before the children of Israel when they crossed over, their minds fainted, they were panic-stricken, and there was no more sense left in them because of the presence of the children of Israel.

Circumcision at Gilgal

2 At about this time, the Lord said to Joshua, “Make stone knives for yourself from a sharp rock, and sit down and circumcise the sons of Israel.” 3 So Joshua made sharp stone knives and circumcised the sons of Israel at the place called the Hill of Foreskins. 4 In this manner, Joshua completely purified the sons of Israel, as many as were born at any time along the way and as many as were uncircumcised after they came out of Egypt. 5 Joshua circumcised all these. 6 For Israel lived in the Madbarite desert for forty-two years; therefore, most of their fighting men who came out of Egypt and who disobeyed the commandments of God were uncircumcised. Concerning these,
He also determined that they would not see the land which the Lord swore to give to their fathers, a land flowing with milk and honey. 7 But in their place, He raised up their sons, whom Joshua circumcised because they were born during the journey and thus were uncircumcised. 8 So when they were circumcised, they rested there and stayed in the camp until they were healed.

9 Then the Lord said to Joshua the son of Nun, “Today I have removed the disgrace of Egypt from you.” Thus he called the name of that place Gilgal.
10 Then the children of Israel kept Pascha on the fourteenth day of the month at evening, to the west of Jericho, across the Jordan in the plain.
11 They ate of the unleavened and new wheat of the land. 12 On this day, the manna ceased, after they ate from the wheat of the land. Thus, the children of Israel no longer had manna, for they enjoyed the fruits in the land of the Phoenicians in that year.

Captain of the Lord’s Hosts

13 Then it came to pass, when Joshua was at Jericho, he looked up and saw a man standing before him with a sword drawn in his hand. So Joshua came near and said to him, “Are you for us or on the side of our adversaries?” 14 He said to him, “I am now come, the chief captain of the host of the Lord.” Then Joshua fell on his face upon the earth and said to him, “O Master, what do you command your servant?” 15 The chief captain of the Lord said to Joshua, “Loose the shoe from your feet; for the place on which you stand is holy.”

Joshua 6

The Defeat of Jericho

1 Jericho was enclosed and fortified, and no one went out of or into it. 2 Then the Lord said to Joshua, “Behold, I will deliver Jericho into your hand, its king and its army of soldiers who are mighty. 3 But place your soldiers around it, 4 and it shall come to pass that when you sound with the trumpet, let all the people shout together, and when they shout, the walls of the city shall fall by themselves; and all the people will enter, each rushing throughout the entire area of the city.”
5 So Joshua the son of Nun went to the priests 6 and he spoke to them, saying, “Command the people to go around and surround the city, and let the men of war pass on armed before the Lord. 7 Let seven priests holding seven holy trumpets likewise pass by before the Lord, and let them signal vigorously; and let the ark of the covenant of the Lord follow after them. 8 Let the men of war go in front; and let the priests be the rear guard behind the ark of the covenant of the Lord as they proceed, and sound the trumpets.” 9 Now Joshua gave a command to the people, saying, “Do not shout, nor let anyone hear your voice, until the day I myself tell you to shout, and then shout.” 10So when the ark of the covenant of God went around the city, it immediately returned into the camp and lodged there. 11Then on the second day, Joshua rose early in the morning, and the priests took up the ark of the covenant of the Lord. 12Seven priests carried seven trumpets and went on before the Lord. The armed men followed after with the rest of the multitude behind the ark of the covenant of the Lord. Then the priests sounded the trumpets, and all the rest of the multitude encircled the city from close by, 13then again went back to the camp. They did this for six days.

14On the seventh day, they rose early in the morning and went around the city six times. 15Then it came to pass that as they marched around the seventh time, the priests blew the trumpets, and Joshua said to the sons of Israel, “Shout, for indeed the Lord has handed over the city to you. 16For the city shall be accursed by the Lord, it and whatever is in it. However, preserve Rahab the harlot and whatever is in her house. 17But be very careful to keep yourself from what is accursed, lest you yourself consider to take from it what is accursed, and then you shall make the camp of the children of Israel a curse and destroy us. 18But all the silver, the gold, the bronze or the iron shall be holy to the Lord and brought in to the treasury of the Lord.” 19So the priests sounded the trumpets, and when the people heard the sound of the trumpets, all the people shouted together with a great and mighty shout. Then the entire wall fell round about, and all the people went into the city.

24Thus Joshua kept alive Rahab the harlot and all the house of her father, and caused her to dwell in Israel to this very day, because she hid the spies Joshua sent to spy out Jericho. 25Joshua adjured Israel on that day before the Lord, saying, “Cursed be the man who rebuilds that city. He shall lay its foundation in his firstborn son, and he shall set up its gates with his youngest son.” Thus did Hiel from Bethel. He laid its foundation in Abiram, his firstborn son, and he set up its gates with Segub, his youngest surviving son.

[26]So the Lord was with Joshua, and his name was known throughout all the land.

The Defeat at Ai

[1]But the children of Israel committed a great offense, for they kept back for themselves something from what was accursed. Achan the son of Carmi, the son of Zabdi, the son of Zerah, of the tribe of Judah, took something from what was accursed, and the Lord was very angry with the sons of Israel. [2]Then Joshua sent men into Ai, which is near Bethel, saying, “Spy out Ai.” So the men went up, and spied out Ai. [3]After this, they returned to Joshua and said to him, “Let not all the people go up, but let about two or three thousand men go up and force the city to surrender. Do not lead all the people there, for they are few in number.” [4]Thus, about three thousand men went up, but they fled from the face of the men of Ai. [5]The men of Ai killed thirty-six of them and pursued them from the gate; and they crushed them on the steep slope. So the hearts of the people were terrified and became as water.

[6]Then Joshua tore his clothes and fell to the ground before the face of the Lord until evening, both he and the elders of Israel, and they put dust on their heads. [7]Joshua said, “I beseech You, O Lord. Why did Your servant lead this people over Jordan to deliver them to the Amorite to destroy us? If only we had remained and dwelt on the other side of the Jordan. [8]What shall I say, since Israel turned his back before his enemy? [9]When the Canaanites and all the inhabitants of the land hear this, they will surround us and destroy us from off the land. Then what will You do for Your great name?”

Achan’s Sin

[10]So the Lord said to Joshua, “Rise up. Why have you fallen upon your face? [11]The people sinned and transgressed the covenant I made with them; for they stole something from what was accursed and put it among their goods. [12]So the sons of Israel will be unable to stand against the face of their enemies. They will turn their backs before their enemies, because they are accursed; and I will not be with you until you remove the accursed thing from among you. [13]Rise up and sanctify the people; and tell them to be sanctified for tomorrow. Thus says the Lord God of Israel, ‘The accursed thing is among you. You shall not be able to stand against your enemies until you remove the accursed thing from among you. [14]In the morning you shall all be gathered together by your tribes, and it shall come to pass that the tribe the Lord points out, you shall bring forward family by family. Then the family the Lord points out, you shall bring household by household. After this, the household the Lord points out, you shall bring man by man. [15]So whoever is pointed out, he shall be burned with fire along with whatever he has, because he transgressed the covenant of the Lord and brought lawlessness in Israel.’ ”

[16]Now Joshua arose early in the morning and gathered the people tribe by tribe; and the tribe of Judah was pointed out. [17]Then he brought family by family, and the family of Zara was pointed out. After this, he brought man by man, [18]and Achan, the son of Zabdi, the son of Zerah, was pointed out. [19]Thus, Joshua said to Achan, “Give glory to the Lord God of Israel today and make confession. Tell me what you did and hide nothing from me.”

[20]So Achan answered Joshua and said, “Truly, I have sinned against the Lord God of Israel. Thus and thus I did: [21]I saw a beautiful, multicolored garment in the spoil and two hundred shekels of silver, and a wedge of fifty shekels of gold. I desired them and took them. Behold, they are hidden in the ground in my tent, and the silver is concealed under them.” [22]Then Joshua sent messengers, and they ran to the tent in the camp. These things were hidden in the tent, with the silver under them. [23]They carried them from the tent; and they brought them to Joshua and the elders of Israel and placed them before the Lord.

[24]After this, Joshua took Achan the son of Zerah and led him up to the Valley of Achor, along with his sons and daughters, and his calves, and all his donkeys and sheep, and his tent and all his belongings. Thus he led them all to the Valley of Achor. [25]And Joshua said to Achan, “Why did you destroy us? May the Lord destroy you this very day.” Then all Israel stoned him with stones; [26]and they put over him a great heap of stones, and the Lord ceased from the wrath of his anger. Therefore and to this day, the place is named the Valley of Achor.

The Destruction of Ai

[1]The Lord said to Joshua, “Do not be afraid, nor be cowardly. Take all the men of war with you and arise, go up to Ai. Behold, I have given the king of Ai and his land into your hands. [2]You shall do to Ai as you did to Jericho and its king, and you will plunder for yourself the spoil of its cattle. Prepare for yourself an ambush from behind the city.”

[3]So Joshua arose along with all the people of war to go up to Ai. Then Joshua chose thirty thousand mighty men and sent them by night. [4]He commanded them, saying, “You shall lie in ambush behind the city. Do not be far from the city, and all of you be ready. [5]But I and everyone with me will approach the city, and it shall come to pass that as the inhabitants of Ai come out to meet us, we at first shall flee from their face. [6]Then as they come out after us, we will draw them away from the city. They will say, ‘They are fleeing from us as before.’ [7]Then you shall rise up from the ambush and go into the city. [8]You shall do according to this word. Behold, I have commanded you.” [9]So Joshua sent them out; and they went to the ambush site and waited between Bethel and Ai, westward of Ai.

[10]Then Joshua rose early in the morning and visited the people; and he and the elders went up before the people to Ai. [11]All the men of war also went up with him; and they proceeded and came opposite the city eastward. [12]But the ambush was on the west side of the city.

[13]Then it came to pass that when the king of Ai saw it, he hurried out and immediately went to meet them in battle, he and all the people with him. But he did not know that an ambush was set against him behind the city. [14]So Joshua and Israel saw and retreated from before them. [15]They pursued after the sons of Israel, but were drawn further away from the city. [16]There was no one left in Ai who did not pursue after Israel. They left the city open and pursued after them.

[17]Then the Lord said to Joshua, “Stretch out your hand with the spear in your hand toward the city, for I have given it into your hands; and the ambush will rise up quickly from their place.” So Joshua stretched out his hand with the spear toward the city, [18]and when he stretched out his hand, those in ambush rose up quickly from their place and went into the city. They seized it and quickly set the city on fire. [19]Then the inhabitants of Ai turned to look behind them and saw smoke rising from the city toward heaven. They no longer had any place to flee this way or that way. [20]Then Joshua and all Israel saw that the men in ambush took the city, and that smoke from the city went up toward heaven; and they turned and struck down the men of Ai.

24Those who fell that day, both men and women, were twelve thousand—all the inhabitants of Ai. 25But the cattle and the spoils in the city, everything which the sons of Israel took as spoils, they did according to the ordinance of the Lord, in the manner the Lord commanded Joshua. 26Then Joshua burned the city with fire; he made it an uninhabited heap forever, even to this day. 27The king of Ai was hanged on a forked tree, and he remained on the tree until evening. When the sun went down, Joshua gave orders, and they took down the body from the tree and cast it into a pit. Then they heaped a pile of stones over him that remains to this day.

Joshua 9

1When the kings of the Amorites on the other side of the Jordan, and those in the hills and in the lowland, and in all the coasts of the Great Sea, and those near Lebanon, and the Hittites, the Canaanites, the Perizzites, the Hivites, the Amorites, the Girgashites and the Jebusites heard what happened, 2they all came together in one place to war against Joshua and Israel.

Israel Reaffirms the Covenant

3Then Joshua built an altar to the Lord, the God of Israel, on Mount Ebal, 4which Moses the servant of the Lord commanded the sons of Israel as written in the Law of Moses concerning an altar of whole stones, upon which an iron tool should not be laid. There they offered whole burnt offerings to the Lord, and a sacrifice of peace offering. 5Joshua also wrote on stones the second law of the law of Moses, which he wrote in the presence of the sons of Israel. 6All Israel and their elders and judges and their scribes also passed by on each side of the ark. Then the priests and the Levites took up the ark of the covenant of the Lord. The resident aliens and those born among them, half of them stood near Mount Gerizim, and half of them near Mount Ebal, as Moses the servant of the Lord commanded when he blessed the people the first time. 7Thus after this, Joshua read all the words of this law, the blessings and the curses, according to everything written in the Law of Moses. 8There was not a word from everything Moses commanded Joshua that Joshua did not read in the ears of all the assembly of the children of Israel, to the men, women, and children, and to the resident aliens who came with Israel.

Deception of the Gibeonites

9When the inhabitants of Gibeon heard everything the Lord did to Jericho and Ai, 10indeed they also devised a crafty plan. So they went and supplied themselves with provisions and prepared themselves. They took old sacks on their shoulders and old, torn, and patched bottles of wine. 11The upper part of their shoes and sandals were old and crudely patched on their feet; and the clothing they wore was worn out. The bread of their provision was dry, dirty, and moldy. 12Then they came to Joshua at Israel's camp in Gilgal and said to Joshua and Israel, "We have come from a far land. Now then, make a covenant with us." 13The children of Israel said to the Hivites, "Perhaps you live among us. How then can I make a covenant with you?' 14So they replied to Joshua, "We are your servants." Joshua then said to them, "Who are you, and where do you come from?" 15So they said, "Your servants have come from a very distant land in the name of the Lord your God; for we heard of His name, and everything He did in Egypt, 16and everything He did to the kings of the Amorites who were beyond the Jordan, to Sihon the king of Heshbon and to Og the king of Bashan, who dwelled in Ashtaroth and Edrei.

17"So when we heard this, our elders and all those who inhabited our land spoke to us, saying, 'Take provisions for yourselves for the road, and go to meet them and say to them, "We are your servants. Now then, make a covenant with us.' " 18These are the loaves of bread, and we took them hot for our journey on the day we left to come to you; but now they are dried and have become moldy. 19These are the wineskins we filled when new; but they are torn, and our clothing and shoes are old because of the very long journey." 20Then the rulers took some of their provisions, but they did not inquire of the Lord. 21Joshua then made peace with them and established a covenant to keep them safe; and the rulers of the congregation swore to them.

22Now it came to pass that three days after they made a covenant with them, they heard that they were near neighbors and that they dwelt among them. 23Then the children of Israel departed and came to their cities. Their cities were Gibeon and Chephirah and Beeroth, and the city of Kirjathjearim.

24 The sons of Israel did not fight with them, because all the rulers had sworn to them by the Lord God of Israel; but all the congregation complained against the rulers. 25 So the rulers said to all the congregation, “We swore an oath to them by the Lord God of Israel, and now we cannot touch them.
26 This is what we will do. We will capture them alive and keep them safe, so no wrath will come upon us because of the oath we swore to them. 27 They shall live, but they shall be woodcutters and water-carriers for the entire congregation, as the rulers direct them.”

28 Thus Joshua summoned them together and spoke to them, saying, “Why have you deceived me, saying, ‘We are very far from you,’ when you are fellow-countrymen of those who dwell among us? 29 Now therefore, you are cursed, and there shall not fail to be a servant nor a woodcutter among you to serve me and my God.” 30 So they answered Joshua, saying, “It was reported to us what the Lord your God ordered His servant Moses, to give you this land and to destroy us and all who dwell in it from before you. Thus we did this thing, because we feared greatly for our lives before you. 31 Now behold, we are in your hands, do to us as it is pleases you and as it seems good to you.”

32 So they did this to them in this way, and Joshua delivered them on that day from the hands of the children of Israel; and they did not kill them. 33 On that day, Joshua appointed them to be woodcutters and water-carriers for the entire congregation and for the altar of God. Therefore, the inhabitants of Gibeon became woodcutters and water-carriers for the altar of God until this very day, and for the place the Lord chose for Himself.

Defeat of the Amorites

1 When Adoni-Zedek king of Jerusalem heard that Joshua had taken Ai and utterly destroyed it; and that as he had done to Jericho and its king, he did also to Ai and its king; and that the inhabitants of Gibeon by their own accord had come over to Joshua and Israel, 2 then they feared greatly for themselves, for the king knew that Gibeon was a great city, as one of the mother-cities, and that all her men were mighty.

3 So Adoni-Zedek king of Jerusalem sent to Hoham king of Hebron, to Piram king of Jarmuth, to Japhia king of Lachish, and to Debir king of Eglon, saying, [4]"Come up to me and help me; and we will go to war against Gibeon, for they went over of their own accord to Joshua and the children of Israel." [5]The five kings of the Jebusites: the king of Jerusalem, the king of Hebron, the king of Jarmuth, the king of Lachish, and the king of Eglon, they and all their people, went up and besieged Gibeon and forced it to surrender. [6]Then the inhabitants of Gibeon sent to Joshua in the camp of Israel at Gilgal, saying, "Do not abandon your servants. Come up to us quickly. Help us and rescue us, for all the kings of the Amorites who dwell in the hill country are gathered together against us."

[7]So Joshua went up from Gilgal, he and all his men of war, everyone mighty in strength. [8]For the Lord said to Joshua, "Do not fear them, for I have delivered them into your hands. Not one of them shall remain before you." [9]Then Joshua came upon them suddenly, for he had marched all night from Gilgal. [10]The Lord routed them from the face of the sons of Israel, and the Lord crushed them with a great destruction at Gibeon. They pursued them on the road heading to Beth Horon and slew them as far as Azekah and Makkedah. [11]But as they fled from the face of the sons of Israel, on the descent of Beth Horon, the Lord cast down hailstones on them from heaven as far as Azekah. More died from the hailstones than the sons of Israel killed with the sword in the battle.

The Sun Stands Still

[12]Then Joshua spoke to the Lord on the day God delivered the Amorites into the hands of Israel, when he crushed them in Gibeon. They were crushed before the face of the sons of Israel, for Joshua said:

"Let the sun stand still over Gibeon,
And the moon over the valley of Ajalon."
[13]So the sun and moon stood still Until God brought vengeance against their enemies.
The sun stood still in the midst of heaven
And did not set in the west until the end of one day.

[14]There was no day like that day either before or after, that God should hear a man, because the Lord joined in war with Israel.

[15]Then those five kings fled, and hid in the cave at Makkedah. [16]So it was reported to Joshua, saying, "The five kings were found hiding in the cave in Makkedah.” [17]Joshua said, “Roll stones against the mouth of the cave and set men to guard them. [18]As for you, do not stay there; but pursue your enemies and attack their rear guard. Do not allow them to enter their cities, for the Lord our God will deliver them into our hands.” [19]Thus it came to pass that when Joshua and the sons of Israel ceased to strike them in an overwhelming slaughter, those who escaped took refuge in the fortified cities. [20]Then all the people returned safely to Joshua at Makkedah, and not one of the sons of Israel grumbled with his tongue.

[21]Then Joshua said, “Unblock the cave and bring out these five kings from the cave.” [22]So they brought out the five kings from the cave: the king of Jerusalem, the king of Hebron, the king of Jarmuth, the king of Lachish, and the king of Eglon. [23]When they brought them to Joshua, he called together all Israel and the leaders of the army who went with him, saying, “Come forward and put your feet on their necks.” So they came forward and placed their feet on their necks. [24]Then Joshua said to them, “Do not be afraid of them, nor be fearful. Be courageous, for the Lord will do thus to all your enemies against whom you wage war.” [25]After this, Joshua put them to death and hanged them on five trees. They hung on the trees until evening. [26]Then it came to pass that towards sunset Joshua gave orders, and they took them down from the trees and cast them into the cave where they had fled for refuge. They rolled stones over the cave which remain to this day.

[27]Then they took Makkedah that day and struck it with the edge of the sword. They utterly destroyed every living thing in it. No one was spared or allowed to escape. So they did to the king of Makkedah as they had done to the king of Jericho.

Victory in the Southland

[28]Then Joshua and all Israel with him departed from Makkedah to Libnah and besieged Libnah. [29]The Lord gave it into the hands of Israel. They took it and its king and destroyed it with the edge of the sword, along with every living thing in it. Nothing was spared or allowed to escape. So they did to its king as they had done to the king of Jericho.

[30]After this, Joshua and all Israel with him departed from Libnah to Lachish, and encamped around it and besieged it. [31]The Lord also gave Lachish into the hands of Israel. On the second day, they took it and destroyed it with the edge of the sword. They utterly destroyed it, as they had done to Libnah. [32]Then Horam the king of Gezer marched up to help

Lachish, but Joshua smote him and his people with the edge of the sword, until not one of them was spared or allowed to escape.

[33]Then Joshua and all Israel with him departed from Lachish to Eglon, and encamped around it and besieged it. [34]So the Lord gave it into Israel's hand; and they took it on that day and destroyed it with the edge of the sword. They utterly destroyed every living thing in it, as they had done to Lachish.

[35]After this, Joshua and all Israel with him departed to Hebron and encamped around it. [36]He struck it with the edge of the sword, along with every living thing in it. No one was spared. They destroyed it and everything in it, as they had done to Eglon.

[37]Then Joshua and all Israel returned to Debir and encamped around it. [38]They took it, its king, and its villages, and struck it with the edge of the sword. They utterly destroyed it, along with every living thing in it. They spared nothing in it, and as they had done to Hebron and its king, so they did to Debir and its king.

[39]After this, Joshua smote all the land of the hill country, and the South, and the plains of the land, and Asedoth, and her kings; and not one of them was spared. They utterly destroyed every living thing, as the Lord God of Israel commanded: [40]from Kadesh Barnea to Gaza, and all of Goshen, as far as Gibeon. [41]Joshua smote their kings and their land once for all, because the Lord God of Israel was fighting for Israel.

Joshua 11

Victory in the North

[1]But when Jabin the king of Hazor heard this, he sent to Jobab king of Madon, to the king of Shimron, to the king of Achshaph, [2]to the kings from the north in the mountains, and in the plain south of Chinneroth in the lowland, and in the heights of Dor on the west, [3]to the Canaanites in the east and the west: the Amorite, the Hittite, the Perizzite, the Jebusite in the mountains, and the Hivite below Hermon in the land of Mizpah. [4]They and their kings with them, as many in number as the sand of the sea, went out with a great many horses and chariots. [5]All these kings came together to meet and camp together by the waters of Merom to war against Israel.

[6]Then the Lord said to Joshua, "Fear not before their presence, for tomorrow at this hour, I will deliver them to you and put them to flight in the sight of Israel. You shall hamstring their horses and burn their chariots with fire.” [7]So Joshua and all the people of war went against them suddenly at the waters of Merom and attacked them in the hill country. [8]The Lord delivered them into the hands of Israel, and they defeated and chased them to Sidon, the Great Sidon, to Brook Misrephoth, and eastward to the Valley of Mizpah. They attacked them until there were no survivors. [9]Thus Joshua did to them as the Lord commanded him. He hamstrung their horses and burned their chariots with fire.

[10]At that time, Joshua returned and seized Hazor and its king; for Hazor ruled over all these kingdoms in previous times. [11]They put to death every living thing in it with the sword. They utterly destroyed them all, leaving no one alive, and set Hazor on fire. [12]Joshua captured all the cities of their kingdoms and their kings, and put them to death by the edge of the sword. They utterly destroyed them, as Moses the servant of the Lord ordered them. [13]But Israel did not burn any of the fortified cities. Joshua only burned down Hazor. [14]The children of Israel took all its spoils for themselves, and they completely destroyed everyone with the edge of the sword, until there were no survivors. [15]As the Lord ordered his servant Moses, so Moses commanded Joshua, and so Joshua did. He did not deviate from all that Moses commanded him.

A Summary of Conquest

[16]After this, Joshua took all the hill country of the land, all the South, all the land of Goshen, the plains of the land, the land to the west, the mountain of Israel, the low country [17]toward the mountain, from Mount Halak to the ascent to Seir, even as far as Baal Gad and the plains of Lebanon below Mount Hermon. He seized all their kings, took them away, and put them to death. [18]Joshua waged war with these kings for many days, [19]and there was not a city Israel did not take. They took them all in battle. [20]For it was of the Lord to harden their heart to wage war against Israel, that they might be utterly destroyed and be shown no mercy, but that they might be utterly destroyed, as the Lord said to Moses.

[21]At that time, Joshua came and utterly destroyed the Anakim from the mountains: from Hebron, from Debir, from Anab, and from all the nation of Israel, and from all the mountains of Judah, including their cities. Joshua utterly destroyed them. [22]No Anakim remained in the midst of the children of Israel, but only in Gaza, in Gath, and in Ashdod. [23]So Joshua took all the land, as the Lord commanded Moses, and Joshua gave it as an inheritance to Israel by division, according to their tribes. Then the land rested from war.

Joshua 12

The Victories of Moses

[1]Now these are the kings of the land whom the sons of Israel put to death, and whose land they inherited beyond the Jordan in the east, from the valley Arnon to Mount Hermon, and all the land of Araba in the east. [2]These kings were Sihon, king of the Amorites, who dwelt in Heshbon and ruled from Aroer, which is in the valley, over part of the valley and half of Gilead toward Jabok, the border of the sons of Ammon, [3]and Araba towards the sea of Chinneroth to the east, and as far as the Sea of Araba (the Salt Sea) from the east, the way toward Beth Jeshimoth, and from Teman below Ashdoth Pisgah; [4]and Og, king of Bashan, who remained from the giants who dwelt in Ashtaroth and Edrei, [5]and who ruled from Mount Hermon and from Salcah, and all Bashan as far as the borders of the Geshurites, and the Maachathites and half of Gilead, to the borders of Sihon the king of Heshbon. [6]Moses the servant of the Lord and the sons of Israel struck them down, and Moses gave them as a possession to Reuben, Gad, and the half-tribe of Manasseh.

The Victories of Joshua

[7]Now these are the kings of the Amorites whom Joshua and the sons of Israel put to death on the other side of the Jordan by the sea of Baal Gad in the plain of Lebanon, and as far as Mount Halak and the ascent to Seir; and Joshua gave this to the tribes of Israel to inherit according to their portion, [8]in the mountain and in the plain, in Araba and in Ashdoth, in the desert and in the South—the Hittites, the Amorites, the Canaanites, the Perizzites, the Hivites, and the Jebusites. [9]The kings of these were the king of Jericho, the king of Ai, which is near Bethel, [10]the king of Jerusalem, the king of Hebron, [11]the king of Jarmuth, the king of Lachish, [12]the king of Eglon, the king of Gezer, [13]the king of Debir, the king of Geder, [14]the king of Hormah, the king of Arad, [15]the king of Libna, the king of Adullam, [16]the king of Makkedah, the king of Bethel, [17]the king of Tappuah, the king of Hepher, [18]the king of Aphek, the king of Lasharon, [19]the king of Madon, the king of Hazor, [20]the king of Shimron Meron, the king of Achshaph, [21]the king of Taanach, the king of Megiddo, [22]the king of Kedesh, the king of Jokneam in Carmel, [23]the king of Dor in the heights of Dor, the king of the people of Gilgal, [24]and the king of Tirzah—all these kings equaled thirty-one.

Joshua 13

The Remaining Inheritance

[1]Now Joshua was old and advanced in days, and the Lord said to Joshua, "You are advanced in days, and much land remains to inherit. [2]The remaining land is the territories of the Philistines, the Geshurites, and the Canaanites; [3]from Sihor, east of Egypt, as far as the borders of Ekron northward (which is counted as Canaanite); the five lords of the Philistines—the Gazites, the Ashdodites, the Ashkelonites, the Gittites, the Ekronites; and also the Avites; [4]from the south, all the land of the Canaanites, and Mearah that belongs to the Sidonians as far as Aphek, to the border of the Amorites; [5]the land of the Gebalites, and all Lebanon, toward the sunrise, from Baal Gad below Mount Hermon as far as the entrance to Hamath; [6]all the inhabitants of the mountains, from Lebanon as far as the Brook Misrephoth, and all the Sidonians—them I will drive out from before the children of Israel; only divide it by lot to Israel as an inheritance, as I have commanded you. [7]Now therefore divide this land by lot to the nine tribes and to the half-tribe of Manasseh; from the Jordan as far as the Great Sea westward, you will give this to them, with the Great Sea as the boundary."

Land East of the Jordan

[8]But to the two tribes, the Reubenites and the Gadites, and to the half-tribe of Manasseh, Moses gave an inheritance beyond the Jordan. Moses the servant of the Lord gave it to them eastward, [9]from Aroer which is on the bank of the River Arnon, and the city in the midst of the valley, and the town in the midst of the ravine, and all the plain of Medeba as far as Dibon; [10]all the cities of Sihon, the king of the Amorites, who reigned in Heshbon, as far as the border of the children of Ammon; [11]Gilead, and the border of the Geshurites or the Maachathites, all Mount Hermon and all Bashan as far as Salcah; [12]all the kingdom of Og in Bashan, who reigned in Ashtaroth and Edrei, who remained of the remnant of the giants; for Moses had defeated and cast out these. [13]Nevertheless, the children of Israel did not drive out the Geshurites or the Maachathites, but the Geshurites and the Maachathites dwell among the Israelites until this day. [14]Only the tribe of Levi he had given no inheritance, because their inheritance is the Lord God of Israel, as the Lord said to them. So this was the division Moses distributed to the sons of Israel in the plains of Moab, on the other side of the Jordan towards Jericho.

Land of Reuben

[15]Now Moses had given an inheritance to the tribe of Reuben according to their families. [16]Their territories were from Aroer, which is on the bank of the River Arnon, and the city in the ravine, and all the plain of Medeba; [17]Heshbon and all the cities in the plain: Dibon, Bamoth Baal, and Beth Baal Meon, [18]Jahaza and Kedemoth, Mephaath, [19]Karjathaim, Sibmah, Zereth Shahar on the mountain of the valley, [20]and Beth Peor, the slopes of Pisgah, and Beth Jeshimoth— [21]and all the cities of the plain and all the kingdom of Sihon, king of the Amorites, who reigned in Heshbon, whom Moses had struck with the princes of Midian: Evi, Rekem, Zur, Hur, and Reba, who were princes of Sihon dwelling in the country. [22]The children of Israel also killed with the sword Balaam the son of Beor, the soothsayer, among those who were killed by them. [23]The border of the children of Reuben was the bank of the Jordan. This was the inheritance of the children of Reuben according to their families, the cities, and their villages.

Land of Gad

[24]Moses also had given an inheritance to the tribe of Gad, to the children of Gad according to their families. [25]Their boundary lines were Jazer, all the cities of Gilead, and half the land of the Ammonites as far as Aroer, which is before Rabbah, [26]and from Heshbon to Ramath Mizpah and Betonim, and from Mahanaim to the border of Debir, [27]and in the valley Beth Haram, Beth Nimrah, Succoth, and Zaphon, the rest of the kingdom of Sihon king of Heshbon, with the Jordan as its border, as far as the edge of the Sea of Chinnereth, on the other side of the Jordan eastward. [28]This is the inheritance of the children of Gad according to their families, the cities, and their villages.

Land of (East) Manasseh

[29]Moses had also given an inheritance to the half tribe of Manasseh according to their families. [30]Their boundary was from Mahanaim, all Bashan, all the kingdom of Og king of Bashan, and all the towns of Jair which are in Bashan, sixty cities; [31]half of Gilead, and Ashtaroth and Edrei, cities of the kingdom of Og in Bashan, were for the children of Machir, the son of Manasseh, for half of the children of Machir according to their families.

[32]These are the areas Moses had distributed as an inheritance beyond the plains of Moab on the other side of the Jordan, by Jericho eastward.

Joshua 14

Land Divided West of Jordan

[1]These are the areas which the children of Israel inherited in the land of Canaan, which Eleazar the priest, Joshua the son of Nun, and the heads of the fathers of the tribes of the children of Israel distributed as an inheritance to them. [2]Their inheritance was by lot, as the Lord commanded by the hand of Joshua for the nine tribes and the half-tribe. [3]For Moses had given the inheritance of the two tribes and the half-tribe on the other side of the Jordan; but to the Levites he had given no inheritance among them. [4]For the children of Joseph were two tribes, Manasseh and Ephraim; and they gave no part to the Levites in the land, except cities to dwell in, with common-lands for their livestock and their property. [5]As the Lord had commanded Moses, so the children of Israel did; and they divided the land.

Hebron Given to Caleb

[6]Then the children of Judah came to Joshua in Gilgal, and Caleb the son of Jephunneh the Kenezite said to him, “You know what the Lord said to Moses the man of God concerning myself and you in Kadesh Barnea. [7]For I was forty years old when Moses the servant of God sent me from Kadesh Barnea to spy out the land, and I brought back word to him as he wished, [8]but my brothers who went up with me turned aside the heart of the people, while I continued to follow the Lord my God. [9]So Moses swore on that day, saying, ‘The land on which you set foot shall be an inheritance for you and your children forever, because you continued to follow the Lord our God.’ [10]Now the Lord has sustained me, as He said, these forty-five years, since the Lord spoke this word to Moses, and Israel wandered in the desert; and now behold I am eighty-five years old today. 11I am still as strong today as when Moses sent me, as strong now to go out and come in for war. 12Now therefore, I ask you for this mountain, as the Lord said in that day, since you heard this word in that day. For now the Anakim are there with large and fortified cities; therefore, if the Lord is with me, I will utterly destroy them, as the Lord said to me."

13So Joshua blessed him, and gave Hebron to Caleb the Son of Jephunneh, the son of Kenez, as an inheritance. 14Therefore Hebron became the inheritance of Caleb the son of Jephunneh the Kenezite to this day, because he followed the command of the Lord God of Israel. 15But the name of Hebron was formerly Kirjath Arba, the capital of the Anakim. Then the land rested from war.

Joshua 15

The Land for Judah

1So this was the lot of the tribe of the children of Judah according to their families: The border of Edom at the Desert of Zin southward was the extreme southern boundary. 2Their southern border began at the shore of the Salt Sea, from the bay that faces southward. 3Then it went out to the southern side of the Ascent of Akrabbim, passed along to Zin, ascended on the south side of Kadesh Barnea, passed along to Hezron, went up to Adar, and went around to Karkaa. 4From there it passed toward Azmon and went out to the Brook of Egypt; and the border ended at the sea. This is their southern border.

5The east border was the Salt Sea as far as the mouth of the Jordan, and the border on the northern quarter began at the bay of the sea at the mouth of the Jordan. 6The border went up to Beth Hoglah and passed north of Beth Arabah; and the border went up to the stone of Bohan the son of Reuben. 7Then the border went up toward Debir from the Valley of Achor, and it turned northward toward Gilgal, which is before the Ascent of Adummim, which is on the south side of the valley. The border continued toward the waters of En Shemesh and ended at En Rogel. 8The border went up by the Valley of the Son of Hinnom to the southern slope of the Jebusite city (which is Jerusalem). The border went up to the top of the mountain that lies before the Valley of Hinnom westward, which is at the end of the Valley of Rephaim northward. [9]Then the border went around from the top of the hill to the fountain of the water of Nephtoah, and extended to the cities of Mount Ephron. Then the border went around to Baalah (which is Kirjath Jearim). [10]Then the border turned from Baalah to Mount Seir, passed along to the side of Mount Jearim on the north (which is Chesalon), went down to Beth Shemesh, and passed on to Timnah. [11]The border went out to the side of Ekron northward. Then the border went around to Shicron, passed along to Mount Baalah, and extended to Jabneel; and the border ended at the sea. [12]The west border was the coastline of the Great Sea. This is the boundary of the children of Judah all around according to their families.

Caleb Occupies Hebron and Debir

[13]Now to Caleb the son of Jephunneh he gave a share among the children of Judah, according to the commandment of the Lord to Joshua, namely, Kirjath Arba, which is Hebron (Arba was the father of Anak). [14]Caleb drove out the three sons of Anak from there: Sheshai, Ahiman, and Talmai, the children of Anak. [15]Then he went up from there to the inhabitants of Debir (formerly the name of Debir was Kirjath Sepher). [16]Then Caleb said, “He who attacks Kirjath Sepher and takes it, to him I will give Achsah my daughter as wife.” [17]So Othniel the son of Kenez, the younger brother of Caleb, took it, and he gave him Achsah his daughter as wife. [18]Now it was so, when she came to him, that she persuaded him to ask her father for a field. So she dismounted from her donkey, and Caleb said to her, “What do you wish?” [19]She answered, “Give me a blessing; since you have given me land in the South, give me also springs of water.” So he gave her the upper spring and the lower springs.

Cities of Judah

[20]This was the inheritance of the tribe of the children of Judah according to their families. [21]The cities at the limits of the tribe of the children of Judah, toward the border of Edom in the South, were Kabzeel, Eder, Jagur, [22]Kinah, Dimonah, Adadah, [23]Kedesh, Hazor, Ithnan, [24]Ziph, Telem, Bealoth, [25]Hazor, Hadattah, Kerioth, Hezron (which is Hazor), [26]Amam, Shema, Moladah, [27]Hazar Gaddah, Heshmon, Beth Pelet, [28]Hazar, Shual, Beersheba, Bizjothjah, [29]Baalah, Ijim, Ezem, [30]Eltolad, Chesil, Hormah, [31]Ziklag, Madmannah, Sansannah, [32]Lebaoth, Shilhim, Ain, and Rimmon: twenty-nine cities with their villages.

[33]In the lowland: Eshtaol, Zorah, Ashnah, [34]Zanoah, En Gannim, Tappuah, Enam, [35]Jarmuth, Adullam, Socoh, Azekah, [36]Sharaim, Adithaim, Gederah, and Gederothaim: fourteen cities with their villages; [37]Zenan, Hadashah, Migdal Gad, [38]Dilean, Mizpah, Joktheel, [39]Lachish, Bozkath, Eglon, [40]Cabbon, Lahmas, Kithlish, [41]Gederoth, Beth Dagon, Naamah, and Makkedah: sixteen cities with their villages; [42]Libnah, Ether, Ashan, [43]Jiphtah, Ashnah, Nezib, [44]Keilah, Achzib, and Mareshah: nine cities with their villages; [45]Ekron, with its towns and villages; [46]from Ekron to the sea, all that lay near Ashdod, with their villages; [47]Ashdod with its towns and villages, Gaza with its town and villages—as far as the Brook of Egypt and the Great Sea with its coastline.

[48]In the mountain country: Shamir, Jattir, Sochoh, [49]Dannah, Kirjath Sannah (which is Debir), [50]Anab, Eshtemoh, Anim, [51]Goshen, Holon, and Giloh: eleven cities with their villages; [52]Arab, Dumah, Eshean, [53]Janum, Beth Tappuah, Aphekah, [54]Humtah, Kirjath Arba (which is Hebron), and Zior: nine cities with their villages; [55]Maon, Carmel, Ziph, Juttah, [56]Jezreel, Jokdeam, Zanoah, [57]Kain, Gibeah, and Timnah: ten cities with their villages; [58]Halhul, Beth Zur, Gedor, [59]Maarath, Beth Anoth, and Eltekon: six cities with their villages; [60]Theco and Ephratha (which is Bethlehem), and Phagor and Aetan and Culon and Tatam and Thobes and Carem and Galem and Thether and Manocho: eleven cities and their villages; [61]Kirjath Baal (which is Kirjath Jearim) and Rabbah: two cities with their villages. [62]In the desert: Beth Arabah, Middin, Secacah, [63]Nibshan, the City of Salt, and En Gedi: six cities with their villages.

[64]As for the Jebusites who dwelled in Jerusalem, the sons of Judah were not able to destroy them. So the Jebusites dwell in Jerusalem until this day.

Joshua 16

The Land of Ephraim and (West) Manasseh

[1]The lot fell to the children of Joseph from the Jordan, by Jericho, to the waters of Jericho on the east, to the desert that goes up from Jericho through the mountains to Bethel, [2]then went out from Bethel to Luz, passed along to the border of the Archites at Ataroth, [3]and went down westward to the boundary of the Japhletites, as far as the boundary of Lower Beth Horon to Gezer; and it ended at the sea. [4]So the children of Joseph, Manasseh and Ephraim, took their inheritance.

Ephraim

[5]The border of the children of Ephraim, according to their families, was thus: The border of their inheritance on the east side was Ataroth Addar as far as Upper Beth Horon. [6]The border went out toward the sea on the north side of Michmethath; then the border went around eastward to Taanath Shiloh, and passed by it on the east of Janohah. [7]Then it went down from Janohah to Ataroth and Naarah, reached to Jericho, and came out at the Jordan. [8]The border went out from Tappuah westward to the Brook Kanah, and it ended at the sea. This was the inheritance of the tribe of the children of Ephraim according to their families. [9]The separate cities for the children of Ephraim were among the inheritance of the children of Manasseh, all the cities with their villages. [10]But Ephraim did not destroy the Canaanites who dwelt in Gezer, and the Canaanites dwell among Ephraim to this day, until Pharaoh the king of the Egyptians came and took it and burned it with fire. They massacred the Canaanites and the Perizzites and those who dwelt in Gezer, and Pharaoh gave it to his daughter as a dowry.

West Manasseh

[1]There was also a lot for the tribe of Manasseh, for he was the firstborn of Joseph: namely for Machir the firstborn of Manasseh, the father of Gilead, because he was a man of war; therefore, he was given Gilead and Bashan. [2]There was also a lot for the rest of the children of Manasseh according to their families; for the children of Abiezer, the children of Helek, the children of Asriel, the children of Shechem, the children of Hepher, and the children of Shemida; these were the male children of Manasseh the son of Joseph according to their families.

[3]But Zelophehad the son of Hepher, the son of Gilead, the son of Machir, the son of Manasseh, had no sons, but only daughters. These are the names of his daughters: Mahlah, Noah, Hoglah, Milcah, and Tirzah. [4]They came near before Eleazar the priest, before Joshua the son of Nun, and before the rulers, saying, “The Lord commanded Moses to give us an inheritance among our brothers.” Therefore, according to the commandment of the Lord, he gave them an inheritance among their father’s brothers. 5Ten shares fell to Manasseh, besides the land of Gilead and Bashan, which were on the other side of the Jordan, 6because the daughters of Manasseh received an inheritance among his sons; and the rest of Manasseh’s sons had the land of Gilead.

7Now the territory of Manasseh was from Asher to Michmethath, which lies east of Shechem; and the border went along south to the inhabitants of En Tappuah. 8Manasseh had the land of Tappuah, but Tappuah on the border of Manasseh belonged to the children of Ephraim. 9The border descended to the Brook Kanah, southward to the brook. These cities of Ephraim are among the cities of Manasseh. The border of Manasseh was on the north side of the brook; and it ended at the sea. 10Southward it was Ephraim’s, northward it was Manasseh’s, and the sea was its border. Manasseh’s territory was adjoining Asher on the north and Issachar on the east. 11In Issachar and in Asher, Manasseh had Beth Shean and its towns, Ibleam and its towns, the inhabitants of Dor and its towns, the inhabitants of En Dor and its towns, the inhabitants of Taanach and its towns, and the inhabitants of Megiddo and its towns—three hilly regions. 12Now the sons of Manasseh were not able to destroy these cities completely. So the Canaanites came to dwell in that land. 13Thus when the sons of Israel grew strong, they subjected the Canaanites, but did not utterly destroy them.

Ephraim and West Manasseh Want More Land

14Then the sons of Joseph spoke to Joshua, saying, “Why did you give us only one lot and one share to inherit? For I am a great many people, and God has blessed me.” 15So Joshua answered them, “If you are a great people, then go up to the forest country and clear a place for yourself there in the land of the Perizzites and the giants, since the mountains of Ephraim are too confined for you.” 16But the children of Joseph said, “The mountain country is not enough for us; and all the Canaanites who dwell in the land of the valley have chariots of iron, both those of Beth Shean and its towns and of the Valley of Jezreel.” 17Then Joshua spoke to the house of Joseph—to Ephraim and Manasseh—saying, “You are a great people, and have great power. You shall not have only one lot, 18but the mountain country shall be yours. Although it is wooded, you shall cut it down, and its farthest extent shall be yours; for you shall drive out the Canaanites, though they have iron chariots and are strong."

The Rest of the Land Divided

[1]Now the whole congregation of the children of Israel assembled together at Shiloh and set up the tabernacle of testimony there; and they subdued the land. [2]But there remained among the children of Israel seven tribes which had not yet received their inheritance. [3]Then Joshua said to the children of Israel, "How long will you neglect to go and possess the land which the Lord God of your fathers has given you? [4]Pick out from among you three men for each tribe, and I will send them. They shall rise and go through the land, survey it according to their inheritance, and come back to me. [5]They shall divide it into seven parts. Judah shall remain in their territory on the south, and the house of Joseph shall remain in their territory on the north. [6]You shall therefore survey the land in seven parts, and bring the survey here to me, that I may cast lots for you here before the Lord our God. [7]But the Levites have no part among you, for the priesthood of the Lord is their inheritance; and Gad, Reuben, and the half-tribe of Manasseh have received their inheritance beyond the Jordan on the east, which Moses the servant of the Lord gave them."

[8]Then the men arose to go away, and Joshua charged those who went to survey the land, saying, "Go, walk through the land, survey it, and come back to me, that I may cast lots for you here before the Lord in Shiloh." [9]So the men went, passed through the land, and wrote the survey in a book in seven parts by cities; and they came to Joshua at the camp in Shiloh. [10]Then Joshua cast lots for them in Shiloh before the Lord, and there Joshua divided the land to the children of Israel according to their divisions.

The Land of Benjamin

Aven. [13]The border went over from there toward Luz, to the side of Luz (which is Bethel) southward; and the border descended to Ataroth Addar, near the hill that lies on the south side of Lower Beth Horon. [14]Then the border extended around the west side to the south, from the hill that lies before Beth Horon southward, and it ended at Kirjath Baal (which is Kirjath Jearim), a city of the children of Judah. This was the west side. [15]The south side began at the end of Kirjath Jearim, and the border extended on the west and went out to the spring of the waters of Jephtoah. [16]Then the border came down to the end of the mountain that lies before the Valley of the Son of Hinnom, which is in the Valley of the Rephaim on the north, descended to the Valley of Hinnom, to the side of the Jebusite city on the south, and descended to En Rogel. [17]It went around from the north, went out to En Shemesh, and extended toward Geliloth, which is before the Ascent of Adummim, and descended to the stone of Bohan the son of Reuben. [18]Then it passed along toward the north side of Arabah, and went down to Arabah. [19]The border passed along to the north side of Beth Hoglah; then the border ended at the north bay at the Salt Sea, at the south end of the Jordan. This was the southern boundary. [20]The Jordan was its border on the east side. This was the inheritance of the children of Benjamin, according to its boundaries all around, according to their families.

[21]Now the cities of the tribe of the children of Benjamin, according to their families, were Jericho, Beth Hoglah, Emek Keziz, [22]Beth Arabah, Zemaraim, Bethel, [23]Avim, Parah, Ophrah, [24]Chephar Haammoni, Ophni, and Gaba: twelve cities with their villages; [25]Gibeon, Ramah, Beeroth, [26]Mizpah, Chephirah, Mozah, [27]Rekem, Irpeel, Taralah, [28]Zelah, Eleph, Jebus (which is Jerusalem), Gibeath, and Kirjath, fourteen cities with their villages. This was the inheritance of the children of Benjamin according to their families.

Joshua 19

The Land of Simeon (with Judah)

[1]The second lot came out for Simeon, for the tribe of the children of Simeon according to their families. Their inheritance was within the inheritance of the children of Judah. [2]They had in their inheritance Beersheba (Sheba), Moladah, [3]Hazar Shual, Balah, Ezem, [4]Eltolad, Bethul, Hormah, [5]Ziklag, Beth Marcaboth, Hazar Susah, [6]Beth Lebaoth, and Sharuhen: thirteen cities and their villages; [7]Ain, Rimmon, Ether, and Ashan: four cities and their villages; [8]and all the villages around these cities as far as Baalath Beer, Ramah of the South. This was the inheritance of the tribe of the children of Simeon according to their families. [9]The inheritance of the children of Simeon was included in the share of the children of Judah, for the share of the children of Judah was too much for them. Therefore the children of Simeon had their inheritance within the inheritance of that people.

The Land of Zebulun

[10]The third lot came out for the children of Zebulun according to their families, and the border of their inheritance was as far as Sarid. [11]Their border went toward the west and to Maralah, went to Dabbasheth, and extended along the brook east of Jokneam. [12]Then from Sarid it went eastward toward the sunrise along the border of Chisloth Tabor, and went out toward Daberath, bypassing Japhia. [13]From there it passes along on the east of Gath Hepher, toward Eth Kazin, and extended to Rimmon, which borders on Neah. [14]Then the border went around it on the north side of Hannathon, and it ended in the Valley of Jiphthah El. [15]Included were Kattath, Nahallal, Shimron, Idalah, and Bethlehem: twelve cities with their villages. [16]This was the inheritance of the children of Zebulun according to their families, these cities with their villages.

The Land of Issachar

[17]The fourth lot came out to Issachar, for the children of Issachar according to their families. [18]Their territory went to Jezreel, and included Chesulloth, Shunem, [19]Haphraim, Shion, Anaharath, [20]Rabbith, Kishion, Abez, [21]Remeth, En Gannim, En Haddah, and Beth Pazzez. [22]The border reached to Tabor, Shahazimah, and Beth Shemesh; their border ended at the Jordan: sixteen cities with their villages. [23]This was the inheritance of the tribe of the children of Issachar according to their families, the cities and their villages.

The Land of Asher

[24]The fifth lot came out for the tribe of the children of Asher according to their families. [25]Their territory included Helkath, Hali, Beten, Achshaph, [26]Alammelech, Amad, and Mishal; it reached to Mount Carmel westward, along the Brook Shihor Libnath. [27]It turned toward the sunrise to Beth Dagon; and reached to Zebulun and to the Valley of Jiphthah El, then northward beyond Beth Emek and Neiel, bypassing Cabul on the left, [28]including Ebron, Rehob, Hammon, and Kanah, as far as Greater Sidon. [29]The border turned to Ramah and to the fortified city of Tyre; then to Hosah, and ended at the sea by the region of Achzib. [30]Also Ummah, Aphek, and Rehob were included: twenty-two cities with their villages. [31]This was the inheritance of the tribe of the children of Asher according to their families, the cities and their villages.

The Land of Naphtali

[32]The sixth lot came out to the children of Naphtali, for the children of Naphtali according to their families. [33]Their border began at Heleph, enclosing the territory from the terebinth tree in Zaananim, Adami Nekeb, and Jabneel, as far as Lakkum; it ended at the Jordan. [34]From Heleph the border extended westward to Aznoth Tabor, and went out from there toward Hukkok; it adjoined Zebulun on the south side and Asher on the west side, and ended at Judah by the Jordan toward the sunrise. [35]The fortified cities are Ziddim, Zer, Hammath, Rakkath, Chinnereth, [36]Adamah, Ramah, Hazor, [37]Kedesh, Edrei, En Hazor, [38]Iron, Migdal El, Horem, Beth Anath, and Beth Shemesh: nineteen cities with their villages. [39]This was the inheritance of the tribe of the children of Naphtali according to their families, the cities and their villages.

The Land of Dan

[40]The seventh lot came out for the tribe of the children of Dan according to their families. [41]The territory of their inheritance was Zorah, Eshtaol, Ir Shemesh, [42]Shaalabbin, Aijalon, Jethlah, [43]Elon, Timnah, Ekron, [44]Eltekeh, Gibbethon, Baalath, [45]Jehud, Bene Berak, Gath Rimmon, [46]Me Jarkon, and Rakkon, with the region near Joppa. [47]The border of the children of Dan went beyond these, because the children of Dan went up to fight against Leshem and took it; and they struck it with the edge of the sword, took possession of it, and dwelt in it. They called Leshem Dan, after the name of Dan their father. [48]This was the inheritance of the tribe of the children of Dan according to their families, the cities and their villages. [49]But the sons of Dan did not press the Amorites who afflicted them in the mountain; and the Amorites did not permit them to descend into the valley, but forcibly took from them the border of their possession.

The Land of Joshua

[50]Now the sons of Judah marched and fought Lachish and laid hold of it. They struck it with the edge of the sword, settled in it, and called it Lasendak. [51]Now the Amorites continued to dwell in Elom and in Salamin; but the hand of Ephraim prevailed against them, and they paid tribute to them. [52]So they proceeded to take possession of the land according to their borders, and the children of Israel gave an inheritance to Joshua the son of Nun among them, according to the ordinance of God. [53]They gave him the city he asked for, Timnath Serah, in the mountains of Ephraim. So he built the city and dwelt in it. [54]These were the inheritances which Eleazar the priest, Joshua the son of Nun, and the heads of the fathers of the tribes of the children of Israel divided as an inheritance by lot in Shiloh before the Lord, at the door of the tabernacle of testimony. So they made an end of dividing the country.

Cities of Refuge

[1]Then the Lord spoke to Joshua, saying, [2]"Say to the sons of Israel, 'Appoint the cities of refuge of which I spoke to you through Moses, [3]a place of refuge for a slayer who kills a soul involuntarily. The cities will be a refuge for you, and the slayer shall not die by the avenger of blood until he stands before the congregation for judgment.' " [4]So he appointed Kedesh in Galilee in the mountains of Naphtali, Shechem in the mountains of Ephraim, and Kirjath Arba (which is Hebron) in the mountains of Judah. [5]On the other side of the Jordan he appointed Bezer in the desert on the plain from the tribe of Reuben, and Ramoth in Gilead from the tribe of Gad, and Golan in Bashan from the tribe of Manasseh. [6]These were the cities appointed for the children of Israel and for the resident alien living among them, that whoever killed a soul involuntarily should take refuge there, and not die by the hand of the avenger of blood until he stood before the congregation for judgment.

Joshua 21

Cities of the Levites

[1]Now the heads of the fathers of the sons of Levi came to Eleazar the priest, to Joshua the son of Nun, and to the chiefs of the tribes of the fathers from the tribes of Israel, [2]and spoke to them in Shiloh in the land of Canaan, saying, “The Lord commanded through the hand of Moses that we be given cities to dwell in, with the common-lands for our cattle.” [3]So the children of Israel gave the Levites a portion of their inheritance at the command of the Lord, cities and their common-lands. [4]Now the lot came out for the family of the Kohathites, and from the tribe of Judah, the tribe of Simeon, and the tribe of Benjamin, there were thirteen cities given by lot to the sons of Aaron, who were priests among the Levites. [5]For the remaining sons of Kohath, ten cities were chosen by lot from the tribe of Ephraim, the tribe of Dan, and the half-tribe of Manasseh. [6]For the sons of Gershon, there were thirteen cities by lot from the tribe of Issachar, the tribe of Asher, the tribe of Naphtali, and the half-tribe of Manasseh in Bashan. [7]For the sons of Merari according to their families, there were twelve cities by lot from the tribe of Reuben, the tribe of Gad, and the tribe of Zebulun.

[8]So the children of Israel gave the Levites cities and their common-lands by lot, as the Lord commanded Moses. [9]From the tribe of the sons of Judah, and the tribe of the sons of Simeon, and the tribe of the sons of Benjamin, they gave the cities, designated by name, [10]to the sons of Aaron from the family of Kohath, who were of the sons of Levi, because the lot was theirs. [11]They gave them Kirjath Arba, the capital of the sons of Anak (which is Hebron), in the mountains of Judah, with the common-land surrounding it. [12]But the fields of the city and its villages Joshua gave to the sons of Caleb, the son of Jephunneh, as their possession. [13]Thus to the sons of Aaron they gave Hebron with its common-land (a city of refuge for the slayer), Libna with its common-land, [14]Jattir with its common-land, Eshtemoa with its common-land, [15]Holon with its common-land, Debir with its common-land, [16]Ain with its common-land, Juttah with its common-land, and Beth Shemesh with its common-land: nine cities from those two tribes; [17]and from the tribe of Benjamin: Gibeon with its common-land, Geba with its common-land, [18]Anathoth with its common-land, and Almon with its common-land: four cities. [19]All the cities of the sons of Aaron, the priests, were thirteen cities with their common-lands.

[20]Now the families of the sons of Kohath, the Levites, the rest of the sons of Kohath, had cities of their lot from the tribe of Ephraim. [21]For they gave them Shechem with its common-land in the mountains of Ephraim (a city of refuge for the slayer), Gezer with its common-land, [22]Kibzaim with its common-land, and Beth Horon with its common-land: four cities; [23]and from the tribe of Dan: Eltekeh with its common-land, Gibbethon with its common-land, [24]Aijalon with its common-land, and Gath Rimmon with its common-land: four cities; [25]and from the half-tribe of Manasseh, Tanach with its common-land and Jebatha with its common-land: two cities. [26]All ten cities with their common-lands were for the rest of the families of the sons of Kohath.

[27]To the sons of Gershon, to the Levites, from the half-tribe of Manasseh, they gave Golan in Bashan with its common-land (a city of refuge for the slayer), and Be Eshterah with its common-land: two cities; [28]and from the tribe of Issachar, Kishion with its common-land, Daberath with its common-land, [29]Jarmuth with its common-land, and En Gannim with its common-land: four cities; [30]and from the tribe of Asher, Mishal with its common-land, Abdon with its common-land, [31]Helkath with its common-land, and Rehob with its common-land: four cities; [32]and from the tribe of Naphtali, Kedesh in Galilee with its common-land (a city of refuge for the slayer), Hammoth Dor with its common-land, and Kartan with its common-land: three cities. [33]All the cities of the Gershonites according to their families were thirteen cities with their common-lands.

[34]To the family of the sons of Merari, the rest of the Levites, from the tribe of Zebulun, Jokneam with its common-land, Kartah with its common-land, [35]Dimnah with its common-land, and Nahalal with its common-land: four cities; [36]and from the tribe of Reuben, Bezer in the desert of Misor with its common-land (a city of refuge for the slayer), Jahaz with its common-land, [37]Kedemoth with its common-land, and Mephaath with its common-land: four cities; [38]and from the tribe of Gad, Ramoth in Gilead with its common-land (a city of refuge for the slayer), Mahanaim with its common-land, [39]Heshbon with its common-land, and Jazer with its common-land: four cities in all. [40]So all the cities for the sons of Merari according to their families, the rest of the tribe of Levi, were by their lot twelve cities.

Israel Takes the Land

[41]All the cities of the Levites within the possession of the sons of Israel were forty-eight cities with their common-lands. [42]Every one of these cities had its common-land surrounding it; thus were all these cities. [43]So Joshua finished dividing the land according to their borders, [44]and the children of Israel gave a portion to Joshua according to the Lord's command. They gave him the city he requested, which was Timnath Serah in the mountain of Ephraim, [45]and Joshua built the city and dwelt in it. [46]Then Joshua took the stone knives with which he circumcised the sons of Israel who were born on the way in the desert, and he put them in Timnath Serah. [47]So the Lord gave Israel all the land He had sworn to give to their fathers; and they took possession of it and dwelt in it. [48]The Lord gave them rest all around, as He had sworn to their fathers, and no one rose up against them from all their enemies. The Lord delivered all their enemies into their hands. [49]Not a word failed of any good thing the Lord had spoken to the children of Israel. All came to pass.

Joshua Sends the Eastern Tribes Home

[1]Then Joshua called together the children of Reuben, the children of Gad, and the half-tribe of Manasseh, [2]and said to them, "You heard everything the servant of the Lord Moses commanded you, and have obeyed my voice in everything I commanded you. [3]You have not left your brethren these many days, for until this day you have kept the commandment of the Lord your God. [4]Now then, the Lord our God gave our brethren rest, as he said to them; now therefore, return and depart to your homes and to the land of your inheritance, which Moses gave you beyond the Jordan. [5]But be very careful to do the commandments and the law which Moses the servant of the Lord commanded you to do, to love the Lord your God, to walk in all His ways, to keep His commandments, to adhere to Him, and to serve Him with all your mind and with all your soul." [6]So Joshua blessed them and sent them forth; and they went to their homes. [7]Now to the half-tribe of Manasseh Moses gave a possession in Bashan, and to the other half, Joshua gave a possession among his brethren on the other side of the Jordan toward the sea. Indeed, when Joshua sent them forth to their homes, he blessed them, [8]and they departed with much wealth to their homes, and with a great quantity of cattle, silver, gold, and iron, and with a great quantity of clothing; and they divided the spoils of the enemy with their brethren.

9So the children of Reuben, the children of Gad, and the half-tribe of the children of Manasseh went forth from the children of Israel at Shiloh in the land of Canaan to go to the land of Gilead, to the land of their possession, which they obtained through the ordinance of the Lord by the hand of Moses.

An Altar at the Jordan

10Then they came to Gilgal at the Jordan, which is in the land of Canaan, and the children of Gad, the children of Reuben, and the half-tribe of Manasseh built an altar there by the Jordan, an altar great to see. 11Now the children of Israel heard them saying, “Behold, the children of Gad, the children of Reuben, and the half-tribe of Manasseh have built an altar at the borders of the land of Canaan, at Gilead by the Jordan, on the opposite side of the children of Israel.” 12So all the children of Israel gathered together at Shiloh to go up to war against them.

13Then the children of Israel sent Phinehas the son of Eleazar, the son of Aaron the high priest, to the children of Reuben, the children of Gad, and the half-tribe of Manasseh in the land of Gilead, 14and ten rulers with him, one ruler each from the paternal house of all the tribes of Israel; and they were the rulers of the paternal houses, the heads of a thousand, of Israel. 15They came to the children of Gad, the children of Reuben, and the half-tribe of Manasseh in the land of Gilead and spoke to them, saying, 16“Thus says the whole congregation of the Lord, ‘What trespass have you committed against the God of Israel, turning away this day from the Lord, building an altar for yourselves, and becoming rebels against the Lord? 17Is Peor’s sin too little for you? For we have not been cleansed from it to this day, and there was a plague in the congregation of the Lord. 18Will you turn away from the Lord today? If you rebel against the Lord today, tomorrow there shall be wrath upon all Israel. 19Now if the land of your possession is too small for you, cross over to the land of the Lord’s possession, where the tabernacle of the Lord dwells, and take possession among us; but do not become rebels against God, and do not rebel against the Lord by building yourselves an altar besides the altar of the Lord our God. 20Behold, did not Achan the son of Zerah commit a trespass in regard to the accursed thing, and bring wrath upon all the congregation of Israel? But he was only one man, and he alone died in his sin.’ ”

Manasseh answered and spoke to the captains of the thousands of Israel, saying, [22]"God, even God is the Lord, and God, even God the Lord Himself knows, and Israel himself shall know, that if we transgressed against the Lord in rebellion, may He not deliver us in this. [23]If we have built ourselves an altar so as to depart from the Lord our God, and to offer upon it a sacrifice of whole burnt offerings, or a sacrifice of peace offering, then the Lord will require it. [24]But we have done this thing as a matter of reverence, saying, 'Lest hereafter your children may say to our children, "What have you to do with the Lord God of Israel? [25]The Lord made the Jordan a border between us and you, and there is no portion of the Lord for you." Thus your sons shall alienate our sons, so they should not worship the Lord.' [26]So we told them to build this altar, not for burnt offerings or sacrifices, [27]but as a witness between us and you, and between our generations after us, that we do service to the Lord before Him with our burnt offerings and sacrifices, and with our peace offerings; so your children shall not say to our children hereafter, 'There is no portion of the Lord for you.' [28]Therefore we said, 'If ever it shall come to pass that they should speak to us and to our generations hereafter, they shall say, "Come and see the likeness of the Lord's altar which our fathers made, not for the sake of burnt offerings or for sacrifices, but as a witness between us and you, and between our children." [29]May we not therefore turn away from the Lord in these days and revolt from the Lord, to build ourselves an altar for burnt offerings, for peace offerings, and for the sacrifice of peace, besides the altar of the Lord, which is before His tabernacle.' "

[30]Now when Phinehas the priest and all the rulers of the congregation of Israel who were with him heard the words spoken by the children of Reuben, the children of Gad, and the half-tribe of Manasseh, it pleased them. [31]Then Phinehas the priest said to the children of Reuben, the children of Gad, and the half-tribe of Manasseh, "Today we know that the Lord is with us, because you have not transgressed grievously against the Lord, and because you have delivered the children of Israel out of the Lord's hand." [32]After this, Phinehas the priest and the rulers returned from the children of Reuben, the children of Gad, and the half-tribe of Manasseh, from the land of Gilead to the land of Canaan, to the children of Israel, and reported to them these words; [33]and it pleased the children of Israel. They spoke to the children of Israel and blessed the God of the children of Israel. So they spoke no more about going up against them in battle in order to utterly destroy the land where the children of Reuben, the children of Gad, and the half-tribe of Manasseh dwelt. [34]Then

Joshua named the altar of the children of Reuben, of Gad, and of the half-tribe of Manasseh, and said that it is a witness in their midst, that the Lord is their God.

Joshua 23

Joshua's Final Address

[1]Now it came to pass that after many days, the Lord gave rest to Israel from all their enemies round about, and Joshua was old and advanced in years. [2]So Joshua summoned all the children of Israel and their elders and leaders and their scribes and judges, and said to them, "I am old and advanced in years, [3]and you have seen everything the Lord your God did to all these nations before you, that the Lord your God is He who fought for you. [4]See, I have added to you these nations that are left to you by lots to your tribes, beginning at the Jordan and bordered by the Great Sea westward, all the nations I utterly destroyed before you. [5]For the Lord your God, He will utterly destroy them before you until they perish, and He will send wild animals against them until He utterly destroys them and their kings from before you; and you shall inherit their land as the Lord your God said to you. [6]Therefore strive diligently to keep and to do everything written in the Book of the Law of Moses, lest you turn aside from it to the right or to the left, [7]and lest you go among these nations, those that remain among you. The names of their gods shall not be mentioned among you, and neither shall you worship them, nor serve them; [8]but you shall cleave to the Lord your God, as you have done to this day. [9]For the Lord has utterly destroyed them before you, great and mighty nations, and no one has stood against you to this day. [10]One of you has chased a thousand, for the Lord your God fought for you, as He said to you. [11]Therefore take great heed to love the Lord your God. [12]For if you turn away and attach yourselves to the remnant of these nations among you, and intermarry and become mingled with them and they with you, [13]know for certain that the Lord will no longer utterly destroy these nations before you; but they shall be snares and traps for you, and nails in your heels and darts in your eyes, until you perish from this good land which the Lord your God has given you.

[14]"But I am going the way of all those on earth, and you shall know in your heart and soul that not one word has failed of all the words the Lord our God spoke concerning everything that pertains to you. Not one word of them has failed. 15Therefore it shall come to pass that as all the good things came upon you which the Lord promised you, so the Lord God will bring upon you all the evil things, until He utterly destroys you from this good land which the Lord has given you, 16when you transgress the covenant of the Lord your God which He commanded you, and go and serve other gods, and worship them."

Joshua 24

Covenant at Shiloh

1Then Joshua gathered together all the tribes of Israel to Shiloh, and summoned their elders, scribes, and judges; and he set them before God. 2Then Joshua said to all the people, "Thus says the Lord God of Israel, 'From the beginning your fathers dwelt on the other side of the river, including Terah the father of Abraham and the father of Nahor, and they served other gods. 3But I took your father Abraham from the other side of the river, led him into all the land, multiplied his seed, and gave him Isaac, 4and to Isaac, Jacob and Esau. I gave Mount Seir to Esau as an inheritance, but Jacob and his sons went down to Egypt. There they became a great nation, both large and mighty.' 5But the Egyptians maltreated them, so the Lord smote Egypt for what it did to them. 6After that, you came out of Egypt to the Red Sea, and the Egyptians pursued your fathers with chariots and horses to the Red Sea. 7So we cried out to the Lord, and He placed a cloud and darkness between us and the Egyptians. Then He brought the sea upon them, and it covered them. Thus your eyes saw what the Lord did in the land of Egypt.

"You were in the desert for many days. 8Then He brought you into the land of the Amorites, who dwelt on the other side of the Jordan, and they fought with you; but the Lord gave them over into your hands that you might take possession of their land, and He utterly destroyed them from before you. 9Then Balak the son of Zippor, the king of Moab, arose to make war against Israel, and he sent and called Balaam to lay a curse on you. 10But the Lord your God would not destroy you, and greatly blessed you. He delivered you from their hands and gave them over to you. 11Then you crossed the Jordan and came to Jericho. The inhabitants of Jericho fought against you—also the Amorites, the Canaanites, the Perizzites, the Hivites, the Jebusites, the Hittites, and the Girgashites, but the Lord gave them into your hands. 12He sent hornets before you and drove them out from before you, the twelve kings of the Amorites, but not with your sword or with your bow. 13He gave you a land for which you did not labor, and cities you did not build; and you dwelt in them. You ate from vineyards and olive groves which you did not plant.

14"Now therefore, fear the Lord, and serve Him in justice and righteousness. Remove the foreign gods your fathers served on the other side of the river and in Egypt, and serve the Lord. 15But if it does not please you to serve the Lord, choose gods for yourselves today whom you will serve, whether the gods of your fathers that were on the other side of the river, or the gods of the Amorites, among whom you dwell in their land. But as for me and my house, we will serve the Lord, because He is holy."

16Then the people answered and said, "Far be it from us to forsake the Lord, so as to serve other gods. 17The Lord our God, He is God. He brought us and our fathers from Egypt and preserved us on the whole journey where we went, and among all the nations through whom we passed. 18The Lord cast out before us the Amorite and all the nations that inhabited the land. But as for us, we will serve the Lord, for He is our God." 19But Joshua said to the people, "You cannot serve the Lord, for He is a holy God, and He being jealous will not forgive your sins and your lawless deeds. 20Whenever you forsake the Lord and serve other gods, then He shall come and deal harshly with you and will consume you, after He has done you good." 21Then the people said to Joshua, "No, but we will serve the Lord." 22So Joshua said to the people, "You are witnesses against yourselves that you have chosen to serve the Lord. 23Now therefore, remove the foreign gods from among you and make your heart straight toward the Lord God of Israel." 24Again the people said to Joshua, "We will serve the Lord, and obey His voice."

25So Joshua established a covenant with the people on that day, and gave them a law and judgment in Shiloh before the tabernacle of the God of Israel. 26Then he wrote these words in the Book of the Law of God; and he took a large stone and set it up under the terebinth tree before the Lord. 27After this, Joshua said to the people, "Behold, this stone shall be a witness among you, because it has heard everything said to it by the Lord, whatever He spoke to us today. This stone shall be among you as a witness in the last days, whenever you lie to the Lord my God." 28So Joshua sent the people away, and they went forth, each one to his place. 29Then Israel served the Lord all the days of Joshua and all the days of the elders, as many as were with Joshua and saw all the works of the Lord which he did for Israel.

The Death of Joshua and Eleazar

30 Now it came to pass after these things that Joshua the son of Nun, the servant of the Lord, died at the age of one hundred and ten years. 31 They buried him within the boundary lines of his inheritance at Timnath Serah, on Mount Ephraim on the north side of Mount Gaash. 32 In his grave they placed with him the stone knives with which he circumcised the sons of Israel at Gilgal, when he brought them out of Egypt, as the Lord ordered them. They remain there to this very day. 33 The children of Israel also brought up the bones of Joseph from Egypt and buried them at Shechem, in the plot of land which Jacob purchased from the Amorites who dwelled in Shechem for one hundred lambs, and which was given to Joseph as his portion.

34 After this, Eleazar the son of Aaron the high priest died and was buried in Gabaath, which belonged to Phinehas his son, and which he had given him on Mount Ephraim. 35 On that day the children of Israel took the ark of God and carried it about among themselves, and Phinehas held the office of priest in place of Eleazar his father, until he died and was buried in his own place at Gabaath. 36 But each of the children of Israel departed to his own place and to his own city. Then the children of Israel worshipped Astarte and Astaroth and the gods of the nations round about them. So the Lord gave them over into the hands of Eglon the king of Moab, and he ruled over them for eighteen years.

Annotations for Joshua

1:1 The name Joshua, which means, “the Lord is salvation,” is Yeshua in Hebrew, Iesous in Greek, and Jesus in English.

Joshua’s original name was Hoshea, but Moses changed his name to Joshua (Nm 13:16). This name change was prophetic, for it made Joshua a type of Jesus Christ.

1:2 Moses, the lawgiver, could not bring Israel into the promised land, which shows that the Law of Moses cannot save the people. But Joshua brought them in, and in this he was a type of Jesus Christ, who brings His own into heaven through grace (JohnChr).

1:3–5 The enemy will be trampled under Joshua’s feet. In a similar way, Christ will trample down sin, death, and the devil by His death and Resurrection.

1:6 The Lord who spoke to Joshua was the Son and Word of God. He told Joshua to be strong and courageous in the face of war and death. Therefore, when the Word became incarnate, how could He Himself fear death when He stood before Herod and Pilate? How could He who said, “Do not be afraid of those who kill the body” (Lk 12:4), and who said to Abraham, “Do not fear” (Gn 14:1; 26:24), fear the terror of death? No, He did not fear death, but destroyed it by His cross (AthanG).

1:10, 11 As the scribes prepare the people to enter Canaan, St. John the Forerunner will precede Christ, declaring to the people, “Prepare the way of the LORD” (Is 40:3–5; Lk 3:4).

1:11 Christ will be three days in the tomb, thus opening the way to paradise, that the faithful might cross the sanctified waters of baptism and possess their inheritance of eternal life.

1:12–18 Two-and-a-half tribes will eventually return to settle on the east side of the Jordan, an area called Gilead (22:9). The faithful among them will become witnesses of the truth (22:34) to the Gentiles until Christ is revealed. All the faithful of the Church are called to be witnesses of the true faith in a foreign land.

2:1 Joshua spied out the land, which represents dispassion or purity of heart. To achieve this purity, one first leaves Egypt, which stands for the actual committing of sin. Then he crosses the Red Sea, which indicates detachment from material things. Thirdly, he dwells in the desert, which lies between the impulse to sin and the outward fulfillment of these impulses. Only then can he spy out the promised land of dispassion and then enter it to partake of the milk and honey (Ex 3:8), which refer to the spiritual riches of God’s kingdom (ElPres).

2:3 The Holy Fathers agree that Rahab was a type of the Church, for by her hospitality and faith she secured salvation for herself and her family. She is also an ancestor of Christ (Mt 1:5).

2:11 Although Rahab was a prostitute, she was saved through repentance, which is how anyone gains salvation (CyrJer).

2:12, 13 God’s previous judgments on His enemies inspire fear in Rahab and her family, but theirs was a fear that produced repentance and faith, not hardened hearts. Jericho faced God’s impending judgment, yet Rahab and her household were the only ones in Jericho who asked the Lord to be merciful.

2:13 Christ destroyed death by His death, to deliver mankind from death.

2:18 The scarlet cord was a type of the Lord’s Passion, of His mystical blood which would redeem the world. Rahab understood something of this mystery; therefore, her repentance and faith saved her (AmbM).

3:1 Joshua began to rule in Israel when he crossed the Jordan River. Similarly, Jesus Christ began to preach the Gospel after He was baptized, for crossing the Jordan was a type of His Baptism, and thus of ours as well (CyrJer).

3:3 The ark of the covenant was a box overlaid with gold on all sides. On top of the ark was the mercy seat, overshadowed by the cherubim of glory. Inside the ark were the golden pot with the manna, Aaron’s rod that budded, and the tablet of the Ten Commandments (see also Heb 9:4, 5). The ark was a type of the Ever-virgin Mary with Christ conceived in her holy womb. The articles inside the ark speak of Christ. Thus, God the Son became incarnate in Mary for our salvation, and therefore she is the Mother of God (the Theotokos).

📖 3:7, 8, 15–17 This passage is read at Vespers of the Feast of the Theophany of the Lord.

3:16 The waters stopped flowing because the Lord changed the laws of nature to allow Israel to cross the Jordan. This crossing was a type of the sacraments, or mysteries, of the Church. For in the sacraments, the laws of nature are overcome to allow the faithful to partake of the Lord's salvation. In baptism, for instance, the water in the baptismal font becomes in a mystery the very Baptism of Christ, by which we attain the forgiveness of sins. Also, in the Eucharist, the bread and wine become in a mystery the very body and blood of Christ. In both cases, the laws of nature are overcome so as to bring about our salvation.

3:1–17 This passage is a picture of God's plan of salvation for the world. The ark prefigures Christ's conception in the holy womb of the Ever-virgin Mary. The feet of the priests in the water (v. 13) prefigure Christ's feet in the very same river at His Baptism (Mt 3:13), which will drive the powers of darkness out of creation (v. 10). Since Christ's Baptism is also our baptism, we are united to Him in the sanctified waters, and through Him are delivered from the powers of darkness (see also Acts 2:38; 26:18).

4:1–10 The twelve stones prefigure the twelve apostles of Christ (GrgNy). The Lord gave them the authority to baptize all nations in the name of the Holy Trinity (Mt 28:18–20).

4:14 The nation of Israel feared Joshua as long as he lived in her midst. Since they feared the type, how much more should we fear the One who fulfilled the type, namely, Jesus our Lord and God. Joshua eventually died, but the risen Lord lives among us forever.

4:19–24 The crossing of the Red Sea and the Jordan by the children of Israel foreshadowed holy baptism, and the twelve stones speak of the twelve apostles of Christ. Christ's teachings are handed down in the Church through these apostles, to whom Christ gave the authority to baptize all nations. This apostolic teaching is the true faith, also known as the Orthodox faith.

5:2–8 Circumcision was given first to Abraham after he was declared righteous before God through faith in the promise of the Gospel (Gn 17:9–14). This was a sign for the Gentiles among whom he lived concerning the Gospel, which separated him and his household from them. The children born during Israel's sojourn in the desert had no need to be circumcised, because Israel did not live among the Gentiles during this time. But now Israel was again living among the Gentiles; therefore, Joshua instituted a second law of circumcision (JohnDm).

Circumcision was also a type of baptism. For as circumcision cut off a useless member of the body, so baptism cuts off sinful desires and pleasures from one's life through the cross. We also sign ourselves with the cross to express our faith; however, we do this not to separate ourselves from the unbelievers among whom we live, but to separate ourselves from an unholy manner of life. We thus direct our lives with holy desires and faithfulness (JohnDm).

Furthermore, Christ was circumcised to fulfill the Law of Moses; therefore, circumcision is now contrary to baptism, because it was done away in Christ. Moreover, when Jesus was baptized and the Holy Spirit descended on Him, the kingdom of God and the law of Christ were proclaimed from that time. Now we live a holy life through Him and before the world in which we live (JohnDm).

5:9 The disgrace of Egypt was the unholy life of sinful desires and pleasures the Egyptians lived, and the influence this life had on the Israelites who disobeyed the Lord.

5:10–12 Manna was a type of Christ as the bread of life. So was the unleavened and new wheat. We now eat this bread of life in the mystery of the Eucharist. This life is the divine life of God, which sets on fire those who partake of the bread in a proper manner. Those who do so leave the Eucharist breathing the fire of divine life, which is terrible to the devil and his angels (JohnChr).

5:13–15 The chief captain, whom tradition holds to be the Archangel Michael, will lead them to complete victory so they might possess the land. Joshua's vision surpasses that of Moses (Ex 3:1–10), who saw a burning bush on Mount Horeb yet hid his face, for he was afraid to look upon God. Here, in the Promised Land, Joshua actually sees the form of a man. Both of these visions will be fulfilled in the Man, Christ Jesus.

6:5, 6 Israel, which prefigures the Church, has been made ready. Now the people must act in faith and obedience. The Lord Himself will bring down the walls, which speak of sin and death. He will destroy the enemies and lead the faithful to safely inhabit a world once held captive by darkness.

6:7–14 The priests with their sacred trumpets can be seen as representing the Old Testament prophets, who foretell the coming of Christ in Holy Scripture while the rest of the world waits in silence. They are Israel's spiritual leaders, called to uphold the law and bear witness to God's covenant promises until Christ appears.

6:14 Israel walked around the walls of Jericho for seven straight days. One of these had to be the Sabbath Day. Thus, the Israelites broke the Sabbath but were guiltless, for they obeyed Joshua (or Jesus) in doing a good thing. But when Jesus (the true Joshua) healed on the Sabbath, the Pharisees accused Him of breaking the Sabbath and wanted to kill Him. Then He said to them, "It is lawful to do good on the Sabbath" (Mt 12:12).

6:22 Rahab the harlot was counted as righteous before God for one reason: namely, her hospitality, a demonstration of her genuine faith. But she received no praise for the rest of her behavior. Similarly, the publican was counted as righteous because of his humility, though he received no testimony for anything else. Therefore, one should not fall into despair over failures and shortcomings before God, but demonstrate in some way a genuine repentance and faith (GrgTheo).

6:24 Joshua, a type of Jesus Christ, saved Rahab the harlot because of her hospitality, which demonstrated a genuine faith. But the true Jesus said to the chief priests and elders who opposed Him, "tax collectors and harlots enter the kingdom of God before you" (Mt 21:31). (CyrJer)

7:1–26 Like an infectious disease, the sin of Achan affected the entire community with death. It breached the walls of heavenly grace that surrounded the people at Jericho. But in a more sweeping way, Adam's transgression breached the grace of God and plunged the entire world into mortality (Rom 5:12).

7:6–15 Joshua and the elders intercede before the Lord on behalf of all the people, thus reversing their defeat. Similarly, Christ's humility and intercession will reverse the process of sin and death, but the people must respond by working with Him to purge evil from their midst.

7:14–18 Step by step, God reveals the source of sin. God's love is like a fire that consumes sin until only what is good remains. But without repentance, nothing good will remain.

7:20, 21 To follow a man like Achan and to believe he made a right choice would be like using a blind man as a judge of color, or a deaf man as a music critic. For those whose spiritual discernment is crippled are truly blind or deaf, since they lack the basic ability to distinguish between the important and the trivial. Achan buried his spiritual discernment under the attraction of material things (a beautiful, multicolored garment, two hundred shekels of silver, and a wedge of fifty shekels of gold), thus yielding to whatever happened to catch his fancy (Neilos). Achan's confession was not repentance. He only confessed because he got caught.

7:21 The love of money is an ancient vice, and in Ex 20:17, a law was given to check it: "You shall not covet" (AmbM).

7:24–26 Achan's death by stoning applies to all who will not heed Christ's words concerning Himself: "And whoever falls on this stone will be broken; but on whomever it falls, it will grind him to powder" (Mt 21:44).

8:17–20 The Lord who spoke to Joshua was the Son of God (AmbM). Joshua's spear was a type of the cross, that weapon of peace through which Christ and His Church win in battle.

8:21–28 We should remember that all the inhabitants of Ai, and in fact all the inhabitants of the cities conquered by Joshua, were killed because none of them asked for mercy or desired to be saved. God always provides both the warning and the opportunity, but He will not force people to seek salvation.

9:3–8 Joshua and the people reaffirm their covenant with the Lord according to Moses' instructions (see Dt 27:1–8). Everything in this passage points to Christ, who will unite all people, both resident aliens and those born among them (v. 6), Jew and Gentile, sinner and saint.

9:5 The term second law is noteworthy, because Deuteronomy is not an additional law to the Law of Moses. Rather, it emphasizes the spiritual side of his law. In this sense, Christ is the "second" Law, for He will not only come after the "first" Law of Moses, He will also fulfill it (Mt 5:17).

9:9, 21 Although Joshua made a mistake by not inquiring of the Lord before he made the covenant with the Gibeonites, nevertheless, his virtuous character is shown by his innocence in believing them (AmbM).

9:9–33 The Gibeonites are descendants of Noah's son, Canaan, about whom he prophesied in Gn 9:25, "Cursed be Canaan; / A servant of servants shall he be to his brothers" (JohnChr). These Canaanites prefigure the sinners and outcasts who will humble themselves before Christ and receive salvation. The torn and patched condition (v. 11) of the Gibeonites' belongings describes the state of the soul that seeks salvation in God.

10:6–10 The people of Gibeon sent word, and Joshua mustered all his men of war to rescue them and rout the enemy. So it is with all those who are held fast in the hands of the Lord. In the words of the Lord Jesus Himself, "And I shall give them eternal life, and they shall never perish; neither shall anyone snatch them out of My hand" (Jn 10:28).

10:11 Because the Gibeonites humbled themselves before the Lord, His judgment against their fleeing oppressors is even more fierce than it was against Jericho and Ai. The hailstones . . . from heaven speak of the Last Judgment.

10:12, 13 The Word and Son of God caused the sun to stand still. He it was also who rebuked the sea, and on the cross caused the sun to be darkened (AthanG). So this passage would be fulfilled and even surpassed on the day of Christ's Crucifixion. On that day, He would show His Lordship over creation (Lk 23:45) as He stretched out His all-pure hands upon the cross, trampling down His enemies and bringing "salvation in the midst of the earth" (Ps 73:12).

10:14 According to Ecc 1:5, "The sun rises, and the sun goes down." Likewise, Christ, the Sun of Righteousness, appears sometimes as risen and sometimes as set. This depends on one's manner of life and spiritual status in the pursuit of virtue and search for spiritual knowledge. Blessed is a man like Joshua who keeps the true Sun from setting in himself throughout the whole day of this present life, not allowing this Sun to be blotted out by the dusk of sin and ignorance. By doing this, he will be able to defeat the deceitful demons who rise up against him (MaxCon).

11:6–9 The kings who warred against Israel represent the sinful passions that war against us. But the Lord Jesus Christ encourages us, as He did Joshua, "Fear not before their presence." He also said, "I will . . . put them to flight." Joshua and his army also warred against the kings in Canaan. Therefore, the Lord fights, and we fight against our passions. This spiritual war is called asceticism. Its purpose is to subdue the passions so that the God-endowed virtues within the soul may express themselves in a natural way.

11:20 As it was with Pharaoh in Moses' day, so it is with the kings in Joshua's day. Over time, their hearts had become so hardened by sinful passions they no longer had the possibility of repentance. Israel waited four hundred years from the time God promised the land to Abraham until they were able to possess it, because the sins of the Amorites were not yet complete (Gn 15:16). Even to this day, God in His longsuffering is withholding judgment on the earth until all mankind has had every opportunity to repent and believe in Jesus Christ.

11:23 The land of Canaan was a type of God's kingdom in the world to come, when the land will rest from war. But until then, one needs to guard his heart against his passions and "wage the good warfare, having faith and a good conscience" (1Ti 1:18, 19).

12:1 The kings of the land represent not only the sinful passions, but also the devil and his angels, who are the authors of these passions. These angels are called "principalities," "powers," "rulers of the darkness," and "spiritual hosts of wickedness in the heavenly places" (Eph 6:12). But Christ the Conqueror, together with the faithful and the heavenly hosts, will prevail over them all. By the grace of Christ, those who put to death these kings will inherit the land of God's kingdom in the world to come. "He who overcomes shall inherit all things, and I will be his God and he shall be My son" (Rev 21:7).

13:1–7 Some of these cities will not come into Israel's possession until much later, and some will never become part of Israel's earthly kingdom. Yet again, this passage points to events far in the future, when Christ will be given the ends of the earth as His inheritance (Ps 2:8).

14:7–10 Caleb and Joshua preferred virtue rather than safety, but the other ten spies preferred safety to virtue (AmbM). The Lord Jesus Christ preferred our salvation rather than His own life, for He gladly gave Himself for us. In the Garden of Gethsemane, He prayed to the Father and said, "Let this cup pass from Me" (Mt 26:39). By this request He showed He was fully Man, for He possessed the God-endowed desire for self-preservation in His human nature. But He also said, "Nevertheless, not as I will, but as You will." In this He revealed the submission of His human will to His divine will within His one Person. Thus, His divine will was a higher law than the law of safety within His human will; therefore, He voluntarily and joyfully gave His human life for our sakes. The holy martyrs also preferred the divine will to their own safety.

15:13–19 The sons of Anak (v. 14) were known as Anakim, and they were giants in size (Dt 2:10, 11). Othniel was the nephew of Caleb and also had his spirit. Thus, he subdued the Anakim. He would also be the first to deliver Israel in the time of the Judges (Jdg 3:9), and therefore was a type of Christ. Achsah, his wife, was Caleb's daughter, and Caleb gave her the upper and lower springs of water (v. 19; see also Jdg 1:13–15). She was a type of the Church with its springs of water, the divine life of Christ. Therefore, through Christ and His life in the Church, one is able to fight against the giants of the passions and to live a God-honoring manner of life.

16:10 The Lord commanded Israel through Moses to utterly destroy all the inhabitants of the land and to show them no mercy (Dt 7:1, 2; Jos 9:24). But the tribe of Ephraim did not fully obey this command; therefore, the Canaanites dwell among Ephraim to this day. Similarly, when we show mercy to some of our sinful passions and allow them to operate within us, they eventually corrupt our obedience to Christ, as the Canaanites corrupted Ephraim. We are to show no mercy to these passions, but are to put them "to death" (Col 3:5).

17:14–18 Note how the tribe of Joseph refers to itself first in the plural (us) and then in the singular (I, me). Israel is one in belief, purpose, and worship, yet it is divided into twelve tribes, each of which receives its own inheritance. So the Church is one body, the body of Christ (Eph 1:22, 23); yet it is composed of a great many people of every nation, tongue, and tribe (Rev 5:9; 14:6).

18:1, 9, 10 Israel set up the tabernacle in Shiloh, where it remained for about four hundred years. Thus, Shiloh, located about twenty-five miles north of Jerusalem, was the capital of the nation during this time. The name Shiloh means "peace"; therefore, it was an appropriate place for the tabernacle, both of which speak of Christ the Lord. Joshua gained wisdom from Him (before the Lord, v. 10) that he might know how to divide the remaining land among seven tribes in a peaceable manner. We, too, need His peace to rule in our hearts so as to know how to live peaceably and wisely (Col 3:15).

19:9 Judah's share was too much for them; therefore, they shared their inheritance with the children of Simeon. So we must learn to share our abundance with those who need it. Similarly, we should not "forget to do good and to share, for with such sacrifices God is well pleased" (Heb 13:16).

20:1–6 Cities of refuge were established to protect slayers who killed someone involuntarily (v. 3). They were protected from the avenger of blood until a judgment could be rendered in each case. This system of protection demonstrated the love and forbearance of God (Rom 2:4), who does not punish before judgment is rendered as to innocence or guilt. Thus, He provided a place of refuge. God also set forth Christ as a city of refuge where one is protected until he is proven innocent or guilty at the Day of Judgment, when He "will render to each one according to his deeds" (Rom 2:6).

21:46 Joshua put the stone knives (with which he had circumcised the sons of Israel born during the days of Israel's wanderings in the desert) in the town he built, Timnath Serah. The name of this town means "image of the sun." Christ is the Sun of Righteousness, and we are to be "conformed to [His] image" (Rom 8:29; 2Co 3:18). The stone knives speak of holy baptism, by which "the sins of the flesh" are cut away (Col 2:11, 12).

22:1–9 The two-and-a-half tribes who go back to dwell on the east side of the Jordan are like the apostles, who will spread out to other lands after Pentecost and bring the gospel to the nations. Be very careful to do the commandments (v. 5) is a timeless admonition to all believers everywhere.

22:10–29 The misunderstanding between the tribes is not unlike the trouble that will arise between Christians over the keeping of Jewish law and the conversion of Gentile believers (see Acts 11:2; 15:1; Gal 2:12).

22:30–34 Because the leaders and the people listened and acted wisely, the altar by the Jordan, which had threatened to divide Israel, will now be a witness (v. 34) to their unity before all.

23:1–16 Consider the ways in which Joshua's address is fulfilled in Christ's high priestly prayer in Jn 17. For example: Joshua says, "I am old" (v. 2); Christ prays, "the hour has come" (Jn 17:1). Joshua says, "you shall inherit their land . . . therefore . . . love the Lord" (vv. 5, 11); Christ prays, "this is eternal life, that they may know You, the only true God, and Jesus Christ whom You have sent" (Jn 17:3). Joshua says, "I am going . . . not one word has failed" (v. 14); Christ prays, "I have finished the work . . . none of them is lost" (Jn 17:4, 12).

24:1–15 Note the emphasis the Lord, through Joshua, is placing on being led out (v. 3) from among the idolatry and oppression on the other side of the river (v. 2), and on crossing over the Jordan (v. 11) to salvation. In other words, God is saying, "I have delivered you (v. 10) and given you a great inheritance so that you might worship Me in righteousness (v. 14). Your part has been, and is now, to follow Me. If you don't, you will destroy yourselves." The Incarnate Christ will preach this same message, only He will tell the whole world.

24:14, 15 God always intended for man to serve Him and to love Him freely; for accepting the salvation that is freely offered is the most natural thing for human beings, made in His image, to do. Joshua, having long ago chosen holiness, now declares the same for his house.

24:16–22 The people, immature and prone to idolatry, must continually be reminded to choose between serving the Lord or other gods. Here they declare they have chosen God; but they will soon turn away (v. 36). Joshua warns them that their hypocrisy is worse than not worshiping Him at all, for all blessings come from God, and refusing to accept them will be the very cause of their suffering.

24:23 To make your heart straight toward the Lord God of Israel means to return the soul to its natural state, as it was when the Lord made it. John the Baptist meant the same thing when he said, "Make His paths straight" (Mt 3:3). For if we abide as we have been made, we are in a state of virtue. When God made our soul, it was beautiful and exceedingly honest, but if we turn aside from our natural state to morally depraved thoughts, we shall be living in vice. Therefore, let us willingly return to the virtue endowed by God within our nature, for we have no need to leave our homes or cross the sea for the sake of God's kingdom, to find virtue outside ourselves. All we need is a willing heart, for the moral integrity of the soul consists in its spiritual part being in its natural state as it was created. If this is the case, the Lord will recognize His work as being the same as when He made it (AntEg).

24:25–27 The large stone is a type of Christ, who will be an everlasting witness of the covenant made between God and man under the tree, that is, the cross.

24:1–27 Joshua reminds the people of the Lord's faithfulness to Israel since Abraham (v. 3) and challenges their faith. Just as Israel's entire history to this point has led up to the covenant about to be established by Joshua (vv. 25–27), so Israel's history from that point forward will lead up to the new covenant that Christ will establish with His Church.

24:29 The Book of Joshua looks ahead to Christ's victory over His enemies and the salvation of the world.

24:33 The bones of Joseph (Gn 50:24, 25; Ex 13:19) are buried . . . at Shechem. Thus, God's covenant with Abraham, Isaac, and Joseph comes full circle and begins anew with the covenant established by Joshua (v. 25). All the Old Testament covenants, of course, will be completely fulfilled in Christ and His Church.

The Book of Judges

Author

Traditionally believed to be Samuel. The book was written in Palestine during his early ministry.

Date

Judges (meaning "rulers") was written three centuries after the entry of the tribes of Israel into Canaan under Joshua, and covers the events of those centuries.

Major Theme

God's continual deliverance of a people that had forgotten Him and the Law. The book begins with compromise and ends in anarchy. It is a record of Israel's forsaking God and of His forsaking Israel because of their disobedience.

Background

The Israelites had been settled for nearly three hundred years in Canaan. This time coincides with the beginning of the Iron Age in the Middle East. The Israelites began their apostasy after the death of Joshua. They did not drive out the Canaanites as God had commanded them to do through Moses. Instead, they intermarried with their pagan neighbors and began worshipping Baal.

The book is named for the thirteen judges of Israel: twelve raised up by God, one a usurper. The judges were to bring deliverance, protection, and military leadership; to settle differences, judge lawsuits, and administer justice. Israel was a theocracy; the judges were not kings, but deputies of God sent to save the people from seven different apostasies. The office was not continual; rather, judges were raised up as oppressive circumstances required.

Judges 1

Ongoing Battles in Canaan

1 After Joshua died, the descendants of Israel asked of the Lord, saying, “Who shall be first to go up for us to fight against the Canaanites?” 2 And the Lord said, “Judah shall go up. Indeed, I have delivered the land into his hand.”
3 So Judah said to Simeon his brother, “Come up with me to my allotted territory, so that we can stand in battle formation against the Canaanites; and I will go with you to your allotted territory.” And Simeon went with him.
4 Then Judah went up, and the Lord delivered the Canaanites and the Perizzites into their hand; and they killed ten thousand men at Bezek. 5 And they overtook Adoni-Bezek in Bezek, and stood in formation against him; and they slaughtered the Canaanites and the Perizzites. 6 Then Adoni-Bezek fled, and they pursued him and caught him and cut off his thumbs and big toes. 7 And Adoni-Bezek said, “Seventy kings with their thumbs and big toes cut off used to gather the things under my table; God has repaid me for what I have done.” They then brought him to Jerusalem, where he died.

Judah Defeats Jerusalem and Hebron

8 Now the sons of Judah fought against Jerusalem, and captured it by striking it with the edge of the sword and setting the city on fire. 9 Afterward the sons of Judah went down to fight against the Canaanites who dwelt in the mountains, in the plains of the South. 10 Then Judah went against the Canaanites who dwelt in Hebron, and Hebron—previously called Kirjath Arba—went out against them. And they struck Sheshai, Ahiman, and Talmai, descendants of Enak.

Othniel Captures Debir

11 From there they went up against the inhabitants of Debir—previously called Kirjath Sepher, the City of Letters. 12 Then Caleb said, “Whoever attacks the City of Letters and takes it, to him I will give my daughter Achsah as wife.” 13 And Othniel the younger son of Kenaz, Caleb’s younger brother, took it; so Caleb gave him his daughter Achsah as wife. 14 And it came to be at the reception, Othniel urged her to ask her father for a field; and she complained and cried out from her donkey, “You have delivered me into a southern land.” And Caleb responded to her, “What is your request?” [15]So Achsah said to him, “Give me a blessing; since you have delivered me into a southern land, give me the water as well.” And Caleb gave her the upper springs and the lower springs, as was the desire of her heart.

The Efforts of Judah and Benjamin

[16]Now the sons of the Kenite, Moses’ father-in-law, went up from the City of Palms with the sons of Judah into the desert of Judah, in the south of Judah, at the descent of Arad; and they went and dwelt with the people. [17]And Judah went with his brother Simeon, and they attacked the Canaanites who inhabited Zephath and utterly destroyed them. So the city was called Accursed. [18]And Judah did not inherit Gaza nor her coasts, nor Ashkelon with its territory, nor Accaron nor her coasts, nor Ekron with its territory. [19]The Lord was with Judah, and he inherited the mountain; for they could not completely destroy the inhabitants of the lowland, because Rechab prevented it. [20]And they gave Hebron to Caleb, as Moses had said, and after this he inherited the three cities of the sons of Anak. [21]But the sons of Benjamin did not secure the Jebusites who dwelt in Jerusalem; so the Jebusites dwell with the sons of Benjamin in Jerusalem until this day.

The Conquest of Bethel

[22]And the sons of Joseph also went up to Bethel, and the Lord was with them. [23]Then they set up camp and spied on Bethel—previously named Luz. [24]And when the spies looked, they noticed a man leaving the city and they seized him and said to him, “Show us the entrance to the city and we will be merciful to you.” [25]And he showed them the entrance to the city, and they struck the city with the edge of the sword, but they let the man and his family leave. [26]And the man escaped to the land of the Hittites, where he built a city he called Luz. This is its name to this day.

Campaigns Left Undone

[27]However, Manasseh did not drive out the inhabitants of Beth Shean, a city of Scythians, nor her towns and suburbs, nor Taanach and her suburbs, nor the inhabitants of Dor and its suburbs, nor the inhabitants of Balak and its daughters, nor the inhabitants of Megiddo and its suburbs and its daughters, nor the inhabitants of Jeblaham and its suburbs and its daughters; indeed, the Canaanites began to dwell in this land. [28]And when Israel became strong, they put the Canaanites under forced labor, but they did not drive them out completely.

[29]Ephraim did not drive out the Canaanites who dwelt in Gezer; so the Canaanites dwelt in the midst of them in Gezer and paid taxes. [30]Nor did Zebulun drive out the inhabitants of Kitron, nor the inhabitants of Domana; so the Canaanites dwelt in the midst of them and paid taxes.

[31]Nor did Asher drive out the inhabitants of Acco, though they did pay taxes to them, nor the inhabitants of Dor, nor the inhabitants of Sidon, nor the inhabitants of Ahlab, Achzib, Helbah, Nai, or Ereo. [32]So Asher dwelt in the midst of the Canaanites, the inhabitants of the land; for he was not able to drive them out.

[33]Nor did Naphtali drive out the inhabitants of Beth Shemesh, nor the inhabitants of Beth Anath; but Naphtali dwelt among the Canaanites, the inhabitants of the land. Nevertheless, the inhabitants of Beth Shemesh and Beth Anath paid taxes to them.

[34]And the Amorites forced the sons of Dan into the mountains, for they would not allow them to come down to the valley. [35]And the Amorites began to dwell in the mountain of the myrtle-grove, where there were bears and foxes; yet the hand of the house of Joseph was heavy upon the Amorite, and he came to pay tribute to them. [36]Now the boundary of the Amorites went upward from the Ascent of Akrabbim, from the Rock.

Judges 2

The Place of Weeping

[1]Then the Angel of the Lord came up from Gilgal to the place of weeping, and to Bethel and to the house of Israel, and said to them, “Thus says the Lord: I led you up from Egypt and brought you to the land I promised your fathers; and I said, ‘I will never break My covenant with you. [2]And you shall make no covenant with the inhabitants of this land; nor shall you worship their gods, but you will destroy their graven images and you shall tear down their altars.’ But you did not obey My voice, for you did these things. [3]Therefore I also said, ‘I will not drive them out before you, and they shall become as snares, and their gods shall be a cause for stumbling for you.’ ” [4]When the Angel of the Lord spoke these words to all the sons of Israel, the people lifted up their voices and wept. [5]And they called that place the Place of Weeping; and there they made a sacrifice to the Lord.

Death of Joshua

[6]And when Joshua had dismissed the people, each man went to his inheritance to take possession of his land. [7]So the people served the Lord all the days of Joshua, and all the days of the elders who outlived Joshua, who saw every great deed the Lord did for Israel. [8]Now Joshua the son of Nun, the servant of the Lord, died at one hundred and ten years old. [9]And they buried him within the border of his inheritance at Timnath Heres, on Mount Ephraim, on the north side of Mount Gaash. [10]And when all that generation were laid with their fathers, another generation arose after them who did not know the Lord, nor the work He had done for Israel.

Israel Follows False Gods

[11]Then the sons of Israel did evil before the Lord and served the Baals. [12]They forsook the Lord God of their fathers, who had brought them out of the land of Egypt; they followed other gods from among the gods of the nations all around them, and they bowed down to them. They provoked the Lord to anger. [13]They forsook Him and served Baal and the Ashtoreths. [14]And the Lord was enraged with anger at Israel. So He delivered them into the hands of plunderers, who ravaged them and sold them into the hands of their enemies all around. As a result they could no longer stand before their enemies. [15]Whenever they went out, the hand of the Lord was against them for calamity, as the Lord had spoken, and as the Lord had sworn to them. He greatly distressed them.

[16]Nevertheless, the Lord raised up judges and the Lord saved them from the hand of those who plundered them. [17]But even so, they would not listen to their judges, but instead they played the harlot with other gods and bowed down to them. They turned quickly from the way in which their fathers had walked in obeying the commandments of the Lord; they did not do so. [18]And the Lord raised up judges for them, the Lord was with the judge and delivered them out of the hand of their enemies all the days of the judge; for the Lord was moved by their groaning because of those who besieged them and harassed them. [19]And when the judge was dead, they went back to their former ways and behaved more corruptly than their fathers, by following other gods, serving them, and bowing down to them. They did not reject their pursuits nor their stubborn ways.

[20]Then the Lord was enraged with anger at Israel; and He said, “Because this nation set aside My covenant which I commanded their fathers, and has not heeded My voice, [21]therefore I will not drive away from your presence any more of the men Joshua the son of Nun left in the land.” And the Lord left them, [22]to test Israel by them, to see whether they would keep the ways of the Lord, to walk in them and keep them as their fathers did. [23]Therefore the Lord left those nations without driving them out immediately; and He did not deliver them into the hand of Joshua.

Nations Left in Canaan

[1]Now these are the nations the Lord left so that He might test Israel by them, that is, all who did not experience firsthand any of the wars in Canaan [2](only for the sake of the generations of Israel, to teach them warfare; only those who did not previously experience it): [3]the five provinces of the foreign nations, and every Canaanite, and the Sidonites, and the Hivites who dwelt in Lebanon, from Mount Hermon to Laboemath. [4]And it was so that He might test Israel by them, to know whether they would hear the commandments of the Lord which He commanded their fathers by the hand of Moses. [5]Thus the sons of Israel dwelt among the Canaanites, the Hittites, the Amorites, the Perizzites, the Hivites, and the Jebusites. [6]And they took their daughters to be their wives, and gave their daughters to their sons; and they served their gods.

Othniel

[7]In this way the sons of Israel did evil in the sight of the Lord. They forgot the Lord their God, and served the Baals and the sacred groves. [8]Therefore the Lord was enraged with anger at Israel, and He sold them into the hand of Cushan-Rishathaim king of Syria of the rivers; and the sons of Israel served Cushan-Rishathaim for eight years. [9]When the sons of Israel cried out to the Lord, the Lord raised up a savior for Israel and saved them, that is, Othniel the son of Kenaz, the younger brother of Caleb. [10]And the Spirit of the Lord came upon him, and he judged Israel. He went out to war against Cushan-Rishathaim, and the Lord delivered Cushan-Rishathaim king of Syria of the rivers into his hand; and his hand prevailed over Cushan-Rishathaim. [11]Then the land remained at peace for forty years. Then Othniel the son of Kenaz died.

Ehud

12 And the sons of Israel again did evil before the Lord. So the Lord strengthened Eglon king of Moab against Israel, because they had done evil in the sight of the Lord. 13 Then he gathered to himself all the sons of Ammon and Amalek, and went and struck Israel, and took possession of the City of Palms. 14 So the sons of Israel served Eglon king of Moab for eighteen years.

15 But when the sons of Israel cried out to the Lord, the Lord raised up a savior for them, that is, Ehud the son of Gera, the son of Benjamin, a man equally adept with both of his hands. By his hand, the sons of Israel sent gifts to Eglon king of Moab. 16 Now Ehud made himself a double-edged dagger, a cubit in length, and fastened it under his clothes on his right thigh. 17 So he went forth and brought the gifts to Eglon king of Moab. Now Eglon was a fat man. 18 When Ehud had finished presenting the gifts, he sent away the people who had carried the gifts. 19 But he himself turned back from the carved images near Gilgal, and Ehud said, “I have a secret message for you, O king.”
And Eglon said to him, “Keep silence!” And he sent away all his attendants.

20 And Ehud went with him to the upper summer chamber, where he could sit by himself. Then Ehud said, “I have the word of God for you, O king.” So Eglon arose from his throne near him. 21 At the moment he arose, Ehud reached with his left hand, took the dagger from his right thigh, and thrust it into his belly, 22 driving it in so the handle went in after the blade, until the fat closed over the blade. He did not draw the dagger out of his belly. 23 And Ehud left the porch and passed by the guards stationed there, having shut the doors of the upper room behind him and locked them. 24 After he was gone, the king’s servants went in and noticed the doors of the upper room were locked. So they said, “He is probably relieving himself in the summer chamber.” 25 So they waited till they were embarrassed, and he had still not opened the doors of the upper room. They took the key and entered, and there was their master, fallen dead on the floor.

26 But Ehud had escaped while they were in confusion, and thus no one paid any attention to him. So he passed beyond the carved images and escaped to Seirah. 27 And when Ehud came into the land of Israel, he blew the trumpet in the mountains of Ephraim, and the sons of Israel went down with him from the mountains; and he stood before them. 28 And he said to them, “Come down after me, for the Lord God has delivered our enemies the Moabites into our hand.” So they followed him and seized the fords of the Jordan leading to Moab, and did not allow anyone to cross over. 29At that time they struck about ten thousand men of Moab, all men of strength; not a man escaped. 30So Moab was put to shame that day under the hand of Israel. Indeed, the land remained at peace for eighty years. And Ehud judged them until he died.

Shamgar

31After him, Shamgar the son of Dinach rose up, and he struck six hundred men of the Philistines with the ploughshare of the oxen. He too delivered Israel.

Judges 4

Deborah and Barak

1The sons of Israel continued to do evil before the Lord, and Ehud was dead, 2so the Lord sold them into the hand of Jabin king of Canaan, who reigned in Hazor. The commander of his army was Sisera, who dwelt in Harosheth of the Gentiles. 3And the sons of Israel cried out to the Lord; for Jabin had nine hundred iron chariots with him, and for twenty years he oppressed Israel with his power.

4Now Deborah, a prophetess, the wife of Lapidoth, was judge of Israel at that time. 5And Deborah would sit under the palm tree between Ramah and Bethel on Mount Ephraim. And the sons of Israel came up to her for justice. 6Then Deborah sent and called for Barak the son of Abinoam from Kedesh Naphtali, and said to him, “Has not the Lord God of Israel commanded, ‘Go to Mount Tabor and take with you ten thousand men of the sons of Naphtali and of the sons of Zebulun. 7and I will bring to you, at the brook of Kishon, the captain of the army of Jabin, with his chariots and his multitude, and I will deliver them into your hands’?” 8And Barak said to her, “If you go with me, then I will go; but if you do not go with me, I will remain here, for I am unable to discern the day when the Angel of the Lord will help me.” 9She said, “Certainly I will go with you; but know this: there will be no honor gained by you on the journey you are undertaking, for the Lord will sell Sisera into the hand of a woman.”

Then Deborah arose and went with Barak from Kedesh. [10]Barak called Zebulun and Naphtali from Kedesh, and went from there with ten thousand men following him. Deborah went up with him. [11]Now Heber the Kenite, of the sons of Hobab, the father-in-law of Moses, moved away from the Kenites and pitched his tent upon arriving at the oak tree of coveting, which is near Kedesh. [12]And they reported to Sisera that Barak the son of Abinoam had gone up to Mount Tabor. [13]So Sisera called all his chariots, nine hundred iron chariots, and all the people who were with him, from Harosheth of the Gentiles to the brook of Kishon.

[14]Then Deborah said to Barak, “Rise up. For this is the day the Lord will deliver Sisera into your hand, because the Lord has gone out before you.” So Barak went down from Mount Tabor with ten thousand men following him. [15]And the Lord routed Sisera and all his chariots and all his army with the edge of the sword before Barak; and Sisera got down from his chariot and fled on foot. [16]But Barak pursued the chariots behind the camp as far as Harosheth of the Gentiles, and the whole camp of Sisera fell by the edge of the sword; not a man was left.

[17]But Sisera fled on foot to the tent of Jael, the wife of Heber the Kenite, his friend; for there was peace between Jabin king of Hazor and the house of Heber the Kenite. [18]And Jael went out to meet Sisera and said to him, “Turn aside, my lord, turn aside to me; do not fear.” And when he had turned aside with her, entering into the tent, she covered him with a blanket. [19]Then Sisera said to her, “Please give me a little water to drink, for I am thirsty.” So she opened a jug of milk, gave him a drink, and covered him. [20]And Sisera said to her, “Stand at the door of the tent, and if any man comes to you and inquires of you, and says, ‘Is there a man here?’ you shall say, ‘There is not.’ ”

[21]Then Jael, Heber’s wife, took a tent peg and a hammer in her hand, and went quietly to him and drove the peg into his temple, and it went down into the ground. He was asleep, lost consciousness, and died. [22]And then as Barak pursued Sisera, Jael came out to meet him and said to him, “Come, I will show you the man whom you seek.” And when he went in with her, there lay Sisera, dead with the peg in his temple. [23]So on that day God routed Jabin king of Canaan before the sons of Israel. [24]And the hand of the sons of Israel proceeded and hardened against Jabin king of Canaan, until they had utterly destroyed Jabin king of Canaan.

The Song of Deborah and Barak

[1]Then Deborah and Barak the son of Abinoam sang on that day, saying,

[2]A revelation was made known in Israel
To the people who were willing, bless the Lord!
[3]O kings, receive the news! O princes, listen closely!
I, even I, will sing to the Lord;
I will sing a psalm to the Lord God of Israel.
[4]Lord, when You went out in Seir,
When You left from the field of Edom,
The earth trembled and the heavens poured dew,
The clouds poured water;
[5]The mountains were shaken before the Lord Eloi,
This Sinai, before the Lord God of Israel.
[6]In the days of Shamgar son of Anath, in the days of Jael,
They deserted the main road and traveled the byways,
Corrupting the way as they went.
[7]The mighty of Israel failed, they came to an end;
Until Deborah, whom He raised;
Until a mother whom He raised in Israel.
[8]They chose new gods;
Then the cities of the rulers waged war;
Not a shield or a spear was seen
Among the forty thousand in Israel.
[9]My heart is with the leaders of Israel;
To those among the people who freely sacrifice, bless the Lord!
[10]You who mount upon a female donkey at midday,
Sitting on the seat of judgment,
Who conduct your life on the road, mediating along the way, [11]Turn back and shout out every detail
While drawing up water;
There, in that place, what is rightful to the Lord is given,
Spreading righteousness in Israel.
Then the people of the Lord came down to the cities.

[12]Awake, awake, Deborah!
Awake, awake, sing a song!
Arise, Barak, O son of Abinoam,
And lead your host of captives captive!
[13]Then the remnant came down to the mighty;
The people of the Lord came down to him, to the mighty.
[14]My Ephraim rooted them out in Amalek;
O Benjamin, your people were behind you.
Machir came to know more about Me,
And from Zebulun, those able to record with the pen of a scribe.
[15]And the princes in Issachar were with Deborah and Barak,
So she sent Barak into the valley by foot.
Among the regions of Reuben
There were great resolves of heart.
[16]Why go up to sit in the midst of the sheepfold,
To hear the trumpet of the angels?
In the divisions of Reuben
There were great searchings of heart.
[17]Gilead is beyond the Jordan, where he made his dwelling;
Why did Dan remain on the ships?
Asher sat down on the seashore,
And he will dwell at his seaports.
[18]The people of Zebulun reproached its soul unto death,
And Naphtali denounced the high places of the fields.
[19]Kings set themselves in battle array;
Then the kings of Canaan waged war in Taanach,
By the waters of Megiddo;
They took no gift of silver.
[20]The stars of the heavens were arrayed for battle;
On their path they arrayed themselves to war against Sisera.
[21]The brook of Kishon swept them away,
That ancient brook, the brook of Kishon;
My mighty soul will trample him down.
[22]When the hooves of the horses were fettered,
In earnest his mighty ones hastened.
[23]Curse Meroz, said the angel of the Lord, curse them,
Cursed is every one who dwells there,

Because they did not come to the help of the Lord,
To the help of the Lord against the mighty.
24Jael is blessed among women,
The wife of Heber the Kenite;
Blessed is she from among the women in tents.
25He requested water, she gave him milk in a dish;
Surpassing this, she offered butter.
26She stretched her left hand to the tent peg,
Her right hand to the workmen's hammer;
She drove the nail through his head with a hammer;
She put the nail into his temple.
27He rolled down between her feet;
He fell and lay between her feet;
He bent over and fell;
When he sat down there, he fell, departing life.
28The mother of Sisera peered out through the archer's window;
For his chariot is not where it should be,
For the feet of his chariot's horses tarry.
29The wise of her leading ladies answered her,
And she answered to herself,
30Will they not find him dividing the spoil;
The merciful having compassion for the head of a man;
Spoils of the dyed garments for Sisera;
The spoils of dyed embroidery,
Embroiderer's dyes as spoils for his neck?
31O Lord, let all Your enemies perish in the way;
And those desiring Him, be as the coming out of His sun in power.
And let the land be at peace for forty years.

Judges 6

The People of Midian Oppress Israel

1Then the sons of Israel did evil before the Lord, and the Lord delivered them into the hand of Midian for seven years, 2and the hand of Midian prevailed against Israel. The sons of Israel made dens for themselves in the mountains and caves, and strongholds away from the presence of the Midianites. [3]So it was, whenever the sons of Israel had sown, Midianites would come up, and the Amalekites and the sons of the East would come up with them. [4]Then they encamped against them and destroyed the fruits of the earth until they came to Gaza, and left no substance of life in the land of Israel, not even an ox or a donkey among the herds. [5]For they came up with their livestock and their tents, and appeared just as numerous as locusts; they and their camels were without number; and they came into the land of Israel and destroyed it. [6]And Israel was exceedingly destitute before the face of the Midianites, and the sons of Israel cried out to the Lord [7]because of the presence of the Midianites.

[8]And the Lord sent a prophet to the sons of Israel, who said to them, “Thus says the Lord God of Israel, ‘I am He who brought you up from Egypt and brought you out of the house of your bondage; [9]and I delivered you out of the hand of the Egyptians and out of the hand of all who oppressed you, and drove them out before you and gave you their land. [10]And I said to you, I am the Lord your God; do not fear the gods of the Amorites, in whose land you dwell. But you did not obey My voice.’ ”

Gideon

[11]Now the Angel of the Lord came and sat under the terebinth tree in Ephrathah which belonged to Joash the father of Esdri, while his son Gideon threshed wheat in the winepress in order to hide from the presence of the Midianites. [12]And the Angel of the Lord appeared to him and said to him, “The Lord is with you, mighty one of the armies!” [13]Gideon said to Him, “It is I, my Lord? If the Lord is with us, why then have these evils come upon us? And where are all His miracles which our fathers told us about, saying, ‘Did not the Lord bring us up from Egypt?’ But now the Lord has driven us out and delivered us into the hands of the Midianites.” [14]Then the Angel of the Lord turned to him and said, “Go with this strength of yours, and you shall save Israel from the hand of the Midianites. Indeed, I have sent you.”

[15]And Gideon said to Him, “Be gracious with me, my Lord, for how can I save Israel? My thousand is weakened in Manasseh, and I am the smallest in my father’s house.” [16]And the Angel of the Lord said to him, “The Lord will be with you, and you shall strike the Midianites as one man.” [17]Then Gideon said to Him, “If now I have found mercy in Your sight, then You shall do everything for me today that You have told me. [18]Do not leave here, I pray, until I come to You and I will bring out my offering and set it before You." And He said, "I am. I will wait until you come back." [19]So Gideon went in and prepared a goat kid, and unleavened bread from an ephah of flour. He put the meat in a basket, and he put the broth in a pot; and he brought them out to Him under the terebinth tree and approached.

[20]The Angel of God said to him, "Take the meat and the unleavened bread and lay them on this rock, and pour out the broth." And he did so. [21]Then the Angel of the Lord stretched out the end of the staff that was in his hand and touched the meat and the unleavened bread; and fire rose out of the rock and consumed the meat and the unleavened bread. And the Angel of the Lord departed out of his sight.

[22]Now Gideon perceived this was the Angel of the Lord. So Gideon said, "O Lord, my Lord! For I have seen the Angel of the Lord face to face." [23]Then the Lord said to him, "Peace be with you; do not fear, you shall not die." [24]So Gideon built an altar there to the Lord, and called it the Peace of the Lord. To this day it is still in Ephratha of the father of Esdri.

[25]Now that same night the Lord said to him, "Take your father's young bull, and the second calf of seven years old, and tear down your father's altar to Baal, and destroy the sacred grove beside it. [26]Build an altar to the Lord your God on top of this stronghold in the proper arrangement, and take the second calf and offer a burnt sacrifice with the wood of the sacred grove which you cut down." [27]So Gideon took ten men from among his servants and did as the Lord had told him. But because he feared his father's household and the men of the city too much to do it by day, he did it by night. [28]And when the men of the city arose early in the morning, the altar of Baal was torn down; and the sacred grove beside it was destroyed, and they saw the second bull being offered on the altar which had been built.

[29]And one man said to his neighbor, "Who did this?" Then they inquired and learned that Gideon the son of Joash had done it. [30]Then the men of the city said to Joash, "Bring out your son and let him die, because he tore down the altar of Baal, and because he destroyed the sacred grove beside it." [31]But Joash said to all the men who stood against him, "Are you now going to plead for Baal? Do you want to save him? Let the one who wants to plead for Baal be put to death by morning! If he is a god, because his altar is torn down, let him plead for himself!" [32]Therefore on that day he called him Jerubbaal, saying, "Let Baal plead against him, for it is his altar that is torn

33Then all the Midianites and Amalekites, the sons of the East, gathered together and encamped in the Valley of Jezreel. 34But the Spirit of the Lord empowered Gideon, and he blew the trumpet, and the Abiezrites were terrified behind him. 35And he sent messengers throughout all Manasseh and to Asher, and to Zebulun, and Naphtali; and he went up to meet them.

The Dewy Fleece

36So Gideon said to God, “If You save Israel by my hand as You said, 37then look, I shall put a fleece of wool on the threshing floor. If there is dew on the fleece only, and it is dry on all the ground, then I shall know that You will save Israel by my hand, as You said.” 38And it was so. And he rose early the next morning and wrung the fleece and from the fleece dropped enough dew to fill a pan full of water. 39Then Gideon said to God, “Indeed, I pray, do not let Your anger be aroused at me, and I will speak but once; I will yet make one more trial with the fleece. This time, let it be dry on the fleece, but let there be dew all over the ground.” 40And that night God made it so; on the fleece it was completely dry, but there was dew all over the ground.

Judges 7

Gideon’s Three Hundred Defeat the Midianites

1Then Jerubbaal—that is, Gideon—and all the people with him rose early and encamped at the spring of Harod. To the north of him was the camp of the Midianites, stretching from Gabaath Moreh in the deep valley. 2And the Lord said to Gideon, “The people with you are too numerous; I dare not deliver Midian into their hand, lest otherwise Israel boast against Me, saying, ‘This my own hand, it saved me.’ 3Now therefore, proclaim within the hearing of the people, saying, ‘Whoever is fearful and afraid, let him turn and depart at once from Mount Gilead.’ ” And twenty-two thousand of the people returned, and ten thousand remained.

4But the Lord said to Gideon, “There are still too many people; bring them down to the water, and there I will purge them for you. And it will be that of whomever I say to you, ‘This one shall go with you,’ the same shall go with you. And of whomever I say to you, ‘This one shall not go with you,’ the same shall not go with you.” 5So he brought the people down to the water.

And the Lord said to Gideon, “Everyone who laps water with his tongue, as a dog laps, you shall set apart by himself; likewise everyone who gets down on his knees to drink.” 6And the number of those who lapped, putting their hand to their mouth, was three hundred men; but all the rest of the people got down on their knees to drink water. 7Then the Lord said to Gideon, “By the three hundred men who lapped I will save you, and deliver the Midianites into your hand. All the other people shall go, every man to his own place.” 8So they took the provision of the people in their hand, and their trumpets; and he sent away every man of Israel, every man to his tent, and he strengthened the three hundred. And the army of Midian was below him in the deep valley.

9On that same night the Lord said to him, “Arise, go down against the camp, for I have delivered it into your hand. 10But if you are afraid to go down, go down to the camp with Purah your servant. 11Listen to what they shall say, and afterward your hands shall be strong and you shall then go down into the camp.” And he went down with Purah his servant to the edge of the camp of the fifty. 12And Midian and Amalek and all the sons of the East were scattered as numerous as locusts throughout the valley; and their camels were without number, as the sands on the seashore.

13And Gideon came, and there was a man telling his companion a dream. He said, “Behold, I had a dream. Hear me: A cake of barley bread rolling into the camp of Midian came as far as a tent and struck it so that it fell, flipped over, and collapsed.” 14Then his companion answered and said, “This is nothing but the sword of Gideon the son of Joash, a man of Israel! Into his hand God has delivered Midian and the entire camp.”

15When Gideon heard the telling of the dream and its interpretation, he worshiped the Lord. He returned to the camp of Israel and said, “Arise, for the Lord has delivered the camp of Midian into our hand.” 16Then he divided the three hundred men into three companies and put a trumpet into every man’s hand, with empty pitchers, and torches inside the pitchers.

17And he said to them, “Watch me and do as I do; watch, and when I come to the edge of the camp, do as I do. 18When I blow the trumpet, I and all who are with me, then you also blow the trumpets on every side of the whole camp, and shout, ‘For the Lord and for Gideon!’ ” 19So Gideon and the hundred men who were with him came to the edge of the camp at the beginning of the middle watch, and they completely roused the guards. And they blew the trumpets and broke the pitchers that were in their hands, 20and the three companies sounded the trumpets and broke the pitchers and held the

In their right hands they held their trumpets to sound with, and they cried out, “A sword for the Lord and for Gideon!” 21And every man stood in his place round about the camp; and the entire army of men ran and sounded a warning and fled. 22They sounded with three hundred trumpets, and the Lord set every man’s sword against his neighbor throughout the entire camp; and the army fled as far as Beth Acacia, toward Zererah, as far as the border of Abel Meholah, by Tabbath. 23And the men of Israel, from Naphtali, from Asher, and from all Manasseh, shouted out and pursued after the Midianites.

24Gideon sent messengers throughout all Mount Ephraim, saying, “Come down to meet in battle with the Midianites, and take for yourselves the watering places as far as Beth Barah and the River Jordan.” And every man of Ephraim cried out, and they seized the water as far as Beth Barah and the River Jordan. 25And they captured Oreb and Zeeb, rulers in Midian. They killed Oreb at the rock of Oreb, and Zeeb they killed at the winepress of Zeeb. They pursued Midian and brought the heads of Oreb and Zeeb to Gideon from the other side of the Jordan.

Judges 8

Israel Delivered from the Midianites

1The men of Ephraim said to Gideon, “Why did you not tell us what you were doing when you went to war with Midian?” They reprimanded him sharply. 2So he said to them, “What could I do in comparison with what you now do? Is not the gleaning of the grapes of Ephraim better than the vintage of Abiezer? 3The Lord has delivered into your hands the princes of Midian, Oreb and Zeeb. And what could I do in comparison with what you do?” Their spirit toward him became calm when he spoke this word.

4When Gideon came to the River Jordan, he and the three hundred men with him crossed over—hungry, but still pursuing. 5Then he said to the men of Succoth, “Please give bread to feed this army of men that follow me, for they are exhausted, and I am pursuing Zebah and Zalmunna, kings of Midian.” 6And the leaders of Succoth said, “Is the hand of Zebah and Zalmunna now in your hand, that we should give bread to your army?”

7So Gideon said, “Therefore when the Lord has delivered Zebah and Zalmunna into my hand, I will then tear your flesh with the thorns of the wilderness and with the brier bush!” 8From there he went up to Penuel, requesting the same and in the same way. The men of Penuel answered him as the men of Succoth previously answered. 9And Gideon said to the men of Penuel, “When I return in peace, I will tear down this tower!”

10Now Zebah and Zalmunna were at Karkor with their armies, about fifteen thousand, all that remained of the entire army of foreigners; they that fell were one hundred twenty thousand men who drew the sword. 11Then Gideon traveled the road eastward of Nobah and Jogbehah, to where they dwelt in tents. Here he smote the army, and the camp was surrendering.
12Zebah and Zalmunna fled, and he pursued them, capturing the two kings of Midian, Zebah and Zalmunna. The last of the army was caught by surprise.

13And Gideon the son of Joash returned from the battle, down from the battle line of Ares. 14And he took prisoner a young man of the men of Succoth to interrogate him; and he wrote down for Gideon the names of the leaders of Succoth and of their elders, seventy-seven men. 15Then Gideon came to the rulers of Succoth and said, “Look. Here are Zebah and Zalmunna, about whom you reproached me, saying, ‘Is the hand of Zebah and Zalmunna now in your hand that we should give bread to your army?’ ” 16And he seized the elders of the city, with the thorns of the wilderness and with the sharp thorns, and with them he flailed the men of the city. 17Then he tore down the tower of Penuel and killed the men of the city.

18And he said to Zebah and Zalmunna, “Where are the men you killed at Tabor?” And they said, “As you are, so they were in the appearance of a king’s son.” 19Then Gideon said, “They were my brothers and the sons of my mother. As the Lord lives, if you had kept them alive, I would not kill you.” 20And he said to Jether his firstborn, “Rise and kill them!” But the youth would not draw his sword, for he was afraid; for he was yet very young. 21So Zebah and Zalmunna said, “You rise up and face us, for your strength is that of a man.” So Gideon arose and killed Zebah and Zalmunna, and took the crescent ornaments from their camels’ necks.

22Then the men of Israel said to Gideon, “Rule over us, both you and your son, for you have delivered us from the hand of Midian.” 23But Gideon said to them, “I will not rule over you, nor shall my son rule over you. The Lord shall rule over you.” 24Then Gideon said to them, “I would like to make a request of you, that each man would give me an earring from his plunder.”
For they had gold earrings, because they were Ishmaelites. 25So they said, “We will gladly give them.” And he spread out his garment and each man threw down an earring from his plunder. [26]Now the weight of the gold earrings which he requested was one thousand five hundred pieces of gold, besides the crescent ornaments, pendants, garments, and purple robes worn by the kings of Midian, and the chains around the necks of their camels.

[27]Then Gideon made it into an ephod and made a memorial of it in his city of Ephratha. Hereafter, Israel indulged in all types of sinful acts because of it. And to Gideon and to his house, it became a thorn. [28]Thus Midian was reduced in stature before the sons of Israel, and they lifted their heads no more. The country remained at peace for forty years in the days of Gideon. [29]Then Jerubbaal the son of Joash went and dwelled in his own house.

Death of Gideon

[30]And Gideon begot seventy sons of his own, for he had many wives. [31]And his concubine who was in Shechem also bore him a son, whom he called Abimelech. [32]Now Gideon the son of Joash died in his city, and was buried in the tomb of Joash his father, in Ephratha of the Abiezrites.

[33]So it was, as soon as Gideon was dead, the sons of Israel again played the harlot with the Baals, and made a covenant for themselves with Baal that he would be their god. [34]Thus the sons of Israel choose to no longer remember the Lord their God, He who had delivered them from the hand of all their enemies on every side; [35]nor did they show mercy to the house of Jerubbaal—that is, Gideon—in accordance with all the good he accomplished for Israel.

Judges 9

Abimelech Seeks to Be King

[1]Abimelech son of Jerubbaal went to Shechem, to his mother's brothers, and he spoke to them and to everyone in the family of his mother's father, saying, [2]"I pray you to ask in the hearing of all the men of Shechem, 'Which is better for you, for all seventy of the sons of Jerubbaal to reign over you, or for one to reign over you?' Remember, I am of your own bone and flesh." [3]And his mother's brothers spoke all these words concerning him in the hearing of all the men of Shechem; and their heart was inclined to follow Abimelech, for they said, "He is our brother." [4]They gave him seventy shekels of silver from the house of Baal-Berith, and Abimelech hired for himself vain and cowardly men; and they followed him. [5]Then he went into his father's house at Ephratha and killed his brothers, the seventy sons of Jerubbaal, seventy men upon one stone. But Jotham the youngest son of Jerubbaal was left, for he hid himself.

Jotham Makes His Plea

[6]All the men of Shechem and all the house of Beth Millo gathered, and they went ahead and made Abimelech king by the oak of Sedition at Shechem. [7]It was reported to Jotham, and he went and stood on top of Mount Gerizim and lifted his voice and wept, and said to them, "Hear me, you men of Shechem, and God will hear you. [8]One day, the trees once went forth to anoint a king over them. And they said to the olive tree, 'Reign over us!' [9]But the olive tree said to them, 'Should I cease giving my richness, with which men will glorify God, and go to be placed over the trees?' [10]Then the trees said to the fig tree, 'You come and reign over us!' [11]But the fig tree said to them, 'Should I cease my sweetness and my good fruit, and go to be placed over the trees?' [12]Then the trees said to the vine, 'You come and reign over us!' [13]But the vine said to them, 'Should I cease my wine, which cheers both God and men, and go to be placed over the trees?' [14]Then all the trees said to the bramble, 'You come and reign over us!' [15]And the bramble said to the trees, 'If in truth you anoint me as king over you, then come and take shelter in my shade; but if not, may fire come from me and devour the cedars of Lebanon!'

[16]"And now, if you have acted in truth and integrity, and have made Abimelech king, and if you have dealt well with Jerubbaal and with his house, and if you have done to him according to the reward of his hand, [17]as my father fought in war for you, and put his life in jeopardy, and delivered you out of the hand of Midian; [18]but you have risen up against my father's house today, and killed his seventy sons upon one stone, and made Abimelech, the son of his bondwoman, king over the men of Shechem, because he is your brother. [19]If then you have acted in truth and faithfully with Jerubbaal and with his house this day, then rejoice in Abimelech, and let him rejoice over you as well. [20]But if not, let fire come from Abimelech and devour the men of Shechem and the house of Beth Millo; and let fire come from the men of Shechem and from the house of Beth Millo and devour Abimelech!" [21]And Jotham fled and ran away. He went as far as Beer and dwelt there out of the way of his brother Abimelech.

Abimelech in Decline

22 After Abimelech had reigned over Israel three years, 23 God sent a wicked spirit between Abimelech and the men of Shechem. And the men of Shechem rejected the house of Abimelech, 24 to bring the injustice done to the seventy sons of Jerubbaal, and to lay their blood upon Abimelech their brother, who killed them; and on the men of Shechem, who strengthened his hands to slay his brothers. 25 And the men of Shechem set men in ambush against Abimelech on the mountaintops. They robbed everyone who passed by them on the way so it would be reported to King Abimelech.

26 Now Gaal the son of Ebed came with his brothers, and they passed by Shechem, and the men of Shechem trusted him. 27 And they went out into the fields and gathered their grapes, and trod them and made merry. And they went into the house of their god, and ate and drank and cursed Abimelech.
28 Then Gaal the son of Ebed said, “Who is Abimelech, and who is this son of Shechem that we should serve him? Is he not the son of Jerubbaal, and is not Zebul his steward, his servant with the son of Hamor the father of Shechem?
And why should we serve him? 29 And if it were so that this people were under my hand, then I would remove Abimelech. Indeed, I would say to him, ‘Multiply the strength of your army and come out!’ ”

30 When Zebul, the ruler of the city, heard the words of Gaal the son of Jobel, his anger was aroused. 31 And in secret he sent messengers to Abimelech, saying, “Listen carefully! Gaal the son of Jobel and his brothers have come to Shechem; and be warned, in the area around the city they stir up trouble against you. 32 Now get up by night, you and the people with you, and lie in wait in the field. 33 And early in the morning, at the same time the sun rises, move your battle line toward the city; and behold, he and the people with him will come out against you, and you shall do to him as much as is in your power.”

34 So Abimelech and all the people with him rose by night, and, with four companies, they lay in wait against Shechem. 35 Gaal the son of Jobel went out and stood at the door of the gate of the city, and Abimelech and the people with him rose from the place of ambush. 36 And when Gaal the son of Jobel saw the people, he said to Zebul, “Look, a people are coming down from the top of the mountain!” But Zebul said to him, “You see the shadows of the mountains as being men.” 37 Gaal still continued to speak and said, “See, people are coming down toward the sea from the center of the land, and another company is coming from the way of Elonmaonenim.”

[38]Then Zebul said to him, “Where indeed is your mouth now, for you said, ‘Who is Abimelech, that we should serve him?’ Are not these the people whom you despised? Go out, if you will, and fight with him now.” [39]So Gaal went out before the men of Shechem and warred with Abimelech. [40]But Abimelech chased him, and Gaal fled before him; and many fell wounded, even up to the door of the gate. [41]Then Abimelech went into Arumah, and Zebul drove out Gaal and his brothers, so they could not dwell in Shechem.

[42]On the next day the people went out into the field and reported to Abimelech. [43]So he took the people, divided them into three companies, and placed them in ambush in the field. He looked, and there were the people coming out of the city; and he rose against them and attacked them. [44]Then Abimelech and the leaders with him charged forward and stood at the door of the city gate; and the other two companies charged forward against all those in the fields and smote them. [45]Abimelech fought against the city all that day and took the city, killing the people in it. And he demolished the city and sowed it with salt.

[46]When all the men of the towers of Shechem heard that, they came to the meeting at Bethelberith. [47]And it was reported to Abimelech that all the men of the towers of Shechem were gathered together. [48]Then Abimelech along with all his people went up to Mount Hermon. And Abimelech took the axes in his hand and cut down a branch from a tree, and took it and laid it on his shoulders. And he said to the people with him, “Quickly, do what you have seen me do.” [49]So each and every man cut down a branch and followed after Abimelech, putting the branches against the stronghold and setting them on fire, burning down the stronghold as well. And all the men of the tower of Shechem died, about a thousand men and women.

[50]Abimelech then left from Bethelberith and encamped against Thebez and overpowered it. [51]But there was a strong tower in the middle of the city, and there all the men and women of the city fled; and they locked themselves in and went up on the roof of the tower. [52]And Abimelech drew near the tower and besieged it; and Abimelech drew near the door of the tower to burn it with fire. [53]But a certain woman dropped a piece of a millstone upon the head of Abimelech and broke his skull. [54]He quickly cried out to the young man, his armor bearer, and said to him, “Draw my sword and kill me, lest men say of me, ‘A woman killed him.’ ” So his young man thrust him through, and he died. [55]And when the men of Israel saw that Abimelech was dead, they departed, every man to his place. [56]Thus God repaid the wickedness that

Abimelech brought against his father by killing his seventy brothers. 57And God returned all the wickedness of the men of Shechem on their own heads, and the curse of Jotham the son of Jerubbaal came on them.

Judges 10

Tola and Jair, Judges of Israel

1After Abimelech, Tola the son of Puah arose to save Israel, the son of his father's brother, a man of Issachar; and he dwelt in Shamir on Mount Ephraim. 2He judged Israel twenty-three years; and he died and was buried in Shamir.

3After him arose Jair of Gilead; and he judged Israel twenty-two years. 4He had thirty-two sons who rode on thirty-two colts, and they had thirty-two cities, which are called the villages of Jair to this day in the land of Gilead. 5And Jair died and was buried in Ramnon.

Israel Again Afflicted

6Then the sons of Israel again did evil in the sight of the Lord, serving Baals and the Ashtoreths, the gods of Arad, the gods of Sidon, the gods of Moab, the gods of the sons of Ammon, and the gods of the Philistines; and they forsook the Lord and did not serve Him. 7And the Lord was enraged with anger against Israel, and He delivered them into the hands of the Philistines and into the hands of the sons of Ammon. 8And they afflicted and oppressed the sons of Israel for a time of eighteen years, all the children of Israel beyond the Jordan in the land of the Amorites, in Gilead. 9Moreover, the sons of Ammon crossed the Jordan to war against Judah and Benjamin, with Ephraim. The children of Israel suffered severely. 10And the sons of Israel cried out to the Lord, saying, "We have sinned against You, because we have forsaken God and have served the Baals!"

11So the Lord said to the sons of Israel, "Did I not deliver you from the Egyptians and from the Amorites and from the sons of Ammon and from the Philistines, 12from the Sidonians and Amalekites and Maonites who oppressed you when you cried out to Me, and I delivered you from their hand? 13Yet you have forsaken Me and served other gods. Therefore I will deliver you no more. 14Go and cry out to the gods you have chosen for yourselves; let them deliver you in the time of your distress." 15And the sons of Israel said to the Lord, “We have sinned! Do to us whatever is good in Your eyes; only deliver us this day.” 16So they put away the foreign gods from among them and served the Lord alone. And His soul was grieved by the misery of Israel.

17Then the sons of Ammon went up and encamped in Gilead. And the sons of Israel assembled together and encamped at the lookout. 18And each of the leaders of Gilead said to his neighbor, “Who is the man who will begin the fight against the sons of Ammon? He shall indeed be head over all the inhabitants of Gilead.”

Judges 11

Jephthah Takes Command

1Now Jephthah the Gileadite was being exalted in power, but he was the son of a harlot who bore Jephthah to Gilead. 2Gilead’s wife bore sons, and when his wife’s sons grew up, they drove Jephthah out and said to him, “You shall have no inheritance in our father’s house, for you are the son of another woman.” 3Then Jephthah fled before his brothers and dwelt in the land of Tob; and vain men banded together with Jephthah, and they went out with him.

4And it came to be that the sons of Ammon made war against Israel, and the elders of Gilead went to get Jephthah from the land of Tob. 5Then they said to Jephthah, “Come and be our commander so that we may fight against the sons of Ammon.” 6So Jephthah said to the elders of Gilead, “Did you not hate me, and expel me from my father’s house, and exile me from you? Why have you come to me now when you are in need?” 7And the elders of Gilead said to Jephthah, “That is why we have turned again to you now, that you may go with us and fight against the sons of Ammon, and be our head over all the inhabitants of Gilead.” 8So Jephthah said to the elders of Gilead, “If you take me back home to fight against the sons of Ammon, and the Lord delivers them to me, I shall indeed be your head.” 9And the elders of Gilead said to Jephthah, “The Lord will be a witness between us, if we do not act according to your word.” 10Then Jephthah went with the elders of Gilead, and the people made him head and commander over them; and Jephthah spoke all his words before the Lord in Mizpah.

11Now Jephthah sent messengers to the king of the sons of Ammon, saying, “What is there between me and you, that you have come to fight against me in my land?” [12]And the king of the sons of Ammon said to the messengers of Jephthah, “It is because Israel took away my land when it came up out of Egypt, from the Arnon as far as the Jabbok, and to the Jordan. Now therefore, restore those lands in peace, and I will go.”

[13]So Jephthah again sent messengers to the king of the sons of Ammon [14]and said to him, “Thus says Jephthah, ‘Israel did not take away the land of Moab, nor the land of the sons of Ammon; [15]for when they came up from Egypt, Israel walked through the desert as far as the sea of Siph and came to Kadesh. [16]Then Israel sent messengers to the king of Edom, saying, “Please let me pass through your land.” But the king of Edom would not listen. And they sent to the king of Moab, but he would not consent. So Israel remained in Kadesh. [17]And they went along through the desert and circled the land of Edom and the land of Moab, having come from the rising of the sun to the land of Moab, and encamped beyond the Arnon. But they did not cross the borders of Moab, for the Arnon was the border of Moab. [18]Then Israel sent messengers to Sihon king of the Amorites, king of Heshbon; and Israel said to him, “Please let us pass through your land into our place.” [19]But Sihon did not trust Israel to pass through his territory. So Sihon gathered all his people together, encamped in Jahaz, and fought against Israel. [20]And the Lord God of Israel delivered Sihon and all his people into the hand of Israel, and they smote him. Thus Israel inherited all the land of the Amorites, who inhabited that country, [21]from the Arnon to the Jabbok and from the desert to the Jordan. [22]And now that the Lord God of Israel has removed the Amorites from before His people Israel, should you then inherit it? [23]Will you not possess whatever Chemosh your god gives you to inherit? And we will inherit everything the Lord our God removes before us. [24]And now, are you any better than Balak the son of Zippor, king of Moab? Did he ever strive against Israel? Did he ever fight against them? [25]While they dwelt in Heshbon and in her borders, in the land of Aroer and in her borders, and in all the cities along the banks of the River Jordan, for three hundred years, why did you not deliver them within that time? [26]And I have not sinned against you, but you wronged me by fighting against me. May the Lord render judgment today between the sons of Israel and the sons of Ammon.’ ” [27]However, the king of the sons of Ammon did not heed the words Jephthah sent him.

Jephthah's Vow

28 Then the Spirit of the Lord came upon Jephthah, and he passed through Gilead and Manasseh, and passed by the lookout of Gilead; and from Mizpah of Gilead he advanced beyond the sons of Ammon. 29 And Jephthah made a vow to the Lord and said, "If You deliver the sons of Ammon into my hand, 30 then it shall be that whoever first comes out of the doors of my house to meet me when I return in peace from the children of Ammon, he shall be the Lord's. I will offer him up for a whole burnt offering." 31 So Jephthah advanced toward the sons of Ammon to fight against them, and the Lord delivered them into his hand. 32 And he struck them from Aroer until he came to Arnon, twenty cities in number, and as far as Abel Keramim, with widespread destruction everywhere. Thus the sons of Ammon were subdued before the sons of Israel.

The Daughter of Jephthah

33 When Jephthah came to his house at Mizpah, behold his daughter came out to meet him with drums and dances, and she was his only child. He had no other son or daughter. 34 And when he saw her, he tore his clothes and said, "Ah, ah, my daughter! You have troubled me greatly! It is you who are my trouble! For I have opened my mouth against you to the Lord, and I cannot go back on it." 35 So she said to him, "My father, if you have opened your mouth to the Lord, do to me as it came from your mouth, because the Lord has avenged you on your enemies, the sons of Ammon."

36 Then she said to her father, "Let my father do this one thing for me.
Leave me alone for two months to wander on the mountains and bewail my virginity along with my companions." 37 So he said, "Go." And he sent her away for two months; and she went with her companions, and bewailed her virginity on the mountains. 38 And at the end of two months she returned to her father, and he carried out the vow he vowed, and she knew no man. And it became a custom in Israel 39 that the daughters of Israel went four days each year to lament the daughter of Jephthah the Gileadite.

Judges 12

Jephthah Defeats Ephraim

[1]Then the men of Ephraim cried out, went by to the north, and said to Jephthah, “Why did you pass by to fight against the sons of Ammon and did not call us to go with you? We will burn your house down around you with fire.” [2]And Jephthah said to them, “I and my people were engaged in intense fighting with the sons of Ammon; and I called you, but you did not deliver me from their hands. [3]So when I saw that you were not a savior, I put my life in my hands and passed on to the sons of Ammon; and the Lord delivered them into my hand. Why then did you come to fight against me today?”

[4]Now Jephthah gathered together all the men of Gilead and went to war against Ephraim. Gilead defeated Ephraim, since those of Ephraim who escaped said, “You of Gilead are in the midst of Ephraim and in the midst of Manasseh.” [5]Gilead seized the fords of the River Jordan needed to enter Ephraim. And those of Ephraim who escaped said to the men of Gilead, “Let us cross over.” And the men of Gilead questioned, “Are you not of Ephraim?” If one said, “No,” [6]they then said to him, “Say the word ‘stachys’!” If he was unable to repeat the word in the same way, they seized him and killed him at the ford of the River Jordan. At that time, forty-two thousand from Ephraim fell.

[7]Jephthah judged Israel sixty years. Then Jephthah the Gileadite died and was buried in his city in Gilead.

Other Judges

[8]After him, Ibzan of Bethlehem judged Israel. [9]He had thirty sons and thirty daughters, and he sent away thirty daughters in marriage, and brought in thirty daughters from without for his sons. He judged Israel seven years. [10]Then Ibzan died and was buried at Bethlehem.

[11]After him, Elon the Zebulunite judged Israel. He judged Israel ten years. [12]And Elon the Zebulunite died and was buried at Aijalon in the country of Zebulun.

[13]After him, Abdon the son of Hillel the Pirathonite judged Israel. [14]He had forty sons and thirty grandsons, who rode on seventy colts. He judged Israel eight years. [15]Then Abdon the son of Hillel the Pirathonite died and was buried in Pirathon in the land of Ephraim, in the mountains of the Amalekites.

Judges 13

[1]Again the sons of Israel did evil in the sight of the Lord, and the Lord delivered them into the hand of the Philistines for forty years.

The Birth of Samson

[2]Now there was a certain man from Zorah, from the tribe of the family of the Danites, whose name was Manoah; and his wife was barren and could not give birth. [3]And the Angel of the Lord appeared to the woman and said to her, “Indeed now, you are barren and have not given birth, but you shall conceive a son. [4]Now therefore, be careful not to drink wine or strong drink, and do not eat anything unclean. [5]For behold, you are pregnant and shall bear a son. And no razor shall come upon his head, for the child shall be a Nazirite to God from the womb; and he shall begin to deliver Israel out of the hand of the Philistines.”

[6]So the woman went in and told her husband, saying, “A Man of God came to me, and His appearance was like the appearance of an Angel of God, very frightening. But I did not ask Him where He was from, and He did not tell me His name. [7]And He said to me, ‘Behold, you are pregnant and shall bear a son. Now drink no wine or strong drink, and do not eat anything unclean, for the child shall be holy to God from the womb to the day of his death.’ ” [8]Then Manoah prayed to the Lord and said, “Lord Adonai, please let the Man of God whom You sent come to us again and teach us what we shall do for the child who will be born.”

[9]And God listened to the voice of Manoah, and the Angel of God came to the woman again as she was sitting in the field, but Manoah her husband was not with her. [10]Then the woman ran in haste and told her husband, and said to him, “Look, the Man who came to me the other day has just now appeared to me!” [11]So Manoah arose and followed his wife. When he came to the Man, he said to Him, “Are You the Man who spoke to my wife?” And the Angel said, “I am.” [12]Manoah said, “Now let Your words come to pass! What is to be the decision regarding the boy and his activities?”

[13]So the Angel of the Lord said to Manoah, “The woman will guard herself from everything I have told her. [14]She may not eat anything that comes from the vine of wine, and let her not drink wine or similar strong drink, nor eat anything unclean. All that I commanded her, let her observe.” [15]Then Manoah said to the Angel of the Lord, “Let us delay You here, and we will prepare a young goat for You.” [16]And the Angel of the Lord said to Manoah, “Though you delay me, I will not eat your bread. But if you offer a burnt offering, you must offer it to the Lord”; for Manoah did not know he was the Angel of the Lord. 17Then Manoah said to the Angel of the Lord, “What is Your name, so when Your words come to pass we may honor You?” 18And the Angel of the Lord said to him, “Why do you ask My name, is it extraordinary?”

19So Manoah took the young goat and the sacrifice, and offered it upon the rock to the Lord. And the Angel wrought a distinct work, while Manoah and his wife were looking on. 20And it so happened when the flame went up above the altar toward heaven, that the Angel of the Lord ascended in the flame of the altar. When Manoah and his wife saw this, they fell upon their faces to the ground. 21When the Angel of the Lord appeared no more to Manoah and his wife, Manoah knew this to be the Angel of the Lord. 22And Manoah said to his wife, “We shall surely die, because we have seen God!” 23But his wife said to him, “If the Lord had desired to kill us, He would not have accepted a burnt offering and a meat offering from our hands, nor would He have shown us all these things, nor would He have made us hear such things as these at this time.”

24So the woman bore a son and called his name Samson; and the child grew, and the Lord blessed him. 25And the Spirit of the Lord began to proceed out with him at the camp of Dan between Zorah and Eshtaol.

Judges 14

Samson Takes a Philistine Wife

1Now Samson went down to Timnah, and saw a woman in Timnah of the daughters of the foreigners. 2So he went up and told his father and mother, saying, “I have seen a woman in Timnah of the daughters of the Philistines; now therefore, get her for me as a wife.” 3Then his father and mother said to him, “Are there not daughters of your brethren, or a woman among all my people? Must you go and get a wife from the uncircumcised foreigners?” And Samson said to his father, “Get her for me, for she is right in my eyes.”

4But his father and mother did not know that it was of the Lord—that He was seeking vengeance against the Philistines. For at that time the Philistines had dominion over Israel. 5So Samson went down to Timnah with his father and mother and came to the vineyards of Timnah. And behold, a young lion came roaring against him. 6And the Spirit of the Lord leapt upon Samson, and he tore the lion apart as one would have torn apart a young goat, though he had nothing in his hands. But he did not tell his father or his mother what he had done.

7 Then they went down and talked with the woman, and she was pleasing to Samson's eyes. 8 After a few days, when he returned to get her, he turned aside to see the carcass of the lion. And behold, a swarm of bees and some honey were in the mouth of the lion. 9 He took some of it in his hands and went along, eating. When he came to his father and mother, he gave some to them, and they also ate. But he did not tell them that he had taken the honey out of the mouth of the lion.

10 So his father went down to the woman. And Samson gave a party there for seven days, as young men do. 11 And when they saw him, they brought thirty guests and they were with him. 12 Then Samson said to them, "Let me tell you a riddle. If you can correctly solve and explain it to me within the seven days of the party, then I will give you thirty linen garments and thirty changes of clothing. 13 But if you cannot explain it to me, then you shall give me thirty linen cloths and thirty changes of clothing." And they said to him, "Tell the riddle; let us hear it."

14 And he said to them:

> "What meat comes forth from the eater,
> And from the strong, sweetness?"

But three days passed by and they could not explain the riddle.

15 But on the fourth day they said to Samson's wife, "Now trick your husband so that he explains the riddle to you, or else we will burn you and your father's house with fire. Did you invite us to do us violence?" 16 Then Samson's wife wept before him, and said, "You hate me! You do not love me! You told the sons of my people a riddle, but you have not explained it to me." And Samson said to her, "If I have not explained it to my father or my mother, why should I explain it to you?" 17 Now she wept before him for seven days while their wedding banquet lasted. And on the seventh day he told her, because she annoyed him so much. Then she explained the riddle to the sons of her people. 18 And the men of the city said to him on the seventh day before the sun rose:

> "What is sweeter than honey?
> What is stronger than a lion?"

And Samson said to them:

> “If you had not plowed with my heifer,
> You would not have come to learn my riddle!”

19 Then the Spirit of the Lord leapt upon him, and he went down to Ashkelon and struck thirty of their men, took their apparel, and gave the changes of clothing to those who had explained the riddle. So Samson’s anger was aroused, and he went back up to his father’s house. 20 And the wife of Samson was given to one of his companions, one whom he called friend.

Judges 15

1 Soon after these days, in the days of the wheat harvest, Samson visited his wife with a young goat. And he said, “I will go to my wife in her private chamber.” But her father would not permit him to enter. 2 Her father said, “I thought that you thoroughly hated her; therefore I gave her to one of your friends. Is not her younger sister better than she? Please, take her instead.”

Samson Decimates the Philistines

3 And Samson said to them, “This once I shall be blameless regarding the Philistines, for I will do mischief among them!” 4 Then Samson went and caught three hundred foxes; and he took torches, turned the foxes tail to tail, and put a torch between each pair of tails, and tied it. 5 When he had set the torches on fire, he sent the foxes out into the standing grain of the Philistines, and they burned from the threshing floor even to the standing grain, as far as the vineyard and olive groves.

6 Then the Philistines said, “Who did this?” And they answered, “Samson, the son-in-law of the Timnite, because he took his wife and gave her to one of his friends.” So the Philistines came up and burned her and her father with fire. 7 Samson said to them, “Whereas you dealt thus with her, surely I will take revenge upon you for a month and I will finally stop.” 8 So he struck them upon the thigh of the leg with a great blow. Afterward he went down and dwelt in a cave at the rock of Etam.

9 Now the Philistines went up and encamped in Judah, and they spread out across Levi. 10 And the men of Judah said, “Why have you come up against us?” So the Philistines answered, “We have come up to bind Samson, to do to him as he has done to us.” 11Then three thousand men of Judah went down to the cave at the rock of Etam and said to Samson, “Do you not know that the Philistines rule over us? Why did you do this to us?” And Sampson said to them, “As they did to me, so I have done to them.”

12But they said to him, “We have come down to bind you so that we may deliver you to the Philistines.” Then Samson said to them, “Swear to me that you will not kill me yourselves.” 13So they spoke to him, saying, “No, but we will bind you securely and deliver you into their hand; but we will surely not put you to death.” And they bound him with two new ropes and brought him up from that rock. 14When they came to Lehi, the Philistines wailed loudly and ran to engage him. But the Spirit of the Lord leapt upon him, and the ropes on his arms became like flax burned with fire, and his bonds fell away from his hands. 15He found the jawbone of an ass that had been cast aside, and he reached out and took it, and struck a thousand men with it. 16Then Samson said:

> “With the jawbone of an ass I utterly destroyed them,
> For with the jawbone of an ass I struck down a thousand men!”

17And so when he had finished speaking, he threw the jawbone from his hand, and called that place the Ramath Lehi. 18Then he became exceedingly thirsty, and wept before the Lord and said, “You were well-pleased to grant this great deliverance by the hand of Your servant; and now I shall die of thirst and fall into the hand of the uncircumcised.” 19And God broke open a hollow in the ground, and out from it water came forth, and he drank. His spirit returned and he was revived. Therefore he called it “the Spring of the One Who Called,” which is in Lehi to this day. 20And in the days of the Philistines, he judged Israel twenty years.

Judges 16

Samson and Delilah

1Now Samson went to Gaza and saw a harlot there, and went in to her. 2When someone told the Gazites, saying, “Samson has come here!” they surrounded the place and lay in wait for him all night at the gate of the city. They were quiet all night, saying, “Let us wait until dawn, and we will kill him.” 3Samson slept till midnight and rose up, and at midnight he took hold of the doors of the gate of the city with the two gateposts, and lifted them up with the bar, and placed them on his shoulders. He then carried them to the top of the mountain facing Hebron, and he set them there.

4Sometime thereafter, he came to love a woman in Alsorech whose name was Delilah. 5And the leaders of the Philistines came up to her and said to her, “Trick him and find out where his great strength lies. Learn by what means we may overpower him, so that we may bind him and humble him. If you do, every one of us will give you eleven hundred pieces of silver.” 6So Delilah said to Samson, “Please tell me where your great strength lies, and with what you can be bound that you may be subdued and controlled.”

7And Samson said to her, “If they bind me with seven damp cords, not yet spoiled, then I shall become weak and be like any other man.” 8So the leaders of the Philistines brought her seven damp cords, not yet spoiled, and she bound him with them. 9And with her in the private chamber, an ambush was set. And she said to him, “Samson, the Philistines are upon you!” But he broke the cords as if someone should break a thread of flax when it touches the fire. Thus the secret of his strength remained unknown.

10Then Delilah said to Samson, “Indeed! You deceived me and told me lies. Now therefore, tell me what you may be bound with.” 11So he said to her, “If they bind me securely with new ropes that have never been used, then I shall become weak and be like any other man.” 12Therefore Delilah took new ropes and bound him with them, and those in ambush came out of the private chamber, and she said to him, “Samson, the Philistines are upon you!” But he broke them off his arms like thread. 13And Delilah said to Samson, “Indeed! You have mocked me and told me lies. Tell me, I entreat you, with what can you be tightly bound?”

And he said to her, “If you weave the seven locks of my head into a braid, and secure them together with a wall peg, I will be weak like any other man.” 14And so it happened when he was asleep, Delilah braided the seven locks of his head and secured them with a wall peg, and said to him, “Samson, the Philistines are upon you!” And he awoke from his sleep, and pulled out the peg.

15Then Delilah said to Samson, “How can you say, ‘I love you,’ when your heart is not with me? You deceived me a third time; and you have not yet told me where your great strength lies.” 16And it came to pass, after she pestered him continually with her words and pressured him sorely, that his spirit failed him almost to death. [17]Then he told her everything in his heart, and said to her, “No razor has ever come upon my head, for I have been a holy one of God from my mother’s womb. If I am shaven, then my strength will leave me, and I shall become weak and be like all other men.”

[18]And Delilah discerned he told her all his heart, and she sent and called for the leaders of the Philistines, saying, “Come up once more, for he told me all his heart.” So the leaders of the foreigners went to her and brought the money in their hands. [19]Delilah lulled Samson to sleep on her knees, and called for a man, and had him shave off the seven locks of his head. Thus she could finally subdue and control him, for his strength departed from him. [20]And Delilah said, “Samson, the Philistines are upon you!” So he awoke from his sleep and said, “I will go out as before, and shake myself free.” But he did not know that the Lord had departed from him. [21]Then the Philistines took him and put out his eyes, and brought him down to Gaza. They bound him with fetters of bronze; and he was grinding grain in the prison house.

Death of Samson

[22]Soon the hair of his head began to grow as before it was shaven. [23]And the leaders of the Philistines met to offer a great sacrifice to their god Dagon and to make merry. And they said, “Our god delivered our enemy, Samson, into our hands.” [24]When the people saw Samson, they praised their god; for they said, “Our god has delivered into our hands our enemy, the destroyer of our land; the one who multiplied our dead.” [25]And when their heart was merry, they said, “Call Samson out of the guard house, and let him play before us.” So they called Samson from the prison house, and he played before them. And they slapped him and stationed him between the pillars. [26]Then Samson said to the young man who held him by the hand, “Let me feel the pillars that support the house, so that I can lean on them.” [27]Now the house was full of men and women, including all the leaders of the Philistines, with about seven hundred men and women on the roof watching while Samson played.

[28]Then Samson wept before the Lord, saying, “Lord, my Lord, remember me now. O God, strengthen me just this once so I may with one blow take vengeance on the Philistines for my two eyes.” [29]And Samson took hold of the two pillars of the house, the very two which held up the house, and he leaned himself against them. He grasped one with his right hand and the other with his left, [30]and then Samson said, “Let my life end with the Philistines.”

And with all his strength, he pushed on the pillars, and the house came crashing down on the leaders and all the people in it. In his dying, Samson caused more people to die than were brought to death in his life. 31And his brothers and all his father's household came there and took him. They brought him up and buried him between Zorah and Eshtaol in the tomb of his father Manoah. He judged Israel for twenty years.

The Idolatry of Micah

1Now there was a man from Mount Ephraim whose name was Micah. 2And he said to his mother, "The eleven hundred shekels of silver you took for yourself, and about which you cursed me and spoke it in my ears, behold the silver is with me; I took it." And his mother said, "Blessed be my son of the Lord." 3And he returned the eleven hundred shekels of silver to his mother, and his mother said, "I consecrated the silver to the Lord out of my hand, for my son to make a carved and a molten image; and now I will restore it to you." 4Micah returned the silver to his mother, and his mother took two hundred pieces of silver and gave them to the silversmith, who made it into a carved and molten image. It was in Micah's house. 5And to him, the house of Micah was a house of God, and he made an ephod and idols; and he consecrated one of his sons, and to him he became his priest. 6In those days there was no king in Israel; everyone did what was right in his own eyes.

7There was a young man from Bethlehem of the family of Judah, who was a Levite, sojourning there. 8And the man departed from the city of Bethlehem in Judah to journey to wherever he could find a place. As he made his way, he came as far as Mount Ephraim and to the house of Micah. 9And Micah said to him, "Where do you come from?" So he said to him, "I am a Levite from Bethlehem in Judah, and I am journeying to wherever I might find a place." 10Micah said to him, "Dwell with me and be a father and a priest to me, and I will give you ten pieces of silver a day, a change of clothes, and all your living needs." So the Levite entered. 11He began to dwell with the man, and the young man became like one of his sons to him. 12So Micah consecrated the Levite, and to him he became his priest, and he took his place in the house of Micah. 13Then Micah said, "Now I know the Lord will be good to me, since a Levite has become my priest!"

Dan Embraces Micah's Idols

[1]In those days there was no king in Israel. And in those days, the tribe of Dan sought for itself an inheritance to inhabit, because no inheritance had befallen it until that day in the midst of the tribes of Israel. [2]So the sons of Dan sent five men of their family from their territory, sons of valor from Zorah and Eshtaol, to spy upon the land and to search it out. They said to them, "Go, search the land." And they went as far as Mount Ephraim, to the house of Micah, and there they lodged. [3]While at the house of Micah, they recognized the voice of the young Levite. They turned toward him and said to him, "Who brought you here? What are you doing in this place? What do you have here?"

[4]He said to them, "This is what Micah did for me. He hired me and I became his priest." [5]So they said to him, "Ask now of God, so we may know if we will be successful on our journey that we go on." [6]And the priest said to them, "Go in peace. The way in which you go is before the Lord."

[7]So the five men departed and came to Laish. Here they saw the people in the midst of it, dwelling securely, as the affairs of the Sidonians were quiet. Here no one was perverting or shaming people or events in the land. There were no heirs extorting treasures; and the land was far from the Sidonians, with no ties of mutuality between them. [8]And the five men came back to their brethren at Zorah and Eshtaol and said to their brethren, "Why do you sit, preparing for nothing?" [9]And they said, "Arise, let us go up against them, for we have seen the land, and indeed it is very good, yet you are unmotivated. Do not delay. Go and enter the land to possess it. [10]When you go, you will meet a people at peace, and the land is extensive, for God has given it into your hands, a place where there is nothing lacking in the land."

[11]And six hundred men of the family of Dan, armed with weapons of war, departed from Zorah and Eshtaol. [12]They went up and encamped in Kirjath Jearim in Judah. Therefore they call that place the camp of Dan to this day. There it is, behind Kirjath Jearim. [13]And they passed from there to Mount Ephraim and came to the house of Micah. [14]Then the five men who had spied upon the country of Laish spoke and said to their brethren, "Do you know that in this house there is an ephod, idols, and a carved and molten image? Therefore, consider what you should do." [15]So they turned aside there and went into where the young Levite man stayed—into the house of Micah. In peace, they asked how he was. [16]The six hundred men armed with their weapons of war, who were of the sons of Dan, remained standing by the door of the gate.

[17]Then the five men who had spied upon the land went up, [18]and they entered the house of Micah. The priest stood up as they took the carved image, the ephod, the idols, and the molded image, and said to them, “The priest asks what are you doing?” [19]And they said to him, “Be silent, put your hand over your mouth, and come with us; and be a father and a priest to us. Is it better for you to be a priest to the household of one man, or to be a priest to a tribe and house for a family of Israel?”

[20]The heart of the priest was glad, and he took the ephod, the idols, and the carved and molten image and came into the midst of the people. [21]Then they turned and departed, putting the children, the livestock, and the baggage in front of them. [22]When they had traveled far from the house of Micah, behold Micah and the men in the houses near the house of Micah cried out and overtook the sons of Dan. [23]And the sons of Dan turned their face and said to Micah, “What is the matter with you that you cry out?” [24]Micah responded, “Because you took away the carved image which I made, and my priest, and left. What remains for me? How is it you can say to me, ‘Why do you cry out?’ ”

[25]And the sons of Dan said to him, “Do not let your voice be heard among us, lest men bitter in soul fall upon us and take away your life and the lives of your household!” [26]Then the sons of Dan went their way. And when Micah saw they were far stronger than himself, he turned back toward his house.

[27]So the sons of Dan took what Micah had made, and the priest who was with him, and they came to Laish, to a people quiet and secure, and they struck them with the edge of the sword and burned the city with fire. [28]There was no deliverer, for the city was far from the Sidonians, and no agreements of mutuality. It is in the valley of the house of Rahab, and they restored the city and dwelt in it. [29]And they called the city Dan, after Dan their father, who was born to Israel. Formerly, the city was named Laish.

[30]Then the sons of Dan set up for themselves the carved image; and Jonathan the son of Gershom, the son of Manasseh, and his sons were priests to the tribe of Dan until the day of exile for the nation. [31]So they set up for themselves, for as long as the house of God was in Shiloh, the carved image Micah made.

A Levite Takes a Concubine

1 And it was so in the days when there was no king in Israel, there was a certain Levite sojourning on the lower slopes of Mount Ephraim. He took for himself a concubine from Bethlehem in Judah, 2 but his concubine left him and returned to the house of her father, to Bethlehem in Judah. She remained there for four months. 3 Then her husband arose and sought after her, to speak kindly to her and win her back to himself. His young servant and a pair of asses were with him. So she brought him into her father's house, and when her father saw him, he was well-pleased to meet him. 4 Now his father-in-law, the father of the young woman, delayed him, and he stayed with him for three days. And they ate and drank and lodged there. 5 Then on the fourth day, they arose early in the morning to depart; but the young woman's father said to his son-in-law, "Strengthen your heart with a morsel of bread, and afterward go your way."

6 So he sat down, and the two of them ate and drank together. Then the young woman's father said to the man, "Please come lodge here, and let your heart be merry." 7 And when the man stood to depart, his father-in-law urged him, so he sat and lodged there again. 8 Then on the fifth day, he arose early in the morning to depart, but the father of the young woman said, "Please, strengthen your heart and camp here until the day starts to wane," and the two men ate a meal together. 9 And when the man stood to depart—he and his concubine and his servant—his father-in-law, the father of the young woman, said to him, "Look, the day is now drawing toward evening: please spend the night. See, the day is coming to an end: lodge here that your heart may be merry, and tomorrow go your way early, so that you may get home."

10 However, the man was not willing to spend that night. So he rose and departed, and came to a place opposite Jebus—that is, Jerusalem. There with him were the two saddled donkeys and his concubine. 11 They had come as far as Jebus, and the day was far advanced, and the young servant said to his master, "Come, let us turn aside into this city of the Jebusites and lodge in it." 12 But his master said to him, "We will not turn aside into a foreign city where there are no sons of Israel. We will go onward as far as Gibeah." 13 So he said to his young servant, "Come, let us draw near to one of these places and lodge in Gibeah or in Ramah." 14 And they passed by and went on their way.

The sun went down on them near Gibeah, which belongs to Benjamin. 15There they turned aside to find lodging in Gibeah. And when he went in, he sat down in the open square of the city, and there was not a man who would take them into his house to lodge.

16And behold, an old man came in from his work in the field at evening. He was from Mount Ephraim and he sojourned in Gibeah. The men of this place were sons of Benjamin. 17And his eyes looked upward, and he saw the traveler in the street of the city. The old man said to him, “Where are you going, and where do you come from?” 18So he said to him, “We are passing from Bethlehem in Judah toward the lower slopes of Mount Ephraim. I am from there and I traveled as far as Bethlehem of Judah. But there is no man to take me into his house, 19yet we have straw and food for our donkeys, and bread and wine for me and my handmaid, and for the young man with your servant. There is no lack of anything.”

20And the old man said, “Peace be with you. And let all your needs be upon me, only do not lodge in the open street.” 21So he brought him into his house and made a place for the asses. And they washed their feet, and ate and drank.

22As they were comforting their heart, men of the city, sons of lawlessness, surrounded the house and beat on the door. They spoke to the master of the house, the old man, saying, “Bring out the man who entered your house, that we may know him!” 23But the man, the master of the house, went out to them and said to them, “No, my brethren! I beg you, do not act so wickedly! Seeing this man has come into my house, do not commit this foolishness. 24Look, here is my virgin daughter and the man’s concubine; I will lead them out now. Subdue and control them, do with them what is good in your eyes; but to this man do not do such a thoughtless thing!”

25But the men were not inclined to heed him. So the man took his concubine and brought her out to them. And they knew her and abused her all night until morning; and when dawn came, they let her go. 26And toward dawn, the woman came and fell down at the door of the man’s house where her master was, till there was daylight. 27When her master arose in the morning and opened the doors of the house, and went out to go his way, there was his concubine, fallen at the door of the house with her hands on the threshold. 28And he said to her, “Get up and let us be going.” But she did not answer, for she was dead. He carried her upon his ass and went to his place.

29Then he took a sword, laid hold of his concubine, and divided her into twelve pieces. He sent the twelve pieces throughout all the tribes of Israel. 30And it was so, that everyone who saw it said, “A day such as this has never happened nor been seen from the day the children of Israel were brought out of the land of Egypt until this day. Take counsel amongst yourselves and proclaim your findings!”

Judges 20

Israel Wars with the Benjamites

1All the children of Israel came out; all the congregation from Dan including Bersabee, and from the land of Galaad to the Lord at Mizpah, gathered as one man. 2And all the tribes of Israel stood before the Lord in the assembly of the people of God, four hundred thousand foot soldiers who drew the sword. 3Now the sons of Benjamin heard that the sons of Israel had gone up to Mizpah.

Then the sons of Israel came and said, “Tell us where this wicked deed happened?” 4So the Levite man, the husband of the woman murdered, answered and said, “My concubine and I went into Gibeah of Benjamin to lodge. 5And that night, the men of Gibeah rose against me and surrounded the house. They intended to kill me, but instead they raped my concubine, and as a result she died. 6So I laid hold of my concubine and divided her in pieces, and because they committed lewdness and outrage in Israel, I sent her throughout all the territory of the inheritance of the children of Israel. 7Look! You are all children of Israel; consider and take counsel here among yourselves.”

8So all the people arose as one man, saying, “None of us will go back to his tent, nor will any turn back to his house. 9Instead, this is what is to be done to Gibeah: we will go up against it by lot. 10Moreover, we will take ten men out of every hundred throughout all the tribes of Israel, a hundred out of every thousand, and a thousand out of every ten thousand, to make provisions for the people to entice them to come to Gibeah in Benjamin, and then do to it all the vileness which it did in Israel.” 11So all the men of Israel gathered in the city as one man.

12Then the tribes of Israel sent men throughout all the tribe of Benjamin, saying, “What is this wickedness that has occurred among you? 13Now therefore, deliver up the men, the sons of lawlessness in Gibeah, so that we may put them to death and put away the evil from Israel!” But the sons of Benjamin were not pleased to hear the voice of their brethren, the sons of Israel. 14Instead, the sons of Benjamin gathered together from their cities to Gibeah, to go into battle against the sons of Israel. 15And from their cities at that time, the sons of Benjamin numbered twenty-three thousand men who drew the sword, not including the inhabitants of Gibeah, who numbered seven hundred select men 16from all this people who could use both hands. All these could sling a stone at a hair and not miss. 17The men of Israel, excluding Benjamin, numbered four hundred thousand men who drew the sword; all of these were men of war.

18Then the sons of Israel arose and went up to Bethel to inquire of God. They said, “Which of us shall first go up to battle against the sons of Benjamin?” The Lord said, “Judah, as leader, will go up first.” 19So the sons of Israel rose in the early morning and encamped against Gibeah. 20And all the men of Israel went out to battle against Benjamin, and they engaged them at Gibeah. 21Then the sons of Benjamin came out of Gibeah, and on that day in Israel Benjamin cut down to the ground twenty-two thousand men of the Israelites.

22And the men of Israel regrouped and again engaged in battle at the place where they engaged on the first day. 23Then the sons of Israel went up and wept before the Lord until evening, and asked counsel of the Lord, saying, “Shall we again draw near for battle against the sons of Benjamin, our brothers?” And the Lord said, “Go up against them.”

24So the sons of Israel went out to wage war against the sons of Benjamin on the second day. 25And the sons of Benjamin went out to meet those from Gibeah on the second day, and cut down to the ground eighteen thousand more of the sons of Israel; all these drew the sword. 26Then all the sons of Israel and all the people went up and came to Bethel and wept. They sat there before the Lord and fasted that day until evening, and they offered burnt offerings and pure offerings before the Lord, 27because the ark of the covenant of God was there in those days. 28In those days, Phinehas the son of Eleazar, the son of Aaron, stood before it. And the sons of Israel asked the Lord, saying, “Shall we yet again go out to battle against the sons of Benjamin, our brothers, or shall we cease?” And the Lord said, “Go up, for tomorrow I will deliver them into your hands.”

29Then the sons of Israel positioned themselves for an ambush round about Gibeah. 30And the sons of Israel went up against the sons of Benjamin on the third day, and arrayed themselves against Gibeah as before. [31]So all the sons of Benjamin went out to meet the people, leaving the city empty. As they did before, they began to strike down and kill some of the people, about thirty men of Israel—on the roads, one heading to Bethel and the other to Gibeah—and in the field. [32]And the sons of Benjamin said, “As the first time, they are falling before us.”

But the sons of Israel said, “Let us flee so as to draw them out from the city onto the roads.” And so they did. [33]So every man rose up from his place and united together at Baal Tamar. And the men of Israel burst forth from their position of ambush at Maaragabeh. [34]Ten thousand select men from all Israel came against Gibeah, and the battle was fierce. And Gibeah did not comprehend the disaster that was coming upon them. [35]The Lord struck Benjamin before the sons of Israel, and the sons of Israel destroyed twenty-five thousand one hundred men from Benjamin that day. All these drew the sword.

[36]So the sons of Benjamin saw that they were beaten, and the men of Israel gave up ground to the Benjamites, for they relied on the ambush they had prepared against Gibeah. [37]And as the sons of Israel retreated, those men in ambush rose up and quickly charged Gibeah. The entire ambush rushed forth and struck the city with the edge of the sword.

[38]And the sons of Israel used a signal of battle with those in ambush. They would send up a signal of smoke from the city. [39]And the sons of Israel saw that the ambush had seized Gibeah. So they stood in battle formation, allowing Benjamin to strike and wound about thirty of the men of Israel, for they said, “Surely again they are defeated before us, as in the first battle.” [40]But when the signal cloud began to rise as a pillar of concentrated smoke from the city, the Benjamites looked behind them, and behold the complete end of the city was rising up to heaven. [41]The men of Israel turned back, and the men of Benjamin hastened away, seeing that evil overwhelmed them. [42]Therefore they looked in the direction of the desert, away from the sons of Israel, and fled.

But the battle overtook them, and those from the cities utterly eliminated those in the midst of them. [43]They cut down the Benjamites, chased them from the foot of Nova, and easily trampled them down until they came opposite Gibeah toward the east. [44]And eighteen thousand men of Benjamin fell—all these were men of strength. [45]The rest turned and fled toward the wilderness to the rock of Rimmon, and the sons of Israel cut down five thousand men. The sons of Israel relentlessly pursued after them as far as Gidom, and struck two thousand of their men. 46All of Benjamin who drew the sword that day, and fell, were twenty-five thousand men. All these were men of valor.

47The rest turned and fled toward the desert to the rock of Rimmon, even six hundred men, and they remained at the rock of Rimmon for four months. 48And the sons of Israel turned back against the sons of Benjamin and struck them with the edge of the sword, from the city of Methla, to the livestock, and to everything found in all the cities. And they set on fire all the cities they found.

Judges 21

Wives for the Benjamites

1Now the men of Israel swore an oath at Mizpah, saying, “None of us shall give his daughter to Benjamin as a wife.” 2Then the people came to Bethel, and remained there before God till evening. They lifted up their voices and wept mightily 3and said, “O Lord God of Israel, why has this come to pass, that today one tribe should be missing in Israel?”

4The next morning the people rose early and built an altar there, and offered burnt offerings and peace offerings. 5The sons of Israel said, “Who is there among all the tribes of Israel who did not come up with the assembly to the Lord?” For they had made a great oath concerning anyone who had not come up to the Lord at Mizpah, saying, “He shall surely be put to death.” 6And the sons of Israel had compassion toward Benjamin their brother, and said, “One tribe is cut off from Israel today. 7What shall we do for wives for the large number who remain, for we have sworn by the Lord not to give them our daughters as wives?”

8And they said, “What one tribe of Israel did not come up to Mizpah to the Lord?” And take notice, no one came to the camp from Jabesh Gilead to the assembly. 9For when the people were counted, indeed, not one of the inhabitants of Jabesh Gilead was there. 10So the congregation sent out there twelve thousand men from the sons of valor, and commanded them, saying, “Go and strike the inhabitants of Jabesh Gilead with the edge of the sword. 11And this is what you shall do: You shall utterly destroy every male, and every woman who has known a man intimately. But the virgins you will preserve.” And they did so. 12So they found among the inhabitants of Jabesh Gilead four hundred young virgins who had not known a man intimately; and they brought them to the camp at Shiloh, in the land of Canaan. 13Then the whole congregation sent and spoke to the sons of Benjamin who were at the rock of Rimmon, and called them to peace. 14Benjamin came back to the sons of Israel at that time, and the sons of Israel gave them the women whom they saved alive of the daughters of Jabesh Gilead, and it was thus pleasing to them.

15The people had compassion for Benjamin, because the Lord brought about a rift in the tribes of Israel. 16And the elders of the congregation said, “What shall we do for wives for those who remain, since the women of Benjamin were destroyed?” 17And they said, “There must be an inheritance for the survivors of Benjamin, so that a tribe of Israel may not be wiped out. 18For we will not be able to give them wives from our daughters, because we swore among the sons of Israel, saying, ‘Cursed be the one who gives a wife to Benjamin.’ ”

19And they said, “Remember, in a few days there is the yearly feast of the Lord in Shiloh, on the north of Bethel, on the road leading eastward from Bethel to Shechem, and from the south of Lebonah.” 20Therefore they instructed the sons of Benjamin, saying, “Go, lie in wait in the vineyards 21and watch. And behold, if the daughters of the inhabitants of Shiloh come out to perform in their dances, then go out from the vineyards, and let every man capture a wife for himself from the daughters of Shiloh and return to the land of Benjamin. 22And whenever their fathers or their brothers come to pass judgment on you, we will say to them, ‘Have compassion on them for us, since no men received from us a wife for himself in the war, because you did not give to them at the appointed time you transgressed.”

23And the sons of Benjamin did so; they took enough wives for their number from those who danced, whom they seized. Then they went and returned to their inheritance, and rebuilt the cities and dwelt in them. 24At that time, the sons of Israel walked away from that place, every man to his tribe and his family. And they went out from there, every man to his inheritance. 25In those days there was no king in Israel. A man did what was right according to his own vision.

Annotations for Judges

1:1, 2 Once Joshua died (recorded both in Jos 24:30–32 and Jdg 2:7–9), the question became, "Who will lead Israel in the fight against the Canaanites?" This represents the transition from the people under Joshua generally obeying God and experiencing victory to their lapsing into idolatry and disobedience under the judges. Judah is a reference to the tribe.

1:7 What I have done gives pause to remind us of the Last Judgment. Those who abuse others bring judgment on themselves.

1:11–15 As Othniel conquered the City of Letters (or Books) to win Achsah as his wife, so Christ the Incarnate Word will come to conquer the mind and heart of mankind with His Gospel to win His Bride, the Church.

1:21 Note the disobedience of Benjamin in contrast with the obedience of Judah and Simeon. If we do not secure victory over the enemies of sin and darkness in our lives, like the Jebusites they will remain to trouble us.

1:22–26 Bethel means "house of God." Luz means "light," and represents the light of Christ, which will spread to the Gentiles (Is 9:2).

1:27–36 This passage is a preview of much of the Book of Judges: the chronicle of a job half done. The tribes of Israel would enter into battle against their enemies, but not drive them out completely (v. 28).

2:1–22 Gilgal (v. 1) signifies God's covenant with Israel (see Jos 5:2–9). Just as He left the foreigners in the land of promise "that He might test Israel" (3:1), so God allows sin, suffering, and death to continue for a time in the world that He might test, strengthen, and draw the repentant soul to Himself. And as He raised up judges (v. 16) to deliver Israel, so He provides salvation in Christ for all who turn to Him. Those who continue in sin and would not listen (v. 17) fall into the hands of the enemy, but God delivers the faithful out of hardship (see note on 3Kg 22:23). This pattern will repeat itself: (1) God disciplines Israel for idolatry and disobedience; (2) Israel cries out in repentance for God's help; (3) God provides another judge for deliverance.

3:1–6 A list of enemy nations that remained in Canaan. Note that Israel intermarried with them and ultimately served their gods (v. 6).

3:7 They forgot the Lord: Without constant remembrance of the Lord in all thoughts, words, and deeds, man allows himself to become most vulnerable to the deceptions and accusations of the enemy. Of the Eucharist, Jesus said to do this "in remembrance of Me" (1Co 11:25).

3:9 The word savior is a synonym for "judge."

3:10, 11 The Spirit of the Lord strengthens Othniel, and there is peace for forty years. Similarly, Christ strengthens His Church and His people through baptism, sealed by the Holy Spirit. Those who look to the Lord God will gain victory over this fallen world.

3:12, 13 Moab is east of the Jordan near the Dead Sea. Ammon and Amalek were neighboring tribes, historically at odds with Israel. The City of Palms is Jericho.

3:20 The upper summer chamber is a well-ventilated room on the flat roof.

4:1–3 Israel did evil, was oppressed, and cried out to the Lord. Sin brings all men under the heavy yoke of oppression and hardship—but this can also result in repentance. After twenty years Israel finally cried out to God for relief.

4:4 St. Ambrose comments on the story of Deborah, Barak, and Jael: "And so according to history, that the minds of women might be stirred up, a woman became: a judge, a woman who set all in order; a woman who prophesied; a woman who triumphed; and joining in battle array, taught men to war under a woman's counsel. But in a mystery, it is the battle of faith and the victory of the Church." Deborah is one of three prophetesses mentioned in the Old Testament, the other two being Miriam (Ex 15:20) and Huldah (2Kg 22:14).

4:9 Deborah prophesied victory, but warned Barak not to take credit, for the Lord will sell Sisera into the hand of a woman.

5:1–31 As was often the custom after Israel's victories, a song or psalm (v. 3) was sung, recalling the details of the conflict. This is the lengthiest and most elaborate of the Old Testament victory songs, but perhaps the most famous is Moses' song in Ex 15:1–18 celebrating deliverance from Egypt.

5:7 Just as Deborah was a mother . . . in Israel, so Mary, Mother of God, is also mother of the Church. They both sang songs of praise to the Lord (see Lk 1:46–55).

5:9 A great tribute to the leaders and the volunteers who freely sacrifice in service to Israel. In the Divine Liturgy we likewise give thanks to God "for those who serve and those who sing." For the people of God, the leaders and the laity, are called to work together, never independently.

5:28 A touching look at the mother of a fallen warrior—in this case an enemy of God's people.

5:31 One of a multitude of biblical passages contrasting the destiny of the enemies of the Lord will those desiring Him.

6:1, 2 The Midianites are nomadic people who oppressed Israel for seven years.

6:3–8 Israel cried out to the Lord (v. 6) after seven years of ongoing invasion of the Midianites, particularly at the time of harvest (v. 4). The Lord sent them a prophet (v. 8), reminding them of His covenant with Israel (Ex 20:1).

6:11 St. Ambrose sees the terebinth tree as a type of the cross, the winepress as the Church, the wheat as the saints. He writes, "For these elect, as though trained with the rod of truth (Rev 19:15), laying aside the old man together with his deeds, are gathered in the Church as in a winepress . . . for from her wells forth the juice of the heavenly vine." Gideon prefigures Christ as a deliverer of those in bondage.

6:15 I am the smallest: Gideon's humility reflects the Christlike character of those who love God (5:31), for His "strength is made perfect in weakness" (2Co 12:9).

6:18 I am tells us this is the One who spoke to Moses (Ex 20:2). I will wait echoes words recorded by the prophet Isaiah (Is 30:18).

6:19–27 St. Ambrose writes that Gideon's sacrifices foreshadow the Incarnation. "The meat of the kid refers to sins of deed, the broth to the enticements of desire. . . . That the Angel then stretched forth His staff and touched the rock from which fire went out, shows that the flesh of the Lord, being filled with the Divine Spirit, would burn away all the sins of human frailty."

6:25, 26 St. Ambrose writes that by sacrificing the two bulls, Gideon "showed that after the coming of the Lord all Gentile sacrifices should be done away, and that only the sacrifice of the Lord's Passion should be offered for the redemption of the people. For that second bull was, in a type, Christ, in whom, as Isaiah said, dwelt the fullness of the seven gifts of the Spirit."

6:32 Jerubbaal means "May Baal plead." This was Gideon's new nickname, but he did not give honor to Baal (see 7:1).

6:36–38 The hymns of the Orthodox Church reveal the dewy fleece as symbolic of Mary conceiving the Son of God in her womb. On the Feast of the Annunciation we sing, "He shall come down as rain upon the fleece." In the first Nativity Canon we hear, "As dew upon the fleece, You have descended into the womb of the Virgin, O Christ."

The word translated fleece usually means "clippings of grass"; here, it is clippings of wool. Gideon put out the fleece, asking God to send dew on the fleece only, not on the ground. Why? So Gideon would know it was God's intention to save Israel by my hand (v. 37). Thus, there is meaning beyond the miracle itself: the dew is the Son of God; the fleece is Mary; the result is the Incarnation, through which Israel—and all men—can be saved.

📖 6:36–40 This passage is read at Vespers of the Feast of the Theophany of the Lord.

7:2–8 Gideon originally gathered about 32,000 volunteers (v. 3) to encamp opposite the Midianites and the Amalekites. But the Lord knows men's hearts. In victory, He did not want Israel to credit themselves. God demonstrates His commitment to victory for our sake, while also making clear that His strength does not lie in numbers—a total of only three hundred men (v. 7) in three units—but in His own power.

7:15 Gideon worshiped before the promise had been fulfilled, and prepared himself to act in obedience to the Lord without first needing a sign from Him.

7:24, 25 Earlier in Judges, God's army was satisfied with partial victories (1:27–34) and paid the consequences. Here and in the next chapter, Gideon makes sure the conquest is complete—a sure lesson for those who seek victory over sin.

8:1–3 The men of Ephraim had been excluded from the battle. Gideon showed the wisdom of not arguing in the face of their anger; instead he encouraged them tactfully, based on their own accomplishments (Rom 12:3–6).

8:4–9, 13–17 The men of Succoth (v. 5) and Penuel (v. 8) refused to give bread to Gideon's men, questioning his victory over Midian. Their refusal to help God's servant was costly (see Mt 25:41–46).

8:10 The name Zebah means "slaughter, sacrifice," a name given to create a sense of great fear. But here, it foreshadows his destiny. Before Gideon, the servant of the Lord, Zebah became the one slaughtered.

8:14 Gideon would not kill haphazardly. The covenant was broken and due punishment was to be exacted, but he killed only those directly involved.

8:16 There can be consequences if one chooses to break a covenant. Here the promised punishment is fulfilled.

8:23 Gideon refused their offer, though later his son Abimelech would try to keep his father's house in power.

8:27 Gideon's idea of making an ephod, a priestly vestment, and a memorial in his hometown, commemorating his victory, became a thorn. The lesson: it is unwise for God's people to unduly celebrate a victory over enemies.

9:1 Jerubbaal is Gideon (see note at 6:32).

9:1–5 Soon after Gideon died, the crafty Abimelech, his son by a concubine, with help from the men of Shechem, murdered seventy of his father's legitimate heirs. Only Jotham escaped.

9:7 Mount Gerizim, previously used for the offering of blessings (Dt 11:29), is now used by Jotham to pronounce a parable of warning and a curse to the people.

9:8 These words speak to the mockery of kingship not anointed by God.

9:25 These robberies kept the king from collecting taxes from traveling merchants.

9:26–57 The punishment of which Jotham warned fell on Abimelech (v. 56). Those who live apart from the guidance of God face ultimate destruction.

9:37 Elonmaonenim can be translated "terebinth tree of the diviners."

9:46 Bethelberith means "the house of Berith," a temple of a local deity (see also v. 50).

10:1–7 Tola saved (judged) Israel, and Jair helped sustain the forty-five years of peace Israel enjoyed. But Israel fell into idolatry and evil again, and the Lord, for their sake, delivered them into the hands of the Philistines, later to be invaded by the Ammonites (v. 7). The false gods Israel served included Ashtoreth of Sidon (3Kg 11:5, 33), Baal-peor and Chemosh of Moab (Nm 21:29; 25:3; 3Kg 11:7, 33), Melek (Molech, Milcom) of Ammon (Lv 18:21; 3Kg 11:5, 7, 33), and Dagon and Beelzebub, gods of the Philistines (16:23; 1Kg 5:2–7; 4Kg 1:2–3). Molech was particularly known as a god requiring human sacrifice (Lv 18:21; 20:2–5; 2Kg 23:10; Jer 32:35).

10:11–16 A powerful account of God extending not judgment but mercy to sinners. His soul was grieved (see Gn 6:6; Mk 14:34).

11:1–3 Not being the son of Gilead's wife or even a concubine, Jephthah is thrown out of his home as the son of another woman in violation of the law regarding the fatherless (Dt 10:18; 14:29; 16:11; 24:17).

11:10 Mizpah was the place where Jacob and Laban made a covenant (Gn 31:44–49). This shows the elders of Gilead took seriously Jephthah's appointment to lead them.

11:11–27 A debate between Jephthah's messengers and the sons of Ammon over a three-hundred-year-old land dispute (v. 25). It is not resolved (v. 27), and a war will result.

11:28 The Spirit of the Lord descended on Jephthah to do battle against Ammon, making him one of the few Old Testament heroes indwelt by the Holy Spirit.

11:38, 39 Jephthah's daughter was an inspiration to the women of Israel, showing her zealous obedience to the Lord in life and in death.

12:1, 2 Again (see notes at 8:1–3) the men of Ephraim are bypassed in battle, this time against the sons of Ammon. Jephthah asks, “Where were you when we needed you against the Ammonites?” (see 10:9). Ephraim has no answer, and war ensues.

12:5, 6 The men of Gilead give a language test to the Ephraimites, and they fail. The word stachys here is Greek for the Hebrew “shibboleth”; both mean “ear of corn.” It was the “sh” sound the Ephraimites could not pronounce.

13:1 Despite God’s continued faithfulness, the sons of Israel still apostatize, a pattern repeated throughout the Book of Judges.

13:3 After forty years of bondage for Israel, God made known His plans through His Angel to deliver Israel by means of a special son born to a barren woman—as also happened with Sarah (Gn 16:1), Rebekah (Gn 25:21), Hannah (1Kg 1:2–28), and Elizabeth (Lk 1:7).

13:4–7 Nazirite is derived from the Hebrew nazir, “consecrated,” “dedicated.” The one making a Nazirite vow (see Nm 6:2; Am 2:11, 12; 1Kg 1:11; Lk 1:15) refrains from strong drink, eating unclean things, and cutting the hair.

13:5 Samson was a Nazirite unto God from the womb, as were the prophet Samuel (1Kg 1:11) and John the Baptist (Lk 1:15). Samson would begin to deliver Israel from the Philistines, a work carried further by Samuel, Saul, and King David.

13:25 Not only does the Angel of the Lord prophesy Samson’s birth and calling, but the Spirit of the Lord attends his life.

14:1–5 Samson’s desire to marry a woman of the Philistines bore ill fruit. The woman was more faithful to her own people than to him (see vv. 15–18).

14:5–9 St. Ephraim the Syrian writes that Christ, prefigured in Samson, also “tore the lion, an image of death . . . and caused to go forth from his bitterness the sweetness of life for men.”

14:18 As with many riddles, once the answer was given it was obvious (Ps 19:10; 118:103; Pr 30:30).

15:1–3 I will do mischief among them (v. 3) signals the beginning of the back-and-forth revenge in this chapter of “an eye for an eye” (see Ex 21:23–25). Samson finally prevails over the Philistines.

15:18, 19 For all Samson’s strength, he nearly died of thirst. Jesus said, “If anyone thirsts, let him come to Me and drink” (Jn 7:37). Even the strong are utterly dependent on God, who by a miracle provided water.

16:2, 3 Since the gate of the city was locked by night, the Gazites assumed all was well until dawn. Samson awoke at midnight, tore down the doors, and carried them to Hebron—a distance of over thirty miles.

16:4 Alsorech is the valley of Sorek. Delilah, though we are not told, presumably was a Philistine. Samson’s love for her for a time proved stronger than his call from God to deliver Israel (13:5), and brought him down (16:15–17).

16:23–30 St. Irenaeus writes on this passage: “The lad who guided Samson by the hand (v. 26) typifies John the Baptist, who showed to the people the faith in Christ. And the house in which they were assembled signifies the world, in which dwell the various heathen and unbelieving nations, offering sacrifice to the idols. Moreover, the two pillars are the two covenants. Samson leaning himself upon the pillars indicates this: that the people, when instructed, recognized the mystery of Christ.”

16:25 The phrase let him play before us likely refers to their request that he do tricks only a strong man could do.

17:1–6 Through the mother of Micah we see that the overall importance of the tabernacle and the Law of God it upheld was almost forgotten at this point in time. This is confirmed by the words everyone did what was right in his own eyes (v. 6). The impression is reinforced by the mother having a carved and molten image or idol (v. 4), as well as by Micah, who stole from his own mother, anointing one of his own sons as priest and clothing him with an ephod (v. 5), believing his own home was a house of God.

17:7–13 The young Levite gives indication of the diminished state of the tribe of Levi. It was scattered, no longer centered in the tabernacle, and likely not keeping the rule of worship, including the sacrifices and offerings.

18:1, 2 The tribe of Dan was unsuccessful in controlling its inheritance. So five spies went out to search for a place to settle. The reference to no king indicates Dan no longer honored the Lord as their King. They went off on their own to take land, even if they had to steal it from other tribes of Israel.

18:3 The spies recognized the voice of the priest. Perhaps they knew the young Levite from Bethlehem (17:1) or recognized his dialect.

18:5 The use of the word God instead of Lord shows awareness of the covenant—and their violation of it.

18:6 Without the Lord's guiding Spirit, Micah's priest was an easy target, unaware of the looming dangers.

18:11 The six hundred men shows the military weakness of the family of Dan.

18:19, 20 The priest was not forced or coerced. He was glad to be moving on to a larger assignment.

18:26 The thief Micah had been outdone by the greater thieves of Dan.

18:31 No longer obeying the covenant or having contact with God's people, they set up for themselves their own experimental worship.

19:1 The people of Israel had fallen far in these days when there was no king. There was sexual perversion (19:22–28). The commandments of the Law were forgotten or overlooked (17:6; 21:25). Their leadership was failing.

19:2 To "play the harlot" or take a concubine was an expression typically used to paint a prophetic picture of people following false gods, often Baal, whose followers often became involved in extreme sexual misconduct (Hos 4:1–6; Jer 3:1, 8; Ezk 16:41; 23:44).

19:4 The people of Israel, even in apostasy, still believed they had sacred obligations toward anyone they considered their guest.

19:11 This city of the Jebusites was not considered part and parcel of Israel, and yet a person from Israel might find safety here.

19:22, 23 The sons of lawlessness in the Hebrew text is "sons of Belial," which means "worthless men" (see 2Co 6:15, and Rom 1:26–27). This gruesome account is similar to that of Lot and the men of Sodom (Gn 19:1–4).

19:24–30 So vile were homosexual acts in this culture, the concubine was offered. The woman met an obscene death, a tragic breach of the covenant. The twelve pieces of her remains were likely sent, one each, to the twelve tribes of Israel.

20:1–3 The children of Israel came together as one man to stand before the Lord. They gathered at Mizpah, "a place of watching" (1Kg 7:5, 16; 10:17). The purpose of the gathering was to confront the wicked deed of rape and murder (19:25–28).

20:8–11 The verdict was by council, unanimous, and they carried out their decision in unity.

20:12, 13 The Benjamites were offered the opportunity to turn over the sons of lawlessness in order to avoid war and to put away the evil from Israel (Dt 17:12), but they refused.

20:18 They traveled to Bethel (Gn 28:19–22) to inquire of God because the ark of the covenant had been moved there (v. 27).

20:26 This second defeat awakened the sons of Israel. All now came to the central sanctuary at Bethel to weep, worship God, and seek His mercy. They prayed, fasted, and wept because of their two costly losses at the hands of Benjamin.

20:28 The Lord repeats His earlier answer, but this upcoming third battle came with a promise of victory. Even so, "the battle was fierce" (v. 34). Despite God's promises of victory to us, Jesus warns, "in the world you will have tribulation" (Jn 16:33).

20:48 For about four months, Israel carried out against Benjamin the things God declared should be done to the Canaanites (Dt 7:2; 20:16–18)—for Benjamin had become like the Canaanites. It was prescribed punishment for violating the covenant and rejecting God's authority in Israel.

21:3 Even in the face of victory, the Israelites wept that one tribe should be missing, that is, Benjamin. Even toward their opponents in war, they retained that loyalty of covenant.

21:6, 7 With Israel's victory came their desire to have mercy and restore those who escaped to the Rock of Rimmon (20:47).

21:8–24 Those of Jabesh Gilead failed to answer the call against Benjamin, and the congregation directed Israel to strike them down. Only the virgins were spared as a way to restore the tribe. Further, the Benjamite men were allowed to take wives from among the daughters of Shiloh.

21:25 This daunting statement reveals that the problems in Israel still went unsolved.

The Book of Ruth

Author

Unknown

Date

Traditionally believed to be written in the time of the Judges, about 1300 BC. Historically, Ruth is the great-grandmother of David.

Major Theme

Redemption, a word that occurs twenty-three times in the text. Boaz acts as a redeemer by buying back Naomi's land, marrying Ruth, a Moabitess, and fathering a son to keep the family line alive. Such a "kinsman-redeemer" is symbolic of the mediating work of Christ. Ruth's position as a Gentile in the ancestry of David (and thence of Christ) signifies that all nations will be represented in the Kingdom of God.

Background

As a Moabitess, Ruth was a descendant of Lot. Twice does Scripture record that Moab, situated east of the Dead Sea, and Israel warred against each other. During a time of famine in Israel, Naomi and her Israelite family moved to Moab as matter of survival. After the death of her husband and with the famine past, she and Naomi return to Israel, to the city of Bethlehem, later to become the city of David.

Naomi's Family in Moab

1 In the days of the judges there was a famine in the land. And a man went from Bethlehem of Judah to sojourn in the country of Moab, and his wife and his sons. 2 The name of the man was Elimelech, the name of his wife was Naomi, and the names of his two sons were Mahlon and Chilion—Ephrathites from Bethlehem of Judah. And they went to the country of Moab and remained there. 3 Then Elimelech, Naomi's husband, died; and she was left with her two sons. 4 They took for themselves wives of the women of Moab: the name of the one was Orpah, and the name of the other Ruth. And they dwelt there about ten years. 5 Then both Mahlon and Chilion also died;
so the woman survived her two sons and her husband.

Naomi Returns to Judah with Ruth

6 Then she arose with her two daughters-in-law and returned from the country of Moab, for she had heard in the country of Moab that the Lord was watching over His people by giving them bread. 7 Therefore she and her two daughters-in-law left the place where she was and returned to the land of Judah. 8 And Naomi said to her two daughters-in-law, "Go, return each to her mother's house. May the Lord have mercy on you, as you have dealt with the dead and with me. 9 The Lord grant that you may find rest, each in the house of her husband." Then she kissed them, and they lifted up their voices and wept. 10 And they said to her, "We will return with you to your people." 11 But Naomi said, "Turn back, my daughters; why do you desire to go with me?
Are there still sons in my womb, that they may be your husbands? 12 Turn back, my daughters, for I am too old to have a husband. For I say, if I married and should bear a son, 13 would you wait for them till they were grown?
Would you restrain yourselves from having husbands? No, my daughters; for it grieves me very much for your sakes that the hand of the Lord has gone out from within me!" 14 Then they lifted up their voices and again wept. Orpah kissed her mother-in-law and returned to her people, but Ruth followed her.

15 And Naomi said to Ruth, "Look, your sister-in-law has returned to her people and to her gods; return after your sister-in-law." 16 But Ruth said, "Do not ask me to leave you, or turn back from following you; for wherever you go, I will go; and wherever you lodge, I will lodge; your people shall be my people, and your God, my God. 17And wherever you die, I will die, and there I will be buried. May the Lord cause this to happen to me, and more also, if anything but death parts you and me." 18When Naomi saw that she was determined to go with her, she ended her conversation with her.

19Now the two of them went until they came to Bethlehem. And the whole city shouted because of them, and said, "Is this Naomi?" 20But she said to them, "Do not call me Naomi; call me Bitter, for the Almighty has dealt very bitterly with me. 21I went out full and the Lord has brought me home again empty. Why do you call me Naomi, since the Lord has humbled me, and the Almighty has afflicted me?" 22So Naomi returned and Ruth the Moabite woman returned with her, her daughter-in-law who returned from the country of Moab. Now they came to Bethlehem at the beginning of barley harvest.

Ruth 2

Boaz Favors Ruth

1There was a relative of Naomi's husband, a man of great wealth, of the family of Elimelech. His name was Boaz. 2So Ruth the Moabite woman said to Naomi, "Please let me go to the field and glean heads of grain after him in whose eyes I may find favor." And she said to her, "Go, daughter." 3Then she left, and went and gleaned in the field after the reapers. And she happened to come to the part of the field belonging to Boaz, who was of the family of Elimelech. 4Now behold, Boaz came from Bethlehem and said to the reapers, "The Lord be with you!" And they answered him, "The Lord bless you!" 5Then Boaz said to his servant who was in charge of the reapers, "Whose young woman is this?" 6So the servant who was in charge of the reapers answered and said, "It is the young Moabite woman who came back with Naomi from the country of Moab. 7And she said, 'Let me glean and gather by handfuls after the reapers.' So she came and continued from morning until evening, not stopping to rest in the field, not even a little."

8Then Boaz said to Ruth, "Did you not hear, daughter? Do not go to glean in another field, nor go from here, but stay close by my young women. 9Let your eyes be on the field that my men reap, and follow after them. Behold, I have commanded the young men not to touch you. And when you are thirsty, go to the vessels and drink from what the young men draw." 10So she fell on her face, bowed down to the ground, and said to him, “Why have I found favor in your eyes, that you should take notice of me, since I am a stranger?”

11 And Boaz answered and said to her, “It has been fully reported to me, all that you have done with your mother-in-law since the death of your husband, and how you have left your father and your mother and the land of your birth, and have come to a people whom you did not know yesterday or the day before. 12 May the Lord repay your work, and may a full reward be given you by the Lord God of Israel, under whose wings you have come for refuge.” 13 Then she said, “Let me find favor in your sight, my lord; for you have comforted me, and have spoken to the heart of your maidservant. Behold, I will be like one of your bondswomen.” 14 Now Boaz said to her, “It is already time to eat. Come here and eat of the bread, and dip your piece of bread in the vinegar.” So Ruth sat beside the reapers, and Boaz made a pile of grain for her; and she ate and was satisfied, and kept some back.

15 And she rose up to glean, and Boaz commanded his young men, saying, “Let her glean even among the sheaves, and do not bring shame upon her.
16 When you carry sheaves, carry them for her also; and when you throw them on the piles, throw them for her also; and let her gather from what has piled up, and do not rebuke her.” 17 So she gleaned in the field until evening, and beat with a rod what she had gleaned, and it was about an ephah of barley.

18 Then she took it up and went into the city, and her mother-in-law saw what she had gleaned. So Ruth brought forth and gave to her what she had kept back after she had been satisfied. 19 And her mother-in-law said to her, “Where have you gleaned today? And where did you work? Blessed be the one who took notice of you.” So Ruth told her mother-in-law where she had worked and said, “The man’s name with whom I worked today is Boaz.” 20 Then Naomi said to her daughter-in-law, “Blessed is he of the Lord, who has not forsaken His kindness to the living and the dead!” And Naomi said to her, “This man is a relation of ours, one of our close relatives.” 21 Ruth said to her mother-in-law, “He also said to me, ‘Stay near by my young men until they finish all my reaping.’ ” 22 And Naomi said to Ruth her daughter-in-law, “It is good, my daughter, that you go out with his young women, and thus people will not meet you in another field.” 23 So she stayed close by the young women of Boaz, to glean until the end of the barley and wheat harvest; and she dwelt with her mother-in-law.

Ruth 3

Boaz Pledges to Redeem Ruth

1 Then Naomi her mother-in-law said to her, “Daughter, shall I not seek rest for you, so that it will be well with you? 2 Now Boaz, whose young women you were with, is he not our relative? In fact, he is winnowing barley tonight at the threshing floor. 3 Therefore, wash and anoint yourself, put on your best garment and go up to the threshing floor; but do not make yourself known to the man until he has finished drinking and eating. 4 Then, when he lies down, take notice of the place where he lies. Then you shall go in, uncover his feet, and lie down; and he will tell you what you should do.” 5 And Ruth said to her, “I will do everything you say.”

6 So she went down to the threshing floor and did according to all her mother-in-law instructed her. 7 And Boaz ate, and his heart was cheerful. He went to lie down at the end of the heap of grain, and she came softly and uncovered his feet. 8 Now it happened at midnight that the man was startled and disturbed; for there was a woman lying at his feet. 9 And he said, “Who are you?” So she answered, “I am Ruth, your maidservant. Take your maidservant under your wing, for you are a close relative.”

10 Then Boaz said, “Blessed are you of the Lord God, daughter! For you have shown more kindness at the end than at the beginning, in that you did not go after young men, whether rich or poor. 11 And now, daughter, do not fear. I will do for you all you request, for the whole tribe of my people knows that you are a virtuous woman. 12 Now it is true I am a close relative; however, there is a relative closer than I. 13 Stay here for the night. And in the morning, if he performs the duty of a kinsman for you, we will let him do it.
But if he does not wish to perform the duty for you, then as the Lord lives, I will perform the duty for you. Lie down until morning.”

14 So she lay at his feet until morning, and she rose before anyone could recognize another. Then Boaz said, “Do not let it be known that a woman came to the threshing floor.” 15 And he said to her, “Bring the apron that is around you.” And as she held it, he measured six ephahs of barley, and laid it on her. Then she went into the city. 16 So when she came to her mother-in-law, she said, “Is that you, my daughter?” Then Ruth told her all the man had done for her. 17 And she said to her, “He gave me these six ephahs of barley; for he said to me, ‘Do not go empty-handed to your mother-in-law.’ ” 18 Then she said, “Sit still, daughter, until you know how the matter will turn out; for the man will not rest until he has concluded the matter today.”

Ruth 4

Boaz Marries Ruth

1 Boaz went up to the gate and sat there; and behold, the close relative of whom Boaz had spoken was passing. So Boaz said to him, “Come aside, sir, sit down here.” So he came aside and sat down. 2 And Boaz took ten men of the elders of the city and said, “Sit down here.” So they sat down.

3 Then Boaz said to the relative, “As to the field which was our brother Elimelech’s, which was given to Naomi, now returning from the land of Moab; 4 I said I would inform you, saying, ‘Buy it back in the presence of the inhabitants and the elders of my people. If you will redeem it, redeem it; but if you will not redeem it, then tell me, that I may know; for there is no one but you to redeem it, and I am next after you.’ ” And he said, “I am here, I will redeem it.” 5 Then Boaz said, “On the day you buy the field from the hand of Naomi and from Ruth the Moabite woman, the wife of the deceased, you must take her as well, so as to raise up the name of the dead through his inheritance.” 6 And the close relative said, “I cannot redeem it for myself, lest I ruin my own inheritance. You redeem my right of redemption for yourself, for I cannot redeem it.”

7 Now, this was the legal custom in former times of Israel concerning redemption, and for a bargain, to confirm every word: A man took off his sandal and gave it to his neighbor who redeemed his right, and this was the testimony in Israel. 8 And the close relative said to Boaz, “Buy my right of redemption for yourself.” So he took off his sandal and gave it to him. 9 And Boaz said to the elders and all the people, “You are witnesses today that I have bought all that was Elimelech’s, and all that was Chilion’s and Mahlon’s, from the hand of Naomi. 10 Moreover, I bought for myself, to be my wife, Ruth the Moabite woman, the wife of Mahlon, to raise up the name of the dead through his inheritance; so the name of the dead may not be cut off from among his brethren and from the tribe of his people. You are witnesses today.” 11 And all the people who were at the gate said, “We are witnesses.” And the elders said, “May the Lord make the woman who is coming to your house like Rachel and Leah, who together built the house of Israel and wrought mightily in Ephrathah. She will have a name in Bethlehem. 12 And out of the seed which the Lord will give you from this young woman, may your house be like the house of Perez, whom Tamar bore to Judah.”

13So Boaz took Ruth, and she became his wife; and when he went in to her, the Lord gave her conception, and she bore a son. 14Then the women said to Naomi, “Blessed be the Lord, who has not suffered a redeemer to fail you this day, even to make your name famous in Israel! 15And he will be to you a restorer of life and a nourisher of your old age; for your daughter-in-law, who loves you, who is better to you than seven sons, has borne him.” 16Then Naomi took the child and laid him on her bosom, and became a nurse for him. 17And the neighbors themselves gave him a name, saying, “A son is born to Naomi”; and they called his name Obed. This is the father of Jesse, the father of David.

18Now this is the genealogy of Perez: Perez begot Hezron; 19Hezron begot Ram, and Ram begot Amminadab; 20Amminadab begot Nahshon, and Nahshon begot Salmon; 21Salmon begot Boaz, and Boaz begot Obed; 22Obed begot Jesse, and Jesse begot David.

Annotations for Ruth

1:1–5 Moab was an enemy of Israel, and the Jews were forbidden to have dealings with the Moabites (Dt 23:3–6). Even in time of famine, one is to trust in the Lord rather than flee to the enemy. Elimelech, whose name means "My God is King," has forsaken God and left the covenant community. He exemplifies the faithless Jews, and he died without leaving offspring in Israel.

1:6 Naomi, representing the faithful Jews who will accept redemption in Christ, returned from the country of Moab to receive the Lord's bread (see Jn 6:48). The notion of arising from a state of sin and returning to a loving Father is echoed in Christ's parable of the Prodigal Son (Lk 15:11–32).

1:11 Naomi's question, "Why do you desire to go with me?" is intended not to prevent them from following her to the Lord, but to challenge their sincerity (see Jn 6:26, 27).

1:12 Childbearing was seen as necessary to perpetuate one's life beyond death, and is symbolic of eternal life. Naomi had grown too old for childbearing.

1:14, 15 Orpah had declared her intention to follow Naomi to the Lord (v. 10), but being confronted with the realities of that life, she returns to her people and her gods (see Jn 6:66). Her kiss is metaphorically a kiss of betrayal. By contrast, Ruth followed her, forsaking all she knew and accepting the Lord. In doing so, Ruth prefigures the Gentile Church and all who would be saved.

1:19 The separation between Jew and Gentile would one day be abolished in Jesus Christ (Eph 2:14). The unbreakable alliance of Naomi and Ruth as the two of them went until they came to Bethlehem prefigures that day.

1:20, 21 Lamenting in Bethlehem over the loss of her children in Moab, Naomi prefigures Rachel, who would later lament over the loss of her children to Babylon (Jer 31:15) and over the children slain by Herod (Mt 2:16–18). See 4:11.

1:22 The beginning of barley harvest was in April. It would have occurred at about the time of the Passover, and thus of the crucifixion and Resurrection of Christ. Jesus Himself refers to the new covenant as a time of harvest (Mt 9:37, 38; Jn 4:35). Ruth is accepted at this time, showing that the Gentiles would be received into the Church.

2:1 Boaz prefigures Christ. Here he is introduced as a relative of both a faithless Jew (Elimelech) and, through marriage, a faithful one (Naomi). Boaz also had Gentile ancestry, for his mother was Rahab (Mt 1:5).

2:2 In humble acceptance of her position as foreigner, Ruth is willing to glean the Jews' leftover grain. The New Testament reminds all Gentile believers to imitate her humility (Rom 11:19–21; Eph 2:11, 12).

2:8–10 Like the Canaanite woman in Mt 15:21–28, Ruth acknowledges that she does not deserve Boaz's favor because she is a stranger. Like Christ, Boaz blesses her with his favor and protection.

2:11 The virtue of abandoning one's former life for the sake of the Lord is a prominent and recurring theme. See note on 1:14, 15.

2:14 Ruth is rewarded for her dedication by an invitation to eat with Boaz. This meal prefigures the eucharistic Supper.

2:15, 16 In Christ, Gentiles are grafted to the tree of salvation (see Rom 11), and they share equally in the reception of grace. Here Boaz issues an order to his servants ensuring that Ruth, a Gentile, is given equal treatment and an equal share of grain. There is a significant difference between the Masoretic Text and the LXX in v. 16. The former has Boaz merely instruct his servants to let extra grain fall from their bundles, distorting the underlying meaning of his order.

2:20 Naomi blesses Boaz with words applicable to Christ.

2:22 A call to remain in the community of faith. To wander in another field is to go beyond the protection of Boaz and to be subject to all manner of danger (see vv. 8, 9).

3:3 As Ruth must wash and anoint herself and put on a new garment for her encounter with Boaz, believers are washed in baptism, anointed in chrismation, and clothed in the garment of salvation in their encounter with Christ.

3:4 Where Boaz lies down, Ruth will lie down with him, and Boaz will instruct her. Likewise, as Christ was buried, the believer is also buried with Him in baptism, and thus learns how to live (Rom 6:3–11).

3:9 Take your maidservant under your wing: Ruth declares her desire to be accepted as wife by Boaz, and prophesies the acceptance of the Gentiles by Christ.

3:10 Boaz blesses Ruth because she did not go after young men, which is to say she did not pursue the cares and fleeting security of this world.

3:12, 13 The kinsman is Ruth's relative who is unwilling to redeem her (4:1–6). This unnamed man represents the Old Testament Law, which was incapable of redeeming mankind. Boaz will allow this kinsman the first opportunity to redeem Ruth; if he will not do it, Boaz himself will. For in Jewish tradition, the brother or closest relative marries his deceased brother's widow (Dt 25:5–10). In the same way, God Himself redeemed His people when the Law had failed.

3:15 The gift of barley is a sign of his promise to redeem Ruth. The number six indicates an incomplete action, which would be completed only when the promise was fulfilled. See 4:15.

4:3–6 Because of sin, the Law led to death and lacked the power to bestow life. This is illustrated when the unnamed relative is willing to accept the field from the dead man Elimelech, but he is not willing to take Ruth, the ancestor of Christ.

4:6 The unnamed kinsman unwittingly speaks the truth when he acknowledges that marrying Ruth would ruin his inheritance.

4:7, 8 The passing of a sandal represented the transfer of responsibility. In the case of the unnamed close relative passing his sandal to Boaz, we see the passing of the Law and the advent of redemption in Christ.

4:11 As Naomi was like Rachel in her grief (1:20, 21), Ruth will be like Rachel in her building up of Israel. The praise of Boaz is reminiscent of the exaltation of the messianic groom in Psalm 44.

4:12–15 The seed which the Lord will give you from this young woman initially refers to their son Obed and to the prominent figure of King David. More importantly, it declares the coming of Christ, who is the true restorer of life.

4:15 The number seven indicates a complete action, and shows that Ruth fulfills in herself the promise of Boaz. See 3:15.

The First Book of the Kingdoms

(First Samuel)

Author

Talmudic tradition views Samuel as the sole author.

Date

Traditionally believed to have been written in the time of Kings David and Solomon, 1070 to 970 BC.

Major Themes

Obedience to God, punishment for disobedience. First Kingdoms is a book of beginnings and endings in the history of the people of God. Rule by a succession of Judges (chosen from various tribes) had ended. Samuel, as a prophet, served in a monarchial role by direction of the Lord. "If only the desired whole burnt offerings and desired sacrifices were of equal value to the Lord with one who heeds the voice of the Lord. Behold! Hearing is greater than a good sacrifice, and obedience above and beyond the fat of rams" (1Kg 15:22).

A theme of God's judgment is also seen in the punishment of the priest Eli for his tolerance of his sons' disobedience, of Saul for failure to follow God's commands, and of David for his sins. Each disobedience was punished severely. Other pertinent themes are those of God changing the natural order in His miraculous gift of a son to a barren woman, in men of lowly vocations rising to be king, and in the youngest surpassing his elders to rule over them.

Background

The time period during which the events of the First Book of the Kingdoms occurred is pivotal. Israel is moving from a theocracy governed by God-appointed judges to a monarchy ruled by a king. The next four hundred years would see kings both good and bad. This history is recorded in the four books of the Kingdoms.

Elkanah at Shiloh

[1]There was a certain man of Ramathaim Zophim, of the mountain of Ephraim, whose name was Elkanah the son of Jeremeel, the son of Elihu, the son of Toke in Nasiv Ephraim. [2]He had two wives. The name of one was Hannah, and the name of the other was Peninnah. Peninnah had children, but Hannah none. [3]And each year the man went up from his city of Ramathaim to worship and sacrifice to Lord Sabaoth in Shiloh. Eli and his two sons, Hophni and Phinehas, both priests of the Lord, went there as well. [4]And on the day he came, Elkanah sacrificed and gave a portion to Peninnah his wife, and to his sons and daughters. [5]To Hannah, he gave one portion, since she was without child. However Elkanah loved Hannah more than the other one, but the Lord had closed her womb. [6]Because the Lord did not give to her a child during her tribulation, and during the discouragement of her tribulation, she was broken-hearted. The Lord had closed her womb and did not give her a child. [7]So year by year when she went up to the house of the Lord, she was broken-hearted and wept and did not eat.

Hannah's Vow

[8]Then Elkanah, her husband, said to her, "Hannah." And she said to him, "Here I am, lord." Then he said to her, "What is the matter with you? Why do you not eat? And why are you heartsick? Am I not better for you than ten children?" [9]So Hannah arose after they had finished eating in Shiloh, and she sat down before the Lord. Eli the priest was sitting nearby on the seat by the doorpost of the temple of the Lord. [10]Hannah was grieved in spirit and prayed to the Lord, lamenting and weeping. [11]She prayed a vow to the Lord God and said, "O Lord, my God of Sabaoth, if you are looking, look with favor upon the lowly state of Your handmaiden and remember me. I pray You, give Your handmaiden a seed of men, a son, and I will dedicate him before You as a gift until the day of his death. He will not drink wine nor intoxicating drink, and no razor shall come upon his head."

[12]And as she kept praying before the Lord, Eli watched her mouth. [13]And as she spoke in her heart, only her lips moved, but her voice was not heard. Therefore Eli thought she was drunk. [14]The servant of God said to her, "For how long will you remain drunk? Cast off your wine, and go out from the face of the Lord!” 15But Hannah answered and said, “No lord, I am a woman for whom this day is difficult. I drank neither wine nor intoxicating drink, but I pour out my soul before the Lord. 16Do not consider your handmaiden a daughter of pestilence just because of the multitude of my idle words I have put forth.” 17Then Eli answered and said to her, “Go in peace, and may the God of Israel grant you the petition you asked of Him.” 18And she said, “Your handmaiden has found favor in your sight.” So the woman went her way and came into her lodging and ate and drank with her husband. Her face was no longer fallen.

Birth and Dedication of Samuel

19Then they rose early in the morning and worshiped the Lord and went on their way back to Elkanah’s house at Ramathaim. And he knew Hannah his wife, and the Lord remembered her. 20She conceived, and it came to be at the appointed time she bore a son, and she called him Samuel and said, “Because I asked for him from the Lord God Sabaoth.”

21Now the man Elkanah and all his house went up to Shiloh to offer the yearly sacrifice, his vow, and the tenth portion of all his land. 22But Hannah did not go up with him, for she said to her husband, “I will not go up until our boy is weaned from me. Then he will appear in the presence of the Lord and stay there continually.” 23And Elkanah her husband said to her, “Do what is good in your eyes; wait until you have weaned him. Only let the Lord confirm as true what was coming out of your mouth.” So the woman stayed and nursed her son until she weaned him.

24And she went up with him to Shiloh with a calf three years old, loaves of bread, one ephah of flour, and a skin of wine. She came to the house of the Lord in Shiloh, and the child was with them. 25And they came before the Lord, and his father slaughtered the offering he made yearly to the Lord. He brought the child and slaughtered the calf. Then Hannah, the mother of the young boy, went to Eli. 26And she said to him, “Lord, as your soul lives, I am the woman who was standing near you while I prayed to the Lord. 27For this child I prayed, and the Lord gave me my request which I asked from Him. 28And I lend him to the Lord all the days which he lives to be fruitful to the Lord.”

Hannah's Prayer

[1]And she said:

"My heart is strengthened in the Lord;
My horn is exalted in my God.
I smile at my enemies;
I rejoice in Your salvation.
[2]Because no one is holy like the Lord,
No one is righteous like our God,
No one is holy but You.
[3]Do not boast nor speak of high things;
Let no arrogance come from your mouth,
For the Lord is the God of knowledge;
And God is preparing His actions.
[4]He weakened the bow of mighty men,
And those who are weak are girded with strength.
[5]Those who were full of bread were made empty,
And the hungry have forsaken the land.
The barren woman has borne seven,
And she who has many children has become feeble.
[6]The Lord kills and makes alive;
He brings down to Hades and raises up.
[7]The Lord makes poor and rich;
He brings low and lifts up.
[8]He raises the poor from the earth
And lifts the needy from the dung heap,
To set them among princely people
And make them inherit a throne of glory.
[9]The One who gives a prayer to the one praying,
He blesses with righteous years;
For by strength no man can prevail.
[10]The Lord makes His adversaries weak;
The Lord is holy.
Let not the man of learning boast in his understanding,
Nor let the man of might boast in his might,
Nor let the man of riches boast in his riches.
Only let the one who boasts boast in this:

To understand and to know the Lord
And to do justice and righteousness in the midst of the earth.
The Lord went up into the heaven and thundered.
The Lord judges the ends of the earth.
He gives strength to our leaders,
And He will exalt the horn of His Christ."

11 They left him there before the Lord and went away to Ramathaim, and the child performed the services before the Lord in the presence of Eli the priest.

The Sinful Sons of Eli

12 Now the sons of Eli were sons of scoundrels, not knowing the Lord. 13 And the custom of the priest for the people who sacrificed was for the servant of the priest to come while the meat was boiling, with a three-pronged meat-hook in his hand. 14 He would then thrust it into either the large kettle, or the brazen vessel, or the pot; and everything the meat-hook brought up, the priest would take for himself. So in Shiloh, they did this to all the Israelites who came there to sacrifice to the Lord. 15 Also, before they burned the fat, the servant came and said to the man who sacrificed, "Give some meat to be roasted to the priest, and I will not take any of your boiled meat from out of the cauldron."

16 And if the man sacrificing said to him, "First he should burn the fat as fitting, then you may take as much as your soul desires." But he would say, "No, you shall give it to me now, and if not, I will take it by force." 17 Therefore the sin of the servants is exceedingly great before the Lord, for they nullified the sacrifice of the Lord.

God's Servant Samuel

18 As a young boy, Samuel was serving before the Lord wearing a linen ephod of a servant. 19 Moreover, his mother used to make him a little robe, and bring it to him once a year when she came up with her husband to offer the yearly sacrifice. 20 And Eli would bless Elkanah and his wife, saying, "May the Lord repay you with a seed from this woman, in return for the loan you made to the Lord." Then the man went to his place. 21 And the Lord watched over Hannah, and she bore three more sons and two daughters. And the boy Samuel grew and matured before the Lord.

A Prophecy against Eli's House

22 Now Eli was very, very old and he heard what his sons did to the sons of Israel. 23 So he said to them, "Why are you doing what I hear from the mouth of all the people of the Lord? 24 No, my sons! For the report I hear is not good. Do not act in this manner, for the reports I hear are not good, causing the people not to serve God. 25 If one man sins against another, they will pray to the Lord for him. But if a man sins against the Lord, who will pray for him?" Nevertheless they did not heed their father's voice, so the Lord desired to destroy them. 26 But the child Samuel led his life and he grew and matured and found favor both with the Lord and with men.

27 Then a man of God came to Eli and said to him, "Thus says the Lord, 'I clearly revealed Myself to the house of your father when they were slaves in Egypt in Pharaoh's house. 28 I chose the house of your father out of all the tribes of Israel to be My priest, to go to My altar, to burn incense, and to wear an ephod before Me. And I gave to the house of your father, and to the sons of Israel, food from all the offerings of fire. 29 Why do you regard My incense and My sacrifice with impudent eyes and honor your sons more than Me; to bless yourselves with the best of all the first fruits of Israel set before Me?' 30 Therefore the Lord God of Israel says, 'I said indeed that your house and your father's house would walk before Me forever.' But now the Lord says, 'Far be it from Me, for I will honor those who honor Me, and the one who despises Me shall be dishonored. 31 Behold, the days are coming that I will destroy your seed and the seed of the house of your father. 32 And there shall not be an old man descended from you in My house forever. 33 But for you—I will not destroy a man from My altar even though his eyes have failed and his life has drained away. But all the descendants of your house shall fall by men's swords.

34 'Now this shall be the sign to you that will come upon your two sons, on Hophni and Phinehas. In one day both of them shall die. 35 Then I will raise up for Myself a faithful priest who shall do all that is in My heart and in My soul. I will build him a faithful house, and he shall walk before My Christ forever. 36 And it shall come to pass that everyone who remains in your house will, for a small amount of silver, prostrate before him begging, "Place me in the priesthood, so I may eat one loaf of bread?" ' "

The Lord Speaks to Samuel

1 The boy Samuel ministered to the Lord before Eli the priest. And the word of the Lord was precious in those days; there was no discerning vision. 2 So on that day, while Eli was lying down in his place, his eyes were starting to grow heavy, barely able to see. 3 Before the lamp of God went out, and while Samuel was asleep in the temple where the ark of God was, 4 the Lord called,
"Samuel, Samuel." Samuel answered, "Here I am!" 5 So he ran to Eli and said, "Here I am, for you called me." And Eli said, "I did not call you. Return and lie down." So he returned and lay down. 6 Then the Lord called again, "Samuel, Samuel!" So Samuel went to Eli a second time, and said, "Here I am, for you called me." Eli answered, "I did not call you. Return and lie down."

7 Now this all happened before Samuel knew the Lord, and before the word of the Lord was revealed to him. 8 And the Lord called Samuel again a third time. Then he arose and went to Eli, and said, "Here I am, for you called me."
Then Eli perceived that the Lord had called the boy. 9 And he said, "Return, lie down, my child; and if He calls you, you must say, 'O Lord, speak, for Your servant hears.' " So Samuel went and fell asleep in his place.

10 And the Lord came, and stood and called as before. So Samuel answered, "Speak, for Your servant hears." 11 Then the Lord said to Samuel, "Behold! I shall execute My words in Israel, and for everyone hearing them, both ears will tingle. 12 In that day, I will raise up against Eli everything I spoke concerning his house. This I will begin, and I will finish it. 13 For I announced to him that I will judge his house forever for the iniquity of his sons. For his sons reviled God, and he did not correct them in any way. 14 I swore to the house of Eli that the iniquity of the house of Eli shall never be atoned for with incense or with sacrifice."

15 So Samuel fell asleep and rose early in the morning. He opened the doors of the Lord's house. But Samuel was afraid to tell Eli the vision. 16 Then Eli called to Samuel, "Samuel, my child!" And he answered, "Here I am." 17 And Eli said, "What was the report the Lord spoke to you? Please do not hide it from me. May God do these things to you and more also, if you hide anything from me of what He said to you." 18 Then Samuel told him everything and hid nothing from him. And Eli said, "He is the Lord. He will do what seems good to Him."

19 So Samuel grew and matured, and the Lord was with him, and not one of his words fell to the ground. [20]And all Israel, from Dan to Beersheba, knew that Samuel was faithful as a prophet of the Lord. [21]The Lord appeared in Shiloh again, for the Lord was revealed to Samuel. And all Israel, from one end of the land to the other, believed Samuel to be a prophet of the Lord. By now Eli was an exceedingly old man, and his sons continued living as they did. And their way was evil before the Lord.

The Ark of the Covenant Captured

[1]Now in those days the Philistines gathered into battle against Israel, and Israel went out to meet them in battle and encamped beside Ebenezer. The Philistines encamped in Aphek. [2]And the Philistines prepared battle plans against Israel, and the battle turned against Israel, and the men of Israel fell before the Philistines. About four thousand men were struck down in the battle lines. [3]And when the people came into the camp, the elders of Israel said, “Why did the Lord cause us to be defeated today before the Philistines? Let us take the ark of our God out from Shiloh and let it proceed from the midst of us, and it will save us from the hand of our enemies.” [4]So the people sent to Shiloh, and from there they brought out the ark of the covenant of the Lord, who is seated between the cherubim. And the two sons of Eli, Hophni and Phinehas, were there with the ark.

[5]And when the ark of the Lord came into the camp, all Israel shouted with a loud voice, and the earth shook. [6]Now when the Philistines heard the shout, the Philistines said, “What is this great shout in the camp of the Hebrews?” Then they understood that the ark of the Lord was in the camp. [7]And the Philistines were afraid, for they said, “These are the gods that have come into the camp! Woe to us! Deliver us today, Lord, for such a thing has never happened before. [8]Woe to us! Who will deliver us from the hand of these mighty gods? These are the gods who struck the Egyptians with all the plagues in the desert. [9]Be strong and conduct yourselves like men, you Philistines, so that you do not become servants of the Hebrews, even as they previously served us. Conduct yourselves like men and fight them!” [10]So they fought them, and the men of Israel were defeated, and every man fled to his tent. There was a very great slaughter, and thirty thousand troops of Israel fell. [11]The ark of God was captured, and the two sons of Eli died, Hophni and Phinehas.

The Death of Eli

12 Then a man of Benjamin ran from the battle line, and on that day he came to Shiloh with his clothes torn and dirt on his head. 13 Behold! When he arrived, Eli was sitting on a seat by the gate watching the road, for his heart was bewildered about the ark of God. And when the man entered the city and reported it, the city cried out. 14 When Eli heard the noise of the outcry, he said, “What is the sound of this outcry?” And the man came quickly and told Eli. 15 Eli was ninety years old, and his eyes looked up and he could not see.
Then Eli said to the men standing around him, “What is this roaring sound?” 16 Then the man who came quickly to Eli said to him, “I am the one who came from the camp, who fled today from the battle line.” And he said, “What happened, my child?” 17 So the young man answered and said, “The men of Israel fled before the Philistines, and there was a great slaughter among the people, and your two sons died. And the ark of God was captured.”

18 And it came to pass, as Eli remembered the ark of God, he fell backward from the seat by the side of the gate and broke his back and died, for the man was old and heavy. He judged Israel for twenty years.

Ichabod

19 Now Eli’s daughter-in-law, Phinehas’ wife, was pregnant, about to give birth. When she heard the news that the ark of God was captured, and her father-in-law and her husband were dead, she crouched down and gave birth, for her labor pains came upon her. 20 And in her time of delivery, when she was at the point of death, the women standing at her side said to her, “Do not fear, you have borne a son.” But she did not answer, and her heart did not understand. 21 Woe, Ichabod, is what she named the young boy, for the sake of the ark of God, for her father-in-law, and for her husband. 22 And they said, “The glory of Israel is exiled from its home, for the ark of God is taken.”

1 Kingdoms 5

The Philistines Take the Ark

1 The Philistines took the ark of God and brought it from Ebenezer to Ashdod.

2 And the Philistines took the ark of the Lord and brought it into the house of their god Dagon. They set it by Dagon. 3 And when the people of Ashdod arose early in the morning, they entered the house of Dagon, and they looked and beheld Dagon falling on its face in the presence of the ark of God. So they raised Dagon and returned it to its place. And the hand of the Lord was heavy upon Ashdod. He tormented all within her borders; He smote them in their private parts. 4 Then it came to pass, when they arose early in the morning, behold Dagon had again fallen on his face before the ark of the covenant of the Lord. And the head of Dagon and both the palms of his hands were broken off, each in front of the threshold, and both the wrists of his hands were leaning on the doorway; only the torso of Dagon remained. 5 So to this day, the priests of Dagon and any who come into the house of Dagon do not tread on, but step over, the threshold of the house of Dagon in Ashdod because of this.

6 But the hand of the Lord was heavy on the people of Ashdod. He came upon them and in their ships. He brought forth disease among them. He infested their country with mice, and there was a great calamity of death in the city. 7 And when the men of Ashdod saw how it was, they said, “The ark of the God of Israel must not remain with us, for His hand is harsh upon us and Dagon our god.” 8 Therefore they sent and brought together all the lords of the Philistines in the same place and said, “What shall we do with the ark of the God of Israel?”

And the people of Gath said, “Let the ark of the God of Israel come to us.”
So the ark of God came to Gath. 9 And it came to be, after it entered Gath, that the hand of the Lord came upon the city. An exceedingly great state of confusion struck the men of the city, both small and great. He struck them in their private parts, and they made for themselves images of these. 10 Then they sent away the ark of God to Ashkelon, and it came about, when the ark of God came to Ashkelon, the people of Ashkelon cried out, saying, “Why did you turn the ark of the God of Israel toward us to kill us and our people?”
11 So they sent and gathered together all the lords of the Philistines and said, “Send away the ark of the God of Israel and let it return to its own place, so it does not kill us and our people,” for it came about that a widespread panic of death spread throughout the entire city. 12 And the living and those not dying were struck in their private parts, and the outcry of the city went up to heaven.

Return of the Ark to Israel

[1]For seven months the ark was in the country of the Philistines, and their land was infested with mice. [2]And the Philistines called for their priests, their prophets, and their enchanters, saying, “What shall we do with the ark of the Lord? Instruct us as to how we should return it to its place.” [3]So they said, “If you send away the ark of the covenant of the God of Israel, do not send it away empty. Instead, give it as an offering for the plague. Then you shall be healed and be atoned for. Otherwise His hand may never be removed from you.”

[4]Then they said, “What shall we offer to Him for this torment?” They answered, “Five golden emerods for each of the number of lords of the Philistines, since the same offense was on all of you, on your leaders and the people. [5]And for each lord, add a gold mouse that images the mice utterly ravaging your land. Then you shall give glory to the Lord; perhaps He may lighten His hand from you, from off your gods, and from off your land. [6]Why do you yet harden your hearts, as did Egypt, and Pharaoh hardened their hearts? Was it not when he mocked them that they let the people go, and they departed? [7]Now therefore, make a new wagon and take two cows with firstborn calves, and hitch the cows to the wagon. But lead the newly born calves to the pen. [8]Now take the ark and set it on the wagon, and place the offering of the golden vessels you shall render to Him in a chest next to it. And send it away and let it depart. [9]Then you shall see; if it goes through Beth Shemesh, by way of the coasts, then He brought upon us this great evil. But if not, then we shall know His hand did not touch us, but only by mere chance.” [10]And the Philistines did so.

They took two cows, each having firstborn calves, and hitched them to the wagon, putting the calves into the pen. [11]Onto the wagon they placed the ark, and the chest, and the mice made of gold. [12]The cows went straight ahead, by way of Beth-Shemesh, on the only beaten path. They proceeded and labored and did not turn aside either to the right or to the left. And the lords of the Philistines followed it to the border of Beth-Shemesh.

[13]Now the men of Beth-Shemesh were in the valley to reap the harvest of their wheat. They lifted up their eyes and saw the ark of the Lord, and they rejoiced to greet it. [14]The wagon came to a stop in the field of Joshua of Beth-Shemesh. And next to the wagon they set a large stone. They split the wood of the wagon and offered the cows as a whole burnt offering to the Lord. 15The Levites took up the ark of the Lord and with it the chest and the gold vessels and put them on the large stone. And on this day the men of Beth Shemesh offered burnt offerings and made sacrifices to the Lord. 16So when the five lords of the Philistines saw it, they returned on the same day to Ashkelon.

17These are the places the gold emerods were given as an offering to the Lord: one for Ashdod, one for Gaza, one for Ashkelon, one for Gath, and one for Ekron. 18And the gold mice were according to the number of all the cities of the Philistines belonging to the five lords, from the cities being fortified as far as the villages of Pherezite, and as far as the great stone where they placed the ark of the covenant of the Lord, in the field of Joshua of Beth-Shemesh.

19Now the sons of Jechoniah were not pleased, nor were the people of Beth-Shemesh, because as they looked at the ark of the Lord, the Lord smote fifty thousand and seventy men from among them. And the people mourned because of the people the Lord smote such a deadly blow.

The Ark at Kirjath Jearim

20And the men of Beth-Shemesh said, “Who shall be able to come before this holy Lord? And to whom shall the ark of the Lord go up from us?” 21So they sent messengers to the inhabitants of Kirjath Jearim, saying, “The Philistines have brought back the ark of the Lord, so come down and take it up with you.”

1 Kingdoms 7

1Then the men of Kirjath Jearim came and brought up the ark of the covenant of the Lord and brought it into the house of Abinadab on the hill. They consecrated Eleazar his son to keep the ark of the covenant of the Lord safe.

Samuel as Judge in Israel

2It came to pass that from the very day the ark was in Kirjath Jearim, the days multiplied to become twenty years. And all the house of Israel watched for the Lord. 3Then Samuel spoke to all the house of Israel, saying, “If you return to the Lord with all your hearts, if you put away the foreign gods and the sacred groves from among you, and if you prepare your hearts for the Lord and serve Him alone, He will deliver you from the hand of the Philistines." [4]So the sons of Israel removed the Baals and the sacred groves for Ashtoreths, and served the Lord alone. [5]And Samuel said, "Gather all Israel to Mizpah, and I will pray to the Lord for you." [6]So they gathered at Mizpah, drew water, and poured it out upon the earth before the Lord. And there they fasted on that day and said, "We sinned against the Lord." And Samuel judged the sons of Israel at Mizpah. [7]When the Philistines heard that the sons of Israel had gathered at Mizpah, the lords of the Philistines marched up against Israel. And when the sons of Israel heard of it, they were afraid before the Philistines. [8]So the sons of Israel said to Samuel, "Do not cease to cry out to the Lord our God for us, and He will save us from the hand of the Philistines." [9]And Samuel took one suckling lamb and offered it with all the people as a whole burnt offering to the Lord. Then Samuel cried out to the Lord concerning Israel, and the Lord heard him. [10]Now as Samuel was offering the burnt offering, the Philistines drew near to do battle against Israel. But the Lord thundered with a loud noise against the Philistines that day, and so confused them that they were overcome before Israel. [11]And the men of Israel went out of Mizpah and pursued the Philistines, and struck them down below Beth Car.

[12]Then Samuel took one stone and set it up between Mizpah and the older one, and called it Ebenezer, a Stone of Help, saying, "The Lord helped us here." [13]So the Lord humbled the Philistines, and they no longer came into the territory of Israel. And the hand of the Lord was against the Philistines all the days of Samuel. [14]And the cities which the Philistines took from the children of Israel were returned; they returned them to Israel from Ekron to Gath, and they took the coast of Israel out of the hand of the Philistines. There was peace between Israel and the Amorites. [15]And Samuel judged Israel all the days of his life. [16]He went yearly on a circuit to Bethel, Gilgal, and Mizpah, and he judged Israel in all those holy places. [17]But he always returned to Ramah, for his home was there, and there he judged Israel, and there he built an altar to the Lord.

Israel Wants a King

[1]Now when Samuel was old, he made his sons judges over Israel. [2]And these were the names of his sons: the firstborn was Joel, and the name of his second, Abijah; they were judges in Beersheba. [3]But his sons did not walk in his ways. They turned aside after dishonest gain, took bribes, and perverted justice.

[4]Then all the men of Israel gathered together and came to Samuel at Ramah, [5]and said to him, “Look, you have become old, and your sons do not walk in your ways. Now establish a king for us to judge us like all the rest of the nations.” [6]But this was evil in the eyes of Samuel when they said, “Give us a king to judge us.” So Samuel prayed to the Lord. [7]And the Lord said to Samuel, “Heed the voice of the people in whatever they might say to you, for they have not rejected you, but rather they have rejected Me, to bring to naught My reign over them. [8]In everything they did to Me since the day I brought them up from Egypt, even to this day, they have forsaken Me and have served other gods. So too they are doing this to you. [9]Now listen to their voice; only you shall testify solemnly to them and announce to them the custom of the king who will reign over them.”

[10]So Samuel spoke all the words of the Lord to the people who asked him for a king. [11]And he said, “This will be the custom of the king who shall reign over you. He will take your sons and put them in his chariots, and among his horsemen, and running before his chariots; [12]and for himself, he will appoint them as captains over his thousands, and captains over his hundreds; and to harvest his crop and gather his vintage; and to make his weapons of war and instruments for his chariots. [13]He will take your daughters to be perfumers, cooks, and bakers. [14]And he will take the best of your fields, your vineyards, and your olive groves and give them to his servants. [15]He will take a tenth of your grain and your vintage and give it to his eunuchs and servants. [16]And he will take your male servants, your female servants, your finest cattle, and your donkeys, and take a tenth of them for his work. [17]He will take a tenth of your sheep. And you will be his servants. [18]Then in that day you will cry out before your king whom you chose for yourselves, and the Lord will not hear you in those days, because you chose a king for yourselves.”

[19]But the people were unwilling to listen to Samuel; and they said to him, “No, rather it is that we want a king to be over us. [20]Then we will be like all the other nations, and our king will judge us and go out before us and fight our battles.” [21]And Samuel heard all the words of the people and repeated them in the hearing of the Lord. [22]So the Lord said to Samuel, “Heed their voice, and make them a king.” And Samuel said to the men of Israel, “Let every man go to his city.”

Saul to Be the King

[1]There was a man from the sons of Benjamin whose name was Kish the son of Abiel, the son of Zeror, the son of Bechorath, the son of Aphiah, a Benjamite, a man of power. [2]And he had a tall and handsome son whose name was Saul. There was no more handsome person than he among the children of Israel. He was a head taller than anyone else in the land.

[3]Now the donkeys of Kish, Saul’s father, were lost. And Kish said to his son Saul, “Take one of the servants with you, and arise, go and look for the donkeys.” [4]So they passed through the mountain of Ephraim and through the land of Shalisha, but they did not find them. Then they passed through the land of Shaalim, and they were not there. Then he passed through the land of the Benjamites, but they did not find them. [5]When they had come to the land of Zuph, Saul said to his servant who was with him, “Come, let us return, or my father will stop worrying about the donkeys and become worried about us.”

[6]And the servant said to him, “Look now, in this city there is a man of God, and he is an honorable man. All that he says surely comes to pass. So now let us go there; perhaps he can tell us the way we should go.” [7]Then Saul said to his servants who were with him, “But look, if we go, what shall we bring the man of God? For the bread in our vessels is all gone, and there is no more that belongs to us to bring to the man of God.” [8]And the servant answered Saul again and said, “Look, I have here in my hand one fourth of a shekel of silver. Give it to the man of God to tell us our way.” [9]Before this time in Israel, every one who went to inquire of God said, “Come, let us go up to the seer,” for the people previously called the prophet the seer.

[10]Then Saul said to his servant, “Well said! Come, let us go.” So they went to the city where the man of God was. [11]As they went up the hill to the city, they found some young women going out to draw water and said to them, “Is the seer here?” [12]And the young women answered them and said, “Look! He is just ahead of you. He is here now on account of the day; he has come into the city today because there is a sacrifice for the people on the high place. [13]As soon as you enter the city, you will surely find him there before he goes up to the high place to eat. For the people will not eat until he comes, for he blesses the sacrifice, and afterward the guests will eat. Now go up, for about this time you will find him." [14]So they went up to the city. As they were coming into the midst of the city, there was Samuel coming out to meet them on his way up to the high place.

[15]Now the day before Saul arrived, the Lord revealed to the ear of Samuel, saying, [16]"Tomorrow about this time I will send you a man from the land of Benjamin, and you shall anoint him commander over My people Israel. He will save My people from the hand of the Philistines, for I have looked upon the humiliation of My people, because their cry has come to Me." [17]And when Samuel saw Saul, the Lord said to him, "There he is, the man of whom I spoke to you. This one shall rule over My people." [18]Then Saul approached Samuel in the midst of the city, and said, "Please tell me, where is the seer's house?" [19]And Samuel answered Saul and said, "I am he. Go up before me to the high place and eat with me today, and in the morning before I send you forth, I will tell you all that is in your heart. [20]But as for your donkeys lost three days ago, do not let your heart be anxious about them, for they have been found. And to whom is the beauty of Israel? Is it not on you and on your father's house?" [21]Then Saul answered and said, "Am I not a son of Benjamin, of the smallest branch of the tribes of Israel, and my family the least of all the tribe of the branch of Benjamin? Why then do you speak like this to me?"

[22]Now Samuel took Saul and his servant and brought them into the hall, and he set a place for them among the chief of those who were called—about seventy men. [23]And Samuel said to the cook, "Bring the portion I gave you which I told you to set beside you." [24]So the cook lifted up the thigh and set it before Saul. Then Samuel said to Saul, "Behold! A remnant is set before you. Eat, because it is placed in front of you as a testimony to the others. Take of it." And on that day, Saul ate with Samuel. [25]When they had come down from the high place into the city, they spread a bed for Saul on the housetop. [26]He slept.

Saul Anointed King of Israel

As the morning dawned, Samuel called to Saul on the housetop, saying, "Rise up, that I may send you on your way." And Saul arose, and he and Samuel went outside. [27]As they were going down to the outskirts of the city, Samuel said to Saul, “Tell the servant to go on ahead of us. But you stand here today, and give heed to the word of God.”

1 Kingdoms 10

[1]Then Samuel took a vial of olive oil and poured it on his head, and kissed him and said to him, “Has not the Lord anointed you as ruler to His people, over Israel? You shall rule among the people of the Lord, and you shall save them from the hand of their enemies round about them. For you, this shall be the sign that the Lord anointed you as a ruler for His inheritance. [2]As you depart from me today, you shall come to find two men by Rachel’s tomb in the territory of Benjamin who are jumping about ecstatically, and they will say to you, ‘The donkeys you searched for are found, but take notice, your father stopped worrying about news concerning the donkeys and is anxious about you, saying, “What shall I do about my son?’ ” [3]Then you shall go on from there and come to the oak tree of Tabor. There you will find three men going up to God at Bethel, one carrying three young goats, one carrying three containers of bread, and one carrying a skin of wine. [4]And they will entreat you in peace and give you two loaves of bread, which you shall take from their hands. [5]After this, you shall come to the hill of God, which for the Philistines is the high place there. The Philistine Nasib is located there. And when you enter the city, you will meet a band of prophets coming down from the high place with a stringed instrument, a tambourine, a flute, and a harp before them. They will be prophesying. [6]Then the Spirit of the Lord will come upon you, and you shall prophesy with them, and you shall be turned into another man. [7]And when these signs shall come to pass for you, do all the many things your hand finds to do, because God is with you. [8]You shall go down before me to Gilgal, and I will come down to you to offer burnt offerings and peace offerings. You shall wait for seven days, till I come to you and show you what to do.”

[9]So it came about that when he turned his back to depart from Samuel, God gave him another heart; and all the signs came to pass on that day. [10]And he came there to the hill, and behold there was a band of prophets opposite him, and the Spirit of God came upon him, and he prophesied in the midst of them. [11]It came about that all those who had seen him previously saw it, and behold, he was in the midst of the prophets. And the people said, each one to his neighbor, “What is this that has happened to the son of Kish? Is Saul also among the prophets?” [12]Then one of them answered and said, “But who is his father?” Therefore it became a proverb: “Truly, even Saul is among the prophets.” [13]And he finished prophesying and came to the hill. [14]Then his kinsman said to him and his servant, “Where did you go?” So he said, “To look for the donkeys. We saw they were lost; we went to Samuel.” [15]And the kinsman said to Saul, “What did Samuel say to you?” [16]So Saul said to his kinsman, “In his explaining, he told me the donkeys were found.” But he did not tell him about the matter of the kingdom.

Saul Proclaimed King

[17]Then Samuel proclaimed to all the people in the presence of the Lord at Mizpah, [18]and to the sons of Israel he said, “Thus says the Lord God of Israel, ‘I brought the sons of Israel up from Egypt and delivered you from the hand of Pharaoh, king of Egypt, and from all the kingdoms that oppressed you.’ [19]But today you rejected God, who Himself is your Savior from all your adversities and tribulations. And you said to Him, ‘No! Set a king over us!’ Therefore, now stand before the Lord according to your tribes and according to your families.” [20]Then Samuel brought near all the tribes of Israel, and by lot the tribe of Benjamin was chosen. [21]And he brought near the tribe of Benjamin by families, and by lot the family of Matri was chosen. And the men of the family of Matri came near, and by lot Saul, the son of Kish, was chosen. But when Samuel sought him, he could not be found. [22]So Samuel asked yet again of the Lord, “Has this man come here yet?” And the Lord answered, “Look! He is there, hidden among the equipment.” [23]So they ran and brought him from there. And when Saul stood among the people, he was a head taller than all the other people. [24]Then Samuel said to all the people, “Do you see him whom the Lord has chosen for Himself, that there is no one like him among all of you?”

All the people recognized and understood and said, “Long live the king!” [25]Then Samuel explained to the people the custom of the king, and he wrote it in a book and placed it before the Lord. And Samuel sent all the people away, and every man went to his place. [26]And Saul also went home to Gibeah; and with Saul, the sons of valor whose hearts the Lord inspired. [27]But perverse men said, “How shall this man save us?” So they despised him and brought him no gifts.

Saul Strikes Down the Ammonites

[1]It came to be, about a month later, Nahash the Ammonite marched up and encamped against Jabesh Gilead, and all the men of Jabesh said to Nahash the Ammonite, “Make a covenant with us, and we will serve you.” [2]And Nahash the Ammonite answered them, “I will make a covenant with you on this one condition, that I should put out all your right eyes, and I will lay a reproach upon Israel.” [3]Then the men of Jabesh said to him, “Hold off seven days for us, so we may send messengers to all the territory of Israel. And if then there is no one to save us, we will come out to you.”

[4]So the messengers came to Saul at Gibeah, and in the hearing of the people they told the news. And all the people lifted up their voices and wept. [5]And behold, after the early morning, Saul came forth from the field and said, “What makes the people weep?” So they explained to him in detail the words of the sons of Jabesh. [6]And as Saul heard these words, the Spirit of the Lord came upon him and his anger was greatly aroused. [7]Then he took two oxen and cut them in pieces and sent them throughout the territory of Israel by the hands of messengers, saying, “Whoever does not follow Saul and Samuel, so shall it be done to his oxen.”

And the fear of the Lord fell on the people of Israel, and they cried out as one man. [8]When Saul numbered them in Bezek on the high place, the men of Israel were six hundred thousand, and the men of Judah seventy thousand. [9]And they said to the messengers who came, “Thus you shall say to the men of Jabesh, ‘Tomorrow, by the time the sun is hot, you shall have deliverance.’ ” So the messengers came into the city and reported it to the men of Jabesh, and they were glad. [10]Therefore the men of Jabesh said to Nahash the Ammonite, “Tomorrow we will come out to you, and you may do with us whatever seems good to you.” [11]And it came about on the next day that Saul first divided the people of the army into three companies, and then in the morning watch they entered into the midst of the camp and struck the sons of Ammon until the heat of the day. And those who survived scattered, so no two of them were left together. [12]Then the people said to Samuel, “Who was saying, ‘Saul shall not reign over us’? Bring the men so we may put them to death.” [13]But Saul said, “No one shall be put to death today, for today the Lord has accomplished salvation in Israel.”

14 Then Samuel said to the people, “Let us go to Gilgal and restore the kingdom there.” 15 So all the people went to Gilgal, and there Samuel anointed Saul king before the Lord in Gilgal. And there they sacrificed the meat offering and the peace offerings before the Lord, and Samuel rejoiced, as did all Israel, exceedingly.

Samuel Speaks at Saul’s Coronation

1 Now Samuel said to all the men of Israel, “Indeed! I heeded your voice in all the many things you said to me, and I appointed a king to reign for you.
2 Now behold, the king goes before you, and I grow old and will rest. And behold, my sons are with you. And behold, I have walked before you from my youth to this day. 3 Behold, here I am; answer against me before my Lord and before His anointed one. Whose calf have I taken, or whose donkey have I taken? Whom of you have I oppressed, or whom have I cheated? From whose hand have I taken any bribe, even a sandal? Bear witness against me, and I will pay it back to you.” 4 And they said to Samuel, “You have not wronged us or oppressed us or crushed us, nor taken anything from anyone’s hand.” 5 Then Samuel said to the people, “The Lord is witness among you, and His anointed one is witness this day, that you have not found anything in my hand.” And they answered, “He is a witness.”

6 Then Samuel said to the people, “It is the Lord who appointed Moses and Aaron as witnesses. It is the Lord who brought your fathers up from Egypt.
7 Now, therefore, stand still and I will judge you before the Lord and relate to you all the righteous acts the Lord did for you and your fathers. 8 Thus when Jacob and his sons went into Egypt and Egypt humbled them, and our fathers cried out to the Lord and the Lord sent Moses and Aaron, He brought your fathers out of Egypt and settled them in this place. 9 And they forgot the Lord their God, and He delivered them over into the hands of Sisera, commander of Jabin king of Hazor, into the hands of the Philistines, and into the hands of the king of Moab; and they waged war against them. 10 Then they cried out to the Lord and said, ‘We have sinned because we have forsaken the Lord. We served the Baals and the sacred groves; but now deliver us from the hand of our enemies and we will serve You.’ 11 And the Lord sent Jerubbaal, Barak, Jephthah, and Samuel, and delivered you out of the hand of your enemies on every side, and you then dwelt in safety. [12]And you saw Nahash king of the sons of Ammon come against you, and you said, ‘No, none but a king shall reign over us’; whereas the Lord your God is your King.

[13]“Now, therefore, here is the king you have chosen, and see, the Lord has provided a king for you. [14]If you fear the Lord and serve Him and obey His voice, and do not resist the words of the Lord, then both you and the king who reigns over you will continue to follow the Lord. [15]But if you do not obey the voice of the Lord, but resist the words of the Lord, then the hand of the Lord will be against you and against your king. [16]Now, therefore, stand and see the great thing the Lord will do before your eyes. [17]Is today not the wheat harvest? I will call to the Lord, and He will send thunder and rain, that you may know and see that you have done great wickedness before the Lord in asking a king for yourselves.” [18]So Samuel called on the Lord, and the Lord sent thunder and rain that day; and all the people greatly feared the Lord and Samuel.

[19]And all the people said to Samuel, “Pray for your servants to the Lord your God, so that we do not die; for we have added to all our sins in asking for ourselves a king.” [20]Then Samuel said to the people, “Do not fear. You have done all this wickedness; only do not turn away from following the Lord. Serve the Lord with all your heart. [21]And do not turn aside after empty things which cannot profit anyone or deliver them, for they are nothing. [22]For the Lord will not reject His people for the sake of His mighty name, for it pleased the Lord to accept you as His people. [23]Far be it from me to sin against the Lord in ceasing to pray for you; but I will serve the Lord and show you the good and the right way. [24]Only fear the Lord and serve Him in truth with all your heart, for you know what great things He has done for you. [25]But if you still do wickedly, you shall be joined together in death, both you and your king.”

Battle with the Philistines

[1]Saul chose for himself three thousand men from the men of Israel. Two thousand were with Saul in Michmash and on the mountain of Bethel, and a thousand were with Jonathan in Gibeah of Benjamin. He sent the rest of the people away, each man to his dwelling.

[2]And Jonathan smote Nasib the Philistine who dwelt in the hill; and the Philistines heard of it. Then Saul blew the trumpet throughout all the land, saying, “The servants have rejected us!” [3]All Israel heard it said that Saul smote Nasib the Philistine. Now Israel had been put to shame before the Philistines, and the people cried out after Saul at Gilgal.

[4]Then the Philistines gathered to fight with Israel. Thirty thousand chariots and six thousand horsemen came up against Israel, and as many troops as the sand on the seashore. And they came up and encamped in Michmash opposite Beth Aven southward. [5]When the men of Israel saw they were in danger, they did not draw near. Instead the people hid in caves, in holes, in rocks, in trenches, and in pits. [6]They even crossed the River Jordan to the land of Gad and Gilead.

Saul’s Unlawful Offering

Saul was still in Gilgal, and all the people standing with him were confused. [7]Then Saul waited, as Samuel had said, for seven days for a testimony. But Samuel did not come to Gilgal, and his people scattered from him. [8]So Saul said, “Bring me a sacrifice so I may offer the whole burnt offering and peace offering”; and he offered the whole burnt offering. [9]And it came to pass, when he finished presenting the burnt offering, Samuel came, and Saul went out to meet him so that Samuel might bless him. [10]Then Samuel said, “What have you done?” And Saul said, “When I saw the people scatter from me, and you did not come within the days of testimony as you arranged, and the Philistines gathered at Michmash, [11]then I said, ‘The Philistines will now come down against me at Gilgal, and I have not prayed in the presence of the Lord.’ Therefore I forced myself, and I offered a burnt offering.” [12]And Samuel said to Saul, “You have rendered it vain because you did not keep my commandments which the Lord commanded you. For now the Lord would have established your kingdom over Israel forever. [13]But now your kingdom shall not stand. The Lord will seek a man for Himself after His own heart, and the Lord will appoint him to be ruler for His people, because you have not kept what the Lord commanded you.”

[14]Then Samuel arose and departed from Gilgal, and the remnant of the people followed behind Saul to join with the men of war. And when they arrived from Gilgal to Gibeah of Benjamin, Saul numbered the people with him, about six hundred men. [15]Saul, Jonathan his son, and the people with them remained in Gibeah of Benjamin and wept. But the Philistines encamped in Michmash. [16]And the troops came out of the camp of the Philistines in three companies; one company turned by way of Ophrah toward the land of Shual. [17]Another company turned by way of Beth Horon, and another company turned by way of Gibeah, overlooking the Valley of Zeboim.

[18]Now there was not a blacksmith to be found throughout all the land of Israel, for the Philistines said, “Lest the Hebrews make swords or spears.” [19]Thus all Israel went down to the land of the Philistines to forge each man’s ploughshare into his light armor, his tool, his ax, and his sickle. [20]It was near the time of the harvest, and three shekels is the value of a ploughshare, and the same value for the axes and the sickles. [21]And it came about in the days of the Michmash war, there was neither sword nor spear to be found in the hand of any of the troops with Saul and Jonathan. But they were found with Saul and Jonathan his son. [22]And they went out from the land of the Philistines to the place beyond Michmash.

Jonathan Defeats the Philistines

[1]Now it happened one day that Jonathan, the son of Saul, said to the young servant carrying his armor, “Come here! Let us cross over to that other side, into the outpost of the Philistine garrison.” But he did not tell his father of this. [2]Now Saul sat on the top of the hill under a pomegranate tree on the hill in Migron. There were about six hundred men with him. [3]And Ahijah the son of Ahitub, brother of Ichabod son of Phinehas, son of Eli the priest of the Lord in Shiloh, was wearing the ephod. But the people did not know Jonathan had left.

[4]In the midst of the passage by which Jonathan sought to travel over to the encampment of the Philistines, there was a sharp rock on one side and a sharp rock on the other. The name of one was Bozez, and the name of the other Seneh. [5]The one faced northward opposite Michmash, and the other southward opposite Gibeah. [6]Then Jonathan said to his young servant carrying his armor, “Come, let us cross over into the outpost of these uncircumcised men, if by chance the Lord will do something for us; for the Lord is not constrained to deliver by the many or by the few.” [7]So his armor-bearer said to him, “Do everything toward which your heart inclines. Behold!

I am with you as your heart is my heart.” [8]Then Jonathan said, “Very well, let us cross over to these men, and we will come down over them from the hill. [9]If they should say to us, ‘You there, withdraw until we send for you,’ then we will stand by ourselves and will not go up against them. [10]But if they say thus, ‘Come up to us,’ then we will go up, for the Lord has delivered them into our hands. This will be a sign to us.”

[11]When both of them went up to the Philistine garrison, the Philistines said, “Look, the Hebrews came out of the holes they dug, where they hid themselves.” [12]Then the men of the garrison called to Jonathan and his armor-bearer and said, “Come against us and we will show you something.” Jonathan said to his armor-bearer, “Come up after I do, for the Lord has delivered them into the hands of Israel.” [13]Then Jonathan, with his armor-bearer after him, went up on his hands and knees. They looked upon the face of Jonathan, and he struck them. Even his armor-bearer killed them. [14]This was the first slaughter Jonathan and his armor-bearer made, taking twenty men with arrows and slings and pebbles of the field. [15]Bewilderment came over the army camp and in the field. All the troops in the garrison, and those being utterly destroyed, were in a state of shock and could not act. The land was astounded, and bewilderment came from the Lord.

[16]Now the watchmen of Saul looked, and behold, from here it was seen that the opposing army was having trouble, and [17]Saul said to the people with him, “Number yourselves now and see who has gone out from us.” And they made a roll call, and Jonathan and his armor-bearer were not found. [18]And Saul said to Ahijah, “Bring the ephod here.” For on that day the ephod was raised up in the presence of Israel. [19]Now it happened as Saul spoke to the priest, that the noise in the camp of the Philistines became louder. So Saul said to the priest, “Withdraw your hands.” [20]Then Saul and all the people with him cried aloud, and they went into battle. Indeed, every man’s sword was against the enemy next to him. There was great confusion. [21]And the slaves who were with the Philistines before that time and went up with them to the camp changed loyalties and joined the Israelites, along with Saul and Jonathan. [22]Likewise all the men of Israel hidden in the mountains of Ephraim, when they heard the Philistines had fled, followed hard after them in battle. [23]On that day, the Lord saved Israel.

Saul’s Curse

All the troops with Saul were about ten thousand men. The battle itself shifted to Beth Aven, and it extended to all the cities in the mountain of Ephraim. [24]In ignorance, Saul, unaware of the full extent of what had happened that day, placed the people under an oath, saying, “Cursed is the man who eats food until the evening, and those opposed to me, I will punish.” So none of the people tasted food. [25]Before this, all the troops had not eaten. And then they came to an oak tree with a beehive nearby on the ground. [26]As the men approached the beehive, they continued talking, and no one put his hand to his mouth, for they feared the oath to the Lord. [27]But Jonathan had not heard his father charge the people with the oath. Therefore he stretched out the end of the rod that was in his hand and dipped it in a honeycomb. He put his hand to his mouth and his countenance brightened. [28]Then one of the people answered and said, “Your father strictly charged the people with an oath, saying, ‘Cursed is the man who eats food this day.’ ” But the people were growing weary, [29]and Jonathan knew it, and said, “See indeed, my father has troubled the land, but look now, how my countenance has brightened because I tasted a little of this honey. [30]Truly, if the people had freely eaten today from the spoils of their enemies, the slaughter among the Philistines would have been greater.”

[31]Now on that day, Saul smote the Philistines in Michmash, but the people were extremely weary. [32]And the people turned to the spoils and took sheep, oxen, and calves. And they slaughtered them on the ground, and the people ate them with the blood. [33]This was told Saul, saying, “They have sinned against the Lord by eating with the blood!” So Saul said, “Roll a large stone to me here out of Gethem.” [34]And Saul said, “Disperse yourselves among the people and say to them, ‘Everyone bring his ox and his sheep here and slaughter them here on this stone. Then eat, but do not sin against the Lord by eating with the blood.’ ” So each of the people brought what was in his hand, and they slaughtered them there. [35]Then Saul built an altar to the Lord. This was the first altar he built to the Lord.

[36]And Saul said, “Let us go down against the Philistines by night and plunder them until dawn. Let us not leave a man among them.” And they said, “Do whatever seems good to you. Then the priest said, “Come here; let us draw near to God.” [37]So Saul asked God, “Shall I go down after the Philistines? Will You deliver them into the hands of Israel?” But He did not answer him on that day. [38]And Saul said, “Bring here all the chiefs of Israel, and know and see today by whom this sin came to be. [39]As the Lord lives who saved Israel, if the answer should be against Jonathan my son, he shall surely die.” And from among all the people no answer was given by anyone.

40Then Saul said to all Israel, “You may be bound, or I and my son Jonathan may be bound.” And the people said to Saul, “Do what seems good to you.” 41Saul then said to the Lord God of Israel, “Why did you not answer your servant today? O Lord God of Israel, if there is wrongdoing in me or in Jonathan my son, give clarity. And if you say this, give mercy to your people Israel.” So Saul and Jonathan were designated by lot, and the people escaped.
42Then Saul said, “Cast lots between me and Jonathan my son. Whoever the Lord designates by lot, let him die.” But the people said to Saul, “This is not the right thing to do.” But Saul prevailed over the people, and they cast lots between him and Jonathan his son. Jonathan was appointed by lot. 43Then Saul said to Jonathan, “Tell me what you did.” And Jonathan told him, saying, “I was tasting a little honey with the end of the rod that was in my hand. Behold! I must die!” 44So Saul said to him, “May God do the same to me, and more also, for you shall die today.” 45But the people said to Saul, “Should he who brought this great deliverance in Israel die? As the Lord lives, not one hair of his head should fall to the ground, for the people of God prevailed on that day.” In this way, the people interceded for Jonathan that day, and he did not die. 46Then Saul returned from pursuing the Philistines, and the Philistines went to their own place.

The Royal Family

47Now Saul accepted his portion of the work for Israel, and waged war round about on all his enemies: against Moab, against the sons of Ammon, against the sons of Edom, against Betheor, against the kings of Zobah, and against the Philistines. Wherever he turned, he was victorious. 48And he gathered an army and smote the Amalekites and delivered Israel from out of the hands of those despising him. 49The sons of Saul were Jonathan, Jishui, and Malchishua. The name of his firstborn daughter was Merab, and the name of the younger was Michal. 50The name of his wife was Ahinoam the daughter of Ahimaaz. And the name of the commander of his army was Abner the son of Ner, of the house of Saul. 51Kish was the father of Saul, and Ner the father of Abner was the son of Jamin, the son of Abiel. 52Now there was fierce war with the Philistines all the days of Saul. And when Saul saw any mighty man or any valiant man, he gathered him for himself.

Defeat of the Amalekites

[1]Samuel said to Saul, “The Lord sent me to anoint you king over Israel. Now therefore, heed the voice of the Lord. [2]Thus says the Lord Sabaoth, ‘I will exact vengeance for what Amalek did to Israel when he met Israel on his journey coming out of Egypt. [3]Now go and strike down Amalek and Jerim and all of his things, and take nothing from him. You shall utterly destroy him. You shall curse him and everything that is his. You shall not spare anything of his. And you shall slay both man and woman, infant and nursing child, calf and sheep, and camel and donkey.’ ” [4]So Saul told the people and numbered them in Gilgal, four hundred thousand troops, and from Judah thirty thousand troops. [5]And Saul came to the cities of Amalek and set an ambush in the valley. [6]Then Saul said to the Kenites, “Go and depart from among the Amalekites, lest I destroy you with them. For you showed mercy to the sons of Israel when they came up out of Egypt.” So the Kenites departed from the midst of Amalek.

[7]Saul attacked the Amalekites from Havilah all the way to Shur, which is before Egypt. [8]He took captive Agag king of the Amalekites, and he killed all the people of Jerim with the edge of the sword. [9]But Saul and all the people spared Agag and the best of the sheep, the oxen, the fatlings, the vineyards, and everything good. They had no desire to utterly destroy them—only every despised and worthless thing; these they destroyed.

The Lord Deposes Saul as King

[10]Now the word of the Lord came to Samuel, saying, [11]“I deeply regret I set up Saul to reign as king, for he turned back from following Me and has not kept My words.” And it grieved Samuel, and he cried out to the Lord all night. [12]Samuel rose early and journeyed to a meeting with Israel in the early morning. Then it was reported to Samuel, saying, “Saul has been in Carmel to gather help to himself.” Samuel turned the chariot and went down to Saul in Gilgal. And behold, Saul offered the whole burnt offering to the Lord, the first of the plunder brought out of Amalek. [13]Then Samuel went to Saul, and Saul said to him, “Blessed are you by the Lord! I established all the many things the Lord said.” [14]But Samuel said, “What then is the sound of the flock in my ears, and the sound of oxen which I hear?” [15]And Saul said, “I brought them from Amalek; for the people spared the best of the sheep and the oxen, in order that they may be sacrificed to the Lord your God. The rest I utterly destroyed.” [16]But Samuel said to Saul, “Be quiet, and I will tell you what the Lord said to me last night." And Saul said to him, "Speak on."

17So Samuel said to Saul, "Were you not small before Him, you who with a sceptre lead all the families of the tribes of Israel? Even so, the Lord still anointed you king over Israel. 18Now the Lord sent you off on a mission and said, 'Go and utterly destroy the sinners for me, the Amalekites, and fight against them until you consume them.' 19Why did you not heed the voice of the Lord, but rushed down on the spoils and did evil before the Lord?"

20And Saul said to Samuel, "For the sake of the people, I listened to their voice, but I also went in the ways the Lord sent me. I brought back Agag king of Amalek and utterly destroyed the Amalekites. 21But the people took of the plunder, the sheep and the oxen, the best of what should have been utterly destroyed, to sacrifice before the Lord our God in Gilgal." 22Then Samuel said, "If only the desired whole burnt offerings and desired sacrifices were equal to the Lord, as compared to one who heeds the voice of the Lord!
Behold! Hearing is better than a good sacrifice and obedience than the fat of rams. 23That sin is one and the same as divination. Idols bring grief and pain.
Because you rejected the word of the Lord, the Lord rejects you from remaining king over Israel." 24Then Saul said to Samuel, "I sinned because I transgressed the word of the Lord and your word; for I feared the people and heeded their voice. 25Now therefore, take away my sin and return with me, so that I can worship the Lord your God." 26But Samuel said to Saul, "I will not return with you, because you rejected the word of the Lord, and the Lord rejects you from remaining king over Israel."

27As Samuel turned his face to go away, Saul grasped the edge of his robe and tore it. 28So Samuel said to him, "The Lord has rent the kingdom of Israel from your hand today, and He will give it to a neighbor of yours who is better than you. 29And Israel will be divided in two, and God shall not turn back nor repent. For He is not like a man that He should repent." 30Then Saul said, "I have sinned, but indeed honor me before the elders of Israel and my people. Return with me, and I will worship the Lord your God." 31So Samuel turned back after Saul, and he worshiped the Lord.

32Then Samuel said, "Bring me Agag king of Amalek." So Agag came to him trembling. And Agag said, "Surely this is the bitter death." 33And Samuel said to Agag, "As your sword made women childless, so shall your mother be made childless among women." So before the Lord, Samuel put Agag to death in Gilgal. 34Then Samuel went to Ramah, and Saul went up to his house at Gibeah. 35And Samuel did not go to see Saul again until the day of his death. Nevertheless, Samuel mourned for Saul, and the Lord regretted that Saul reigned over Israel.

David Anointed King of Israel

[1]Now the Lord said to Samuel, “How long will you mourn for Saul, seeing I have rejected him from reigning over Israel? Fill your horn with olive oil and come. I will send you to Jesse in Bethlehem, for I have seen someone among his sons to reign for Me.” [2]And Samuel said, “How can I go? Saul will hear it and he will kill me.” And the Lord said, “Take a heifer in your arms and say, ‘I have come to sacrifice to the Lord.’ [3]Then invite Jesse to the sacrifice, and I will show you what to do. You shall anoint the one I tell you.”

[4]So Samuel did everything the Lord said to him and went to Bethlehem. And the elders of the town were astonished at meeting him, and they said, “Seer, do you come in peace?” [5]And he said, “Peaceably I have come to sacrifice to the Lord. Sanctify yourselves and rejoice with me today.” Then he sanctified Jesse and his sons, and he invited them to the sacrifice. [6]And it came to be when they entered that Samuel looked at Eliab and said, “Surely the anointed of the Lord is before Him.” [7]But the Lord said to Samuel, “Have no regard for his outward appearance, nor for the maturity of his stature, because I have refused him. For man does not see as God sees; for man looks at the outward appearance, but the Lord sees into the heart.”

[8]So Jesse called Abinadab and made him pass before Samuel. And Samuel said, “The Lord did not choose this one either.” [9]Then Jesse brought Shammah. But Samuel said, “Nor has the Lord chosen this one.” [10]Thus Jesse brought seven of his sons before Samuel. And Samuel said to Jesse, “The Lord has not chosen these.” [11]Then Samuel said to Jesse, “Are there any other young men here?” Then Jesse said, “There remains yet the youngest, keeping the sheep.” And Samuel said to Jesse, “Send and bring him. For we will not sit down till he comes here.” [12]So he sent and brought him in. Now he was ruddy, with bright eyes, and good-looking to the Lord. And the Lord said to Samuel, “Arise, anoint David; for he is good!” [13]Then Samuel took the horn of olive oil and anointed him in the midst of his brothers; and the Spirit of the Lord came upon David from that day forward. So Samuel arose and went to Ramah.

David in the Court of Saul

14 But the Spirit of the Lord departed from Saul, and an evil spirit from the Lord tormented him. 15 And Saul's servants said to him, "Behold, an evil spirit from the Lord is tormenting you. 16 Now let your servants speak before you, and let them seek for our lord a man who knows how to play the harp.
And it will come to pass when the evil spirit is upon you, he will play his harp, and it will be good for you and give you rest." 17 So Saul said to his servants, "Indeed, seek out for me a man who plays skillfully and bring him to me." 18 Then one of his servants answered and said, "Look, I have seen a son of Jesse the Bethlehemite who understands playing on the harp, a prudent man, a man of war, wise in speech, handsome; and the Lord is with him."

19 Therefore Saul sent messengers to Jesse and said, "Send me your son David, who is with the sheep." 20 And Jesse took a homer of bread, a skin of wine, and one young goat, and sent them by the hand of his son David to Saul. 21 So David came to Saul and stood before him. And he loved him greatly, and he became his armor-bearer. 22 Then Saul sent to Jesse, saying,
"Let David stand here before me, for he has found favor in my sight." 23 So whenever the evil spirit was upon Saul, David would take a harp and play it with his hand. Then Saul would become well refreshed, and the evil spirit would depart from him.

David and Goliath

1 Now the Philistines brought their armies together for battle, and they gathered at Sochoh of Judah. They encamped between Sochoh and Azekah in Ephes Dammim. 2 And Saul and the men of Israel gathered, and they were encamped in the valley. They were to set up in battle formation opposite the Philistines. 3 The Philistines stood on a mountain on one side, and Israel stood on a mountain on the other side, with the valley between them.

4 And a mighty man went out from the battle line of the Philistines named Goliath, from Gath. His height was four cubits and a span. 5 He had a helmet on his head, and he wore a breastplate of chain mail; and the weight of his breastplate was five thousand shekels of brass and iron. 6 And he had armor made of bronze on his legs and a bronze shield between his shoulders. 7 Now the staff of his spear was like the beam of a loom, and his iron spearhead weighed six hundred shekels. A shield-bearer went before him. [8]Then he stood and shouted out to the armies of Israel and said to them, “Why have you come out to line up for battle against us? Am I not a Philistine, and you Hebrews of Saul? Choose a man for yourselves, and let him come down to me. [9]If he is able to fight with me and kill me, then we will be your servants. But if I am able to kill him, then you shall be our servants and serve us.” [10]And the Philistine said, “Look! This very day I challenge the ranks of the armies of Israel. Give me a man that the two of us can fight one on one.” [11]When Saul and all Israel heard these words of the Philistine, they were dismayed and greatly afraid.

[12]But David said to Saul, “Let not the heart of my lord fall in regards to him. Your servant will go and fight with this foreigner.” [13]And Saul said to David, “No, you are not able to go to the Philistine to fight him, since you are a young man, and he is a man of war from his youth.” [14]But David said to Saul, “Your servant used to tend the flock for his father, and when a lion or a bear came and took a sheep out of the flock, [15]I followed it and struck it, and delivered the sheep from its mouth. And as it arose against me, I caught it by its throat and struck and killed it. [16]Your servant smote both the lion and the bear; and the uncircumcised Philistine will be as one of them to me. Will I not go and kill him today, and remove the reproach of Israel? For who is this uncircumcised one who challenged the ranks of the armies of Israel? [17]The Lord, who delivered me from the paw of the lion and from the paw of the bear, He will deliver me from the hand of this uncircumcised Philistine.” And Saul said to David, “Go, and the Lord will be with you!”

[18]So Saul clothed David with armor, and he put a bronze helmet on his head, [19]and he girded David with his sword over his armor. David made a trial walking with them a time or two. And David said to Saul, “I am not able to go with these, for I have not tested them.” So they removed them. [20]Then David took his staff in his hand, and chose for himself five smooth stones from the brook. He put them in a shepherd’s bag to store away, and in his hand was his sling. He then approached the Philistine.

[21]And when Goliath saw David, he disdained him; for he was a young boy, ruddy with a good countenance. [22]So the Philistine said to David, “Am I as a dog, that you come against me with a staff and stones?” Then David said, “No, worse than a dog!” And the Philistine cursed David by his gods. [23]And the Philistine said to David, “Come to me, and I will give your flesh to the birds of heaven and the beasts of the field!”

[24]Then David said to the Philistine, “You come to me with a sword, with a spear, and with a shield. But I come to you in the name of the Lord Sabaoth, the God of the armies of Israel, whom you reproached today. [25]Today the Lord will deliver you into my hand, and I will kill you and take your head from you. And this day I will give your carcass and the carcasses of the camp of the Philistines to the birds of heaven and the wild beasts of the earth, and all the earth will know that there is a God in Israel. [26]Then all this assembly shall know that the Lord does not save with sword and spear; for the battle is the Lord’s, and the Lord will deliver you into our hands.”

[27]And the Philistine arose and came and drew near to meet David. [28]Then David put his hand in his bag and took out one stone. He slung it and struck the Philistine on the forehead. The stone penetrated through his helmet and into his forehead. He fell to the ground on his face. [29]So David prevailed over the Philistine with a sling and a stone. He struck the Philistine and killed him, and there was no sword in the hand of David. [30]Therefore, David ran and stood over the Philistine, took his sword, and killed him and cut off his head. And the Philistines saw that their champion was dead, and they fled.

[31]Now the men of Israel and Judah arose and shouted, and pursued them as far as the entrance of Gath and to the gates of Ashkelon. And the wounded Philistines fell on the way to the gates, even as far as Gath and Ashkelon. [32]Then the men of Israel returned from pursuing the Philistines, and they plundered their camp. [33]And David took the head of the Philistine and brought it to Jerusalem. He put his armor in his tent.

Saul’s Jealousy of David

[1]From all the cities of Israel, women came out dancing with tambourines, with joy, and with cymbals to greet David. [2]And the women began a song and sang, “Saul slew his thousands, and David his ten thousands.”

[3]These words seemed evil in the eyes of Saul, and he said to David, “They ascribed to you ten thousands, and to me they ascribed only thousands.” [4]So from that day forward, Saul eyed David with suspicion, [5]as Saul was apprehensive of the mere presence of David, [6]and he removed David from himself. He made David his captain of a thousand, and he went out and came in before the people. [7]David was prudent in all his ways, and the Lord was with him. [8]And Saul saw David to be exceedingly wise, and felt challenged by his presence. [9]But all Israel and Judah loved David, for he went out and came in before the people.

David Weds Michal

[10]Now Michal, daughter of Saul, loved David. And it was told to Saul, and it was pleasing in his eyes. [11]So Saul said, “I will give her to him, and she will be a stumbling-block to him.” At this same time, the hand of the Philistines was against Saul. [12]So Saul gave instruction to his servants, saying, “Speak to David secretly and say, ‘Look, the king delights in you, and all his servants love you. Become the son-in-law of the king.’ ” [13]So Saul’s servants spoke these words in the ear of David. And David said, “Is it trivial in your eyes if one becomes the son-in-law of the king when he is lowly and without honor?” [14]And the servants of Saul told him what David had said. [15]Then Saul said, “Thus you shall say to David, ‘The king desires no dowry except one hundred foreskins of the Philistines, as vengeance on the enemies of the king.’ ” However, Saul schemed to deliver David into the hands of the Philistines. [16]And the servants of Saul told David these words, and it was pleasing in the eyes of David to become the son-in-law of the king. [17]And David arose, and he and his men went and killed in battle a hundred men of the Philistines. And he brought their foreskins to the king. He became the son-in-law of the king, and Saul gave him Michal his daughter as wife. [18]Thus Saul could see the Lord was with David, and all Israel loved him. [19]Saul was now even more apprehensive about David.

Saul Seeks David’s Life

[1]Now Saul told Jonathan his son and all his servants to kill David. But Jonathan, son of Saul, preferred David exceedingly. [2]So Jonathan spoke to David, saying, “Saul seeks to kill you. Be on your guard until tomorrow morning, and stay hidden in a secret place. [3]I will go out and stand with my father in the field. I will speak to him about you and about anything he may be thinking, and then I will tell you.”

[4]Thus Jonathan spoke well of David to Saul his father and said to him,

“Let not the king sin against his servant David, because he has not sinned against you, and his deeds are very good. 5For he took his life in his hands and smote the Philistine, and the Lord brought about a great deliverance. All Israel saw it and rejoiced. Why then do you sin against innocent blood, to put David to death without cause?” 6So Saul heeded the voice of Jonathan, and Saul swore, “As the Lord lives, he shall not die.” 7Then Jonathan called David, and Jonathan told him all these words. So Jonathan brought David to Saul, and he was in his presence as before. 8And the war continued to be waged against Saul; and David fought valiantly and prevailed over the Philistines. He struck them with an exceedingly great beating, and they fled from before him.

9An evil spirit came from God upon Saul as he was resting in his house with a spear in his hand, and David was playing the harp. 10And Saul sought to strike David with his spear, but David slipped away from him as he drove the spear into the wall. David fled and escaped. 11And that night Saul sent messengers to the house of David to keep careful watch over him and to kill him in the morning. And Michal, the wife of David, told him, saying, “If you do not save your life tonight, tomorrow you will be killed.” 12So Michal let David down through a window, and he fled and escaped. 13And Michal took an image and placed it in the bed, put a cover of goats’ hair at the head, and covered it with clothes. 14And Saul sent messengers to take David, and they reported, “He is sick.” 15Then Saul sent them back to David, saying, “Bring him up to me in his bed, so I can kill him.” 16And the messengers came, and behold, there was the image in the bed, with a cover of goats’ hair at the head. 17Then Saul said to Michal, “Why did you deceive me like this and send my enemy away, so he could escape?” And Michal answered Saul, “He said to me, ‘Send me away! Otherwise I will slay you.’ ”

18So David fled and escaped and went to Samuel at Ramah, and told him all Saul had done to him. And David and Samuel went and stayed in Naioth in Ramah. 19And it was told to Saul, saying, “Take note, David is at Naioth in Ramah!” 20Then Saul sent messengers to take David. And when they saw the assembly of prophets and Samuel standing as leader over them, the Spirit of God came upon the messengers of Saul, and they also prophesied. 21And when this was told to Saul, he sent other messengers, and they prophesied as well. Then for a third time Saul sent messengers, and they too prophesied. 22Now Saul was inflamed with anger, and he too went to Ramah. He came as far as the storage well of the threshing floor in Sechu and asked, saying,

“Where are Samuel and David?” And someone said, “Look, they are in Naioth in Ramah.” [23]So he went onward to Naioth in Ramah. And then the Spirit of God came upon him too, and he went on and prophesied until he came to Naioth in Ramah. [24]There he removed his clothes and prophesied before them, and he fell unclothed on the ground all that day and all that night. Therefore they say, “Is Saul among the prophets?”

Jonathan Is Loyal to David

[1]Then David fled from Naioth in Ramah and came before Jonathan and said, “What have I done, and what fault is mine? What is my sin before your father, that he seeks my life?” [2]So Jonathan said to him, “There is no fault on your part. You shall not die. Indeed, my father will do nothing either great or small without first telling me. And why should my father hide this thing? It is not so!” [3]Then David answered Jonathan and said, “Your father certainly knows I have found favor in your sight, and Saul has said, ‘Jonathan should not come to know about this. He will not want this to happen.’ But as the Lord lives and as you yourself live, so I say to you, there is only a step between me and death.” [4]So Jonathan said to David, “What does your soul desire? What shall I do for you?”

[5]And David said to Jonathan, “Indeed, tomorrow is the New Moon, and I will not sit with the king to eat. I will hide in the field until evening. [6]If your father asks about me, say, ‘David earnestly asked permission of me that he might go to Bethlehem, his city, for there is a yearly sacrifice there for his whole tribe.’ [7]If thus he says, ‘Peace be to your servant’; it is well. But if he answers you harshly, know that he determines to do evil. [8]Therefore you shall provide an act of mercy to your servant, for you brought your servant into a covenant of the Lord with you. And if there is wrongdoing in your servant, kill me yourself. Why should you bring me to your father?” [9]But Jonathan said, “By no means will I do this to you! For if I know for sure that my father intends evil against you, I will come to you. If otherwise, I will tell you in your cities.”

[10]Then David said to Jonathan, “Who will tell me if your father should answer you harshly?” [11]And Jonathan said to David, “Go and remain in the field.” And they both went out into the field. [12]Then Jonathan said to David,

“The Lord God of Israel knows that I will question my father three times, and behold, should there be good concerning David and I do not send for you in the field, 13may the Lord do this to Jonathan and add to this even more, as also I shall discuss the evil against you. I will disclose it to your ear, and I will send you away. You shall depart in peace, for the Lord will be with you as He was with my father. 14In return, you shall deal mercifully with me while I still live, and if I die, 15you shall not cut off your mercy from my house forever, even if the Lord does not cut off every one of the enemies of David from the face of the earth; 16or removes the name of Jonathan from the house of David; or the Lord does seek out the enemies of David.”

17And yet again, Jonathan swore to David, for he so loved him as his own soul. 18Then Jonathan said to David, “Tomorrow is the first of the month, and you will be asked about, because your seat will be seen as empty. 19You will do this for three days, and you will be looked for. So go to the place where you may be hidden in the day of the deed. You shall wait by that mound. 20And then I will shoot three arrows, as aiming at a target. 21And behold, I will send a lad, saying, ‘Come here! Find my arrows.’ If I speak to the lad saying, ‘Look, the arrows are here, on this side from you, get them here. Come!’—it is well with you, and as the Lord lives there is no reason to hide. 22But if I say this to the young man, ‘Look, the arrows are there and beyond you,’—you go, for the Lord has sent you away. 23And as for the word which you and I discussed, indeed the Lord is a witness between you and me forever.”

24So David hid in the field, and when the first of the month came, the king sat down to the table to eat. 25As usual, the king sat on his seat by the wall and arrived before Jonathan. Abner sat by Saul’s side, but David’s place was seen as empty. 26Saul said nothing that day, for he thought, “Something happened so that he is not clean; he has not cleansed himself.” 27And the next day, the second day of the month, David’s place was noticed as being empty. And Saul said to Jonathan his son, “Why has the son of Jesse not come to the table yesterday or today?” 28So Jonathan answered Saul and said to him, “David earnestly asked permission of me to go to Bethlehem his city. 29And he said, ‘Please let me go, for our tribe has a sacrifice in the city, and my brothers commanded me to be there. And now, if I have found favor in your eyes, please let me go away safely and see my brothers.’ Therefore he has not come to the king’s table.”

30Then Saul’s anger was aroused greatly against Jonathan, and he said to him, “Son of traitorous girls! Do I not know to your own shame and the shame of your mother’s nakedness that you are an accomplice with the son of Jesse? 31For as long as the son of Jesse lives on the earth, your kingdom shall not be established. Now then, send and bring the young man, for he is a son of death.” 32And Jonathan queried Saul, “Why should he be killed? What did he do?” 33Then Saul lifted up a spear against Jonathan to kill him, and Jonathan knew the evil from his father to kill David. 34So Jonathan leapt up from the table in fierce anger, and ate no food the second day of the month. For he was grieved for David because his father plotted against him.

35And so in the morning, Jonathan went out to the field at the appointed time, as a testimony for David. A lad was with him. 36Then he said to his lad, “Run, find for me the arrows I shoot.” As the lad ran, he shot an arrow beyond him. 37And when the lad came to the place where Jonathan shot the arrow, Jonathan cried out to the lad and said, “There is the arrow beyond you.” 38And Jonathan cried out after his lad, “Make haste, hurry, do not delay!” So Jonathan’s lad gathered up the arrows for his master. 39And the lad knew nothing of what was happening. Only Jonathan and David knew of the matter. 40Then Jonathan gave his weapons to his lad, and said to the lad, “Go, enter into the city.” 41As soon as the lad left, David arose from the mound, fell on his face, and bowed down three times. And they kissed one another and wept for each other. 42Then Jonathan said, “Go in peace, and as we both swore in the name of the Lord, saying, ‘The Lord will be a witness between you and me, and between your seed and my seed, forever.’ ”

1So he arose and departed, and Jonathan went into the city.

David and the Showbread

2Now David came to Nob, to Abimelech the priest. And Abimelech was astonished when he met him and said to him, “Why are you alone? Why is no one with you?” 3So David said to the priest, “Today the king gave a command to me, saying, ‘Do not let anyone know anything about the business on which I send you or what I command you.’ And I gave orders to the young men to go to a place called the Faithfulness of God, Phellani Alemoni. 4Now if there are five loaves under your hand being ready, give them into my hand.” 5And the priest answered David and said, “There are no common loaves of bread on hand. There is holy bread, but only if the young men have been keeping themselves from women will they eat.” 6Then David answered the priest and said to him, “Truly, we have kept ourselves from women for three days, with all the young men having been purified when I came on this journey. Even so, this expedition itself is unclean; thus because of my weapons, it shall be sanctified this day.”

7So Abimelech the priest gave him the showbread; for there were no loaves there except the bread of the Presence which had been removed from before the Lord, in order to put hot bread in its place when it was taken away. 8Now a certain man of the servants of Saul was there that day, detained before the Lord. His name was Doeg the Syrian, the herder of Saul’s mules. 9And David said to Abimelech, “See if there is a spear or a sword in your possession, for I brought neither my sword nor my weapons with me, for the message of the king required haste.” 10So the priest said, “The sword of Goliath the Philistine, whom you killed in the Valley of Elah, is there wrapped in a garment. If you take it, take it for yourself. For there is nothing else here except that.” And David said, “There is none like it. Give it to me.”

David Flees from Saul

11And he gave it to him. Then David arose and fled that day from before Saul. And David went to Achish the king of Gath. 12And the servants of Achish said to him, “Is this not David, the king of the land? Is this not the one to whom the dancing women say:

> ‘Saul slew his thousands,
> And David his ten thousands’?”

13Now David took these words in his heart, and was very much afraid of Achish the king of Gath. 14So he changed his appearance before him and pretended to be mad on that day. He pounded on the doors of the city and acted like a madman with his hands, falling down upon the door of the gate and letting his saliva drip down on his beard. 15Then Achish said to his servants, “Look, you see the man is insane. Why did you bring him to me? 16Do I need madmen? Did you bring this fellow to be mad in my presence? This man will not come into the house!”

1 Kingdoms 22

[1]David therefore departed from there and escaped by going into the cave of Adullam. And when his brothers and all his father's house heard it, they went down there to him. [2]And everyone in distress, and everyone in debt, and everyone grieved gathered to him. And he became captain over them. There were about four hundred men with him. [3]Then David went from there to Mizpah of Moab; and he said to the king of Moab, "Please let my father and mother come here to be with you, till I know what God is going to do for me." [4]So he brought them before the king of Moab, and they dwelt with him as long as David was in the stronghold. [5]Now the prophet Gad said to David, "Do not stay in the stronghold; depart and go to the land of Judah." So David departed, and went and dwelt in the city of Sarich.

Saul Slaughters the Priests

[6]Saul heard that David and the men who were with him were found. Now Saul was staying on the hill in the field in Ramah, with a spear in his hand and with all his servants standing about him. [7]Then Saul spoke to his servants who stood by him and said to them, "Hear now, you sons of Benjamin! Will the son of Jesse indeed give every one of you fields and vineyards? Will he make all of you captains of thousands and captains of hundreds? [8]All of you conspired against me; there is not one who revealed to me that my son made a covenant with the son of Jesse; and there is not one of you who is sorry for me or reveals to me that my son stirred up my servant against me to be an enemy, as it is today." [9]Then Doeg the Syrian, the one set over the mules of Saul, replied and said, "I saw the son of Jesse going to Nob, to Abimelech the son of Ahitub, the priest. [10]And the priest inquired of God for him and gave him provisions. He also gave him the sword of Goliath the Philistine."

[11]So the king sent a message to invite Abimelech son of Ahitub and all the sons of his father, the priests who were in Nob. And they all came to the king. [12]And Saul said, "Hear now, son of Ahitub!" And he answered, "Here I am. Speak, lord." [13]Then Saul said to him, "Why did you conspire against me, you and the son of Jesse, by giving him bread and a sword and inquiring of God for him so he should rise against me to be an enemy, as he is today?" [14]So he answered the king and said, "And who among all your servants is as faithful as David, who is the king's son-in-law, who goes at your bidding and is honorable in your house? 15Truly, did I this very day begin to entreat of God on account of him? Certainly not! Let not the king bring a charge against his servant, or against any in my father's house. For your servant knew nothing of any of this, small or great."

16And King Saul said, "Abimelech, you shall surely die, you and all your father's house!" 17Then the king said to the guards who stood about him, "Bring and kill the priests of the Lord, because their hand is with David, and because they knew that he fled and did not reveal it to me." But the servants of the king did not want to lift their hands against the priests of the Lord. 18And the king said to Doeg, "Turn and deal with the priests!" So Doeg the Syrian turned and killed the priests of the Lord on that day, three hundred and five men who wore an ephod. 19And he struck Nob, the city of the priests, with the edge of the sword, both men and women, children and nursing infants, calf and donkey and sheep.

20Now one of the sons of Abimelech the son of Ahitub, named Abiathar, escaped and fled after David. 21And Abiathar told David that Saul had killed all the Lord's priests. 22So David said to Abiathar, "I knew in that day, because Doeg the Syrian was being called upon, that he would tell Saul. I am responsible for the life of the house of your father. 23Stay with me. Do not fear. For wherever I seek a place for my life, I will also seek a place for your life, for you have protection with me."

David Saves Keilah

1And it was told to David, saying, "Look, the Philistines are at war against Keilah. They are robbing and trampling upon the threshing floors." 2Therefore David inquired of the Lord, saying, "Shall I go and attack these Philistines?" And the Lord said to David, "Go and attack these Philistines and save Keilah." 3But David's men said to him, "Look, we are afraid here in Judah. How much more so if we go to Keilah, to go after the plunder of the Philistines?" 4Then David inquired of the Lord once again. And the Lord answered him and said, "Arise, go down to Keilah. For I will deliver the Philistines into your hands." 5And David and his men went to Keilah and fought with the Philistines, and the Philistines fled from his presence, and David carried off their livestock and struck them with a mighty blow. David saved the inhabitants of Keilah.

6 Now when Abiathar the son of Abimelech fled to David and was with David at Keilah, he went down with an ephod in his hand. 7 And Saul was told that David went to Keilah. So Saul said, “God sold him into my hand, for he shut himself in by entering a city with gates and bars.” 8 Then Saul charged all the people to go down to war against Keilah and to hold David and his men as prisoners. 9 When David knew Saul had not kept silent about the evil against him, David said to Abiathar the priest, “Bring the ephod of the Lord.” 10 Then David said, “O Lord God of Israel, Your servant has certainly heard that Saul seeks to come to Keilah to destroy the city because of me. 11 Will he close in upon me? Will Saul come down now, as Your servant has heard?
Lord God of Israel, tell Your servant.” And the Lord said, “He will close in upon you.” 12 So David and his men, about four hundred, arose and departed from Keilah and went wherever they could go. Then it was announced to Saul that David had escaped from Keilah; so he halted the expedition.

David Hides in the Desert

13 And David stayed in the strongholds of the wilderness and remained in the mountain of Ziph, which was dry country. Saul sought him every day, but the Lord did not deliver him into his hands. 14 So David saw that Saul had come out to seek him. And David was on the arid mountain in New Ziph.
15 Then Jonathan, Saul’s son, arose and went to David in New Ziph and strengthened his hands in the Lord. 16 And he said to him, “Do not fear, for the hand of Saul my father shall not find you. You shall be king over Israel, and I shall be next to you. Even my father Saul knows that.” 17 So the two of them made a covenant before the Lord. And David stayed in New Ziph, and Jonathan went to his own house.

18 Then the Ziphites came up from the dry places to Saul, who was upon the hill, saying, “Behold, is David not hiding with us in Messara, in the strongholds in New Ziph, in the hill of Hachilah on the south of Jeshimon?
19 Now come down to us, according to all the desire of the king.” They cornered him in for the hands of the king. 20 And Saul said, “Blessed are you of the Lord, for you have toiled on my account. 21 Please go and make more preparations. See the place where his hideout is and tell me quickly, lest by any means he escape through cunning. 22 See therefore and know, and we will go with you. And if he is in the land, I will search for him among the thousands of Judah.” 23 So the Ziphites arose and went before Saul.

But David and his men were in the Desert of Maon, in the wilderness of Maon, westward and to the right of Jessaemon. [24]So Saul and his men went to seek him. It was reported to David, and he went down to the rock in the Desert of Maon. And Saul heard and pursued David in the Desert of Maon. [25]Then Saul and his men went on one side of this mountain, and David and his men on the other side of this mountain. And David was hiding himself to get away from Saul, for Saul and his men were encircling David and his men to take them. [26]But a messenger came to Saul, saying, “Hasten and come here quickly, for the Philistines have invaded the land!” [27]Therefore Saul turned back from pursuing David and went to meet the Philistines in battle. So they called that place the Rock of Dividing.

David Spares Saul’s Life

[1]Then David went up from there and stayed in the strongholds at En Gedi. [2]Now when Saul returned from following the Philistines, it was reported to him, saying, “David is in the desert of En Gedi.” [3]Then he took three thousand chosen men from all Israel, and went to seek David and his men on the face of Sadaiem. [4]On the way, he came across a flock of sheep, and nearby there was a cave. Saul entered the cave to make preparations. Now sitting in the recesses of this same cave were David and his men. [5]And David’s men said to him, “Look! This is the day of which the Lord spoke to you, that He would deliver your enemy into your hands, to do to him as it seems good from your perspective.” So David arose and secretly cut off a corner of Saul’s robe. [6]Then it happened that David’s heart afflicted him afterward, because he cut the corner of his robe. [7]And David said to his men, “The Lord forbid me, that I should do this to my lord, for he is the anointed of the Lord.” [8]By these words David persuaded his men not to rise up and kill Saul.

So Saul got up from the cave and went his way. [9]After Saul departed, David went out from the cave and cried out to Saul, saying, “My lord, O king!” And Saul looked back, and David, bowing to the ground, prostrated himself. [10]And David said to Saul, “Why do you listen to the words of the people who say, ‘Behold, David seeks your life’? [11]Take notice! This day your eyes have seen that the Lord delivered you into my hand in the cave; but I would not kill you. I spared you and said, ‘I will not put my hand against my lord, for he is the Lord’s anointed.’ [12]Here in my hand is the corner of your robe! I cut off the corner, but did not kill you. See and know today, there is no evil or impiety or breach of faith in my hand. I have not sinned against you. Yet you hunt my life to take it. [13]Let the Lord pass judgment between you and me, and let the Lord vindicate me from you. But my hand shall not be against you. [14]As the ancient proverb says, ‘Out of lawlessness shall come wrongdoing, but my hand will not be against you.’ [15]Now after whom do you seek, O King of Israel? Whom do you hunt after? Are you after a dying dog or perhaps a flea? [16]Let the Lord be judge and jury, each one in my midst, and each one in your midst. And let the Lord observe and decide my judgment and vindicate me from your hand.”

[17]And it came to pass, when David finished speaking these words to Saul, Saul said, “Truly this is your voice, O son David.” And Saul lifted up his voice and wept. [18]Then he said to David, “You are more righteous than I, for you repaid me with good, but I repaid you with evil. [19]Today you make known how you dealt well with me, how when the Lord delivered me into your hand today, you did not kill me. [20]For if a man finds his enemy in distress and yet in a good way sends him out, the Lord will reward him with good, just as you did today. [21]And now behold, I know that you shall be king, and that the kingdom of Israel shall be established in your hands. [22]Therefore by the Lord, swear now to me that you will not cut off my seed after me, and that you will not destroy my name from my father’s house.” [23]So David swore to Saul. And Saul went to his place, but David and his men went up to the stronghold at Messara.

The Death of Samuel

[1]And Samuel died, and all Israel gathered together and lamented for him, and they buried him at his home in Ramah.

David and Abigail

And David arose and went down to the Desert of Maon. [2]Now there was a man in Maon who was very notable and whose flocks were in Carmel. He had three thousand sheep and a thousand goats. And he was in Carmel to shear his sheep. [3]The man’s name was Nabal, and his wife’s name was Abigail. She was a woman of good understanding and very beautiful in appearance; but the man was harsh and wicked in his doings, like a dog.

[4]While in the desert wilderness, David heard that Nabal the Carmelite was shearing his sheep. [5]David sent ten young men and said to them, “Go up to Carmel, go to Nabal, and in my name, greet him in peace. [6]And here is what you say, ‘Peace be to you and your house and all that is yours. [7]Behold, I now hear that they shear for you. As to your shepherds, those with us in the desert wilderness, as long as they were in Carmel we did not hinder them, nor did we demand anything from them. [8]Ask your young men, and they will tell you. Therefore let my young men find favor in your eyes, for we come on a good day. Please give whatever your hand finds to your son David.’ ”

[9]So when David’s young men came, they told Nabal all these words in the name of David, and he leapt up. [10]Then Nabal replied to David’s servants and said, “Who is David, and who is the son of Jesse? There are many servants nowadays who break away, each one from his master. [11]Shall I then take my bread and my wine and my meat that I killed for my shearers of sheep, and give it to men when I do not know where they are from?”

[12]So David’s young men turned back and returned. They came and told him these words. [13]Then David said to his men, “Every man gird on his sword.” And about four hundred men went with David, and two hundred stayed with the supplies. [14]Now one of the young men told Abigail, Nabal’s wife, saying, “Look, David sent messengers from the desert to bless our master, but Nabal turned away from them. [15]But the men were very good to us, and they did not hinder us, and they did not demand anything from us as long as we accompanied them when we were in the fields. [16]They were like a wall around us by night and day, all the time we were with them keeping the sheep. [17]And now consider and see what you will do, for malice has been decided against our master and against all his household. For Nabal is such a son of mischief that no one can speak to him.”

[18]Then Abigail made haste and took two hundred loaves of bread, two skins of wine, five sheep already dressed, five ephahs of roasted grain, a gomer of raisins, and two hundred cakes of figs and loaded them on donkeys. [19]And she said to her servants, “Go ahead of me, and behold, I will come behind you.” But she did not tell her husband. [20]And it came to pass that she was riding on her donkey and going down under the protection of the mountain; and look, David and his men were coming down toward her, and she met them. [21]Now David had said, “Perhaps I was wrong to protect everything this fellow has in the desert wilderness and to command that nothing of his be taken; yet he repaid me evil for good. [22]May God do so and more to David, if I leave even one male of all belonging to Nabal until the morning.”

[23]Now when Abigail saw David, she jumped from her donkey, fell on her face before David, and prostrated herself on the ground [24]about his feet and said, “O my lord, let this unrighteousness be on me! Let your handmaiden speak in your ears, and hear the words of your handmaiden. [25]Please, let not my lord set his heart against this man of pestilence. For as his name is, so is he. His name is Nabal, and folly is with him. But I, your handmaiden, did not see the young men whom you sent. [26]Now therefore, my lord, as the Lord lives and as your soul lives, since the Lord held you back from coming to innocent bloodshed and from sparing your hand, now then, let your enemies and those who seek malice against my lord become like Nabal. [27]And now, take this token of goodwill your handmaiden brought to my lord and give it to the servants who follow my lord. [28]I pray you will remove the trespass of your handmaiden. For the Lord will certainly make a faithful house for my lord, because my lord fights the battles of the Lord, so no evil will be found in you at any time. [29]If a man should rise up and pursue you, to seek your life, nevertheless, the life of my lord shall be so tightly bound with the Lord God, that you will sling your enemies like a stone from a sling. [30]And when the Lord has done for my lord all the good things He said concerning you, and He has appointed you ruler over Israel, [31]will this not be an abomination to my lord and an offense to my lord, to have shed innocent blood without cause, for my lord to have avenged himself? May the Lord do good to my lord, and you shall remember to do good to your handmaiden.”

[32]Then David said to Abigail, “Blessed be the Lord God of Israel, who sent you to meet me this very day! [33]And blessed is your conduct and blessed are you, because today you kept me from coming to bloodshed and from avenging myself. [34]But as the Lord God of Israel lives, who kept me from hurting you, if you had not hastened and come to meet me, surely I say that by morning light not one male would have been left to Nabal.” [35]So David received from her hand everything that she had brought him and said to her, “Go up in peace to your house. See, I have heeded your voice and respected your presence.”

[36]Now Abigail returned to Nabal, and behold, he was holding a feast in his house like the feast of a king. And Nabal's heart was merry within him, for he was very drunk. Thus, she decided to say not a word to him, not even one, until morning light. [37]In the morning, when Nabal had slept off the wine, his wife told him these things, and his heart died within him, and he became like a stone. [38]And it came to pass about ten days later that the Lord struck Nabal and he died. [39]So when David heard, he said, "Blessed be the Lord, who judged my reproach from the hand of Nabal, and who saved His servant from doing evil. For the Lord returned the wickedness of Nabal upon his own head."

And David sent out a message concerning Abigail, to take her as his own wife. [40]So the servants of David came to Abigail at Carmel and spoke to her, saying, "David sent us to you, to ask you to become his wife." [41]She arose and bowed her face to the earth and said, "Behold your handmaiden, a servant to wash the feet of your servants." [42]And Abigail rose and mounted her donkey, and five of her maidens followed behind her as she followed after the servants of David, and she became his wife. [43]David also took Ahinoam of Jezreel, and both of them were his wives. [44]But Saul gave Michal his daughter, David's wife, to Palti the son of Laish, from Gallim.

David Again Spares Saul

[1]Now the Ziphites came out of the desert country to Saul at Gibeah, saying, "Look, David hides from us at the hill Hachilah, opposite Jeshimon." [2]Then Saul arose and went down to the desert of Ziph with three thousand chosen men of Israel, to seek David in the desert of Ziph. [3]And Saul encamped by the road in the hill Hachilah, opposite Jeshimon. But David stayed in the desert, and he could see that Saul was coming into the desert to pursue him. [4]And David sent out spies and learned Saul came out of Keilah well-armed. [5]So David secretly arose and came to the place where Saul lay. Abner the son of Ner, the commander of his army, was there too. Now Saul lay in a covered chariot, and the people encamped round about him. [6]Then David spoke up to Ahimelech the Hittite and to Abishai the son of Zeruiah, brother of Joab, saying, "Who will go with me to Saul in the camp?" And Abishai said, "I will go with you."

[7]So that night, David and Abishai went in among the troops, and there lay

Saul asleep in the covered chariot. His spear was jammed into the ground by his head. And Abner and the troops were sleeping all around him. [8]Then Abishai said to David, “The Lord places your enemy in your hand this very day. Once and for all, let me strike him with the spear that is in the ground. I will not strike him again.” [9]And David said to Abishai, “Do not bring him down, for who can bring his own hand against the anointed of the Lord and go unpunished?” [10]David said, “As the Lord lives, the Lord shall strike him, or his day may come to die, or he may go out to battle and be added to his fathers. [11]The Lord forbid me that I should bring my own hand against the anointed of the Lord. But indeed, take the spear from by his head and the container of water, and let us both go.” [12]So David took the spear by Saul’s head and the container of water, and they went away. No one noticed or knew what happened or even awoke. All were sleeping, because a deep sleep from the Lord fell upon them.

[13]Now David went over to the other side and stood on the top of the mountain afar off. There was a great distance between them. [14]And David called out to the people and spoke to Abner, saying, “Do you not answer, Abner?” Then Abner answered and said, “Who is that calling out to me?” [15]So David said to Abner, “Are you not a man? And who is like you in Israel? If so, then why do you not guard your lord the king? For one of the people entered your camp to destroy your lord the king. [16]And this thing which you allowed to happen is not good. As the Lord lives, you are sons of death—you guarding the lord your king, the anointed of the Lord. Now look and tell me, where is the king’s spear that was by his head, and the jug of water?”

[17]Then Saul recognized David’s voice and said, “Is that truly your voice, my son David?” And David said, “It is your servant, my lord, O King.” [18]And David said, “Why is my lord pursuing his servant? How have I sinned? What wrong have you found in me? [19]Now let my lord the king hear his servant’s words: If God incites you against me, let Him accept the scent of your offering. If the sons of men incite you against me, let these men be cursed before the Lord. For today by their saying, ‘Go, serve other gods,’ they show their desire to cast me out in order to prevent me from being established in the inheritance of the Lord. [20]Now do not let my blood fall to the ground before the face of the Lord. For the king of Israel comes here to seek my life, like one who hunts a horned owl in the mountains.”

[21]Then Saul said, “I have sinned. Return, my son David. For I will harm you no more, because my life was precious in your eyes this day. Indeed, I have played the fool and erred exceedingly.” 22And David answered and said, “Behold, the spear of the king. Let one of the servants come over and receive it. 23And the Lord shall repay each man for his righteousness and his faithfulness, as the Lord delivered you into my hands today, though I did not lift my hand against the Lord’s anointed. 24Indeed! As your life was exalted this day in my eyes, in this same way let my life be exalted before the Lord, and let Him shelter and deliver me from every tribulation.”

25Then Saul said to David, “May you be blessed, my son! You shall do great things and be mighty.” So David went his way, and Saul returned to his place.

David Dwells with the Philistines

1David spoke in his heart, saying, “Now the day will come when I shall die by the hand of Saul and be added to my fathers. What is best for me is to be in the land of the Philistines where I will be safe, for Saul will stop searching for me at the borders. Then I will be delivered out of his hand.” 2Then David and the four hundred men with him arose and traveled to Achish the son of Maoch, king of Gath. 3And David settled in Gath with Achish, he and his men, each with his family, and David with both wives, Ahinoam the Jezreelite woman and Abigail the widow of Nabal, the Carmelite. 4And it was reported to Saul that David had fled to Gath; so he no longer sought him. 5Then David said to Achish, “If your servant has now found favor in your eyes, indeed offer to me a place in one of the cities in your country, and I will settle there. Why have your servant settle with you, here in your royal city?” 6And that day Achish gave Ziklag to David. That is why Ziklag still belongs to the king of Judah to this very day.

7Now the time David dwelt in the country of the Philistines was four months. 8And David and his men went up and attacked all the Geshurites and the Amalekites, indeed even against the tribes belonging to this area, and against the inhabited cities of Gelamp Shur, from the fortified cities as far as the land of Egypt. 9And he struck the land, and neither man nor woman was left alive. He took away the sheep, the cattle, the donkeys, the camels, and the clothing, and came back to Achish. 10Then Achish said to David, “Where did you attack today?” And David said to Achish, “Upon the south of Judah, upon the south of the Jesmega, and on the south of the Kenites.”

11And David did not leave man or woman alive to bring news to Gath, saying, “Let them not inform on us to those in Gath by saying, ‘Thus David did.’ ” This was David’s behavior as long as he dwelt in the country of the Philistines. 12So David had the full confidence of Achish, who said, “David is now thoroughly abhorred by his own people for having put Israel to shame; he will be my servant forever.”

1 Kingdoms 28

1Now in those days, the Philistines gathered their armies together to battle with Israel. And Achish said to David, “Know for sure, you shall enter into battle with me, you and your men.” 2And David said to Achish, “Thus you know what your servant will do.” And Achish said to David, “Therefore I will make you one of my chief guardians forever.”

Saul Consults a Medium

3Now it happened that Samuel had died, and all Israel lamented for him and buried him in Ramah, his own city. And Saul expelled those with divining spirits and the wizards out of the land. 4Then the Philistines came together and encamped at Shunem. So Saul collected all the men of Israel together and encamped at Gilboa. 5When Saul saw the army of the Philistines, he was afraid, and his heart was near panic. 6For when Saul inquired of the Lord, the Lord did not answer him by dreams, nor by clear signs, nor by the prophets.

7Then Saul said to his servants, “Seek for me a woman with a divining spirit; I will go to her and inquire of her.” And his servants said to him, “In fact, there is a woman who is a medium at Endor.” 8So Saul disguised himself and put on other clothing. He then went out, taking two men with him, and by night they came to the woman. And he said to her, “Indeed, by the divining spirit, tell the future to me when you bring up to me whom I tell you.” 9Then the woman said to him, “Look, you know what Saul did, and how he cut off the diviners and the wizards from the land. Why do you lay a snare for my life, to cause me to be put to death?” 10And Saul swore to her, saying, “As the Lord lives, no injustice shall come upon you for this action.”

[11]Then the woman said, “Whom shall I bring up for you?” And he said, “Bring up Samuel for me.”

[12]When the woman saw Samuel, she cried out with a loud voice. And the woman spoke to Saul, saying, “Why did you deceive me? You are Saul!” [13]But the king said to her, “Do not be afraid. What did you see?” And the woman said to him, “I saw gods ascending out of the earth.” [14]So he said to her, “What did you perceive?” And she said, “A man is coming up, standing upright, and he is covered with a mantle.” And Saul discerned it to be Samuel, and he stooped with his face to the ground and bowed down to him.

[15]Now Samuel said to Saul, “Why did you trouble me by bringing me up?” And Saul answered, “I am deeply distressed. The Philistines are making war against me, and God has departed from me and does not answer me any more, neither by the hand of prophets nor by dreams. Therefore I summoned you to tell me what I should do.”

[16]Then Samuel said, “Why do you ask me, when the Lord has departed from you and is with your enemy? [17]And as the Lord spoke to you by my hand, He has done. For the Lord will rend the kingdom out of your hand and will give it to your neighbor, David. [18]For you did not heed the voice of the Lord nor execute His fierce wrath upon Amalek. This is why the Lord has done this to you today. [19]And the Lord shall deliver Israel, including you, into the hand of the Philistines. Tomorrow you and your sons with you shall fall. The Lord will deliver the army of Israel into the hand of the Philistines.”

[20]Saul fell prostrate on the ground, for he was very afraid because of Samuel’s words. He was also weak since he had not eaten any food all that day and night. [21]Then the woman came to Saul and saw his weakened condition. So she said to him, “Behold, when your handmaiden heard the sound of your voice, I put my life at risk and I obeyed the words you spoke to me. [22]Now hear the voice of your handmaiden, and let me set a piece of bread before you. Eat and you will have strength when you go on your way.” [23]But he refused to eat. So his servants, together with the woman, urged him, and he heeded their voice. He then arose from the ground and sat on the chariot-bench. [24]Now the woman had a heifer roaming the pasture, and she hastened and killed it. Then she took flour and kneaded it, and from it she baked unleavened bread. [25]And she brought it before Saul and his servants. They ate and departed that night.

David Rejected by the Philistines

1 All the encampments of the Philistines gathered at Aphek, and the Israelites encamped in Endor in Jezreel. 2 And the captains of the Philistines passed in review by hundreds and by thousands. David and his men passed in review at the rear with Achish. 3 Then the captains of the Philistines said, “Who are these passing by in review?” And Achish said to the commanders of the Philistines, “Is this not David, the servant of Saul king of Israel? The one who has been with us daily for the last two years? I have found no fault in him from the day he defected to me until today.”

4 But the commanders of the Philistines were grieved because of him; so they said to him, “Return the man to the place you appointed for him. Do not let him go with us to battle, for fear that he become our adversary in the battle. For what better way could he have to reconcile himself to his lord, if not with the heads of these men? 5 Is this not David, about whom they sang in dances, saying:

> ‘Saul slew his thousands,
> And David his ten thousands’?”

6 Then Achish called David and said to him, “Surely, as the Lord lives, you have been upright with me in the camp and good in my sight, in both your going out and your coming in. To this very day I have found no evil in you since the day of your coming to me. Nevertheless, you are not favored in the sight of the lords of the Philistines. 7 Therefore return now and go in peace;
thus you shall not do evil in the sight of the lords of the Philistines.”

8 So David said to Achish, “But what have I done to you? And from the day
I came up to you to this day, what in your servant have you found, that I may not fight against the enemies of my lord the king?” 9 Then Achish answered to David, “I know that you are good in my sight; nevertheless, the commanders of the Philistines said, ‘He shall not go up with us to the battle.’ 10 Now rise up early in the morning, you and your servants who came with you, and go to the place I established for you. Do not keep an evil thought in your heart, because you are good in my sight. And rise early in the morning and depart at first light.”

11 So David arose early, he and his men, to depart and to guard the land of the Philistines. The Philistines went up to battle at Jezreel.

The Battle with the Amalekites

1Now before David and his men entered Ziklag on the third day, Amalek had entered and attacked Ziklag and burned it with fire. 2They did not kill the women, and all who were there, from small to great, were carried away captive as they went on their way. 3So David and his men came to the city, and it was burned with fire. Their wives, their sons, and their daughters were taken captive. 4Then David and the people with him lifted up their voices and wept until they were too tired to weep anymore. 5And both David's wives, Ahinoam the Jezreelite woman and Abigail the widow of Nabal the Carmelite, were taken captive.

6Now David was greatly distressed, because the people spoke of stoning him, for the life of every person was grieved, each for his sons and for his daughters. But David became strong in the Lord his God. 7And David said to Abiathar the priest, Ahimelech's son, "Bring the ephod." 8So David inquired of the Lord, saying, "Surely, I shall pursue after this troop, but what if I overcome them?" And the Lord answered him, "Pursue them. For in overtaking them you shall surely apprehend the troop, delivering the captives."

9So David went, he and the six hundred men with him, and they came to the brook Besor. The rest of his men stayed behind. 10David pursued them with four hundred men; two hundred men stayed behind, staying on the other side of the brook Besor. 11They then found an Egyptian man in the field and brought him to David. They gave him bread and he ate, and they let him drink water. 12They also gave him a piece of fig cake. After eating, his strength came back to him, for he was without bread or water for three days and three nights. 13Then David said to him, "To whom do you belong, and where are you from?"

The young Egyptian man said, "I am the servant of an Amalekite; and my master left me behind because I fell sick three days ago. 14We invaded the south of the Cholthi, and in the region of Judah, and the south area of Caleb.
We burned Ziklag with fire." 15And David said to him, "Can you take me down to this troop?"

So the young servant said, "By God, first swear to me that you will neither kill me nor deliver me into the hand of my master, and then I will take you down to this troop.” [16]And when he brought him there, they were there spread out over all the land, eating and drinking and celebrating, because of all the great plunder taken from the land of the Philistines and from the land of Judah. [17]Then from the morning star until the evening of the next day, David came upon them and attacked them. Not a man of them was saved, except four hundred young men who got on camels and fled. [18]So David recovered everything the Amalekites took, and David rescued his two wives. [19]And nothing of theirs was lacking, either small or great, or sons or daughters, or plunder, or anything taken from them. David recovered it all. [20]And David took all the flocks and herds and put them ahead of the plunder. Concerning the plunder, it was said, “This is David’s plunder.”

[21]Now David returned to the two hundred men, the ones too weary to follow after David, whom he made stay there at the brook Besor. Upon his return, they went out to meet David and to meet the people with him. And when David came near the people, he greeted them in peace. [22]But all the ill-disposed and the worthless men who had gone and fought with David said in response, “They did not go with us, and so they will not receive any of the plunder we recovered, except let each one lead away with him his wife and his children, and let them return.” [23]But David said, “My brethren, this you shall not do with what the Lord has given us, who preserved us and delivered into our hand the troop that came against us. [24]And who will heed your words? For they are not inferior to you. Instead, they shall share alike, each according to the portion of him who went down to the battle, as being the same portion of him who stayed behind with the supplies.” [25]So it was, from that day forward, it became an ordinance and a statute in Israel to this day.

[26]Now when David came to Ziklag, he sent some of the plunder to the elders of Judah and to his friends, saying, “Behold, from the plunder of the enemies of the Lord”— [27]to those who were in Beth Shur, to those who were in Ramah of the South, to those who were in Jattir, [28]to those who were in Aroer, to those who were in Ammadi, to those who were in Siphmoth, to those who were in Eshtemoa, [29]to those who were in Gath and in Kinan, and to those in Saphek, and to those in Thimath, [30]to those who were in Carmel, to those who were in the cities of the Jerahmeelites, to those who were in the cities of the Kenites, [31]to those who were in Jerimouth, to those who were in Beersheba, to those who were in Noo, [32]to those who were in Hebron, and to all the places where David himself and his men were accustomed to pass through.

The Death of Saul and His Sons

[1]Now the Philistines fought against Israel; and the men of Israel fled from before the Philistines. They fell slain on Mount Gilboa. [2]Then the Philistines followed hard after Saul and his sons. And the Philistines killed Jonathan, Abinadab, and Malchishua, the sons of Saul. [3]The battle weighed heavily against Saul. The javelin-throwers and the archers hit him, and he was wounded in the belly.

[4]Then Saul said to his armor-bearer, “Draw your sword and thrust me through with it. Do not let these uncircumcised men come and thrust me through and abuse me.” But his armor-bearer would not do it, for he was greatly afraid. Therefore Saul took a sword and fell on it. [5]And when his armor-bearer saw that Saul was dead, he fell on his sword and died with him.
[6]So Saul, his three sons, and his armor-bearer died together that same day.
[7]And when the men of Israel, those on the other side of the valley and those on the other side of the Jordan, saw that the men of Israel had fled and that Saul and his sons were dead, they forsook the cities and fled. The Philistines came and settled in them.

[8]So the next day, when the Philistines came to strip the slain, they found Saul and his three sons fallen on Mount Gilboa. [9]And they turned him over and stripped off his armor. They then sent them and his armor into the land of the Philistines, proclaiming the good news to their idols and to the people.
[10]Then they placed his armor in the temple of the Ashtoreths, and fastened his body onto the wall of Beth Shan.

[11]And the inhabitants of Jabesh Gilead heard what the Philistines did to Saul. [12]And all the valiant men arose and traveled all night in order to remove the body of Saul and the body of Jonathan his son from the wall of Beth Shan. They carried them to Jabesh and buried them there. [13]Then they took their bones and buried them under the field at Jabesh, and fasted for seven days.

Annotations for 1 Kingdoms

1:1 Elkanah means “God created.”

1:2 Hannah means “graciousness.” In the Old Testament, barrenness was a sign that God had withdrawn His blessing.

1:3 Since the time of Joshua, Shiloh had been the political and religious center for the people of Israel. The tabernacle and the ark of the covenant were kept there until David conquered Jerusalem, making that city the new place of Israel’s worship.

1:7 Rather than containing the grief over her barrenness, Hannah expresses her heart to the Lord through fasting and tears.

1:9 The word temple is used rather than “tabernacle,” although this was the movable tabernacle built under the leadership of Moses. The word “temple” suggests a more permanent structure that people came to in order to worship God.

1:11 Lowly state is the same phrase the Virgin Mary prays in Lk 1:48. Hannah’s promise to God is that her child would fulfill the Nazirite vow, which was a type of ancient ascetic vow found first in Nm 6. In every instance of this vow in Scripture, it is prescribed before birth—for Samson, Samuel, and probably John the Baptist (Lk 1:13–15).

1:13 St. Cyprian sees the praying Hannah as a type of the Church pouring her heart out in prayer silently and modestly, “within the very recesses of her heart . . . with manifest faith.”

1:16 Hannah defends herself to Eli against being a daughter of corruption. Drunkenness and sexual immorality were common hallmarks of pagan Canaanite worship.

1:17 The priest recognizes Hannah’s humility and gives her his blessing.

1:18 This is a great display of Hannah’s faith, in that she trusts in God’s answer before receiving it.

1:20 Samuel means “the name is God (godly)” or “the descendant of God,” a name suggesting he was a child given from God.

1:22 Hannah is a type of Mary, as Samuel is a type of Christ, because as St. Cyprian states, “Samuel [was born] not according to the order of generation, but according to the mercy and promise of God.”

1:28 Hannah is not only fulfilling her promise, but her words are prophetic of Samuel’s life of service to God.

2:1 The prayer of Hannah has become a beloved hymn of the Church and is one of the biblical odes. This prayer has been used in the Matins service, and is the basis for many of the Church’s hymns. There are also many similarities between this prayer and the prayer of Mary in Lk 1:46–55. The word horn had become a symbol for strength, honor, and power.

2:3 We must boast in nothing, since nothing is our own (Cyprian).

2:5 Were made empty means literally “to be made less” or “inferior.” Those who were once full and satisfied are now beginning to be emptied. St. Augustine sees this whole verse as a prophecy of the decline of Israel and the rise of the Gentile Church.

2:6 This verse foreshadows the resurrection and is likely a picture of the Lord’s own descent into Hades and His Resurrection. Aphrahat uses this passage among many to demonstrate that the belief in the resurrection existed even in the Old Testament.

2:9 It is God who ultimately fills the heart with prayer.

2:11 Samuel did not merely help Eli with the menial tasks of the tabernacle, but actually participated in the liturgical worship of God.

2:21 God blessed Hannah with five more children because of her faithfulness and obedience.

2:27–29 The prophet condemns Eli because he excuses the conduct of his sons (3:13). The prophet declares Eli has honored his sons more than he has honored God. Even pious parents can be passive in the raising of their children: a warning to all who desire godly offspring.

2:35 Lactantius states, “And since Christ was the builder of this great and eternal temple, He must also have an everlasting priesthood in it; and there can be no approach to the shrine of the temple, and to the sight of God, except through Him who built the temple.”

3:1 God's word had become very precious because of the absence of a clear, concise, and distinct vision from Him.

3:7 Samuel had not yet become a prophet, because this was the first time God had allowed Himself to be known by him.

3:13, 14 God reveals to Samuel what he had already revealed to Eli through another man of God, confirming Samuel as a true prophet of the Lord.

3:18 Eli accepts God's judgment even though it means his destruction. Despite the judgment, Eli still did nothing to correct his sons' behavior.

3:19, 20 Samuel was confirmed as God's prophet not merely because he heard God's voice, but because he was willing to proclaim God's word even when it was unpleasant or uncomfortable.

4:1 The word Philistines is not used only to describe Israel's enemies; it is also a more generic term designating "foreigner" or "Gentile."

4:3, 4 The people did not realize that their defeat came from the hand of God. But rather than discovering why God allowed them to be defeated and repenting of their unfaithfulness, they think that having the ark with them will ensure that God is with them.

4:7–10 The Philistines were afraid of the presence of the ark, but conducted themselves like men and handed Israel a stunning defeat.

4:18 The loss of the ark and his sons brought the loss of Eli's own life.

5:2 Dagon was the chief god of the Canaanites and was referred to as the father of Baal in Canaanite mythology. Dagon was represented by a figure that had the torso and head of a man, but the body of a fish. The name Dagon is derived from a word meaning "little fish." The house or temple is mentioned later in 1Mc 10:83, 84.

5:4 The destruction of their idol was a sign to the Philistines that the God of Israel could not be possessed and subjected to their pagan beliefs.

5:8 The Philistine government was a loose confederacy of five cities, each ruled by a type of warlord. Each city was considered a seat of power. The fives cities were Ashkelon, Ashdod, Ekron, Gath, and Gaza (6:17). They were sometimes referred to as the Philistine Pentapolis.

5:11 The Philistines had moved the ark to three of their five cities, hoping that eventually it would be subjected by a local deity.

6:1 God will not be manipulated by man. To attempt to do so brings curse rather than blessing.

6:2–12 The Philistines devised a test to see whether the God of Israel was truly the source of their tribulation. The cows should have naturally come home to their offspring rather than walking away toward the land of Israel. Yet God had promised to remain with His people, and He guided the ark back to Israel.

6:14 The people's natural response to the return of God's presence was to worship God with sacrifices. The focus of the worship was not on the ark, but on the presence of God that the ark contained. In the Church, the ark is understood typologically as the person of the Virgin Mary. Honoring the Theotokos as the Mother of God who bore the Savior of our souls draws the heart to worship Him, together with His Father and the Holy Spirit.

6:19 Once again, the people begin mishandling that which is holy by trying to investigate that which is improper to man.

7:2 The ark was not brought back to Shiloh, where it had been abused by the sons of Eli, but was taken to a new place, where the people of Israel kept their eye firmly fixed upon it so it might not depart again.

7:3 Throughout the period of the Judges and Kings, the problem of idolatry continued to plague Israel. Samuel was not asking for a partial commitment to God, but for the people to completely remove any trace of idolatry from their lives and serve God only.

7:6 Samuel's act of pouring water as an offering to the Lord is a type of baptism, and a symbol of the cleansing that people needed as they repented over their attitude toward God and His holy objects.

7:8 Samuel had proven himself a committed intercessor for the people, and they relied on him once again to pray on their behalf.

7:9–13 The Philistines are a type of sin and its dominion over those who do not follow the Lord with all their heart. When God's people are far from Him, sin reigns over them. Yet when they draw near to God and cry out for mercy and forgiveness, He delivers them from the enemy.

8:1–5 Unfortunately, Samuel did not learn a lesson from Eli in rearing his own children. Just as Eli's children departed from the ways of God, so did Samuel's sons. It was the wickedness of these judges, Samuel's sons, that prompted the people to ask for a king to rule over them.

8:7 God tells Samuel that their rejection of him as judge is a rejection of God Himself; yet God will answer their cry for a king.

8:9–18 God is willing to give the people what they want, but He warns them of the dangers of a monarchy. These warnings which Samuel gave the people were fulfilled during the days of the good king, Solomon. Solomon taxed the people heavily so that he might build the temple.

9:9 The ministry of prophet includes the ability to see into the future, as well as to read the hearts of men.

10:1–10 Saul's anointing as king by Samuel is a type of the Sacrament of Chrismation. The anointing brought with it the descent of the Holy Spirit upon his life, giving Saul another heart (v. 9).

10:9 The Spirit of God always brings transformation wherever He is present.

11:11–15 Saul's initial act as king was to defend the defenseless against cruel oppressors. Even in this early battle he displays his military genius, and also the mercy he has on those who initially rejected his kingship. The people of Jabesh were forever indebted to him, and even after his slide into apostasy, they were the only people willing to care for his remains after his death.

12:1–5 Before Samuel begins exhorting the people, he seeks their support. The people proclaim his innocence in the face of his humility and willingness to repent for any wrongdoing. He then calls on the Lord and Saul, His anointed, as witnesses to his uprightness.

12:6–25 Samuel's sermon expounds on the grace and deliverance of God in the life of Israel. Though a king in Israel was a concession from God, Samuel encourages them that the monarchy will work if both they and the king continue in God's righteousness.

13:13 Hilary of Poitiers sees David's commendation by God as a man after His own heart as a glimpse into the prophetic ministry of David. Although David lived under the Mosaic Law, he prophetically grasped the fullness of the Gospel fulfilled ultimately in Christ.

15:11 Melito of Sardis calls the repentance of the Lord a "change of His procedure" with man. Tertullian views God's regret as a judgment against the character of Saul rather than as a self-incriminating repentance of wrongdoing. Augustine clarifies this even further by explaining that God's repentance does not negate His foreknowledge, but is a change in how man expects God to act. In this sense, God is always acting in ways contrary to man's expectations.

15:17–22 John Cassian uses this example of Saul's undoing to promote the need for discernment and discretion in the spiritual life. Watchfulness over one's own soul protects against all manner of evil and undoing. Gregory the Great also uses this example of Saul as a warning against human pride.

15:22 Irenaeus points out that God did not command sacrifices for His own benefit, but for the benefit of man, in order to train him in righteousness and obedience.

15:24–26 Saul seems to repent, yet God does not accept his confession as He did that of David after David's sin. St. Augustine notes that mere outward confession of sin is not what God desires, but an inward change of heart. One only has to look at the lives of Saul and David to see that one truly repented and the other did not.

15:35 Jerome and John Cassian both note that godly men have wept over the sins of others. Jerome states, "Good men have always sorrowed for the sins of others. Samuel of old lamented for Saul because he neglected to treat the ulcers of pride with the balm of penitence." Rather than rejoicing in the failures of others, godly sorrow is in order.

16:7 According to Cyprian, God's judgment will not be merely of outward appearances, but will penetrate much deeper into the heart of man: He sees the heart and mind of every person, and He will judge not only our deeds, but even our words and thoughts.

17:4 Goliath is over nine feet tall.

17:4–33 This familiar story reminds us of the courage in men's hearts when their faith is placed completely in God. Goliath taunts David, but David's faith becomes evident when he does not cower under the threats, but instead warns Goliath with the hand of God. The armor he rejected represents the strength of man; David chose the armor of God (see Eph 6:10–17).

18:6–12 David had been a comforting force in Saul's life; but now Saul sees him as a threat to his power. Saul seeks to kill David by sending him into battle against a thousand Philistines, but David's success threatens Saul all the more.

19:1–17 Saul, unable to kill David indirectly, commands his servants and even his own son Jonathan to murder him. His deceit continues as he lies to his own son about saving David's life.

19:18–24 Saul again tries to kill David after he flees to the presence of Samuel. Saul's messengers come to capture David, as does Saul himself, but they are overwhelmed by the presence of God among Samuel and the prophets. God's miraculous presence does not redeem Saul.

20:17 Jonathan expresses the greatest level of love one person can express for another. He is willing to die so David might live. Jesus displayed such love for all mankind, and calls for such love from His disciples (Jn 15:13).

21:1–6 Only the priests were allowed to eat the holy bread; the uneaten portions were offered as a sacrifice to God. Jesus refers to this story when confronting the Pharisees about their own legalistic attitude toward the Sabbath—which held firmly to the externals, yet rejected the inner mercy and compassion of the Law (see Mt 12:1–8). In this passage, the priest has compassion on David and his men, but out of holy fear he questions their righteousness and purity before he permits them to partake of this bread reserved for priests. The bread of the Presence was a prefiguration of the bread of the Eucharist, the body of Christ. Just as David was required to be holy, each Christian approaching Communion must be prepared through prayer, fasting, and confession. Indeed, the holy things are for the holy.

21:12–16 Although David knows he is anointed and will one day be king, he realizes it is not yet God's time and goes to extreme measures to stay anonymous.

22:20–23 Saul has just ordered the priests to be killed, and David gives refuge to the last survivor of the priestly massacre.

23:9 The ephod was a garment worn by the priests whenever they approached the altar in order to intercede with God. David trusted the priest to give him a sure answer from the Lord.

24:7, 8 Saul had become a tyrannical leader, obsessed with killing the man of God David. Saul had threatened to kill his own son and had massacred over 300 priests. Despite Saul's sin, David still honored him as the Lord's anointed and spared him. A lesson hard to learn: throughout the history of the Church, there have been ungodly leaders, but true saints have taken up David's example, refusing to come against God's anointed. Instead, they trusted God to vindicate them.

24:17–23 In praising David's attitude of a servant, Gregory the Great notes he was more upright in servitude than when he came to his kingdom (v. 18). As a servant, he feared to smite his adversary. When he was king, through lasciviousness, he willfully put to death a devoted soldier (2Kg 11:17).

25:3 Nabal means "fool," which describes his behavior. This passage shows the contrast between the wisdom of Abigail and the folly of Nabal.

25:22–34 John Cassian takes this story of David as an example of how compassion can overtake our own strong determination. David allowed compassion to alter his vengeful oath.

26:12 David again has an opportunity to kill Saul, but he refuses to lay a hand on the Lord's anointed (see note at 24:7, 8). God put the camp into a deep sleep so David could escape unharmed. Saul has one more chance to repent, yet he squanders this opportunity with mere words and no actions.

27:1 David's statements display his conviction that Saul will not repent, regardless of his remorseful posturing.

27:8–12 Although David was living in exile among the Philistines, he still defended and expanded the borders of his native land. Despite his circumstances, he never forgot his calling to uphold and protect the people of God, and he did not let outward events thwart this mission.

28:7–25 This passage created great controversy among the Fathers of the Church. In fact, at least three distinct interpretations can be found.

1. The woman called Samuel forth from the dead (Justin Martyr, Origen, Ambrose, and Augustine).

2. Whether it was Samuel or a demon, it appeared at God's bidding and not by some magic of the woman (Chrysostom, Theodoret).

3. The entity was a demon who deceived Saul and gave him a false prophecy (Tertullian, Hippolytus, Ephrem the Syrian, Evagrius, Basil, Jerome, Ambrosiaster, & Gregory of Nyssa).

The third interpretation seems to be held by the greatest number of Fathers, and Gregory of Nyssa wrote a specific treatise on the subject. He defends this view by citing the impassible chasm in the Lazarus parable (Lk 16:26). The apparition appeared only to the woman; she told Saul whom it resembled. The Greek word translated medium in this passage is literally the word for "ventriloquist." Also, Saul had been plagued by evil spirits for years and was easily deceived by them.

29:9 Even an unbelieving Philistine was able to recognize the godly character of David.

30:7 Once again David trusts in the intercession of the priest before God, that he may follow God's will rather than his own. What a contrast between his use of the ephod and Saul's use of the medium! David approached God with humility through the means He had established. Saul sought to manipulate his future through the powers of darkness.

30:21–25 David displays his generosity and compassion for the weak by sharing the spoils with all the people—the strong and weak alike.

31:4–6 In this passage, the ultimate deception of the witch is made manifest. The prophecy given was that Saul and his sons would die. After seeing the death of his sons, Saul may have despaired, deceived by the words of the prophecy.

Saul's Death Reported to David

1 And it happened after the death of Saul, when David had returned from the slaughter of the Amalekites, that David stayed for two days in Ziklag. 2 And on the third day, behold, a man came from the camp of the people of Saul with his clothes torn and dust on his head. When he came to David, he fell to the ground and prostrated himself. 3 And David said to him, "Where have you come from?" He answered, "I have escaped from the camp of Israel." 4 Then David said to him, "What is this? Tell me." And he answered, "The people fled from the battle, but many of the people were cut down and are dead. Saul and Jonathan his son are dead also."

5 So David said to the young man who told him, "How do you know that Saul and Jonathan his son are dead?" 6 Then the young man who told him said, "As I happened by chance to be on Mount Gilboa, there was Saul leaning on his spear, and the chariots and horsemen followed hard after him.
7 And when he looked behind him, he saw me and called to me. And I answered, 'Here I am.' 8 And he said to me, 'Who are you?' So I answered him, 'I am an Amalekite.' 9 He said to me again, 'Please stand over me and kill me, for a terrible darkness has seized me, for all my life still remains in me.' 10 So I stood over him and killed him, because I was sure that he could not live after he had fallen. And I took the crown that was on his head and the bracelet that was on his arm, and I brought them here to my lord." 11 Therefore David took hold of his own clothes and tore them, and all the men who were with him tore their clothes. 12 And they mourned and wept and fasted until evening for Saul and for Jonathan his son, for the people of Judah and for the house of Israel, because they were killed by the sword.

13 Then David said to the young man who told him, "Where are you from?"
He answered, "I am the son of a resident foreigner, an Amalekite." 14 So David said to him, "How was it you were not afraid to put forth your hand to destroy the Lord's anointed?" 15 Then David called one of the young men and said, "Go near and deal with him!" And he struck him so that he died. 16 And David said to him, "Your blood is on your own head, for your own mouth spoke against you, saying, 'I killed the Lord's anointed.' "

David's Song of Lament

[17]Then David uttered this lamentation over Saul and over Jonathan his son, [18]and he told them to teach the children of Judah; indeed it is written in the Book of the Righteous:

[19]"Set up a monument, Israel, over the dead on the high places of your slain!
How the mighty have fallen!
[20]Do not tell it in Gath,
Do not proclaim it in the streets of Ashkelon,
Lest the daughters of the Philistines rejoice,
Lest the daughters of the uncircumcised exult.

[21]"You mountains of Gilboa, Let no dew, no rain fall upon you, nor the fields of the first fruit,
For in that place, the shield of the mighty was dishonored!
The shield of Saul was not anointed with olive oil.
[22]From the blood of the slain, from the fat of the mighty,
The bow of Jonathan did not return in vain,
Nor in vain was the sword of Saul returned.

[23]"Saul and Jonathan, beloved and handsome, were not separated entirely;
So beautiful in their life,
That in their death, they were not separated entirely;
Swifter than the eagles and more powerful than lions.

[24]"O daughters of Israel, weep over Saul,
Clothing you in the scarlet linens of your world,
Bringing to you the golden apparel.

[25]"How the mighty have fallen!
O Jonathan, dying on your high places.
[26]I am grieved for you, my brother Jonathan;
You were most pleasant to me,
Your love for me was to be admired,
Surpassing the love of women.

27 “How the mighty have fallen,
And the warriors of war perish!”

David Made King of Judah

1 It happened after this that David inquired of the Lord, saying, “Shall I go up to one of the cities of Judah?” And the Lord told him, “Go up.” David asked, “Where shall I go up?” And He said, “To Hebron.” 2 So David went up to Hebron. He went with his two wives, Ahinoam the Jezreelite woman and Abigail the widow of Nabal the Carmelite. 3 The men went up with him, every man with his household, and they dwelt in the cities of Hebron. 4 Then the men of Judah came, and there they anointed David king over the house of Judah. And they told David, saying, “The men of Jabesh Gilead buried Saul.”

5 So David sent messengers to the rulers of Jabesh Gilead and said to them, “You are blessed of the Lord, for you have shown this mercy to your lord, upon Saul, the Lord’s anointed, and you have buried him and his son Jonathan. 6 And now may the Lord work with you in mercy and truth. Indeed, I will repay you for this kindness since you made this happen. 7 Now therefore, let your hands be strengthened and be valiant; for your master Saul is dead. In addition, the house of Judah anointed me king over them.”

Ishbosheth Made King of Israel

8 But Abner the son of Ner, commander of Saul’s army, took Ishbosheth the son of Saul and brought him from the camp to Mahanaim. 9 He made him king over Gilead, over the Ashurites, over Jezreel, over Ephraim, over Benjamin, and over all Israel. 10 Ishbosheth the son of Saul was forty years old when he began to reign over Israel, and he reigned for two years. But he did not reign over the house of Judah, who followed David. 11 The days David reigned in Hebron as king over the house of Judah were seven years and six months.

War between Israel and Judah

12 Now Abner the son of Ner and the servants of Ishbosheth, the son of Saul, went out from Mahanaim to Gibeon; 13 and Joab the son of Zeruiah and the servants of David went out from Hebron to meet them at the well of Gibeon. The two groups sat down, one on one side of the well and the other on the other side of the well. [14]Abner said to Joab, “Let the young men stand up and duel before us.” Joab said, “Arise.”

[15]Twelve young men of Benjamin, followers of Ishbosheth the son of Saul, and twelve of the servants of David arose to duel. [16]By the hand, each of them grasped the head of his opponent, and by the hand, his sword went into the side of his opponent. They fell at the same moment. Thereafter, they called the name of that place the Well of Treachery, which is in Gibeon.

[17]The battle that day was very fierce, and Abner and the men of Israel were beaten before the servants of David. [18]The three sons of Zeruiah were there, Joab, Abishai and Asahel. Asahel was as fleet of foot as a wild gazelle. [19]Asahel pursued Abner, and not to deviate from his purpose, he turned neither to the right hand nor to the left. [20]Then Abner looked behind him and said, “Are you Asahel?” He answered, “I am.” [21]And Abner said to him, “Turn aside to your right hand or to your left, and lay hold on one of the young men and take his armor for yourself.” But Asahel would not turn aside from following him. [22]So Abner said again to Asahel, “Stay away from me lest I strike you to the ground. How then could I lift up my face to Joab? Return to where you came. Return to Joab your brother.” [23]However, he refused to turn aside. Therefore Abner smote him in the loins with the end of his spear, and the shaft of the spear came out of his back. There he fell and there he died. And it happened that everyone who came to the place where Asahel fell down and died stood in silence.

[24]Joab and Abishai also pursued Abner. The sun was going down when they came to the hill of Ammah, which is east of Giah, on the road through the desert of Gibeon. [25]Here the sons of Benjamin gathered behind Abner and joined to meet in battle. They took their position on top of a hill. [26]Abner called to Joab and said, “Shall the sword devour until the victory is won? Do you truly not know that in the end it will be bitter? How long until you tell the people to turn back from pursuing their brethren?” [27]And Joab said, “As the Lord lives, if you did not talk in the morning, perhaps then each person should not be pursuing his brother afterward.” [28]So Joab blew a trumpet; and all the people stood back and did not pursue Israel, nor did they fight any more.

[29]Then Abner and his men went away toward the west all that night, crossed the Jordan, and went all morning and came to the camp. [30]And Joab returned from pursuing Abner. And when he gathered all the people, nineteen servants of David and Asahel were missing. 31But the servants of David smote three hundred sixty of the sons of Benjamin, the men of Abner. 32Then they took up Asahel and buried him in his father's tomb in Bethlehem. And Joab and his men traveled with him throughout the night and came to Hebron at daybreak.

2 Kingdoms 3

1Now there was a long war between the house of Saul and the house of David. But the house of David grew continually stronger and the house of Saul grew steadily weaker.

The Sons of David

2And sons were born to David in Hebron. His firstborn was Amnon by Ahinoam the Jezreelite woman; 3his second, Chileab, by Abigail the widow of Nabal the Carmelite; the third, Absalom the son of Maacah, the daughter of Talmai, king of Geshur; 4the fourth, Adonijah the son of Haggith; the fifth, Shephatiah the son of Abital; 5and the sixth, Ithream, by David's wife Eglah. These were born to David in Hebron.

Abner Joins with David

6Now while there was war between the house of Saul and the house of David, Abner was strengthening his hold on the house of Saul. 7And Saul had a concubine, Rizpah, the daughter of Aiah; and Mephibosheth, son of Saul, said to Abner, "Why did you go in to my father's concubine?" 8Then Abner became very angry at Mephibosheth's words, and Abner said to him, "Am I a dog's head? Today I brought about mercy on the house of Saul your father, his brothers, and his friends, and have not shifted loyalties to the house of David. And you on this very day seek fault against me on behalf of an unrighteous wife. 9God do thus to Abner and more also, if as the Lord swore an oath to David, so do I not to him this day— 10to transfer the kingdom from the house of Saul, and set up the throne of David over Israel and Judah, from Dan to Beersheba." 11And Mephibosheth could not answer Abner another word, because he feared him.

12Then Abner immediately sent messengers to David in Thailam, saying,

“Make your covenant with me, and my hand shall be with you to bring the house of Israel to you.” [13]And David said, “Good. I will make a covenant with you, but one thing I require of you. You shall not see my face unless you bring Michal the daughter of Saul when you come to me.” [14]So David sent messengers to Mephibosheth, Saul’s son, saying, “Give me my wife Michal, whom I received for a hundred foreskins of the Philistines.” [15]And Mephibosheth sent and took her from her husband, from Paltiel the son of Laish. [16]Her husband, weeping behind her, went along with her to Bahurim. So Abner said to him, “Go, return!” And he returned.

[17]Now Abner communicated with the elders of Israel, saying, “In time past you were seeking for David to be king over you. [18]Now then, do it! For the Lord has spoken of David, saying, ‘By the hand of My servant David I will save Israel from the hand of the Philistines and from the hand of all their enemies.’ ” [19]And Abner spoke in the hearing of Benjamin. Then Abner also went to speak in the hearing of David in Hebron everything that seemed good to the eyes of Israel and the whole house of Benjamin.

Joab Slays Abner

[20]So Abner and twenty men with him came to David at Hebron. And David made a feast for Abner and the men with him. [21]Then Abner said to David, “I will arise and go, and gather all Israel to my lord the king, and I will make a covenant with you, and you may reign over all that your soul desires.” So David sent Abner away, and he went in peace.

[22]At that moment, the servants of David and Joab returned from their journey and brought large quantities of spoils with them. But Abner was not with David in Hebron, for he had sent him away, and he had gone in peace. [23]When Joab and all the troops with him had come, they told Joab, saying, “Abner the son of Ner came to the king, and he sent him away, and he went in peace.” [24]Then Joab came to the king and said, “What is this you ordered? Behold, Abner came to you. Why did you send him away that he departed in peace? [25]Or do you not perceive the evil of Abner the son of Ner, who came to deceive you; to know your going out and your coming in, and to know all that you do?”

[26]And Joab went from David’s presence and sent messengers after Abner, who brought him back from the well of Sirah. But David did not know of this. [27]When Abner returned to Hebron, Joab turned him aside at the gate to speak with him privately. There an ambush awaited him. Joab stabbed him in the loins, and Abner died for the blood of Asahel, Joab's brother.

28After David heard this, he said, "Of the blood of Abner the son of Ner I am forever innocent before the Lord, and so is my kingdom. 29Let it rest on Joab's head and on all his father's house. And let there never be a time in the house of Joab when it will be found free of one suffering from gonorrhea, or a leper, or one that leans on a staff, or falls by the sword, or lacks bread." 30And Joab and Abishai his brother had lain in wait continually for Abner, because he killed their brother Asahel at Gibeon after the struggle.

David Laments Abner's Death

31Then David said to Joab and to all the people with him, "Tear your clothes, gird yourselves with sackcloth, and mourn for Abner." And King David followed the coffin. 32So they buried Abner in Hebron; and the king lifted up his voice and wept at the grave, and all the people wept over Abner.
33And the king sang a lament over Abner and said:

"Should Abner die according to the death of Nabal?
34Your hands were not bound,
Nor were your feet held by chains,
For Nabal was brought forward on different grounds.
You fell before children of injustice."

All the people assembled to weep for him. 35And when all the people came to persuade David to eat food while it was still day, David took an oath, saying,
"God do so and more to me, if I eat bread or anything else before the sun goes down!"

36All the people noticed and all were pleased, as the king did many pleasing things before the people. 37On that day, all the people and all Israel came to realize the king was not intent on killing Abner the son of Ner.
38Then the king said to his servants, "Do you not know that a great prince has fallen today in Israel? 39Though I am governing as the anointed king, on this very day I am a kinsman; and to me these men, sons of Zeruiah, are more unyielding than I am. The Lord shall repay the evildoer according to his malice."

Mephibosheth Is Slain

[1]When Mephibosheth, the son of Saul, heard that Abner had died while in Hebron, the strength of his hands grew weaker, and all the men of Israel were low in spirits. [2]Now Saul's son, Mephibosheth, had two men who were captains over the troops. The name of one was Baanah and the name of the other Rechab, sons of Rimmon the Beerothite, of the sons of Benjamin; for Beeroth was considered as one of the sons of Benjamin. [3]And the Beerothites fled to Gittaim and sojourn there until this day.

[4](Jonathan, a son of Saul, had a five-year-old son who was lame in his feet. When word came from Jezreel about Saul and his son Jonathan, his nurse picked up his son and fled, and as she ran to leave, she fell and his foot became lame. Mephibosheth was his name.)

[5]And Rechab and Baanah, the sons of Rimmon the Beerothite, set out, and by the time the hottest part of the day arrived, they were as far as the house of Mephibosheth, and he was napping on the bed at midday. [6]And behold, the doorkeeper of the house winnowed the wheat and he too napped. Thus the presence of the brothers Rechab and Baanah went unnoticed. [7]While Mephibosheth was asleep on his bed in his bedroom, they entered and struck him dead and beheaded him. They then took his head and journeyed the whole night on the road going west. [8]They brought the head of Mephibosheth to David at Hebron. They said to the king, "Behold, the head of Mephibosheth, the son of Saul your enemy, who sought your life. Today, the Lord executed for my lord the king vengeance upon his enemies, even on Saul your enemy and on his seed."

[9]But David answered Rechab and Baanah his brother, the sons of Rimmon the Beerothite, saying to them, "As the Lord lives who redeemed my life from all adversity, [10]when someone told me, 'Look, Saul is dead,' believing he brought me good news, I arrested him—the one who thought I would give him a reward, and he was executed in Ziklag. [11]And now wicked men kill a righteous person in his house on his bed. Now by reason of your direct involvement, I will charge you with his murder. I will have you utterly removed from the land." [12]And David gave a command to his servants, and they killed them. They cut off their hands and feet, and they hung them by the pool in Hebron. But the head of Mephibosheth was buried in the tomb of Abner, son of Ner.

David Is King over All Israel

[1]Then all the tribes of Israel came to David at Hebron and said to him, “Indeed we are your bone and your flesh. [2]In time past, when Saul was king over us, you were the one who led Israel out and brought them in, and the Lord said to you, ‘You shall shepherd My people Israel, and be ruler over Israel.’ ” [3]Therefore all the elders of Israel came to the king at Hebron, and at Hebron King David made a covenant with them before the Lord. And they anointed David king over all Israel. [4]David was thirty years old when he began to reign, and he reigned forty years. [5]For seven years and six months, he reigned over Judah while in Hebron, and in Jerusalem he reigned thirty-three years over all Israel and Judah.

David Takes Jerusalem

[6]And David and his men marched toward Jerusalem to the Jebusites, the inhabitants of the land, to those who said to David, “You shall not be welcomed here, for the blind and the lame will resist you saying, ‘David, do not enter here.’ ” [7]Nevertheless, David took the stronghold of Zion, the City of David. [8]Now David said on that day, “Everyone who attacks the Jebusites, let him strike with the dagger both the lame and the blind and those who hate the life of David.” Therefore they say, “The blind and the lame shall not come into the house of the Lord.”

[9]Then David dwelt in the stronghold, and it was called the City of David. And he built the city itself round about the citadel, and he built his own house. [10]David continued forward in this manner and was held in high regard, for the Lord Almighty was with him. [11]Then Hiram king of Tyre sent messengers to David, and cedar wood, and carpenters and stone masons. They built a house for David.

[12]So David knew the Lord had prepared him as king over Israel, and his kingdom was exalted for the sake of His people Israel. [13]And after arriving from Hebron, David took more wives and concubines from Jerusalem. And David had more sons and daughters. [14]Now the names of those who were born to him in Jerusalem were Shammua, Shobab, Nathan, Solomon, [15]Ibhar, Elishua, Nepheg, Japhia, [16]Elishama, Eliada, and Eliphelet, [17]Shamaeh, Jessibath, Nathan, Galamahan, Jebahar, Theasous, Elphalat, Naged, Janatha, Leasamus, Baalimath, and Eliphalath.

Defeat of the Philistines

18 The Philistines heard that David had been anointed king over Israel. In response, the Philistines went up to seek David. When David heard of it, he went down to the stronghold. 19 And the Philistines came and assembled in the Valley of Titan. 20 And David inquired of the Lord, saying, “Shall I go up against the Philistines? Will You deliver them into my hands?” And the Lord said to David, “Go up, for I will surely deliver the Philistines into your hands.” 21 So David came from the Upper Breaches of water, and there David struck the Philistines. And David said, “Before me, the Lord broke through the line of my enemies the Philistines like water that breaches a barrier.”
Therefore he called the name of that place Over Breaches.

22 The Philistines left their gods there, and David and his men took them.
23 Then the Philistines went up yet again and deployed themselves in the Valley of Titans. 24 Therefore David asked of the Lord, and the Lord said, “You shall not go up to meet them. Turn away from them and pass by them unnoticed near the Place of Weeping. 25 And when you hear the sound of marching in the grove of the Place of Weeping, then you shall go down to them. For then the Lord will go out before you to strike the camp of the Philistines.” 26 And David did as the Lord commanded him, and he struck down the Philistines from Gibeon as far as the land of Gezer.

The Ark Is Brought to Jerusalem

1 Again David gathered all the young men of Israel, about seventy thousand.
2 And David arose and went, he and all the people with him, even with the rulers of Judah, on an expedition to bring back from there the ark of God, on which they called upon the Name of the Lord of Hosts who dwells between the cherubim. 3 So they set the ark of God on a new wagon and brought it from the house of Abinadab on the hill. And Uzzah and his brothers, the sons of Abinadab, drove the wagon 4 with the ark, and his brothers went before the ark. 5 Then David and all the sons of Israel with strength played music before the Lord on well-tuned instruments, with songs, harps, lyres, flutes, and with drums and cymbals.

6 And when they came to Nachon’s threshing-floor, Uzzah placed his hand on the ark of God to hold it steady when the oxen shook it out of its place.
7 The Lord was angered against Uzzah, and there God struck him. And before

God, he died there next to the ark of the Lord. [8]And David became angry because the Lord inflicted a fatal wound against Uzzah, and he called that place Wound of Uzzah to this day. [9]And on that day, fearing the Lord, David said, “In what possible way can the ark of the Lord come with me?” [10]So David would not bring the ark of the covenant of the Lord to the City of David. Instead David directed it into the house of Obed-Edom the Gittite. [11]For three months, the ark of the Lord remained in the house of Obed-Edom the Gittite. And the Lord blessed all the house of Obed-Edom and everything he had.

[12]Now it was reported to King David, saying, “The Lord blessed the house of Obed-Edom and all his possessions because of the ark of God.” So David went and brought up the ark of God from the house of Obed-Edom to the City of David with gladness. [13]And there were with those bearing the ark of the Lord seven groups of singers, and a calf and a lamb for sacrifice. [14]David played on well-tuned instruments before the Lord, and David put on a special garment. [15]So David and all the house of Israel brought up the ark of the Lord with shouting and with the sound of the trumpet.

[16]Now as the ark came into the City of David, Michal, Saul’s daughter, looked through a window and saw King David dancing and playing instruments before the Lord, and she despised him in her heart. [17]They brought the ark of the Lord and set it in its place in the midst of the tabernacle David built for it. Then David offered burnt offerings and peace offerings before the Lord. [18]And when David finished offering burnt offerings and peace offerings, he blessed the people in the name of the Lord of hosts. [19]Then he distributed among all the people, among the whole army of Israel, from Dan to Beersheba, and to the men and women, to everyone, a loaf of bread, a piece of meat, and a fried cake. So all the people departed, everyone to his house.

[20]Then David returned to bless his household. And Michal the daughter of Saul came out to meet David. She blessed him and said, “How glorious was the king of Israel today, making himself a shameful exhibition before the eyes of his handmaidens as he uncovered himself, revealing himself as does a base dancer.” [21]David said to Michal, “I will dance in the presence of the Lord. Blessed is the Lord who chose me over your father and before all his house, to put me in charge to govern His people, Israel. And I will play music and I will dance before the Lord. [22]And I will again uncover myself in this manner and will thus remain vile in your sight; but with the handmaidens of which you spoke, I will be praised." [23]And Michal the daughter of Saul had no child to the day of her death.

God's Covenant with David

[1]It came to pass when the king sat in his house and the Lord had given him an inheritance on every side, free from all his enemies around him, [2]the king said to Nathan the prophet, "See now, I now live in a house of cedar, but the ark of God dwells in the middle of a tent." [3]Nathan said to the king, "Go and do everything that is in your heart, because the Lord is with you." [4]But that night the word of the Lord came to Nathan, saying, [5]"Go and tell My servant David, 'Thus says the Lord: "Do not build a house for Me to dwell in. [6]To this day, I have not dwelt in a house since the time I brought the sons of Israel up from Egypt, and I walked among you in a temporary place of lodging and in a tent, [7]wherever I went with all of Israel. In that time, did I speak a word to anyone from the tribes of Israel whom I commanded to shepherd My people Israel, saying, 'Why have you not built Me a house of cedar?' " '

[8]"So now tell My servant David, 'Thus says the Lord Almighty, "I took you from the sheepfold to be ruler over My people, over Israel. [9]And I have been with you in all things, wherever you have gone, and have cut off all your enemies from before you, and have made your name held in high honor, according to the great ones on the earth. [10]And I will appoint a place for My people Israel and will plant them so that they may dwell in a place of their own and be anxious no more. No more shall the sons of wickedness humiliate them, as they have done since the beginning, [11]since the days I appointed judges over My people Israel, and I shall give you rest from all your enemies. Await the Lord to tell you when to build Him a house. [12]And it shall come about, when your days are fulfilled and you rest with your fathers, I will raise up your seed after you, who will come from your body, and I will prepare his kingdom. [13]He shall build a house for My name, and I will establish his throne forever. [14]I will be a father to him, and he shall be to Me a son. And if he commits iniquity, I will chasten him with the rod of men and with the blows of the sons of men. [15]But I will not take My mercy from him, as I took it from those whom I withdrew from My presence. [16]And his house will be made sure, and his kingdom shall be forever.” ’ ” [17]Nathan told David each of these words and all of this vision.

David’s Prayer of Thanks

[18]Then King David went in and sat before the Lord and said, “O Lord, my Lord, who am I and what is my house, that You have loved me even until now? [19]O Lord, my Lord, this is very insignificant before You, yet You spoke on behalf of the house of Your servant, even this for the distant future. O Lord, my Lord, is this the law of man? [20]What more can David say to You? O Lord, my Lord, You know Your servant. [21]You do according to Your word, and You do according to Your heart all this greatness, to make it known to Your servant, [22]to magnify You. O Lord, my Lord, according to all we hear with our ears, there is no one like You, and there is no God but you. [23]What other nation on the earth is as Your people Israel? As God guided them in order to redeem them, to establish them as a people, to make for Yourself a name, to do greatness, and to make manifest to those You cast out from the midst of Your people, whom You redeemed out of the nation of Egypt and their tents. [24]For You prepared for Yourself Your people Israel, to be a people forever. You, O Lord, have become our God.

[25]“And now, O Lord, my Lord, the word which You now speak concerning Your servant and concerning his house, establish it forever, O Lord Almighty, God of Israel, just as You said. [26]So let Your name be magnified forever. [27]O Lord Almighty, You have disclosed this to the ears of Your servant, saying, ‘I will build you a house.’ Therefore Your servant has found it in his heart to pray this prayer to You. [28]And now, O Lord, my Lord, You are God, and Your words shall be true, and You speak these good things on behalf of Your servant. [29]Now may You rule and bless the house of Your servant, that it may continue before You forever. For You are the Lord my Lord; You spoke, and with Your blessing, let the house of Your servant be blessed forever.” God’s Covenants with His People Israel

David’s Victories in Battle

[1]After this, David attacked the Philistines and put them to flight. And David took the border country from the hand of the Philistines. [2]Then David defeated Moab, and after forcing them down to the ground, he measured them off with lines. With two lines he measured off those to be put to death, and with two lines those to be kept alive. So the Moabites became David's servants and brought tribute.

[3]David also defeated Hadadezer the son of Rehob, king of Zobah, as he went to extend his power to the River Euphrates. [4]David took from him one thousand chariots, seven thousand horsemen, and twenty thousand foot soldiers. Also David hamstrung all the chariot horses, except that he spared enough of them for one hundred chariots.

[5]When the Syrians of Damascus came to help Hadadezer king of Zobah, David killed twenty-two thousand men in Syria. [6]Then David put garrisons in Syria of Damascus, and the Syrians became David's servants and brought tribute. The Lord saved David wherever he went. [7]And David took the shields of gold that had belonged to the servants of Hadadezer, king of Zobah, and brought them to Jerusalem. Sousakim, king of Egypt, took them when he went up to Jerusalem in the days of Rehoboam, the son of Solomon. [8]Also from the Mazbak, from the choice cities of Hadadezer, King David took a large amount of bronze with which Solomon made the bronze Sea and the pillars and the basins and all the implements.

[9]When Toi, king of Hamath, heard that David had defeated all the army of Hadadezer, [10]Toi sent his son Joram to King David, to greet him in peace and bless him because he had fought against Hadadezer and defeated him. For he had been at war with Hadadezer. And in his hands he brought with him articles of silver, articles of gold, and articles of bronze. [11]King David consecrated these to the Lord along with the silver and gold that he had consecrated from all the cities he had subdued— [12]from Idumea, from Moab, from the sons of Ammon, from the Philistines, from Amalek, and from the spoil of Hadadezer the son of Rehob, king of Zobah.

[13]And David made himself a name when he returned from killing eighteen thousand Idumeans in Gaimele. [14]He also put garrisons in Idumea, throughout all Idumea, and all the Idumeans became the king's servants. And the Lord preserved David wherever he went.

[15]So David reigned over Israel, and David administered judgment and justice to all his people. [16]Joab the son of Zeruiah was over the army; Jehoshaphat the son of Ahilud was recorder; [17]Zadok the son of Ahitub and Ahimelech the son of Abiathar were the priests; Asa was the scribe; [18]Benaiah the son of Jehoiada was an advisor, as were the Cherethites and the Pelethites; and David's sons were chief ministers.

David's Mercy on Mephibosheth

[1]Now David said, "Is there anyone still left of the house of Saul, so that I may show him mercy for Jonathan's sake?" [2]And there was a servant of the house of Saul whose name was Ziba, and they called him to David. And the king said to him, "Are you Ziba?" And he said, "I am your servant!" [3]Then the king said, "Is there not still someone left of the house of Saul, to whom I may show the mercy of God?"

And Ziba said to the king, "There is still a son of Jonathan who is wounded in his feet." [4]So the king said to him, "Where is he?" And Ziba said to the king, "See, he is in the house of Machir the son of Ammiel, in Lo Debar." [5]Then King David sent and brought him out of the house of Machir the son of Ammiel from Lo Debar.

[6]When Mephibosheth the son of Jonathan, the son of Saul, had come to King David, he fell on his face and prostrated before him. Then David said, "Mephibosheth?" And he answered, "Here is your servant!" [7]So David said to him, "Do not fear, for I will surely show you mercy for the sake of Jonathan your father. I will restore to you all the land of Saul your grandfather, and you shall always eat bread at my table." [8]Then Mephibosheth bowed and said, "Who am I, your servant, that you should look upon a dead dog like me?"

[9]And the king called to Ziba, Saul's servant, and said to him, "I have given your master's son everything that belonged to Saul and to all his house. [10]You therefore, and your sons and your servants, shall work the land for him, and you shall bring in bread for your master's son, and he will eat it. But Mephibosheth your master's son shall always eat bread at my table." Now Ziba had fifteen sons and twenty servants. [11]Then Ziba said to the king, "Your servant will do everything my lord the king commanded his servant."

And Mephibosheth ate at David's table like one of the king's sons. [12]Mephibosheth had a young son whose name was Micha. And all who dwelt in the house of Ziba were servants of Mephibosheth. [13]So Mephibosheth dwelt in Jerusalem, for he always ate at the king's table. And he was lame in both his feet.

Defeat of the Ammonites and Syrians

1 It happened after this that the king of the children of Ammon died, and Hanun his son reigned in his place. 2 Then David said, “I will show mercy to Hanun the son of Nahash, as his father showed mercy to me.” So David sent by the hand of his servants to comfort him concerning his father. And David’s servants came into the land of the children of Ammon. 3 And the princes of the sons of Ammon said to Hanun their lord, “Do you think David really honors your father because he sent comforters to you? Did David not rather send his servants to you to search the city, to spy it out, and to survey it?” 4 Therefore Hanun took David’s servants, shaved off their beards, cut off their garments at the middle of their haunches, and sent them away. 5 When they told David about the men, of how they were greatly dishonored, he sent to meet them. And the king said, “Wait at Jericho until your beards have grown, and then return.”

6 The people of Ammon saw that the people of David were put to shame, so the people of Ammon sent and hired from the Syrians of Beth Rehob twenty thousand foot soldiers; and from the king of Maacah one thousand men, and from Ish-Tob twelve thousand men. 7 Now when David heard of it, he sent Joab and all the army of the mighty men. 8 Then the sons of Ammon came out and put themselves in battle array at the entrance of the gate. And the Syrians of Zoba, Beth Rehob, Ish-Tob, and Maacah were by themselves in the field.

9 When Joab saw that the battle line was against him before and behind, he chose some of Israel’s young men and put them in battle array against the Syrians. 10 And he put the rest of the people under the command of Abishai his brother, and they were placed in battle array against the sons of Ammon.
11 Then he said, “If the Syrians are too strong for me, then you shall deliver me, but if the sons of Ammon are too strong for you, then we will come and deliver you. 12 Be of good courage and let us be strong for our people and for the cities of our God; for the Lord will do what is good in His sight.” 13 So Joab and the people with him went into battle against the Syrians, and they fled before him. 14 When the sons of Ammon saw that the Syrians fled, they also fled before Abishai and entered the city. And Joab returned from the sons of Ammon and went to Jerusalem.

15 When the Syrians saw that they were defeated by Israel, they gathered together. [16]Then Hadadezer sent and gathered the Syrians beyond the river Chalamak, and they came to Helam. And Shobach the commander of Hadadezer's army went before them. [17]When it was reported to David, he gathered all Israel, crossed the Jordan, and came to Helam. Here the Syrians set themselves in battle array against David and fought with him. [18]And Syria fled from before Israel, and David killed seven hundred charioteers and forty thousand horsemen of the Syrians. David also struck Shobach, the commander of their army, who died there. [19]And when all the kings who were servants to Hadadezer saw they were defeated by Israel, they changed allegiance and served Israel. Syria was afraid to help rescue the people of Ammon.

David and Bathsheba

[1]Then at the appointed time when kings go out to battle, David sent Joab and his guards, and all Israel with him. They destroyed the sons of Ammon and besieged Rabbah. But David remained at Jerusalem.

[2]Then one evening David arose from his bed and went up on the roof of the king's house. From the roof, he saw a woman bathing, and she was very beautiful in appearance. [3]So David sent and asked about the woman. And someone said, "Is not this Bathsheba, the daughter of Eliam, the wife of Uriah the Hittite?" [4]David sent messengers and took her. And she came to him, and he lay with her, for she was purified from her uncleanness. And she returned to her house. [5]And the woman conceived, so she sent and told David and said, "I am with child."

[6]Then David sent to Joab, saying, "Send me Uriah the Hittite." And Joab sent Uriah to David. [7]When Uriah had come to him, David asked how Joab was doing, and how the people were doing, and how the war prospered. [8]And David said to Uriah, "Go down to your house and wash your feet." So Uriah departed from the king's house, and a gift from the king followed him. [9]But Uriah slept at the door of the king's house with all the servants of his lord and did not go down to his house. [10]So when they told David, saying, "Uriah did not go down to his house," David said to Uriah, "Didn't you come from a journey? Why didn't you go down to your house?"

[11]And Uriah said to David, "The ark and Israel and Judah are dwelling in tents, and my lord Joab and the servants of my lord are encamped in the open fields. Shall I go to my house to eat and drink and lie with my wife? How should I do this? As your soul lives, I will not do this.” 12Then David said to Uriah, “Wait here today, and tomorrow I will send you away.” So Uriah remained in Jerusalem that day and the next. 13The next day, David invited him, and he ate and drank with him, and he got him drunk. In the evening, he left to sleep on his bed with the servants of his lord, but he did not go down to his house.

14In the morning, David wrote a letter to Joab and sent it by the hand of Uriah. 15And he wrote in the letter, saying, “Set Uriah in the forefront of the fiercest battle and retreat from him, so that he may be struck down and die.” 16So when Joab besieged the city, he assigned Uriah to a place where he knew there were valiant men. 17Then the men of the city came out and fought with Joab. And some of the people of the servants of David fell, and Uriah the Hittite died as well.

18Then Joab sent and told David everything concerning the war, 19and charged the messenger, saying, “When you have finished telling the king the matters of the war, 20if the king’s wrath rises and he says to you, ‘Why did you approach so near to the city when you fought? Did you not know that they would shoot from the wall? 21Who struck Abimelech the son of Jerubbesheth? Was it not a woman who cast a piece of a millstone on him from the wall, so that he died in Thebez? Why did you go near the wall?’—then you shall say, ‘Your servant Uriah the Hittite is dead as well.’ ”

22So Joab’s messenger went to the king in Jerusalem and came and told David everything Joab had told him, all the news of the battle. Now David was angry with Joab and said to the messenger, “Why did you go near to the city to fight? Did you not know that you would be wounded from the wall? Who struck Abimelech the son of Jerubbaal? Was it not a woman who cast a piece of millstone on him from the wall, so that he died in Thamsi? Why did you go near the wall?” 23And the messenger said to David, “Because the men prevailed against us and came out to us in the field. Then we drove them back as far as the entrance of the gate. 24The archers shot from the wall at your servants, and some of the king’s servants are dead, and your servant Uriah the Hittite is dead also.”

25Then David said to the messenger, “Thus you shall say to Joab, ‘Do not let this thing seem evil in your eyes, for the sword sometimes devours in this way and sometimes in that. Strengthen your attack against the city and overthrow it. So strengthen the war.’ ” [26]When the wife of Uriah heard that Uriah her husband was dead, she mourned for her husband. [27]And when her mourning was over, David sent and brought her to his house, and she became his wife and bore him a son. But what David did was evil in the Lord’s eyes.

David’s Confession to Nathan

[1]And the Lord sent Nathan the prophet to David. And he came to him and said to him, “There were two men in one city, one rich and the other poor. [2]The rich man had very many flocks and herds. [3]But the poor man had nothing but one little lamb he had bought and nourished and reared; and it grew up together with him and with his sons. It ate of his own food and drank from his own cup and lay in his bosom, and it was like a daughter to him. [4]And a traveler came to the rich man, who refused to take from his own flock and from his own herd to prepare for the foreign traveler who had come to him; but he took the poor man’s lamb and prepared it for the man who had come to him.”

[5]So David’s anger was greatly aroused against the man, and David said to Nathan, “As the Lord lives, the man who did this shall surely die! [6]And he shall restore fourfold for the lamb, because he did this and because he had no pity.”

[7]Then Nathan said to David, “You are the man who did this! Thus says the Lord God of Israel, ‘I am the one who anointed you king over Israel, and I am the one who delivered you from the hand of Saul. [8]I have given you your master’s house and your master’s wives into your arms, and have given you the house of Israel and Judah. And if that had been too little, I also would have given you much more! [9]Why did you despise the word of the Lord and do evil in His sight? You struck down Uriah the Hittite with the sword; you took his wife to be your wife, and you killed him with the sword of the sons of Ammon. [10]Now, therefore, the sword shall never depart from your house forever, because you scorned Me and took the wife of Uriah the Hittite to be your wife.’ [11]Thus says the Lord: ‘Behold, I will raise up adversity against you from your own house; and I will take your wives before your eyes and give them to your neighbor, and he shall lie with your wives in the sunlight. [12]For you did it secretly, but I will do this before all Israel in the sunlight.’ ”

[13]So David said to Nathan, “I have sinned against the Lord.” And Nathan said to David, “The Lord also has put away your sin. You shall not die. [14]However, because by this deed you have greatly provoked the enemies of the Lord, your son who is born to you shall surely die.” [15]Then Nathan departed to his house.

The Death of David’s Son

And the Lord made feeble the child that Uriah’s wife bore to David, and it became ill. [16]David therefore sought after God for the child, and he fasted and went in and lay on the ground in sackcloth. [17]So the elders of his house arose and went to him to raise him up from the ground. But he did not want to do so, nor did he eat food with them. [18]Then on the seventh day the child died. And David’s servants were afraid to tell him that the child was dead, because they said, “Indeed, while the child was alive we spoke to him, and he would not heed our voice. How can we tell him that the child is dead? He may do some harm!”

[19]When David became aware his servants were whispering, he perceived the child was dead. Therefore David said to his servants, “Is the child dead?” And they said, “He is dead.” [20]So David arose from the ground, washed and anointed himself, and changed his clothes. And he went into the house of God and worshiped Him. Then he went to his own house. And when he requested food to eat, they set food before him and he ate. [21]Then his servants said to him, “What have you done? You fasted and wept and lay awake for the child while he was alive, but when the child died you arose and ate food and drank.”

[22]And he said, “While the child was alive, I fasted and wept, for I said, ‘Who can tell whether the Lord will be merciful to me, so that the child may live?’ [23]But now he is dead. Why should I fast? Can I bring him back again? I shall go to him, but he shall not return to me.”

The Birth of Solomon

[24]Then David comforted Bathsheba his wife and went in to her and lay with her. So she conceived and bore a son, and he called him Solomon. Now the Lord loved him, [25]and He sent word by the hand of Nathan the prophet. So he called him Jedidiah, because of the Lord.

The Capture of Rabbah

26 Now Joab fought against Rabbah of the sons of Ammon and took the royal city. 27 And Joab sent messengers to David and said, “I fought against Rabbah, and I took the city’s water supply. 28 Now gather the rest of the people together and encamp against the city and take it, or I will take the city and it will be named after me.” 29 So David gathered all the people together and went to Rabbah, fought against it, and took it. 30 Then he took the crown of Melchol their king from his head. Its weight was a talent of gold, with precious stones. And it was set on David’s head. Also he brought out the spoil of the city in great abundance. 31 And leading out the people who were in it, he put them to work with saws and iron threshing machines and made them work as brick-makers. He did the same to all the cities of the sons of Ammon. Then David and all the people returned to Jerusalem.

Amnon and Tamar

1 And it came to pass that Absalom the son of David had a very lovely sister, whose name was Tamar. Amnon the son of David loved her. 2 Amnon was so lovesick over his sister Tamar that he became ill; for she was a virgin and also aloof. It was nearly impossible, in the eyes of Amnon, for him to gain her affection.

3 But Amnon had a companion whose name was Jonadab the son of Shimeah, David’s brother. Now Jonadab was a very clever man. 4 And he said to him, “What is the matter with you, son of the king? Why are you becoming weaker day after day? Will you not tell me?” Amnon said to him, “I am in love with Tamar, my brother Absalom’s sister.” 5 So Jonadab said to him, “Lie down on your bed and pretend to be ill. And when your father comes to see you, say to him, ‘Please let my sister Tamar come and give me food, and prepare the food in my sight, so that I may see it and eat it from her hand.’ ” 6 Then Amnon lay down and pretended to be ill. And when the king came to see him, Amnon said to the king, “Please let Tamar my sister come and make a couple of cakes for me in my sight, so that I may eat from her hand.”

7 And David sent home to Tamar, saying, “Go to your brother Amnon’s house and prepare food for him.” 8 So Tamar went to her brother Amnon’s house, and he was lying down. Then she took flour and kneaded it, made cakes in his sight, and baked the cakes. 9 And she took the pan and placed them before him, but he refused to eat. Then Amnon said, “Have everyone go out from me.” And they all went out from him. 10Then Amnon said to Tamar, “Bring the food into the inner chamber, so that I may eat from your hand.” And Tamar took the cakes she had made and brought them to Amnon her brother in the bedroom. 11Now when she had brought them for him to eat, he took hold of her and said to her, “Come, lie with me, my sister.”

12And she answered him, “No, my brother, do not shame me, because it is not done this way in Israel. Do not do this foolishness! 13And how could I bear my disgrace? As for you, you would be like one of the fools in Israel. Now therefore, please speak to the king, for he will not withhold me from you.” 14However, Amnon would not heed her voice, and since he was stronger than she, he violated her and lay with her. 15Then Amnon hated her exceedingly, so much so that the intense hatred he bore against her was greater than the love with which he at first loved her. And Amnon said to her, “Get up and get out!” 16But Tamar said to him, “No, my brother! Because the hateful malice in your casting me out is far worse than the first thing you did to me.”

But Amnon would not listen to her. 17Then he called the servant he had put in charge of his house and said, “Here! Take her away from me, and bolt the door behind her.” 18At the time, she wore a robe that reached to her wrists, for the daughters of the king who were virgins wore such apparel. And his servant put her out and bolted the door behind her. 19Then Tamar put ashes on her head. She tore the special robe she was wearing and then laid her hands on her head and went on her way, crying bitterly.

20And Absalom her brother said to her, “Has Amnon your brother been with you? Now then my sister, keep quiet. Because he is your brother, do not put it into your heart to speak about this.” So Tamar lived her life as a widow in her brother Absalom’s house. 21But when King David heard all these things, he was very angry. But he did not grieve the spirit of his son Amnon, because he loved him, for he was his firstborn. 22However, Absalom said nothing to his brother Amnon, neither good nor bad. For Absalom hated Amnon because he had violated his sister Tamar.

Absalom Slays Amnon

23It came about after two years passed by, to the day, they were shearing sheep for Absalom in Baal Hazor, near Ephraim. Absalom invited all the king’s sons. 24Then Absalom came to the king and said, “See, your servant has sheep shearers; let the king and his servants go with your servant." [25]But the king said to Absalom, "No, my son. Let us not all go at once and become burdensome to you." Absalom persisted, but he would not go. Instead he blessed him. [26]Then Absalom said, "Well then, please let my brother Amnon go with us." And the king said to him, "Why should he go with you?" [27]But Absalom persisted; so the king sent Amnon and all his sons with him.

Absalom made a banquet like the banquet of the king. [28]Now Absalom had commanded his servants, saying, "Take notice, when Amnon's heart is merry with wine, and when I say to you, 'Strike Amnon and kill him,' do not be afraid in any way, because I will give the command to you. Be courageous and valiant." [29]So the servants of Absalom did to Amnon as Absalom had commanded. Then all the king's sons jumped up and each mounted his mule and fled. [30]While they were yet on the way, news came to David, saying, "Absalom has killed all the king's sons. Not one of them is left!" [31]So the king arose and tore his garments and lay on the ground, and all his servants stood by with their clothes torn. [32]Then Jonadab the son of Shimeah, David's brother, spoke up and said, "Let not my lord the king suppose the servants killed all the young men, the king's sons, for only Amnon is dead. For by the command of Absalom this has been determined from the day Amnon violated his sister Tamar. [33]Now therefore, let my lord the king not take the thing to heart, thinking that all the king's sons are dead. Only Amnon is dead." [34]Then Absalom escaped.

And the servant keeping watch looked up and saw many people coming down the road from the mountainside behind him. The watchman came and told the king and said, "I saw men on the road of Oronen coming from the direction of the mountain." [35]And Jonadab said to the king, "Look, the king's sons are coming. It is as your servant said." [36]As he finished speaking, the king's sons arrived and wept aloud. And the king and all his servants wept very bitterly. [37]But Absalom escaped and went to Talmai the son of Ammihud, king of Geshur, in the land of Machad. King David mourned for his son every day.

[38]So Absalom fled and escaped to Geshur. He stayed there three years. [39]And the motivation of the king to seek out Absalom ceased, for he was consoled and at peace concerning the death of Amnon.

Absalom Comes Back to Jerusalem

[1]Joab the son of Zeruiah perceived that the king's heart was inclined toward Absalom. [2]So Joab sent to Tekoa and took from there a wise woman. He said to her, "Now mourn and put on apparel for mourning. Do not anoint yourself with olive oil, and be like a woman who is mourning for the dead a long time. [3]Then go to the king and repeat the words I give you." So Joab put the words in her mouth.

[4]And as the woman of Tekoa spoke to the king, she put her face to the ground and prostrated herself and said, "Help me, O king, help me!" [5]Then the king said to her, "What troubles you?" And she answered, "Indeed I am a widow. My husband is dead. [6]Now your handmaid had two sons, and the two fought with each other in the field, and there was no one to part them, but the one struck his brother and killed him. [7]And now the whole family has risen up against your handmaid and said, 'Deliver him who struck his brother, so we may execute him for the life of his brother whom he killed. We will destroy your heir as well.' So they will extinguish my ember that is left, and leave neither name nor remnant on the earth to my husband."

[8]Then the king said, "Go in peace to your house, and I will give orders concerning you." [9]And the woman of Tekoa said to the king, "My lord king, let the iniquity be on me and on my father's house. Let the king and his throne be guiltless." [10]So the king said, "Who said this to you? Bring him to me, and he will no longer have influence over you." [11]Then she said, "Indeed, remember, O king, let the Lord God prevail lest the blood of my kinsmen be utterly destroyed. Let not one of them by any means take away my son." And he said, "As the Lord lives, not one hair of your son shall fall to the ground."

[12]Therefore the woman said, "May your handmaid speak another word to my lord the king?" And he said, "Speak." [13]So the woman responded, "Why do you sometimes consider such a thing against the people of God? Truly, this message comes from the mouth of the king as an error, for the king does not bring back his son from being banished. [14]For as we will surely die and be spilled on the ground like water that cannot be gathered together on its own, so too God shall take away life, even as He is taking into account the ones being banished from Him. [15]Now I come to speak this message to my lord the king, so the people may see me and say that your handmaid indeed spoke to the king—if somehow the king will fulfill the request of his handmaid. [16]For the king will hear and deliver his handmaid from the hand of the man who seeks to cast me and my son from the inheritance of God.” [17]And the woman said, “May the word of my lord the king be as an offering. For as an angel of the Lord, thus does my lord and king hear the good and the evil; and the Lord your God will be with you.”

[18]Then the king answered and said to the woman, “Hide nothing from me that I ask of you.” And the woman said, “Let my lord the king speak.” [19]So the king said, “Is not the hand of Joab in all this with you?” And the woman said to the king, “O my lord the king, as your soul lives, there is no turning to the right hand or to the left from any of the words my lord the king speaks. Your servant Joab commanded me, putting all these words in the mouth of your handmaid. [20]Your servant Joab did this to bring about this change of affairs, but my lord is wise according to the wisdom of an angel of God, and knows everything on the earth.”

[21]And the king said to Joab, “All right, I have done this request of yours for you. Go and bring back the young man Absalom.” [22]Then Joab fell to the ground on his face and bowed himself and blessed the king. And Joab said, “Today your servant knows that I have found favor in your sight, my lord king, because the king has fulfilled his servant’s request.” [23]So Joab arose and went to Geshur and brought Absalom to Jerusalem. [24]And the king said, “Let him return to his own house, but do not let him see my face.” So Absalom returned to his own house but did not see the king’s face.

Absalom Reconciles with His Father

[25]Now in all Israel there was no one praised as much as Absalom. From the sole of his foot to the crown of his head, there was no blemish in him. [26]And when he cut the hair of his head—at the beginning of every year he cut it because it was heavy on him—he weighed the hair of his head at two hundred shekels according to the king’s standard. [27]To Absalom were born three sons, and one daughter whose name was Tamar. She was a woman of beautiful appearance, and she became the wife of Rehoboam, son of Solomon, and she bore to him Abijah.

[28]Absalom dwelt for two full years in Jerusalem, but did not see the king’s face. [29]Therefore Absalom requested that Joab send him to the king, but he would not come to him. And when he sent again the second time, he would not come. [30]So Absalom said to his servants, “See, a portion of Joab’s field is near mine, and he has barley there. Go and set it on fire.” So Absalom’s servants set it on fire. Then Joab’s servants went to him with their clothes torn and said, “Absalom’s servants set your portion on fire.” 31Then Joab arose and came to Absalom’s house and said to him, “Why did your servants set my portion on fire?” 32And Absalom answered Joab, “Look, I sent to you saying, ‘Come here,’ so I may send you to the king to say, ‘Why have I come from Geshur? It would be better for me to be there still.’ Now therefore, I have not seen the king’s face; but if there is iniquity in me, let him execute me.”

33So Joab went to the king and told him. And he called for Absalom, and he came to the king and bowed and fell on his face to the ground before the king. Then the king kissed Absalom.

The Treason of Absalom

1After this Absalom provided himself with chariots and horses and fifty men to run before him. 2Now Absalom would rise early and stand beside the entrance to the gate. So it was that whenever anyone who had a lawsuit came to the king for a decision, Absalom would call to him and say, “What city are you from?” And the man would say, “Your servant is from such and such a tribe of Israel.” 3Then Absalom would say to him, “Look, your case is good and right; but there is no one to grant you a hearing before the king.” 4And Absalom said, “Who will appoint me as judge in the land, so everyone who has any dispute or cause will come to me? I will give him justice.” 5And so it was, when anyone came near to him to bow down in respect, he would put out his hand and take him and kiss him. 6Absalom acted in this manner toward all Israelites who came to the king for judgment. Absalom won over the hearts of the men of Israel.

7Four years later Absalom said to his father, “I am going to Hebron to fulfill the vow I made to the Lord. 8For your servant took a vow while I dwelt at Geshur in Syria, saying, ‘If the Lord brings me back to Jerusalem, then I will serve the Lord.’ ” 9And the king said to him, “Go in peace.” So he arose and went to Hebron. 10Then Absalom sent spies throughout all the tribes of Israel, saying, “As soon as you hear the sound of the trumpet, then you shall say, ‘Absalom reigns as king in Hebron!’ ” 11And Absalom invited two hundred men who went with him from Jerusalem. They went along innocently and knew nothing in particular. 12Then Absalom sent for and called Ahithophel the Gilonite, David's counselor, from his city, from Giloh, where he was offering sacrifices. And the conspiracy grew strong, for there were many people who went with Absalom.

David Flees Jerusalem

13 Now a messenger came to David, saying, "The hearts of the men of Israel are following Absalom." 14 So David said to all his servants who were with him at Jerusalem, "Arise, and let us flee. There is no refuge for us before Absalom. Make haste to depart, so he does not drive us out and bring disaster upon us and strike the city with the edge of the sword." 15 And the king's servants said to the king, "We are your servants, ready to do whatever our lord the king commands." 16 Then the king went out on foot with all his household. But the king left ten women of his concubines to guard the house.

17 And the king went out with all his people on foot, and lodged in a distant house. 18 Then all his servants passed before him, even the Cherethites and all the Pelethites, and they stayed among the olive trees in the desert. All the people walked near him with his court, all the strong men, and all the six hundred men of the army present by his side. And all the Cherethites and all the Pelethites and all the Gathites totaled six hundred men who followed him from Gath on foot, who went ahead of the king. 19 Then the king said to Ittai the Gathite, "Why do you also travel with us? Return and remain with the king, for you are a foreigner and an exile from your own place. 20 In fact, you came only yesterday. Should I move you with us and cause you to flee from your place? You left yesterday. Shall I make you sojourn with us today as well? For indeed I will go wherever I wish to go. So return, and take your brethren back with you. May the Lord treat you with mercy and truth."

21 And Ittai answered the king and said, "As the Lord lives, and as my lord the king lives, wherever my lord the king goes, to death or to life, your servant will be there as well." 22 So the king said to Ittai, "Go and cross over with me." Then Ittai the Gathite and all his men and all the crowd who were with him crossed over. 23 And all the country wept with a loud voice, and all the people crossed over the Brook Kidron. The king himself crossed over the Brook Kidron, and all the people crossed over toward the way of the desert.

24 And there was Zadok and all the Levites with him, bearing the ark of the covenant of the Lord from Bethor. And they set down the ark of God, and Abiathar went up until all the people finished crossing over from the city.
25 Then the king said to Zadok, "Carry the ark of God back into the city. If I find favor in the eyes of the Lord, He will bring me back and show me both it and its majesty. [26]But if He says thus, ‘I have no delight in you,’ behold, here I am, let Him do to me as seems good to Him.” [27]The king also said to Zadok the priest, “Look, return to the city in peace along with your two sons, Ahimaaz your son, and Jonathan the son of Abiathar. [28]Take notice, I will continue to wait in Araboth, in the plains of the desert, until word comes from you to let me know.” [29]Therefore Zadok and Abiathar carried the ark back to Jerusalem, and they remained there.

[30]So David went up by the ascent of the Mount of Olives and wept as he went up. His head was covered and he went up barefoot. And of the people with him, each of the men covered his head and went up, weeping as they went. [31]Then someone told David, saying, “Ahithophel is among the conspirators with Absalom.” And David said, “Lord, my God, defeat the counsel of Ahithophel!”

[32]Now it happened, when David came to the top of the mountain, where he worshipped God, Hushai the Archite, David’s companion, was coming to meet him with his robe torn and dust on his head. [33]David said to him, “If you go on with me, then you will become a burden to me. [34]But if you return to the city and say to Absalom, ‘Your brothers crossed over, and the king your father crossed over behind me. Now I am your servant, O king; let me live. As I was previously the servant of your father, so I will now be your servant. So reject the counsel of Ahithophel for me.’ [35]Indeed, Zadok and Abiather the priests will be there, so whatever you hear from the king’s house, tell the priests. [36]Indeed Zadok and Abiathar have their two sons there with them, Ahimaaz, Zadok’s son, and Jonathan, Abiathar’s son. By them you shall send me everything you hear.” [37]So Hushai, David’s companion, went into the city. And Absalom entered Jerusalem.

David Met by Ziba

[1]When David was a little past the top of the mountain, there was Ziba the servant of Mephibosheth, who met him with a couple of saddled donkeys. And on them were two hundred loaves of bread, one hundred clusters of raisins, one hundred dates, and a skin of wine. [2]And the king said to Ziba, “Why do you have these?”

So Ziba said, “The donkeys are for the king’s household to ride on, the bread and dates for the young men to eat, and the wine for those who are faint in the desert from lack of drink.” 3Then the king said, “And where is your master’s son?” And Ziba said to the king, “He is staying in Jerusalem, for he said, ‘Today the house of Israel will restore my father’s kingdom to me.’ ”

4So the king said to Ziba, “Here, all that belongs to Mephibosheth is yours.” And Ziba bowed and said, “May I find favor in your eyes, lord, my king!”

David Cursed by Shimei

5Now when King David came to Bahurim, there was a man coming from there from the family of the house of Saul, whose name was Shimei the son of Gera. As he came out, he was cursing continuously, 6casting stones at David and all the servants of David, and at all the people and all the mighty men on the right and on the left hand of the king. 7And Shimei cursed him and said, “Come out! Come out! You bloodthirsty man, you unlawful man! 8The Lord brought upon you all the blood of the house of Saul because you reign in his place. And the Lord now gives the kingdom into the hand of Absalom your son. So now you are caught in your own evil because you are a bloodthirsty man!”

9Then Abishai the son of Zeruiah said to the king, “Why is this dead dog cursing my lord the king? I will go over and take off his head!” 10But the king said, “What do I have to do with you, you sons of Zeruiah? Leave him alone and let him curse, because the Lord told him to curse David. Who then shall say, ‘Why have you done so?’ ” 11And David said to Abishai and all his servants, “See how my son who came from my own body seeks my life. Still more now may the son of Benjamin! Let him curse, because the Lord told him. 12May the Lord somehow look on my humiliation, and may He turn his cursing of me this day into good.” 13And as David and his men went along the road, Shimei went along the hillside opposite him and cursed as he went, throwing stones alongside him and kicking up dust. 14Now the king and all the people with him were becoming thirsty, so they refreshed themselves there.

Absalom Enters Jerusalem

15Absalom and all the men of Israel came to Jerusalem, and Ahithophel was with him. 16And when Hushai the Archite, David’s companion, came to

Absalom, Hushai said to Absalom, “Long live the king!” 17So Absalom said to Hushai, “Is this the mercy you show to your companion? Why did you not go with your companion?” 18And Hushai said to Absalom, “No, I am following the one that the Lord, these people, and all the men of Israel choose. I will be his, and I will remain with him. 19Should I not serve the next one? Should I not serve in the presence of his son? I will be in your presence as I served in your father’s presence.”

20Then Absalom said to Ahithophel, “Give counsel as to what we should do.” 21And Ahithophel said to Absalom, “Go in to your father’s concubines, whom he left to keep the house; and all Israel will hear that you dishonored your father. Then the hands of all who are with you will be strong.” 22So they pitched a tent for Absalom on top of the house, and Absalom went in to his father’s concubines in the sight of all Israel.

23Now the counsel of Ahithophel which he gave in those days was treated as if he obtained it after inquiring the word of God. So was all the advice of Ahithophel, both to David and to Absalom.

2 Kingdoms 17

1In those days, Ahithophel said to Absalom, “Let me choose for myself twelve thousand men, and I will arise and pursue David tonight. 2I will come upon him while he is weary and weak and make him confused. And all the people who are with him will flee, and I will strike only the king. 3I will bring all the people back to you as a bride returns to her husband, except the life of the one man whom you seek. Then all the people will be at peace.” 4The saying pleased Absalom and all the elders of Israel.

Hushai Misinforms Absalom

5Then Absalom said, “Call Hushai the Archite, and let us hear what he says as well.” 6When Hushai came to Absalom, Absalom spoke to him, saying, “Ahithophel spoke in this manner. Shall we do as he says? If not, speak up.”

7So Hushai said to Absalom, “The advice that Ahithophel gave is not good at this time.” 8Hushai said, “You know that your father and his men are very mighty and bitter in their souls, like a bear robbed of her cubs in the field, or like a savage boar in the pasture. And your father is a man of war and will not camp with the people. 9Surely by now he is hidden in one of the hills, or in some other place. And when at first some of them are overthrown, whoever hears it will say, ‘There is a slaughter among the people who follow Absalom.’ 10And even he who is valiant, whose heart is like that of a lion, will melt completely. For all Israel knows that your father is a mighty man, and those who are with him are valiant men. 11Therefore I advise all Israel to gather to you, from Dan to Beersheba, like the multitude of sand along the sea, with you yourself standing in the midst of them. 12So we will come upon him in one of the places where we may find him, and we will fall on him as the dew falls on the ground. And we will not leave one of all the men with him. 13Moreover, if he withdraws into a city, then all Israel shall bring ropes to that city, and we will pull it into the river until not one small stone is left.”

14So Absalom and all the men of Israel said, “The advice of Hushai the Archite is better than the counsel of Ahithophel. For the Lord commanded we reject the good counsel of Ahithophel, if perchance the Lord might bring all evil upon Absalom.”

David Is Warned to Flee

15Then Hushai the Archite said to Zadok and Abiathar the priests, “Thus and so Ahithophel advised Absalom and the elders of Israel, and thus and so I have advised. 16Now quickly send and tell David the following, ‘Do not remain lodged this night in Araboth of the desert wilderness. Make haste and go quickly, lest perchance one swallow up the king, and with him all the people.’ ”

17Now Jonathan and Ahimaaz stood by the well at Rogel awaiting a handmaid to report to them. Then they would go and tell King David, for they dared not be seen coming into and going out of the city. 18Nevertheless, a lad saw them and told Absalom. But the two men went away quickly and came to a man’s house in Bahurim. He had a reservoir for water in his court, and they went down into it. 19Then the woman spread a covering over the opening to the pit, and she put grain on it in need of drying to disguise what was happening. 20And when Absalom’s servants came to the woman at the house they said, “Where are Ahimaaz and Jonathan?” So the woman said to them, “They passed a while ago for water.” The men searched, but found no one, and returned to Jerusalem. 21Now after they departed, the two men came up out of the pit and went on to tell King David. They said to David, “Arise and quickly cross over the water. For thus did Ahithophel counsel concerning you.” 22So David and all the people with him arose and crossed over the River Jordan before morning light. Not one of them was left who did not cross over the River Jordan. 23Now when Ahithophel saw that his advice was not followed, he arose and saddled a donkey and went to his house in the city. He gave final orders to his household, and he hanged himself and died. He was buried in his father’s tomb.

24David went through the desert wilderness to Mahanaim, while Absalom crossed the Jordan, he and all the men of Israel with him. 25Absalom appointed Amasa captain over the army instead of Joab. Amasa was the son of a man whose name was Jithra, an Israelite who had gone in to Abigail the daughter of Nahash, sister of Zeruiah, Joab’s mother. 26So all Israel and Absalom encamped in the land of Gilead. 27Now when David came to Mahanaim, he was met by Shobi the son of Nahash, from Rabbah of the sons of Ammon, Machir the son of Ammiel from Lo Debar, and Barzillai the Gileadite from Rogelim. 28They brought ten beds and tapestries, ten basins, earthen vessels, wheat, barley, flour, parched grain, beans, lentils, parched seeds, 29honey and butter, sheep, and cheese of the herd, and they offered them to David and the people with him to eat. For they said, “The people are hungry and weary and thirsty in the desert.”

Absalom’s Demise

1David considered the people with him, and set captains of thousands and captains of hundreds over them. 2Then David sent out one third of the people under the hand of Joab, one third under the hand of Abishai the son of Zeruiah, Joab’s brother, and one third under the hand of Ittai the Gathite. And David said to the people, “I myself will surely go out with you as well.” 3But they answered, “You shall not go out! For if we flee away, they will not care about us. Nor will they care about us if half of us die. You are worth ten thousand of us. And now it is well that you will be more help to us in the city.” 4Then the king said to them, “I will do whatever seems best to you.” So the king stood beside the gate, and all the people went out by hundreds and by thousands. 5The king commanded Joab, Abishai, and Ittai, saying, “For my sake, deal gently with the young man Absalom.” And the people heard the king give orders to all the captains concerning Absalom.

6 So the people went out into the thicket against Israel. And the battle was in the thicket of Ephraim. 7 The people of Israel were overthrown there before the servants of David, and a great slaughter of twenty thousand men took place there that day. 8 And the battle itself was scattered over the face of all the countryside; and the thicket of woods devoured more of the people that day than did the sword.

9 Then Absalom met the servants of David. Absalom rode on his mule. The mule went under the thick boughs of a great oak tree, and his head caught in the oak, so he was left hanging between heaven and earth. And the mule that was under him went on.

10 Now a certain man saw it and told Joab, saying, “I just saw Absalom hanging in an oak tree!” 11 So Joab said to the man who told him, “You just saw him, and did not dislodge him so he could fall to the ground? Why? I would have given you ten shekels of silver and a belt.” 12 But the man said to Joab, “Though I were to receive a thousand shekels of silver in my hand, I would not raise my hand against the king’s son. For in our hearing, the king commanded you and Abishai and Ittai, saying, ‘Protect the young man Absalom for me! 13 Do not deal with his life in a dishonorable way.’ For there is nothing hidden from the king, and you yourself would have set yourself against him.”

14 Then Joab said, “I will make preparation for this, and thus I will not linger with you.” Joab took three spears in his hand and thrust them through the heart of Absalom, while he was yet alive in the grip of the oak tree.
15 Then ten young men who bore Joab’s armor surrounded Absalom and struck and killed him. 16 So Joab blew the trumpet, and the people returned from pursuing Israel. For Joab spared the people. 17 And they took Absalom and cast him into a large chasm in the thicket, into a great pit, and laid a very large heap of stones over him. Then all Israel fled, everyone to his tent.
18 Now Absalom in his lifetime had taken and set up a pillar for himself in the King’s Valley. For he said, “I have no son to keep my name in remembrance.” He called the pillar Absalom’s Hand, and that is what it is called to this day.

Absalom’s Death Reported to David

19 Then Ahimaaz the son of Zadok said, “Let me run now and take the good news to the king, how the Lord avenged him from the hand of his enemies.” 20 And Joab said to him, “You will be no messenger of good news today, for you shall take good news another day. But on this day you shall take no good news, on account of the king's son who is dead." [21]Then Joab said to Hushai, "Go, tell the king what you saw." So the Cushite bowed to Joab and left. [22]And Ahimaaz the son of Zadok said again to Joab, "But whatever happens, let me run after the Cushite." So Joab said, "My son, why are you going to run? Come here, because you have no good news which is of use to the one going." [23]And he said, "What if I run?" So Joab said to him, "Run." Then Ahimaaz ran by way of Kechar and outran Hushai.

[24]Now David was sitting between the two gates, and the watchman went up to the top of the gate of the wall and lifted his eyes and looked out. He saw a man running by himself. [25]Then the watchman cried out and told the king. And the king said, "If he is alone, there is good news in his mouth." And he came quickly and drew near. [26]Then the watchman saw another man running, and the watchman called toward the gate and said, "There is another man running alone!" And the king said, "He also brings good news."

[27]So the watchman said, "I think the running of the first one resembles the running of Ahimaaz the son of Zadok." And the king said, "He is a good man and comes with good news." [28]And Ahimaaz called out and said to the king, "Peace!" Then he bowed to the king with his face to the earth and said, "Blessed be the Lord your God, who delivered up the men who raised their hand against my lord the king!"

[29]The king said, "Is the young man Absalom safe?" Ahimaaz answered, "I saw a great multitude at the time of Joab's sending the king's servant and me your servant. I saw a great tumult, but I did not know what was happening." [30]And the king said, "Turn aside and stand here." So he turned aside and stood still. [31]Just then Hushai came, and he said to the king, "There is good news, my lord the king! For the Lord avenged you today, and on all those who rose against you." [32]And the king said to Hushai, "Is the young man Absalom safe?" So Hushai answered, "May the enemies of my lord the king, and all who rise against you to do harm, be like that young man!"

David Mourns for Absalom

[1]The king was deeply troubled, and went up to the chamber over the gate and wept. And thus he said as went, "My son Absalom, my son. My son Absalom

—why your death instead of mine; I instead of you! Absalom my son, my son!” 2Joab was told, “Behold, the king is weeping and mourning for Absalom.” 3So the deliverance of that day was turned into mourning for all the people. For that day the people heard it said, “The king is grieving for his son.” 4And the people crept back into the city that day like people ashamed for being cowardly in the midst of battle. 5The king covered his face and cried out with a loud voice, “My son Absalom! Absalom, my son!”

6And Joab came into the house before the king, and said, “Today you have disgraced all your servants who delivered you today, the lives of your sons and daughters, the lives of your wives and the lives of your concubines, 7because you love those who hate you and hate those who love you. For today you declared that you regard neither rulers nor servants. For I perceive that if Absalom lived and all of us had died today, then it would be well-pleasing to you. 8Now therefore, arise, go out and speak to the hearts of your servants. For I swear by the Lord, if you do not go out today, not one will stay with you tonight. And that will be worse for you than all the evil that has befallen you from your youth until now.” 9Then the king arose and sat in the gate. And they told all the people saying, “There is the king, sitting in the gate.” So all the people came before the king, for Israel fled every man to his tent.

David’s Return to Jerusalem

10Now all the people were in a dispute throughout all the tribes of Israel, saying, “The king saved us from all our enemies, he delivered us from the hand of the Philistines, and now he fled from the land and his kingdom because of Absalom. 11But Absalom, whom we anointed over us, died in battle. Now therefore, why do you say nothing about bringing back the king?” 12So King David sent to Zadok and Abiathar the priests, saying, “Speak to the elders of Judah, saying, ‘Why are you the last to bring the king back to his house, since the words of all Israel have come to the king? 13You are my brethren, you are my bone and my flesh. Why then are you the last to bring back the king into his house?’ 14And say to Amasa, ‘Are you not my bone and my flesh? God do so to me and more also, if you are not permanent commander of the army instead of Joab.’ ” 15The king swayed the hearts of all the men of Judah, as that of one man. And word was sent to the king, saying, “Return, you and all your servants!” 16Then the king returned and came as far as the River Jordan. And the men of Judah came to Gilgal on their way to meet the king, to escort him across the River Jordan.

David Shows Mercy to Shimei

17 And Shimei the son of Gera, a Benjamite who was from Bahurim, hastened and came down with the men of Judah to meet King David. 18 There were a thousand men of Benjamin with him, and Ziba the servant of the house of Saul, and his fifteen sons and his twenty servants with him, and they went over the Jordan before the king. 19 And they went through the ford, carrying the king's household, and the service of escorting the king was completed, and they did what he thought good. Now Shimei the son of Gera fell on his face before the king as he was crossing the River Jordan. 20 And he said to the king, "Do not let my lord impute iniquity to me, or remember the wrong your servant did on the day when my lord the king left Jerusalem, so that the king should take it to heart. 21 For I, your servant, know that I sinned.
Therefore here I am, the first to come today of all the house of Joseph to go down to meet my lord the king." 22 But Abishai the son of Zeruiah spoke up and said, "Shall not Shimei be put to death for this, because he cursed the Lord's anointed?" 23 And David said, "What have I to do with you, you sons of Zeruiah, that you should be adversaries to me today? Shall any man be put to death today in Israel? For I do not know today whether I am king over Israel." 24 And the king said to Shimei, "You shall not die." For the king swore to him.

David Receives Mephibosheth

25 Now Mephibosheth the son of Jonathan the son of Saul came down to meet the king. And he had not cared for his feet, nor trimmed his nails or his mustache, nor washed his clothes from the day the king departed until the day he returned in peace. 26 So when he came to Jerusalem to meet the king, the king said to him, "Why did you not go with me, Mephibosheth?" 27 And he answered, "My lord the king, my servant deceived me. For your servant said to him, 'I will saddle a donkey for myself so I may ride on it and go to the king, because your servant is lame.' 28 And he deceived your servant to my lord the king, but my lord the king is like an angel of God. Therefore do what is good in your eyes. 29 For all my father's house were but dead men before my lord the king. Yet you set your servant among those who eat at your own table. Therefore what right do I still have to cry out any more to the king?"

30 So the king said to him, "Why are you still speaking of your affairs? I said, ‘You and Ziba divide the land.’ ” [31]Then Mephibosheth said to the king, “No, let him take it all, since my lord the king has come back in peace to his house.”

David’s Mercy to Barzillai

[32]And Barzillai the Gileadite came down from Rogelim and went across the River Jordan with the king to escort him across the Jordan. [33]Now Barzillai was a very aged man, eighty years old, and had provided the king with supplies while he stayed at Mahanaim, for he was a very great man. [34]And the king said to Barzillai, “Come across with me, and I will provide for your old age in Jerusalem.” [35]But Barzillai said to the king, “How long have I to live, that I should go up with the king to Jerusalem? [36]I am eighty years old today. Can I discern between the good and bad? Can your servant taste what I eat or what I drink? Can I hear any longer the voice of singing men and singing women? Why then should your servant be a further burden to my lord the king? [37]Your servant will go a little way across the Jordan with the king. Why should the king repay me with such a reward? [38]Let me your servant remain and die in my own city near the grave of my father and mother. But here is your servant Chimham; he will cross over with my lord the king, and do for him what seems good to you.”

[39]And the king answered, “Chimham shall cross over with me, and I will do for him what seems good to you. Now I will do for you whatever you ask of me.” [40]Then all the people went over the Jordan, and the king crossed. And the king kissed Barzillai and blessed him, and he returned to his place.

The Debate at Gilgal

[41]Now the king went on to Gilgal, and Chimham went on with him. And all the people of Judah escorted the king, and half the people of Israel.

[42]And behold, all the men of Israel came to the king and said to him, “Why did our brethren, the men of Judah, steal you away and bring the king, his household, and all David’s men with him across the Jordan?” [43]So all the men of Judah answered the men of Israel, “Because the king is a close relative of ours. Why then are you angry over this matter? Have we ever eaten at the king’s expense? Or has he given us any gift?” [44]And the men of Israel answered the men of Judah and said, “We have ten shares in the king; therefore we are first over you, and we also have a greater right to David than you. Why then do you despise us? Were we not the first to advise bringing back our king?” The words of the men of Judah were sharper than the words of the men of Israel.

Rebellion of Sheba

1 There happened to be there a rebel whose name was Sheba the son of Bichri, a Benjamite. And he blew a trumpet and said, “We have no share in David, nor do we have inheritance in the son of Jesse. Every man to your tents, O Israel!” 2 So every man of Israel deserted David and followed Sheba the son of Bichri. But the men of Judah, from the Jordan as far as Jerusalem, clung to their king. 3 Now David entered his house at Jerusalem. And the king took the ten women, his concubines whom he had left to keep the house, and put them under guard and supported them, but did not go in to them. So they were shut up to the day of their death, living in widowhood.

4 And the king said to Amasa, “Within three days, call the men of Judah for me, and be present here yourself.” 5 So Amasa went to call for the men of Judah. But he delayed longer than the time set by David, who appointed him.
6 And David said to Abishai, “Now Sheba the son of Bichri will do us more harm than Absalom. Take your lord’s servants with you and pursue him so that he does not fortify cities for himself and escape from our sight.” 7 So Joab’s men with the Cherethites, the Pelethites, and all the mighty men went out after him. They went out of Jerusalem to pursue Sheba the son of Bichri.
8 When they reached the large stone in Gibeon, Amasa came before them.
Now Joab was dressed in battle armor, and on it was a belt with a sword fastened in its sheath at his hips. Then the sword came out and fell to the ground. 9 Then Joab said to Amasa, “Are you healthy, brother?” And Joab took Amasa by the beard with his right hand to kiss him. 10 But Amasa did not notice the sword that was in Joab’s hand. And he struck him with it in the stomach, and his entrails poured out on the ground. He did not strike him again, and he died.

Then Joab and Abishai his brother pursued Sheba the son of Bichri.
11 Meanwhile one of Joab’s servants stood near him and said, “Whoever favors Joab and whoever is for David—follow Joab!” 12 But Amasa was soaked in his blood in the middle of the road. And when the man saw that all the people stood still, he removed Amasa from the path onto the field. He threw a garment over him because he saw that everyone halted who came upon him. 13And when he was removed from the road, all the people followed after Joab to pursue Sheba the son of Bichri. 14And he went through all the tribes of Israel to Abel and Beth Maachah, and all the Charrites. So they joined together and went after Sheba. 15They then came and besieged Sheba in Abel and Beth Maachah. And they raised a siege mound against the city and stood by the rampart. And all the people with Joab considered pulling down the wall.

16Then a wise woman cried out from the wall, “Listen! Listen! Tell Joab to come near, and I will speak with him.” 17When he came near to her, the woman said, “Are you Joab?” He answered, “I am.” Then she said to him, “Hear the words of your handmaid.” And he replied, “I am listening.” 18So she spoke, saying, “In former times they used to say, ‘They asked at Abel and in Dan whether the things established by the faithful of Israel failed, and they will ask in Abel whether they failed.’ 19I am among the peaceable and loyal in Israel. You seek to put a city and a capital in Israel to death. Why are you going to swallow up the inheritance of the Lord?” 20And Joab answered and said, “Far be it from me, far be it from me to swallow it up or destroy it! 21That is not so. But a man from the mountains of Ephraim, Sheba the son of Bichri by name, raised his hand against King David. Deliver him only to me, and I will depart from the city.” So the woman said to Joab, “Watch, his head will be thrown to you over the wall.” 22Then the woman in her wisdom went to the people and spoke to all the city. And they cut off the head of Sheba the son of Bichri and threw it out to Joab. Then he blew a trumpet, and they scattered from the city, every man to his tent. So Joab returned to the king at Jerusalem.

David’s Officers

23And Joab was over all the army of Israel; Benaiah the son of Jehoiada was over the Cherethites and the Pelethites; 24Adoram was in charge of revenue; Jehoshaphat the son of Ahilud was recorder; 25Sheva was scribe; Zadok and Abiathar were the priests; 26and Ira the Jairite was a priest of David.

The Descendants of Saul Are Killed

[1]Now there was a famine in the days of David for three years, year after year, and David inquired before the Lord. And the Lord said, “In Saul and his unrighteous house there is wrongdoing, because of his bloodthirsty killings when he killed the Gibeonites.” [2]So King David called the Gibeonites and spoke to them. Now the Gibeonites were not sons of Israel, but belonged to the remnant of the Amorites. The sons of Israel had sworn protection to them, but Saul had sought to kill them in his zeal for the sons of Israel and Judah. [3]And David said to the Gibeonites, “What shall I do for you? And with what shall I make atonement so that you may bless the inheritance of the Lord?” [4]And the Gibeonites said to him, “We will have no silver or gold from Saul or from his house, nor shall you kill any man in Israel for us.”

So he said, “What do you want me to do for you?” [5]Then they answered the king, “As for the man who consumed us and pursued us, who deceived us to destroy us, let us blot him out from remaining in any of the territories of Israel. [6]Let seven men of his descendants be delivered to us, and we will hang them in broad daylight before the Lord in Gibeah of Saul, whom the Lord chose.”

And the king said, “I will give them.” [7]But the king spared Mephibosheth, the son of Jonathan, the son of Saul, because of the Lord’s oath between David and Jonathan the son of Saul. [8]So the king took Armoni and Mephibosheth, the two sons of Rizpah the daughter of Aiah, whom she bore to Saul, and the five sons of Michal the daughter of Saul, whom she bore for Adriel the son of Barzillai the Meholathite; [9]and he delivered them into the hands of the Gibeonites. They hanged them on the hill before the Lord. So they fell, all seven together, and were put to death in the days of harvest, in the first days, in the beginning of barley harvest.

[10]Now Rizpah the daughter of Aiah took sackcloth and spread it for herself on the rock from the beginning of barley harvest until the rains poured on them from heaven. And she did not allow the birds of the air to rest on them by day nor the beasts of the field by night. [11]David was told what Rizpah the daughter of Aiah, the concubine of Saul, had done. And they were faint, and Dan, son of Joah from the offspring of the giants, overtook them. [12]Then David went and took Saul’s bones and the bones of Jonathan his son. He took them from the men of Jabesh Gilead, who stole them from the square of Beth Shan where the Philistines put them, on the day the Philistines struck down Saul in Gilboa. [13]So he brought up the bones of Saul and the bones of Jonathan his son from there, and they gathered the bones of those who were hanged. 14And they buried Saul's bones and the bones of Jonathan his son and the bones of those who were hanged in the country of Benjamin, in Zelah beside the tomb of Kish his father. So they did everything the king commanded. And after that God heeded the prayer for the land.

The Death of the Philistine Giants

15Now the Philistines were still at war with Israel, and David and his servants with him went down and fought against the Philistines; and David grew faint. 16Then Ishbi thought he could kill David. This Ishbi was one of the descendants of the giants, and the weight of his spear was the weight of three hundred bronze shekels, and he was girded with a club. 17But Abishai the son of Zeruiah came to his aid and struck the Philistine and killed him. Then David's men swore to him, saying, "You shall no longer go out with us to battle, that you do not quench the lamp of Israel."

18Now after this there was another battle with the Philistines at Gath. Then Sibbechai the Hushathite killed Saph, who was one of the descendants of the giants. 19And there was war at Gob with the Philistines, where Elhanan the son of Jaare-Oregim the Bethlehemite killed Goliath the Gittite, whose spear had a shaft like a weaver's beam. 20Yet again there was a battle at Gath, where there was a man of strife who had six fingers on each hand and six toes on each foot, twenty-four in number. He also was born to the giant. 21And he defied Israel, and Jonathan the son of Shimea, brother of David, killed him. 22These four were born as offspring of the giant in Gath, and they fell by the hand of David and by the hand of his servants.

David's Song of Deliverance

1And David spoke to the Lord the words of this song on the day when the Lord delivered him from the hand of all his enemies, and from the hand of Saul. 2And he sang:

"O Lord, my rock, my fortress and my deliverer;
3My God will be my guardian, in whom I will trust;
My defender and the horn of my salvation,

My protector and the refuge of my salvation;
You will save me from unrighteousness.
4I will call upon the Lord, who is worthy to be praised;
And I will be saved from my enemies.

5"When the troubles of death encompassed me,
The floods of wickedness terrified me.
6The throes of death surrounded me;
The harshness of death confronted me.
7In my distress I will call upon the Lord
And cry out to my God;
And He will hear my voice from His temple,
And my cry will enter His ears.

8"Then the earth was shaken and trembled;
And the foundations of heaven were troubled,
Because the Lord was angry with them.
9From out of His wrath, a smoke went up,
And from His mouth a devouring fire;
Coals were kindled by it.
10He bowed the heavens and came down,
And there was darkness under His feet.
11He rode upon the cherubim, and He did fly;
He was seen upon the wings of the wind.
12He put darkness around Him as a hiding place.
About Him, His tabernacle was the darkness of waters;
And by the clouds of the air, He thickened it.
13From the brightness of His light
Coals of fire were kindled.

14"The Lord thundered from heaven,
And the Most High uttered His voice.
15He sent arrows and scattered them;
He confounded them with lightning.
16The channels of the sea were seen,
The foundations of the world were uncovered,
With a blast of the wind, His wrath.

17 “He sent from the height and took me,
He drew me out of many waters.
18 He delivered me from my strong enemies,
From those who hated me;
For they were stronger than I.
19 They confronted me in the day of my tribulation,
But the Lord was my support.
20 He brought me to a broad place;
He delivered me because He delighted in me.

21 “The Lord repaid me according to my righteousness;
According to the purity of my hands, He repaid me.
22 For I have kept the ways of the Lord
And have not wickedly departed from my God.
23 For all His judgments were before me,
And I did not depart from His statutes.
24 I will be blameless before Him,
And I will guard myself from my iniquity.
25 And the Lord will recompense me according to my righteousness,
According to the cleanness of my hands in His eyes.

26 “With the holy You will be holy;
With a perfect man You will be perfect;
27 With the chosen You will be the choice one;
And with the devious You will be shrewd.
28 You will save the needy people;
But You will humble the eyes of the haughty.

29 “For You, O Lord, are my lamp;
The Lord shall enlighten my darkness.
30 For by You I can run against a band of troops;
By my God I can leap over a wall.
31 As for the Mighty One, His way is blameless;
The word of the Lord is strong, tried by fire;
He is a defender to all who trust in Him.

32 “Who is mighty except the Lord?

And who will be the Creator, except our God?
33The Mighty One who strengthens me with power,
Who has prepared my way blameless.
34He makes my feet like the feet of deer
And sets me on my high places.
35He instructs my hands for war,
So that my arms can bend a bow of bronze.

36"You have given me the protection of my salvation;
And Your gentleness fulfills me.
37My pathway under me is widened,
And my legs are not shaken.
38I shall pursue my enemies and destroy them,
And I will not turn back until I destroy them.
39I will break them and they will not rise,
For they will fall under my feet.
40For You will strengthen me with power for the battle;
You will subdue under me those who rose against me.
41You have given me the back of my enemy;
So I killed those who hated me.
42They will cry out, but no one will help;
Even to the Lord, but He did not listen to them.
43Then I beat them as fine as the dust of the earth;
I crushed them like dirt in the streets.

44"You will deliver me from the quarrels of the people;
You have kept me at the head of the nations.
A people I have not known served me.
45Philistines deceived me;
As soon as they heard, they obeyed me.
46Philistines shall be cast out,
And they will stumble out from their hideouts.

47"The Lord lives!
Blessed be my Guardian!
Let my God be exalted,
The Guardian of my salvation!
48It is the Mighty Lord who avenges me

And chastises the peoples under me;
49He delivers me from my enemies.
You will lift me above those who rise against me;
You will deliver me from the man of injustice.
50Therefore, O Lord, I will confess You to the Gentiles
And sing praises to Your name.

51"He is the one who extols the salvation of His king
And shows mercy to His anointed,
To David and his seed forever."

David's Last Words

1Now these are the last words of David.

"David, the faithful one, the son of Jesse;
The faithful man whom the Lord raised up,
The anointed of the God of Jacob,
The sweet psalmist of Israel:

2"The Spirit of the Lord spoke by me,
And His word was on my tongue.
3The God of Israel says,
A guardian of Israel spoke a parable, saying,
'Among men, how will you strengthen the fear of God?
4By God, the sun may arise in the light of early morning;
The early morning does not pass by without light;
So after rain, new growth shows forth out of the earth.'

5"For my house is not so with the Mighty One;
For He prepared an everlasting covenant with me,
Keeping it prepared for every time.
For my entire salvation and my every desire is That the lawless may not in any way flourish!
6All of them are as thorns thrusting outward,
For they cannot be taken by the hand.

7 And a man will not labor among them,
Unless armed with iron and the shaft of a spear,
And to their dishonor, they shall be burned with fire.”

David’s Mighty Men

8 The names of David’s mighty men were, first, Jebosheth the Canaanite, chief among the three. The second was called Adino the Eznite. He drew his sword against eight hundred men at one time and killed them.

9 And after him was Eleazar his cousin, the son of Zousitos, one of the three mighty men. He was with David in Zerran when they defied the Philistines who were gathered there for battle, and the men of Israel had retreated. 10 He arose and attacked the Philistines until his hand was weary and his hand stuck to the sword. The Lord brought about a great deliverance that day, and the people stayed behind him only to plunder.

11 And after him was Shammah the son of Asa the Arouchaite. The Philistines had gathered to Theria, where there was a part of the field full of lentils. Then the people fled from the Philistines. 12 But he stationed himself in the middle of the field, defended it, and killed the Philistines. And the Lord brought about a great deliverance.

13 Then three of the thirty chief men went down at harvest time and came to David in Kason at the cave of Adullam. And the troop of Philistines encamped in the Valley of Rephaim. 14 At that time David was in the stronghold, and the garrison of the Philistines was then in Bethlehem. 15 And David said with longing, “Who will give me a drink of the water from the well in Bethlehem by the gate?” 16 So the three mighty men broke through the camp of the Philistines, drew water from the well of Bethlehem by the gate, and took it and brought it to David. Nevertheless he would not drink it, but poured it out to the Lord. 17 And he said, “Far be it from me, Lord, to do this! Is this not the blood of the men who went in jeopardy of their lives so that I should drink?” Therefore he would not drink it. These are the things the three mighty men did.

18 Now Abishai the brother of Joab, the son of Zeruiah, was chief of another three. He lifted his spear against three hundred men and won a name among these three. 19 Of the three he was the most honored. Therefore he became their captain. However, he did not attain to the first three.

20 Benaiah was the son of Jehoiada, a man from Kabzeel, abundant in deeds. He had killed two lion-like heroes of Moab. He had also gone down and killed a lion in the midst of a pit on a snowy day. [21]And he killed an Egyptian man, a handsome man. The Egyptian had a spear in his hand like the wood of a ladder, so he went down to him with a staff, snatched the spear from the Egyptian's hand, and killed him with his own spear. [22]These things Benaiah the son of Jehoiada did, and he won a name among three mighty men. [23]He was the most honored of the three, but he did not attain to the first three. And David appointed him as his reporter.

[24]And the names of King David's mighty men were Asahel the brother of Joab, one of the thirty; Elhanan the son of Dodo, David's uncle, of Bethlehem; [25]Shammah the Harodite, Elika the Harodite, [26]Helez the Paltite, Ira the son of Ikkesh the Tekoite, [27]Abiezer the Anathothite of the sons of Asothitos, [28]Zalmon the Ahohite, Maharai the Netophathite, [29]Heleb the son of Baanah the Netophathite, Ittai the son of Ribai from Gibeah, the son of Benjamin, [30]Benaiah the Pirathonite, Hiddai from the brooks of Gaash, [31]Abiel the son of the Arbathite, Azmaveth the Barhumite, [32]Eliahba the Shaalbonite of the sons of Jashen, Jonathan, [33]Shammah the Hararite, Ahiam the son of Sharar the Hararite, [34]Eliphelet the son of Ahasbai, the son of the Maachathite, Eliam the son of Ahithophel the Gilonite, [35]Hezrai the Carmelite, Paarai the Arbite, [36]Igal the son of Nathan from the mighty men, the Gadite, [37]Elie the Ammonite, Gelorai the Beerothite, the armor-bearer of Joab the son of Zeruiah, [38]Ira the Ithrite, Gareb the Ithrite, [39]and Uriah the Hittite. These were thirty-seven in all.

David's Census

[1]And the anger of the Lord was aroused against Israel, and He incited David against them, saying, "Go, number Israel and Judah." [2]So the king said to Joab the commander of the army, who was with him, "Go throughout all the tribes of Israel, from Dan to Beersheba, and inspect the people so that I may know the number of the people." [3]And Joab said to the king, "May the Lord your God add to the people the same number again and a hundred times more, and may the eyes of my lord the king see it. But why does my lord the king desire this thing?"

[4]Nevertheless, the king's word prevailed against Joab and against the captains of the army. Therefore Joab and the captains of the army went out before the king to inspect the people of Israel. 5And they crossed the Jordan and encamped at Aroer, on the right side of the city, in the midst of the ravine of Gad and Eliezer. 6Then they came to Gilead and to the land of Thabason, which is Hodshai; they came to Dan Jaan and Houdan and around to Sidon; 7and they came to Mapsar of Tyre and all the cities of the Hivites and the Canaanites. Then they went to South Judah as far as Beersheba. 8So when they had gone through the whole land, they came to Jerusalem at the end of nine months and twenty days. 9Then Joab gave the sum of the number of the inspection of the people to the king. And there were eight hundred thousand valiant men in Israel who drew the sword, and the men of Judah were five hundred thousand men of war.

A Judgment Restrained

10And David's heart condemned him after he had numbered the people. So David said to the Lord, "I sinned greatly in what I did. But now, I pray, O Lord, take away the iniquity of Your servant, for I have done very foolishly." 11Now when David arose in the morning, the word of the Lord came to the prophet Gad, David's seer, saying, 12"Go and tell David, 'Thus says the Lord: "I offer you three things; choose one of them for yourself, and I will do it to you." ' " 13So Gad came to David and told him; and he said to him, "Choose for yourself what is to come to pass. Shall three years of famine come to you in your land? Or shall you flee for three months before your enemies while they pursue you? Or shall there be three days of death in your land? Now consider, and see what answer I should take back to Him who sent me the word."

14And David said to Gad, "I am in great distress. Therefore, I shall fall into the hands of the Lord, for the multitude of His compassion is great. Do not let me fall into the hand of man." And David chose for himself the death he spoke. 15So in the days of the wheat harvest, the Lord sent death upon Israel from the morning until noon. And destruction came upon the people. From Dan to Beersheba, seventy thousand men of the people died. 16And when the angel stretched out His hand over Jerusalem to destroy it, the Lord relented from the destruction, and said to the angel who was destroying the people, "It is enough; now restrain your hand." And the angel of the Lord was by the threshing-floor of Orna the Jebusite.

17Then David spoke to the Lord when he saw the angel who was striking the people, and he said, "I am the shepherd and I have done wickedly, but these sheep—what have they done? Let Your hand, I pray, be against me and against my father's house."

An Altar to the Lord

18 And Gad came to David that day and said to him, "Go up and erect an altar to the Lord on the threshing-floor of Orna the Jebusite." 19 So David went up according to the word of Gad, as the Lord commanded. 20 Now Orna looked and saw the king and his servants coming toward him. So Orna went out and bowed before the king with his face to the ground. 21 Then Orna said,
"Why has my lord the king come to his servant?"

And David said, "To buy the threshing-floor from you to build an altar to the Lord, so the plague may be withdrawn from the people." 22 Now Orna said to David, "Let my lord the king take and offer up whatever seems good to him to the Lord. Look, here are oxen for burnt sacrifice, and threshing implements and the yokes of the oxen for wood." 23 Orna gave all these things to the king. And Orna said to the king, "May the Lord your God bless you." 24 Then the king said to Orna, "No, but I will surely buy it from you for a price. I will not offer burnt offerings to the Lord my God with something that costs me nothing." So David bought the threshing-floor and the oxen for fifty shekels of silver. 25 And David built an altar there to the Lord and offered burnt offerings and peace offerings. And Solomon later made a larger offering upon the altar, for a small one was made first. So the Lord heeded the prayers for the land, and the plague was withdrawn from Israel.

2:11 David's reign over Judah is seven and one-half years.

2:12–32 A contest is staged between twelve Benjamites loyal to Abner and Ishbosheth, and twelve men loyal to David, led by Joab. This results in a blood feud.

3:1–5 War continues between the houses of David and Saul, though David's house grows continually stronger. Thus, also the emphasis on the number of sons begotten by him at Hebron and the listing of the wives who bore them, underscoring the political alliances that are growing.

3:6–21 After a dispute with Ishbosheth over the accusation of having taken Saul's concubine, Rizpah (Respha), Abner is indignant. He goes to seek a league with David. David agrees, on condition that his wife Michal be returned to him (v. 13; see 1Kg 25:44). The effect would be to restore his relationship to the house of Saul.

3:22–30 Joab returns from a raid to hear of the league between David and Abner. He is suspicious of Abner's motives: the blood feud has continued. He slays Abner exactly as Asahel was slain, stabbed in the loins. Since Joab has breached the peace proclaimed between Abner and the house of David, David declares that the blood of Abner will be a curse upon the house of Joab. Otherwise the word of the king would be worthless in future alliances.

3:31–39 The general mourning for Abner underscores David's guiltlessness in his death. A comparison is made to the death of Nabal, who had deserved his fate.

4:1–12 Hearing of the death of Abner, two of Saul's captains, Baanah and Rechab, slay Mephibosheth. But David is not impressed with their treachery, though they try to impress him with their deeds. He reminds them of what he did to the messenger who reported Saul's death. (Note: There are two men named Mephibosheth in this chapter. The one who is killed is Saul's son. The other is Jonathan's son (4:4), Saul's grandson.)

Once again, the constant theme of not touching the Lord's anointed is reasserted by David. It bolsters his position as king as well as showing respect for the house of Saul and the anointing the Lord gave him.

5:1–5 David is anointed king over all Israel. His kingship is now accepted by Israel as well as Judah. His total reign will be forty years: seven (and one-half) from Hebron over Judah, and thirty-three over Judah and Israel. He became king over Judah at age thirty.

5:6–10 David comes to take the stronghold of Jerusalem, a fortress so easy to defend that the lame and the blind withstand him. Hence, they are to be destroyed when the city is taken.

5:11, 12 Hiram's building David's house is a sign of diplomatic recognition by the king of Tyre.

5:13–17 This list of wives and concubines further details the establishing of David's dynasty. A number have been taken from Jerusalem, thus further cementing his control. Note the naming of Solomon in this list, as well as Nathan, who is the ancestor of Christ in Luke's genealogy (see Lk 3:31). Matthew lists Solomon as Christ's ancestor (Mt 1:6).

5:18–20 The Philistines mount another attack against the Hebrews, this time with David as king over all Israel and Judah. David inquires of the Lord as to His battle strategy each time.

5:21–25 The Philistines leave their idols behind because of the rout. David's removal of them underscores the victory of God over the Philistines' gods. God instructs David to wait until He Himself has joined the battle. The victory is so extensive because David has obeyed God's commands in this matter.

6:1–5 The ark is now to be brought up to Jerusalem from Gibeon (see 1Ch 13:1–14). It has been in the care of Eleazar (see 1Kg 7:1). This will help unify Judah and Israel by establishing Jerusalem as the primary sanctuary.

6:6–11 Contact with the holy was fatal. When Uzzah placed his hand on the ark to steady it, he died. David is fearful lest the ark enter Jerusalem. Instead, it is placed in the house of Obed-Edom (Abedarra), a Philistine loyal to David, for three months. Obed-Edom means literally, "servant of Edom" (see 1Ch 3:13, 14). His house and all his possessions are blessed by the presence of the ark.

6:12–19 Having seen that the ark has brought blessing to the house of a Philistine, David is willing to have it enter Jerusalem after all (see 1Ch 15:25–29). Greeting the ark with dancing is perhaps an import from Canaanite practices. A tabernacle ("tent of meeting") is pitched for the ark in Jerusalem. The distribution of the offering, and thus the blessing associated with it, is made from Dan to Beersheba (v. 19), the geographical boundaries of Israel at the height of David's rule.

6:20–23 David returns to bring the blessing into his home, only to be reproached by Michal, who is childless. Thus, there is no continuation of Saul's lineage by means of their marriage.

7:1–3 David has united the tribes under his kingship, established Jerusalem as his capital, and lives in a house paneled with cedar. The ark, though now brought up to the city, remains in the tabernacle he pitched for it, a tent. He seeks advice from Nathan the prophet, who instructs him to build a temple for the ark.

7:4–17 In a dream, God informs Nathan that David is not to build the temple. His descendant, Solomon, will build it. This serves to remind Nathan and David that God Himself is in charge and will issue the instructions. Indeed, God Himself will establish the throne and house and kingdom forever (see v. 23; Ps 88:28ff: Is 55:3).

7:18–29 Having received divine intervention, David speaks of God's love towards his house and his family, and is humbled by it. The house to be established forever will not be one established by human hands, the earthly temple, but the One established through David's seed. This is a prophecy of Christ, the Messiah of Israel.

God's Covenants with His People Israel

The Lord had a covenantal relationship with the Israelites whereby He promised to always protect and provide for them as well as rescue them. In return, they agreed to worship and serve only Him, as prescribed. When foreign armies invaded Israel, or when other disasters occurred, the Prophets consistently interpreted such calamities as resulting from the people falling away from their covenantal commitment to the Lord.

The Prophets convey God's grief and anger when the Hebrews stray from Him (Is 1:1–31; 24:1–12; Am 3:1–6:14). Yet He remains faithful to His covenant, even when His people do not. God even commands the Prophet Hosea to marry a prostitute in order to demonstrate His unfailing fidelity to Israel despite all the times she has played the harlot with other gods (Hos 1:2–3:5; Jdg 2:17).

The Old Testament records several covenants between God and His people. Through these successive, overlapping covenants, God gradually draws all of mankind, through His chosen people, closer to Himself:

1. The covenant with Noah (Gn 9:8–17). God pledges that there will never be another flood like the one which destroyed the previous civilization.
2. The covenant with Abraham (Gn 12:1–3; 15:1–21; 17:1–21; see Ps 104:1–15). God promises to Abraham a great multitude of descendants, who will inherit the land of Canaan and always be His people. Through them, "all the tribes of the earth shall be blessed" (Gn 12:3).
3. The covenant under Moses (Ex 19:1–31:18; 34:1–28; Dt 5:1–30:20). Established by the Lord shortly after He miraculously rescues His people out of Egypt, this covenant provided the lengthy and detailed Mosaic Law to guide the Hebrews in their relations with one another and with Him.
4. The renewal of the Mosaic Covenant under Joshua (Jos 23:1–24:27).
5. The covenant with David (2Kg 7:1–29; 23:1–5; Ps 88:1–37; Is 55:3, 4) and his son Solomon (3Kg. 8:1–9:9). This covenant establishes the house of David forever: "His seed shall remain forever, and his throne as the sun before Me" (Ps 88:37). From this promise comes the expectation of a great King and Savior, David's descendant (Jer 23:5, 6) who will deliver Israel from all her enemies and will rule the earth with righteousness and peace.

The Prophet Ezekiel prophesies a "covenant of peace" inaugurating a future era of peace and prosperity for Israel under the care of "one shepherd . . . My Servant David" (Ezk 34:20–31; see 37:15–28). Jeremiah and Ezekiel envision this "new covenant" (Jer 38:31–34; Ezk 36:22–28) to be based on the spiritual cleansing and renewal of men's hearts. Isaiah foresees the new, "everlasting covenant" when God will gather all peoples to share in the blessings of Israel (Is 2:1–4; 49:6; 55:5; 60:1–6; see Jer 3:12–17; 4:1, 2; Ps 71:1–19).

The New Testament (or New Covenant), prophesied by Jeremiah, Ezekiel, and Isaiah, is inaugurated on earth by Jesus Christ, the "Son of David" (Mt 21:9–11; Mk 10:46–48), the one Shepherd (Jn 10:1–16, 25–28) who comes to gather all people to Himself in spiritual unity and who sends the Holy Spirit (Jn 15:26) on Pentecost to dwell in His followers. Jesus declares at the Last Supper, "This cup is the new covenant in My blood" (Lk 22:20), thus directly linking this new covenant with a covenant meal—the Eucharist. Calling Christ the "Mediator of a better covenant" (Heb 8:6), the Book of Hebrews dramatically demonstrates how He fulfills and supersedes the old covenant made with the Israelites (3:1–10:22).

In the Church, the New Israel (Gal 6:12–16; see 2Co 3:12–18; Eph 2:11–16; Mt 21:33–46), we all have the opportunity to experience the spiritual joy of the new covenant as a foretaste of the heavenly kingdom (Heb 12:18–24), in which believers from all nations will rejoice with God eternally. Hence, it is very fitting that every Divine Liturgy begins with the proclamation, "Blessed is the Kingdom!"

8:1, 2 Having consolidated his power, David now exercises this strength against both the Philistines and Moab, the latter becoming a vassal-state. It was not uncommon for a portion of a conquered people to be executed, as David does with Moab, so as to exert his strength.

8:3–12 David expands his territory to the Euphrates, subjugating Hadadezer and ultimately drawing Syria into the fight. A garrison is stationed near Damascus, possibly to guarantee trading rights, so another state is secured. Toi, king of Hamath, an enemy of Hadadezer, seeks to secure his favor with David by gifts of metal vessels.

8:13–17 David made himself a name expanding his presence and his territory. This expansion is blessed and ordained by God, and David reigns over all Israel. Joab serves as commander of the armies and Jehoshaphat as the official recorder, the highest civil office. Zadok, first mentioned here, becomes head of the legitimate line of priests. The text should probably read "Abiathar, son of Ahimelech" (see 1Kg 22:20).

9:1–13 This chapter reflects the abiding love that David had for Jonathan. Mephibosheth is his sole survivor, but lame in both feet. He is brought to David's court, cared for by Ziba, Saul's servant, and fed at David's table, as though he were one of David's sons. David, a type of Christ, extends grace to one disabled, and invites him to dine—a picture of God's love extended to those crippled by sin, restoring them in the Eucharist.

10:1–5 The Ammonite king Nahash dies. Since Saul had defeated the Ammonites at Jabesh Gilead (see 1Kg 11:1–11), it was wise that David send his emissaries to his son Hanun, son of Nahash.

10:6–8 The Ammonites hire men from four Syrian principalities, the two mentioned previously in 8:3–7 as well as from Amalek and Istob, into a confederation against David.

10:9–14 Joab's successful strategy is to divide his forces into two and attack with both simultaneously.

10:15–19 The resulting victory for David leaves the Syrians afraid to help the Ammonites in the future.

11:1 This prologue sets the stage for the story of David's adultery with Bathsheba, the wife of Uriah the Hittite. The king should be leading the armies and commanders into battle, but David has stayed behind.

11:2–5 The roofs of the houses were typically flat and allowed a cool place to relax in the evening. David spies Bathsheba bathing atop her house and is smitten by her beauty. He has her brought to him for the express purpose of adultery. Bathsheba conceives and sends David word of her pregnancy.

11:6–13 David calls for Uriah, Bathsheba's husband, to be brought home from battle so that he will have intercourse with his wife, hoping to cover his own sin in this fashion. Uriah, however, refuses to have intercourse with Bathsheba, as soldiers in battle were prohibited from doing so (see Lv 15:18; 1Kg 21:5) "To wash one's feet" is a comprehensive euphemism, but intercourse is implied.

11:14–21 His first plan having failed, David arranges for Uriah to be sent forth to the front lines for battle and then to retreat from behind him, virtually ensuring his death. David's second plan to conceal his adultery has succeeded through Uriah's murder on the battlefield.

11:22–25 Joab sends a messenger to tell David his progress in battle. Fearing David's anger, Joab instructs the man to hold back the fact that Uriah has been killed until the end of the report. Joab is correct in his suspicions.

11:26, 27 Hearing of the death of her husband, Bathsheba mourns. Following the mourning period, David takes her as his wife and she gives birth to a son. It is clear David's actions were evil in God's sight.

12:1–6 It is the Lord Himself who sends Nathan the prophet to rebuke David for his sins of adultery and murder. David listens to Nathan's parable and then pronounces the sentence on his own head.

12:7–14 Nathan then prophesies to David, you are the man in the parable. There will be a twofold punishment: warfare from without all the rest of David's days, and rebellion from within. Additionally, the child born to Bathsheba will die.

12:15–23 The child falls ill and dies after seven days. During the illness, David fasts and lies upon the ground, entreating God to spare the child (v. 22). Once the child dies, David washes and clothes himself properly and goes into the house of the Lord to worship. David has confounded the elders of Israel by reversing the usual customs of mourning. Out of his contrition for these sins comes David's greatest psalm of repentance, Ps 50, which is recited daily in Orthodox devotional practice.

12:24, 25 David comforts Bathsheba, who then conceives another child, Solomon, also called Jedidiah, "beloved of Yahweh." This name is used only here.

12:26–28 Joab has taken the capital city of the Ammonites, Rabbah (modern Amman, Jordan). But it is a token capture. David is invited to go forth and take it in person, and does so. He takes the crown of Melchol, the Ammonite god, as part of the spoils, and puts the Ammonites under forced labor.

13:1 Nathan's prophecy of strife and struggle in David's house (12:10) begins to unfold with incest, fratricide, and rebellion. David's family and the kingdom will be afflicted for the rest of his days—and beyond—because of his sins of adultery and murder. The unholy conduct of leaders, as well as of parents, produces unholiness in the nation or the family. The sins of a father or mother can thus be visited upon their descendants. For those in spiritual leadership, this can be the case for their spiritual children (see 1Ti 3; Rev 2:18ff).

13:1–6 God's punishment of David for his sins (12:7) now begins to unfold. David's son Amnon falls in love with his half-sister Tamar. She is the full sister of Absalom. Jonadab, their cousin, advises Amnon to pretend to be ill in order to have Tamar come and cook for him.

13:7–14 Tamar refuses Amnon's advances, although she suggests that marriage would be possible, should he ask the king. Instead, he rapes her.

13:15 Completely revolted by his own deeds, Amnon sends Tamar away.

13:18, 19 The variegated robe was worn by virgins. It is the same type of robe as described in Ps 44:13, 14, a psalm typifying the Virgin Mary. Tamar observes the mourning tradition for the loss of her virginity by placing ashes on her head and rending the garment. Absalom cautions her to remain quiet as he shelters her in his house.

13:21–29 Although David is grieved by his son's action, he does nothing. Amnon is the heir. Absalom bides his time, seeking to avenge his sister's rape. His vengeance takes place after two years at sheep-shearing (see 1Kg 25:2–4). Amnon is killed and all his brethren flee.

13:30–33 The first reports to David have him believing that Absalom has killed all of his sons. Interestingly, it is Jonadab, the cousin who had helped Amnon in his plot to seduce Tamar, who tells the king that only Amnon is dead.

13:34–36 Absalom flees with a band of men, while the sons of David return to Jerusalem and a general mourning takes place for Amnon.

13:37–39 Geshur is the home of Absalom's mother. He stays there three years until the king's grief over Amnon has abated.

14:1–3 Joab is aware the king has softened in his heart toward Absalom. He sends a woman of Tekoa to act the part of a widow before David to effect a reconciliation between the king and his son.

14:4–17 The woman's story of a blood feud between her sons parallels David's (see Nm 35:19–21 re the law of blood revenge). She presses the king to absolve this blood feud, which he does, indicative of the king's power as judge.

14:18–20 David is suspicious that Joab is somehow involved in her telling the tale.

14:21–24 Absalom is recalled from his exile by David through Joab, but not allowed to live in the palace or see the king's face.

14:25–27 Absalom is described as handsome, with a full head of long hair, which he had cut every year. Absalom's daughter, Tamar, is named here, unusual in Hebrew genealogies, because she will marry Rehoboam, her cousin, the son of Solomon and future king.

14:28–33 Absalom resents his restrictions, unable to obtain an audience with his father the king after two years. Joab even refuses to come at his request until Absalom has Joab's barley field set on fire to force his presence. At last, Absalom is called to his father's court, where he does obeisance to him and is kissed by the king, a sign of reconciliation.

15:1–6 Absalom plays on the disaffection of those seeking judgment from the king who could get no audience. The implication is that David has begun to neglect his duties as judge.

15:7–12 After four years (the LXX has "forty"), Absalom is ready for open revolt. He uses the excuse of having made a vow that needs to be fulfilled and goes to Hebron. The paying or fulfilling of vows was looked upon as a sacred obligation. Thus, David does not stand in his son's way. The irony is, Absalom claims that this vow had been made in hope of his restoration to Jerusalem.

15:13–16 The messenger's news, although perhaps exaggerated, disturbs David enough to cause him to flee the city. The departure is described in great detail. Ten concubines (v. 16) are left behind (see 16:21).

15:18 A review of the foreign troops loyal to David (see 8:18; 1Kg 30:14).

15:19–16:14 A chronicle of personal encounters with David, indicating those on whom he could still depend for support. The notable exception will be Shimei, 16:5–8.

15:19–23 David's despair is obvious. He tells Ittai to return and remain with the king, Absalom. He has only recently been joined to Israel. Ittai confesses his loyalty to David. The Brook Kidron is only a short way from the city (v. 23).

15:24–29 Zadok and the Levites are following the king with the ark. David sends them back for two reasons: The ark is not to leave Jerusalem, and they are to act as spies for David.

15:30–37 David is distraught at the defection of Ahithophel. He hears this news as he weeps and prays on the Mount of Olives, seeking God's will. Compare this with Christ weeping on the Mount of Olives, knowing full well God's will, as His betrayer approaches (Mk 14:32–35).

16:1–4 Ziba, Mephibosheth's servant (see 9:1ff), comes to meet David with a large quantity of food for him. Upon learning that his master has remained in the city in the hope that the uprising will restore the kingdom of his father, Jonathan, David responds by giving Ziba all of Mephibosheth's property.

16:5–14 As David continues in retreat, Shimei of the house of Saul comes out cursing the king and throwing stones at him for Saul's death. For Shimei, the revolt is happening because David has reigned in the place of Saul. David refuses to let his men take action, seeing God working in Shimei's rebuke that he might benefit from it. He reflects that as his own son has rebelled against him, how much more might one of the tribe of Benjamin, Saul's tribe.

16:15–19 Hushai has returned to Jerusalem offering Absalom feigned obeisance, according to David's plan. When Absalom questions him, Hushai replies that this is only right because the Lord, this people, and all Israel have chosen him king.

16:20–23 Ahithophel counsels Absalom to have intercourse with the ten concubines his father has left behind as a symbol of his conquest.

17:1–4 Ahithophel's next plan involves a sneak attack on the weary, retreating David with the intent to kill only him and return the rest of the people back to Jerusalem.

17:5–14 Hushai is able to counter this plan, arguing that David is a great warrior, who perhaps even now lies in wait to attack Absalom's implicitly inferior forces. Rather, Absalom should seek as many men as possible to take with him. Hushai assures him that all of Israel, from Dan to Beersheba, is with him. The effect of this maneuver will be to allow David time. Absalom heeds Hushai's advice.

17:15–22 Hushai reports to Zadok and Abiathar what has transpired. The detail of the sequence of events of the maid and the messengers suggests an eyewitness account. David is forewarned and able to escape.

17:23 Ahithophel's suicide, a rarity in the Old Testament, is a strategic loss for Absalom.

17:24–29 David goes to Mahanaim, once the home of Ishbosheth, and is welcomed by Israelites and non-Israelites alike. Absalom leaves for Gilead.

18:1–5 David divides his forces into three companies, commanded by Joab, Abishai, and Ittai. The king heeds their request that he not go into battle with them, and he commands them to spare Absalom's life.

18:6–8 The thicket of Ephraim is described as a rough, boulder-strewn woods, thick with trees.

18:9–18 Despite the king's order (v. 5), Joab takes it into his own hands to kill Absalom as he is suspended in the boughs of a great oak tree.

18:19–23 Ahimaaz wishes to run and tell David, but Joab discourages him from bringing bad news to the king. Instead, he sends Hushai, the foreigner and friend of the king. Unable to restrain Ahimaaz further, Joab relents and Ahimaaz outruns Hushai.

18:28–30 Ahimaaz tells the king only about the battle victory.

19:1 David's lament is the most poignant in all the Old Testament writings: Would God I had died for you, Absalom my son, my son! It reveals David's deep love for his son in spite of his treachery and rebellion.

19:3–9 David's grief for his son delays his return to the city, though the people begin returning on their own. Joab is politically and militarily astute. He implores David to return for the sake of his kingship. David sits in the gate, but Israel has fled to its tents. The tension between Judah and Israel is quite evident once more.

19:10–15 Israel evidences a willingness to have David as king once more, though they have been in rebellion. By giving Amasa the post of commander of the army, David seeks not only to cement an alliance with the northern tribes but to repay Joab for his killing of Absalom. This is the post Amasa held under Absalom.

19:16–23 Shimei rushes to curry favor with the king (see 16:5–14), helping ferry the king's household across the River Jordan along with Ziba. He begs for the king's forgiveness, and the king seems to forgive him. David admits he is not sure if he is king again over Israel.

19:25–30 Mephibosheth comes to see David once he has returned to Jerusalem. He is unwashed and unshaven, as though in mourning. When David asks him why he did not flee with him, Mephibosheth says that his servant, Ziba, had deceived him (see 16:1–4). Who was lying? David seems to give Mephibosheth the benefit of the doubt. Ziba had certainly sought to benefit from having taken possession of Saul's property.

19:32–38 Barzillai of Gilead, eighty years old, has previously supported David in Mahanaim (see 17:27–29) and is a representative of the tribes across Jordan. David offers to care for him in Jerusalem in return for his aid. Barzillai prefers to return to his city, by the tomb of his father and mother, but asks that David care for his servant (possibly his son) Chimham.

19:41–43 Tension between Judah and Israel mounts. The accusation, "We have ten shares in the king; therefore we are first over you," reflects the fact Judah was a latecomer to the confederacy, as well as that the northern tribes were more numerous. At this point, Judah prevails.

20:1, 2 Every man to your tents, O Israel (see 3Kg 12:16) is the rallying cry of the northern tribes at various times in Israel's history, reflecting the independence of nomadic life. There is not merely animosity between Benjamin and Judah, the houses of Saul and David, but between Judah and all the northern tribes.

20:3 David takes care not to have his concubines defiled again, nor does he resort to them himself (see 16:21–22).

20:4–10 David summons Amasa, the new commander, to muster troops of Judah within three days. But Amasa delays, and this concerns David, lest Sheba do more harm than Absalom.

20:11–13 Joab resumes leadership of David's cause.

20:14–22 The search for Sheba leads them to a walled city, Abel and Beth Maachah. Siege is laid against it, meaning it would be destroyed along with its inhabitants. A wise woman entreats Joab to spare the city, a mother city, implying that villages were dependent on it. The siege is lifted and Joab returns to Jerusalem.

20:23–26 Officials in David's court (see commentary on 8:13–17). Adoram is also Adoniram, under Solomon (see 3Kg 4:6). Ira, possibly the Ithrite of 23:38, serves as David's private or personal priest.

21:1 There follow several accounts which are appendices, set at various times during David's reign. Together they comprise chapters 21–24.

21:1–14 The three-year famine is interpreted as God's punishment, for Saul had violated an oath made to those in Gibeon. However, Saul's actions (vv. 1–3) are unknown otherwise. The famine would have happened during the early part of David's reign. To eliminate the blood-guilt, David allows for seven of Saul's descendants to be hanged. He spares Jonathan's son, Mephibosheth, instead delivering two of Saul's sons (one also named Mephibosheth) and five of his grandsons, sons of Michal.

21:15–22 Again, this is set in the early years of David's kingship, when he was still at war, perhaps either 5:18–21 or 5:22–26. Regarding giants, see Gn 14:5. The lamp of Israel (v. 17) refers to the royal lineage (see 14:7).

22:1–5 Except for minor differences, this chapter is identical to Ps 17.

23:1–7 The theme is common to wisdom literature: the righteous prosper and the ungodly perish. God has made an everlasting covenant (v. 5) with David (see ch. 7).

23:8–12 These three men form a special band (see 1Ch 11:11–14).

23:13–17 The three here are perhaps the same as in vv. 8–12.

23:18–39 The thirty is a round number (v. 24). The text says there are thirty-seven (v. 39).

24:1–9 Despite the protestations of Joab, David decides to take a census of the people. According to the narrator, the Lord has incited David to do this. However, in 1Ch 21:1, it is Satan who has done this. Certainly, the Lord can use the devil to do His bidding. Joab might be concerned about using a census to levy taxes on the people.

24:10–17 Gad the prophet (see 1Kg 22:5; 1Ch 21:9ff; 2Ch 29:25) gives David a choice of one of three penalties for taking the census: (1) three years of famine; (2) three months of flight from enemies; (3) three days of death in the land. David chooses the third, and a plague afflicts Israel from Dan to Beersheba. At the point of the destruction of Jerusalem, God says enough! David beseeches the angel to afflict him and his father's house, but not his sheep, the flock of Israel.

24:18–25 Gad instructs David to set up an altar and offer sacrifice. The purchase of the threshing-floor of Orna the Jebusite and the oxen begins the offering of sacrifices in Jerusalem. This story is intended to reflect the origin of sacrifices there. Solomon later will use the threshing-floor as the site for his temple (see 1Ch 22:1; 2Ch 3:1).

David's court history is concluded in chapters 1 and 2 of 3 Kingdoms.

The Third Book of the Kingdoms

(First Kings)

Author

Jeremiah is clearly stated to be the author of 3 Kingdoms in the Baba Bathra, a Talmudic tract. In this ancient record, an entry for the Books of the Kings identifies the author as the prophet Jeremiah. This is in keeping with the general Talmudic vision of prophetic authorship for all of the Old Testament.

Date

About 600 BC, though later material was added about 550 BC

Major Theme

A record of King Solomon's reign and his successors, which continues in 4 Kingdoms. The Books of 1–4 Kingdoms were one book in Hebrew. The LXX separated them into four books because of the large volume of material in the text. (The Greek text is longer because Greek includes all the vowels in each word, while the Hebrew language does not.)

Background

The major concern of 3 and 4 Kingdoms is to record what happened in the southern kingdom of Judah. Events in the northern kingdom were important only as they related to the southern kingdom. For example, the moving of the capital to Samaria is dismissed in one verse, 3 Kingdoms 16:24. Judah, the southern kingdom, and the Davidic line form the background for 3 and 4 Kingdoms.

The Aging King David

1 Now King David was old, advanced in years; and they put covers on him, but he could not get warm. 2 Therefore his servants said to him, “Let them seek a young woman, a virgin for our lord the king, and she will be beside the king, warming him; she will lie with him, so our lord the king will be warm.” 3 So they sought for a beautiful young woman throughout all the territory of Israel, and found Abishag the Shunammite, and brought her to the king. 4 The young woman was very beautiful; and she warmed the king, and ministered to him; but the king did not know her.

Adonijah Aspires to Be King

5 Then Adonijah the son of Haggith exalted himself, saying, “I will be king.” He prepared chariots and horsemen for himself and fifty men to run before him. 6 His father never at any time rebuked him, saying, “Why did you do so?” He was also very handsome, and was born after Absalom. 7 Then he conferred with Joab the son of Zeruiah and with Abiathar the priest, and they came to the aid of Adonijah. 8 But Zadok the priest, Benaiah the son of Jehoiada, Nathan the prophet, Shimei, Rei, and the mighty men who belonged to David did not follow Adonijah. 9 Adonijah sacrificed sheep, calves, and lambs by the stone of the Serpent, by the spring called Rogel, and he invited all his brothers, the king’s sons, and all the men of Judah, servants of the king. 10 But he did not invite Nathan the prophet, Benaiah, the mighty men, or Solomon his brother.

11 Nathan spoke to Bathsheba the mother of Solomon, saying, “Have you not heard, Adonijah the son of Haggith made himself king, and David our lord is unaware of this? 12 Come, let me now give you advice, that you may save your own life and the life of your son Solomon. 13 Go immediately to King David and say to him, ‘Did you not, my lord, O king, swear to your maidservant, saying, “Assuredly your son Solomon shall reign after me, and he shall sit on my throne”? Why then has Adonijah become king?’ 14 Then, while you are still talking there with the king, I also will come in after you and confirm your words.”

15 So Bathsheba went into the chamber to the king. Now the king was very old, and Abishag the Shunammite was ministering to the king. [16]Bathsheba bowed and did homage to the king. Then the king said, “What do you wish?” [17]Then she said to him, “My lord, you did swear by the Lord your God for the sake of your maidservant, saying, ‘Solomon your son shall reign after me, and he shall sit on my throne.’ [18]But now behold, Adonijah has become king, and you, my lord, O king, do not know this. [19]He sacrificed many calves, lambs, and sheep; and he has invited all the sons of the king, Abiathar the priest, and Joab the commander of the army, but not your servant Solomon. [20]As for you, my lord, O king, the eyes of all Israel are on you, to tell them who will sit on the throne of my lord the king after him. [21]Otherwise, when my lord the king rests with his fathers, I and my son Solomon will be reckoned as sinners.”

[22]Just then, while she was still talking with the king, Nathan the prophet also came in. [23]So it was reported to the king, saying, “Here is Nathan the prophet.” When he came in before the king, he bowed down before the king with his face to the ground. [24]Then Nathan said, “My lord and king, did you say, ‘Adonijah shall reign after me, and he shall sit on my throne’? [25]For he went down today and sacrificed many calves, lambs, and sheep, and invited all the king’s sons, and the commanders of the army, and Abiathar the priest. Behold, they are eating and drinking before him, and they said, ‘Long live King Adonijah.’ [26]But he did not invite me—I your servant—nor Zadok the priest, nor Benaiah the son of Jehoiada, nor your servant Solomon. [27]Was this done by my lord the king, and did you not tell your servant who will sit on the throne of my lord the king after him?”

David Names Solomon King

[28]Then King David answered and said, “Call Bathsheba to me.” So she came into the king’s presence and stood before him. [29]The king swore an oath and said, “As the Lord lives, who redeemed my life from every distress, [30]just as I swore to you by the Lord God of Israel, saying, ‘Solomon your son shall be king after me, and he shall sit on my throne in my place,’ so I will do today.” [31]Then Bathsheba bowed with her face to the earth, and paid homage to the king and said, “Let my lord, King David, live forever.”

[32]Then King David said, “Call to me Zadok the priest, Nathan the prophet, and Benaiah the son of Jehoiada.” So they came before the king. [33]The king said to them, “Take the servants of your lord with you, and have Solomon my son ride on my own mule, and take him down to Gihon. [34]There let Zadok the priest and Nathan the prophet anoint him as king over Israel, and blow the ram's horn, and say, 'Long live King Solomon!' [35]Then he shall sit on my throne and be king in my place. For I have appointed him to be ruler over Israel and Judah." [36]Benaiah the son of Jehoiada answered the king and said, "Let it be done. May the Lord, God of my lord the king, establish it. [37]As the Lord has been with my lord the king, even so may He be with Solomon and make his throne greater than the throne of my lord, King David."

[38]So Zadok the priest, Nathan the prophet, Benaiah the son of Jehoiada, the Cherethites, and the Pelethites mounted Solomon on King David's mule, and they led him to Gihon. [39]Then Zadok the priest took a horn of olive oil from the tabernacle and anointed Solomon. They blew the ram's horn, and all the people said, "Long live King Solomon!" [40]Then all the people went up after him, and the people danced and rejoiced with great joy. So the earth burst forth with their sound.

[41]Now Adonijah and all the guests who were with him heard it as they finished eating. Joab also heard the sound of the horn and said, "Why is the city in such a noisy uproar?" [42]While he was yet speaking, Jonathan, the son of Abiathar the priest, arrived. Adonijah said to him, "Come in, for you are a prominent man, and you bring good news." [43]Then Jonathan answered and said to Adonijah, "No, our lord, King David, made Solomon king. [44]The king sent with him Zadok the priest, Nathan the prophet, Benaiah the son of Jehoiada, the Cherethites, and the Pelethites, and they mounted him on the king's mule. [45]So Zadok the priest and Nathan the prophet anointed him as king at Gihon. They went up from there rejoicing, so the city is in an uproar. This is the noise you heard. [46]Even now, Solomon is seated on the throne of the kingdom. [47]The king's servants also went to bless our lord, King David, saying, 'May God make the name of Solomon your son greater than your name, and may He make his throne greater than your throne.' Then the king worshiped upon his bed, [48]and the king said, 'Blessed be the Lord God of Israel, who gave one from my seed to sit on my throne today, while my eyes see it.' "

[49]So all the guests with Adonijah were afraid, and arose, each one going his own way. [50]Now Adonijah feared Solomon. So he arose and departed, taking hold of the horns of the altar. [51]They reported it to Solomon, saying, "Indeed, Adonijah is afraid of King Solomon. For behold, he took hold of the horns of the altar, saying, 'Let King Solomon swear to me today that he will not put his servant to death with the sword.' " [52]Then Solomon said, "If he proves to be a worthy man, not one hair of him shall fall to the earth. But if wickedness is found in him, he shall die." [53]So King Solomon sent them to bring him down from the altar. He came and fell down before King Solomon; and Solomon said to him, "Go to your house."

David's Final Words to Solomon

[1]Now the days of David drew near to death, and he charged Solomon his son, saying, [2]"I am going the way of all the earth, but you must be strong and become a man. [3]Keep the charge of the Lord your God, to walk in His ways, to keep His commandments and statutes, and the writings of His judgments in the Law of Moses, so you may understand what you shall do regarding whatever I command of you; [4]that the Lord may confirm His word which He spoke, saying, 'If your sons guard their way and go before Me in truth, with their whole heart and their whole soul, I say to you, a man from them shall not fail to sit on the throne of Israel.'

[5]"Furthermore, you know what Joab the son of Zeruiah did to me, and what he did to the two commanders of the armies of Israel, to Abner the son of Ner and Amasa the son of Jether, whom he killed. He shed the blood of war in peacetime, and put innocent blood on the belt around his waist and on the sandal on his foot. [6]Therefore do according to your wisdom, and do not let his gray hair go down to the grave in peace. [7]But show kindness to the sons of Barzillai the Gileadite, and let them be among those who eat at your table; for they drew near to me when I fled from your brother Absalom. [8]Behold, you have with you Shimei the son of Gera, a Benjamite from Bahurim, who laid a grievous curse on me in the day I went to Mahanaim. But he came down to meet me at the Jordan, and by the Lord I swore to him, saying, 'I will not put you to death with the sword.' [9]But you shall by no means hold him guiltless, for you are a wise man, and you realize what you must do to him, even to bring his gray hair to the grave with blood."

The Death of King David

[10]So David rested with his fathers and was buried in the City of David. [11]David reigned over Israel forty years. He reigned seven years in Hebron and thirty-three years in Jerusalem. [12]Thus Solomon sat on the throne of David, his father, and the kingdom was exceedingly well established.

Solomon Orders Adonijah's Death

13 Now Adonijah the son of Haggith came to Bathsheba the mother of Solomon and bowed down before her. She said, "Have you come peaceably?" He said, "Peaceably. 14 I have something to say to you." She said, "Speak." 15 Then Adonijah said, "You know the kingdom was mine, and all Israel turned their face to me as king. But then the kingdom was taken back, and it was given to my brother; for it was from the Lord to be given to Solomon. 16 Now I ask one petition of you. Do not turn away your face."
Bathsheba said to him, "Speak." 17 Then he said to her, "Speak to King Solomon, for he will not turn his face from you; and let him give me Abishag the Shunammite for a wife." 18 So Bathsheba said, "Very well, I will speak for you to the king."

19 So Bathsheba went to King Solomon to speak to him for Adonijah. The king rose up to meet her and kissed her tenderly. He then sat down on his throne, and a throne was placed for the king's mother; and she was seated at his right hand. 20 Then she said to him, "I desire one small petition of you. Do not turn away your face." The king said to her, "Ask it, mother, for I will not refuse you." 21 So she said, "Let Abishag the Shunammite be given to Adonijah your brother as a wife." 22 King Solomon answered and said to his mother, "Why did you request Abishag for Adonijah? Do you ask for him the kingdom as well? For he is my older brother above me in age, and his companions are Abiathar the priest and Joab the son of Jeruiah, the chief captain of the army."

23 Then King Solomon swore by the Lord, saying, "May God do so to me and more also, if Adonijah has not said this against his own life. 24 Now therefore, as the Lord lives who prepared me, set me on the throne of David my father, and established a house for me, as the Lord promised, this day Adonijah will be put to death." 25 So King Solomon sent by the hand of Benaiah the son of Jehoiada, and he struck him; and Adonijah died that day.

Abiathar Banished, Joab Killed

26 Then the king said to Abiathar the priest, "Go to Anathoth, to your field, for you are deserving of death today; but I will not put you to death, because you carried the ark of the Lord God before my father, and because you were afflicted every time my father was afflicted." 27 So Solomon removed Abiathar from being priest to the Lord, to fulfill the word of the Lord He spoke concerning the house of Eli in Shiloh.

28 Then the news came to Joab the son of Zeruiah, for Joab leaned toward Adonijah and not toward Solomon. So Joab fled to the tabernacle of the Lord and took hold of the horns of the altar. 29 They told King Solomon, “Joab fled to the tabernacle of the Lord. He is there, holding the horns of the altar.”
Solomon sent word to Joab, saying, “Why did you flee to the altar?” Joab said, “Because I was afraid to face you, and I fled to the Lord.” Then Solomon sent Benaiah the son of Jehoiada, saying, “Go, kill and bury him.” 30 So Benaiah went to Joab in the tabernacle of the Lord and said to him, “The king says to come out.” But he said, “No, I am not coming out. I am going to die here.” So Benaiah brought back word to the king, saying, “This is what Joab said, this is what he answered me.” 31 Then the king said to him, “Go, and do as he said. Strike him down and bury him, and remove from me and from my father’s house today the blood Joab shed for no reason. 32 The Lord will turn the blood of his unrighteousness back on his own head, because he struck down two men, Abner the son of Ner, commander of the army of Israel, and Amasa the son of Jether, commander of the army of Judah, who were more righteous and better than he; and yet he killed them with the sword. My father David did not know of their blood being shed. 33 That is why their blood was returned upon the head of Joab and upon the head of his descendants forever. But upon David and his descendants, upon his house and his throne, let there be peace forever from the Lord.” 34 So Benaiah the son of Jehoiada went up, struck and killed him; and he buried him in his own house in the wilderness. 35 The king put Benaiah the son of Jehoiada in Joab’s place over the army, and the kingdom was established in Jerusalem. Then the king made Zadok the first priest in the place of Abiathar.

The Wisdom of Solomon

36 The Lord gave discernment to Solomon, exceedingly great wisdom, and a heart as broad as the sand alongside the sea. 37 Solomon’s discernment was multiplied exceedingly, beyond the discernment of all the sons of the ancient ones and all the wise men of Egypt. 38 Then he took Pharaoh’s daughter and brought her into the City of David until he should complete his house, and before all the house of the Lord, and the wall surrounding Jerusalem. In seven years he made and completed them.

Building the Citadel

[39]Solomon had seventy thousand chosen men and eighty thousand stonecutters in the mountain. [40]Thus Solomon made the sea, the undergirding, the great basins, the pillars, the fountain of the open court, and the sea of bronze. [41]He also built the citadel and its battlements, and divided the City of David in two. Consequently, the daughter of Pharaoh went up from the City of David into the house he built for her. Then he built the citadel. [42]Solomon went up three times a year to offer whole burnt offerings and peace offerings on the altar he built for the Lord, and to burn incense before the Lord; and he completed the house. [43]Now these were the governors put in charge over the works of Solomon—three thousand six hundred overseers of the people doing the work. [44]He also built Ashur and Megiddo, and Gezer and Beth-Horon the greater, and Baalath. [45]However, it was after he built the house of the Lord and the wall around Jerusalem that he built those cities.

[46]While still living, David commanded Solomon, saying, “Behold, take with you Shimei the son of Gera, a Benjamite from Hebron, [47]who cursed me with a grievous curse in the day I was going to the encampments. [48]But he came down to meet me at the Jordan, and I swore to him by the Lord, saying, ‘He shall not be put to death with the sword.’ [49]Now therefore, do not hold him guiltless, for you are a wise man and know what to do to him. But bring his gray hair with blood down to the grave.”

Shimei Is Killed

[50]Then the king sent and called for Shimei and said to him, “Build yourself a house in Jerusalem, and dwell there, and do not leave for any reason. [51]For on the day you go out and cross the Brook Kidron, know for certain you shall surely die; and your blood shall be on your own head.” So the king forced him to take an oath that day. [52]Then Shimei said to the king, “What you have said is good, O my lord and king. Thus your servant will do.” So Shimei dwelt in Jerusalem three years.

[53]Now at the end of three years, two of Shimei’s slaves ran away to Achish the son of Maachah, king of Gath. They told Shimei, saying, “Behold, your slaves are in Gath.” [54]Shimei then arose, saddled his donkey, and went to Achish at Gath to seek his slaves. So Shimei went and brought his slaves from Gath. [55]But Solomon was told Shimei had gone from Jerusalem to Gath and brought back his servants.

56Then the king sent and called for Shimei and said to him, “Did I not make you swear by the Lord and warn you, saying, ‘Know for certain on the day you leave Jerusalem and go to the right or the left, you shall surely die’?
57Why then did you not keep the oath of the Lord and the commandment I gave you?” 58The king also said to Shimei, “You know and your heart acknowledges all the wickedness you did to my father David, and now the Lord has returned your wickedness on your own head. 59But King Solomon shall be blessed, and the throne of David shall be established before the Lord forever.” 60So King Solomon commanded Benaiah the son of Jehoiada, and he went out and struck Shimei down; and he died. 61Thus King Solomon was exceedingly prudent and wise, and Judah and all Israel were as many as the sand of the sea in number, eating and drinking and rejoicing.

The Reign of King Solomon

62Now Solomon was ruler in all the kingdoms; and they brought him gifts, and served Solomon all the days of his life. 63Then Solomon went to open the domain of Lebanon, 64and he built Thermae in the desert. 65Moreover, Solomon’s daily provision was thirty measures of the finest wheat flour and sixty measures of ground meal, ten chosen calves and twenty pastured oxen and a hundred sheep, and, besides this, deer and gazelles and choice fed hens, 66because there was a governor all along the opposite shore of the river from Raphia unto Gaza, in all the kingdoms on the opposite shore of the river.
67Thus he had peace from all his territories around him, and Judah and Israel dwelt confidently, each man under his own vine and his own fig tree, eating and drinking from Dan to Beersheba all the days of Solomon.

68Now Solomon’s officials were Azariah, the son of Zadok, the priest, and Orniah, the son of Nathan, who was ruler of the standing guard, and Edram was over his house, and Zoba the scribe, and Baasha, the son of Achithalam, writing memoirs, and Abi, the son of Joab, the chief captain, and Achira, the son of Edrahi, over the labor force, and Benaiah the son of Jehoiada over the temple-court and over the brickworks, and Zechariah, the son of Nathan, the counselor. 69Solomon had forty thousand breeding horses for chariots and twelve thousand horsemen. 70So there was a ruler in every kingdom from the river to the land of the foreigners and the boundaries of Egypt.

71Thus Solomon the son of David ruled over Israel and Judah in Jerusalem.

Offerings to False Gods

[1]Meanwhile the people burned incense on the high places, because there was still no house built for the name of the Lord. [2]But Solomon loved the Lord, walking in the statutes of his father David, except that he sacrificed and burned incense on the high places. [3]Now the king arose and went to Gibeon to sacrifice there, for that was the great high place. Solomon offered a thousand burnt offerings on the altar at Gibeon.

God Appears to Solomon

[4]The Lord appeared to Solomon in a dream by night, and the Lord said to him, “Make a particular request for yourself.” [5]Solomon said, “You have shown great mercy to Your servant David my father, because he walked before You in truth, and with You in righteousness and uprightness of heart. You have continued this great kindness for him, and gave him a son to sit on his throne, as I do today. [6]Now, O Lord my God, You made Your servant king in place of my father David, but I am a little child; I do not know how to go out or come in. [7]Your servant is in the midst of Your people whom You chose, a great people, who will not be numbered. [8]Therefore give Your servant a heart to hear and judge Your people in righteousness, and to discern between good and evil. For who can judge this great people of Yours?”

[9]The Lord was pleased that Solomon asked this. [10]So the Lord said to him, “Because you asked for this, and have not asked for long life for yourself; nor have you asked for riches, nor for the life of your enemies, but asked understanding for yourself, to understand judgment— [11]behold, I have done according to your words. Behold, I have given you an understanding and wise heart, so there has not been anyone like you before you, nor shall anyone like you arise after you. [12]I also gave you what you did not ask—both riches and honor—so there has been no man like you among kings. [13]If you walk in My ways, and keep My statutes and commandments, as your father David did, then I will multiply your days.”

[14]Solomon awoke, and indeed it was a dream. He arose and came to Jerusalem and stood before the altar, before the ark of the covenant of the Lord in Zion. He offered burnt offerings and peace offerings, and made a feast for himself and all his servants.

Solomon’s Judgment

[15]Now two women who were prostitutes appeared before the king and stood before him. [16]One woman said, “O my lord, this woman and I dwell in the same house, and we gave birth in the house. [17]On the third day after I gave birth, this woman also gave birth. We were together. No one was with us in the house except the two of us. [18]But this woman’s son died that night, because she lay on him. [19]So she arose in the middle of the night and took my son from my side; and she laid him in her bosom, and her dead child in my bosom. [20]When I rose in the morning to nurse my son, he was dead. But when I had examined him in the morning, indeed, he was not my son whom I bore.” [21]Then the other woman said, “No, but the living one is my son, and the dead one is your son.” Thus they spoke before the king.

[22]Then the king said to them, “One says, ‘This is my son, who lives, and your son is the dead one’; and the other says, ‘No, but your son is the dead one, and my son is the living one.’ ” [23]So the king said, “Bring me a sword.”
They brought a sword before the king. [24]The king then said, “Divide the living nursing child in two, and give half to this woman and half to the other.” [25]But the woman whose son was living spoke up to the king, for she yearned with compassion for her son. She said, “My lord, give her the living child, and by no means kill him.” But the other said, “Let him be neither mine nor yours, but divide him.” [26]So the king answered and said, “Give the child to the one who said, ‘By no means kill him.’ She is his mother.” [27]Then all Israel heard this judgment the king rendered, and they feared the king; for they saw the wisdom of God was in him to administer justice.

Solomon’s Administrators

[1]So King Solomon ruled over Israel. [2]His officials were the scribes, Azariah the son of Zadok, [3]and Elihoreph and Ahijah, the sons of Shisha; and the recorder, Jehoshaphat the son of Ahilud; [4]and the priests, Zadok and Abiathar, the priests; [5]Azariah, the son of Nathan, over the administrators; Zabud the son of Nathan, the king’s companion; [6]Ahishar, over the household; and Eliab, the son of Saph, over the people; and Adoniram the son of Abda, over the tribute.

[7]Solomon had twelve governors over all Israel, who provided food for the king and his household; each one made provision for one month of the year.

[8]They were the son of Hur, in the mountains of Ephraim, one month; [9]the son of Rechab in Makaz and Bethlehem and Beth Shemesh and Elon as far as Beth Hanan, one month; [10]the son of Hesed, in Arubboth; to him belonged Sochoh and all the land of Hepher, one month; [11]the son of Abinadab, in all the regions of Dor; he had Taphath the daughter of Solomon as his wife, one month; [12]Baana the son of Ahilud, in Taanach, Megiddo, and all the house of Shean, which is beside Zaretan below Jezreel, from Beth Shean and Abel Meholah, as far as the other side of Jokneam, one month; [13]the son of Geber, in Ramoth Gilead; to him belonged the region of Argob in Bashan—sixty large cities with walls and bronze gate-bars, one month; [14]Ahinadab the son of Iddo, in Mahanaim, one month; [15]Ahimaaz in Naphtali; he also took Basemath the daughter of Solomon as wife, one month; [16]Baanah the son of Hushai in Maaleth, one month; [17]Shimei the son of Elahom in Benjamin; [18]Geber the son of Adai, in the land of Gad, in the country of Sihon king of Heshbon, and Og king of Bashan, one month; [19]Jehoshaphat the son of Paruah in Issachar.

3 Kingdoms 5

[1]In this manner the governors provided everything King Solomon requested for the king’s table, each man in his month. They did not change a thing; even the barley and the grain stalks for the horses and the chariots they brought to the place where the king was, each man according to his appointment. [2]What was needed for Solomon in one day were thirty measures of the finest wheat flour, sixty measures of beaten ground meal, [3]ten chosen calves, twenty pastured oxen, a hundred sheep, and besides this, deer and gazelles, and choice fatted hens, [4]because there was a governor all along the opposite shore of the river. So he had peace in all his territories round about.

The Greatness of Solomon’s Wisdom

[5]The Lord gave discernment to Solomon, exceedingly great wisdom and a heart as broad as the sand beside the sea. [6]Thus Solomon increased beyond the understanding of all the ancient men, even beyond all the learned men of Egypt; [7]and he was made wise beyond every man. He was even made wise beyond Ethan, the Ezrahite, and Herman and Chalcol and Darda, the sons of Mahol. [8]Solomon spoke three thousand parables, and there were five thousand of his songs. [9]He spoke about wood from the cedars in Lebanon, and the hyssop that grows out through the wall; and he spoke about cattle, birds, reptiles, and fish. [10]So all the people came to hear Solomon's wisdom, and he received gifts from all the kings of the earth who heard his wisdom.

Solomon Takes a Wife

[11]Solomon took the daughter of Pharaoh for his wife, and he brought her into the City of David until he completed the house of the Lord, and his own house and the walls of Jerusalem. [12]Then Pharaoh the king of Egypt went up and conquered Gezer and burned it, along with the Canaanites who were living in Mergab; and Pharaoh gave letters to his daughter, the wife of Solomon, and Solomon rebuilt Gezer.

Preparation for Building the Temple

[13]Now Hiram king of Tyre sent his servants to anoint Solomon in place of his father David, because Hiram had always loved David. [14]Then Solomon sent to Hiram, saying, [15]"You know how my father David could not build a house for the name of the Lord his God because of the wars that were fought against him on every side, until the Lord put his foes under the soles of his feet. [16]But now the Lord my God has given me rest on every side. There is neither adversary nor evil occurrence. [17]Behold, I propose to build a house for the name of the Lord my God, as the Lord spoke to my father David, saying, 'Your son, whom I will set on your throne in your place, he shall build the house for My name.' [18]Now therefore, command them to cut down cedars for me from Lebanon. My servants will be with your servants, and I will pay you wages for your servants, according to whatever you say; because you know we have no one who knows how to cut timber like the Sidonians."

[19]So when Hiram heard Solomon's words, he rejoiced greatly and said, "Blessed be the Lord today, who gave David a wise son over this great people." [20]Then he sent to Solomon, saying, "I have heard the message you sent me, and I will do everything you desire concerning the cedar and pine logs. [21]My servants shall bring them down from Lebanon to the sea; I will float them in rafts by sea to the place you indicate to me, and will have them broken apart there; then you can take them away. You shall fulfill my desire by giving food for my household." [22]Then Hiram gave Solomon cedar logs and everything he wished. [23]Solomon gave Hiram twenty thousand measures of wheat as food for his household, and twenty baths of pure olive oil.

Solomon gave this to Hiram every year.

[24]So the Lord gave Solomon wisdom, as He had promised him, and there was peace between Hiram and Solomon; and the two of them made a treaty together. [25]Then the king raised up a labor force out of all Israel, and the labor force was thirty thousand men. [26]He sent them to Lebanon, ten thousand a month in shifts. They were in Lebanon for one month and at home for two months; and Adoniram was in charge of the labor force. [27]Solomon had seventy thousand who carried burdens, and eighty thousand who quarried stone in the mountain, [28]with an additional three thousand six hundred from the chiefs of Solomon's deputies, who supervised the people who labored in the work. [29]They prepared the stones and the trees in three years.

Solomon Constructs the Temple

[1]In the four hundred fortieth year after the children of Israel came out of the land of Egypt, in the fourth year of Solomon's reign over Israel, in the second month, [2]the king issued a command, and they put great costly stones into the foundation of the house. These stones were not touched by an axe. [3]The sons of Solomon cut them, and the sons of Hiram placed them. [4]In the fourth year, he laid the foundation of the Lord's house in the month Nisan, the second month. [5]In the eleventh year, in the month Bul, that is, the eighth month, the house was completed according to his every word and his every mandate.

[6]Now the house King Solomon built for the Lord was sixty cubits in length, twenty cubits wide, and twenty-five cubits high. [7]The vestibule in front of the sanctuary of the house was twenty cubits long across the width of the house, and the width of the vestibule extended ten cubits from the front of the house. He built the house and completed it. [8]He made hidden windows from which to look from the house. [9]Against the wall of the temple, he placed beams all around—against the walls of the temple, and all around the sanctuary and inner sanctuary. He also made side chambers all around it. [10]The lowest side chamber was five cubits wide, the middle was six cubits wide, and the third was seven cubits wide; for he made a space around the outside of the temple, so the support beams would not be fastened into the walls of the temple.

[11]When the temple was being built, it was built with stones finished at the quarry, so no hammer or axe or any iron tool was heard in the temple while it was being built. 12The doorway for the lower side chamber was on the right side of the temple. They went up by spiraled stairs to the middle story, and from the middle to the third. 13So he built the temple and finished it, and he gave the temple a ceiling with beams and boards of cedar. 14He built the bonding of the superstructure to the foundation throughout the entire temple, each five cubits high; they were attached to the temple with cedar beams.

The Holy of Holies

15Then he framed the inside walls of the temple with cedar boards. From the floor of the temple to the ceiling, he paneled the inside with wood, holding it together with wood from within; and he covered the floor of the temple with planks of pine. 16Then he built the twenty-cubit room at the rear of the temple, from floor to ceiling beams, with cedar boards; he built it inside as the inner sanctuary, as the holy of holies. 17The temple sanctuary was forty cubits long in front. 18He prepared the inner sanctuary inside the temple to set the ark of the covenant of the Lord there. 19The inner sanctuary was twenty cubits long, twenty cubits wide, and twenty cubits high. He overlaid it with pure gold, and made an altar at the front of the shrine; 20and he overlaid it with pure gold. 21He overlaid the whole temple with gold until he finished gilding the whole temple.

Holy Images

22Inside the inner sanctuary, he made two cherubim standing majestically, each ten cubits high. 23One wing of the cherub was five cubits, and the other wing of the cherub, five cubits. It was ten cubits from the tip of one wing to the tip of the other. 24The other cherub was ten cubits; both cherubim were of the same size and shape. 25The height of one cherub was ten cubits, and so was the other cherub. 26Then he set both cherubim inside the inner room; and they stretched out the wings of the cherubim, so the wing of one touched one wall, and the wing of the other cherub touched the other wall. Their wings touched each other in the middle of the room. 27He also overlaid the cherubim with gold.

28Then he carved all the walls of the temple all around, both the inner and outer sanctuaries, with carved figures of cherubim and palm trees. 29He overlaid the floor of the temple with gold, both the inner and outer sanctuaries.

30For the entrance of the inner sanctuary, he made doors of juniper wood;
the lintel and doorposts were one-fifth of the wall. 31The two doors were of pine wood; and he carved on them figures of cherubim, palm trees, and open flowers, and overlaid them with gold. The gold went down over the cherubim and the palm trees. 32For the door of the sanctuary, he also made doorposts of juniper wood, one-fourth of the wall. 33And the two doors were of pine; two panels comprised one folding door, and two panels comprised the other folding door. 34Then he carved cherubim, palm trees, and open flowers on them, and overlaid the figures in relief with gold. 35He built the inner court with three rows of hewn stone and a row of cedar beams. 36He built the curtain of the courtyard of the porch of the house at the front of the temple.

The Skill of Hiram

1Now King Solomon sent and brought Hiram from Tyre. 2He was the son of a widow from the tribe of Naphtali, and his father was a man of Tyre, a bronze worker; he was filled with skill, understanding, and knowledge in working with all kinds of bronze work. So he was brought to King Solomon and did all his work.

Two Bronze Pillars

3He cast two pillars for the porch of the house, each one eighteen cubits high, and a line of fourteen cubits measured the circumference of each; and the thickness was four fingers to the hollow portion, and the second pillar was similar. 4Then he made two capitals of cast bronze to set on the tops of the pillars. The height of one capital was five cubits, and the height of the other, five cubits. 5He made two lattice-works to cover the capitals on top of the pillars, a lattice-work for one capital and a lattice-work for the other capital. 6And he made a hanging work, two rows of cast copper pomegranates, a hanging work, row upon row; and he did the same for the other capital. 7Then he set up the pillars by the vestibule of the temple; he set up the pillar on the right, and called it Jachin, and he set up the pillar on the left, and called it Boaz. 8The capitals on the pillars in the hall were in the shape of lilies, four cubits high. 9There was a roof on both pillars, and beyond the sides was a capital, one beam in thickness.

A Large Pond

[10]He made the sea of cast bronze, ten cubits from one brim to the other; it was completely round. It was five cubits high and thirty cubits around the circumference. [11]Below its brim were supports encircling it all around, ten cubits high, all the way around to hold up the sea. [12]Its mouth was as the mouth of a drinking vessel, a lily blossom, and it was a handbreadth in thickness. [13]There were twelve oxen under the sea. Three looked toward the north, three looked toward the west, three looked toward the south, and three looked toward the east. All their back parts pointed inward and the sea was set upon them.

The Bases (Carts) of Bronze

[14]He also made ten bases of bronze; each base was five cubits long, four cubits wide, and six cubits high. [15]This was the design of the bases. They had panels, and the panels were between the reliefs; [16]the reliefs were lions, oxen, and cherubim. Above and below the lions and oxen were spaces for a hanging work. [17]Every base had four bronze wheels, and the attachments to the wash basins were bronze, with four parts to them, and supports under each wash basin, [18]and axles of bronze; and the height of one wheel was a cubit and a half. [19]The workmanship of the wheels was like the workmanship of a chariot wheel; their axle pins, their rims, their spokes, and their hubs were all of cast bronze. [20]There were four supports at the four corners of each base; its supports were part of the base itself. [21]On the top of the base, at the height of half a cubit, it was perfectly round. And on the top of the base, its axles and its panels were of the same casting. [22]On its panels he engraved cherubim, lions, and palm trees, wherever there was a clear space on each; and they went all around. [23]Thus he made the ten bases. There was one pattern and one measure in all of them. [24]Then he made ten washbasins of bronze; each washbasin contained forty baths. On each of the ten bases was a washbasin. [25]He put five bases on the right side of the house, and five on the left side of the house. He set the sea on the right side of the house, toward the southeast.

The Temple Furnishings

[26]Hiram made the washbasin, the shovels, and the bowls. So Hiram finished doing all the work he was to do for King Solomon for the house of the Lord: [27]the two pillars, the two bowl-shaped capitals on top of the two pillars; the two lattice-works covering the two bowl-shaped capitals on top of the pillars; [28]four hundred pomegranates for the two lattice-works (two rows of pomegranates for each lattice-work, to cover the two bowl-shaped capitals on top of the pillars); [29]the ten bases, and ten washbasins on the bases; [30]one sea and twelve oxen under the sea, [31]the pots, the shovels, and all the equipment. Hiram made all these articles for King Solomon for the house of the Lord. All the works Hiram made for the king, the forty-eight pillars of the king's house and the house of the Lord, were entirely of bronze. [32]There was no measure of the bronze from which he made all these works in such great number. There was no limit to the measure of the bronze. [33]In the plain of Jordan, the king had them cast in clay molds, between Succoth and Seir.

[34]Thus Solomon dedicated all the furnishings he made for the house of the Lord: the altar of gold; the table on which was the showbread, also of gold; [35]the lamp stands of pure gold, five on the right side and five on the left in front of the inner sanctuary, with the oil containers; the lamps and the wick-trimmers of gold; [36]the doorways, the nails, the bowls, the dishes, and the censers of pure gold; and the hinges of gold, both for the doors of the inner room—that is, the holy of holies—and for the doors of the main hall of the temple. [37]So all the work King Solomon did for the Lord's house was finished, and Solomon brought in the holy things of his father David and all the holy things of Solomon, the silver and gold furnishings. He put them in the treasuries of the Lord's house.

Solomon's Residence

[38]Now Solomon took thirteen years to build his own house. [39]He built his house with wood of Lebanon; its length was one hundred cubits, its width fifty cubits, and its height thirty cubits, with three rows of cedar pillars and cedar beams on the pillars. [40]He roofed the house with cedar above the beams on forty-five pillars, fifteen to a row. [41]There were three beams and a joint upon a joint, three times over. [42]All the doorways and doorposts had rectangular frames; and the windows were opposite one another in three tiers.

[43]He also made the porch of pillars. It was fifty cubits long and thirty cubits wide. In front of them was a portico with pillars, and a canopy was in front of them. [44]Then he made a porch for the throne, the hall of judgment, where he might judge. [45]The house where he dwelt had one courtyard that had access to these, of similar workmanship. Solomon also made a house across from this porch for Pharaoh's daughter, whom he had taken as wife.

[46]All these things were made out of costly stones that had been fastened at the spaces inside, and at the foundation up to the eaves, and outside as far as the great courtyard, [47]where the foundation was laid with huge costly stones, ten cubits and eight cubits high, [48]very costly, according to measure, uncut, and with cedars. [49]For the great courtyard round about, there were three rows uncut, and a row fastened with cedar. [50]And Solomon completed his whole house.

The Ark Is Brought to the Temple

[1]Twenty years later, when Solomon finished building the house of the Lord and his own house, King Solomon assembled all the elders of Israel in Zion, to bring up the ark of the covenant of the Lord from the City of David, which is Zion, [2]in the month of Ethanim. [3]The priests took up the ark [4]and the tabernacle of testimony and all the holy furnishings in the tabernacle of meeting. [5]King Solomon and all Israel were before the ark, sacrificing sheep and oxen without number. [6]Then the priests brought in the ark to its place, into the inner sanctuary of the temple, to the holy of holies, under the wings of the cherubim. [7]For the cherubim spread their two wings over the place of the ark, and the cherubim overshadowed the ark and the holy things. [8]The holy staves extended so the ends of the poles could be seen from the holy place, in front of the inner sanctuary; but they could not be seen from outside. [9]Nothing was in the ark except the two stone tablets, the tablets of the covenant Moses put there at Horeb, when the Lord made a covenant with the children of Israel, after they came out of the land of Egypt. [10]When the priests came out of the holy place, the cloud filled the house, [11]so the priests could not stand there ministering because of the cloud; for the glory of the Lord filled the house.

Solomon Speaks to the People

[12]Then the king turned around and blessed the whole assembly of Israel, while all the assembly of Israel was standing. [13]He said, "Blessed be the Lord

God of Israel today, who spoke with His mouth about my father David, and fulfilled it with His hands, saying, 14‘Since the day I brought My people Israel out of Egypt, I chose no city from any tribe of Israel in which to build a house for My name to be there; but I chose for My Name to be in Jerusalem, and I chose David to be over My people Israel.’ 15Now it was in the heart of my father David to build a temple for the name of the Lord God of Israel. 16But the Lord said to David my father, ‘Since it was in your heart to build a temple for My name, you did well that it was in your heart. 17But you shall not build the temple, but your son who will come from your body, he shall build the temple for My name.’ 18So the Lord fulfilled His word which He spoke; and I fill the position of my father David, and sit on the throne of Israel, as the Lord promised; and I have built a temple for the name of the Lord God of Israel. 19There I made a place for the ark which contains the covenant of the Lord, which He made with our fathers when He brought them out of the land of Egypt.”

Solomon’s Dedication Prayer

20Then Solomon stood before the altar of the Lord in the presence of all the assembly of Israel, and spread out his hands toward heaven; 21and he said, “O Lord God of Israel, there is no God like You in heaven above or on earth below, who keep Your covenant and Your mercy with Your servant who walks before You with all his heart. 22You have kept what You promised Your servant David my father; You have both spoken with Your mouth, and fulfilled it with Your hand, as today. 23Now, O Lord God of Israel, keep what You promised Your servant David my father, saying, ‘You shall not fail to have a man sit before Me on the throne of Israel, so long as your people guard and keep their ways to walk before Me, as you walked before Me.’ 24So now, O Lord God of Israel, let the word be confirmed You spoke to Your servant David my father.

25“But will God indeed dwell with men on earth? If the heaven and the heaven of heaven will not be sufficient for You, how much less even this temple I built in Your name? 26Yet, O Lord God of Israel, regard my prayer, which Your servant is praying before You today, 27that Your eyes may be open toward this temple day and night, toward the place of which You said, ‘My name shall be there,’ to hear the prayer Your servant prays in this place day and night. 28You will hear the supplication of Your servant and of Your people Israel when they pray toward this place. You will hear in Your dwelling place in heaven, and You will be merciful.

29"When anyone sins against his neighbor, or if he takes up an oath that he should swear, and comes and redeems himself before Your altar in this temple, 30You will hear in heaven, and act, and judge Your people Israel; condemning the wicked, bringing his way on his own head, and justifying the righteous by giving to him according to his righteousness.

31"When Your people Israel are defeated before their enemies because they sinned against You, and when they turn back to You, and confess Your name, and pray and make supplication to You in this house, 32then You will hear in heaven and be propitious to the sins of Your people Israel; and You will bring them back to the land You gave their fathers.

33"When heaven is shut up and there is no rain because they have sinned against You, and when they pray toward this place and confess Your name, and turn from their sins, whenever they humble themselves— 34You will hear from heaven, and be propitious to the sins of Your servant and Your people Israel; that You may teach them the good way in which to walk, and send rain on the land You gave Your people as an inheritance.

35"When there is famine in the land; when there is death; when there is burning, locusts, or blight; when their enemy besieges them in one of their cities; whatever plague or affliction there is; 36whatever prayer and supplication shall be offered by any man, as each one might know the plague of his heart, and will spread out his hands toward this house— 37You will hear in heaven from Your dwelling place, and be propitious and act; and You will give to everyone according to all his ways, whose heart You know; for You alone know the hearts of all the children of men. 38So they will fear You all the days they live in the land which You gave to our fathers.

39"Even the foreigner who is not of Your people, 40when he comes and prays in this temple, 41You will hear in heaven from Your dwelling place, and do according to all for which the foreigner calls to You. This so all people will know Your name and fear You, as do Your people Israel. They will know Your name is called upon in this house I built.

42"When Your people go out to battle against their enemies wherever You send them, and when they pray in the name of the Lord toward the city You chose, and the temple I built for Your name— 43then You will hear their prayer and supplication in heaven. You will make a righteous judgment for them. 44When they sin against You (for there is no one who does not sin), and You become angry with them, and deliver them to the enemy; and they are taken captive to the land of the enemy, far or near; [45]yet when they turn their hearts in the land where they were carried captive, and repent, and make supplication to You in the land of their captivity, saying, ‘We have sinned and done wrong,’ [46]and they return to You with all their heart and with all their soul in the land of their enemies who led them away captive, and pray to You toward their land You gave to their fathers, the city You chose, and the temple I built for Your name— [47]then You will hear in heaven from Your dwelling place; [48]and You will be propitious in their unrighteousness in which they sinned against You, and in all their transgressions by which they broke faith with You; and You will grant them compassion before those who took them captive, and they will have compassion on them; [49]for they are Your people and Your inheritance, whom You brought out of the land of Egypt, out of the midst of the iron furnace.

[50]“Let Your eyes and Your ears be open to the supplication of Your servant and the supplication of Your people Israel, to hear them about everything, whenever they call to You. [51]For You, O Lord and Master, separated them from all the peoples of the earth to be Your inheritance, as You said by Your servant Moses when You brought our fathers out of Egypt.”

[52]Then Solomon said concerning the house he had finished building:

> “The Lord made known the sun in heaven;
> He spoke to those dwelling in darkness,
> ‘Build My house, a house of splendor for yourself,
> To dwell in newness.’ ”

Behold, is this not written in the book of the ode?

Solomon Blesses the People

[53]When Solomon finished praying all his prayer and supplication to the Lord, he rose up from before the altar of the Lord, after kneeling on his knees with his hands spread up to heaven. [54]Then he stood and blessed the whole assembly of Israel with a loud voice and said, [55]“Blessed be the Lord this day, who gave rest to His people Israel, just as He promised. Not one word has failed of all His good words He spoke through His servant Moses.

[56]“May the Lord our God be with us as He was with our fathers. May He not leave us nor forsake us, [57]that He may incline our hearts to Himself, to walk in all His ways and to keep all His commandments and His statutes that He commanded our fathers. 58May these words with which I have made supplication before the Lord stand near the Lord our God day and night, to maintain the cause of His servant and the cause of His people Israel as each day may require; 59that all the peoples of the earth may know the Lord is God, and there is no other. 60Let your heart therefore be perfect to the Lord our God, that you walk piously in His statutes, and keep His commandments, as today."

Solomon Consecrates the Temple

61Then the king and all the children of Israel offered sacrifices before the Lord. 62King Solomon made a sacrifice of peace offerings and offered it to the Lord: twenty-two thousand bulls and one hundred twenty thousand sheep. So the king and all the children of Israel dedicated the house of the Lord. 63On that day, the king consecrated the middle of the court that was in front of the house of the Lord. There he offered burnt offerings, grain offerings, and the fat of the peace offerings, because the bronze altar before the Lord was too small to receive the burnt offerings and the peace offerings.

64On that day, Solomon made a feast, and all Israel was with him, a great assembly from the entrance of Hamath to the river of Egypt, before the Lord our God in the house he built, eating, drinking, and rejoicing before the Lord our God for seven days. 65On the eighth day, he sent the people away and blessed them. Each one went to his tent, joyful and with a good heart for all the good the Lord did for His servant David and for Israel His people.

God Appears Again to Solomon

1Now when Solomon had finished building the house of the Lord and the king's house, and everything Solomon wanted to do, 2the Lord appeared to Solomon a second time, as He appeared to him at Gibeon. 3The Lord said to him, "I heard your prayer and the supplication you made before Me; I have done for you everything in your prayer. I consecrated this house you built to place My name there forever, and My eyes and My heart will be there all the days. 4Now if you walk before Me as your father David walked, with integrity of heart and in uprightness, and you do everything I commanded him and keep My statutes and My judgments, [5]then I will establish the throne of your kingdom over Israel forever, as I said to David your father, saying, ‘There shall not fail a man to be ruler in Israel.’

[6]“But if you or your sons turn from Me and do not keep My commandments and My statutes Moses set before you, but go and serve other gods and worship them, [7]then I will cut off Israel from the land I gave them. I will cast from My sight this house which I made holy by My name. Israel will be destroyed, and will become but prattle among the peoples. [8]As for this exalted house, everyone who passes by it will be astonished, and will hiss and say, ‘Why did the Lord do this to this land and to this house?’ [9]Then they will answer, ‘Because they forsook the Lord their God, who brought their fathers out of the land of Egypt, out of the house of bondage, and they embraced other gods and worshiped and served them. That is why the Lord brought all this calamity on them.’ ”

[10]Then Solomon brought the daughter of Pharaoh from the City of David into the house he built for himself in those days.

The Pact with Hiram

[11]Now twenty years later, after Solomon built the two houses, the house of the Lord and the king’s house, [12]Hiram the king of Tyre helped supply Solomon, as much as he desired, with cedar and pine and gold. Then King Solomon gave Hiram twenty cities in the land of Galilee. [13]So Hiram went from Tyre to Galilee to see the cities Solomon gave him, but they were not pleasing to him. [14]He said, “What are these cities you gave me, my brother?” So he called them frontier cities to this day. [15]Then Hiram sent Solomon one hundred and twenty talents of gold. [16]King Solomon also built a fleet of ships at Ezion Geber, near Elath on the shore of the sea, in the land of Edom. [17]Then Hiram sent his servants with the fleet, seamen who knew the sea, to work with the servants of Solomon. [18]They came to Ophir, and acquired one hundred twenty talents of gold from there, and brought it to King Solomon.

The Queen of Sheba

[1]Now when the queen of Sheba heard of the fame of Solomon, concerning the name of the Lord, she came to test him with hard questions. [2]She came to Jerusalem with a very large retinue, with camels that bore spices, a great deal of gold, and precious stones. When she came to Solomon, she spoke with him about everything in her heart. [3]So Solomon answered all her questions. There was nothing so difficult for the king that he could not explain it to her. [4]When the queen of Sheba saw all the wisdom of Solomon, and the house he built, [5]Solomon's food, the seating of his servants, the service of his waiters and their apparel, his cupbearers, and the burnt offering he offered in the house of the Lord, she was completely amazed.

[6]Then she said to King Solomon, "The report I heard in my land about your words and your wisdom was true. [7]However, I did not believe those who told me until I came and saw with my own eyes; and indeed, half of what I see was not told me. You added to the good thing I heard in my land. [8]Happy are your wives, and happy are these your servants, who stand continually before you and hear your wisdom. [9]Blessed be the Lord your God, who delights in you, setting you on the throne of Israel. For the Lord so loved Israel as to make it stand forever. Therefore He made you king over them, to make judgment and do righteousness."

[10]Then she gave Solomon one hundred twenty talents of gold, spices, and precious stones in great quantity. There was never again such abundance of spices as the queen of Sheba gave to King Solomon. [11]The ships of Hiram that brought gold from Ophir also brought great quantities of uncut timber and precious stones. [12]The king made supports from the uncut timber for the house of the Lord and for the king's house, as well as harps and stringed instruments for the singers. There never again came such uncut timber, nor has the like been seen to this day. [13]Now King Solomon gave the queen of Sheba everything she desired, whatever she asked, besides all he had given her by the hand of King Solomon. Then she turned and went to her own country, she and her servants.

Solomon's Wealth

[14]The weight of gold that came to Solomon in a year was six hundred sixty-six talents of gold, [15]in addition to that from traveling merchants, from the income of traders, from all the kings of Arabia, and from the governors of the country. [16]Solomon made three hundred spears of hammered gold, with three hundred shekels of gold in each spear. [17]He also made three hundred weapons of hammered gold, with three minas of gold that went into each weapon. The king kept them in the house of the forest of Lebanon.

[18]Moreover, the king made a great throne of ivory, overlaid with pure gold, [19]with six upward steps to the throne and busts of calves' heads encircling the back. On each side of the seat were armrests with two lions standing on the side of the armrests. [20]Standing, one on each side of the six steps, were twelve lions. Nothing like this was made for any other kingdom. [21]All the drinking utensils of King Solomon were gold, as were the tubs for bathing.
All the furniture of the house of the forest of Lebanon was completely overlaid with gold. Not one was silver, for this was accounted as nothing in the days of Solomon, [22]for a ship of Tarshish, a merchant ship of the king's stationed at sea with the fleet of Hiram, came once every three years, bringing gold, silver, and chiseled stones.

[23]This is the outcome of the trading by which king Solomon built up the house of the Lord, the house of the king, the wall of Jerusalem, and the citadel; to fortify the City of David, Hazor and Megiddo, Gezer, Beth Horon
the upper, Jethermath, and all the cities of the horsemen and the chariots.
Solomon purposed to build the fortifications in Jerusalem and in all the land, so none of the people should rule over him— [24]the people left behind from the Cherethites, the Amorites, the Perezzites, the Canaanites, the Hittites, the Jebusites and the Girgashites. These were the ones, and their children, not belonging to the children of Israel, that Israel was unable to utterly destroy from the land. Solomon made them pay tribute to this day. [25]Solomon did not deliver any of the sons of Israel to this work; instead, these were men of war, his servants, and those in charge of his chariots and horses.

[26]So King Solomon surpassed all the kings of the earth in riches and discernment. [27]Now the whole earth sought the presence of Solomon to hear the wisdom God put in his heart. [28]Everyone brought presents: golden vessels, garments, oil of myrrh, spices, horses, and mules, at a set rate year by year. [29]Solomon had four thousand female horses for chariots and twelve thousand horsemen, whom he stationed in the chariot cities and with the king in Jerusalem. [30]Thus he was the leader of all the kings from the river as far as the land of the Philistines and as far as the borders of Egypt. [31]The king made gold and silver as common in Jerusalem as stones, and he made cedar trees as abundant as the sycamores in the lowland. [32]The importation of Solomon's horses was from Egypt and Tekoa, and the merchants of the king purchased them at market price. [33]Now a chariot imported from Egypt cost one hundred shekels of silver, and a horse cost fifty. Thus it was that all the chariots and horses exported to all the kings of the Hittites and the kings of Syria came by way of the sea.

Solomon Turns against God

[1]King Solomon was a lover of women, and he had seven hundred princesses and three hundred concubines; and he took foreign wives, as well as the daughters of Pharaoh, women of the Moabites, Ammonites, Syrians and Idumeans, Hittites and Amorites; [2]from the nations of whom the Lord said to the children of Israel, “You shall not go in to them, and they shall not come in to you, lest they turn away your hearts after their idols.” Solomon joined to these in love. [3]For when Solomon was old and his heart was not loyal to the Lord his God, as was the heart of his father David, his foreign wives turned his heart after their gods. [4]Then Solomon built a high place for Chemosh, the idol of Moab, and for their king, the idol of the children of Ammon, [5]and for Ashtaroth, the abomination of the Sidonians. [6]He did the same for all his foreign wives, burning incense and sacrificing to their idols. [7]Solomon did evil in the sight of the Lord and did not fully follow the Lord, as did his father David.

[8]So the Lord became angry with Solomon because his heart turned from the Lord God of Israel, who appeared to him twice, [9]and commanded him concerning this thing, that he should not go after other gods, but keep absolutely what the Lord had commanded. [10]Therefore the Lord said to Solomon, “Because you did this and did not keep My covenant and the statutes I commanded you, I will surely tear the kingdom away from your hand and give it to your servant. [11]Nevertheless, I will not do it in your days for the sake of your father David; but I will tear it out of the hand of your son. [12]However, I will not tear away the whole kingdom; I will give one tribe to your son, which I chose, for the sake of my servant David and for the sake of Jerusalem.”

Solomon’s Adversaries

[13]Now the Lord raised up an adversary against Solomon, Hadad the Edomite, and Rezon the son of Eliadah, who dwelt in Ramoth, and Hadadezer, king of Zoba, was his master. The men gathered together to him; and he was head of the conspiracy, and he seized control of Damascus. They were an adversary to Israel all the days of Solomon. Hadad the Edomite was a descendant of the king in Edom. [14]For when David destroyed Edom, and Joab the commander of the army went up to bury the slain, they killed every male in Edom. [15]Joab remained there six months with all Israel, until he killed every male in Edom. [16]Hadad fled, along with all the Edomites who served his father, and they went to Egypt. Hadad was still a little child. [17]Then men arose from the city of Midian and came to Paran, and after joining with other men, they came to Pharaoh king of Egypt. Hadad went to Pharaoh, who gave him a house and apportioned food for him. [18]Thus Hadad found great favor in the sight of Pharaoh, so that he gave him as wife the sister of his own wife, that is, the older sister of Tahpenes. [19]Then the sister of Tahpenes bore him Genubath her son, and Tahpenes weaned him among the sons of Pharaoh; and Genubath was among the sons of Pharaoh.

[20]So when Hadad heard in Egypt that David rested with his fathers, and that Joab the commander of the army was dead, Hadad said to Pharaoh, “Send me away so that I may go to my own country.” [21]Then Pharaoh said to him, “But what did you lack with me, that suddenly you seek to go to your own country?” So he answered, “Send me away.” Hadad then returned unto his land. [22]This is the evil Hadad did; and he was a bitter enemy to Israel and reigned in the land of Edom.

Jeroboam’s Revolt

[23]Jeroboam the son of Nebat, Solomon’s servant, was an Ephraimite from Zereda, the son of a woman who was a widow. [24]This was the event bringing him to rebel against Solomon the king: Now Solomon built the citadel. He built a wall of fortification that enclosed the City of David that his father built. [25]Jeroboam the man was very strong, and Solomon, seeing the young man was industrious, put him in charge of those who labored at the house of Joseph. [26]As it happened, Jeroboam went out from Jerusalem, and along the way, the prophet Ahijah the Shilonite, clothed with a new garment, found him and persuaded him to detour from his path. Now the two of them stood alone in a field.

[27]Then Ahijah took hold of the new garment he was wearing and tore it into twelve pieces. [28]And he said to Jeroboam, “Take ten pieces for yourself, for thus says the Lord God of Israel, ‘Behold, I will break asunder the kingdom from the hand of Solomon and give ten tribes to you. [29]But to Solomon, he shall have two tribes for the sake of My servant David and for the sake of Jerusalem, the city I chose out of all the tribes of Israel. [30]Because he forsook Me, and sacrificed to Ashtoreth the abomination of the Sidonians, and to Chemosh and the idols of the Moabites, and to their king, the abomination of the children of Ammon, and has not walked in My ways, to do what is right before Me, as did his father David— [31]therefore I will surely set Myself against him all the days of his life; however, for the sake of My servant David, whom I chose, I will not remove the whole kingdom out of his hand. [32]But I will take the kingdom out of the hand of his son and give the ten tribes to you. [33]And to the son of Solomon himself I will pass on these same two tribes, establishing a place for My servant David to be before Me all the days of Jerusalem, the city I chose for Myself as the place to put My name. [34]So I will receive you, and you shall reign over everything your heart desires. You shall be king over Israel. [35]It shall be, if you hear and do everything I command you, and walk in My ways, and do what is right before Me, to keep My statutes and My commandments as My servant David did, then I shall be with you, and build you a house that shall endure, as I did for David.' "

[36]Thereafter Solomon sought to kill Jeroboam, but Jeroboam arose and fled into Egypt, to Shishak king of Egypt. He remained there in Egypt until Solomon died. [37]Now the rest of the words of Solomon, all that he did and all his wisdom, are they not written in the Book of the Wisdom of Solomon?

The Death of Solomon

[38]So the days Solomon reigned in Jerusalem over all Israel were forty years. [39]Then Solomon rested with his fathers and was buried in the City of David his father. When Jeroboam the son of Nebat heard it, while yet in Egypt at the place to which he had fled from the face of Solomon and remained, he came directly to his city, into the land of Zereda in the Mount of Ephraim. Thus King Solomon slept with his fathers, and his son Rehoboam reigned as king in his place.

3 Kingdoms 12

A Revolt against Rehoboam

[1]Now King Rehoboam traveled to Shechem, for all Israel were coming to Shechem to proclaim him as king. [2]The people of Israel spoke to Rehoboam, saying, [3]“Your father made our yoke a heavy burden; but if you now lighten the harsh servitude and the burdensome yoke under which your father placed us, then we will serve you.” [4]So he said to them, “Go away for three days; then come back to me.” Thus they departed.

[5]Then King Rehoboam consulted the elders who stood before his father Solomon while he still lived, and he said, “How do you advise me to answer these people?” [6]They spoke to him, saying, “If you will be a servant to these people today, and serve them, and speak good words to them, then they will be your servants all the days.” [7]But he rejected the advice of the elders, and consulted the young men who had grown up with him and stood in his presence. [8]He said to them, “What advice do you give? How should I answer these people who spoke to me, saying, ‘Lighten the yoke your father put on us’?”

[9]Then these same young men said to him, “Here is how you should speak to this people who spoke to you, saying, ‘Your father made our yoke heavy, but may you make it lighter on us,’ thus respond to them, saying, ‘Being from the loins of my father, my meanness will be more burdensome. [10]Now whereas my father put a heavy yoke on you, I will add to your yoke. Whereas my father chastised you with whips, I will discipline you with scorpions.’ ”

[11]So all the people came to King Rehoboam the third day, as the king had directed, saying, “Come back to me on the third day.” [12]Then the king answered the people harshly, for Rehoboam rejected the advice the elders offered to him. [13]Instead, Rehoboam spoke to the people according to the advice of the young men, saying, “My father made your yoke heavy, but I will add to your yoke. My father chastised you with whips, but I will discipline you with scorpions.” [14]So the king did not hear the appeal of the people, because the change of mind was from the Lord, that He might establish His word which He spoke by the authority of Ahijah the Shilonite to Jeroboam the son of Nebat.

[15]Now all Israel saw the king did not heed their words. So the people answered the king, saying, “What share of the inheritance have we in David? Nor do we have any inheritance in the son of Jesse. Israel, run to your dwelling-places. Now, O David, feed your own house.” Thus Israel departed to their dwelling. [16]In response, King Rehoboam sent for Adoniram, who was in charge of the tribute; but all Israel stoned him with stones, and he died. Then King Rehoboam knew it was time to mount up and flee back to Jerusalem. [17]Even to this day, Israel refuses any request concerning the house of David.

Jeroboam Is the King of Israel

18 Now when all Israel heard Jeroboam was back from Egypt, they sent for him and called him to the assembly. They made him king over Israel, and not one tribe followed the house of David except the tribes of Judah and Benjamin.

Jeroboam Avoids Civil War

19 When Rehoboam came to Jerusalem, he assembled all the house of Judah and the tribe of Benjamin. He had one hundred twenty thousand chosen men as warriors to fight against the house of Israel, that he might restore the kingdom to Rehoboam the son of Solomon. 20 But the word of God came to Shemaiah the man of God, saying, 21 "Speak to Rehoboam the son of Solomon, king of Judah, to all the house of Judah and Benjamin, and to the remnant of the people, saying, 22 'Thus says the Lord, "You shall not go up, nor shall you fight against your brethren the sons of Israel. Instead return, each of you, to his house, because this word is from Me." Hear the word of the Lord.' " So according to the word of the Lord, they ended the march.

The Transition of Power

23 King Solomon slept with his fathers and was buried with his fathers in the City of David. Then Rehoboam, his son, reigned in his place in Jerusalem. His son was sixteen years old when he became king, and he reigned twelve years in Jerusalem. The name of his mother was Naamah, daughter of Hanun, son of Nahash, the king of the sons of Ammon. He did evil before the Lord and did not walk in the way of David, his father.

24 There was a man from Mount Ephraim, a servant of Solomon, whose name was Jeroboam. The name of his mother was Zeruah, a prostitute.
Solomon gave him the staff of authority over the male laborers of the house of Joseph, and he built Zereda for Solomon on Mount Ephraim. There were three hundred horse-pulled chariots with him. He also built the citadel with the laborers of the house of Ephraim, and enclosed the city of David. He was lifted up in opposition to the kingdom. 25 Solomon then sought to kill him, and he was afraid and escaped to Shishak, king of Egypt, where he stayed until Solomon died.

Jeroboam's Family

[26]When Jeroboam heard in Egypt that Solomon died, he spoke to Shishak, king of Egypt, saying, "Send me away, and I shall go to my land." Shishak said to him, "Ask any request, and I shall give it to you." [27]So Shishak gave Anna to Jeroboam as a wife. She was the eldest sister of Tahpenes, the wife of Shishak. She was highly admired in the midst of the daughters of the king, and she bore to Jeroboam a son, Abijah. [28]Then Jeroboam said to Shishak, "Please send me away, and I shall leave." Thus Jeroboam went out from Egypt and into the land of Zereda, which is in Mount Ephraim. It is here the whole tribe of Ephraim gathers together, and where Jeroboam built a fortress.

[29]Jeroboam's son became seriously ill, so Jeroboam went to inquire concerning his son, and he said to Anna, his wife, "Arise, and go ask God concerning the child, whether he shall recover from this illness." [30]Now there was in Shiloh a man whose name was Ahijah. He was sixty years old, and the word of the Lord was with him. So Jeroboam said to his wife, "Arise, and take bread in your hand for this man of God and cakes for his children, and grapes and a jar of honey." [31]The woman arose and took in her hand bread, two cakes, grapes, and a jar of honey for Ahijah. The man was elderly, and his eyesight was fading. [32]She arose from Zereda and traveled to the city where Ahijah the Shilonite dwelt. Ahijah said to his young son, "Go out at once to meet Anna, the wife of Jeroboam, and say to her, 'Come in and take a seat, for thus says the Lord, "I Myself am sending harsh things on you." ' " [33]So Anna came in to the man of God, and Ahijah said to her, "Why did you bring me bread and grapes and cakes and a jar of honey? Thus says the Lord, 'Behold, you shall depart from Me, and when you enter the gate into the city of Zereda and your maidens come out to greet you, even they shall say to you, "The child is dead.' " [34]For Thus says the Lord: 'Behold, I shall put to death those of Jeroboam, and those of Jeroboam who die in the city of Jerusalem will be eaten by dogs, while the birds of the sky will consume those who die in the field. They will mourn the young child, saying, "Woe to me, O Lord! For you perceived in him a good word concerning the Lord." ' " [35]Then the woman departed as one who heard and understood. It came to be as she entered Zereda, the child died, and the mourners went out to meet her.

[36]Then Jeroboam went to Shechem at Mount Ephraim, and there they gathered the tribes of Israel. Even Rehoboam the son of Solomon went up there, and the word of the Lord came to Shemaiah the son of Elami, saying, "Take for yourself a new garment, one which has not entered into water, and tear it into twelve pieces; then give it to Jeroboam and say to him, ‘Thus says the Lord, “Take for yourself ten pieces to clothe yourself,” ’ ” and Jeroboam took them. Shemaiah then said, “Thus says the Lord to the ten tribes of Israel.”

Rehoboam and His Advisors

37Then the people said to Rehoboam the son of Solomon, “Your father made his yoke a heavy burden upon us, and he made the foods of his table oppressive; and now, if you yourself shall go more lightly on us, then we will serve you.” Rehoboam said to the people, “In three days I shall answer the matter for you.” 38Rehoboam then said, “Bring the elders to me, and I will counsel with them as to what answer I should give the people on the third day.” So Rehoboam told the elders what the people sent him to say, and the elders of the people advised him to do what the people said.

39But Rehoboam rejected their counsel, for it was not pleasing in his sight. So he sent and brought those he grew up with. He told them what the people said to him. In response, his childhood companions advised him to speak to the people as follows: “Since I am from the loins of my father, my meanness will be more burdensome. Whereas my father disciplined you with the beating of whips, I will discipline you with scorpions.” 40Rehoboam was pleased with this advice, and he answered the people just as the young men, his childhood companions, advised him. 41But all the people spoke as one man, every man to his neighbor, and they all cried out, saying, “What share of the inheritance have we in David? Nor do we have any inheritance in the son of Jesse. O Israel, run to your dwelling-places, for this man is not going to be a ruler or a leader over us.” 42So all the people scattered from Shechem, and each man returned to his dwelling; but Rehoboam did not relent.

Rehoboam departed by way of his chariots, and went up and entered Jerusalem. Behind him came the entire tribe of Judah and the entire tribe of Benjamin. 43And it came to pass that in the beginning of the year, Rehoboam gathered all the men of Judah and Benjamin, and he went out to make war with Jeroboam in Shechem. 44But the word of the Lord came to Shemaiah the man of God, saying, “Speak to Rehoboam the king of Judah, and to all the house of Judah and Benjamin and to the rest of the people, saying, ‘Thus says the Lord, “Do not go up and do not make war with your brothers, the sons of Israel. Let each man return to his house, for this word has come from Me.” ’ ” 45So they heard the word of the Lord, and according to the word of the Lord, they held back from going.

Jeroboam's False Worship

46Then Jeroboam built Shechem in Mount Ephraim and dwelt there. From here, he went out and built Penuel. 47Then Jeroboam said in his heart,
"Behold, now the kingdom will return to the house of David. 48If this people go up to offer sacrifices in the house of the Lord at Jerusalem, then the heart of this people will turn back to their lord and master, to Rehoboam king of Judah, and they will kill me." 49Therefore the king deliberated, and went and made two calves of gold. He then said to the people, "You have traveled enough to Jerusalem. Behold, O Israel, your gods who brought you up from the land of Egypt." 50He placed one in Bethel and the other in Dan. 51This word became a sin, and the people went to worship before the one as far as Dan. 52He also made houses on the high places, and he made priests from every class of people, even those who were not of the sons of Levi.

53Jeroboam appointed a feast on the fifteenth day of the eighth month, according to the feast in the land of Judah, and went up to the altar he made at Bethel to sacrifice to the calves he made. Also at Bethel, he presented the priests of the high places which he made. 54So on the fifteenth day of the eighth month, in the month he devised in his own heart, he went up to the altar he made at Bethel and made a feast for the children of Israel. He also went up to the altar of the sacrifice.

3 Kingdoms 13

1Now behold, there came by the word of the Lord a man of God from Judah to Bethel, even as Jeroboam stood by the altar of the sacrifice. 2By the word of the Lord, he cried out against the altar, saying, "O altar, altar, thus says the Lord, 'Behold, a son is to be born to the house of David, Josiah is his name, and he will kill the priests of the high places upon you, offering sacrifice upon you; and he will burn the bones of men upon you.' " 3In that day, he gave a sign, saying, "This is the sign the Lord has spoken: Surely the altar shall split apart, and the fat on it shall be poured out." 4So when King Jeroboam heard the words of the man of God who cried out against the altar in Bethel, he stretched out his hand from the altar, saying, "Seize him!" But behold, the hand he stretched out toward him withered, and he himself could not stretch it back. 5The altar was broken apart, and the fat on the altar poured out from the altar—this according to the sign the man of God had given by the word of the Lord. [6]Then King Jeroboam said to the man of God, “Entreat the favor of the Lord your God, that my hand may be restored to me.” So the man of God entreated the Lord, and the king’s hand was restored new, as it was before. [7]Then the king said to the man of God, “Come home with me and refresh yourself, and I will give you a reward.” [8]But the man of God said to the king, “Even if you give me half your house, I would not go in with you. Nor will I eat bread nor drink water in this place. [9]For the Lord commanded me, saying, ‘You shall not eat bread, nor drink water, nor return by the same way you came.’ ” [10]So he went another way, and did not return by the way he came to Bethel.

The Old Prophet in Bethel

[11]Now an old prophet dwelt in Bethel, and his sons came and told him all the works the man of God did that day in Bethel. They also told their father the words he spoke to the king, and the father’s countenance changed. [12]Their father said to them, “Which way did he go?” His sons pointed out the way the man of God who came from Judah had gone. [13]Then he said to his sons, “Saddle the donkey for me.” So they saddled the donkey for him, and he mounted, [14]to seek after the man of God. He found him sitting under an oak tree. Then he said to him, “Are you the man of God who came from Judah?” And he said, “I am.” [15]Then he said to him, “Come home with me and eat bread.” [16]And he said, “I cannot return with you, nor eat bread or drink water in this place. [17]For the Lord commanded me, saying, ‘You shall not eat bread or drink water there, nor return by going the way you came.’ ”

[18]The old prophet said to him, “I am a prophet like you, and an angel spoke to me by the word of the Lord, saying, ‘Bring him back with you to your house, that he may eat bread and drink water.’ ” But he was lying to him. [19]The man of God went back with him, and ate bread and drank water in his house. [20]As they sat at the table, the word of the Lord came to the prophet who brought him to his house; [21]and he said to the man of God who came from Judah, saying, “Thus says the Lord, ‘Because you disobeyed the word of the Lord and did not keep the commandment the Lord your God commanded you, [22]but indeed, did come back, and ate bread and drank water in the place where the Lord said to you, “Eat no bread and drink no water”; therefore, your dead body shall never enter the tomb of your fathers.’ ” and his dead body remained by the side of the road. The donkey and the lion stood by the dead body. 25When men passed by and saw the corpse on the road, with the lion standing by the corpse, they went and told it in the city where the old prophet dwelt.

[23]So after he ate bread and drank water, he saddled the donkey for him, and he departed. [24]After he left, a lion met him and killed him on the road,

26Now when the old prophet who had brought him to his house heard it, he said, “It is the man of God who was disobedient to the word of the Lord.” 27Then he said to his sons, “Saddle a donkey for me.” So they saddled one. 28Then he went and found his dead body thrown on the road, with the donkey and the lion standing next to it. The body was not eaten by the lion, nor did the lion maul the donkey. 29The prophet took up the dead body of the man of God, laid it on the donkey, and brought it to the city to bury him in his own tomb. 30They mourned over him, saying, “Alas, my brother!” 31So after he mourned for him, he spoke to his sons, saying, “When I am dead, then bury me in this tomb where the man of God is buried. Lay me beside his bones, that my bones shall be preserved with his bones. 32For the word will surely come to pass which he spoke by the word of the Lord against the altar in Bethel and against all the houses of the high places in Samaria.”

33But even after this event, Jeroboam did not turn from his evil way, but he again made priests from every class of people for the high places. Whoever desired to be a priest, he consecrated him, and he became a priest of the high places. 34This became the sin of the house of Jeroboam, even to its total disappearance from the face of the earth.

3 Kingdoms 14

Rehoboam Is King of Judah

1Rehoboam the son of Solomon reigned over Judah, and he was forty-one years old when he became king. He reigned seventeen years in Jerusalem, the city the Lord chose out of all the tribes of Israel to place His name. His mother’s name was Naamah, an Ammonite woman. 2Now Rehoboam did evil in the sight of the Lord, and provoked Him in all the things which their fathers did in the sins they committed. 3For they built high places for themselves: sacred pillars, and groves on every high hill and under every shady tree. 4So there was a conspiracy in the land, and they did all the detestable things of the nations the Lord removed from before the children of Israel.

5In the fifth year of King Rehoboam, Shishak king of Egypt came up against Jerusalem. 6He took all the treasures of the Lord's house, the treasures of the king's house, and the gold spears David received from the hand of the servants of Hadadezer, king of Syria, who brought them to Jerusalem. He took away all the gold weapons.
7Then King Rehoboam made bronze weapons in their place, and committed them to the hands of the captains of the guard, who guarded the doorway of the king's house. 8For whenever the king entered the house of the Lord, the guards carried them, then brought them back into the guardroom.
9Now the rest of the words of Rehoboam, and everything he did, is it not written in the Book of the Chronicles of the kings of Judah? 10There was war between Rehoboam and Jeroboam all their days. 11So Rehoboam rested with his fathers, and was buried with his fathers in the City of David. Then Abijam his son reigned in his place.

3 Kingdoms 15

Abijam Is King of Judah

1In the eighteenth year of King Jeroboam the son of Nebat, Abijam the son of Rehoboam became king over Judah. 2He reigned for six years in Jerusalem.
His mother's name was Maachah the daughter of Abishalom. 3Now he walked in all the sins his father did before him, and his heart was not perfect toward the Lord his God, as was the heart of his father David. 4Nevertheless for David's sake, the Lord gave him a remnant, so as to establish his sons after him and to establish Jerusalem. 5For David did what was right in the eyes of the Lord, and did not turn aside from anything He commanded him all the days of his life. 6Now the rest of the words of Abijam and all he did, are these not written in the Book of the Chronicles of the kings of Judah?
There was war between Abijam and Jeroboam. 7Then Abijam rested with his fathers in the twenty-fourth year of Jeroboam, and he was buried in the City of David. Then Asa his son reigned in his place.

Asa Is King of Judah

8In the twenty-fourth year of Jeroboam king of Israel, Asa became king over Judah. 9He reigned forty-one years in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Ana, the daughter of Abishalom. 10Asa did what was right before the Lord, as did his father David. [11]He removed the cultic rituals from the land, and eliminated all the practices his fathers had done. [12]He also removed Ana, his mother, from being a leader, because she conducted assemblies in her grove. Asa cut down her sacred grove and burned it by the Brook Kidron. [13]But he did not remove the high places. Nevertheless, Asa's heart was perfect with the Lord all his days. [14]He brought into the house of the Lord the pillars his father had dedicated, and his own pillars of silver and gold and his vessels.

[15]Now there was war between Asa and Baasha king of Israel all their days. [16]Baasha king of Israel came up against Judah and built Ramah, so Asa king of Judah could not go out or come in. [17]Then Asa took all the silver and gold found in the treasuries of the king's house and delivered them into the hands of his servants. Asa then sent them to the son of Hadad the son of Tabrimmon, the son of Hezion, king of Syria, who dwelt in Damascus, saying, [18]"Let there be a covenant between you and me, as there was between my father and your father. Behold, I have sent you a present of silver and gold. Come and break your treaty with Baasha king of Israel, that he might withdraw from me."

[19]So the son of Hadad heeded King Asa. He sent the captains of his armies against the cities of Israel. He attacked Ijon, Dan, Abel Beth Maachah, and all Chinneroth, with all the land of Naphtali. [20]Now when Baasha heard it, he stopped building Ramah and returned to Tirzah. [21]Then King Asa made a proclamation throughout all Judah to Ainakim. They took away the stones and timber of Ramah which Baasha used for building; and with them King Asa built upon every hill of Benjamin, and also a watchtower.

[22]The rest of the words of Asa, all his might, and everything he did, are they not written in the Book of the Chronicles of the kings of Judah? But in the time of his old age, his feet were diseased. [23]Asa then rested with his fathers, and was buried with his fathers in the City of David his father. Then Jehoshaphat his son reigned in his place.

Nadab Is King of Israel

[24]Now Nadab the son of Jeroboam became king over Israel in the second year of Asa king of Judah, and he reigned over Israel for two years. [25]He did evil before the Lord, and walked in the way of his father and in the sins by which he caused Israel to sin. [26]Then Baasha the son of Ahijah conspired against the house of Belaan, and killed him at Gibbethon, in the land of the foreigners, while Nadab and all Israel laid siege to Gibbethon. [27]Baasha killed him in the third year of Asa the son of Abijam king of Judah, and reigned in his place. [28]It came to pass that when he reigned, he struck every house of Jeroboam and left no one of Jeroboam's house breathing, until he utterly destroyed him, according to the word of the Lord spoken by His servant Ahijah the Shilonite, [29]for the sins of Jeroboam that Israel sinned, and in the anger of him who provoked to anger the Lord God of Israel. [30]Now the rest of the words of Nadab, and all that he did, are they not written in the Book of the Chronicles of the kings of Israel?

Baasha Is King of Israel

[31]In the third year of Asa king of Judah, Baasha the son of Ahijah became king over Israel in Tirzah, and reigned twenty-four years. [32]Now he did evil before the Lord and walked in the way of Jeroboam the son of Nebat, and in the sins he caused Israel to commit.

3 Kingdoms 16

[1]Then the word of the Lord came by the hand of Jehu the son of Hanani against Baasha, saying, [2]"Because I raised you from the earth and made you ruler over My people Israel, and you walked in the way of Jeroboam, and made My people Israel sin and provoke Me to anger with their follies— [3]surely I will take away the posterity of Baasha and the posterity of his house, and I will make your house like the house of Jeroboam the son of Nebat. [4]The dogs shall eat whoever belongs to Baasha and dies in the city, and the birds of the sky shall eat whoever dies in the fields."

[5]Now the rest of the words of Baasha, what he did and his might, are they not written in the Book of the Chronicles of the kings of Israel? [6]So Baasha rested with his fathers and was buried in Tirzah. Then Elah his son reigned in his place in the twentieth year of King Asa. [7]So the Lord spoke against Baasha and his house by the hand of Jehu, because of all the evil he did before the Lord by provoking Him to anger with the work of his hands, in being like the house of Jeroboam; and also because he struck them down.

Elah Is King of Israel

[8]Elah the son of Baasha became king over Israel and reigned for two years in Tirzah. [9]Zimri, commander of half his chariots, conspired against him, and he was in Tirzah drinking himself drunk in the house of Arza, steward of his house in Tirzah. [10]Then Zimri went in, struck and killed him. He then reigned in his place. [11]When he began to reign, as soon as he was seated on his throne, he killed all the household of Baasha, [12]according to the word the Lord spoke against Baasha by Jehu the prophet, [13]for all the sins of Baasha and the sins of Elah his son which they caused Israel to commit, and provoked the Lord God of Israel to anger with their follies. [14]Now the rest of the words of Elah and everything he did, are they not written in the Book of the Chronicles of the kings of Israel?

Zimri's Brief Reign

[15]Zimri reigned in Tirzah for seven days, and Israel was encamped against Gibbethon, which belonged to the Philistines. [16]Now the people encamped heard it said, "Zimri conspired and killed the king." So that day in the camp all Israel made Omri, the commander of the army, king over Israel. [17]Then Omri and all Israel with him went up from Gibbethon, and they besieged Tirzah. [18]When Zimri saw the city was taken, he went into the citadel of the king's house, and burned the king's house down upon himself, and died. [19]This he did because of the sins he committed in doing evil before the Lord, in walking in the way of Jeroboam the son of Nebat, and in the sins he caused Israel to commit. [20]Now the rest of the words of Zimri and the treason he committed, are they not written in the Book of the Chronicles of the kings of Israel?

Omri Is King of Israel

[21]Then the people of Israel were divided. Half of the people followed Tibni the son of Ginath to make him king, and half followed Omri. [22]But the people who followed Omri prevailed over the people who followed Tibni the son of Ginath. So Tibni died that day, as well as Joram his son, and Omri reigned after Tibni. [23]In the thirty-first year of Asa king of Judah, Omri became king over Israel, and reigned twelve years. He reigned for six years in Tirzah. [24]Omri bought the hill of Samaria for two talents of silver from its owner, Shemer. Then he built on the hill, and called the name of the city he built Samaria, after the name of Shemer, the owner of the hill. [25]Omri did evil before the Lord, and did worse than all who were before him. [26]For he walked in all the ways of Jeroboam the son of Nebat, and in the sins he committed and caused Israel to commit. With their follies, he provoked the Lord God of Israel to anger. [27]Now the rest of the words of Omri and everything he did, and the might he showed, are they not written in the Book of the Chronicles of the kings of Israel? [28]So Omri rested with his fathers and was buried in Samaria. Then Ahab his son reigned in his place.

Jehoshaphat Reigns in Jerusalem

[29]And in the eleventh year of Omri, Jehoshaphat the son of Asa began to reign. He was thirty-five years old when he began to reign, and he reigned in Jerusalem for twenty-five years. The name of his mother was Azubah, daughter of Shilhi. [30]Now he walked in the way of Asa his father, and he did not turn aside from doing what was upright before the Lord. Nevertheless, the high places were not taken away; they sacrificed in the high places and burned incense. [31]What Jehoshaphat agreed to do, and all the mighty deeds he did, and his deeds in war, behold, have not these things been written in the Book of the Chronicles of the kings of Judah? [32]And the rest of the cultic groups which remained from the days of Asa his father he removed from the land.

[33]Now there was no king or king's deputy in Syria, [34]and King Jehoshaphat made a ship in Tarshish to go to Ophir for the gold; but they did not go, because the ship was broken to pieces in Ezion-Geber. [35]Then the king of Israel said to Jehoshaphat, "I will send your servants and my servants in the ship"; but Jehoshaphat was not willing. [36]After this, Jehoshaphat rested with his fathers, and he was buried with his fathers in the City of David, and Joram his son reigned in his place.

Ahab Is King of Israel

[37]In the second year of Jehoshaphat, Ahab the son of Omri became king of Israel. He ruled over Israel in Samaria for twenty-two years. [38]Now Ahab the son of Omri did evil before the Lord, more than all who were before him. [39]It was not enough for him to walk in the sins of Jeroboam the son of Nebat, but he also took as his wife Jezebel the daughter of Ethbaal, king of the Sidonians; and he went and served Baal and worshiped him. [40]Then he set up an altar for Baal in the house of his idols which he built in Samaria, [41]and also made a sacred grove. Ahab did yet more provocations, so as to provoke the Lord and to destroy his own life; for he did more evil things than all the kings of Israel before him. [42]In his days Hiel of Bethel built Jericho. He laid its foundation with Abiram his firstborn, and with his youngest son Segub he set up its gates, according to the word of the Lord which He spoke by the hand of Joshua the son of Nun.

Elijah Warns of Drought

[1]Now Elijah the Tishbite from Tishbe in Gilead said to Ahab, “As the Lord God of Hosts lives, the God of all Israel before whom I stand, there shall not be any dew nor rain during these years except at my word.” [2]Then the word of the Lord came to Elijah, saying, [3]“Depart and go eastward, and hide by the Brook Cherith, which flows into the Jordan. [4]You shall drink water from the brook, and I shall command the ravens to feed you there.” [5]So Elijah went and obeyed the word of the Lord, and stayed by the Brook Cherith, which flows into the Jordan. [6]The ravens brought him bread in the morning and meat in the evening, and he drank water from the brook. [7]But after a while the brook dried up, because there was no rain in the land.

Elijah Helps a Widow

[8]Again the word of the Lord came to Elijah, saying, [9]“Arise, go to Zarephath of Sidon and dwell there. Behold, I have commanded a widow there to provide for you.” [10]So he arose and went to Zarephath. When he came to the gate of the city, there was a widow gathering firewood. Elijah called to her and said, “Please bring me a little water in a cup so I can drink.” [11]She went to get it, and Elijah called after her and said, “Please bring me a morsel of bread in your hand.” [12]But the woman said, “As the Lord your God lives, I do not have any bread, only a handful of flour in a bin, and a little oil in a jar. You see I am gathering a couple of sticks, so I can go in and prepare it for myself and my son, that we may eat it and die.” [13]But Elijah said to her, “Take courage, and do as you say, but make me a small cake from it first and bring it to me. Afterward make some for yourself and your son. [14]For thus says the Lord, ‘The bin of flour shall not be used up, and the jar of oil shall not run dry, until the day the Lord sends rain on the earth.’ ” [15]So the woman went and did it. Thus she and he and her children ate for many days. [16]The bin of flour was not used up, and the jar of oil did not run dry, according to the word the Lord spoke by Elijah.

[17]Now after this, the son of the woman who owned the house became sick.

His sickness was so serious there was no breath left in him. [18]So she said to Elijah, “What have I to do with you, O man of God? You came to me to bring my sin to remembrance and to kill my son.” [19]But Elijah said to her, “Give me your son.” So he took him out of her arms and carried him to the upper room where he was staying, and laid him on his bed. [20]Then Elijah cried out to the Lord and said, “Woe is me, O Lord! The witness of the widow with whom I lodge, you have embittered her by killing her son.” [21]Then he stretched himself out on the child three times, and called on the Lord and said, “O Lord my God, let the soul of this child come back to him.” [22]So it happened, and the child cried out. [23]He took the child and brought him down from the upper room of the house, and gave him to his mother. Elijah said, “Behold, your son lives.” [24]Then the woman said to Elijah, “Now I know that you are a man of God, and the word of the Lord in your mouth is the truth.”

Elijah’s Word to Ahab

[1]It came to pass many days later, in the third year, the word of the Lord came to Elijah, saying, “Go and appear to Ahab, and I will send rain on the earth.” [2]So Elijah went and appeared to Ahab, and there was a severe famine in Samaria. [3]Then Ahab called Obadiah, who was in charge of his house. Now Obadiah feared the Lord greatly. [4]For when Jezebel massacred the prophets of the Lord, Obadiah took a hundred prophets and hid them, fifty to a cave, and fed them with bread and water. [5]So Ahab said to Obadiah, “Let us go into the land, to the springs of water and brooks. Perhaps we will find grass to keep the horses and mules alive, so none of the livestock dies.” [6]So to explore it, they divided the path between them. Ahab went one way by himself, and Obadiah went another way by himself.

[7]Now Obadiah was alone on his way, and Elijah came alone to meet him. Obadiah quickly fell on his face in Elijah’s presence and said, “My lord Elijah, is that you?” [8]Elijah replied, “It is I; go, tell your master, ‘Behold, Elijah is here.’ ” [9]So Obadiah said, “What sin did I commit for you to give me, your servant, into the hand of Ahab to put me to death? [10]As the Lord your God lives, there is not a nation or kingdom where my master has not sent to hunt you. If they said, ‘He is not here,’ then he set fire to the kingdom and its territories, because he did not find you. [11]So now you say to me, ‘Go, tell your master, “Behold, Elijah is here’ ”! [12]But if I so do, it shall come to pass, when I leave you, the Spirit of the Lord shall carry you to a land I do not know. Moreover, when I go and report this to Ahab, he will kill me. Yet your servant fears the Lord from his youth. [13]Was it not reported to you, my lord, as to what I did when Jezebel killed the prophets of the Lord, how I hid one hundred men of the Lord’s prophets, fifty to a cave, and fed them with bread and water? [14]But now you say to me, ‘Go, tell your master, “Behold, Elijah is here,’ ” but he will kill me.”

[15]Then Elijah said, “As the Lord of hosts lives before whom I stand, today I will appear to him.” [16]So Obadiah went to meet Ahab and told him, and Ahab ran out and went to meet Elijah. [17]When Ahab saw Elijah, Ahab said to him, “Are you the one who is troubling Israel?” [18]Elijah answered, “I have not troubled Israel, but rather you and the house of your father, in that you forsook the Lord your God and followed after the Baals. [19]Now therefore, send and gather all Israel to me on Mount Carmel, the four hundred and fifty prophets of shame, and the four hundred prophets of the sacred groves who eat at Jezebel’s table.”

The Victory over Baal

[20]So Ahab went back to Israel and gathered all the prophets on Mount Carmel. [21]Then Elijah came near to all of them and said, “How long will you be undecided between two opinions? If the Lord is God, follow Him, but if Baal, follow him.” But the people did not answer. [22]Then Elijah said to the people, “I alone remain as a prophet of the Lord, but there are four hundred and fifty men who are prophets of Baal and four hundred prophets of the sacred groves. [23]Let them give us two oxen. Then let them choose one bull for themselves, to be cut into pieces and laid on the wood; but they shall not light a fire under it. I will prepare the other bull and lay it on the wood; and I will not light a fire under it. [24]Then you will call loudly on the name of your gods, and I will call on the name of the Lord, my God. So it shall come to pass that the God who answers by fire, He is God.” So all the people answered and said, “The word you have spoken is good.”

[25]Then Elijah said to the prophets of shame, “Choose one calf for yourselves and prepare it, for there are many of you. Then call on the name of your god, but do not put fire to the wood under it.” [26]So they took a calf and prepared it, and called on the name of Baal from morning until noon, saying, “Hear us, O Baal, hear us.” But there was no voice, for no one answered, and they ran about the altar they had made.

27Then it came to pass at noon that Elijah the Tishbite mocked them and said, “Cry out with a loud voice, for he is a god; for either he is away meditating, or he is too busy, or preoccupied with other business. Perhaps he is sleeping and has need to be awakened from his nap.” 28So they cried aloud and cut themselves with knives and lances, as is their custom, until blood gushes forth. 29They prophesied until early evening, until the appointed time to offer the evening sacrifice. But even still, there was no voice. Finally, Elijah the Tishbite spoke to the prophets of the idols, saying, “Now remove yourselves from this place, for I will offer my whole burnt offering.” And they turned away and departed.

30Then Elijah said to the people, “Come near me.” So all the people came near to him. 31Elijah took twelve stones, according to the number of the tribes of Israel, for the Lord said, “Israel shall be your name.” 32Then he built an altar with the stones in the name of the Lord, and he repaired the altar of sacrifice that was scattered about, and around the altar he made a furrow holding two measures of seed. 33He piled the firewood on the altar he had made, divided the whole burnt offering, laid it on the firewood, and laid it in order on the altar. 34Then he said, “Bring me four pots of water, and pour it on the whole burnt offering and pour it on the unlit firewood.” They did so. Again Elijah said, “Do it a second time.” So they did it again. Again he said, “Do it a third time.” So they did it a third time. 35And the water ran all about the altar, and even the furrow became filled with water.

36After this, Elijah cried out to heaven and said, “O Lord God of Abraham, Isaac, and Israel, answer me, O Lord, answer me this day with fire, and let this people know You are the God of Israel, and I am Your servant; and for Your sake I do all these works. 37Hear me, O Lord, hear me with fire, and let these people know You are the Lord God, so as turn the heart of this people back.”

38Then fire fell from the Lord out of the heaven and consumed the whole burnt offering, the firewood, and the water in the furrow. The fire also licked up the stones and the soil. 39So all the people fell on their faces, and they said, “Truly, the Lord is God; He is God.” 40Elijah then said to the people, “Seize the prophets of Baal. Let not one of them escape.” So they seized them, and Elijah brought them down to the Brook Kishon, where he slaughtered them.

End of the Drought

41After this, Elijah said to Ahab, “Go up and eat and drink, for there is a sound of rain.” 42So Ahab went up to eat and drink. But Elijah went up to the top of Carmel, where he bowed down on the ground and put his face between his knees. 43He said to his servant, “Go up and look toward the sea.” So the servant went up, and looked and said, “There is nothing.” Then Elijah said, “Go again seven times, and return to me seven times.” 44So it came to pass that on the seventh time he said, “Behold, a little cloud, like the footprint of a man, bringing up water.” So Elijah said, “Go up, say to Ahab, ‘Make ready your chariot and get down from here before the rain overcomes you.’ ” 45Thus it came to pass that the sky darkened with black clouds and wind, and there was a heavy downpour of rain. But Ahab mourned and went to Jezreel.
46Then the hand of the Lord came upon Elijah; and he girded up his loins and ran ahead of Ahab as far as Jezreel.

Elijah Flees from Jezebel

1Now Ahab told Jezebel his wife everything Elijah did, and how he put to death the prophets with the sword. 2Then Jezebel sent to Elijah, saying, “If you are Elijah and I this Jezebel, may God do so to me and more also if at this hour tomorrow, I do not make your life like the life of one of them.”
3Elijah was fearful, and he arose and ran for his life. He came to Beersheba of Judah, where he left his servant. 4But Elijah himself went a day’s journey into the wilderness, and came and sat under a juniper tree. He prayed concerning his life, that he might die, and said, “I pray it be enough, O Lord.
Now take my life, for I am no better than my fathers.” 5Then he lay down and slept under a tree.

Unexpectedly, someone touched him and said to him, “Arise and eat.”
6Then Elijah looked, and there by his head was a cake made of wheat and a jar of water. So he ate and drank, and lay down again. 7Again the angel of the Lord came back a second time, touched him, and said, “Arise and eat, because the journey is a great many days for you.” 8So he arose, ate and drank; and he went with the strength of that food forty days and forty nights, as far as Mount Horeb. 9There he went into a cave and rested.

The Sound of a Gentle Breeze

Behold, the word of the Lord came to him and said to him, “Elijah, what are you doing here?” [10]And Elijah said, “I have been very zealous for the Lord Almighty since the children of Israel have forsaken You. They tore down Your altars and killed Your prophets with the sword. I alone am left, and they seek to take my life.” [11]Then He replied, “Go out tomorrow and stand on the mountain before the Lord; and behold, the Lord will pass by, and before the Lord, a great and powerful wind will be rending the mountains and shattering the rocks; but the Lord will not be in the wind. After the wind, an earthquake, but the Lord will not be in the earthquake. [12]After the earthquake, there will be a fire, but the Lord will not be in the fire. After the fire, there will be a sound of a gentle breeze, and the Lord will be there.”

[13]So when Elijah heard this, he wrapped his face in his mantle, and went out and stood in the entrance of the cave. Suddenly a Voice came to him and said, “Elijah, what are you doing here?” [14]He replied, “I have been very zealous for the Lord Almighty, since the children of Israel have forsaken Your covenant, torn down Your altars, and killed Your prophets with the sword. I alone am left, and they seek to take my life.” [15]Then the Lord said to him, “Go and return on your way to the desert of Damascus. When you arrive, anoint Hazael as king over Syria. [16]You shall also anoint Jehu the son of Nimshi as king over Israel, and shall anoint Elisha the son of Shaphat of Abel Meholah as prophet in your place. [17]Whoever escapes the sword of Hazael, Jehu will kill; and whoever escapes the sword of Jehu, Elisha will kill. [18]And you will leave seven thousand in Israel; all those whose knees have not bowed to Baal, and whose mouth has not kissed him.”

Elisha Follows after Elijah

[19]Elijah departed from there and found Elisha the son of Shaphat, who was plowing with twelve yoke of oxen before him. Then Elijah passed by him and threw his mantle on him. [20]So Elisha left the oxen, and ran after Elijah and said, “I will kiss my father, then I will follow after you.” Elijah said to him, “Return, for I have done this for you.” [21]Elisha returned from following him, and took a pair of oxen, and slaughtered them. He boiled their flesh with the proper equipment, and gave it to the people to eat. He then arose and followed Elijah, and ministered to him.

Naboth Killed for His Vineyard

1 Naboth the Jezreelite had a vineyard in Jezreel, next to the threshing floor of Ahab king of Samaria. 2 So Ahab spoke to Naboth, saying, “Give me your vineyard, and it will be my garden for herbs; for it is near my house. In return, I will give you a better vineyard. Or if you prefer, I will give you money for it, and it will be my herb garden.” 3 But Naboth said to Ahab, “The Lord forbid that I should give the inheritance of my fathers to you.”

4 So Ahab’s spirit was disturbed; and he lay down on his bed and covered his face. He would not eat any food. 5 But Jezebel his wife came to him and said to him, “Why is your spirit disturbed, and you are not eating any food?”
6 He said to her, “Because I spoke to Naboth the Jezreelite and said to him, ‘Give me your vineyard for money. Otherwise, if you like, I will give you another vineyard for it.’ And he answered, ‘I will not give you the inheritance of my fathers.’ ” 7 Then Jezebel his wife said to him, “Do you not now exercise authority over Israel? Arise, eat some food, and be yourself. I will give you the vineyard of Naboth the Jezreelite.” 8 So she wrote a letter in Ahab’s name, sealed it with his seal, and sent the letter to the elders and the nobles dwelling in the city with Naboth. 9 She wrote in the letters, saying, “Proclaim a fast, and seat Naboth with high honor among the people; 10 and seat two men before him, scoundrels, to bear witness against him, saying, ‘He cursed God and the king.’ Then take him out and stone him, that he dies.”

11 Thus the men of his city, the elders and nobles, inhabitants of his city, did as Jezebel requested them, as it was written in the letters she sent to them.
12 They proclaimed a fast and seated Naboth with high honor among the people. 13 Two men, scoundrels, also came in and sat before him. The scoundrels witnessed against him, against Naboth, and in the presence of the people, saying, “Naboth cursed God and the king.” So they took him outside the city and stoned him with stones, that he might die. 14 Then they sent to Jezebel, saying, “Naboth has been stoned and is dead.” 15 When Jezebel heard it, she said to Ahab, “Arise and take possession of the vineyard of Naboth the Jezreelite, which he did not give you for money; for Naboth is not alive, but dead.” 16 When Ahab heard that Naboth the Jezreelite was dead, he tore his clothes and put on sackcloth. After that, Ahab arose and went down to take possession of the vineyard of Naboth the Jezreelite.

The Evil Deeds of Ahab

17Then the Lord said to Elijah the Tishbite, 18“Arise, go down to meet Ahab king of Israel, who lives in Samaria. He is there in the vineyard of Naboth, for he went there to take possession of it. 19You shall speak this to him, saying, ‘Thus says the Lord, “As you were involved in murder, and took possession,” therefore, Thus says the Lord: “In every place where the swine and dogs licked the blood of Naboth, in the same place shall the dogs lick your blood; and in your blood the prostitutes shall bathe themselves.” ’ ” 20So Ahab said to Elijah, “My enemy, you have surely found me.” Elijah replied, “I have found you because you sold yourself to do evil in the sight of the Lord, to provoke Him to anger. 21Thus says the Lord, ‘Behold, I shall bring evils upon you, and before you, fires kindle. I will utterly destroy the males of Ahab, and him who is shut up and left in Israel. 22I will make your house like the house of Jeroboam the son of Nebat, and like the house of Baasha the son of Ahijah, because of the way you provoked Me to anger and made Israel sin.’ 23The Lord spoke of Jezebel, saying, ‘The dogs shall devour her by the outer wall of Jezreel.’ 24The dogs shall devour the one of Ahab who dies in the city, and the one of Ahab who dies in the field, the birds of the sky shall devour.”

25Nevertheless, Ahab sold himself to vainly do what is evil in the sight of the Lord, because his wife Jezebel led him astray. 26He behaved abominably in following after idols, just as all the Amorites had done, whom the Lord utterly cast out before the sons of Israel. 27But as a result of the word, Ahab became deeply troubled before the Lord. He fasted, he ripped his shirt, and put sackcloth on his body. He also put on sackcloth the day he killed Naboth the Jezreelite. 28Concerning Ahab, the word of the Lord came by the hand of His servant Elijah the Tishbite. The Lord said, 29“Did you see how Ahab humbled himself before Me? I will not bring the evil in his days. But in the days of his son, I will bring evil upon his house.”

Ahab’s Defeat of Syria

1Now the son of Hadad the king of Syria gathered all his forces, and went up and besieged Samaria, and made war against it. He had thirty-two kings with him, with horses and chariots. 2Then he sent notice to Ahab king of Israel in the city 3and said to him, “Thus says the son of Hadad, ‘Your silver and your gold are mine; your wives and your children are mine.' "

[4]The king of Israel answered and said, "O lord and king, I am yours, and everything I have." [5]Then the messengers came back and said, "Thus says the son of Hadad, 'Indeed I sent notice to you, saying, "You shall deliver to me your silver and gold, your wives and children," [6]for I will send my servants to you at this time tomorrow, and they shall search your house and the houses of your servants. Whatever is pleasant in their eyes, they will put it in their hands and take it.' " [7]The king of Israel then called all the elders and said, "Know and consider, this man seeks to ruin us. He sent notice to me concerning my wives, my sons and daughters, although I did not deny him my silver and my gold." [8]But all the elders and all the people said to him, "Do not listen or consent." [9]Thus he said to the messengers of the son of Hadad, "Tell your lord, 'Everything you sent as a demand to your servant the first time I will do, but this thing I cannot do.' "

The messengers departed and carried back to him a response. [10]Then the son of Hadad sent word back and said to him, "May God do so to me and more also, if the dust of Samaria shall be sufficient for all the cunning people of my infantry." [11]So the king of Israel answered and said, "Enough! Let the hunchback not boast like a man who stands erect." [12]And it came to pass, when the son of Hadad heard this answer, he and all the kings were drinking in their tents. He said to his servants, "Build ramparts, and place ramparts against the city."

[13]Then behold, a prophet approached the king of Israel, saying, "Thus says the Lord, 'Have you seen this great multitude? Behold today, I will deliver it into your hand, and you shall know that I am the Lord.' " [14]So Ahab said, "In what way?" The prophet said, "Thus says the Lord, 'By the young men of the governors of the regions.' " Then Ahab said, "Who will set the battle in order?" The prophet answered, "You." [15]So Ahab visited the young men of the governors of the regions, and they were two hundred thirty. After them he reviewed all the people, every son of the army, sixty thousand.

[16]Then he marched out at noon, while the son of Hadad was drinking himself senseless in Sochoh, he and his allies of thirty-two kings. [17]The young men of the governors of the regions went out first. Those of Syria sent a report to the king of Syria, saying, "Men have come out from Samaria." [18]The son of Hadad said to them, "If they have come for peace, take them alive. If they have come out for war, take them alive"; [19]because he did not believe the young men of the governors of the regions had marched out of the city. [20]But the army that went out behind them, each of them struck down the man beside him, and each of them struck down two more. So the Syrians fled, and Israel pursued them vigorously. The son of Hadad the king of Syria escaped on a horse of a cavalryman. [21]Then the king of Israel went out and took the horses and chariots. He killed those of Syria with a great slaughter. [22]Then the prophet came to the king of Israel and said, “Strengthen and reinforce yourself; learn and observe what you will do, because the son of Hadad the king of Syria will be returning within the year to march against you.”

The Syrian Attack Turned Back

[23]The servants of the king of Syria said to him, “The God of Israel is a god of the mountains, and not a god of the valleys. Therefore he was stronger than we. But if we battle them in the plain, surely they will not be stronger than we. [24]But do this: Send away the kings, each one to his place, and replace them with satraps of Persia. [25]Then you shall muster an army equal to the army you lost, horse for horse and chariot for chariot. Then we will battle against them in the plain, and surely we will be stronger than they.” And the son of Hadad listened to their voice and did so. [26]When it was one year later, the son of Hadad reviewed the Syrians and went up to Aphek to war against Israel. [27]They were well organized and went to meet them. The sons of Israel encamped before them like two flocks of goats, but the Syrians filled the land with their army.

[28]Then a man of God came and spoke to the king of Israel and said, “Thus says the Lord, ‘Because Syria said, “The Lord God of Israel is a god of the mountains, but He is not a god of the valleys,” therefore, I will deliver this entire great multitude into your hand, and you shall know I am the Lord.’ ” [29]So they encamped opposite them for seven days. And on the seventh day the battle was joined, and in one day the children of Israel killed one hundred thousand foot soldiers of the Syrians. [30]The rest fled to Aphek, into the city, but there a wall fell upon twenty-seven thousand of the remaining men. As for the son of Hadad, he fled into a house and hid in the private chamber of the bedroom.

[31]Then he said to his servants, “I know the kings of Israel to be merciful kings. Let us put sackcloth around our waists and ropes around our heads, and go out to the king of Israel; perhaps he may spare our lives.” [32]So they put sackcloth around their waists and put ropes around their heads and said to Ahab the king of Israel, “Your servant the son of Hadad says, ‘Allow my life to be spared.’ ” The king said, “Does he still live? He is my brother.” [33]The men took this as an omen, and listened carefully to the words from the mouth of the servant. Then the men said, “Your brother is the son of Hadad.” The king said, “Go in and bring him here.” So the son of Hadad came out with them, and they brought him to the chariot. [34]He said to him, “I will restore the cities my father took from your father. You may set up marketplaces for yourself in Damascus, as my father did in Samaria. I will make a treaty with you.” So he made a treaty with him and sent him away.

Ahab Is Condemned

[35]Now a certain man of the sons of the prophets said to his neighbor by the word of the Lord, “Strike me down.” But the man refused to strike him. [36]Then he said to him, “Because you did not obey the voice of the Lord, surely, as soon as you depart from me, a lion shall kill you.” Thus as soon as he left him, a lion found and killed him. [37]Then he found another man and said, “Strike me down.” So the man struck him and inflicted a wound. [38]The prophet departed, and waited for the king of Israel by the road, and disguised himself with a bandage over his eyes. [39]Now as the king passed by, he cried out to the king and said, “Your servant went out against the army in the war, and behold, a man brought a man to me and said to me, ‘Guard this man. But if by some means he escapes, your life shall be for his life, or else you shall pay a talent of silver.’ [40]So it came to pass that your servant was looking here and there, but he was not to be found. But the king of Israel said to him, ‘Behold, you destroyed the ambush meant for me.’ ”

[41]Then the prophet hurried to take the bandage off his eyes, and the king of Israel recognized him as one of the prophets. [42]He said to him, “Thus says the Lord, ‘Because you freed a man meant for destruction at your hand; therefore, your life shall be in place of his life, and your people in place of his people.’ ” [43]So the king of Israel left, and returned to Samaria confused and weary.

3 Kingdoms 22

Micaiah the Prophet Warns Ahab

[1]Three years passed without war between Syria and Israel. [2]Then it came to pass that in the third year, Jehoshaphat the king of Judah traveled down to the king of Israel. 3And the king of Israel said to his servants, “Do you know that Ramoth in Gilead is ours? But we are silent about taking it from the hand of the king of Syria.” 4So the king of Israel said to Jehoshaphat, “Will you go with us to fight at Ramoth Gilead?” Jehoshaphat said to the king of Israel, “I am as you are, my people as your people, my horses as your horses.” 5Also Jehoshaphat said to the king of Israel, “Ask the Lord today.”

6Then the king of Israel gathered the prophets together, about four hundred men, and the king said to them, “Shall I go and fight against Ramoth Gilead, or shall I refrain?” So they said, “Go up, for the Lord will surely deliver it into the hands of the king.” 7But Jehoshaphat said to the king of Israel, “Is there yet not here another prophet of the Lord, that we may inquire of the Lord through him?” 8So the king of Israel said to Jehoshaphat, “There is still one man, Micaiah the son of Imlah, by whom we may inquire of the Lord. But for myself, I hate him because he does not prophesy good concerning me, but only evil.” Jehoshaphat the king of Judah said, “Let not the king say such things.” 9Then the king of Israel called a eunuch and said, “Quickly, bring Micaiah the son of Imlah here.”

10The king of Israel and Jehoshaphat the king of Judah sat, each man on his throne, with armed men within the gates of Samaria, and all the prophets prophesied before them. 11Now Zedekiah the son of Chenaanah made horns of iron for himself and said, “Thus says the Lord, ‘With these you shall gore Syria until they are brought to an end.’ ” 12All the prophets prophesied in the same manner, saying, “Go up to Ramoth Gilead and you will prosper, for the Lord will deliver it into your hands, even the king of Syria.”

13Then the messenger who went to call Micaiah spoke to him, saying, “Behold, all the prophets, speaking in one accord, are saying good things to the king. Come now, and let your word be as theirs, and speak good things.” 14But Micaiah said, “As the Lord lives, I will say whatever the Lord says to me.” 15Then he came to the king, and the king said to him, “Micaiah, shall we go to war against Ramoth Gilead, or shall we refrain?” He answered him, “Go and prosper, for the Lord will deliver it into the hand of the king.” 16So the king said to him, “How many times shall I make you swear you are telling me nothing but the truth in the name of the Lord?” 17Micaiah said, “It was not so. I saw all Israel being scattered on the mountains, like a shepherd without a flock. The Lord is not with them. Let each return to his house in peace.” 18Then the king of Israel said to Jehoshaphat the king of Judah, “Did

I not tell you he would not prophesy good concerning me, but on the contrary, evil?”

19Micaiah said, “No, this is not so, for I hear the word of the Lord. This is not so, for I saw the Lord sitting on His throne, and all the host of heaven standing by on His right hand and on His left. 20Then the Lord said, ‘Who will deceive Ahab the king of Israel, that he may go up and fall at Ramoth Gilead?’ One spoke one way and another spoke in another way. 21Then a spirit came forth and stood before the Lord and said, ‘I will deceive him.’ The Lord said to him, ‘In what way?’ 22So he said, ‘I will go out and be a deceiving spirit in the mouth of all his prophets.’ The Lord said, ‘You shall deceive him, and you shall prevail. Go and do so.’ 23Now behold, the Lord put a lying spirit in the mouth of all these prophets of yours. So the Lord has spoken evil things against you.”

24Now Zedekiah the son of Chenaanah went near and struck Micaiah on the cheek and said, “Which spirit of the Lord is speaking in you?” 25And Micaiah said, “Indeed, you shall see on that day when you go into an inner chamber to hide yourself.” 26So the king of Israel said, “Take Micaiah and return him to Amon, the governor of the city, and to Joash, son of the king; 27and place him in prison. Feed him with bread of suffering and water of suffering until I return in peace.” 28But Micaiah said, “If you return in peace, the Lord did not speak through me.”

Ahab Killed in Battle

29So the king of Israel and Jehoshaphat the king of Judah went up to Ramoth Gilead. 30The king of Israel said to Jehoshaphat the king of Judah, “I will disguise myself and go into battle; but you put on my robes.” So the king of Israel disguised himself and went into battle.

31Now the king of Syria commanded the thirty-two captains of his chariots, saying, “Fight with no one small or great except the king of Israel.” 32So when the captains of the chariots saw Jehoshaphat the king of Judah, they said, “Surely it is the king of Israel.” So they encircled him to fight him, and Jehoshaphat cried out. 33When the captains of the chariots saw it was not the king of Israel, they turned back from pursuing him. 34Now a certain man drew his bow at random, and struck the king of Israel between the lungs and the breastplate. So the king said to the driver of his chariot, “Turn around, and take me out of the battle; for I am wounded.”

35The battle turned that day, and the king was propped up in his chariot facing the Syrians, and he died at evening. The blood ran out from the wound onto the floor of the chariot. [36]Then, as the sun was going down, a shout went throughout the army, saying, “Every man to his city, and every man to his own land.”

[37]So the king died and was brought to Samaria, where they buried him. [38]They also bathed the chariot at a pool in Samaria, and the dogs and the swine licked up his blood while the prostitutes bathed, according to the words the Lord spoke. [39]Now the rest of the acts of Ahab and everything he did, the ivory house he built, and all the cities he built, are they not written in the Book of the Chronicles of the kings of Israel? [40]So Ahab rested with his fathers. Then Ahaziah his son reigned in his place.

Jehoshaphat Is King of Judah

[41]Jehoshaphat the son of Asa became king over Judah in the fourth year of Ahab king of Israel. [42]Jehoshaphat was thirty-five years old when he became king, and he reigned for twenty-five years in Jerusalem. His mother’s name was Azubah the daughter of Shilhi. [43]Now he walked in all the ways of his father Asa. He did not turn aside from them, but did what was right in the eyes of the Lord. [44]Nevertheless, the high places were not taken away, for the people offered sacrifices and burned incense on the high places. [45]Jehoshaphat also made peace with the king of Israel. [46]Now the rest of the acts of Jehoshaphat and the might that he showed, are they not written in the Book of the Chronicles of the kings of Judah? [47]So Jehoshaphat rested with his fathers, and was buried with his fathers in the City of David his father. Then Jehoram his son reigned in his place.

Azariah Is King of Israel

[48]Ahaziah the son of Ahab became king over Israel in Samaria in the seventeenth year of Jehoshaphat king of Judah, and reigned two years over Israel. [49]He did evil in the sight of the Lord and walked in the way of his father Ahab, and in the way of his mother Jezebel, and in the sins of the house of Jeroboam the son of Nebat, who had made Israel sin. [50]For he served the Baals and worshiped them, and provoked the Lord God of Israel to anger, according to all the things done before him.

Annotations for 3 Kingdoms

1:1 As to the historical timeline of the kings of Israel, this account picks up from 2Kg 20:22. King David was seventy years old here, shortly before his death (see 2Kg 5:4).

1:5 Adonijah, David's oldest living son, exalted himself to be king, but his father should have rebuked him. Jesus also exalted Himself as God and King, and as coequal with the Father (Jn 5:23; Mt 27:11), yet His Father did not rebuke Him (AthanG). Quite to the contrary, He said, "This is My beloved Son, in whom I am well pleased" (Mt 3:17). Moreover, although Adonijah refused to humble himself before David, who was a type of Christ, we should humble ourselves before our God and King. If we do, He will "exalt us in due time" (1Pt 5:6).

1:11, 14, 22 Once again, Nathan the prophet speaks the truth to the house of David (see 2Kg 12:1–15). Sometimes "speaking the truth in love" (Eph 4:15) costs a friendship, but for Nathan it cemented a lifelong relationship with the king.

1:15–21 Bathsheba bowed to her husband the king. A beautiful insight into respect for authority. Rather than coming with demands, she simply reviewed what the king had sworn, underscoring the importance of his successor: the eyes of all Israel are on you (v. 20). Her request was granted.

1:49 The "reign" of Adonijah was short-lived. Not only did his guests head home, so did he (v. 53). Indeed, self-exaltation is short-lived, for "whoever exalts himself will be humbled, and he who humbles himself will be exalted" (Mt 23:12).

2:3, 4 The continual reign of kings in Israel was conditional on their obedience to the Law of Moses. Disobedience would eventually lead to the collapse of the kingly throne when a Jew would fail to sit on the throne. This failure occurred when Herod the Great sat on the throne, for he was not a Jew, but a Gentile from Edom (or Idumea). According to the prophecy of Gn 49:10, the presence of a Gentile king on the throne of Judah would indicate the presence of Christ in Judea. Indeed, "Jesus was born in Bethlehem of Judea in the days of Herod the king" (Mt 2:1). The name "Shiloh" in the prophecy means "peace," for Jesus Christ is the peace that unites and reconciles Jews and Gentiles in one body, the Church (Eph 2:14).

2:20 Bathsheba's petition was not a small one, as she intimated; thus Solomon did not go back on his word to fulfill her request. It was not a small one because Christ the King was to come through Solomon, and not Adonijah (Mt 1:6). So this petition was a threat against the coming of the promised Messiah.

2:27 No prophecy of Scripture can fail to be fulfilled. 1Kg 2:31 prophesied the end of the priestly house of Eli. It came to an end about 150 years after that, for Abiathar was the last priest from Eli's house. Therefore, we should pay close attention to prophecies yet to be fulfilled, especially concerning the Second Coming of Christ.

2:32 Joab took vengeance into his own hands when he killed Abner and Amasa (2Kg 3:27; 20:9, 10). By doing this, Joab destroyed himself, for the one who exacts his own vengeance becomes worse than the one on whom he takes vengeance (JohnChr). "'Vengeance is Mine, I will repay,' says the Lord" (Rom 12:19; see also Lv 19:18; Dt 32:35). The vengeance taken on Joab by Solomon was at the Lord's direction, but we should avoid taking our own vengeance at all costs.

2:36 Discernment is the crown of the virtues and a fruit of wisdom. Wisdom is Christ Himself, for He gave Solomon his wisdom (1Co 1:24).

2:46–49 David the prophet prophesied the death of Shimei; therefore, the vengeance taken on him by Solomon was also at the Lord's direction.

2:59 This is a prophecy regarding the eternal reign and rule of Christ over His kingdom, for the promise God gave David was established in the Son of David.

2:64 Thermae means "hot baths."

3:1–3 This passage speaks prophetically to our times. Solomon loved the Lord, yet because there was no house built—no temple—the king and his subjects burned incense on the high places, that is, to false gods. Today, there are those who say they love Christ but stay outside the Church, and their destiny is to lapse into error.

3:4 The Lord who appeared to Solomon was the Son of God, for He is the Word of God the Father.

3:9–13 Solomon did not ask for long life, or riches, or the life of his enemies, for such things are of this world; therefore, God readily heard his prayer (JohnChr). Rather, he asked for virtues such as understanding and judgment, which belong to the crown of the virtues. These virtues enable one to "discern both good and evil" (Heb 5:13, 14).

3:27 Wisdom and justice go together, for there cannot be one without the other (AmbM).

5:11 The Mosaic Law commanded the sons of Israel not to marry foreign women (Ex 34:16; Dt 7:1–4). This commandment also prophesied the ultimate result of such marriages—namely, that these women would turn these sons to idolatry. Solomon transgressed the commandment by marrying the daughter of Pharaoh, and she, along with his many other foreign wives, ultimately turned his heart away from the Lord to serve other gods (ch. 11). Thus, disobedience to a seemingly minor commandment made him guilty of breaking the whole Law (Jam 2:10). Regardless of how wise a leader may be, all kingdoms in this world are only temporary, and will end because of some weakness in the leadership. Only the kingdom of Christ will endure forever.

5:29 It took three years to prepare the stones and the trees for building the temple. Similarly, the Lord spent three years preparing His apostles and people to form His Church.

6:2 The house was a type of the Church. The foundation stones speak of the twelve apostles, and Jesus Christ is the Chief Cornerstone (Eph 2:19, 20).

6:5 The completion of the house was according to every word and mandate of the king. Likewise, the completion of the Church is based on "every word that proceeds from the mouth of God" (Mt 4:4). His people live by these words.

6:11 The temple was built with stones finished at the quarry. When they brought them to the temple site, they fit. Speaking of the Church, St. Paul writes, "the whole building, being joined together, grows into a holy temple in the Lord" (Eph 2:21). Similarly, "you also, as living stones, are being built up a spiritual house" (1Pt 2:5). Christ Himself fashions these stones and brings them together.

6:19–21 The temple was made beautiful not as a show of riches, but because the Lord dwelled there (8:25; 9:3). St. Paul calls the Church "a dwelling place of God in the Spirit" (Eph 2:22).

6:22–36 Just as there were holy images in the temple, so in the churches from the earliest days, there were images or icons of Christ and His saints. We must not confuse the warning against idol worship (Ex 20:4, 5) with the presence of holy images in the Church and in the temple.

7:1, 2 As Hiram was filled with skill, wisdom, and understanding to offer his bronze work in the temple, so also the Holy Spirit gives His gifts to the Church for the "edifying of the body of Christ" (Eph 4:12).

8:1–11 The ark was a type of Mary, the Mother of God, and the tablets of the covenant within the ark were a type of Christ. For He was conceived in her holy womb by the Holy Spirit. In this conception, He took His life-giving flesh from her. His holy flesh is life-giving because He united it to His Divine Nature within His one Person. In baptism, we are united to His life-giving flesh in His death and Resurrection, and in the Eucharist we partake of His life-giving body and blood.

🕮 8:1, 3–7, 9–11 This passage is read on November 20 at Vespers for the Feast of the Entrance of the Theotokos into the Temple.

8:20–52 The New Testament counterpart of Solomon's prayer is the prayer of our Lord Jesus Christ in Jn 17, before His Passion, presenting the Church to His Father.

8:25 Solomon asked, But will God indeed dwell with men on earth? He answered in the negative only in relation to temples made with hands. However, the positive answer relates to the Incarnation, for God the Son was made flesh for our salvation: "The Word became flesh and dwelt among us" (Jn 1:14).

8:39–41 Does God hear the prayer of those not of His people when they come and pray in the temple? The answer is clear here, as it is in Acts 10:2–4, when the Lord hears the prayers of the not-yet-baptized Cornelius.

8:56 As he blesses the people, Solomon borrows from the promise in Dt 31:6, which is also repeated in Heb 13:5: May He not leave us nor forsake us.

8:64 The temple, open for worship, found the people eating, drinking, and rejoicing before the Lord. After the day of Pentecost, the people were again "in the temple," eating their food "with gladness and simplicity of heart" (Acts 2:46).

9:1–9 The Lord who appeared to Solomon was the Son and Word of God. This was His second appearance to him. (The first appearance was in 3:4–13.) In this second appearance, He gave Solomon a twofold message. First He gave an assurance: I have done for you everything in your prayer (v. 3). Everything the king asked for was given. But secondly came a warning: If you or your sons turn from Me (v. 6), I will cast from My sight this house (v. 7). While we come "boldly to the throne of grace" (Heb 4:16), we also confess, "It is a fearful thing to fall into the hands of the living God" (Heb 10:31). When we proclaim God's promises, we must also proclaim His warnings.

10:1–13 The coming of the queen of Sheba is a pinnacle for the children of Israel as the chosen people of God. This account illustrates perfectly what God had intended for Israel: to be a shining light among the nations, to draw all the surrounding heathen nations to itself for conversion, because of the manifestation of the righteousness and wisdom of God (see Gn 12:2; Ps 2:8). Sheba was a tribe of northern Arabs, descendants of Abraham (Gn 25:3), who had raided property owned by Job's son (Job 1:15). The queen challenged Solomon with hard questions and received satisfactory answers. She could see the Lord loved Israel, and she and Solomon exchanged numerous gifts.

10:23 All the stunning gold utensils and appointments described in this chapter were made possible from the outcome of the trading which Solomon carried on.

10:24 A tribute is a tax.

11:1–7 Solomon's downfall was his love for women. He had twice as many wives as concubines, many of them likely political marriages. God had clearly warned Israel not to intermarry with foreign women (Ex 34:16; Dt 7:1–4) for just the reason that defeated Solomon: he turned after their idols. At the height of his reign, he fell into evil in the sight of the Lord (v. 7).

11:10–12 In His displeasure, the Lord divided the kingdom, leaving Solomon with one tribe, Judah, later joined by Benjamin. These two tribes were commonly called the south or southern kingdom.

11:13 Two old enemies of Israel, Hadad of Edom and Rezon of Damascus, rose up against Solomon.

11:27–29 The prophet Ahijah tore his garment into twelve pieces for the twelve tribes of Israel. Jeroboam would receive ten (the northern kingdom). Rehoboam, Solomon's son and successor, would receive two (the southern kingdom).

11:30, 31 Solomon's idolatry divided his kingdom because the worship of false gods destroys unity. However, the southern kingdom was left for the sake of the Incarnation, for David's true Son would reign forever over His own unified kingdom.

12:5–7 The elders advised Rehoboam to be a servant to the people, but he rejected their counsel (v. 12) and accepted that of the young men (v. 13). This acceptance divided his kingdom, for Rehoboam would rather be a dictator than a servant. However, when Jesus the King took the form of a servant (Php 2:7), He taught us that the one who governs must be as one who serves (Lk 22:26). Godly service unites, for genuine humility characterizes the kingdom of God.

12:14 The Holy Spirit, "who spoke by the prophets" (Creed), spoke by the prophet Ahijah.

12:20 The word of God is the Son and Word of the Father, who spoke to the man of God. The prophet Shemaiah calls Him "the Lord" in v. 22, for He is one in essence and coequal with the Father.

12:23 The numbers here contradict those given in 14:1. According to some scholars, this was likely due to the error of a copyist.

12:24 In 11:23, Jeroboam's mother was said to be "a widow," but here she is said to be a prostitute. Apparently she was both.

12:30 The word of the Lord was with the prophet Ahijah. "The word" is the Son, and "the Lord" is the Father. Therefore, what is said by the prophet is from both the Father and the Son.

12:49 In 11:35, the Lord promised Jeroboam his kingdom would endure if he rejected idolatry and obeyed the Lord's commandments, as David had done. But Jeroboam deliberated and came to the wrong judgment. He feared the ten tribes would "return to the house of David" (v. 47). Deceived by his reasoning, he then rejected the Lord's promise and set up idolatrous worship. But unlike him, let us meditate and deliberate day and night in the Lord's commandments, and let us keep them so as to prosper (Ps 1).

13:6 Jeroboam humbled himself before the man of God and begged him to intercede before the Lord on his behalf. So the Lord honored his humility and restored his hand. Salvation begins and ends with humility (JohnChr), but Jeroboam's humility was short-lived; for he failed to worship the very Lord who showed him such mercy.

13:7–25 The man of God could not be enticed by the king's reward, because the Lord's commandment was clear that he was not to dine in that place, nor return the way he came. But the word of the old prophet clearly contradicted the Lord's commandment (v. 18). Deceived by this word, he followed the old prophet home (v. 19). His disobedience would cost him his life (vv. 22–25). This was an example of Heb 12:6: "For whom the Lord loves He chastens, and scourges every son whom He receives" (JohnCas). He was chastened so as not to "be condemned with the world" (1Co 11:32). However, Jeroboam, knowing all this, "did not turn from his evil way" (v. 32); thus he was condemned with the world.

14:1 The Lord chose to place His name in the city of Jerusalem (see also 8:14, 42; 11:33), where He first established His Church at Pentecost. The name He established there in the Church was that of the Father and the Son and the Holy Spirit, the name into which we are baptized (Mt 28:18–20).

14:2–4 Rehoboam and other kings like him in Judah and in Israel built other places of worship because they did not respect the Lord's name, which He established in Jerusalem. They were disobedient conspirators. They did not know the true God: Father, Son, and Holy Spirit.

14:10 Rehoboam and Jeroboam never knew peace, only war, for they did not know and obey the Author of peace, the Lord God of Israel.

15:3 David's heart was perfect toward the Lord his God because his heart was characterized by repentance when he sinned (Ps 50), and because he did everything the Lord commanded him (v. 5). However, Abijam's heart was not perfect toward the Lord his God because he was neither repentant toward Him nor obedient to Him.

15:28 The Lord who spoke by His servant Ahijah the Shilonite is the Holy Spirit.

16:7, 12, 42 The Lord who spoke by the prophets Jehu and Joshua is again the Holy Spirit.

16:24 Omri built Samaria, and eventually Gentiles inhabited the area and intermarried with the Jews. When Jesus lived in Palestine, Samaria was located between Judea and Galilee, but the Jews of Judea and Galilee would "have no dealings with Samaritans" (Jn 4:9). But Jesus did, for He revealed Himself as the Christ to the woman at the well (Jn 4:25, 26), and His story about the Good Samaritan is now very famous (Lk 10).

16:42 The Holy Spirit spoke by the prophet Joshua and warned against rebuilding the city of Jericho (Jos 6:16). Whoever would rebuild the city would lose his oldest and youngest sons. In Hiel's case, it was his sons Abiram and Segub. Thus we see Hiel's folly in disobeying the prophecy of Scripture (see also 2Pt 1:20, 21).

17:1 When prophets like Elijah prophesied, they did so in the Lord's name, for the Lord revealed the prophecy to them. However, when Jesus prophesied, He said, "I say to you," for He Himself is the Lord who revealed Himself to the Old Testament prophets.

17:2–5 The word is the Word and Son of God. It was He who commanded the ravens, and it was He whom Elijah obeyed. It was He with whom Elijah and Moses appeared on the Mount of Transfiguration (Mt 17:4).

🕮 17:8–24 This passage is read on Great and Holy Saturday.

17:10, 11 Elijah was very poor, but he made others rich, "for it is better to be rich for others than for oneself" (AmbM). While Elijah became poor to make the widow rich, Jesus became poor for the sake of many (2Co 8:9).

17:12, 13 The woman was threatened not only by poverty but by death itself, not only for herself but also for her son. But her faith in the Lord would overcome both (JohnChr).

17:14–16 The woman was greater in hospitality than Father Abraham. For he ran to his herd to fetch a calf and provided from his wealth. But this woman had nowhere to run to provide for the prophet (JohnChr). Neither the flour nor the oil ran out, because the Lord multiplied these things for the woman and her children. So too, when this same Lord multiplied the fish and the loaves, the multitude should have connected this with what He did for the widow (Mt 14; 15).

17:20 Elijah did not command the child to return from the dead. Rather, he cried out to the Lord to restore him. This same Lord also demonstrated His power over death after He became incarnate, especially when He trampled down death by His death and Resurrection (1Co 15:54, 55).

17:21 Elijah in a mystery stretched himself over the child three times, for the number three is a sacred number. It points to the Blessed and Holy Trinity and to the death, burial, and Resurrection of Christ. We are baptized in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Spirit, and we are united to Christ in His death, burial and Resurrection.

18:1, 12 The word is the Son of God, and the Spirit is the Holy Spirit. The Lord (v. 12) is the Father, for the Word is the Word of the Father, and the Spirit is the Spirit of the Father. Moreover, the Word is a Person, as indicated by the pronoun I, for the Word says, I will send rain on the earth; and this statement indicates the Word's divinity. Then too, "the Spirit" is a Person, which is indicated by the phrase, shall carry you.

18:2 So Elijah went, for he obeyed the Word and Son of God. Also after "the Word became flesh" (Jn 1:14), Elijah appeared with Him on the Mount of Transfiguration (Mt 17:3).

18:3, 12 The beginning point of wisdom in any person is the fear of the Lord (Ps 110:10; Pr 1:7). Obadiah feared the Lord from his youth, and he learned to fear the Lord greatly. Thus, he was well experienced in the Lord, and he feared the Lord more than he feared Ahab and Jezebel, which is shown by his hiding a hundred of the Lord's prophets (v. 4).

18:7 Obadiah's fear of the Lord is also shown by his deep respect for the prophet Elijah. We, too, show this same respect when we venerate his icon and the icon of the Transfiguration. Many Orthodox churches are named after St. Elijah, also known as St. Elias.

18:12, 14 Obadiah is not showing cowardice when he says, "But he will kill me." For he risked his life when he hid the hundred prophets of the Lord. Rather, his statement shows we should not put ourselves in harm's way needlessly. This was also true of the Lord Jesus: "After these things Jesus walked in Galilee; for He did not want to walk in Judea, because the Jews sought to kill Him" (Jn 7:1).

18:15, 16 Both Elijah and Obadiah were brave and courageous in the Lord. Elijah had no fear of appearing in the presence of Ahab, because he always stood in the presence of One greater than Ahab, namely, "the Lord of hosts." "For he was always eager to make himself fit to appear before God with a pure heart, and to submit to His will, and His will alone" (AthanG). Obadiah as well had no fear of telling Ahab that Elijah wanted to see him. Their courage is one of the four general virtues that produce all the other virtues.

18:17, 18 Elijah and Ahab obviously present two contradictory judgments. Which one was actually troubling Israel? It was time to settle things. For which is the true God in the eyes of Israel, the Lord or Baal? Was Elijah the true prophet, or were the 850 prophets of Baal? The answers would soon become evident (vv. 20–40).

18:19, 20 The 450 prophets were called prophets of shame because of their anger and wrath. For their worship was filled with passion (v. 28). But Elijah was free from this shame. "Let us free ourselves of this demon [of wrath]. At its first beginning, let us quench it. Let us put the sign of the cross on our breast, as it were a curb. Wrath is a shameless dog, but let it learn to hear the law of Christ" (JohnChr).

18:21 The people were indecisive about the true God, and their double-mindedness was destroying their souls. Is the true God Baal or the Lord? Baal was the name of a presiding deity in a community of deities; therefore, the worship of Baal included that of many gods. But if the presiding deity were overcome, so would all the rest be. The people would soon discover anew that the Lord is the one true God.

18:30–39 Fire and water are obviously opposed to one another. So if the Lord makes them operate in harmony and friendly cooperation, He is clearly the true God. The water filled the furrow, then the fire fell from heaven. In all this, Elijah proclaimed Christian baptism. "Now in this, by that marvelous sacrifice, Elijah clearly proclaimed to us the sacramental rite of Baptism that would be instituted by Christ. For the fire was kindled by water, poured out three times upon the sacrifice. Thus, it is clearly shown that where the mystic water is, there is the kindling, warm, and fiery Spirit of God, who burns up impurity, and illuminates the faithful" (GrgNy).

🕮 18:30–39 This passage is read at Vespers of the Feast of the Theophany of the Lord.

🕮 19:3–9, 11–13, 15, 16 This passage is read on August 6, the Feast of the Holy Transfiguration of Our Lord Jesus Christ.

19:4 Elijah was not attached to this transient life, for his vision was life in the world to come. “Holy men have often lamented their lengthy dwelling here” (AmbM). St. Paul also longed to depart to be with Christ (Php 1:21–24).

19:10 The children of Israel forsook the Lord because an angry and wrathful temper took hold of them, for God cannot be known in that kind of disposition. He can only be known in and through the virtues, such as gentleness.

19:11, 12 The Holy Spirit (a great and powerful wind) manifests His grace in a variety of ways in prayer. In some He “rends the mountains” of sinful passions and “shatters the rocks” of hardened hearts. In others He is like “an earthquake,” which is an inward sense of jubilation or exultation. Yet again in others, He is a nonmaterial fire. Finally, in others He is “a gentle breeze,” which occurs when Christ comes to dwell in the heart, as St. Paul said in Eph 3:17 (GrgSinai).

19:13 The Son of God (a Voice) came to Elijah, who called Him “the Lord Almighty” (v. 14) and “the Lord” (v. 15) Elijah was obedient to Him (v. 19).

19:18 Although God’s promises were made to the whole nation of Israel, only a remnant of seven thousand were saved in Elijah’s day. St. Paul calls these “a remnant according to the election of grace” (Rom 11:2–5). The apostle also points out that election is based on foreknowledge (Rom 8:29; 11:2), for the Lord knows ahead of time those who are worthy. “By saying ‘election,’ Paul showed their approval, and by saying ‘grace,’ he showed the gift of God” (JohnChr).

20:3 Naboth was a man of discernment, righteousness, courage, and self-control; therefore, he rejected Ahab’s request.

20:4 Ahab’s spirit was disturbed because his desire to purchase Naboth’s vineyard was frustrated. His frustrated desire produced anger and depression in him, and ultimately murder, for he lacked those virtues seen in Naboth.

20:20 Ahab sold himself to do evil, which he committed by his own free will, for he was not forced to sin by any necessity imposed on him by his human nature. Truly, like Ahab, we sell ourselves to commit sins by our own free choice, as St. Paul points out in Rom 7:14.

20:25 Nor did Ahab’s wife Jezebel force Ahab to sin, although she led him astray. For Ahab followed his wife’s advice because he willed it of his own free choice. In this choice, he was like Adam of old, who ate from the forbidden tree because he was deceived by Eve.

21:1–3 The son of Hadad the king of Syria was an icon of covetousness: Your silver and your gold are mine; your wives and your children are mine; therefore, the Lord was opposed to him. But only the Lord can deliver us from king covetousness (v. 13). Covetousness is one of the sinful passions that defiles a person (Mk 7:22, 23). In another place, Jesus warns, “Take heed and beware of covetousness, for one’s life does not consist in the abundance of the things he possesses” (Lk 12:15).

21:23 The king of Syria was an icon of a heretic, for his servants convinced him, saying, The God of Israel is a god of the mountains, and not a god of the valleys. For they believed God was circumscribed, and therefore limited and contained within creation. To refute this reasoning, the Lord delivered Israel from the king (v. 28). Thus, the Lord is at war with heresy because it opposes the salvation of mankind. He circumscribes His creation, yet He is present within it, seeking to save the lost. For although He is uncontained by creation, He became incarnate to save it.

22:10 The king of Israel and the king of Judah were sitting on their thrones, but the Lord was also sitting on His throne, reigning over the affairs of men (v. 19). All the host of heaven were also around His throne. The Lord then sent “a deceiving spirit” (v. 22) to deceive Ahab through all his false prophets. But there was only one true prophet among them, Micaiah. Likewise, throughout Church history there have been many false prophets and a few true ones: “Beloved, do not believe every spirit, but test the spirits, whether they are of God; because many false prophets have gone out into the world” (1Jn 4:1). Since biblical times, the true prophets are the Holy Fathers of the Church, who have handed down the true teachings of the Holy Scriptures to us.

Ahaziah Judged by God

1 After the death of Ahab, Moab reneged on its covenant with Israel. 2 Now Ahaziah fell through the lattice of his upper room in Samaria and was injured. He sent messengers, telling them, “Go, inquire of Baal-Zebub, god of Ekron, whether I shall recover from this injury.” And they went to inquire of him. 3 But the Angel of the Lord said to Elijah the Tishbite, “Arise, go and meet the messengers of Ahaziah, the king of Samaria, and say to them, ‘Is it because there is no God in Israel that you are going to inquire of Baal-Zebub god of Ekron? 4 This is not true,’ says the Lord, ‘and you shall not come down from the bed to which you have gone up, but you shall surely die.’ ”

So Elijah went and told them. 5 When the messengers returned to the king, he asked them, “Why did you return?” 6 They said to him, “A man came up to meet us, and said to us, ‘Go, return to the king who sent you, and say to him, “Thus says the Lord: ‘Is it because there is no God in Israel that you are going to inquire of Baal-Zebub god of Ekron? This is not true. You shall not come down from the bed to which you have gone up, but you shall surely die.’ ” ’ ” 7 Then the king said to them, “What were the distinguishing marks of the man who came up to meet you and told you these words?” 8 They answered him, “A hairy man wearing a leather belt around his waist.”

And he said, “It is Elijah the Tishbite.” 9 Then the king sent to him a captain of fifty with his fifty men. So he went up to him; and there was Elijah, sitting on the top of a hill. And he spoke to him, “Man of God, the king summoned you. Come down!” 10 Elijah answered and said to the captain of fifty, “If I am a man of God, then fire will come down from heaven and consume you and your fifty men.” And fire came down from heaven and consumed the captain of fifty and his fifty. 11 Then the king again sent to him another captain of fifty with his fifty men. He answered and said to him, “Man of God, the king said, ‘Come down quickly!’ ” 12 So Elijah answered and spoke to him, “If I am a man of God, fire will come down from heaven and consume you and your fifty men.” The fire of God came down from heaven and consumed him and his fifty. 13 Then the king sent yet a third captain of fifty with his fifty men. The third captain of fifty went up, and came and fell on his knees before Elijah and pleaded with him, and said to him, “Man of God, please let my life and the life of these fifty servants of yours be precious in your sight. [14]Look, fire came down from heaven and burned up the first two captains of fifties with their fifties. But let my life now be precious in your sight.”

[15]The Angel of the Lord said to Elijah, “Go down with him; do not be afraid of him.” So he arose and went down with him to the king. [16]Then Elijah spoke to him and said, “Thus says the Lord: ‘Why did you send captains with fifty messengers to inquire? It shall not be so. You shall not come down from the bed to which you have gone up, but you shall surely die.’ ” [17]So he died according to the word of the Lord which Elijah spoke. [18]Now the rest of the acts Ahaziah did, are these not written in the Book of the Chronicles of the kings of Israel?

Jehoram King of Israel

[19]Jehoram, the son of Ahab, reigned over Israel in Samaria twelve years, beginning in the eighteenth year of Jehoshaphat, king of Judah. [20]He did evil before the Lord, but not as his brothers nor as his mother. [21]He removed the pillars of Baal which his father made and broke them into pieces; nevertheless, he was joined to the sins of the house of Jeroboam, which caused Israel to sin. He did not remove himself from them. [22]The Lord in anger was furious against the house of Ahab.

Elijah Caught Up to Heaven

[1]As the time came to be for the Lord to take up Elijah into heaven by a whirlwind, Elijah and Elisha went from Gilgal. [2]Then Elijah said to Elisha, “Stay here, please, for the Lord sent me to Bethel.” But Elisha said, “As the Lord lives, and as your soul lives, I will not leave you!” So they went to Bethel. [3]Now the sons of the prophets at Bethel came out to Elisha, and said to him, “Do you know that this day the Lord will take away your master from over your head?” And he said, “I know. Please be silent!”

[4]Then Elijah said to him, “Elisha, stay here, please, for the Lord sent me to Jericho.” But he said, “As the Lord lives, and as your soul lives, I will not leave you!” And they went to Jericho. [5]Now the sons of the prophets in Jericho came to Elisha and said to him, “Do you know that this day the Lord will take away your master from over your head?” So he answered, “I know, please be silent!” [6]Then Elijah said to him, “Stay here, please, for the Lord sent me on to the Jordan.” But Elisha said, “As the Lord lives, and as your soul lives, I will not leave you!” So both of them went on. [7]Fifty men of the sons of the prophets went and stood facing them at a distance, while the two of them stood by the Jordan. [8]Now Elijah took his mantle, rolled it up, and struck the water. The water divided this way and that, and the two of them crossed on dry ground.

[9]So it was that during the time they crossed over, Elijah said to Elisha, “Ask what I may do for you, before I am taken away from you.” Elisha said, “Please let a double portion of your spirit be upon me.” [10]So Elijah said, “You have asked a hard thing. If you see me when I am taken up from you, it shall be so for you; and if not, it shall not be so.” [11]Thus it came to be, as they walked and continued to talk, behold a chariot of fire appeared with horses of fire, and the fire separated them one from the other; and Elijah was taken up into heaven by a whirlwind.

[12]Then Elisha saw it and cried aloud, “Father, O father, the chariot of Israel and its horsemen!” He saw Elijah no more, and he took hold of his own clothes and tore them into two pieces. [13]Then he raised Elijah’s mantle, which fell from Elijah and upon Elisha, and Elisha returned and stood on the bank of the River Jordan. [14]He took Elijah’s mantle which had fallen upon him and struck the water, but it did not divide. Then he said, “Where is the Lord God of Elijah himself?” And he struck the water again, and it divided this way and that. So Elisha crossed over. [15]When the sons of the prophets in Jericho met him and saw him, they said, “The spirit of Elijah rests on Elisha.” And they came to meet him and bowed to the ground before him. [16]They said to him, “Look! There are fifty men of power with your servants. Please let them go and search for your master, lest perhaps the Spirit of the Lord took him up and cast him into the Jordan or onto one of the mountains or onto one of the hills.” Elisha said, “Send no one.” [17]But they urged him till he was ashamed, and he said, “Send them!” They sent fifty men and searched for three days, but did not find him. [18]They came back to where Elisha stayed in Jericho. And he said to them, “Did I not say to you, ‘Do not go’?”

Elisha Works Miracles

[19]Then the men of the city said to Elisha, “Behold, as my lord can see, this city is a pleasant place to live, but the water is bad, and the ground is barren.”

[20]So Elisha said, “Bring me a new water pitcher and put salt in it.” So they brought it to him. [21]Then he went out to the spring of the waters and cast salt into it, and said, “Thus says the Lord: ‘I have healed these waters; from them there shall no longer be death or barrenness.’ ” [22]So the water was healed by the word Elisha spoke, and so it remains today.

[23]From there he went up to Bethel. Along the way some young boys came from the city who continued teasing him by saying, “Go up, baldy, go up!” [24]So Elisha turned around and stared at them. He then cursed them in the name of the Lord, and two female bears came out of the woods and mauled forty-two of the boys. [25]From there he went to Mount Carmel, and from there he returned to Samaria.

Israel and Moab at War

[1]Jehoram the son of Ahab became king over Israel in the eighteenth year of Jehoshaphat king of Judah, and he reigned for twelve years. [2]He did evil in the eyes of the Lord, but not like his father and mother, for he removed the sacred pillars of Baal his father built. [3]But still he persisted in the sin of Jeroboam the son of Nebat, who caused Israel to sin; he did not depart from it.

[4]Now Mesha king of Moab was a herdsman, and in the beginning of the year he regularly paid tribute to the king of Israel, one hundred thousand lambs and the wool of one hundred thousand rams. [5]But when Ahab died, the king of Moab rebelled against the king of Israel. [6]So King Jehoram went out of Samaria at that time and inspected all Israel. [7]Then he went and sent to Jehoshaphat king of Judah, saying, “The king of Moab rebelled against me. Will you go with me to fight against Moab?” And he said, “I will go. I am as you are, my people as your people, my horses as your horses.” [8]Then he said, “Which way shall we go up?” And he answered, “By way of the Desert of Edom.”

[9]So the king of Israel went with the king of Judah and the king of Edom, and this roundabout march took them seven days to complete. There was no water for the army or for the animals that went with them. [10]And the king of Israel said, “Alas! That the Lord should call these three kings together only to deliver them into the hand of Moab.” [11]But Jehoshaphat said, “Is there no prophet of the Lord here, that we may inquire of the Lord by him?" So one of the servants of the king of Israel answered and said, "Elisha the son of Shaphat, who poured water on Elijah's hands, is here." [12]And Jehoshaphat said, "He has the word of the Lord." So the king of Israel and Jehoshaphat and the king of Edom went down to him. [13]Elisha said to the king of Israel, "What have I to do with you? Go to the prophets of your father." But the king of Israel said to him, "No, has the Lord called these three kings together to deliver them into the hands of Moab?" [14]And Elisha said, "As the Lord of hosts lives, before whom I stand, surely were it not that I regard the presence of Jehoshaphat king of Judah, I would not look at you nor see you. [15]But now bring me a harpist."

When the harpist played, the hand of the Lord came upon him. [16]And he said, "Thus says the Lord: 'Fill this valley with ditches.' [17]For Thus says the Lord: 'You shall not see wind, nor shall you see rain; yet that valley shall be filled with water, so that you, your beasts, and your cattle may drink.' [18]And this is easy in the eyes of the Lord. Then I will deliver Moab into your hand. [19]Thus you shall attack every fortified city; you shall cut down every good tree; you shall stop up every spring of water, and ruin every good piece of land with stones." [20]Now when the grain offering was offered in the morning, behold water came from the direction of Edom, and the land was filled with water.

[21]All the Moabites heard that the kings had come up to wage war against them. All those being able to bear armor and older uttered loud cries and stood at the border. [22]The Moabites rose early in the morning, when the sun was shining on the water. They saw the water on the other side being as red as blood. [23]So they said, "This is blood. The kings have surely struck swords and have killed one another. Now Moab, to the spoils!"

[24]They entered the camp of Israel; and Israel rose and smote Moab, and they fled before them. They pursued them and killed the Moabites as they went. [25]They razed the cities, and each man threw a stone on every good piece of land and filled it; they stopped every spring; cut down all the good trees, leaving only the stones of the wall; and they pulled down the sling-throwers that surrounded them and broke them. [26]When the king of Moab saw that the battle was too fierce for him, he took seven hundred men with him who drew swords, to break through to the king of Edom. But they could not. [27]Then he took his firstborn son who would rule in his place, and up against the wall they offered him up as a burnt offering. Then a great remorse came upon Israel, and they departed from him and turned back toward their land.

Elisha and the Poor Widow's Oil

1The wife of one of the sons of the prophets cried out to Elisha, saying, "Your servant my husband is dead, and you know your servant feared the Lord, and the creditor is coming to take my two sons to be his servants." 2Elisha said to her, "What shall I do for you? Tell me what you have in the house." She replied, "Your maidservant has nothing in the house but the oil I use to anoint myself." 3Then he said, "Go, borrow vessels from everywhere, from all your neighbors, empty vessels; do not gather just a few. 4And you shall go in and shut the door behind yourself and your sons. Then you shall pour out into these vessels, and take away what is being filled."

5So she went from him and did so. She shut the door behind herself and her sons. Then they brought the vessels to her, and she poured 6until the vessels were filled. And she said to her son, "Bring me an additional vessel." And they said to her, "There is not another vessel." So the oil ceased. 7Then she came and told the man of God. And Elisha said, "Go, sell the oil and pay your debt. Thus you and your sons shall live by means of the rest of the oil."

Elisha Raises the Shunammite Woman's Son

8Now one day Elisha went to Shunem, where there was a persuasive woman, and she persuaded him to eat some food. So it was, as often as he passed by, he would turn in there to eat some food. 9And the woman said to her husband, "Look now, I know this is a holy man of God who comes to us regularly. 10Let us make a small room upstairs; and let us put a bed for him there, with a table, a stool, a chair, and a lamp stand. And it shall be when he comes to us, he will turn aside into this place." 11Now it happened one day that he came and he went there, and turned aside into the upper room and lay down there. 12Then he said to his servant, Gehazi, "Call this Shunammite woman." He called her, and she stood before him. 13And he said to Gehazi, "Say now to her, 'Hear me. You have shown us all this care. What can I do for you? Do you have any request for the king or the commander of the army?' " But she answered, "I dwell among my own people."

14So Elisha said, “What then is to be done for her?” And his servant, Gehazi, replied, “She certainly has no son, and her husband is old.” 15Then Elisha called her, and she stood by the door. 16And Elisha said, “About this time next year, you shall embrace a son.” So she said, “No, my lord, do not lie to your maidservant!” 17Then as Elisha told her, the woman conceived, and she bore a son when the appointed time came. 18And the child grew.

And it came to pass when he went out to his father to the reaping, 19that he said to his father, “My head, my head!” His father said to a servant, “Carry him to his mother.” 20So he carried him to his mother, and he lay upon her knees till noon and died. 21She took him up and laid him on the bed of the man of God. She went out and closed the door as she left. 22She called to her husband and said, “Please bring to me one of the young men and one of the donkeys. I will ride quickly to the man of God and come back.” 23So he said, “Why go to him today? It is neither the New Moon nor the Sabbath.” And she replied, “It is well.”

24She saddled the donkey and said to her servant, “Lead onward and do not slacken the pace for me unless I tell you.” 25She rode and came to the man of God at Mount Carmel. And when the man of God saw her, he said to his servant Gehazi, “Look, it is that Shunammite woman! 26Please run now to meet her and say to her, ‘Is it well with you? Is it well with your husband? Is it well with the child?’ ” And she answered, “Peace.” 27Now she came to the man of God on the hill and took hold of him by the feet, but Gehazi came near to push her away. But the man of God said, “Leave her alone; for her soul is in deep distress, and the Lord hid it from me and did not tell me.” 28So she said, “Did I ask my lord for a son? Did I not tell you not to deceive me?”

29Then Elisha said to Gehazi, “Prepare yourself, take my staff in your hand and be on your way. If you meet anyone, you will not greet him. And if anyone greets you, you will not answer him. You shall lay my staff on the face of the child.” 30Then the mother of the child said, “As the Lord lives, and as your soul lives, I will not leave you.” So Elisha arose and followed her. 31Now Gehazi went on ahead of them and laid the staff on the child’s face; but there was neither voice nor hearing. So he went back to meet him, and told him, saying, “The child is not awakened.”

32Elisha went into the house, and there was the child, lying dead on his bed. 33He went into the room and shut the door against the other two, and prayed to the Lord. 34Then he went up and lay on the child, and put his mouth on his mouth, his eyes on his eyes, and his hands on his hands; and he bowed himself down upon him, and the flesh of the child warmed. 35He returned and walked back and forth in the house, and he went up and bowed himself down upon the child seven times, and the child opened his eyes. 36Then Elisha called Gehazi and said, “Call this Shunammite woman.” So he called her. And she came to where he was and he said, “Take your son.” 37So she went in, fell at his feet, and bowed to the ground. Then she took her son and went out.

The Other Miracles

38Then Elisha returned to Gilgal, and there was a famine in the land. Now the sons of the prophets were sitting before him; and Elisha said to his servant, “Put on the large pot and boil some pottage for the sons of the prophets.” 39So one went out into the field to gather herbs, and found a wild vine and gathered from it a lapful of wild gourds, and threw them into the pot of soup, though they did not know what they were. 40Then they served it to the men to eat. Now, as they were eating the vegetables, they cried out and said, “Man of God, there is death in the pot!” And they could not eat it. 41So he said, “Take wheat flour and throw it in the pot.” Then Elisha said to his servant Gehazi, “Serve it to the people and let them eat.” Thus there was no longer anything harmful in the pot.

42Then a man came from Baal-Shalisha and brought to the man of God the firstfruits, twenty loaves of barley bread and fruit cake. And he said, “Give it to the people and let them eat.” 43But his servant said, “Why shall I set this before one hundred men?” Elisha said, “Give it to the people and let them eat, for Thus says the Lord: ‘They shall eat and will leave some behind.’ ” 44So they ate and had some left over, according to the word of the Lord.

Naaman Cured of Leprosy

1Now Naaman, commander of the army of Syria, was a great and honorable man in the eyes of his master, because by him the Lord gave victory to Syria. The man was mighty in strength and valor, but a leper. 2And the Syrians, lightly armed, had gone out on raids and brought back captive a young girl from the land of Israel. She waited on Naaman’s wife. 3Then she said to her mistress, “If only my master were with the prophet of God in Samaria! For he would expel his leprosy from him.” [4]And she went in and told her master, saying, “This is what the girl from the land of Israel said.” [5]Then the king of Syria said to Naaman, “Go now, and I will send a letter to the king of Israel.” So he departed and took with him ten talents of silver, six thousand gold shekels, and ten changes of clothing. [6]Then he brought the letter to the king of Israel, which said, “Now be advised, when this letter comes to you, that I am sending Naaman my servant to you, so that you may heal him of his leprosy.”

[7]And it came to pass, when the king of Israel read the letter, he tore his clothes and said, “Am I God, able to kill and make alive, to heal this man of his leprosy that this man sends to me? You perceive and see that this man is using this as a pretext for a quarrel with me.” [8]When Elisha the man of God heard the king of Israel had torn his clothes, he sent notice to the king, saying, “Why have you torn your clothes? Let Naaman come to me, and he shall know there is a prophet in Israel.”

[9]Then Naaman went with his horses and chariot and stood at the door of Elisha’s house. [10]And Elisha sent a messenger to him, saying, “Go and bathe in the Jordan seven times, and your flesh shall be restored to you, and you shall be clean.” [11]But Naaman became furious and went away, saying, “Indeed, I told myself that Elisha would come out to greet me; that he would stand and call on the name of his God; and that he would put his hand upon the place and heal the leprosy. [12]Are not the Abanah and the Pharpar, the rivers of Damascus, better than all the waters of Israel? Can I not bathe in them and be clean?” So he turned and went away in a rage.

[13]Then his servants approached and said to him, “If the prophet were to tell you to do something great, would you not complete it? But here the prophet said to you, ‘Bathe and be clean.’ ” [14]So Naaman went down and dipped seven times in the Jordan, according to Elisha’s instruction, and his flesh was restored like the flesh of a little child, and he was cleansed. [15]Then he, with all his aides, returned to Elisha and came and stood before him; and he said, “Indeed, now I have come to know that in all the earth there is no God except the God of Israel. Now accept the gift of your servant.” [16]But Elisha said, “As the Lord lives before whom I stand, I will receive nothing.” Again he urged him to take it, but he refused. [17]So Naaman said, “If not, then, please let your servant be given two mule-loads of red earth; for your servant will no longer offer either burnt offering or sacrifice to other gods, but to the Lord alone. [18]And let the Lord be merciful with your servant: when my master goes there, to the house of Rimmon, to worship, he will rely on my hand, and I will worship in the house of Rimmon. In the worship in the house of Rimmon, may the Lord be merciful to your servant in this matter." [19]Then Elisha said to Naaman, "Go in peace."

He departed from him but a short distance. [20]Then Gehazi, the servant of Elisha, said, "Behold, my master spared this Syrian Naaman, yet from his hand he received nothing of what he brought; but as the Lord lives, I will run after him and take something of his." [21]So Gehazi pursued Naaman. When Naaman saw him running after him, he turned from the chariot to meet him. [22]And Gehazi said, "Peace. My master sent me saying, 'Indeed, just now two young men of the sons of the prophets came to me from the mountains of Ephraim. Give them a talent of silver and two changes of garments.' " [23]Then Naaman said, "Take two talents of silver." So Gehazi took two talents of silver in two bags, with two changes of garments, and handed them to two of his servants. They left and carried them on ahead of him. [24]As they entered into the darkness, he took them from their hands and stored them in the house. He then dismissed the men. [25]Now he went in and stood before his master. And Elisha said to him, "From where have you come, Gehazi?" And he said, "Your servant did not go anywhere."

[26]Then Elisha said to him, "Did not my heart go with you when the man turned back from his chariot to meet you? And now you received the silver and the garments, and it shall happen that you shall receive from him gardens and olive groves and vineyards and sheep and oxen and men-servants and handmaidens. [27]And the leprosy of Naaman shall also cling to you and your seed forever." Thus he went out from his presence leprous, like snow.

The Floating Ax Head

[1]Then the sons of the prophets said to Elisha, "See now, the strip of land where we dwell with you is too narrow for us. [2]Please let us go to the River Jordan, and let every man take a log and build there a dwelling place." So he answered, "Go."

[3]And one of them humbly requested, "Come with your servants." And he replied, "I will go." [4]Then he went with them, and they came to the River Jordan and began to cut trees. [5]But as one man was cutting a log, the iron ax head fell into the water. He cried out and said, “Alas, master, it was borrowed.” [6]So the man of God said, “Where did it fall?” And he showed him the place. So he broke off a stick of wood and threw it in the water at the same place; and the iron ax head rose to the surface. [7]Then Elisha said, “Raise it up to yourself.” So he reached down into the water and lifted it out.

Defeat of Syria

[8]Now the king of Syria was making war against Israel; and he consulted with his servants, saying, “I shall encamp in this specific place.” [9]Then Elisha sent word to the king of Israel, saying, “Be careful not to pass this place, for the Syrians are hidden there.” [10]In response, the king of Israel sent someone to this place which Elisha warned about, and thereby kept careful watch over the Syrians on more than two occasions. [11]As a result, the king of Syria became troubled as to what was happening. He called his officers and said to them, “Will you not tell me who gives advance warning of our movements to the king of Israel?” [12]And one of his officers said, “No one, O lord my king. It is Elisha the prophet in Israel that tells the words you speak in your bedroom to the king of Israel.” [13]So he said, “Go, see where this man is, and I will send and kidnap him.”

They sent word to him, saying, “Behold, he is in Dothan.” [14]So he sent horses and chariots and a great army that arrived at night to surround the city. [15]When Elisha’s servant arose early and went out, the army was there, surrounding the city with horses and chariots. And his servant said to him, “O master, what shall we do?” [16]So he answered, “Do not fear, for those who are with us are greater in number than those who are with them.” [17]Then Elisha prayed, and said, “Lord, open the eyes of the servant and let him see.” And the Lord opened the eyes of the young man, and he was now able to see, and he beheld the mountain full of horses and chariots of fire round about Elisha.

[18]Then the Syrians marched toward him, and Elisha prayed to the Lord and said, “Strike these people with blindness.” And He struck them with blindness according to the word of Elisha. [19]So Elisha said to them, “This is not the city nor is this the way to it. Follow me, and I will bring you to the man you seek.” But he led them away to Samaria. [20]So it came to be when they arrived in Samaria, Elisha said, “Lord, open their eyes and let them see.” Thus the Lord completely restored their ability to see. And behold, they were in the midst of Samaria.

[21]Now when the king of Israel saw them, he said to Elisha, “O father, shall

I not strike to kill them?” 22But he answered, “You shall not kill them. Would you kill those whom you took captive with your sword and your bow? Set food and water before them, that they may eat and drink and return to their lord.” 23Then he prepared a great feast for them, and after they ate and drank, he dismissed them and they departed to their lord. So lightly armed raiding parties of Syrians no longer came into the land of Israel.

Syria Besieges Samaria

24And it came to pass that after this, the son of Hadad king of Syria gathered all the troops of his army and went up and besieged Samaria. 25There was a great famine in Samaria. Indeed they besieged it even to the point where the value placed on the head of a donkey was fifty shekels of silver, and two quarts of dove droppings cost five shekels of silver. 26As the king of Israel was passing by on the wall, a woman cried out to him, saying, “Save me, my lord, O king!” 27And he said, “If the Lord does not save you from the threshing floor or from the winepress, how can I save you?” 28Then the king said to her, “What is troubling you?” And she answered, “This woman said to me, ‘Give us your son so that we may eat him today, and we will eat my son tomorrow.’ 29So we boiled my son and ate him. And on the next day I told her, ‘Give me your son so that we may eat him,’ but she hid her son.”

30Now when the king heard the woman’s words, he tore his clothes, and as he passed by on the wall, the people saw that underneath his clothes he wore sackcloth on his body. 31Then he said, “God do so to me and more also, if the head of Elisha remains on him today.”

32Now Elisha was sitting in his house, and the elders were sitting with him, when the king sent a man ahead of him. But before the messenger came to him, he said to the elders, “Do you see that this son of a murderer was sent to take away my head? Look, when the messenger comes, shut the door, and keep him on the outside of the door. Is that not the sound of his master’s feet behind him?” 33While yet talking with them, behold the messenger came down towards him; and the king said, “Listen! This evil is of the Lord, so why should I remain patient in the Lord?”

4 Kingdoms 7

[1]Then Elisha said, “Hear the word of the Lord. Thus says the Lord: ‘About this time tomorrow, at the gate of Samaria a measure of fine flour will be sold for a shekel, and for a shekel, two measures of barley.’ ” [2]So the officer on whose hand the king relied retorted to Elisha and said, “Look, even if the Lord in heaven will make a downpour of rain, this event shall not happen.” And Elisha said, “Behold, you shall see this with your own eyes, but you shall not eat of it.”

The Syrian Army Flees

[3]Now at the entrance of the gate there were four leprous men. And one of them said to his neighbor, “Why are we sitting here until we die? [4]If we say, ‘Let us go into the city,’ and there is famine in the city, we will die there. And if we sit here in this place, then we will die. Now therefore, come, let us surrender to the army of the Syrians. If they keep us alive, we shall live; and if they kill us, we shall die.” [5]So they rose in the darkness to head to the army camp of the Syrians. They entered the outskirts of the army camp and no one was there. [6]For the Lord had caused the army of Syria to hear the noise of chariots and the noise of horses, the noises of a very great army. For the Lord made the army of Syria say to one another, “Look, the king of Israel hired against us the kings of the Hittites and the kings of the Egyptians to attack us!” [7]So they arose in the darkness and quietly fled for their lives, leaving their tents, their horses, and their donkeys at the campsite.

[8]And when these lepers came to the outskirts of the camp, they went into one tent and ate and drank, and carried away from it silver and gold and clothing. Then they left and came back to enter another tent to take from there and to hide the spoils. [9]And one said to the others, “This is not right. This day is a day of good news, and if we remain silent and wait until the light of morning, we will find wickedness in the city. Now come here! Let us enter the city and deliver this good news to the house of the king.” [10]So they went and cried out with a loud voice toward the gate of the city, and proclaimed to them, saying, “We entered the army camp of Syria and behold, no one was there, not a man nor a human voice. The only things there were the tied-up horses and donkeys, and their tents, which they left intact.”

[11]Then the gatekeepers shouted the news, and it was reported to the house of the king inside. [12]So the king arose in the night and said to his servants, “Now I will inform you as to what the Syrians are doing. They know we are hungry. Therefore they went out of the camp to hide themselves in the field, saying, ‘When they come out of the city, we shall catch them alive and capture the city.’ ”

13Then one of his servants answered and said, “Indeed! Let them now take five of the remaining horses, of all that remain of the multitude of Israel, and send them there to see.” 14Therefore they saddled two horses, and the king of Israel sent them after the king of Syria, saying, “Go and see.” 15And they went after them even to the Jordan. Indeed all along the way, the road was full of garments and vessels which the Syrians themselves cast away in the panic. So the messengers returned and brought word to the king. 16Then the people went out and plundered the army camp of Syria. And a measure of fine flour sold for a shekel, and two measures of barley for a shekel, true to the word of the Lord.

17Now the king had appointed the officer, the one on whose hand the king relied, to have charge of the gate. But the people trampled him in the gate, and he died, as the man of God said who spoke when the king came down to him. 18So it happened just as Elisha said to the king, saying, “Two measures of barley for a shekel, and a measure of fine flour for a shekel, shall be sold tomorrow about this time in the gate of Samaria.” 19Then the officer had answered Elisha with this retort, “Look, even if the Lord in heaven should make a downpour of rain, this sort of thing would never happen.” Then Elisha had answered, “In fact, you shall see it with your eyes, but you shall not eat of it.” 20And so it was in this way; for the people trampled him in the gate, and he died.

The Shunammite Woman Returns Home

1Elisha spoke to the woman whose son he had restored to life saying, “Arise and go, you and your household, and stay wherever you can; for the Lord called for a famine on the land, and it will come upon the land for seven years.” 2So the woman arose, and both she and her house did according to the saying of Elisha. They sojourned in the land of the Philistines for seven years.

3At the end of seven years, the woman returned from the land of the Philistines and went to make an appeal to the king for her house and for her land. 4Now the king spoke to Gehazi, the servant of Elisha, saying, “Tell me all the significant deeds Elisha has accomplished.” 5And it came pass, as he was telling the king how Elisha restored her dead son to life, behold the woman whose son Elisha had restored to life came crying to the king for her house and for her land. And Gehazi said, “My lord, O king, this is the woman, and this is her son whom Elisha restored to life.” 6So the king asked the woman, and she related this fully to him. Then the king told a certain eunuch, saying, “Restore all that was hers, and all the proceeds of the field from the day she left the land until now.”

Death of the Syrian King

7Then Elisha went to Damascus at a time when the son of Hadad the king of Syria was sick. And they brought word to him saying, “The man of God is here.” 8And the king said to Hazael, “Take in your hand a present and go to meet the man of God, and inquire of the Lord by him, asking, ‘Shall I recover from this disease?’ ” 9So Hazael went to meet him. In his hand, he took a present plus all the good things of Damascus, forty camel-loads, and he came and stood before him and said, “Your son the king of Syria, the son of Hadad, sent me to ask you whether he would recover from this disease.”

10So Elisha said to him, “Go tell him, ‘You shall live.’ However, the Lord made known to me that he will die by being put to death.” 11The man of God wept and sat there until he was ashamed, then he stood up in the presence of Hazael. 12At this Hazael said, “Why does my lord weep?” He answered, “Because I know the evil you will do to the sons of Israel. You will utterly destroy their strongholds with fire, and you will kill their young men with the sword. You will dash their children and rip open their pregnant women.” 13Then Hazael said, “What is your servant that I should do such a thing, a dead dog?” Elisha answered, “The Lord has shown me that you will become king over Syria.”

14Then he departed from Elisha and came to his lord, who said to him, “What did Elisha say to you?” And he answered, “He told me you will live.” 15But on the next day, Hazael took a thick cloth and dipped it in water, and spread it over the face of the king, the son of Hadad, and he died. Hazael reigned in his place.

Jehoram Is King of Judah

16Now in the fifth year of Joram, the son of Ahab, king of Israel, Joram, the son of Jehoshaphat, king of Judah, began to reign. 17He was thirty-two years old when he became king, and he ruled for eight years in Jerusalem.

18 And he walked in the way of the kings of Israel, just as the house of Ahab had done, for the daughter of Ahab was his wife; and he did evil in the eyes of the Lord. 19 Yet the Lord would not destroy Judah for the sake of his servant David, as He promised to give a lamp to him and his sons forever.

20 In his days, Edom revolted against Judah's authority and made a king over themselves. 21 So Joram went to Seir with all his chariots, and it came to be, after he raised his troops, he struck Edom and the captains of the chariots who had encircled him. The people fled to their tents. 22 Even so, Edom revolted from being subordinate to the authority of Judah to this day. At the same time Libnah revolted as well. 23 Behold, the rest of the acts of Joram, and everything he did, are these not written in the Book of the Chronicles of the kings of Judah? 24 So Joram rested with his fathers, and was buried with his fathers in the City of David his father. Then Ahaziah his son reigned in his place.

Ahaziah Is King of Judah

25 In the twelfth year of Joram the son of Ahab, king of Israel, Ahaziah the son of Jehoram began to reign. 26 Ahaziah was twenty-two years old when he became king, and he ruled for one year in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Athaliah the granddaughter of Omri, king of Israel. 27 And he walked in the way of the house of Ahab and did evil in the eyes of the Lord, like the house of Ahab.

28 Now he went with Joram the son of Ahab to war against Hazael king of Syria at Ramoth Gilead; and the Syrians wounded Joram. 29 Then King Joram went back to Jezreel to recover from the wounds the Syrians inflicted on him at Ramah, where he fought against Hazael king of Syria. And Ahaziah the son of Jehoram, king of Judah, went down to see Joram the son of Ahab in Jezreel, because he was sick.

Jehu Is King of Israel

1 Then Elisha the prophet called one of the sons of the prophets and said to him, "Prepare yourself, take this flask of oil in your hand, and go to Ramoth Gilead. 2 Now when you arrive at that place, look there for Jehu the son of Jehoshaphat, the son of Nimshi, and go in and awaken him from among his brethren, and take him to the innermost chamber. [3]Then take the flask of oil, pour it on his head, and say, ‘Thus says the Lord: “I have anointed you king over Israel.” Then open the door and flee, and do not delay.” [4]So the young man, the prophet, went to Ramoth Gilead. [5]When he arrived where the captains of the army were sitting, he said, “I have a message for you, O captain.” Jehu said, “For which one of us?” And he said, “For you, O captain.” [6]Then he arose and went into the house. And he poured the oil on his head, and said to him, “Thus says the Lord God of Israel, ‘I have anointed you king over the people of the Lord, over Israel. [7]You shall destroy the house of Ahab your master, that I may avenge the blood of My servants the prophets and the blood of all the servants of the Lord at the hand of Jezebel [8]and by the hand of all the house of Ahab, and you shall cut off from the house of Ahab every male held captive, those looked after and those in solitary confinement. [9]Then I will deliver the house of Ahab, like the house of Jeroboam the son of Nebat and like the house of Baasha the son of Ahijah. [10]The dogs shall eat Jezebel on the plot of ground at Jezreel, and there shall be no one to bury her.’ ” And he opened the door and fled.

[11]Then Jehu came out to the servants of his master, and they said to him, “Peace to you. Why did this possessed man come to you?” And he said to them, “You know the man and his babble.” [12]And they said, “Liar! Now you tell us.” And Jehu said to them, “Thus and thus he spoke to me, saying, ‘Thus says the Lord: “I anointed you king over Israel.” ’ ” [13]When they heard this, they hastened to take their garments and to place them beneath him on the top of the stairs. And they blew trumpets, saying, “Jehu is king!”

Israel’s King Joram Is Killed

[14]So Jehu the son of Jehoshaphat, the son of Nimshi, conspired against Joram; and Joram was defending Ramoth Gilead, he and all Israel, against Hazael king of Syria; [15]and King Joram had returned to Jezreel to recover from the wounds the Syrians had inflicted on him when he fought with Hazael king of Syria. Jehu said, “If your heart is with me, let no one leave or escape from the city to go and tell it in Jezreel.” [16]So Jehu rode ahead and came down to Jezreel; for Joram, king of Israel, was being restored to health in Jezreel from the arrow wounds the Syrians inflicted on him with the bow in Ramoth, in the battle with Hazael king of Syria; for he was powerful and a man of strength. And Ahaziah king of Judah came down to see Joram.

[17]Now a watchman went up on the tower in Jezreel, and saw Jehu’s dust as he came, and said, “I see dust.” And Joram said, “Get a horseman and send him to meet them. Let him say, ‘It is a time for peace.’ ” [18]So the horseman went to meet him, and said, “Thus says the king, ‘Let there be peace.’ ” And Jehu said, “What do you have to do with peace? Turn around and follow me.” So the watchman reported, saying, “The messenger went to them, but is not coming back.” [19]Then he sent out a second horseman, who came to them and said, “Thus says the king, ‘It is time for peace!’ ” And Jehu answered, “What do you have to do with peace? Turn around and follow me.”

[20]So the watchman reported, saying, “He went up to them and is not coming back. And he brought Jehu the son of Nimshi, for he was in a frenzy!” [21]Then Joram exclaimed, “Make ready! Harness a chariot!” Then Joram king of Israel and Ahaziah king of Judah went out, each in his chariot, for a meeting with Jehu. They found him on the property of Naboth the Jezreelite. [22]Now it happened when Joram saw Jehu, he said, “Jehu, let there be a time of peace.” And he answered, “How can there be a time of peace? The sexual immorality of Jezebel your mother and her sorceries are still many.”

[23]Then Joram turned the reigns in his hand to flee, and said to Ahaziah, “This is treachery, Ahaziah!” [24]But Jehu drew back on his bow fully and shot Joram with an arrow between his shoulders. The arrow came out through his heart, and he buckled at his knees. [25]Then Jehu said to Bidkar his officer, “Cast him into the portion of the field of Naboth the Jezreelite; for I remember when you and I were mounting onto a pair of chariots behind Ahab, Joram’s father, and the Lord took upon Himself this promise against Ahab, saying, [26]‘Yesterday,’ says the Lord, ‘I surely saw the blood of Naboth and the blood of his sons. I will recompense to him in this same portion.’ Therefore now, pick him up and cast him into the portion of ground, according to the word of the Lord.”

Judah’s King Ahaziah Is Killed

[27]But when Ahaziah king of Judah saw this, he fled on the road to Beth Haggan. So Jehu pursued after him, saying, “Him, too!” And on the ascent of Gur, one struck him in the chariot, near Ibleam. He then fled to Megiddo and died there. [28]From here, his servants carried him in the chariot to Jerusalem, and buried him in his tomb in the City of David. [29]And in the eleventh year of Joram king of Israel, Ahaziah became king over Judah.

The Bloody Death of Jezebel

30 Now Jehu returned to Jezreel, and Jezebel received the news of it. She put black makeup on her eyes and adorned her head, and she stooped down and peeked through the window. 31 As Jehu entered into the city, she said, “Peace, Zimri, the murderer of his master.”

32 Jehu raised his eyes upward toward the window and saw her, and said,
“Who are you? Come down by me.” Then two eunuchs looked down at him.
33 He exclaimed, “Throw her down.” So they threw her down, and her blood splattered against the wall, even on the horses which trampled her. 34 Then Jehu went in, and he ate and drank, and said, “Indeed, have care for this cursed woman. Give her a proper burial, as she is the daughter of a king.” 35 So they went to bury her, but no more of her was found but the skull, the feet, and the palms of her hands.

36 They came back and told Jehu. And he said, “This is the word the Lord spoke by His servant Elijah the Tishbite, saying, ‘On the plot of ground at Jezreel, dogs shall eat the flesh of Jezebel; 37 and Jezebel’s corpse shall be like dung on the face of the field in the plot at Jezreel, so that they shall not say, “Here lies Jezebel.” ’ ”

The Sons of Ahab Are Killed

1 Ahab had seventy sons in Samaria. And Jehu wrote a letter and sent it to Samaria, to the rulers of Samaria, to the elders, and to those who reared the sons of Ahab, saying, 2 “At the moment this letter is delivered to you, since your master’s sons are with you, and because you have chariots and horses, a fortified city, and weapons, 3 choose the best qualified of your master’s sons, then set him on his father’s throne, and prepare to fight for your master’s house.”

4 But they were very afraid and said, “Look, two kings could not stand up to him. How can we stand?” 5 Those over the house and over the city, plus the elders, and including even those who reared the sons, sent word to Jehu, saying, “We are your servants and we will do everything you tell us, but we will not make anyone king. Do what is good in your eyes.” 6 Then Jehu wrote them a second letter, saying, “If you are for me and obey my voice, take the heads of the sons of your lord, and by this time tomorrow, bring them to me at Jezreel.”

Now the sons of the king totaled seventy men. These well-educated headmasters from within the city reared them. [7]But when the letter came to them, they took the seventy sons of the king and slaughtered them. They then put their heads in baskets and sent them to Jehu at Jezreel. [8]Then a messenger came and spoke to Jehu, saying, “They have brought the heads of the king’s sons.” And he said, “Lay them in two heaps at the entrance of the gate until morning.” [9]So in the morning, he went out and stood at the gate and said to all the people, “You are the righteous ones! Indeed, I conspired against my master and killed him. But who struck down all these? [10]See then that not one thing from the word of the Lord against the house of Ahab fall on the ground for any reason.
